'Go, little book, God send thee good passage,
And specially let this be thy prayere
Unto them all that thee will read or hear,
Where thou art wrong, after their help to call,
Thee to correct in any part or all.'

PREFACE.

The object of the Handbook for Norway, Sweden, and Denmark, which now appears for the ninth time, carefully revised and partly rewritten, is to give the traveller information about the most interesting scenery and characteristics of these countries, with a few notes on their history, languages, and customs. Like the Editor's other handbooks, it is based on personal acquaintance with the countries described, the chief places in which he has visited repeatedly. His efforts to secure the accuracy and completeness of the work have been supplemented by the kind assistance of several correspondents and friends, Norwegian, Swedish, Danish, English, and German, to whom his best thanks are due. He will also gratefully receive any corrections or suggestions with which travellers may favour him. Within the last few years Norway has grown rapidly in popularity with the travelling public, and a number of new roads, railways, and steamboat-routes, with corresponding hotels, have recently been opened. The most important of these are carefully noted in the present edition. It should be observed, however, that the routes in the Handbook are generally framed with reference to the summer-service only; before mid-June and after August the travelling facilities, especially on the fjords and lakes, are much more limited.

The present volume, like Baedeker's Switzerland, may be used either as a whole, or in sections, which for the convenience of travellers may be removed from the volume without falling to pieces. These sections are — (1) Introductory Part, pp. i-lx; (2) S., E., and Central Norway, as far as Trondhjem, pp. 1 to 104; (3) W. Norway, as far as Trondhjem, pp. 105 to 208; (4) N. Norway, Iceland, and Spitzbergen, pp. 209 to 258; (5) Sweden, pp. 259 to 394; (6) Denmark, pp. 395-436.

On the MAPS and PLANS the Editor has bestowed special care, and he believes they will amply suffice for the use of all ordinary travellers.

In the letter-press HEIGHTS are given approximately in English feet, in the maps in metres (1 metre = 3.28 Engl. ft.; 1 Norw. ft. = 1.029 Engl. ft.; 1 Swed. ft. = 0.974 Engl. ft.). DISTANCES are given in kilometres, as the tariffs for carriages and boats are now calculated on the metric system (comp. p. vi). The POPULATIONS and other statistics are from the latest official sources.

The Handbook mentions both the first-class hotels and those of humbler rank. The asterisks indicate those which the Editor, from his own experience, as well as from information supplied by numerous travellers, believes to be respectable, clean, reasonable, and fairly provided with modern comforts. Houses of a more primitive character, when good of their class, are described as 'good', 'fair', or 'very fair'. At the same time the Editor has no doubt that good quarters may occasionally be obtained at inns that he has not recommended or even mentioned. Although prices have an upward tendency, the average charges stated in the Handbook will enable the traveller to form a fair estimate of his expenditure. Previous enquiry, however, is sometimes advisable.

To hotel-keepers, tradesmen, and others the Editor begs to intimate that a character for fair dealing forms the sole passport to his commendation, and that advertisements of every kind are strictly excluded from his Handbooks. Hotel-keepers are also warned against persons representing themselves as agents for Baedeker's Handbooks.

Abbreviations. Distances.

N., S., E., W. = north, northern; south, southern; east, eastern; west, western.	Com, Kom. = "Norges Kommunikationer" and "Sveriges Kommunikationer" respectively (see p. xvii).
M. = English mile, unless the contrary is stated (see Table opposite title-page)	R, B, L, D., S. = room, breakfast, luncheon, dinner, supper
S. M. = Norwegian sea-mile.	R. also = Route.
Kil. = Kilometre (see Table opposite title-page)	Rfms. = refreshments.
Ft. = English feet	c., ca. = circa, about.
	Kr., ø. = crowns and øre in Norway and Denmark
	O = ore, the Swedish form of øre,

As the metric system has been adopted in both Norway and Sweden the Distances are usually given in kilometres, though the old reckoning by miles is still common in some parts of Norway, one Norwegian mile (= 7 Engl. M.) being reckoned as 3 hours' walking or 2 hours' driving. In Sweden distances are occasionally calculated in 'new' Swedish miles (1 Ny Svensk Mil = 10 Kil. = 6¼ Engl. M.); the old Swedish mile is about ½ Engl. M. longer. On railway-routes the distances are generally reckoned from the starting-point, while on high-roads the distances from station to station are given as being more convenient.

On the steamboat-routes the distances are given approximately in Norwegian sea-miles (S. M.) or nautical miles. A Norwegian nautical mile is equal to four English knots or nautical miles (about 4⅔ Engl. statute M.), and the steamers are usually timed to travel from 2 to 2½ Norwegian nautical miles per hour. The ordinary tariff is 40 ø. per nautical mile, but no charge is made for deviations from the vessel's direct course.

Asterisks (*) denote commendation. The letter d, with a date, after the name of a person, indicates the year of his death. The number of feet after the name of a place shows its height above the sea-level.

The rule of the road in Sweden is the same as in England ('keep to the left'); in Norway and Denmark, as in Germany, it is the reverse ('keep to the right'). Note that this applies to railways and tramways also.

INTRODUCTION.

I. Expenses. Money. Language. Passports. Post Office.

Expenses. For a tour in Norway and Sweden 20-25s. per day ought to cover all outlays, but much less will suffice for those who make a prolonged stay at one or more resting-places, or for pedestrians in the less frequented districts.

Money. The three Scandinavian kingdoms have the same currency. The crown (krone; Swed. krona), worth 1s. 11 $\frac{1}{3}$ d., is divided into 100 öre (Swed. öre; see money-table before the title-page). These coins are current in the three countries, but banknotes usually in their own kingdom only. British sovereigns generally realize 18 kr. in the large towns, but the exchange is often a few öre below par. Large sums are best carried in the form of circular notes or letters of credit, as issued by the chief British and American banks. The traveller should be well supplied with small notes and coins (småa Penge), as it is often difficult in the remoter districts to get change for gold or larger notes.

Language. English is spoken on board most of the Norwegian steamboats and at the chief resorts of travellers, both in Norway and Sweden, but in country-districts the vernacular alone is understood. Danish, as pronounced in Norway (analogous to English spoken with a broad Scottish accent), is the more useful of the two languages, as most travellers devote more time to Norway than to Sweden, and as it is readily understood in Sweden. (See grammars and vocabularies at the end of this volume.)

Passports are unnecessary, except for obtaining delivery of registered letters.

The Custom House Examination is lenient. The duty on cigars is 6 kr. per kilogram (2 $\frac{1}{5}$ lbs.), on spirits 2 kr. 40 ø. per litre; but a kilogram of the former or an unsealed bottle of the latter passes duty-free.

Post Office. The postage of a letter weighing 1 oz. is 20 öre, and of a post-card (Brefkort, Brevkort) 10 ø., within the Postal Union, of a letter 10 ø., of a post-card 5 ø., within Norway, Sweden, and Denmark. It is not advisable to give any poste restante address other than steamboat or railway stations, as the postal service to places off the beaten track is slow.

Telegraph Offices abound.

NORWEGIAN TARIFF. Within Norway 50 ø. for ten words, and 5 ø. for each word more. — Foreign telegrams (minimum 80 ø.) to Sweden 30 ø., plus 10 ø. for each word; to Denmark 50 ø., plus 10 ø. for each word; to Great Britain 26 ø. per word; to the U.S.A. 1 kr. 35 ø. to 2 kr. 5 ø. per word.

SWEDISH TARIFF. Within Sweden 50 o for ten words, and 5 o. for each word more. — Foreign telegrams: to Norway or Denmark 80 o. for five words, 10 o each word more, to Great Britain 1 kr 80 o. for three words, 30 o. each word more, to the U.S.A., about the same as from Norway.

Telephones are very general, and are most useful, especially in Norway and the Swedish Norrland, for securing rooms or ordering conveyances in advance. Usual charge 10 ø. or a little more.

II. Steamers between Great Britain and Norway, Sweden, and Denmark. Yachting Cruises. Tourist Agents.

Steamboats. The following are the usual summer-arrangements (May to August inclusive); but travellers should in all cases obtain precise information from the agents or the advertisements of the steamship-companies. The fares quoted include provisions except where otherwise stated. The winter-rates are often considerably lower. — 'Boat-trains' run from London in connection with the steamers from Hull, Grimsby, Newcastle, and Harwich.

STEAMERS TO NORWAY.

To Christiania. (1). From London, 'Wilson Line' alternate Fridays in 56 hrs. (fares 5*l.* 13*s.*, 3*l.* 10*s.*, return 8*l.*, 5*l.* 10*s.*; food 6*s.* 6*d.* or 4*s.* 6*d.* per day, according to class). — (2). From Hull, 'Wilson Line' Frid. in 46 hrs. (fares 4*l.* 15*s.*, 3*l.* 5*s.*, return 7*l.* 10*s.*, 5*l.*). — (3). From Newcastle-on-Tyne, 8*s.* 'Sterling' and 'Prospero', Frid. in about 52 hrs. (3*l.* 3*s.*, return 5*l.* 5*s.*)

Christiansand is called at by most of the above-mentioned steamers (fares as to Christiania). from Hull in 32 hrs., from London in 44 hrs. Also from Leith, 'Leith, Hull, and Hamburg Co.', Thurs in 34 hrs. (3*l.* 3*s.*; return 5*l.* 5*s.*); returning on Fridays

To Bergen. (1). From Hull, 'Wilson Line', Tues in 36 hrs. (4*l.* 10*s.*, 3*l.*, return 7*l.*, 4*l.* 10*s.*), returning on Saturday. — (2). From Newcastle, 'Bergenske and Nordenfjeldske Cos.', Tues., Thurs., & Sat. in 31-40 hrs. (1st cl. 4*l.*, return 6*l.*). — These steamers, except the Tues boat from Newcastle, touch at Stavanger (same fares).

To Trondhjem. (1) From Hull, 'Wilson Line', Thurs. in 65 hrs. (6*l.* 10*s.*, 4*l.* 4*s.*, return 9*l.* 15*s.*, 6*l.* 6*s.*), returning Thursdays. — (2). From Newcastle, 'Bergenske and Nordenfjeldske Cos.', Tues., viâ Bergen (see above; through-fare 6*l.* 10*s.*, return 9*l.* 15*s.*)

STEAMERS TO SWEDEN.

To Gotenburg. (1). From London (Tilbury), 'Thule Line', Frid. (returning Thurs.) in 40-45 hrs. (3*l.* 3*s.*, 2*l.* 2*s.*, food 6*s.* 6*d.* or 4*s.* 6*d.* per day); return-tickets (5*l.* 5*s.*, 3*l.* 8*s.*) are available also viâ Granton (see below) or by the 'Wilson Line' viâ Hull. — (2). From Hull, 'Wilson Line', Sat. (returning Frid.) in 36-40 hrs. (fares 4*l.*, 2*l.* 15*s.*; return-fares 7*l.*, 4*l.* 5*s.*). — (3). From Grimsby, 'Wilson Line' Wed. (returning Wed.) in 40 hrs. (same fares). — (4). From Granton (Edinburgh), 'Thule Line', Frid. (same fares).

To Malmö. From Grimsby, 'Wilson Line', Tues. returning Thurs., in about 60 hrs. (2*l.* 15*s.*, 1*l.* 10*s.*; first-class return 4*l.* 10*s.*).

To Stockholm. From London, 'Wilson Line', Sat.; also 'Stockholm Steamship Co.' viâ Malmö, about every ten days.

STEAMERS TO DENMARK.

To Copenhagen. (1). From London, 'Bailey and Leatham Line', Sun. in about 3 days (2*l.* 10*s.*, 1*l.* 10*s.*; meals 5-6*s.* per day). — (2). From Hull, 'Wilson Line', Mon. or Frid. in 60 hrs. (1st cl. 2*l.* 10*s.*, excl food; 2nd cl.

11 5s, incl food), 'Finland Steamship Co.', Wed, touching at Helsingfors, and every alternate Sat., touching at Abo (fares 2l. 10s., 1l. 10s.; return-ticket 3l. 15s., 2l. 5s., food 5-6s. per day) — (3). From Leith, 'James Currie & Co.', viâ Christiansand, Thurs., in 5½ hrs. (3l. 3s., 1l. 11s. 6d.; 1st cl. return-ticket 5l. 5s.); returning Thursdays.

To Esbjerg. (1). From Harwich, 'United S.S. Co. of Copenhagen', Mon., Thurs., & Sat. (returning Tues., Wed., & Sat.) in 25 hrs. (1l. 10s., 15s.; 1st cl. return-ticket 2l. 5s.; food 5s. per day in the 1st cl., and 2s. per day in the 2nd cl.). — (2). From Grimby, 'United S.S. Co. of Copenhagen' (in connection with 'Great Central Railway') Mon. and Thurs. (returning Tues. and Frid.) in 33 hrs (1l. 10s., 15s.; return-ticket 2l. 5s., 1l. 10s., food extra).

Most travellers to Norway will find the steamers of the 'Wilson Line' (Thos. Wilson, Sons, & Co., Hull) or of the 'Bergenske and Nordenfjeldske Cos.' (P. H. Matthiessen & Co., 25 Queen St., Newcastle; Messrs. Berg-Hansen & Co., Christiania) good and convenient. The last-named company also has an excellent service between Norway and Hamburg, for which return-tickets from Newcastle are also available. Esbjerg (p. 436) has direct railway-connection with Copenhagen and with Gotenburg viâ Fredericia and Frederikshavn (R. 75). The German mail-steamers plying twice daily in each direction between Kiel and Korsør (p. 429) in 5 hrs. (fares 11 sk 30. 4 sk 50 pf.) and between Warnemünde and Gjedser (p. 429) in 2 hrs. may also be mentioned.

Yachting Cruises. Comfortable excursion-steamers (1000-4000 tons) ply frequently during the season from British ports to the Norwegian fjords, Bergen, Trondhjem, the North Cape, etc. They follow a fixed itinerary at an inclusive charge, details of which may be obtained from the agents. These so-called yachts visit some of the finest fjords in Norway and give opportunities for occasional excursions on land, but they inevitably miss many of the peculiar beauties of the country. A prolonged cruise in one of these floating hotels is apt to prove monotonous and enervating, and to leave the passenger's mind almost a blank with regard to the great charms of real Norwegian travel.

Tourist Agents. Messrs. Thos. Cook & Son, Messrs. Henry Gaze & Sons, and Dr. Lunn, in London, and T. Bennett & Sons and F. Beyer, at Christiania and Bergen, issue railway, steamboat, Skys (or posting), and hotel tickets and coupons for various routes. This system saves trouble at a sacrifice of independence. As a rule it is advisable not to fix one's route before leaving London, but to wait until Christiania or Bergen is reached. 'The Norway Tourist's Weekly News', which often contains useful information, is published by Beyer at Bergen, and is to be seen at many of the hotels.

III. Season and Plan of Tour.

Season. The best season for Norway and Sweden is from the beginning of June to the middle of September; but July and August are the best months for the higher mountains, where snow is apt to fall both earlier and later. For a voyage to the North Cape (RR. 30-34), to see the midnight sun, the season is from the middle of June to the end of July. August is often a rainy month in Eastern Norway; the wet season sets in later on the West coast.

Plan of Tour. An energetic traveller may see the chief points of interest in Norway and Sweden in $2\frac{1}{2}$ -3 months, but an exhaustive tour cannot be made in one season. After a first visit devoted to obtaining a general idea of the country, the traveller is advised to spend one or more seasons in exploring particular districts. The less time and strength expended in covering long distances, the greater will be the enjoyment of the tour. Travellers addicted to fashionable resorts and luxurious hotels will not find Norway to their taste, but true lovers of nature will carry away with them an enthusiastic admiration for its scenery, and will gladly seek to renew their impressions.

As those who take a so-called Yachting Cruise along the coast are tied down by the programme of the steamer, most travellers will prefer to form independent plans for themselves. The specimens given below may easily be modified with the help of the Handbook or extended by digressions from the main track.

The finest scenery in Norway is on the W. coast, where the Hardanger Fjord, the Sognefjord, the Nordfjord, the Søndmøre, Molde, and the Romsdal are the great attractions, while the Jotunheim, to the E. of the Sognefjord, is a splendid field for mountaineers. The voyage to the Norrländ, passing the Lofoten Islands, is most impressive. But beautiful scenery abounds in S. Norway also, where Christiania, the capital, is well worthy of a visit.

In the S. of Sweden the chief attractions are Stockholm, several other towns, and the great Canals. Visby, with its mediæval ruins, is also interesting. The Swedish Norrländ is inferior in grandeur to the W. coast of Norway, but its beautiful coasts, its river-scenery, and its magnificent waterfalls, such as those of the Indals-Elf, the Ångerman-Elf, and Lule-Elf, richly repay a visit. Not the least charm of the Norrländ is the paucity of noisy tourists.

The time allowed for the following routes is very limited, and it will often have to be exceeded, especially when steamboats are late or time-tables are altered. In every case the 'Communicationer' (p. xvii) should be carefully consulted. Combined tickets for railways, steamers, carriages, and hotels, obtainable from the tourists' agents (pp. 10, 132), are convenient for novices, but the experienced traveller will greatly prefer to be independent, especially as these tickets would tend to increase and not to diminish his expenses.

The EXCURSION STEAMERS already mentioned start from several British ports, from Antwerp, and from Hamburg, some of them visiting the chief W. Fjords only (12-15 days), others going to Trondhjem and back (about 15 days), others again plying as far as the North Cape, Iceland, and Spitzbergen (22-28 days). The fares, including food, range from about 10*l.* to 100*l.* As the arrangements vary from year to year the traveller should apply to one of the tourist-agents for the latest information.

IV. Conveyances. Walking Tours. Cycling Tours.

TIME TABLES for Norway appear in 'Norges Kommunikationer' (pron. Commoonicashooner; 30 g., English and German edition, 50 g.), and for Sweden in 'Sveriges Kommunikationer' (15 o.), both published weekly in summer. These are referred to in the Handbook as 'Com.' and 'Kom.' respectively. As, however, neither of these is very satisfactory travellers in Norway should get Beyer's Tourists' Time-Tables (published fortnightly; 50 s.) or Beaumont's (p. 10), usually obtainable from the tourist-agents (p. xiii) in London. The 'Sommerruter' of the various fjord-steamboat lines may be had at Stavanger, Bergen, Alesund, and Christiansund. Among other time-tables the Reichs-Kursbuch (Berlin) and the Reisehate for Kongeriget Danmark (Copenhagen) are useful for travellers to or from Germany.

Observe that many of the summer time-tables, especially those of the fjord-steamers, hold good till the end of August only.

Steamboats (Dan.-Norw. Dampskibe, Sw. Ångbåtar). In order to meet the increasing demand, many excellent new steamers have recently been built, both in Norway and in Sweden, but the older boats are also as a rule well fitted up. The chief routes are indicated on the maps. The regular Norwegian coasting traffic is mainly in the hands of the Bergenske and the Nordenfjeldske Dampskibsselskab, which have a common time-table. The headquarters of the former are at Bergen, of the latter at Trondhjem. (Agents at Christiania and Newcastle, see p. xiii.) The smaller steamers plying on the Norwegian fjords are comfortable enough during the day, but their sleeping-berths are poor, and on market-days they are apt to be crowded. The same remark applies to the small coasting steamers on the Baltic and on the Swedish canals. It should be noted that the fjord-steamers are entitled to leave intermediate stations $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. before their advertised hour. Good Swedish and Danish steamers ply on the Baltic, serving all the chief Swedish, Danish, and German ports.

Most travellers will travel in the first cabin. Those who are to sleep on board should at once secure their berths (køjen) in a cabin (Norw. lugar, Swed. hytt, each with two or more berths) by personal application to the steward. Those who sleep on sofas in the dining-saloon have to leave them before 6 or 7 a.m. A separate ladies' cabin and a smoking-room are also provided. A passenger travelling with one other member of his family by the larger steamers in Norway pays half-fare only for the latter, but this reduction ('Moderation'; pron. 'moderashoon') does not apply to the cost of food. This privilege is becoming more and more restricted, but enquiry may be made by those who wish to claim it. In Sweden members of the Tourists' Union (p. xxiii) often obtain reductions (rabatt) on the ordinary fare. Return-tickets are usually valid for a month or more, but do not allow the journey to be broken. When tickets are taken on board the steamer (as at small stations) a small booking-fee is added to the ordinary tariff of 40 s. per sea-mile. The captains and mates generally speak English. The traveller should look well after his luggage.

The food is generally good and abundant, but vegetables are scarce, and tinned meats, salt relishes, and cheese preponderate at breakfast and supper. The tariff in the Bergen and Nordenfjeld steamers is: Food per day, including service, 5 kr. 50 s.; separately, breakfast kr. 50 s., dinner (at 2) 2 kr. 50 s., supper (at 7.30) 1 kr. 50 s.; attendance 80 s. per day. On board the smaller vessels: breakfast or supper $1\frac{1}{2}$, D. 2, attendance $\frac{1}{2}$ kr. Cup of tea or coffee with biscuit or rusk (Kavringer; Swed. Skorpor), in the morning 30-35 ø.; small cup of coffee after dinner 20 ø.; beer 50-60 ø. per bottle, 25 ø. per half-bottle; claret $1\frac{1}{4}$ kr. per half-bottle. No spirits are procurable. The account should be paid daily, to prevent mistakes. The steward usually expects an additional fee. — On board the ferry-boats across the Great Belt, the Sound, etc., there is often a table with cold viands (koldt Bord), from which the traveller may help himself ($1-1\frac{1}{2}$ kr.); small bottle of beer, 25 ø.

Railways (Dan.-Norw. Jernbaner, Sw. Jernvägar; station-master, Stationsmestere or Stationsföreståndare; guard, Konduktör). Long journeys should be undertaken by express only (Hurtigtog or kurier-tåg, snälltåg). The mixed trains (blandede Tog, blandade Tåg) are very slow. All the trains have smoking-carriages (Røgekupé, rökkupé) and ladies' compartments (Damekupé, dankupé). The fast trains have sleeping-carriages (Sovevogn, sofvagn), both first and second class, and dining-saloons (Restaurationsvogn). The local and narrow-gauge lines, both in Norway and Sweden, have usually second and third class only.

The express fares in Norway, per kilometre, are 1st cl. 7.3 to 8.5, 2nd cl. 4.8 to 6, 3rd cl. 3 to 4 ø. (the lower rate being for long distances); ordinary 7-8, 4-5, $2\frac{1}{2}$ -3 ø. (i. e. roughly $1\frac{1}{2}$ ø, $1\frac{1}{4}$ ø, or $\frac{3}{4}$ d., and $1\frac{3}{4}$ ø, 1 or $\frac{2}{3}$ d. per Engl. M.). Return-tickets (Tur- og Returbilletter) at a fare and a half, valid for a month, allowing one break. Luggage up to 25 kilog. (55 lbs.) free; overweight 3 ø. per kilog. for 100 kilog.; for longer distances, 1 ø. per kilog. for each 100 kilog.

In Sweden the tariff is reckoned by 'zones' of 8-10 kilom. each (50, 30, or 20 ø. per zone, express extra). Luggage up to 25 kilog. free. Sleeping-berth, 1st cl. 10, 2nd 5 kr., irrespective of distance. See also tables on p. 8 of the Kommunikationer. If the passenger's destination can only be reached after midnight, he may break his journey from 8 p.m. to 9 a.m.

There are good RAILWAY RESTAURANTS at the larger stations only. Passengers help themselves, there being little or no attendance, and pay on entering or on leaving: breakfast or supper $1\frac{1}{4}$ - $1\frac{1}{2}$, dinner $1\frac{1}{2}$ -2 $\frac{1}{2}$ kr.; cup of coffee or half-bottle of beer 25 ø. (frequently included in the charge for dinner); sandwiches 25-50 ø.; spirits not obtainable. Many trains stop for 15-20 min. at certain stations for meals.

Posting (Norw. Skyds, Sw. skjuts, pron. shöss or shüss). Sweden is so well provided with railways and steamboats that travelling by road is rare except in the Norrland, but in Norway there are vast tracts of country accessible only by driving. The new government roads are excellent, and the older are being improved; but some are very rough, with many sudden ups and downs.

The Skydstationer (pron. stashoöner; which are mostly inns also) are farm-houses whose proprietors are bound to supply horses when required, but posting is undertaken by numerous inns or private stations also. Fares are reckoned by Kilomètres (comp. p. ii), but on some routes (as on very hilly roads) more than the actual distance is charged for. (This is indicated in the postmaster's book by the words 'pays for.') For distances under 5 kilom. the full 5 kilom. must be paid for. At every station is kept a Dagebog or Skydsbog (Swed. dagbok), in which the fares to the next stations and various regulations are entered. Travellers who have to make an early start should arrange with the landlord or boots over-night, but it is often difficult to get breakfast before 8 a. m. The telephone will be found useful for giving orders in advance.

Those 'stations' where the Stations-Holder or Skyds-Skaffer is bound to have horses always in readiness are called Faste Stationer ('fixed stations', where a fixed number of horses are available). Others in remote districts are the Tilsigelse-Stationer (from tilsige, 'to tell to', 'send to'), where horses can only be had on giving previous notice. The Forbud ('previous message') should be sent in ample time.

The national vehicles supplied at the skyds-stations are the Stolkjærre (a light cart with seats for two persons), and the lighter and swifter Kariol (gig for one person), now becoming rare. The stolkjærre generally has an extra seat for the driver (Skydsgut, or simply Gut, often a mere child), otherwise he takes his seat on the luggage which is strapped or roped at the back of the vehicle. Be it noted in passing that small boxes or portmanteaus only can be conveyed. Bulky or heavy luggage requires additional vehicles. If the traveller takes the reins (Temmer) himself, he will be responsible for accident; as the reins and harness are often very primitive, it is safer to let the 'Gut' drive from behind. The driver's fee is usually reckoned at 1½ ø. per kilometre for each person. If he is told that the traveller wishes to continue his journey without delay ('jeg vil strax reise videre') he will see that the next vehicle is got ready at once. The stable-boys at the stations do not expect a fee.

As a rule 8-9 Kil. (5-5½ Engl. M.), or less in hilly districts, may be covered in an hour, and 70-80 Kil. (40-50 Engl. M.) may be done in a day, but journeys of such length are fatiguing. On some of the steeper hills the passenger is bound by the police regulations to get out and walk. The processions of vehicles that often converge to the favourite resorts towards evening should be avoided on account of the dust. For a similar reason it is 'bad form' for one carriage to overtake another, unless there is a great difference of pace. The horses, or rather ponies, are often overdriven by foreigners. As the average charge of 3d. per Engl. mile does not adequately pay the peasants who have to supply the horses, it is unfair on this account also to overdrive them. We often read in the skyds stations, 'Vær god mod hesten' (i.e. be good to the horse), and those who obey this injunction will be more cheerfully served. In every case the traveller in Norway will find that consideration and civility pay better than a dictatorial manner.

This tariff applies to the FASTER STATIONER ('fixed stations'), familiarly called 'fast' by English travellers, in contrast to the Tilsigelse-Stationer mentioned above, which are notoriously 'slow'. The tariff for the latter, which are only to be met with on the less frequented routes, is about one-fourth lower.

On the great routes through Telemarken (R. 5), Valdres (R. 8), and the Gudbrandsdal (R. 10), and between the Nordfjord and the Geiranger Fjord (R. 20) it is a good plan to hire a carriage (Kaleschvogn or Landau), or even a Stolkjærre, and horses for the whole route, in order to avoid delays at the stations. The tariff for a carriage and pair is 30-40 kr. a day, according to the number of passengers. The drivers are to be met with at the principal railway and steamboat-stations. In the slack season better terms may be made. In this case there is no restriction as to luggage, and it is an advantage not to be obliged to shift luggage at every station. The horses usually rest for $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. every two hours, and make a midday halt of 2 hrs. The maximum journey allowed with the same horses is 75 Kil. per day.

Rowing Boats. For Baadskyds or Vandskyds the regulations are similar. Those who have a guide with them may employ him as a rower. Each rower (Rørskarl) generally rows or 'sculls' with two oars. A boat with two rowers is therefore called a Færing, or four-oared boat, one with three rowers a Særring, with four rowers an Ottering. For short distances a Færing suffices. As the fares are low the gratuity should be liberal.

Walking Tours. Neither Norway nor Sweden is suitable for long walks, as the distances are too great, and the attractions too far apart, except among the mountains of Norway and in some parts of the Swedish Norrland. Besides the passes over the mountains to the W. coast from the Setersdal (p. 5) and Hallingdal (p. 42), and the grand excursions and ascents in Jotunheim (R. 9) and Søndmøre (pp. 180, 181), we may mention the passes connecting the heads of different fjords (comp. pp. xvi, xvii, 120, 121, 128, 130, 149, 155-159, 164, 172, 173, 177, 179, 182, 189, 194, etc.). Several fine walks may also be taken in the Norrland (RR. 30, 33). The footpaths are, however, far inferior to those among the Alps. On very hilly roads, where walking is quicker than driving, a Stolkjærre may be hired for luggage only ('enkelt Skyds'. see p. xx).

Cycling. Norway and Sweden, and Denmark possess good roads for cycling. The newer roads are generally excellent and dry up quickly. In W. Norway, however, they are often very hilly, demanding great caution and strong, reliable brakes. One of the finest routes is from Christiania through Telemarken (RR. 3, 6) to the western fjords, and back, starting from Marok on the Geiranger Fjord (p. 177), through the Gudbrandsdal. Motor and other cycles are admitted to Norway and Sweden duty-free, provided a declaration be made that they are for travelling purposes only. Several of the best routes in Norway, Sweden, and Denmark are described in the 'Continental Road Book' of the C. T. C. Good cycling maps are published by the 'Norsk Hjulturist-Forening', whose headquarters are at Christiania.

V. Luggage. Equipment. Tourist Clubs.

Luggage. Travellers by cariole or stolkjærre should not take more than 30-40 lbs., packed in a small and strong box, to which may be added a leather travelling-bag and a wallet or game-pouch (Skreppe or Randsel) for walking excursions. A soft portmanteau is unsuitable, as the 'Skydsgut' usually sits on the luggage strapped on behind. Suitable trunks are sold at Christiania, Bergen, and elsewhere. A supply of stout cord and straps will be useful, and a strong umbrella is indispensable. Note also that even the larger carriages are not adapted for carrying large and heavy boxes.

Equipment. Things not absolutely needed should be eschewed. Tolerable food may be had almost everywhere, but a supply of tea and essence of coffee may usefully be carried. Spirits are not sold at the inns, but good cognac may be bought in the larger towns for 4-5 kr. per bottle. A field-glass (Kikkert), a pocket-corkscrew, and a small clothes-brush will be found desirable. As to clothing, two strong but light tweed suits, a change of warm underclothing, a pair of light shoes for steamboat and cariole use, and a pair of strong Alpine boots for mountaineering should suffice. Add a long ulster, a light waterproof, and a couple of square yards of stout waterproof material as a wrapper for coats and rugs, or for covering the knees in wet weather, as the aprons (Skvætlæder) of the carioles are often damaged. Visitors to Lapland and the Swedish Norrland should further be provided with veils to keep off the gnats. Ladies travelling in Norway should also dress as simply, strongly, and comfortably as possible, eschewing ornament. For the rougher mountain tours they should take stout gaiters or leggings.

FURTHER HINTS. A few safety-pins may be useful in keeping scanty sheets from parting company with the blankets or shrinking into a wisp. — For mountaineering it is most important to have very strong boots, waterproof if possible and high in the ankle, as bogs and water-courses often have to be crossed. To the above equipment may be added a pocket-compass, blue spectacles, sewing-materials, a few buttons, arnica, glycerine, court-plaster, and a candle or two. A strong alstock is also desirable. In the Swedish Norrland a veil for protection against the gnats, oil (Hyggeolja) to apply to their bites, and carbolic soap are essential. For tours beyond the limits of the Handbook travellers require a tent, 'band'ko', sleeping-sacks, etc., as to which the Tourists' Union at Stockholm may be consulted (pp. 307, 391).

Tourist Clubs. The Norske Turistforening, founded in 1866, builds refuge-huts, improves paths, appoints guides, etc. In 1908 it had over 2300 members, including about 400 foreigners, mostly British. The subscription is 4 kr. per annum (life-membership 50 kr.), for which the subscriber receives the annual Transactions (Aarbog). The club-button (Klubknap), a useful distinctive badge, costs 1½ kr. more. Besides many local tourists' club there is also a Norwegian Club in London (112 Strand), which has a good library and publishes a year-book.

The Svenska Turistförening (Stockholm, p. 307), a similar club, founded in 1884, numbers over 36,000 members. The annual subscription for foreigners is 4 kr., which entitles the member to a copy of the 'Årsskrift'. The club-button costs 1¾ kr. The club has representatives (Ombud) everywhere, who courteously assist and advise both members and strangers. On application a circular is sent from the club's offices at Stockholm, containing much useful information, especially as to the Swedish Norrland.

VI. Hotels.

The hotels in Norway and Sweden have greatly improved of late years. Many in Norway are entitled to rank as first-class, though inferior to the newer houses in Sweden. Except in the principal towns, the Norwegian hotels are built of wood, many of them being good examples of the national timber architecture, but they are apt to be noisy. The quietest rooms are on the upper floors. In view of their inflammable materials they are well provided with fire-escapes and exits. The usual charges at the first-class hotels are: R. 2-3, B. $1\frac{1}{2}$, D. $2\frac{1}{4}$ -3 (generally including a cup of coffee), S. $1\frac{1}{2}$ kr.; at the second-class houses: R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ -2 kr., B. $1\frac{1}{4}$, D. $1\frac{1}{2}$, S. $1\frac{1}{4}$ kr.; tea or coffee with bread and butter 50-70 ø. In the large towns the charges are a little higher, in the country lower, and still cheaper are the rustic 'stations' (Skydsstationer). At these the bedrooms, though plain, are clean, and the fare is homely. Attendance is not usually charged; a fee of 40-50 ø. from each person (Drikkepenge) to the servant or Opvarningspige (addressed as Frøken) suffices. The manners of the innkeepers are quiet and reserved, but there is no lack of real politeness.

In SWEDEN there are excellent first-class hotels in Stockholm, Gottenburg, and at many of the smaller towns, where international comfort is combined with national characteristics; but the older houses often leave much to be desired. The charge for a room at the first-class hotels is $2\frac{1}{2}$ -5 kr. or more, at the smaller from $1\frac{1}{2}$ kr. upwards. The usual gratuities (drikes-penningar) are 50 ø. per day to the servant or Städerskan (addressed as Frøken) and as much to the Börstären or boots. The country inn and posting-station, corresponding to the Norwegian Skydsstation, is called a gästgäfvaregård (gästis, for short).

In DENMARK good hotels are rare outside the larger towns and bathing-resorts. The usual charges are: R. from $2\frac{1}{2}$, B. 1, D. 2-3 kr.

Tables-d'hôte are almost unknown in Sweden. The Smörgåsbord or Brännvinsbord, a side-table where various relishes, bread-and-butter, and liqueurs are served as stimulants to the appetite, is peculiar to Sweden, and should be patronized sparingly. The charge for it varies from 40 to 75 öre. In the evening, from 7 to 10, small portions of meat, etc., known as Sewor (six o'clock meal) are served to those who wish a light supper (from 75 ö.).

In Norway tables-d'hôte are the rule, and it is sometimes difficult to get anything to eat between the fixed hours except tea and bread-and-butter or biscuits. The tinned meats ('Hermetiske Sager'), salted anchovies, cheese, etc., which form the staple of breakfast and supper, should be avoided as far as possible. Note also that margarine sometimes does duty for butter.

The waiter (Norw. Opvarter; Swed. kypare, vaktmästare, garçon, markör) usually receives a fee of 10 ø. or more for each meal.

The following dishes are among the commonest in the bills of fare (Dan.-Norw. Spisesedel, Swed. Matsedel): —

DAN.-NORW.	ENGLISH	SWEDISH.	DAN.-NORW.	ENGLISH	SWEDISH
Suppe	Soup	Soppa	Aal	Eel	Äl

Two favourite dishes in Norway and Denmark are Jordbær and Rødgrød, both med Fløde, that is strawberries and cream, and fruit-jelly with cream.

Beer is the chief Scandinavian beverage (Norw. halv Flaske, Swed. half butel), 20-25 ø.), but good claret and other wines are to be had at the larger inns and on board the steamers. Spirits are never sold at the hotels or in the steamers, but may be purchased at the shops in the towns. Drunkenness, which used to be a national vice, has been greatly diminished by the recent liquor-laws, the principles of which are indicated at p. 278.

The 'Sanatoria', answering to the British hydropathics or the American 'summer-boarding-houses', are well spoken of for a prolonged stay, but are little frequented by foreigners. There are many both in Norway and Sweden.

Cafés are rare in Norway, but abound in the larger Swedish towns. One of their specialties is Swedish punch, a mixture of rum or arrak with lemon-juice and sugar, drunk as a liqueur (25-40 ø. per glass). With ice in summer it is palatable, but not very wholesome. Beer on draught can be had in the large towns only. Cafés and restaurants are closed on Sundays from 8 to 12, and in the smaller towns sometimes entirely. — At most of the Swedish restaurants and cafés visitors deposit their hats, overcoats, and umbrellas in a room provided for the purpose. The attendants (fee 10 ø.) are wonderfully quick in recognising visitors and in restoring their belongings.

VII. Sport.

Fishing. Excellent salmon-fishing is obtainable, but only at high rents, averaging 1500 kr. for the season (1st May to 30th Sept.), and the best rivers are let on long leases, chiefly to wealthy Englishmen. Good trout-fishing, however, may be had by those who are prepared for some hardships. Many rivers are now leased by hotel-keepers for the benefit of their guests. Amongst these are the Loen-Elv, belonging to the Hôtel Alexandra at Loen (p. 168), the Rauma, in the Romsdal (p. 189), and the Fortun-Elv, near Skjolden (p. 156). Trout-fishing may also be enjoyed at Aaseral (p. 107), Bygland (p. 4), Dalen (p. 35), Botten (p. 37), Fagernes (p. 46), Fosheim (p. 48), Sande, Førde, Nedre Vasenden, Elge (pp. 162-164), Sandene (p. 167), Polfossen (p. 87), Serum (p. 85), Mølmen (p. 89), etc. Any tourist may fish in the streams of the Jotunheim (p. 53). The fish caught must be handed over to the landlords.

Good Shooting is obtainable in the vast hill and forest regions of Scandinavia. In Sweden the shootings are private property, except in the wilds of the Norrland, where the shooting is partly free. In Norway, besides the private shootings, there are others, both 'matriculated' and 'unmatriculated', belonging to the state, for which an official licence may be obtained. The licence costs 100 kr., in addition to which a permit to shoot in an 'unmatriculated' district costs from 2 to 20 kr. Reindeer are still to be met with among the mountains enclosing the Hallingdal, on the Hardanger Vidda, near the Romsdal, near Røros, in Lapland, or, still better, in Spitzbergen; and wild-fowl abound in many parts of Norway, particularly in the trackless forests of Østerdalen, in the Östra and Vestra Dal in Dalarne, around the Storsjö in Jemtland, and in Lapland; but in every case the sportsman has serious difficulties to contend with, and particularly that of obtaining tolerable quarters.

The CLOSE SEASONS for game are nearly the same in both countries. For the present reindeer-shooting (Reinsdyr) is prohibited. Note that beavers (Bæver), red-deer (Ræddyr), swans, pheasants, and one-year old elks and stags must not be shot at all. Elks (Elg) may be shot from 10th to 30th Sept; deer (Hjort) from 15th Aug. to 30th Sept.; if without horns, from 15th to 30th Sept only; and in these cases one head only may be shot in each shooting region. Hares (Hare), hen-capercaillie (Rei), black-game (hen, Urhøne), and hazel-grouse (Hjerpe) from 25th Aug. to 14th March; capercaillie (cock, Tyr) and black-game (cock, Urhøne) also from 15th to 30th May; ptarmigan (Rype) and wood-snipe (Rugde) from 25th Aug. to 31st May; partridge (Raphens) from 1st to 14th Oct.; eider-geese (Ederfugl) from 15th Oct. to 14th March; other wild fowl from 15th Aug. to 14th March; birds of prey, all the year round. — The importation of dogs is forbidden.

Comp 'Norwegian Anglings and Sportings', issued periodically by Messrs J A Lumley & Co, Lumley House, 34 St. James's St., London.

SKATING AND SKI-ING (i.e. snow-shoeing in the native manner) may be enjoyed at Christiania, Voss, and many other places in Norway between the end of December and the beginning of March.

VIII. Maps. Books.

Maps. The best map of NORWAY is the new Ordnance Map on a scale of 1:100,000, called the Topografisk Kart over Kongeriget Norge, to be completed in over 300 sheets, of which about 190 have been published. The published sheets embrace the regions around Christiania, along the E. frontier, and northwards from the province of Trondhjem, including the Lofoten Islands and the far North. Less satisfactory is the Generalkart over det sydlige Norge, on a scale of 1:400,000, to be completed in 18 sheets (60 ø. per sheet). There is also the Kart over Finnmarkens Amt, on a scale of 1:500,000 (1907; price 1 kr.). Failing these, one must fall back upon the older and now partly obsolete District Maps (Amtskart, 1:200,000; 1 kr. per sheet). — The most convenient map for the ordinary traveller is that of Col. Nissen (Christiania, 1905): Kart over det Sydlige Norge, on a scale of 1:600,000, in four sheets (three at 2½, one at 1½ kr.), and Kart over det nordlige Norge in one sheet (1:1,000,000, with inset map of the Lofoten Islands, 1:400,000; price 2½ kr.). Besides these there are many general maps on scales of 1:500,000, of 1:800,000, etc.

Of SWEDEN there is an excellent new Ordnance Map, called the Topografiska Corpsens Karta öfver Sverige (water coloured blue), on a scale of 1:100,000. In 1908 there had appeared about 90 sheets, chiefly of S. Sweden (copper-plate 1-2 kr. per sheet, print 50 ö.). — Another good map is the Generalkarta öfver Sverige (1:1,000,000), in three sheets. For N. Sweden may be mentioned the Karta öfver Norra Sverige (1:200,000; about 60 sheets of which have appeared). The sections of this map specially useful to tourists have been published in a separate cover (3 kr.), by Dr. Fred. Svenonius, author of a guide to N. Sweden.

IX. Names and their Meanings.

The spelling and pronunciation of Scandinavian names is very variable. In Sweden the modified a and o are written ä and ö, in Norway usually æ and ø, while ä and ö also occur, the latter sometimes indicating the short sound of the letter. Again in Norway aa (or ä), au, ou, and o are frequently interchanged, as in Laag (Läg), Laug, Loug, or Log, 'river', and Haug or Houg, 'hill'. The vowels ø, u, ei, ai, and e are also frequently interchanged, their pronunciation remaining nearly identical, so that the same word may assume such various forms as Synjereim, Sønnerheim, or Sønnerum, Bredheim or Breum, Marok, Mæraak, or Merok, Eidfjord or Øifjord. The letter d combined with other consonants or at the end of a word is usually mute, and therefore often omitted (as Meheia for Medheia, Haukeli for Haukelid, Grotli for Grotlid, etc.). Lastly, g and k, when hard, are often used indifferently, as Agershus or Akershus, Egersund or Ekersund, Vig or Vik. The article en or et (see grammar in the appendix) is often added in common speech to names which appear in the map without it (Krogkleven, Krogklev, etc.). In Danish or Norwegian the letter w does not occur, but in Swedish v and w are constantly interchanged.

In both countries one is often struck by the primitiveness of the names, signifying merely 'hill', 'sand', 'creek', 'promontory', 'lake', 'end of the lake', 'river'. In order to distinguish them the name of the parish or district is often added, as Vik i Eidfjord, Næs i Romsdal. Farm-houses are usually named after their owners, or the converse. Many places have two or more names, one applying to the church, another to the chief 'gaard', a third to the posting-station. The following is a list of common Norwegian words (v and ø being placed last in the alphabet) —

Aak , Ol , from Aaker or Helle , slab, rock, cliff.	Stue , wooden house,
Ager , field.	seeter , hut.
Aar , from Aa , river.	Sund , strait, ferry.
Aas , ridge.	Sæter , 'chalet', mountain
Aur , see Øre .	farm, cowherds' hut.
Bakke , hill	Tind , peak.
Band , a long pass.	Tjærn , Tjern , or Kjærn ,
Brø , glacier.	mountain-lake, 'tarn'.
Bu , Bø , 'Gaard', farm-house	Tuft , Tomt , site, plot of
By , town, village.	ground (Eng. and Scot.
Bygd , parish, hamlet	provincial 'toft',
Dal , valley.	'toom').
Egg , corner, edge, ridge.	Tun , an enclosure
Eid or Elde , isthmus,	('town').
neck of land.	Tvest , clearing ('thwaite').
Elv , river.	Ur , loose stones, débris.
Fjære , ebb-tide, beach exposed at ebb-tide.	Vaag , bay, harbour.
Fjeld , mountain.	Vand , Vatn , water, lake.
Fjord , bay, arm of thesea.	Vang , meadow, pasture.
Fos , Fors , waterfall	Odde , tongue of land, Vas , contracted genitive of 'Vand'.
Gaard , farm-house (Engl. 'yard').	Øs , Øs , mouth, estuary.
Gald , rocky slope.	Plads , hamlet, clearing
Grænd , group of chalets.	Præstegaard , parsonage.
Haug , Houg , hill.	Sjø , Sø , lake
Hei , Heia , barren height.	Skjer , cliff, rocky islet.
	Stabbur , storehouse.
	Støl , Stul , see 'Seeter'.
	Øre , Øyp , alluvial or gravelly soil, foreland.

Note also in the Swedish Norrland and the Norwegian Finmark the Lapp words: jaur, jauve, lake; jock, jocke, river; jockmuck, river-bend; suolo, island; varre, vava, hill, mountain; tröck, peak; træsk, lake, swamp, etc.

X. On the Physical Geography of Scandinavia.

Scandinavia, the largest peninsula in Europe, embracing Norway on the W. and N., Sweden on the E. and S., and part of Russia to the N.E., is about 296,500 Engl. sq. M. in area. It extends from S.S.W. to N.N.E. between $57^{\circ} 57'$ and $71^{\circ} 11'$ N. latitude, being 1100 Engl. M. in length. Between the Gulf of Bothnia and the N.W. coast its breadth is about 260 Engl. M., and towards the S. gradually increases, though at the deep indentation of the Trondhjem Fjord it narrows to 160 M. Farther S., in latitude 60° (that of Christiania and Upsala), the width increases to 435 M., beyond which Norway forms a rounded peninsula ending in Cape Lindesnæs ($58^{\circ} 59'$), while the S. part of Sweden forms another peninsula to the S.E. of the Christiania Fjord, gradually narrowing, and terminating in the promontory of Falsterbo ($55^{\circ} 20'$) near Copenhagen. The coast-line, disregarding countless indentations, is 2000 M. in length, the part between Cape Lindesnæs and Vadsø alone measuring 1250 M.

The peninsula contains no distinct mountain-ranges like those in other countries, but mainly consists in its W. part of a vast plateau, descending abruptly to the western fjords and sloping gradually down to the plains of Sweden and the Gulf of Bothnia on the E. side. Roughly speaking, a line drawn parallel with the W. coast, about 50-60 Engl. M. inland, marks the boundary of the table-land, the W. margin of which is deeply indented with bays and creeks, and fringed with countless rocky islands. The latter are known as Skjær (Sw skär), and the island-belt as the Skjærgaard (skärgård). To different parts of the great plateau are applied the names of Fjeld ('fell'), Heidar ('heights'), and Vidder ('widths', barren expanses), and in the N. part of the peninsula Kjæter ('mountain ranges'), and from it rise at intervals rounded or pointed peaks of considerable height.

The Mountains are mainly composed of primary rocks, retaining nearly the same form as when originally solidified, and being rarely overlaid with later formations, they possess the charm of the most hoar antiquity. These rocks consist of granite, gneiss, mica, hornblende, slate, quartzite, clay-slate, limestone, and dolomite, disposed in strata, corresponding with which are occasional well-defined layers of later slate-formations and particularly of limestone. At places, notably in the Romsdal, or Valley of the Rauma, the gneiss, the oldest of these rocks, towers in most imposing pinnacles, 5000-6000 ft. in height, unencumbered by later formations. That valley runs S. E. from the Moldefjord, intersecting the pure gneiss rock, which rises on each side in almost sheer cliffs, 2000-3000 ft. high, and is afterwards prolonged by the Gudbrandsdal descending to Lake Mjøsen. In grandeur of rock-scenery, and in the purity of its formation, this superb valley is second to none in Europe.

About the year 1840 rocks of the Silurian Formation were discovered near the Christiania Fjord, and other deposits of that period have since been found in Skåne, Vester-Götland, the island of Gotland, Herjedalen, and Jemtland in Sweden, and also on the banks of Lake Mjøsen and in Trondhjems Stift in Norway, but nowhere of great extent. The largest Silurian basin in the peninsula is that of the Storsjö in Jemtland, a lake of 2570 Engl. sq. M. in area.

One of the most instructive sections of the country is formed by the route from Sundsvall in Sweden to Östersund on the Storsjö and Trondhjem in Norway. The primitive crystalline rocks of Jemtland are first replaced by limestone, extending to the E. bank of the lake, where the Silurian formations begin. These stretch westwards to the great mountain-backbone of Sweden and Norway. On this route rises Åreskutan, the highest mountain in Sweden (p. 374), part of the base of which on the E. and W. sides is Silurian, while the primary quartzite, hornblende, mica-slate, and gneiss protrude through it all the way to the top. From this vantage-ground we obtain an excellent idea of the character of the Scandinavian mountains. Many of the hills, rounded and worn by glacier-action, are almost bare, or clothed only with lichens (Cetraria cucullata nivalis, Cronicularia ochroleuca, etc.), presenting a most sombre and dreary appearance. The slopes of the intervening basins are often well wooded, but the lower plateaux are mainly lake and marsh.

Coal occurs here and there in the peninsula. The coal-measures of Helsingborg at the S. end of the peninsula are of considerable extent. On the island of Andø, in the Vesteraalen group, in latitude 69°, a bed of coal was also recently discovered at the mouth of the Ramsaa, the organic remains in which prove that the island must have been violently convulsed about the period when the coal was formed. Under the sea extends a thick seam of coal, above which lie strata of sandstone, clay-slate, and later coal, extending into the island. The island must therefore have once been larger than now, and thickly clothed with vegetation, after which it would seem to have been submerged and then upheaved anew.

The configuration of the mainland must at one time have differed greatly from its present form. That it was once higher above the sea than now is proved by the nature of the coast with its water and ice-worn fjords, straits, and isthmuses (Eide). On the other hand the sea within recent centuries has receded at places. This was first observed by Celsius (d. 1744) and Linnaeus (d. 1778), who caused marks to be made on the rocks at Kalmar and Gefle with a view to measure the fall of the sea, by the German naturalist Hell at Vardø in 1769, and by L. von Buch, the geologist, in 1807. Throughout a vast tract, extending from Spitzbergen to about latitude 62° , the whole country appears to be gradually rising, or the sea to be receding. In the Altenfjord, near Hammerfest, there are ancient coast-lines 620 ft. above the present sea-level, and others decreasing in height extend all the way to Trondhjem and still farther S., while at Trondhjem itself it is on record that the coast has risen 20 ft. within 1000 years. At Tornedå, at the head of the Gulf of Bothnia, the ground is even said to have risen 5 ft. in a century; in the Åland Islands, farther S., a rise of 3 ft. within the same time has been observed; while at Karlskrona no change of level has been detected. To the S. of Karlskrona, on the other hand, a gradual depression of the land or rise of the sea appears to be taking place. Careful measurements made at eleven places between 1839 and 1865, proved that the average rise of the coast-line between Maasø and Christiania during that period was 1 foot. According to Kjerulf, the eminent Norwegian geologist, the elevation of the coast has taken place fitfully. Thus it will be observed that in all the Norwegian valleys and fjords there are distinct terraces, between which there is a sudden and well-defined dip, and that the old coast-lines, with their heaps of debris, descend abruptly at their lower ends at an angle of $25-30^{\circ}$. Again it will be noticed that the different water-levels on the rocks, marked by a kind of pathway or furrow, are separated by a comparatively intact and unworn surface.

The most important Glaciers of Norway lie to the S. of latitude 67° . The largest is the Jostedalstrø (p. 157), between lat. 61° and 62° , 330 Engl. sq. M. in area, and the largest in Europe, while those in Switzerland do not exceed 12-20 sq. M. It resembles an enormous roof, from which a number of offshoots descend to within 150-200 ft. of the sea-level. A similar ice-mantle is that of the Folgefond (p. 120; area 111 sq. M.), a little to the S. of lat. 60° , and another of vast extent is that of Svartisen (p. 217), within the Arctic Circle. The upper parts of these glaciers form immense expanses of dazzling ice and snow, unbroken by moraines or crevasses, except where their ramifications descend into the valleys, or by peaks rising above them. These ice-plateaux correspond with the mountain configuration peculiar to Norway, and afford some idea of the character of the glaciers which once covered the whole country. Of that glacier-period many traces still exist. Striated rocks are seen everywhere, from the coast-line upwards; the debris of moraines is distributed over every part of the country; and the soil formed by glacier friction now forms fertile land and yields abundant material for brick-making. ERRATIC BLOCKS seem to have been first deposited in S. Sweden by the glaciers on their way to the south. They abound in N. Germany, sometimes a few feet under ground, sometimes clustered together with sand, mud, and gravel, and rising into hills of 70-185 ft. in height, called Åsar in Sweden, and known in Ireland and Scotland as escars and kames.

The W. coast of the peninsula is indented with countless Fjords, mostly with minor ramifications, where the rain-fall attains its maximum. The E. coast of Scandinavia was probably also at one time indented with fjords, to which the numerous inland lakes belonged, but which have gradually been filled up by alluvial deposits. That the fjords were formed by the erosive action of ice and water seems disproved by the fact that they are often deeper than the sea outside. The Sognefjord, for example, is no less than 4100 ft. deep at places. The fact appears to be that these basins existed before the glacier era. They are generally narrow and deep, and, except those in E. Finmarken, they lie at right angles to the axis of the mountains. On their banks usually extends a strip of fertile and sheltered land which has attracted a considerable population.

The immense and intricate archipelago of the Skjærgaard (skjærgård), or island-belt, admirably sheltering navigation, accompanies nearly the whole of the coast from Vadsø to Haparanda. The chief breaks are in the Arctic Ocean near the North Cape, off the mouth of the Foldensfjord ($64\frac{1}{2}^{\circ}$), off Jæderen and Lister (between 58° and 59°), and opposite the coasts of Halland and Skåne in Sweden. Within the Arctic Circle are a number of large islands, the Kvalø, on which lies Hammerfest, the Seiland, Sørø, Stjærne, Kaagø, Arne, Varnø, Ringvadø, and Hvalø; between the last and the mainland is the Tromsø, with the town of that name; then Senjen and the Vesteraalen and Lofoten Islands. Of the last-named group the first is the Hindø, the largest island in Norway (870 Engl. sq. M.), to the S. of which are others of considerable size. All, particularly those near the Arctic Circle, are mountainous, and many are strikingly picturesque. Among the finest are the Hestmandsø, Threnen, Lovunden, Alstensø with the 'Seven Sisters', and the singular Torg-hatten, all described in the Handbook (pp. 212-238).

The chief resource of the coast-population is the Cod Fishery, besides which are the Herring, Oyster, and Lobster Fisheries and Seal Hunting. The great fishing-banks of the Lofoten Islands are mentioned at p. 223. These fisheries support a population of about 100,000 souls, their annual yield being estimated at 1,300,000*l.*: seal-hunting (Phoca vitulina) yields about 55,600*l.*, while a million and a half of lobsters are annually exported to England alone. The shoals of cod and herring are usually attended by a kind of whale (Balenoptera musculus), which was erroneously supposed to prey on the latter. The oyster-fishery thrives on the S. coast near Kragerø, and on the W. coast near Finnaas in Søndhorland, near Lindaas in Nordhorland, near Vestnæs in the Romsdalsfjord, by the Bjørø, and near Vigten in the Namsdal. The salmon-fishery is also important. Among the most famous rivers are the Drammens-Elv, the Nume- dalslaag, the Ongne-Elv in Jæderen, the Suledals-Elv in Ryfylke, the Rauma and Driva in the Romsdal, the Gula near Trondhjem, the Namsen in the Namsdal, and the Alten-Elv and Tana in Finmarken.

These valuable resources of the coast-districts, compared with which the Opland offers little attraction to settlers, have given rise to the brisk MARITIME TRADE of Norway, dating back to the piratical Vikings (inhabitants of 'Viker' or creeks), whose expeditions extended to Constantinople, and who discovered Iceland, Greenland, and N. America ('Vinland'; 500 years earlier than Columbus). On some of the fjords still exist the tumuli of these early navigators, who were sometimes buried along with their vessels. The commercial fleet of Norway now ranks next to those of Great Britain and the United States. Timber for ship-building abounds.

The E. coast of the peninsula is less favourable for navigation, as many of the harbours have altered their position or suffered from the rise of the coast-line, but the coasting-trade of Stockholm and the inland lake and canal-traffic are considerable.

Mountains, Lakes, and Rivers.

Owing to the sudden fall of the mountains on the W. coast the streams there have the character of torrents, while on the E. side they form long, narrow lakes, connected by rivers or by waterfalls. The mountains in the far north, bordering on Russia, rarely exceed 1000 ft. in height, but they become loftier towards the S.W., notably on the Lyngensfjord (p. 233) and at the head of the Saltenfjord (p. 219), where the Sulitelma forms the boundary between the sister kingdoms. To the S. of the great glacier-mountains of Svartisen (p. 217) the hills are lower, and a number of large lakes send their waters E. to the Baltic, while the Namsen and Snaasen descend to the well-cultivated plains on the Trondhjem Fjord. Farther S. the mountains, such as the Jomaffeld, Kjelhaugen, Åreskutan, and Syltoppe, again attain 4000-5000 ft., and the islands off the coast contain hills of like height. In latitude 63° the main range divides, the backbone of the peninsula continuing to run S., while a branch diverges W. nearly at a right angle. In the central range rise the Øster and Vester Dal-Elf, which unite and descend S.E. to the Gulf of Bothnia. Adjoining the same range lies the Fæmund-Sjø, out of which flows the Fæmunds-Elv, afterwards called Klar-Elf, falling into Lake Venern, whence it descends as the Göta-Elf to the Kattegat. A little N. of the Fæmund-Sjø lies the Aursund-Sjø, the source of the Glommen, the largest river in Norway, which forms the imposing Sarpsfos at Sarpsborg and falls into the Skager-Rack at Fredrikstad. Near the same lake rises the Gula, which descends N.W. to Trondhjem; and through the valleys of these two rivers runs the important railway from Christiania to Lake Mjøsen, to the copper-mines of Røros, and Trondhjem.

Between the Fæmund-Sjø and the Glommen rise the Hummel- fjeld, Tronfjeld, and Elgepig, and between the Glommen and the Gudbrandsdal tower the isolated Råndane. To the N.W. of the latter stretches the Dovre fjeld, culminating in the Snehætta (7630 ft.), formerly supposed to be the highest peak in Norway. To the W. of this point, and N.W. of the Gudbrandsdal, stretch the gneiss mountains of the Romsdal, already mentioned. The mountains S. of the Romsdal are known as the Langfjelde, which include the Jostedalstræ with the Lodalskaupe, and extend to the Horungerfjeld and the Jotunheim Mts. To these last belongs the Ymesfjeld, a huge mass of granite nearly 10 Engl. M. in breadth, culminating in the Galdhepig (p. 68), and surrounded by rocks of the transition period. Farther S. lie Lakes Gjende, Tyin, and Bygdin, enclosed by picturesque mountains belonging like the Horunger to the friable 'gabbro' formation, and all snow-clad except the most abrupt peaks on which the snow cannot lie.

The S. mountains of Norway, running from N.E. to S.W., are bounded by the Sognefjord on the N.W., by the Christiania Fjord on the S.W., and by a line drawn on the E. side from the Fillefjeld to Christiania. Between the Sognefjord and the Hardanger Fjord are the isolated plateaux of the Vosseskavl, the Hardanger Jekul, and the Hallingskarv, rising above the snow-line. The Hardanger Fjord is separated by the inner Hardanger Fjord from the snow-clad Folgefond (p. 120). To the S.E. of the Hardanger Fjord stretches the Hardanger Vidde, with peaks 3000-4600 ft. in height, which slope gradually on the E. and S. sides. Farther E. are the deep and picturesque valleys of Telemarken, which often cross each other. The E. outpost of this region is the Skogshorn, to the N. of the Hallingdal. Farther E. are the Nomedal, Hallingdal, and Valders valleys, descending S., beyond which are also a number of transverse valleys, the most fertile in Norway (such as Hadeland on the Randsfjord and Ringerike on the Tyriffjord). The mountains then descend to the plain of Jarlsberg and Laurvik. Among their last spurs are the Gausta and the Lidfjeld in Telemarken, and the isolated Norefjeld, between Lake Krøderen and the Eggedal.

The mountains running S.E. next enter the Herjeådal and Vermeland in SWEDEN, where they contain valuable iron ores, particularly in Vermeland, Dalarne, and Vestermanland. The range next passes between Lakes Venern and Vettern, where it is called Tiveden, and extends E. under the names of the Tydöskog and Kolmården. It then intersects the province of Götland and forms the plateau of Småland to the S. of Lake Vettern. An important spur to the S. of that lake is the Taberg, containing about 30 per cent of iron ore. The hills then gradually slope down to the plains of Skåne and Halland, where they almost disappear. In the plains of Götland rise the isolated Kinnekulle on Lake Venern, the Halleberg, the Hunneberg, and the Omberg.

Of comparatively late formation is the SWEDISH BASIN extending from the Skager-Rack through Lakes Venern and Vettern to Lake Mälaren, the land to the S. of which was probably once an island. These lakes must thus have formed a waterway to the Gulf of Finland, which again was probably connected with the White Sea; and this theory is borne out by the fact that a kind of crayfish found in the White Sea and Lake Venern does not exist in the Atlantic or in the Baltic. The modern canal-route connecting these lakes is described in RR. 44-47.

The coast to the N. of Stockholm is flat, and intersected by numerous rivers and long lakes, at the mouths of which lie towns chiefly supported by the timber-trade. One of the great lakes is the picturesque Siljan (p. 366), through which the Öster-Dal-Elf flows. Below Falun that river joins the Vester-Dal-Elf, which forms a fine cataract at Elfkarleby. Of other rivers the chief are the Ängerman-Elf (p. 379), the Lule-Elf (p. 387), and the Torne-Elf (p. 394). The last, the longest of all, is connected by a branch with the parallel river Kalix. Most of these eastern rivers are rather lakes connected by rapids and waterfalls. The heavy rainfall descending into the valleys where the sun has not power to evaporate it forms these lakes and swamps, the overflow of which descends from basin to basin till it reaches the sea. The lower reaches of these rivers are generally navigable. Steamboats ply on the Ängerman-Elf and the Lule-Elf.

Climate and Vegetation.

TEMPERATURE. Judging from the latitude of the peninsula, one would expect the climate to be generally inclement, but this is only the case on the E. coast and among the mountains. The climate of the W. coast is mild, being influenced by the Atlantic and by the Gulf Stream which impinges upon it. In the same latitude in which Franklin perished in the Arctic regions of America, and in which lies the inhospitable region of E. Siberia, the water of the western fjords of Norway never freezes except at their upper ends. As we proceed from W. to E., and even from N. to S., the winters become more severe. The climate is perhaps most equable at Skudesnæs, near Stavanger, where the mean temperature in January is 34.7° Fahr., and in July 55.4°. At Stockholm, on the other hand, the mean temperature of January is 24.8°, and that of July 63.5°. The difference is greater in many places farther N., as at Jockmock (66°36' N. lat.; 925 ft. above the sea), where the January temperature is 3.2° and that of July 57.92°. The tract between the Varanger Fjord and the Gulf of Bothnia, the interior of Finmarken and Lapland, and the S. mountains above the height of 2300 ft., all have an annual mean temperature below the freezing point. Some of the other isothermal lines are curious. Thus the line which marks a mean January temperature of 32° Fahr. runs S. from the Lofoten Islands, passing a little to the E. of Bergen and through the inner part of the Stavanger Fjord. It then turns S.E. to Cape Lindesnes, and thence N.E. towards the Christiania Fjord, and S. to Gotenburg and Copenhagen. The line marking a mean January temperature of 23° passes through Hammerfest, Saltdalen, Røros, Christiania, and Upsala. In mid-winter, therefore, the Lofoten Islands are not colder than Copenhagen, nor Hammerfest than Christiania. Again, while the mean temperature of the year at the North Cape is 35.6° , it is no higher at Östersund in Jemtland, 552 Engl. M. farther south. Lastly, while the climate on the W. coast is fairly equable throughout the year, that of the E. coast and the interior is made up of a long, severe winter and a short and hot summer. The sea is $3\frac{1}{2}$ - 7° warmer than the air, being of course cooler in summer and warmer in winter. The healthiest part of the peninsula is probably the island of Karmø, where the death-rate is at most 12 per thousand. The average rate for Norway is 19, for Sweden 20 per thousand.

RAINFALL. In the interior of Norway less rain falls than on the coast. In Sweden the greatest rainfall is between Gefle and Gotenburg. The mean rainfall in Sweden is 20.28 inches, at Gotenburg 28.18; on the E. coast it is 16.88. August is the rainiest month in Sweden, especially in the north. In Norway the maximum rainfall is at Florø, sometimes 90 inches per annum; on the S. coast the average is 40 inches, and on the W. coast, S. and N. of Florø, 70-75 inches. August and September are the wettest months in E. Norway, but on the W. coast the rainy season is later. June and July are therefore the best months for travelling in Sweden and E. Norway, and July and August for the W. coast. In the region of the Romsdal the rainy season does not usually set in before December. Hail and thunderstorms are rare in Norway. The latter, however, are sometimes violent on the W. coast, where forty churches have been destroyed by lightning within the last 150 years. The following table shows the mean temperature and average rainfall in different parts of Norway:—

AIR PRESSURE. The pressure in January is greatest in the interior of N. Norway and lowest in Finmarken. In July it is highest on the W. coast and lowest in the interior. The prevailing winds in winter are accordingly land-winds, which are frequently diverted towards the N. and follow the line of the coast. In summer, on the other hand, W. and S.W. winds prevail, blowing towards the region of the lowest air-pressure, frequently following the coast towards the N., and rarely impinging on the coast at a right angle. The most prevalent wind blows from the S.W., and on the coast brings dull weather, but less so in the interior. The most violent storms, chiefly in winter, come from the same quarter. The mountains separate two distinct climates, the W. wind being the dampest on the W. coast and the driest in the interior.

The Vegetation is generally poor, but the flora is unusually rich for so northern a region. About 25,750 Engl. sq. M. are covered with forest, chiefly pines, the wood of which is valuable owing to the closeness of the rings which mark its growth. Next are the oak, the birch, the elm, and the beech. Other trees occur also, but not in the forests. The beech rarely occurs in Sweden N. of Kalmar, while the oak is found as far N. as Gefle. In Norway the beech extends to a point beyond Bergen, and the red beech even occurs at Trondhjem. Near Laurvik, in latitude $59-59\frac{1}{2}^{\circ}$, the beech is found in considerable plantations. — The apple-tree (Pyrus malus) occurs as far as $65^{\circ} 10' N.$ lat., the plum (Prunus domestica) up to 64° , and the cherry to 66° , while currants (Ribes nigrum and rubrum), gooseberries (Ribes grossularia), strawberries (Fragaria vesca), raspberries (Rubus idaeus), bilberries (Vaccinium myrtillus), and the multebær (cloud-berry or marsh-berry) occur as far north as the North Cape.

Wheat thrives as far as $64\frac{1}{2}^{\circ}$, and in the S. districts up to a height of 1000-1250 ft.; Rye grows as far N. as 69° , and in the S. up to a height of 1950 ft.; Barley and Oats occur up to 70° , and in the S. to a height of 2050 ft. Botanists are referred to the instructive works of Schuebeler and Axel Blytt. — The cultivated land in Norway occupies 1074 Engl. sq. M. only, but in Sweden 10,678 sq. M. In the N. regions the Oxyria remiformis, a kind of sorrel, is largely cultivated as a substitute for corn. It is kept in a frozen state in winter and boiled down to a pulp for use, being often mixed with flour and made into Fladbred. In the S. districts, however, the 'flat bread' is usually made of wheat or barley flour mixed with mashed potatoes or pease-meal. The Lapps mix their bread with reindeer-milk and sometimes with the bitter Mulgedium alpinum as a preventive of scurvy.

It is a curious fact that barley takes the same time (90 days) to ripen at Alten ($70^{\circ} N.$ lat.) as at Christiania and in the S. of France, and it is believed that the great length of the Arctic days compensates for the lack of warmth. The seed, however, if brought from a warmer climate, requires to be acclimatized, and does not yield a good crop until after two or three seasons.

The leaves of most of the trees in N. Norway are larger than those of similar trees in the S. Thus the leaves of maples and plane-trees (Acer platanoides and pseudo-platanus) transplanted from Christiania to Tromsø have been found to increase greatly in size, while the trees themselves become dwarfed. This leaf development is also attributed to the long sunlight in summer.

The Animal Kingdom comprises most of the animals common in Great Britain, besides many which are now extinct there, and others peculiar to the Arctic regions. Among the most characteristic are the reindeer (Cervus tarandus), a most useful mammal and the sole support of the nomadic Lapps, and the lemming (Georychus lemmus), a rodent resembling a water-rat. Among beasts of prey the bear and the wolf are met with in many parts of the country, and the lynx and glutton occur. For killing any one of these the government offers a reward of 25 crowns. Conspicuous among large game is the handsome elk ('Elg', 'Elsdyr'; Cervus alces), now becoming rare, next to which rank the reindeer and the red deer. The finest of the wildfowl is the capercaillie ('Tjur'; Tetrao urogallus), then the ptarmigan ('Rype', Lagopus mutus) and hazel-grouse ('Hjerpe'; Tetrao bonasia). Partridges are rare in Norway, but abound in S. Sweden, where they were introduced about the year 1500. The most valuable of the wildfowl is the elderduck ('Eder', Anas mollissima), most abundant within the Arctic Circle. The down of the female, which she uses in making her nest, is gathered in the *Dunvæ*r of Finmarken, yielding a considerable revenue.

The Population is almost exclusively of Gothic origin, but the oldest element consists of the Lapps and the Finns, probably the aboriginal inhabitants, who belong to the Ugrian race. Their languages are both of the Turanian stock (akin to Hungarian), and are said by Castren, the philologist, to have been identical some 2000 years ago. The Lapps now number about 24,000 only in Norway and Sweden, and the Finns about 22,000 souls. They are both of the Mongolian type, with high cheek-bones, low foreheads, full lips, narrow eyes, blunt noses, and yellowish complexions, but the Finns are physically and mentally the superior race. The names applied to them are not used by themselves. The Lapps ('nomads') call themselves Samí or Sámmelads, and the Finns ('fendwellers') Suomi. The dominant race, by which the Lapps have been well-nigh extinguished, is Aryan or Indo-Germanic, and is believed to have come to the peninsula before the birth of Christ (see p. xi). The population of Norway is about 2,240,000, that of Sweden about 5,293,850. The annual increase, which frequent emigration retards, is now in Norway about 22,000, and in Sweden 37,000 per annum. Both countries have made great strides of late years. About one-half of the total population is engaged in farming and cattle-breeding, while mining and the timber-trade are among the staple industries in Sweden. The fisheries, as above stated, form the chief support of the inhabitants of W. Norway.

XI. History of Sweden and Norway.

Prehistoric Period. The earliest antiquities in Scandinavia belong to the FLINT PERIOD, when the peninsula was probably inhabited by Lapps and Finns in the N., and by Germanic tribes in the S. Their rude implements indicate that they had fixed dwelling-places and cattle, and knew the art of fishing and probably of hunting also. They buried their dead in large stone tomb-chambers. This epoch was succeeded by the BRONZE PERIOD, when tools and ornaments in bronze and even in gold were first imported, and afterwards made by the natives. Agriculture was now practised, and the same domestic animals were used as at present. The name of Scandia, Seansa, or Scandinavia is mentioned by Pliny and Ptolemy. The latter mentions the Goths, and Tacitus the Suedes in the 1st cent. A.D., about which period begins the iron period, when that metal was introduced from Central Europe. Silver and glass also make their appearance, and Roman coins and 'bracteates' (ornamental disks of metal) occur. During the EARLIER IRON PERIOD the contents of tombs prove that the dead were sometimes burned, sometimes buried in coffins. The cinerary urns are usually of terracotta, rarely of bronze. Among other objects found in the tombs are trinkets and weapons, some of which seem to have been purposely broken. The monuments of this period show the influence of Roman and mid-European culture, and the older Runic Inscriptions use the early Runic alphabet of 24 letters, common to Scandinavian, Anglo-Saxon, Burgundian, and Gothic inscriptions, but afterwards modified by the Scandinavians, who substituted for it the smaller character, consisting of 16 letters only.

Quite distinct from the earlier is the LATER IRON PERIOD (about 700-1050 A.D.). The Runic inscriptions of this period are in the smaller character, and the language corresponds with the oldest MSS. of the same era. At the same time the weapons, implements, and ornaments, with their fantastic figures of animals and intertwined ribbons show the dawn of a national decorative art. It therefore seems to be a well-established fact that during the later iron period, if not earlier, the Scandinavians had developed into a nationality distinct from the ancient Goths or the Anglo-Saxons.

The Historical Period begins with the later iron age. At that time S. Sweden seems to have belonged to the Danes. Farther N. was the land of the Götar, to whom belonged the adjacent island of Oland, while Gotland appears to have been occupied by an independent tribe. Still farther N. were the Svear, who occupied Upland, Vestermanland, Södermanland, and Nerike. The territories of the Götär and the Svear were separated by dense forest, while the latter were separated from the Norwegian tribes by forests and by Lake Venern and the Götä-Elf. Beowulf, the famous Anglo-Saxon epic poem, dating from about 700, mentions Denmark as an existing kingdom, and speaks of the different states of the Götär and Svear, which were afterwards (11th cent.) united, the Svear being dominant. The same poem refers to 'Norvegr' and 'Nordmenn' (Norway and the Northmen), but throws no light on their origin. At all events the consolidation of Norway took place much later than that of Denmark and Sweden, and doubtless after many severe struggles. To that troublous period belong the migrations and piratical expeditions of the Vikings, or Northmen who dwelt in creeks (vikr), who overran the whole of northern Europe from the 8th down to the 11th cent. The Swedes directed their attacks mainly against Finland, Kurland, Esthonia, and Russia, which last derived its name and its political organisation from Sweden; the Danes invaded France and England, and the Norwegians the north of England, Scotland, the Orkney and Shetland Islands, and the Hebrides.

Norway before the Union.

From an early period Norway was divided among a number of chiefs or petty kings, one of whom, Harald Haarfager ('fair-haired'), after severe conflicts, united the whole of Norway under his sceptre after a naval victory near Stavanger in 872. After his death the kingdom was again broken up. About 970 Jarl (Earl) Haakon, with the help of the Danes, established himself as an independent prince at Trondhjem, and at length, in 995, Olaf Tryggvason, a great-grandson of Haarfager, re-united the kingdom. Olaf had been baptized in England and succeeded in evangelizing Norway, by force or by bribery, but was defeated and slain in the great naval battle of Svolder, on the coast of Pomerania, about the year 1000, by the united forces of the kings of Sweden and Denmark and of Eric, the son of Haakon Jarl.

The kingdom was again re-united by St. Olaf, a descendant of Harald Haarfager. After having been baptized either in England or in Normandy, he returned to Norway from a long warlike expedition in 1014 to claim the crown, and proceeded energetically to consolidate and evangelize his kingdom. His severity, however, caused discontent, and his adversaries were supported by Canute, King of England and Denmark, who invaded Norway, was proclaimed king, and defeated and slew Olaf at Stiklestad (p. 207) in 1030. Olaf, however, was soon regarded as a martyr and was formally declared a saint by a national assembly. His son Magnus the Good (1035-47), who had been left by his father in Russia, was now called to the throne, and the Danes were expelled. Since then the unity, independence, and religion of the kingdom have been comparatively undisturbed. In 1047 Magnus was succeeded by Harald Sigurdsson (step-brother of St. Olaf), who fell at the Battle of Hastings (1066).

The next king of Norway was Olaf Kyrre ('the peaceful'; 1066-93), who favoured the growth of the towns, framed a form of government, and organized the Norwegian church. The whole country had hitherto belonged to the see of Bremen-Hamburg, but Olaf now erected three native bishoprics, for which he built cathedrals at Nidarós, Bergen, and Oslo. Under his successors the independence of the church was secured by compulsory tithes (Tiende, 'tenths', in Scotland 'teinds'), many churches were built, and the first monasteries were founded (early 12th cent.). In 1103 Norway was attached to the see of Lund (p. 264), but in 1152 a Norwegian archbishopric was erected at Trondhjem, to which were attached the western dependencies, the Faroe, Orkney, and Shetland Islands, the Hebrides and the Isle of Man, Iceland and Greenland.

When Magnus Erlingsson (1161) was elected and crowned king, Archbishop Eysteinn succeeded in gaining large concessions for the church. But the ecclesiastical privileges aroused national opposition. Amid the bitter conflicts of the Birkebeiner ('birch-legs', so called from their birch-bark sandals) and the Baglar (the episcopal party, from Bagall, 'baculus', a pastoral staff), Sverrir was set up as a rival king (1177-1202), and by him both king Magnus and his son were defeated and slain.

For a time peace was restored by Haakon Haakonsson (1217-63), 'the Old', a grandson of Sverrir, who deprived the clergy of their undue influence in the election of the kings. He also annexed Greenland, but failed to maintain his claim to the Hebrides and the Isle of Man.

Haakon's son, Magnus Lagabætir ('betterer of laws'; 1263-80), subdued Iceland and otherwise consolidated his kingdom. He abolished the four ancient diets (Lagthing, Løgthing), which had judicial and legislative functions, and he restricted the privileges of the towns, but the church succeeded in vindicating her liberties. By a concordat with the church at Tønsberg in 1277 the king renounced all control over ecclesiastical causes and elections of prelates.

His sons Eiríkr (1280-99) and Haakon (5th of the name; 1299-1319) renewed the conflicts with the church, which were only terminated by the final recognition of the concordat in 1458. In secular affairs these two kings were more successful. The first step was to transfer the judicial powers of the diets to royal officials. The Løgmennt ('lawyers'), or skilled assessors at the diets, elected and paid by the peasantry, now became regular judges, while the right of final appeal lay to the king alone. The hereditary character of all offices and dignities was also abolished (1308), and a civil service of the modern type was instituted. As yet, however, the towns attained but little wealth or importance, as the trade of the country was chiefly in the hands of the Hanseatic cities.

It remains to glance for a moment at the Intellectual Culture of Norway during this period. Northern Paganism held its ground till the 11th cent. It shared the common Germanic belief in immortality, in elfish spirits in house, field, and forest, and in monsters and giants embodied in the sombre and awe-inspiring features of the country. At an early period occurs the conception of a heavenly God, whose personified attributes were the minor gods Heimdallr, Freyr, and Baldur, and the goddesses Nerthus, Frigg, Freya, and others. With their aid justice was administered and enterprises were begun, and to them the inhabitants offered sacrifices under the guidance of priests and priestesses. The most highly revered of these deities were Freyr, the god of light, whose temple was at Upsala, and Thor, the thunderer, the giant-slayer, the rain-giver, and the protector of man. While Thor remained the god of the peasants, the more aristocratic vikings, who hoped to continue their warlike and glorious career in another life, set up as their supreme deity Odin, the god of the wind, who as the god of victory would summon the fallen to jousts and revelry in Valhalla. But religious sentiment could not long rest satisfied with these mythical personages. Above them all Fate must reign supreme, and they came to be regarded, no longer as creators, but as creatures of this world, formed of matter which had already pre-existed. Their final destruction (Ragnarök, 'fate of the gods') in a war of extermination against the giants was even imagined.

The ancient Runic characters had been used for short inscriptions and rude records of various kinds, while legend, history, and law had long been dependent on oral tradition. At length, when Christianity introduced the Latin characters, they were used by bards for the preservation of popular lore, and by the churchmen for the promotion of the higher education. Popular and clerical literature, an Old Norse and a learned Latin, were thus developed side by side, but of the former by far the greater part was written by Icelanders.

Norway is indeed the land of the SKALDS (bards or minstrels), of whom the first on record was Bragi, 'the Old' (about 800), and Harald Haarfager maintained a whole troop of bards at his court; but they flourished chiefly in Iceland, where independent bards and lovers of freedom, who refused allegiance to the kingship of the mainland, sought an asylum from the 9th cent. onwards. It was there that they studied the national customs and traditions, and there that they developed a truly national poetry. Egill, the most profound of the Old Norse bards, was an Icclander, and other Icelandic bards sang at the royal courts of the north. Of the importance of their 'Drapas' the songs of the gods and heroes in the so-called Older Edda afford a good idea, as in date and form they are but little removed from the earlier minstrelsy. The panegyrics on princes of a later period are somewhat poor and laboured, and they were now superseded by the Sagas. On the long winter evenings, in the family circle or at banquets, it became customary to tell stories, to describe the adventures of campaigners in distant lands, to extol the prowess of dead ancestors and of living heroes. By committing these stories to writing the authors created a prose literature of a vigorous and realistic character. Among the family or tribal sagas may be mentioned those of Egill, Njál, and Sturlunga. The historical sagas were founded by Ari Fróði (d. 1146), and reached their prime about 1232 in the 'Hjemskringla' (circle of the world) of Snorri Sturluson (d. 1241). Besides the historical there were also mythical sagas, such as the 'Fridthjofssaga', the 'Völsungasaga', the 'Thidrekssaga', which was composed in Norway, and lastly fables or 'lying sagas'. In the 14th cent. the old materials were reproduced in a poetical form, combining the native alliteration with the southern end-rhymes. Thus arose the poetry of the Rímur (rhymes, dance-songs), which still survives in Iceland.

Compared with the rich Icelandic literature the Norwegian is meagre. Written composition only began when oral tradition had almost died out. The mainland was constantly harassed by wars and intestine troubles; the clergy kept aloof from national interests, the nobles strove to adopt the culture of central Europe and read translations of foreign romances; the peasantry alone adhered to their national customs, thus widening the gulf between them and the upper classes, and thus retarding the advent of a higher civilisation.

Sweden before the Union.

The early history of Sweden is obscure. The country was partly evangelized by the German archbishops Ansgar (d. 865), Rimbert (d. 888), and Unni (d. 936), aided by German and Danish missionaries. The first Christian king on record was Olaf Eriksson, about the year 1000. His son was baptized by the scriptural name of Jacob, but as the people objected it had to be changed. The Christian kings of Sweden Stenkil Ragnvaldsson (d. about 1066) and Ingi Stenkilsson were chiefly supported by the recently converted Götar, while the hostile northern Svear set up Blot-Sven ('sacrificing man') as a rival king and restored paganism. It was only after long struggles that Erik Jedvardsson (the 'Saint'; d. 1160) restored Christianity. Like Norway, Sweden was at first attached to the see of Bremen and Hamburg. The primacy was next granted to the archbishop of Lund by Hadrian IV. about 1154, but in 1164 was transferred to the newly created archbishop of Upsala.

Both the Swedish and the Gothic territory were divided into numerous provinces, subdivided into districts. The election of the kings took place in the province of Upper Sweden, the most important of all, after which the new monarch had to make a royal progress throughout his kingdom to receive the oaths of homage and allegiance. He was then said to be 'riding the Eriksgrata'.

In the 11th cent. the supreme power fell into the hands of the Folkungar, a wealthy family of Oster-Gotland, which by inter-marriages with the royal families of Sweden, Norway, and Denmark brought the hitherto isolated country into contact with others. During the reign of Erik Lapse (d. about 1250) the real ruler of the country was his brother-in-law Birger, Jarl (earl) of Bjelbo, a shrewd and powerful member of the Folkungar, who, on the death of Erik without issue, succeeded in procuring the election of his own son Valdemar, a boy of ten, as king of Sweden. Birger died in 1266, and nine years later Valdemar was dethroned and banished by his stronger brother Magnus.

Magnus (1275-90), surnamed Ladulås ('barn-lock', vindicator of law and order), proved a vigorous and beneficent ruler. He at once extended his authority and enhanced the position of the kingship by the brilliancy of his court. Like the Norwegian kings (p. xlii) he abolished the popular election of judges, and appointed the Lugmän and other district officials himself. But in Sweden the kingship had to reckon with an independent and spirited aristocracy. The diets of the nobles, attended by the clergy also, and afterwards by delegates from the towns and country districts, had gradually assumed the form of a representative parliament, by whose counsel and consent the kings were bound. The privileges of the church, however, were less extensive than in Norway. Ecclesiastical legislation was in the hands of the state, the king was arbiter in cases of episcopal encroachment, while parishes or private patrons had the right of appointing to benefices. The king was also on friendly terms with the German Hansa, and in particular with its town of Wisby in the island of Gotland. The Swedish towns meanwhile enjoyed comparative independence, although their national character was impaired by German influences.

In 1290 Magnus was succeeded by his son Birger Magnusson, during whose minority the government was ably conducted by Marshal Thorgils Knutsson down to 1303; but serious quarrels afterwards broke out between Birger and his brothers, dukes Eric and Valdemar. In 1318 the dukes were arrested, imprisoned, and put to death, but Birger himself was soon dethroned and banished to Denmark (d. 1321). Magnus Eriksson, the infant son of Duke Eric, was then elected king, and during his reign were made the first attempts to unite the Scandinavian kingdoms.

The history of early Swedish Literature is almost a blank. The Runic inscriptions of Sweden are in the metre of the Old Norse poetry, figures scratched on stone show scenes from the story of Sigurd Fafnisbani; and the Norwegian Thidreks-Saga speaks of the ancient heroic songs of Sweden. But the early literature has been lost. At length with Christianity came ecclesiastical education, obliterating almost every vestige of the ancient national culture. In several provincial codes alone, such as the Vestgötalag, are preserved traces of it in a pagan form of oath. To a later period belong a few meagre annals in Latin, mainly based on Danish sources, a work concerning the Styrils konunga ok höfðinga (the rule of kings and governors), founded on foreign models, and lastly the so-called Eufemiavisor, a poetical translation of mid-European romances made by order of the Norwegian queen Eufemia, early in the 14th cent., for her son-in-law Duke Erik of Sweden.

The Union Period.

On the death of Haakon Magnusson of Norway in 1319 he was succeeded by Magnus Eriksson, a child of three years, son of his daughter Ingeborg and the Swedish Duke Erik (p. xlv). On the banishment of King Birger the same year Magnus was also elected King of Sweden, so that the two crowns were now united. In 1332 the province of Skåne, till then Danish, was annexed to Sweden. But the king's neglect of Norway led to the dissolution of the Union. In 1343 the Norwegians elected the king's son Haakon Magnusson, a boy of four, as king (the 6th of that name in Norway). After a period of terrible disasters, such as the Black Death which ravaged the country in 1349-50, Haakon personally assumed the reins of government in 1355. Meanwhile in Sweden his father Magnus was overtaken by many troubles. He quarrelled with the aristocracy, lost Skåne, Öland, and Gotland to the Danes (1360-61), and was dethroned in 1362, when his son king Haakon was elected king of Sweden also. The following year Haakon married the princess Margaret, daughter of King Valdemar IV. of Denmark.

In 1375 Valdemar died without male issue, and in the following year Queen Margaret succeeded in getting her son Olaf Haakonsson elected king of Denmark. On the death of his father in 1330 he succeeded to the crown of Norway also, while the Swedes continued to support the rival king Albert of Mecklenburg, nephew of king Magnus Eriksson. On Olaf's early death in 1387 his mother Margaret was proclaimed regent of Denmark, and soon after regent of Norway also. The opponents of Albert of Mecklenburg then invited Margaret to Sweden, and Albert was defeated at Falköping in 1389, and taken prisoner. During the same year Erik of Pomerania, Margaret's great-nephew, was elected king of Norway at Trondhjem, then of Denmark also in 1395, and of Sweden in 1396; and on 17th June 1397 he was formally crowned king of the three Scandinavian states at the Diet of Kalmar.

But the prospects of the Union were clouded. Each of the three kingdoms jealously maintained its own form of government, while in the elective monarchies of Sweden and Denmark the royal authority was seriously impaired by an ambitious aristocracy. In Norway the towns were dominated by the Germans, and at sea the German Hansa was supreme.

Margaret ruled over the three countries with wisdom and moderation; on her death in 1412 King Eric, whose queen was Philippa, daughter of Henry IV. of England, assumed the reins of government. For twenty years his sway was comparatively undisturbed, but in 1433 the Swedish peasantry, headed by Engelbrekt Engelbrektsson, a proprietor of mines in Dalarne, rebelled. In Norway also a rebellion broke out in 1436, and when the Danes also became disaffected Eric retired to the island of Gotland, where he died in 1459.

The next sovereigns of the united kingdoms were Christopher of Bavaria (1440-48), Christian of Oldenburg (1448-81), and Hans (1481-1513), son of Christian, all of whom had the utmost difficulty in maintaining the Union, even for brief periods. The Swedes in particular aspired to national independence. In 1448 they proclaimed Karl Knutsson king, and after his death in 1470 they appointed Sten Sture the Elder and the Younger successively as administrators of the kingdom. King Hans died in 1513 and was succeeded without opposition in Denmark and Norway by his son Christian II., a man of ability and learning, but self-willed, passionate, and cruel, who succeeded in establishing his authority in Sweden also. But when, on 8th-10th Nov. 1520, he caused no fewer than 82 so-called rebels and heretics, including two bishops and thirteen royal counsellors, to be executed in the market-place of Stockholm (the 'Blood Bath of Stockholm'), the exasperation of the Swedes, aggravated by other grievances, reached its climax. In 1521 the peasantry of Dalarne found an able leader in the famous Gustaf Vasa, who had been unjustly imprisoned by Christian, but had escaped to Lübeck in 1519. In 1520 he returned to Sweden, and on hearing of the death of his father at the Stockholm Blood Bath he headed the rising, which soon triumphantly extended over the whole of Sweden. In the same year he was appointed administrator of the kingdom at Vadstena, and in June, 1523, he was proclaimed king of Sweden at Strengnas.

Soon afterwards Christian lost his two other kingdoms also. His favour to the Reformation aroused the enmity of the church, and his injudicious measures for the benefit of the people menaced the privileges of the nobility. The discontent was aggravated by a disastrous war with the Hanseatic League, and when Christian was seriously threatened by a revolt in Jutland in 1523 he quitted Denmark in despair, only to return to it nine years later to be taken prisoner (p. liv).

During the Union Literature made progress in Sweden, but languished in Norway. In both countries clerical education continued to be carried on as in the great continental schools. But while the Old Norse language was superseded about the middle of the 14th cent. by Danish as the language of literature and of the educated classes, and while it only survived in Iceland and in provincial dialects, the Swedish language held its ground. The native literature of Norway thus became extinct, whereas that of Sweden began to increase, consisting of translations of parts of the Bible, religious writings, rhyming chronicles, ballads, and compilations of laws. Among these works, which as a rule show little originality, must be mentioned the revelations of St. Birgitta (d. 1373, p. 294), the greatest product of the middle ages in Scandinavia. While severely castigating pope and clergy, they are rather of a mystic than of a reforming tendency, and are remarkable for the richness and grandeur of their poetic imagery. In 1370 the gifted authoress founded an order of monks and nuns, who continued to be the foremost representatives of religious culture in Norway down to the Reformation. A little later arose two great centres of intellectual life, the Swedish university of Upsala in 1477, and the Danish university of Copenhagen in 1479, the latter of which extended its beneficent influence to Norway also. Among the learned works of the period may be named the Latin 'Cronica regni Gothorum', by Ericus Olai (d. 1486). Popular ballads ('kämpevisor', lays of the heroes), dating as far back as the 12th cent., at the same time increased in number and importance.

Sweden after the Dissolution of the Kalmar Union.

After Gustavus Vasa (1523-60) had won independence for his country he strenuously sought to promote its material and intellectual progress. At the same time he consolidated his power so successfully that he became an absolutist and patriarchal monarch. The nobility had been weakened by the cruelties of Christian, while the lower classes, who had vigorously assisted in throwing off the Danish yoke, gained importance. In 1527 the diet of Vesterås rejected the Roman Catholic religion, transferred part of the church property to the king, and made the kingship hereditary instead of elective. Before his death, however, the king unwisely bestowed dukedoms on his younger sons, thus laying the foundation for future troubles.

Under Gustaf Vasa's sons Eric XIV. (1560-68) and John III. (1568-92), and under John's son and successor Sigismund of Poland (1592-99), Sweden underwent many severe trials. In 1593 Duke Charles of Södermanland, Vasa's youngest son, caused the Augsburg Confession to be accepted anew by a synod at Upsala, in 1595 he was proclaimed regent for his absent nephew, and in 1599, on the deposition of the latter, he succeeded him as Charles IX. (1599-1611). His rule was beneficial; he was a zealous promoter of commerce, mining, and agriculture; and in his wars with Poland, Russia, and Denmark, he made Sweden respected.

On his death his son Gustavus II. Adolphus (1611-32), greatest and ablest of Swedish kings, was called to the throne at the age of seventeen. Under him Sweden was to play a prominent part in European history and to attain the zenith of her fame. Gustavus had been admirably educated by his father, and soon displayed his brilliant talents as a general and a statesman, combined with heroic strength of will. By his successful wars he extended the boundaries of his kingdom, gaining Kexholm, Karelen, and Ingermanland from Russia in 1617, and Livonia with four Prussian seaports from Poland in 1629. With the aid of his chancellor Axel Oxenstjerna he remodelled the administration of justice, founded a supreme court at Stockholm (1614-15), and re-organized the national assembly, dividing it into the four estates of Nobles, Clergy, Burghers, and Peasants, and giving them powers of legislation and taxation (1617). He founded new towns, favoured mining and commerce, extended the university of Upsala, and erected another at Dorpat. Above all he strove incessantly to improve his army, and in 1630, on the repeated requests of the Protestant princes of Germany, he crossed the Baltic to support the Protestant cause in the Thirty Years' War. After several glorious victories, which raised Sweden to the proudest position she ever occupied in history, the king's brilliant career was prematurely cut short at the Battle of Lützen, where he fell on 6th Nov., 1632.

The war was continued under his daughter and successor Christina (1632-54), then a minor, under the able guidance of Oxenstjerna, by the Swedish generals Gustaf Horn and Joh. Banér, and later by L. Torstensson. War broke out with Denmark in 1643, but was most advantageously terminated by the great chancellor's masterly diplomacy. By the Peace of Brömsebro, in 1645, the Danes ceded to Sweden Jemtland, Herjedalen, Gotland, and Halland, and granted the Swedes exemption from the Sound dues. Again by the Peace of Westphalia (1648) Sweden gained the principalities of Bremen and Verden, part of Pomerania with Stettin and the islands of Rügen, Usedom, and Wollin, and the town of Wismar, besides a considerable war indemnity. Meanwhile Christina had assumed the reins of government (1644); she invited the philosopher Descartes and other famous scholars to Stockholm, and she was a collector of pictures, books, and MSS.; but the extravagance of the queen and her favourites and the heavy pressure of taxation caused serious disaffection. Unmarried and weary of government, she abdicated the throne at a meeting of the Diet at Upsala, in 1654, in favour of her cousin Karl Gustav of Pfalz-Zweibrücken, who had been general of the Swedish troops in Germany. The same year she quitted Sweden, embraced the Romish faith secretly at Brussels, and then publicly at Innsbruck when on her way Rome. After a chequered life in France and two attempts to regain her footing in Sweden, she terminated her eccentric career at Rome in 1689.

Charles X. Gustavus (1654-60) strove by economy to reform the finances. His chief aim was to establish the sole supremacy of Sweden over the Baltic and its coasts. At first successful in his war with John Casimir, King of Poland, son of Sigismund, who now claimed the throne of Sweden, he was compelled by the intervention of Russia, Austria, and Denmark to purchase peace by making extensive concessions. But a war with Denmark brought great success, for the Peace of Roskilde (1658) secured to him the coast provinces of Bohuslän, Skåne, Halland, and Blekinge. On a renewal of the war with Denmark Charles besieged Copenhagen, but his sudden death in 1660 left his kingdom in a perilous position.

Charles X. was succeeded by his son Charles XI. (1660-97), a boy of four, whose guardians made peace with their three chief opponents. By the Peace of Oliva with Poland, Brandenburg, and Austria in 1660 the King of Poland ceded Livonia to Sweden and renounced his claim to the Swedish crown, and by the Peace of Kardis with Russia in 1661 she restored her conquests in Esthonia and Livonia. Denmark-Norway on the other hand, by the Peace of Copenhagen in 1660, recovered Trondhjem and the Island of Bornholm, of which the peace of 1658 had bereft them. In 1666 the S. districts of Sweden were benefited by the foundation of the university of Lund. In 1672, at the age of seventeen, the king was declared major, and in 1674 he became the ally of France in the wars against Holland, Great Britain, and Germany; but in 1675 the Swedish army was signally defeated at Fehrbellin by the Elector of Brandenburg. At the peace of St. Germain in 1679, however, by the intervention of the French, the Swedes were saved from the loss of Pomerania. Meanwhile financial distress, party strife, and above all the arrogance of the nobility, who then possessed five-sevenths of the land in Sweden, and who strove to reduce the peasantry to the condition of serfs, caused an outbreak of the general discontent. After stormy debates, the king, who had skilfully guided the movement, was entrusted with the sole legislative power. Having also been authorized to revoke extravagant crown-grants, he wisely used the funds thus acquired in paying the debts of the crown, in re-organizing his army and fleet, and for other useful purposes. At the same time he proceeded to amend the law and to remedy ecclesiastical abuses. On his death in 1697, this 'great housekeeper of the kingdom', as he was called by his subjects, left Sweden strong, prosperous, and highly respected.

Under his son and successor Charles XII. (1697-1718), this absolutism proved disastrous. Able, carefully educated, energetic, and conscientious, but self-willed and eccentric, Charles XII., who ascended the throne at the age of fifteen, brought his country to the brink of ruin. In 1699 Denmark, Russia, and Poland formed an alliance against Sweden, which led to the great northern war. Aided by British, Dutch, and other allies, Charles was at first brilliantly successful, but during his adventurous campaign in the Ukraine, he was signally defeated by the Russians at Pultava (1709), and lost nearly all his army. He escaped into Turkey and resided at Bender, but quarrelled with the Sultan, who placed him in confinement in 1713. Having escaped and returned to Sweden (1715), he made every effort to continue the war, and in the case of Russia at least he had almost succeeded in concluding an advantageous peace when he fell at the siege of Fredrikshald at the early age of thirty-six (1718; p. 104). Brave, chivalrous, simple in manner, and irreproachable in conduct, the memory of Charles is still fondly cherished by the Swedes. The short reign of absolutism (Envåldstiden) now ends, and a period of greater independence begins (Frihetstiden; 1719-92).

Charles XII. was succeeded by his sister Ulrika Eleonora, who in 1720, with consent of the Estates, resigned in favour of her husband Frederick I. (1720-51), prince of Hessen-Cassel. A new constitution was now framed by the Estates. The supreme power was vested in the Estates and in a cabinet responsible to them. By treaties of peace with Great Britain, with Prussia, with Poland and Denmark, and with Russia, Sweden now lost Bremen and Verden, Stettin and part of Pomerania, her exemption from Sound-dues, Livonia, Esthonia, Ingemanland, and the districts of Kexholm and Viborg in Finland. She thus fell from her rank as one of the European great powers into a subordinate position better suited to her capacity. With the advent of peace trade and industry revived and a new code of laws was drawn up (1734). But in opposition to the peace party, derisively called 'Nightcaps' (nattmössor), or 'Caps', the war party, known as 'Hats' (hattar), led the country into a new war with Russia, which caused the loss of Finland (1741). On the death of the queen without issue, Adolphus Frederick of Holstein-Gottorp, a relation of the crown-prince of Russia, was elected as the successor of Frederick I., on condition that the greater part of Finland should be restored. To this Russia agreed in order to prevent the re-union of the three Scandinavian crowns.

The royal prerogative of Adolphus Frederick (1751-71) was farther limited by the Estates, and Sweden was soon plunged by the 'Hats' into the Seven Years' War, in which she played an ignoble part, while at home Queen Louise Ulrike, sister of Frederick the Great of Prussia, was a zealous promoter of art and science.

Adolphus was succeeded by his son Gustavus III. (1771-92), who by means of a cleverly organized military revolution or coup-d'état (1772) succeeded in overthrowing the supreme power of the Estates and in regaining the most valuable prerogatives of the crown. With the aid of the peasantry, whose condition he improved, he curbed the power of the turbulent nobles, some of whom were in league with Russia, and in 1789 he effected a farther change in the constitution, which gave him the sole prerogative of making war and peace. Absolutism was thus restored, but the liberal and enlightened king made a good use of his power. He abolished torture, granted liberty of the press, reformed the coinage, improved the army, and fostered commerce and industry, science, art, and literature (p. lii). After a four years' war he compelled Russia to abstain in future from interference with Swedish affairs (1790). After the outbreak of the French Revolution, the king proposed to intervene, with Russia and Austria, in favour of Louis XVI., and proceeded to levy new taxes and prepare for war. This led the disaffected nobles to enter into a new conspiracy against him. At a masked ball in the great theatre, on the night of 15th March, 1792, this able and chivalrous, though sometimes ill-advised monarch was assassinated.

His son Gustavus IV. Adolphus (1792-1809), an upright, but narrow and obstinate monarch, took part in the wars against France, which led to the loss of Pomerania in 1807 and of Finland in 1809, and to his defeat in Norway also. He and his heirs were then formally deposed by the Estates. He retired to Switzerland and died in poverty at St. Gallen in 1837.

His uncle, Duke Charles of Södermanland, having confirmed a new constitution just framed, was now elected king as Charles XIII. (1809-18), but as he was old and childless, Prince Christian Augustus of Augustenburg, stadtholder of Norway, was elected crown-prince. On the sudden death of the latter in 1810, the Estates elected Jean Baptiste Jules Bernadotte, one of Napoleon's generals, as crown-prince, who was then adopted by Charles, assumed the name of Charles John, and embraced the Protestant faith. The new crown-prince soon gained great influence, and directed his attention chiefly to military organisation. Having obtained the consent of Russia, Britain, and Prussia to his acquisition of the crown of Norway, Charles John then marched with a Swedish contingent into Germany and assumed command of the northern army which took part in the decisive struggle against Napoleon (1813). His participation in the war was somewhat reluctant, but by the Peace of Kiel (1814) he succeeded in compelling Denmark to renounce her claim to Norway.

The Intellectual Progress of the country was greatly furthered by the Reformation; but parallel with the national literature thus influenced ran also works of humanistic and Catholic tendency down to the 17th cent. History was as yet uncritical, and it was only with the grand political developments of the 17th cent. that the language was purified and ennobled. The scholars invited to her court by Queen Christina, a talented and learned princess (p. xlix), gave a great impetus to learning. Swedish history was now zealously studied, but still unscientifically, as witness the 'Atlantica' of Olaf Rydbeck (d. 1702), which locates Paradise in Sweden and traces the ancient Gothic kingdom to a son of Japheth.

Georg Stjernhjelm (d. 1672) is regarded as the founder of modern Swedish poetry. The keynote struck by his admirably finished poems, in which humanistic culture and the national genius are happily blended, was followed by numerous successors, inferior in originality, and often influenced by German or Italian pomposity. About the middle of the 18th cent., French taste is brought into vogue, chiefly by the historian and poet Olof von Dalin (d. 1763). This school reached its prime under Gustavus III. In 1753 the 'Vitterhets Akademi' (academy of science) had been founded, and in 1786 Gustavus founded the Swedish Academy for the study and improvement of the Swedish language. To this academic school belonged Kellgren (d. 1795) and Leopold (d. 1829); but a far more popular and truly national poet, who has left his characteristic mark on the last quarter of the 18th cent., was Karl Michael Bellman (d. 1795), the singer of sweet and simple ballads, whose 'Fredmans Epistlar' were deemed worthy of a prize even by the Academy. In his drinking and love-songs and his enthusiastic descriptions of national life at Stockholm, he sets all the French rules of composition at defiance, he rejects the old rhetorical character of the Swedish poetry, and delights his readers with his verve and native humour.

Among the noteworthy men of letters and science of the 18th cent. may be mentioned Count Karl Gust. Tessin (d. 1770), famous as an art-collector, Johan Ihre (d. 1780), the philologist, Sven Lagerbring (d. 1787), the historian, and above all Karl von Linné (d. 1778), the botanist.

In the domain of art David Klöcker von Ehrenstrahl (1626-98), a native of Hamburg, is the first important representative of Swedish painting. He had been trained in the Netherlands and in Italy, and was appointed court-painter at Stockholm in 1661. On the other hand most of the Swedish painters of the 18th cent. worked abroad, chiefly in Paris, such as Gust. Lundberg (1695-1786), Nils Lafrensen (1737-1808), and Alex Roslin (1718-93). Influenced by the English school were Karl Fred. v. Breda (1759-1818) and El. Martin (1739-1818), and of independent Swedish development the landscape-painter Karl Joh. Fuhlerantz (1774-1861). The first Swedish sculptor of note was Joh. Tobias Sergel (1740-1814), a pupil of Larchèveque (p. 315), educated in Paris and Rome, and appointed court-sculptor at Stockholm in 1779.

When Sweden withdrew from the Kalmar Union (1523), Duke Frederick of Slesvik-Holstein was elected king by the nobles of Jutland as Frederick I. (1524-33), and when the deposed king Christian II. appeared in Norway to reclaim his kingdom in 1432 he was treacherously arrested, and afterwards died in captivity (p. xlvii). Frederick thus regained Norway, where he did his utmost to establish the Reformation.

His eldest son Christian III. (1533-59) quelled the last rebellion against the new faith and banished Archbishop Olaf Engelbrechtsson of Trondhjem who had headed it. He abolished the Norwegian council of state and made Norway a Danish province. Trade now began to prosper, the towns became more important, and the Hansa domination was vigorously checked by Christopher Valkendorff, an energetic magnate of Bergen (1536).

Christian's son Frederick II. (1559-88) cared little for Norway, which was oppressed by his officials, and the calamitous seven years' war with Sweden (1563-70) sowed a bitter hatred between the countries which lasted for centuries.

His son Christian IV. (1588-1648) cared better for his northern kingdom. He granted Norwegian fleets to Norwegians only. He revised the church ordinances, published a new Norwegian code of laws (1604), opposed the intrigues of the Jesuits, and improved the army. Mining made immense progress, the silver mines at Kongsberg (1624) and the copper-mines of Røros (1645) were opened up. The towns of Christiania (1624) and Christiansand (1641) were founded anew, trading companies formed, the Hansa factory at Bergen strictly controlled, and Greenland and other countries explored. But these benefits were outweighed by the disasters of the Kalmar War with Sweden (1611-13), during which the Norwegian peasantry surprised and almost annihilated the Scottish auxiliaries under Col. Ramsay at Kringlen (p. 84), and still more so by those of the Thirty Years' War, in the course of which Christian IV. was defeated by General Tilly at Lutter on the Barenberg in 1626. In a second war with Sweden (1643-45) Norway lost Jemtland and Herjedalen.

Christian's son Frederick III. (1648-70) caused new disaster by taking part in the Swedish-Polish war, with the result that Denmark lost all her S. Swedish possessions (p. 1). In 1661 the Danish Estates empowered the king to revise the constitution, whereupon he declared himself an absolute monarch. Norway was thus placed on an equality with Denmark, the administration was improved, and the revenue increased.

Christian V. (1670-99) renewed the war against Sweden (1675-79), but without success. He framed new codes of law for Denmark (1683) and Norway (1687), but his creation of new counties and baronies was harmful to Norway. His unjust treatment of his minister Griffenfeldt, who was cruelly imprisoned for 22 years, forms a blot on this king's memory.

Under Frederick IV. (1699-1730) was waged the great northern war in which the Norwegian naval hero Peter Vessel (ennobled as Tordenskjold) took a leading part, notably in the naval battle of Rügen (1715) and in the capture of the Swedish fleet at Marstrand (1719). The country gained nothing. On the other hand the finances were improved, the conversion of the Lapps was promoted, and that of the Greenlanders begun.

The reign of Christian VI. (1730-46) was peaceful. Trade and navigation thrived anew, the fleet was strengthened, a militia organized, and education promoted. But down to the end of the reign Norway was injuriously infected with German Puritanism and suffered severely from the protective law that she should draw her corn supplies from Denmark alone.

Frederick V. (1746-66) ruled as an enlightened despot. The tyranny of asceticism came to an end, and art and science were zealously promoted. The king pensioned the famous German poet Klopstock in order that he might work at his 'Messiah', and kept him at Copenhagen from 1750 to 1770. A mining school was founded at Kongsberg, a mathematical school at Christiania, and a scientific society at Trondhjem. Notwithstanding the preparations for war with Russia, the economic condition of Norway steadily improved. Under the absolute monarchy the Norwegian peasantry thrived, their number having risen from 450,000 to 723,000 in 1664. The number of Norwegian ships also increased from 50 to 1150. The exports far exceeded those of Denmark, which enjoyed much less commercial freedom, and whose population had fallen off from the same cause. The Norwegian sense of independence was thus fostered, while intercourse with England and other foreign countries further expanded the national mind and paved the way for striking mental developments.

The authority of the imbecile Christian VII. (1766-1808) was wielded by ministers, the first of whom was Joh. Fried. Struensee, his German physician (1737-72). Struensee was an enlightened reformer, but as his methods were harsh, and as he showed contempt for the Danes, a conspiracy was organized against him, and he was turned out of office and executed. His successor was Ove Guldberg, a Dane, whose policy was exclusively Danish, who entirely ignored the distinct nationality of the Norwegians, and who ruined the finances by a reckless system of banking. But a happier era dawned in 1784, when the Crown Prince Frederick assumed the government with Count Bernstorff as his minister. When the Danes desired to maintain an armed neutrality in the Napoleonic wars in 1800-1, Great Britain objected and attacked Copenhagen. Six years later Napoleon's scheme of using Denmark's fleet against Great Britain led to the bombardment of Copenhagen by the British fleet, which resulted in the surrender of the whole Danish and Norwegian fleet.

Under Frederick VI. (1808-39) these disasters, aggravated by the over-issue of paper-money, led to national bankruptcy (1813). At the same time Norway was entirely cut off from Denmark by the British fleet. From 1807 onwards Norway had been governed by a separate commission, headed by Prince Christian Augustus of Augustenburg, who defended the country so vigorously against Sweden that it lost nothing by the peace of Jonköping (1809). Thus further stimulated, the native love of independence and the liberal principles inspired by the Revolution widened the breach between the Norwegians and the absolutist government of Denmark. A small, but influential party now advocated union with Sweden, a proposal rendered feasible by political events, inasmuch as, by the peace of Kiel in 1814, the Swedes compelled Denmark to cede Norway to them. The union of Norway with Denmark, which had subsisted for more than four centuries, was thus dissolved.

The Literature of Norway from the Reformation to the end of the union is inseparable from that of Denmark. To that common literature Norway made important contributions, partly translations of Old Norse sagas and codes of law, but chiefly historical and topographical works. The first Norwegian poet was Peter Dass (d. 1708), the still popular author of 'Nordlands Trompet'; but the most important poet of this period was Ludvig Holberg of Bergen (d. 1754), the creator of a truly national literature which overthrew the barriers between learned and unlearned. His comedies, such as 'Jeppe', his mock-heroic poem of 'Peder Paars', and his moral romance, the 'Subterranean Journey of Nils Klim', have gained him a European reputation. As a historian also Holberg is noted for his spirited descriptions.

In contrast to the imitators of Klopstock, Chr. B. Tullin (d. 1765) wrote idyllic poetry, while French influence was ridiculed by J. H. Vessel (d. 1785; the zealous promoter of the 'Norsk Selskab', founded at Copenhagen in 1772) in his 'Kjærlighed uden Strømper' (love without stockings), a kind of parodied tragedy. Lastly may be mentioned E. Storm (d. 1794), J. N. Brun (d. 1816), J. Zetlitz (d. 1821), and the brothers C. Friman (d. 1829) and P. H. Friman (d. 1839), who laid stress on the national Norwegian style, and who sometimes wrote in dialect.

Among men of science the most eminent are Bishop Gunnerus (d. 1773), the naturalist, and Gerhard Schöningh (d. 1780), the historian, joint founders of the 'Lærde Selskab' of Trondhjem. It was not till 1811 that Norway could boast of her University of Christiania as the centre of her intellectual life and higher education.

Union of Sweden and Norway.

Denmark had renounced Norway (p. lvi), but the Norwegians disputed the king's right to renounce. On 17th May, 1814, a representative assembly held at Eidsvold adopted a new constitution ('Norges Grundlov') and elected Christian Frederick, heir to the Danish throne and governor of Denmark, as king of Norway. But the guaranteeing powers, Russia, Britain, Austria, and Prussia, demanded fulfilment of the Peace of Kiel, and a Swedish army proceeded to occupy Norway as far as the Glommen. Christian Frederick then resigned and set sail for Denmark, where he afterwards reigned as Christian VIII. (1839-48). On 20th October the representative convention held at Christiania voted, by 72 voices against 5, in favour of the union with Sweden, and on 4th November Charles (XIII. of Sweden) was unanimously proclaimed king. On 10th November the crown-prince Charles John (Bernadotte, p. lii), as regent, on behalf of the king, solemnly ratified the constitution, and in the following year the Act of Union was formally passed.

Charles XIV. John (1818-44) had a difficult task in governing two kingdoms with whose languages he was imperfectly acquainted. As a foreigner, lacking the blood royal, and brought up in the school of the French Revolution, he had to contend against the prejudices of the Holy Alliance. The internal affairs of both countries were very unsettled, and their finances well-nigh ruined. In Norway the aversion of the people for the Union caused frequent conflicts with the Storting or parliament, but the king's zealous promotion of their material prosperity ultimately won their confidence. From 1836 onwards the post of viceroy or governor was always held by a Norwegian. The revolutionary movements in Sweden of 1830 and 1838 proved unimportant.

Under Charles John's son Oscar I. (1844-59; married in 1823 to Princess Josephine of Leuchtenberg) the prosperity of both kingdoms increased, and the king made himself popular in Norway by presenting it with an appropriate national flag. He was also a scrupulous observer of the constitution of that country. He carried out many reforms in Sweden, but vainly endeavoured to effect an amendment of its constitution. His interposition in the German and Danish war regarding Sleswick, which led to the Armistice of Malmö (1848) and to the occupation of N. Sleswick by Swedish and Norwegian troops, was favoured by both of his kingdoms as a patriotic Scandinavian act.

Oscar's eldest son Charles XV. (1859-72), a gifted and popular, though pleasure-loving monarch, founded the present representative constitution of Sweden in 1865. In Norway the triennial Storting was made annual in 1869. In both countries religious equality was extended, and new railways and roads constructed.

A threatened conflict between the parliaments of the two countries was happily averted through the king's influence.

Charles was succeeded by his brother Oscar II. (1872-1907; married to Princess Sophia of Nassau), under whom the two kingdoms made rapid strides, both materially and intellectually. But the old Norwegian love of independence gained ground from year to year, revealing itself in a renewed antipathy for the union with Sweden. The king was conciliatory, but proved powerless to avert the dissolution of the union. Having vetoed a bill of the Storting providing for a separate Norwegian consular service, he was declared to have forfeited their confidence and to be 'out of office', and this resolution was confirmed by a plebiscite of 362,980 votes against 182. After protracted negotiations at Karlstad (p. 303), relating chiefly to the frontier-fortresses, King Oscar formally abdicated the throne of Norway and declined the offer of it to a prince of his own house.

Norway and Sweden Independent Kingdoms.

By resolution of the Storting and another plebiscite, Prince Charles of Denmark (b. 1872; married Princess Maud of Great Britain in 1896), second son of the present king of Denmark and grandson of King Christian IX., was elected King of Norway. On his accession (25th Nov. 1905) he assumed the style of the early Norwegian Kings by taking the title of Haakon VII. His coronation took place at Trondhjem on 22nd June 1906. The crown-prince Oluf was born in 1903.

On the death of Oscar II. of Sweden on 8th Dec. 1907, he was succeeded by his son Gustavus V. (born 1858; married Princess Victoria of Baden in 1881). The crown-prince is Gustavus Adolphus (born 1882; married Princess Margaret of Great Britain in 1906).

In both kingdoms the field of Literature was sedulously cultivated during the 19th century. Among the older poets of SWEDEN may be mentioned Franz Michael Franzén (1772-1847), the graceful lyric poet, Per Daniel Amadeus Atterbom (1790-1855), author of popular romances, Erik Gustaf Geijer (1783-1847), the historian, and Bishop Esaias Tegnér (1782-1846), whose 'Fridthjofs-Saga' is justly famous. The Finnish poet Johan Ludvig Runeberg (1804-77) is the author of admirable lyric and epic poems, especially the glowingly patriotic 'Fänrik Stål's Sägner', which hold high rank in the world's literature. The poems and romances of Victor Rydberg (1829-96) are lofty in thought and artistic in form. Count Carl Joh. Gust. Snoilsky (1841-1903) deserves foremost rank for national feeling and splendour of diction. Among living poets Aug. Strindberg (b. 1849) is specially noteworthy. In his earlier novels and dramas he treats of sexual relations with repellent realism but his latest historical dramas and tales display deep patriotism coupled with a new-found piety.

In NORWAY H. Wergeland (1808-45) is the first to strive for emancipation from Danish influence. Bjørnson and Ibsen have earned for Norwegian literature world-wide fame. Bjørnstjerne Bjørnson (b. 1832) is noted for the strength and freshness of his earlier poems, romances, and historical dramas, and by the radical boldness and depth of ideas in his later sociological plays such as 'Redaktøren' (1875), 'En Fallit' (1875), 'Kongen' (1879), 'Over Evne', and 'Laboremus' (1901). Henrik Ibsen (1828-1906), who also began with poems, popular tales, and satirical-philosophical plays, has taken the world by storm with his psychological dramas (such as 'Brand', 1866, 'Peer Gynt', 1867, and 'Kejser og Galilæer', 1873), and more so by his realistic sociological plays. Among these (mostly translated by W. Archer) are 'Pillars of Society' (1877), 'A Doll's House' (1879), 'Ghosts' (1881), 'The Wild Duck' (1884), 'Hedda Gabler' (1890), 'Little Eyolf' (1894), 'John Gabriel Borkman' (1897), and 'When we Dead Awaken' (1900). These masterly plays ruthlessly lay bare the shady side of modern life. — The tales and romances of Jonas Lie (1833-1903), Alex. Kjelland (1849-1906), and Arne Garborg (b. 1851) have also met with high appreciation.

The scientific literature of both Sweden and Norway is also rich and important, especially in the domains of history, philology, natural science, and geography. The Arctic explorers Baron E. A. Norden-skiöld (1832-1901) and Frithjof Nansen (b. 1861), and Sven von Hedin (b. 1865), the explorer of Central Asia, have a world-wide reputation.

Scandinavian Art was dependent on foreign countries till the end of the 19th cent. Joh. Chris. Cl. Dahl (1788-1857), a Norwegian, became a professor at the Dresden Academy and attracted a number of pupils. Peer Wickenberg (1812-46), a Swede, won distinction in France. After 1840 Düsseldorf became the seat of the northern painters. Foremost of these were the Norwegians Ad. Tidemand (1814-76) and the landscape-painter Hans Fred. Gude (1825-1903). The latter migrated to Karlsruhe in 1863, and to Berlin in 1880; among his pupils were Herm. Aug. Cappelen (1822-70), Joh. Fred. Eckersberg (1822-70), Morten Müller, etc. Allied with them were also the Swedes Bengt Nordenberg (1822-92), Ferd. Jul. Fagerlin (1825-1907), and Axel Nordgren (1828-88). Trained at Düsseldorf, Joh. Ed. Bergh (1823-80) settled at Stockholm in 1861. At the end of the sixties the fame of the colourists attracted northern artists to Munich and Paris. The Swede Joh. Fred. Höckeri (1826-46) led the way, and was followed by the Swedes Nils Forsberg (b. 1842), G. v. Rosen (b. 1843), and C. Gust. Hellqvist (1851-90), and by the Norwegian Lud. Munthe (1841-96). Under the influence of the open-air style cultivated at Paris, the northern painters have begun since 1880 to develop an independent school, whose chief representatives have settled in their own country in Sweden Karl Larsson (b. 1856), Karl Nordström (b. 1855), Anders L. Zorn (b. 1860), and Bruno Liljefors (b. 1860); in Norway Fritz Thaulow (1847-1906), Eilif Peterssen (b. 1852), Hans Heyerdahl (b. 1857), and many younger painters. The most eminent of Scandinavian sculptors is the Norwegian Stephan Sinding (b. 1846).

1. Christiansand and the Sætersdal.

CHRISTIANSAND, the largest town on the S. coast, where numerous steamers touch, lies at the mouth of the Sætersdal, which is seldom chosen as an avenue to the interior, as the mountain-paths from the head of the valley to Telemarken or the Hardanger Fjord are rough and fatiguing.

Christiansand. — HOTELS. *ERNST's, by the principal harbour, Vestre Strand-Gade, corner of Raadhus-Gade, with electric light and baths; R. from 2½ B. ¾-2, D. (at 1.30 p.m.) 2½ kr., S. 1 kr. 60 s. — GRAND HOTEL, Dronningens-Gade, R. from 1½ kr., very fair; SALVESEN, Dronningens-Gade; NORGE.

POST & TELEGRAPH, corner of the Raadhus-Gade and Markens-Gade.
SEA BATHS: Selyst, on the Oddere (see below); for men 12-2 and 5-9 (bath 20 s.). Warm Baths by the cathedral (40-80 s.).

BOOKSELLER, A. Conrad, opposite the post-office.

BRITISH VICE-CONSUL, AMERICAN CONSULAR AGENT, and LLOYD'S AGENT, Mr. Berne Reinhardt, Vestre Strand-Gade 10.

STEAMERS to Christiania, to Stavanger and Bergen once or twice daily (Com. 218, 224a); to Frederikshavn in Denmark daily (Com. 115); to Copenhagen weekly (Com. 117); to Hamburg twice weekly (Com. 64, 221a); to London weekly; to Hull weekly; to Leith weekly; to Liverpool fortnightly; also to Amsterdam, Antwerp, etc. Small local steamers ply daily to Arendal-Brevik and to Mandal (Com. 210, 212, 214, 256); also to Farsund (Com. 258).

Christiansand, with 15,370 inhab., the seat of one of the five Norwegian bishops and of a district governor, was founded by Christian IV. of Denmark in 1641, and after repeated fires was rebuilt in 1892. It lies at the mouth of the Otteraa, or Torrisdals-Elv, on a square peninsula, bounded on the N.E. side by the river. The chief harbour, at which the large steamers touch, is on the W. side. Between the Raadhus-Gade and the Gyldenløves-Gade is the Cathedral (Pl. 4), rebuilt in the Gothic style since 1880. (Altarpiece, Christ at Emmaus, by Eilif Petersen.)

The ENVIRONS are picturesque. From the S. angle of the town, where the Vestre and the Østre Strand-Gade meet, a bridge crosses to the Oddere, a fortified rocky island. The Selyst Baths (see above) lie to the right. The path straight on passes the Quarantine Hospital (on a hill to the left) and leads to the right to the Peisstue (restaurant). The other parts of the Oddere are not accessible on account of the fortifications.

Opposite the E. angle of the town, on the left bank of the Otteraa (bridge), is the Hamreheia (right), a good point of view.

At the W. angle of the town, near the station of the Sætersdal Railway (see below), begins the Mandal road ('Vestreveien'), leading past the pleasant grounds of the Bellevue. Close by are several old Norwegian cottages. The Ducknip, ascended thence, affords a fine view. — To the N. of the railway-station, in the Tordenskjolds-Gade, begins the Sætersdal road (see below), shaded at first with lime-trees. To the left, a short way out, lies the Cemetery, containing a monument to the Danes who fell in the naval battle of Heligoland (1864). On this side of a bridge across the Sætersdal Railway, $\frac{3}{4}$ M. from the town, a road to the right leads to the Ravnedal. It passes (10 min.) a pond and ascends a steep rocky slope to the left to (25 min.) the Ravnefjeld* (view). We descend thence S.W. to ($\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) the Sætersdal road, or we may go from the Ravnedal N.E. to the Egsasyl and return thence to the town.

About 3 M. W. of the Ravnedal rises the Graamandsheia (810 ft.). — On the right bank of the Otteraa, $\frac{2}{2}$ M. up, are the 'Omvendte Baad' (a land-mark) and Oddersfjaa, commanding the river and its mouth. — Steamers ply twice daily from Christiansand up the Topdalsfjord, E. of Christiansand, to Rosene and Bøen, an industrial place on the Topdals-Elv (there and back $\frac{2}{2}$ -3 hrs.)

A steamboat and an electric launch ply, S. of Christiansand, to the Ose, with lighthouse and meteorological station, and to the (6 M.) Flekkeberg, with the Skjergaards-Sanatorium (R. $\frac{1}{2}$ -2 kr., B 70 ø., D. $\frac{1}{2}$, S. $\frac{1}{4}$ kr.), with sea-baths, promenades, and extensive view.

The Sætersdal.

1st Day. RAIL to (78 Kil.) Byglandsfjord ($\frac{3}{4}$ -4 hrs.; fares 3 kr. 90, 2 kr. 50 ø.); STEAMER (Com. 488) thence to (35 Kil.) Ose ($\frac{3}{2}$ -4 hrs.; fare 1 kr. 80 ø.), or, if water permit, 10 Kil. farther to Langeid or Granheim. — 2nd Day. By ROAD (skyds) to Viken. — 3rd Day. Skyds to Flateland, and walk thence, with guide, to ($\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.) the club-hut on the Store Byernevand. — 4th Day. Walk to Dalen, fully 12 hrs. — Or drive (skyds) on the 3rd day to Bykle, and walk or ride thence on the 4th day to (10-11 hrs.) Bredvik; thence walk or ride (12-14 hrs.) on the 5th day to the Suldalsvand — Public telephones in the Sætersdal up to Viken. Information to be had from the Krishansands & Oplands Turistforening at Christiansand. See also Abrahamson's Oversigtskart (1 kr.) and Abrahamson's Reisehaandbog over Sætersdalen (3 kr.). The tariff for the tourist-huts is 3 kr. a day for bed and board, or 2 kr. without dinner; at the tourist-stations not much higher.

The Sætersdal, a valley running N. of Christiansand, about 230 Kil. (143 Engl. M.) long, watered by the Otteraa, is interesting both for its scenery and for its inhabitants, a tall, strongly-built race, who cling to their old habits and costumes.

The light RAILWAY ascends the right bank of the Otteraa, passing many farms. 7 Kil. Kvernvolden, with the farms of Stray. Near (10 Kil.) Mosby, with its cotton-mill, we cross the river. From (15 Kil.) Vennesla a short branch-line runs to Vigeland and the paper-mill of Hunds fossen. Beyond (20 Kil.) Grovene we recross the river. 28 Kil. Reiknes; 35 Kil. Iveland; 39 Kil. Gaaseflaa; 44 Kil. Hægeland, on the Kilefjord (460 ft.). 52 Kil. Hornesund; 56 Kil. Moisund; 63 Kil. Hornnes (Hotel), whence a road leads by Øvre Daasvand to Aaseral (5 hrs., p. 107). We cross a long bridge.

67 Kil. Evje (Hot. Dølen). Near it are the nickel and copper mines of Evje Nikkeltværk and many tombs of the 5th-6th century.

About 17 Kil. N.E., on Lake Høvring, is the tourist-station of Lauvaas (1854 ft.; by road to the lake 15 Kil.; then row across the lake or walk round it)

74 Kil. Systveit.

78 Kil. Byglandsfjord (Rail. Rest.: Hot. Breidablick, good, D. 1½ kr.), the terminus of the line, lies at the S. end of the Byglandsfjord, a basin of the Otteraa.

THE STRAMBOAT JOURNEY on the Byglandsfjord is pleasant. The S. part of the lake, enclosed by low but steep hills, is called the Aardalsfjord. On the right is the Aardalsnuten (2494 ft.). We pass the church of Aardal, round a promontory with the farms of Freirak and Berg, and enter the Byglandsfjord proper. On the right are the steep Faneklev and the church of — Bygland, at the foot of the Lysheia (2773 ft.), where the steamer stops after about 2 hrs. The Sætersdalens Sommerhjem (820 ft.; pens. 5 kr.; Engl. Ch. Serv. in summer; fishing to be had), ¼ hr. from the pier, is recommended for a stay.

The navigable channel narrows. Beyond Urdviken the steamer passes through a lock (where it remains when the water is low), and under a bridge of the high-road to the Aaraksfjord, the N. part of the Byglandsfjord. On the E. bank is the church of Sandnæs. On the W. bank, on the high-road, lies Freisnæs (beds at Ole Torbjørnsen's). In 2 hrs. from Bygland the steamer reaches Ose, its last station.

Ose (tourists' quarters at T. J. Heistad's), 18 Kil. from Bygland and 15 Kil. from Urdviken by road. One of the farm-houses here has two interesting old Stabbure and several curiosities (bridal ornaments, etc.). A little up the valley is the church of Osslad.

THE ROAD follows the W. bank of the river, skirts the Rustfjeld (3510 ft.), and passes the gaard of Langeid, which the steamer sometimes reaches if the depth of water serves (10 Kil. from Ose; 1 hr.). Good quarters at T. H. Rystad's gaard of Granheim, about 4 Kil. from Langeid.

From Granheim a rough mountain-path leads by the (3½ hrs.) tourist station of Høgsteil (1870 ft.; quarters) to the (4½-5½ hrs. more) tourist-hut on the Gaukheivand (2525 ft.; quarters; fishing to be had; whence we may go (a day's walk in either case; guide and provisions) to the S. to Aaseral's Hotel (p. 107), or N.W. to the Lysefjord (p. 110).

17 Kil. Besteland (modest quarters, with beds for tourists). About 8 Kil. farther on is the church of Hyllestad.

At Flaarenden, about 15 Kil. from Besteland, the road crosses to the E. bank of the river. Scenery grander. To the left are the Hallandsfos, a waterfall with some of the largest 'giant's cauldrons' in Norway, formed by glacier action (one of them 25 ft. deep), and the Skuggebækfos, or 'shade-fall' (serving as a clock to the peasants, being in the shade after 2 p.m.).

15 Kil. Viken i Valle (Hot. & Skyds-Stat.). The church of Valle has an altar-piece by Fed. Barocci. The gaard of Aamlid, on the W. side of the river, contains an ancient 'Aarestue' (hut with open fire-place). The Svarvarnut (4525 ft.), ascended from Aamlid, is a fine point of view; another is the gaard of Homme, near Valle.

From Viken the BISPEVEI ('Bishop's Way') joins the road mentioned at p. 36 about 6 Kil. S. of Veum (12-13 hrs.; horse and guide from Viken to Veum about 14 kr.).

From Aamlid over the mountains to Aardal on the Stavanger Fjord (p. 111), two days; guide 12-14 kr.

12 Kil. Flateland, where the mountain-route to Dalen diverges (see below). We then ascend to the right by the old Byklestig, once a rugged flight of steps, passing the Bykle Kirke, to —

32 Kil. Byklum (1800 ft.; Byklums Skyds-Stat.). Near it is the Sarofos, the highest fall (100 ft.) of the Otteraa; good path, there and back 1 hr., with guide.

About 3 Kil. W. of Byklum lies the Bosvand (1750 ft.; 8 M. long; boat for 1 pers. 2, for 2 pers. 3, for 3 pers. 4 kr.), at the W. end of which is Brateid: Bykle (Søren Lund's tourist-stat.). Rough paths, crossing several torrents, lead thence W. to the Hjøsenfjord (p. 111) and N.W. to Øiestad on the Suldalsvand (p. 113), each 15-16 hrs. (with guide).

A fair road on the W. bank of the river (horse and guide 8 kr.) ascends past the gaards (where bread, coffee, and milk only are to be had) of (12 Kil.) Haslemo and (11 Kil.) Ørnefjeld to (12 Kil.) the gaard of —

Bredvik or Breive (Knud Olsen Breivik's tourist-inn).

FROM FLATELAND TO DALEN, 1½ day (guide 8 kr., with horse 22 kr.). This is one of the best mountain routes out of the Sætersdal. The path ascends by the gaard of Rygnestad (with a 16th cent. 'stabbur' or storehouse) and past the basin-shaped Vaiaguv and the Lille Bjernevand (l.) to the lower end of the Store Bjernevand. There should be a boat here for crossing the lake. If not, we cross the outflow of the lake and walk along the N. bank to the Bjernevandshytten (ca. 4½ hrs. from Flateland), a club-hut where the night is spent. Next day we again ascend a little, and then walk on the nearly level hill to Kjenningsvik, the first sæter in Telemarken, and past several lakes and sæters and across small streams, to the gaard of Grimedalen (ca. 9 hrs. from the club-hut). A good path, with a view of the Bandaksvand, passing near the Skafse-Kirke, descends thence to (3 hrs.) Dalen (p. 36).

THE PASS FROM BREDVIK TO THE SULDALSVAND (13-14 hrs., incl. rest of 2-3 hrs.) is fatiguing and almost necessitates horse and guide (from Bredvik to Roaldkvam 14 kr.). Provisions must be taken. The route leads at first over marshy ground and crosses several streams and torrents, some of which have to be forded. The walk across the huge Meienfjeld, where reindeer are often seen, is interesting. In descending from the pass (ca. 3900 ft.) we have frequently to dismount, while the guide leads the horse. We pass vast snowfields and smooth granite rocks, while around rise snow-clad and icy peaks. By the sæters of Bleskestadmoen is a club-hut. Lastly a steep descent to the gaard of Bleskestad, whence a good path leads to (6 Kil.) Roaldkvam (plain quarters). From Roaldkvam to Næs (p. 114), $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. by boat ($\frac{1}{2}$ kr.).

Less interesting is the route from Bredvik to the Berte Hotel, on the Berteand (p. 36), or up the Sætersdal from Bredvik to (15 Kil.) Byaa, the highest gaard in the valley (beds at Knud B. Bjæen's), and to Flaathyl on the Haukeli Road (p. 37). Each of these routes takes a day.

From Christiansand to Christiania.

STEAMBOATS of the 'Sommer Postrute' (Com. 218) daily in 20 hrs. (fares 15 kr. 60, 9 kr. 75 ø.); distance, as the crow flies, 39 Norwegian S.M., or 156 Engl. M. (but with the windings far more); 12 stations. For other lines see Com. 64, 67, 74, 77, 80, and 224a. The voyage is chiefly indenskjærs, i.e. within the Skjærgaard, or belt of islands flanking the coast, where the water is smooth. The distances in Norwegian sea-miles (S. M.) are given from station to station (see Introd., p. vi).

The first station is Lillesand (Hot. Norge), with 1330 inhab. (light railway to Flaksvand, 17 Kil.). Then past the Homborgsund-fyr to Grimstad (Hot. Victoria), a pleasant little town (pop. 2800), 8 Kil. N.E. of which is Fevig, a sea-bathing place, where the local steamers only call. We next steer through a picturesque channel, with two lighthouses (Torungerne), between the Hisø and the Tromø, to the Galtesund and —

10 S.M. Arendal (Grand Hotel, on the quay, R. 2-3, B. $1\frac{1}{2}$, D. $2\frac{1}{4}$, S. $11\frac{1}{2}$ kr.; Fenix, by the church, both good; pop. 10,500, incl. suburbs), picturesquely situated on the hill at the mouth of the Nid-Elv, a busy trading and ship-building place, with an excellent and animated harbour. The modern Gothic brick church, with its lofty spire, was built by Christ. Furst. Fine view, from a small terrace planted with trees above the quay, of the small towns of Kolbjørnsvik (on Hisø) and Rævesand (on Tromø), to which small steamers ply. The view from the Stintehei, above the town, is more extensive.

Railway from Arendal to Grimstad by Froland (Com. 27). — A posting-road leads from Arendal to (11 Kil.) Brække i Moland and (18 Kil.) the small seaport of Tvedestrand (Fram Hot), then inland by (14 Kil.) Uberg to (18 Kil.) Simonstad, at the N. end of the Nelaagfjord, amidst fine woods, where the beaver still occurs. A shorter route is by road to (35 Kil.) the Nelaagfjord, and thence by boat (ordered from Simonstad by telephone) across the Fjord. From Simonstad to the Nisservand, p. 35.

Farther on, to the left, is the little town of Barbo, immediately N. of Arendal. The banks of the Tromøesund, through which we steer N., are finely wooded. We pass numerous hamlets and landing-places. Near the N. end of the sound, to the left, rises the Flangstad-Kirke. Farther on, the Møkkelasfyr marks the entrance to the Oxfjord (for Tvedestrand, see above). Then past the Lynger to — 6 S.M. Risør (Hot. Thiis, Hot. Risør, both well spoken of), with 4000 inhab., beyond which the coast is unprotected for some way.

4 S. M. Kragerø (Central Hotel*, 5 min. from the pier, R. 2, D. 2, S. $1\frac{1}{2}$ kr.; Grand Hotel; pop. 5030), a busy trading port opposite the island of that name, has a large church, by G. Bull, and a monument to Prof. Schweigaard (p. 12), a native of the place. Passing the latter, we reach (7 min.) a terrace above the town, with a large school and a bust of Oscar II. (View*). — Apatite, a kind of phosphorite abounding in the environs, yields artificial manure.

From Kragerø a posting-road leads by (10 Kil.) Steen, (17 Kil.) Lenæs on the Tolkevand, and (21 Kil.) Holte i Drangedal to (18 Kil.) Bø (Inn). Beavers are still often found on the Lille Buvand, in the Drangedal. — From Bø about 80 Kil. more to Strand i Vråadal (p. 35).

The coasting steamers pass through the picturesque Langesund, a strait between precipitous rocks, very narrow at the Kreppa, the N. end, while the large steamers choose the wider channel past the lighthouse (r.) on Jomfruland. Langesund (Central Hot.; Victoria), with 1400 inhab., lies on the Langesunds-Fjord, which is prolonged N. to Skien by the Eidanger Fjord and the Frierfjord. To the right rises the lighthouse, Langesunds-Fyr.

The SKIEN (p. 24) and Christiansand and the Skien and Christiania steamers (Com. 244 and 197) ascend the Eidanger Fjord, touching at Brevik (p. 24) and Porsgrund (p. 24).

Steering out into the open sea, the steamer passes the Nevlungshavn, and then enters the pretty approach, past the Svennerfyr and the Fredriksværn-Fyr, to Fredriksværn, with 1300 inhab., once a small fortress. We then steer N. through the Laurvik-Fjord to — 7 S. M. (from Kragerø) Larvik (p. 23).

Farther on, the steamer passes the mouth of the Laagen, rounds the furrowed Hummerberge, and crosses the mouth of the Sandefjord, at the N. end of which lies the little town of that name (p. 23), with sulphur and sea baths.

The Færder-Fyr, on a cliff to the right, marks the entrance to the Christiania Fjord, which, with its broad basins, studded with islands, and its river-like reaches, extends N. for about 50 M. Its rocky banks of moderate height, wooded with birches and pines, are enlivened with numerous villages, where the larger steamers do not touch. Geologically it may be described as a rent in the primæval mountains, with sunken layers of Silurian slate and limestone overlaid by huge masses of volcanic rock (syenite, porphyry, and granite). The same varied formation characterizes the whole region from Langesund to the Mjøsen (p. 80).

On the left are the Tønsberg-Tønde, headlands where many a ship has been wrecked, at the mouth of the Tønsberg-Fjord (p. 22), and the Tjøme. On the Botøren (right) is quarried a valuable dark syenite, with veins of iridescent blue feldspar, which, when polished, is known as Labrador.

On the E. coast is the beacon of Torgauten. Nearer lies the island of Hanko, the most fashionable of Norwegian bathing-resorts, with three hotels (R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ -6, D. $2\frac{1}{4}$, S. $1\frac{1}{2}$, board $3\frac{1}{2}$ kr.), numerous villas, splendid pine-woods, view-tower, and other attractions. (The bath-inspector gives information. Steamers daily to Christiania in 4½ hrs., to Fredrikstad in 1 hr.)

On the W. coast lie Valle, a small industrial town with petroleum-refineries (6 Kil. from Tønsberg, p. 22); Aasgaardstranden (Central Hot.), with sea-baths; Horten (Serbye's Hotel; Victoria; pop. 8900), with sea-baths; and Karl-Johansværn, the chief government dockyard. Railway to Skoppum and Holmestrand, see p. 34.

On the E. bank, behind the island of Hjelle or Jelø, lies Moss (p. 80), at which some of the larger steamers touch.

On the left opens the Drammens-Fjord (p. 21). We next enter a strait narrowing to ½ M., about 9½ M. long, connecting the outer with the inner Christiania Fjord. On the right lies — Drøbak (Grand Hot.; Reenskoug's Hot.), a pleasant watering-place, with 2300 inhab., numerous villas, and a marine biological station of Christiania University. We pass the fortified islets of Oscarsborg and the bleak Hua-Ø, beyond which the inner fjord expands. To the N.W. now appear the porphyry ranges of the Kolsaas (1227 ft.), the Skougumsaas (1130 ft.), and to the W. the Vardekolle (p. 21). On the W. bank is the cement-factory of Stemmetad. In the fjord are the islands of Steilene, with large tanks of petroleum, and Elgjarnes, with sea-baths. By the headland of Næsodtangen (lighthouse), on the E. bank we sight Christiania, with its palace on the hill, the fortress of Akershus in the foreground, and the Tryvandshøide (p. 19) rising in the distance: a beautiful picture.

We steer past several islands: on the left the Lindø and the Hovedø (with interesting strata of greenstone); on the right the Grøsholm and the Bleke, where we obtain a fine glimpse of the Bundefjord, with its many country-houses. We land at the Bjørvik, the harbour of Christiania (see below), on the E. side of the city.

2. Christiania and Environs.

Arrival. The large STEAMERS land their passengers near the Custom House (Tolboden; Pl. F, 4; customs-examination on board). — RAILWAY STATIONS: Øst- or Hoved-Banegaard (Pl. F, 4; customs-examination of registered luggage from Sweden), to the E. of the town, for all the lines except the W. Railway to Drammen, Telemarken, Høgsund, and Krøderen, the trains of which start from the Vest-Banegaard (Pl. D, 4). From autumn 1909 the trains to Bergen will start from the Hoved-Banegaard (comp. p. 39). Christiania, or Kristiania, the Norwegian capital and seat of government, is beautifully situated at the foot of pine-clad hills, at the N. end of the Christiania Fjord, and on the Akers-Elv, a small river falling into it (in 59° 54' N. lat. and 10° 50' E. long.). The mediæval Oslo lay on the E. bank of the river. It was founded by Harald Haardraada about 1050, and was afterwards a settlement of the Hanseatic League. In the old cathedral of St. Halvard several Norwegian kings were interred, and in 1589 James VI. of Scotland was married to Anne of Denmark. After the fire of 1624 Christian IV. of Denmark founded the modern town, to the N. of the old fortress of Akershus, and named it after himself. In 1686, 1708, and 1858 Christiania suffered severely from fires. The population (almost entirely Protestant) in 1815 was 11,000, in 1875 it was 96,000, in 1894 it was 183,000, and in 1905 it was 226,472. Its trade is considerable. Half of the imports (meat, grain, textile fabrics, colonial products, coals, etc.) and one-quarter of the exports (timber, packing-paper, paving-stones, herrings and other fish, and ice) pass through Christiania, which owns about 100 sailing-vessels and 200 steamers. In and near the city are many engine-works, nail-factories, ship-building yards, breweries, cotton and paper mills, etc.

The principal street is the KARL-JOHANS-GADE (Pl. F 4, E 3), extending from the Øst-Banegaard (chief railway-station; Pl. F, 4) to the palace at the W. end. Some of the new houses are partly built of beautiful granite, reddish syenite, and 'labrador'. Halfway between the station and the Eidsvolds-Plads, on the right, is the Stor-Torv (Pl. F, 3, 4; 'great market'), known as Torget, with a Statue of Christian IV., by Jacobsen (1874). On the E. side of the Torv rises the —

Vor Frelzers Kirke, or Church of Our Saviour, consecrated in 1697, and restored by Châteauneuf of Hamburg in 1849-50. The altar-piece is by E. Steinle of Düsseldorf, and the marble font by Fladager. — In the Torv-Gade, N. of the Torv, is the Dampkjøkken ('steam kitchen'; Pl. 4; E, 3), founded in 1858, where about 2000 persons daily get a dinner for 35-50 ø.

Beyond the Stor-Torv begins the busiest part of the Karl-Johans-Gade. Among the handsome buildings may be noticed Tostrup-Gaarden (No. 25), designed by Fürst & Hansteen, with labrador stone below and white marble above, and fine wrought iron-work. On the S. side of the street rises the — Størthings-Bygning (Pl. E, 3), or Norwegian Parliament House, built in 1861-66 from designs by Langlet. The chief façade towards the Eidsvolds-Plads is flanked with two lions in granite by Borch. The Storthing ('great assembly') consists of 123 members (41 from the towns, 82 from the country), one fourth of whom form the Lagthing ('law assembly'), a kind of revising committee or upper house, while the remaining members form the Odelsting. The sittings begin in January. The Storthings-Sal contains a large picture by Oscar Wergeland, representing the discussion of the Norwegian constitution (p. lvii). — In the Akers-Gade, to the S. of the Storting Building, is a bust of the poet J. H. Wessel (p. lvi). Opposite is the Masonic Lodge, with café and restaurant (p. 9).

In the ENDSVOLDS-PLADS (Pl. E, 3) is a statue of the poet Henrik Wergeland (p. lix), by Bergslien. On the W. side rises the National Theatre (Pl. E, 3), erected in 1895-99 by Henrik Bull. In front of it are colossal statues of Ibsen and Bjørnson, by Stephen Sinding; at the back a statue of Johannes Bruun, the actor, by Bergslien.

The University (Pl. E, 3), founded by Frederick VI. of Denmark in 1811, has five faculties with 65 professors and about 20 lecturers, attended by 1500 students. It consists of three buildings, erected in 1841-53 by Grosch, partly as suggested by Schinkel of Berlin. In front of the central building rises a statue of the Norwegian jurist and politician Ant. Martin Schweigaard (d. 1870), by Middelthun. The E. wing, 'Domus Academica', contains the great hall, and the W. wing the Library (420,000 vols.).

In the grounds at the back of the central building is a wooden shed containing a Viking's Ship* of the 9th cent., found in 1889 at Gogstad, near Sandefjord. Adm., see p. 10.

As the ancient Germanic kings were buried with their war-steeds, so the Viking chiefs were laid to rest in their ships with their arms and treasures. The ship exhibited here owes its preservation to the blue clay in which it was imbedded. Its total length from stem to stern is 77 ft., length of keel 66, breadth 16 ft. To the mast in the centre a large square-sail was attached by a pulley. In the third plank from the top are sixteen rowlocks. The rudder was placed on the right side (whence 'starboard', steering side). By the mast was placed the wooden tomb-chamber, probably pillaged at an early period. — A second shed contains fragments of a similar boat, found in Smaalene in 1867, and several old church-paintings from the Hallingdal.

In the Universitets-Gade, N. of the University, is the Museum of Art (Pl. E, 3), a brick edifice in the Italian Renaissance style, built in 1879-81 by Adolf Schurmer at the cost of the Christiania Savings Bank, and enlarged in 1903-7. The ground-floor contains a large collection of casts. On the upper floor is a picture-gallery which affords a survey of the Norwegian painting of the last century and the present. The pictures bear the names of the artists, but are not numbered. Catalogue 30 s. The director is Hr. Jens Thiis. Adm., see p. 10.

Upper Floor. — STAIRCASE: St. Sinding, Captive Mother, Man and Wife, both works in bronze; A. Rodn. Thinker, in bronze. — Room I: Sculptures by G. Vigeland (b. 1869), incl. Hell, a relief in bronze; on the walls Dutch pictures of the 16th-17th cent., incl. Jac. Jordaens, Allegory of the Peace of Westphalia; Jan Fyt, Dogs and wolves. To the right we enter a suite of five rooms, lighted from above.

II. Room. Danish, Swedish, and other painters: M. Ancher, Cape Skagen; K. Zahrtmann, Queen Eleonora Christina in prison (p. 417); J. F. Skovgaard, Angel moving the water at Bethesda; A. E. Bergh, Beech-forest; B. Nordenberg, Swedish village church; J. F. Rafæll, Street in sunshine; Claude Monet, Coast of Etretat in rain; F. Uhde, Actor, P. S. Krøyer (p. 417), Concert in a studio. — Opposite the entrance we enter four CABINETS, containing several Italian works of the 17th cent. (such as a good copy of Leonardo da Vinci's Mona Lisa), German of the 16th cent. (L. Cranach, Bart. Beham), Dutch of the 17th cent. (Wouwermun, Hondcoeter), and German of the modern Dusseldorf School (A. Achenbach, O. Achenbach, E. Geselschap, C. W. Hubner, B. Jordan). — From the last cabinet we enter —

III. Room, which, with two following cabinets, is occupied by Norwegian painters of the early 19th cent., chiefly of the Dusseldorf School (p. lix): (right) Lud. Munthe, German landscapes, Norwegian coast; A. Askerold, Mountain-lake; Morten Müller and Joh. Chr. C. Dahl (Dresden), several pictures; H. A. Cappelen, Waterfall in Telemarken, etc.; H. F. Gude, "Christiania Fjord, etc"; others by K. Baade and Joh. Fr. Eckersberg. Then scenes from Norwegian peasant-life by Ad. Tidemand, such as Wedding in the Hardanger in a landscape by Gude, Meeting of Haugianists, Lonely parents, Bear-hunter. — CABINETS: 1st. H. F. Gude, Rocky islands. The staircase adjacent on the left contains several large canvases: Chr. Krogh, News of a death, Vikings on the N. American coast in the year 1000; K. Ucherman, Flock of sheep ("an enemy coming"); Az. Jungstedt (a Swede), Mines of Danne-mora. — 2nd Cabinet (right of 1st). Landscapes by O. Isaachsen, Am. Nielsen, etc. — In the 3rd Cabinet begins the modern Norwegian School, developed since 1880 (p. lix): O. Sinding, Night in the Arctic Ocean, N. G. Wentzel, Interior, N. Gude, Portrait of his father, H. F. Gude. — 4th Cabinet: H. Heyerdahl, Portrait of himself, Old fisherman, Family group; G. Munthe, Eggedal.

IV. Room. Entrance-wall: Erlif Petersen, Mother Utne in the Hardanger; H. Heyerdahl, On the Christiania Fjord; Eyolf Soot, Child-murderess; G. Munthe, Summer day. First end-wall Werenskiold, Telemarken peasant girl, Fru Erika Lie-Nissen; Chr. Krogh, Struggle for existence; Petersen, Grieg, the composer. 2nd end-wall Frits Thaulow, The Hougfos by Modum; Werenskiold, Peasant's funeral; Petersen, Portrait of a woman, Nap in an osteria. — Next Cabinets: "Mother watches", a group in marble, and "Tired", in bronze, by Math. Skeibrok. Pictures: J. M. Grimeland, Mexico dock at Antwerp; Fr. Kolsto, Salmon-fishing; O. Sinding, Harbour of Reine in the Lofoten Islands; G. Munthe, Fantastic scenes from Norse myths, in water-colours.

V. Room. Entrance-wall, left, Chr. Skredsvig, Pladsen, by Vinje Eyolf Soot, Jonas Lie, the poet, and his wife. — 2nd side-wall: Sven Jørgensen, Unemployed; K. Uchermann, Dog-cart; N. G. Wentzel, Breakfast, Dance in the Setersdal, Confirmation festival. By the exit: Ketty L. Kjelland, Summer night.

VI. Room. Entrance-wall: Sag. Sinding, Interior; E. Øfsti, Midsummer night. Left wall: Ed. Munch, Spring, Portrait of himself. End-wall: H. Solberg, Summer evening. Second side-wall: Th. Brichsen, Landscape in Telemarken.

The Historical Museum (Plan 11; E, 3), in the Fredriks-Gade, contains the Northern Antiquities, the Cabinet of Coins and the Ethnographical Collection of the University. Adm., see p. 10.

On the GROUND FLOOR we enter, to the right, the 1st Room: Weapons of the Flint Period (to about 1500 B.C.). Interesting unfinished tools in the glass case by the middle window, indicating the method of manufacture. Then axes, spear-heads, and trinkets of the Bronze Period (about 1500-500 B.C.). — 2nd Room. Objects from the earlier Iron Period (about 500 B.C. to 700 A.D.); at the end, gold trinkets and gold rings used as counters. — A passage leads to the 3rd Room, containing relics from the later iron age (Viking Period, 8th-10th cent.): weapons, implements, trinkets; among the latter, a number in gold, from Hoen, near Høgsund (p. 25); also a spur with rich filigree work, from Rød on the Christiania Fjord. — We return to the entrance vestibule and mount the stairs to the CENTRAL FLOOR. The Cabinet of Coins here consists of over 45,000 coins and medals. Here also begins the Ethnographical Collection, formed by the Arctic navigator Roadt Amundsen during his N. pole and N.W. passage explorations (1903-7). Also Prof. Collett's Biological Groups. — On the UPPER FLOOR five rooms contain the rest of the ethnographical collection. Descriptive catalogue 50 s.

A hut on the other side of the Fredriks-Gade, next to the Chemical Laboratory (Pl. 14; E, 3), contains a well-preserved Viking's Ship, found at Oseberg near Tønsberg (p. 10), and carefully restored in 1906. Its dimensions are similar to those of the Gogstad ship (p. 12), but its bow and stern are adorned with carving, dating probably from about A.D. 800.

On a hill at the W. end of the town, in a beautiful park, rises the Royal Palace (Slot; Pl. D, 3), a long, plain edifice with an Ionic portico, erected in 1825-48. It contains pictures and sculptures by Norwegian artists. Admittance, when the royal family is absent, on application to the Slotsfurér in the S. wing (fee).

In front of the palace rises an Equestrian Statue of Charles XIV. John (Bernadotte), by Brynjulf Bergslien (d. 1898), inscribed with the king's motto 'The people's love is my reward'. — In the S.E. corner of the palace-garden is a monument to N. H. Abel, the Norwegian mathematician, by G. Vigeland.

The modern quarter (Pl. D, 2), N. of the palace park, named Homansby after its founder, consists of villas and pleasant gardens. On the S. side of the palace grounds runs the Drammensvei, No. 19 in which, on the right, is the Nobel Institute (Pl. 23; C, 3; comp. p. 317). From the E. end of the Drammensvei runs to the S. the Victoria Terrace (Pl. D, 3), with its double rows of shops below and its three lofty turreted dwelling-houses above.

The Akers-Gade leads S. from the Storthing Building to the Johannes-Kirke (Pl. E, 4), a brick edifice by Bull (1878), with an altar-piece by E. Petersen. ('Kirketjener' or sacristan, Akers-Gade 1.) — Opposite the church, to the N., in the Øvre Slots-Gade, is the Christiania Savings Bank, a handsome granite edifice, with a colonnaded balcony and characteristic northern sculpture, built by H. Nissen in 1900. — To the S. of the church, in the Bank-Plads, is Norges Bank (Pl. 22; E, 4), a new building by Hjorth.

Farther W., Raadhus-Gade 25, is the new Seamen's Home. — In the Tordenskjolds-Plads (Pl. E, 4) is a statue, by Axel Ender (1901), of Peder Vessel Tordenskjold, commander of the Danish-Norwegian fleet in the northern war (pp. lv, 202).

The Fortress of Akershus (Pl. E, 5), besieged in vain by Duke Eric of Sweden in 1310, by Christian II. of Denmark in 1531-32, and by the Swedes again in 1567 and in 1716, is used as an arsenal and a prison (now under restoration). It also contains the garrison-church. Permission to visit the Museum of Artillery and Weapons is obtained at the office of the 'Felttøimester' in the Fæstnings-Plads, opposite the main entrance to the fortress.

In the AKERS-GADE, N. of the Karl-Johans-Gade, are the new Courts of Justice (Pl. 1²; F, 3), where the supreme court sits, and opposite are the new Government Offices (Pl. F, 3), completed in 1905. — Farther N. is the Trefoldigheds-Kirke (Pl. F, 2), or Trinity Church, a Gothic edifice with a dome, partly designed by Châteaufort of Hamburg, and erected in 1853-58. The interior, a handsome octagon, contains an altar-piece by Tidemand and a font with an angel by Middelthun. — A little to the W., at the corner of the Keyzers-Gade and Munch-Gade, is the Enkekasse (Widows' Fund; Pl. 5; E, 3).

By the Rom. Cath. St. Olafs-Kirke (Pl. F, 2), erected in 1853, the Akers-Gade divides into the Akersvei, to the right, and the Ullevoldsvei, to the left, the latter leading direct in 10 min., the former past the Gamle Akers-Kirke in $\frac{1}{4}$ hr., to St. Hanshaug. — The first house to the left in the Ullevoldsvei, at the corner of St. Olafs-Gade, is the School of Art and Handicrafts, which contains the Art-Industry Museum (Pl. E, F, 2; entered from St. Olafs-Gade; adm., see p. 10).

On the GROUND FLOOR, to the right, is the library; on the left is the Ancient Norwegian Collection of woven stuffs, notably tapestry (including a piece dating from the 12th cent.), embroidery, trinkets, domestic utensils, etc.; also carved mangle-boards from the Gudbrandsdal (18th and 19th cent.). In the furthest room, in a glass-case, are two bridal crowns from Voss (p. 139) and the Gudbrandsdal; by the right end-wall are casts of the two carved portals of the old churches of Aal (p. 40) and Sauland (p. 30), both of the 12th cent. — We now mount the stairs, made of Norwegian serpentine, to the CENTRAL FLOOR. Room A: cups, vase, embossed goblets (including the nautilus goblet of Math. Wallbaum, Augsburg, 16th cent.), and some small utensils. Rooms B, C: Chinese and Japanese curiosities. Rooms D-K: Furniture, etc.; note in Room F a piece of French Gobelins of the 17th cent. — Room L: painted room from a peasant's cottage of 1759, S. Norway. — On the UPPER FLOOR: porcelain, chiefly from Dresden and Copenhagen, Norwegian glasses of the 18th cent., fayence, etc. from Herrabø by Frederikshald (1760-2); also antique vases and terracottas. In Room B are the pulpit, altar, font, etc. of Vor Frelsers Kirke (p. 11), of the 17th and 18th cent. Lastly Room G contains specimens of printing and binding.

Between the Ullevoldsvei and the Akersvei rises the cemetery, VOR FRELSERS GRÄVLUND (Pl. E, F, 2), well laid out and worthy of a visit. It may be entered by the lower gate and left by the upper. In the central part, about 150 paces E. from the entrance opposite the Frimanns-Gade, a lofty obelisk of labrador stone marks Ibsen's Tomb. The obelisk is an allusion to his poem of 'The Miner' ('Break me a way to the mountain's heart'). — The Gamle Akers- Kirke (Pl. F, 1), mentioned before 1150, perhaps founded by King Olaf Kyrre, is a Romanesque basilica of the Anglo-Norman type. It was restored in 1861 and 1904-5. It terminates in walls with curious openings like portals communicating with the adjoining choir, transepts, and nave. The 'Kirketjener' lives in the little house to the N.W.

St. Hanshaugen*, or 'St. John's Hill' (Pl. E, 1; 280 ft.), is a public promenade, much frequented in the afternoon and evening. Near the lower entrance (electric tram station, p. 9) is a good Restaurant (music in the evening), and farther on is a so-called Sportstue (p. 19), both timber-built in the Norwegian style. On the top is a reservoir of the city water-works, the tower of which commands an admirable survey of the city, the fjord with its islands, the Ekeberg to the left, Oscarshall to the right, and Frognersæter on the hill to the N.W. The overseer, for whom the visitor rings, names the chief points (fee). Below the reservoir is a seated figure of Peter Christen Asbjørnsen (1812-85), the writer of fairy-tales, by B. Bergslien. In the grounds behind the reservoir are a den with two Norwegian bears and several cages with other animals.

The Botanic Garden (Pl. H, 2, 3; open till dusk; hot-houses 9-12 and 2-7) affords a fine view of the city from the E. side. The Zoological Collection formerly at the University (p. 12) is to be transferred to a new building here Environs of Christiania.

The Bredø is best visited either by Electric Tram (p. 9), from the stations of Skillebæk and Skarpsno, whence we reach the ferries in a few minutes, or by the small Steamers which ply every $\frac{1}{2}$ -1 hr. between Piperviken (Pl. D, E, 4) and various points on the Bygdø (fares 10-20 g.). — The Railway Station for Bygdø is Skoven (p. 20), 1 M. N. of Oscarshall.

The peninsula of Bygdø, to the W. of Christiania, with the royal château of Oscarshall, the National Norwegian Museum, and two sea-bathing resorts, affords a charming object for an afternoon's excursion. The N. part resembles a well-wooded park.

The ELECTRIC TRAMWAY follows the Drammensvei (Pl. D, C, 3') flanked with villas. About $\frac{1}{4}$ M. S. of the station of Skillebæk (Pl. B, 4), at the end of the Framnæsvei, is the pier of the steam-launch (10 ø.) to Dronningen (see below). A finger-post at the station of Skarpsno (Pl. 3) points the way to the steam-ferry to Oscarshall (5 ø.; from the pier on the other side we ascend to the left to the château in 5 min.).

The chief stations of the STREAMERS from Piperviken are on the E. side of the peninsula: 1. Christiania and Bygdø Line: Bygdønaes Bad (Pl. A, 5; p. 10; where bath visitors land); Dronningen (Pl. A, 4), a rocky islet connected with the Bygdø by a floating bridge and containing the restaurant of the Royal Yacht Club (p. 9; from the W. end of the bridge we reach the Fredriksborg and Oscarshall road); Oscarshall (see below; pier adjoining that of the above-named steam-ferry). — 2. Christiania and Fredriksborg Line: Fredriksborg, a summer-resort on the bay of Langviken (Pl. A, 5), with villas and gardens. To reach (20-25 min.) Oscarshall from this point we take the path leading past the Fredriksborg Tivoli to (3 min.) a road, follow the latter to the right, and again turn to the right (1/4 hr.) beyond the Norwegian National Museum. — 3. Steamers also ply to the Bygdø Sebad (p. 10), on the N.W. bank of the Bygdø. The road thence to (25-30 min.) Oscarshall passes 'Paraplyen' and the Museum.

The château of Oscarshall (80 ft.; Pl. A, 4), built in the English Gothic style by Nebelong for King Oscar I. in 1849-52, and adorned with paintings by Norwegian artists, is chiefly interesting for the sake of the view. The 'Vagtmester' lives at the back, S.W. side (fee 1/2-1 kr.).

The Dining Room in the detached building is adorned with Norwegian landscapes by J. Frich, above which are ten fine scenes by A. Tidenand (p. 13) from 'Norsk Bondeliv', or Norwegian peasant life — The Drawing Room, on the ground-floor of the château, contains statues of Harald Haarfager, Olaf Trygvason, St. Olaf, and Sverre, in zinc, by Michelsen. — A room on the First Floor contains nine bas-reliefs from Frithjof's Saga, by C. Borch, and four fine landscapes by H. Gude (comp. p. 148). — On the Second Floor paintings, wood-carvings, portraits, and relics.

A winding staircase of 28 steps ascends to the flat roof of the château, and 48 steps more to the top of the tower, where we have a charming view of Christiania, its fjord, and environs (best by evening-light).

A road to the W. of the Vagtmester's house leads to (10 min.) the Museum, which may also be reached from Dronningen in 15, or from Fredriksborg in 20 min.; comp. above).

The Norwegian National Museum (Norsk Folke-Museum; adm. see p. 10; photographing prohibited), opened in 1902, resembling the open-air museum of Skansen near Stockholm (p. 338), affords an insight into the civic and rural life of Norway prior to the era of modern culture.

The Entrance Gate is a copy of a town-gate of Bergen of 1628. Straight on we reach an open space with buildings after Christiania models. The first on the left is the Depot-Hus, where carts, sledges, and harness from different districts, and stoves and fire-places are exhibited. Opposite is the Ridehus, the 32 rooms of which, together with an upper gallery, contain the chief part of the collection: textile fabrics, furniture, pictures, domestic utensils, etc., those from the country being arranged by districts, beginning on the right. The Gudbrandsdal (Rooms 5-7) is very fully represented, and Telemarken (RR. 11-15) shows its peculiar style of art. In the 18th Room begins a series of household articles of the 17th and 18th cent., showing distinct marks of foreign influence, and arranged chronologically. Rooms 28, 29 are devoted to W. Norway, Rooms 30, 31 to N. Norway. Room 32 contains historical memorials. In the upper Gallery are (right) costumes, table-requisites, (left) musical instruments, copper and tin utensils, fayence, glass, trinkets. The Church contains carved and painted altar-pieces, pulpits, and other objects of the 16th, 17th, and especially the 18th cent. Behind the Ridehus are several old cottages from various provinces; the oldest is the Rau-landsstue, with a carved doorway and Runic inscription earlier than 1300. Passing the church, we may cross the street to the restaurant of Gildestuen — A little higher up, to the N.W., hidden in the wood, is the Church of Gol (p. 42), a 'Stavekirke' or timber-built church of the 12th or 13th cent. (comp. p. 28), first mentioned in 1309, brought here in 1884, and freely restored, partly after the church of Borgund (p. 51). Around are several farm-houses, including one from Telemarken, with their original furnishings. The road on the E. side of the National Museum leads past the Landbrugs-Museum, a collection of agricultural implements (daily, 10-2 and 4-7), to the old royal Kongsgaard, a model farm, with a plain mansion fitted up as a summer residence for the royal family. We may walk thence to ($\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) the Sæterhytte, a restaurant on the Dronningbjerg, where the steamers from Piperviken sometimes call.

THE EKEBERG. — Electric Tramway from the Stoithing (p. 9), through the Stor-Torv, to the end of the suburb of Oslo (comp. Pl. F G 4, H 5); or Steamer from the Jernbane-Brygge (Pl. F, 4) to Kongshavn (10 s.) or Orm-sund (20 s.), about 12 times daily; comp. Com. 140, 141.

A few paces beyond the tramway terminus (Pl. H, 5) we reach the point where the Ljabrovei and the Kongsvei fork. The former, to the right, skirts the railway and the fjord. The KONGSVEI (left) ascends the slope of the Ekeberg. After 12 min. a path to the right ascends to a rocky knoll, which affords a beautiful view (best by morning-light) of the harbour of Christiania with the islands in front of it, and of the Ormø to the S. About 40 paces farther a path to the left leads to other points of view, while the Karlsborgvei, to the right, descends through wood to (5 min.) the restaurant and sea-baths of Kongshavn (steamb. stat., see above), situated on the Ljabro road $\frac{3}{4}$ M. from the tramway-terminus. — The Kongsvei leads through wood, passing several taverns (to the left, above), to (25 min.) Bakkelaget, a group of villas (above the rail. stat. mentioned at p. 98), and on to Ljan.

HOLMENKOLLEN and FROGNERSETER. — From Majorstuen, the tramway terminus (p. 9; 10 s.), an electric line runs to Holmenkollen (25 min. up, 17 min. down; fare 25 s.; every $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. on week-days, every $\frac{1}{2}$ min. on Sun.). — From Holmenkollen we walk to (30-40 min.) Frognerstøter. The excursion takes $\frac{3}{2}$ -4 hrs. in all. — From Holmenkollen omnibus twice daily to Voxenkollen (1 hr.).

THE HOLMENKOLLEN LIGHT RAILWAY (4 M.; many stations, but cars only stop when required) runs from Majorstuen (Pl. C, 1), passing several country-houses, and in view of the Vestre Akers Kirke, a Gothic brick church, to the right, to a point near the lunatic asylum of Gaustad. The cars ascend, and at Ris intersect a new villa-colony. — 2 M. Stemdal. The line is hewn in the rock or carried along the slope by embankments. Maximum gradient

1:25. Beautiful pine-wood. The last station is Midstuen. We cross the old Frognersæter road (see below) by a lofty bridge and turn S.W. to the terminus at ($\frac{1}{4}$ M.) Holmenkollen (797 ft.), $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. below the hotel.

Holmenkollen* (1040 ft.), with its splendid open view of Christiania and the fjord, is the most popular resort near the Norwegian capital. In winter snow-shoeing ('skiløb') is practised here with great energy. In February there is a three-days' national festival for ski-racing, when the shops and schools of Christiania are closed. Near the top is a Tourist Hotel, a handsome building erected by O. Sverre in 1896-7, with a good restaurant (D. 3, S. $1\frac{1}{4}$ kr., or à la carte; R. in dépendance 2-5 kr.). The rooms are adorned with scenes by Norwegian painters. On the slope in front (short-cut from the station), to the right, is a so-called Sportstue (café and beer-house). — A lofty 'bautasten' commemorates the visit of Emp. William II. and King Oscar II. on 2nd July, 1890. The road forks here: to the right the 'Keiser Wilhelms Vei'; to the left, leading to the Sanatorium (pens. 35-45 kr. per week), 'Kong Oskars Vei'.

From the Kong Oskars Vei a path diverges to the right, on this side of the archway leading into the Sanatorium, and above the Besserud-Tjern (see below) ascends to the left to (15-20 min.) the Holmenkolltaarn, a view-tower on the top of the Holmenkollen (1040 ft.). Halfway up, another path ascends to the right to the Voxenkollen.

The Keiser Wilhelms Vei leads from Holmenkollen to the (35 min.) Frognersæter, almost all the way through wood. After 10 Min. we pass the Peisstue (rfmts.), on the Besserud-Tjern (1015 ft.), an artificial lake, and in 10 min. more, beyond a new chapel, we reach the Wilhelmshøi Hotel (D. 2 kr.), just before the road forks to Voxenkollen (see p. 20). A 'bautasten' here commemorates Eivind Astrup, the Arctic traveller, who perished on the Dovrefjeld in the winter of 1895-96. Passing the initials W(ilhelm) and O(skar) cut in the rocks in 1890, we reach ($\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) the —

Frognersæter* (1410 ft.), the country-seat of the late Consul T. J. Heftye (d. 1886), purchased by the city in 1889. It commands a superb view of Christiania and the fjord. The Restaurant, to the left, was built in 1891 by H. Munthe, in the Norwegian style (pleasant seats on the upper balcony). To the right are several old timber-buildings from Telemarken and the Hallingdal, and the Villa, which contains a collection of Norse antiquities (adm. 25 ø.). A litte to the E. is a Sportstue, or refreshment-room.

The view is more extensive from a scaffolding (with mountain-indicator) on the Tryvandshide* (1702 ft.), to which we ascend past the Øvre Frognersæter in 25 min. In clear weather we see the Telemarken Mts. to the N. (Gausa, p. 31), those of the Hallingdal to the N.W. (Norefjeld, p. 39), and the hills on the Swedish frontier to the E. — From the Øvre Frognersæter a good woodland path leads in 20-25 min. to Voxenkollen Sanatorium (p. 20).

Walkers may return from the Frogner-æter to Christiania by the old road, which descends, immediately E. of the Villa Heftye, through wood to the ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) station of Midstuen (p. 19). It then leads under the electric railway and past a small 'bautaasten', erected to Heftye, where it joins the old Holmenkollen road (right), and past the Fosheim Sanatorium to ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Slendal (p. 18).

The above-mentioned road (from which after $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. another diverges to the Voksenkollen Hospice, p. 19) leads W. from the Wilhelmshei Hotel, past Anne Kure's Hotel (1383 ft.; pens. $4\frac{1}{2}$ -7 kr.), to Voksenkollen (1540 ft.), a granite rock commanding a fine view (near which is a royal villa), and to ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr. from Wilhelmshei Hotel) Dr. Holm's Voksenkollen Sanatorium (1555 ft.; pens., with baths, 42-70 kr. per week).

A pleasant trip on the Christiania Fjord may be taken by the steamer Turisten (twice daily from Piperviken, Pl. D, E, 4, $2\frac{1}{2}$ hrs., fare $2\frac{1}{2}$ kr.; restaurant on board). or by one of the other steamers (Com. 140, 141, 144, 145, 161).

A fine view of Christiania is obtained from the Hovedø, S. of the fortress of Akershus (p. 15). The island, which belongs to the fortifications (powder-magazine), contains remains of a Cistercian abbey, founded by English monks in 1147 and destroyed in 1532. Permission to visit the island is obtained at the office of the 'Feldtimester' (p. 15). Rowing-boat from Piperviken or from Grev Wedels Plads, according to tariff, there and back, 90 ø., 2 pers. 1 kr. 35, 3 pers. 1 kr. 80, 4 pers. 2 kr. 70 ø.

3. From Christiania by Drammen to Skien.

204 Kil. RAILWAY: to Drammen, express in $1\frac{1}{4}$ hr. (fares 3 kr. 45, 2 kr. 25 ø.), ordinary in $2\frac{1}{4}$ hrs (fares 2 kr. 65, 1 kr. 75 ø.), to Skien, express in $6\frac{1}{2}$ hrs (1 kr. 90 ø.), ordinary in $7\frac{1}{2}$ hrs. (9 kr. 90, 6 kr. 20 ø.).

The train starts from the W. Station at Christiania (p. 8). Views to the left, where we soon see the beautiful Christiania Fjord and the peninsula of Bygdø, with the white château of Oscarshall. 3 Kil. Skøien (p. 16); 6 Kil. Lysaker, at the mouth of the Sørkedals-Elv.

To the right rise the porphyry hills of the Kolsaas (1247 ft.; extensive view), Skougumsaas, etc. The Silurian strata are here streaked with thick veins of greenstone, especially near (10 Kil.) Hevik, where a vein 2 ft. thick intersects the disintegrated slate. The train skirts the Enger-Vand, on the right.

13 Kil. Sandviken (Sandvikens Hotel, beyond the bridge over the Sandviks-Elv) is prettily situated on the fjord.

FROM SANDVIKEN TO SUNDVOLDEN (skyds should be ordered by message from Christiania the day before) the road skirts the Sandviks-Elv and then ascends the Isdal. On the hill to the left is the old church of Tanum, to the right rises the Kolsaas (see above). The highest point on the road is 1068 ft. above the sea. 15 Kil. Sollihegda, in wood. By the rocky gateway called Skaret our road joins the 'Svangstrandsvei' coming from Lier (p. 21), and then descends to the Tyrixfjord (p. 25), lying far below. 29 Kil. Sundvolden (p. 25).

The train ascends through cuttings and two short tunnels. 20 Kil. Hvalstad (219 ft.; Hvalstad Sanatorium), at the foot of the Skougumsaas (1130 ft.). It then crosses a timber viaduct, 90 ft. high.

KRISTIANIA-KONGSBERG-RINGERIKE

23 Kil. Asker (340 ft.), with a new church. We skirt the massive Vardekolle (1148 ft.), a granite hill to the S.W., and pass the small lakes Bondivand (325 ft.) and Gjellumvand (315 ft.). At the S. end of the latter is (29 Kil.) Heggedal, beyond which we skirt the abrupt Brejmaas. Beyond (34 Kil.) Røken the line turns sharply to the W. Numerous cuttings.

Beyond a tunnel a striking *VIEW of the Drammens-Fjord and the Lier valley is disclosed to the left, though partly shut out by trees and cuttings. — We then descend through another tunnel and several cuttings, in a long curve, to (46 Kil.) Lier.

BRANCH LINE from Lier by Sjøastad to (21 Kil.: 1¼ hr.) Svangstrand on the Hølsfjord, the S.W. arm of the Tyilfjord (p. 25). STEAMER thence to Sundvolden (1½ hr.), see p. 25.

We now run through a fertile tract to (51 Kil.) Bragerøen, station for the E. quarter of Drammen, and cross the Drammens-Elv and the island of Møllerholm or Holmen, with its timber-yards, to the principal station.

53 Kil. Drammen. — Rail. Restaurant, breakfast station. — HOTEL CENTRAL, opposite the station, entrance in a side-street, with garden and baths, R. 1½-5 kr.; BRITANNIA, near the station; GRAND HOTEL, near the Bragernes-Torv, new. — BRITISH VICE-CONSUL, Mr. Anders Sveaas.

STEAMBOATS to Christiania daily (Com 185-188); to Hamburg and Rotterdam occasionally.

Drammen, junction of the Hongsund-Kongsberg, the Hongsund-Hønefos, and the Krøderen lines (pp. 27, 25, 39), a town with 24,500 inhab., picturesquely situated at the influx of the broad Drammens-Elv into the Drammens-Fjord, and enclosed by lofty hills, consists of Bragernes on the N. bank, Strømsø on the S. bank, and Tangen to the S.E. Its prosperity is due to its export of timber, which is nearly one-third of that of the entire country (about 4 million logs annually). It also exports zinc and nickel from Skouger and Ringerike, and wood-pulp from the factories on the Drammens-Elv and the Bæga. The commercial fleet of Drammen is one of the largest in Norway (over 200 sailing-vessels and steamers). Sea-going vessels are berthed at the fine stone quay of Bragernes.

By the railway-station a Timber Bridge crosses the Drammens-Elv from Strømsø to Bragernes. The fire-station (see below), with its two flagstuffs, is conspicuous on the hill to the right. The bridge leads to the Bragernes-Torv, in which, to the right, are the Exchange (with the Post and Telegraph Offices behind it; entrance in the Nedre Stor-Gade); then, on the right, the Raadhus and Byret (court-house), inscribed Ret og Sandhed ('justice and truth'). Straight on, passing between two small towers, we ascend the Kirke-Gade to the conspicuous Bragernes Church, a Gothic brick edifice by Nordgrén, built in 1866-71, containing a Resurrection by Tide-mand and an Angel over the font by Borch. (The 'Kirketjener' lives in the small white timber house opposite the sacristy, to the left.)

To the E. of Bragernes Church we reach (12-15 min.) the BRANDPOSTEN (fire-station), which affords an extensive survey of Tangen, Strømsø, and Bragernæs, the island of Holmen with its timber-yards, the valley of the Drammens-Elv, and the fjord. The veranda of the watchman's house is open to the public.

The road then ascends to the (35-40 min.) Klophjærn (754 ft.), a sequestered lake in the wood, which supplies the town with good water. Pleasant grounds (rfmts.). A path ascends to the right in 5 min. to Prinds Oskars Udsigt.

A promenade ('Oskarsstien') connects the Klophjærn with fine points of view on the slope of the Bragernæsaas, which may also be reached direct from Bragernæs in 35-40 min. by an easy but shadeless zigzag road ('Albumstien'), with benches and a restaurant. The finest points, Toppen, Furulund, and Breidablik, are marked on the plan. The last affords the best view up the valley, especially at sunset.

About 5 M. S.W. of Drammen (omn. thrice daily, 1¼ kr.), on the Konerudsåas, lies the Konerudkollen Hotel & Sanatorium (1805 ft. above the sea; baths; good pens. 4-5 kr.) — A fine point of view is the Storstensfjeld (1740 ft.; refuge-hut), 7 M. to the N. of Drammen, also ascended from Lier (p. 21).

The train turns S.W. (fine view of Drammen), passes the suburb of Tangen, and rapidly ascends (1. 80) the Kobberviksdal, to its highest point (250 ft.) at (63 Kil.) Skoger. 69 Kil. Galleberg; 73 Kil. Sande, with a church, near the Sandebuget, of which we get a fine view to the left. The train then skirts the fjord.

86 Kil. Holmestrand (Rail. Rest.; Hot. Societeten, near the station, R. 2-2½, B. 1, S. 1½ kr.; Central, same charges), a sea-bathing place with 2320 inhab., is prettily situated at the foot of a steep porphyry cliff, to which a zigzag path ascends (view of the fjord). Timber church of 1674. — Branch-line to the W. by Hillestad to (30 Kil.) Villingfos.

95 Kil. Nykirke. 100 Kil. Skoppum, near the Borrevand; branch-line hence to Borre and (7 Kil.) Horten, on the Christiania Fjord (p. 7). — 103 Kil. Adal; 109 Kil. Barkaaker. To the right we see the chateau of Jarlsberg. Beautiful woods. The train stops at the N. end of the Tønsberg-Fjord, and then runs back for 2 Kil., through a short tunnel, to —

115 Kil. Tønsberg (Victoria Hot., near the station, R. 2, B. 1, D. 2, S. 1½ kr., good; Hot. Klubben; Hot. Royal), with 9330 inhab., long famous for its seafarers, dating from the time of Harald Haarfager. About fifty seal-hunting vessels start annually from this port. Following the Anders-Madsens-Gade near the church (where the 'Vagtmester ved Slotstaarnet' lives in a house on the left), we then ascend to the left to (¼ hr.) the Castle Hill, under which the railway tunnel passes. The Slotstaarn at the top affords a fine view and contains a few antiquities and whaling implements. — Branch-line to the N., by Hillestad (see above), to (48 Kil.) Eidsfos (Eidsfos Hot.), at the S. end of Lake Ekern, with its railway carriage works (comp. p. 27).

At (121 Kil.) Sem or Semb we cross the Oulie-Elv. 128 Kil. Stokke; 135 Kil. Raastad. To the left is Gogstad (see p. 12).

139 Kil. Sandefjord (Grand Hot., good, R. 2, D. 2, S. $1\frac{1}{2}$ kr.; Hot. Kong Karl), a town with 5030 inhab. and busy shipping, and also a favourite watering-place with sulphur, salt, and iron springs, lies on the fjord of that name. In autumn the sea swarms with medusæ ('maneter'), which are said to be beneficial to bathers. The Jættegylder near Gaard Aasen are interesting; the largest is 23 ft. deep. Similar 'giant's cauldrons' at the ($3\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Vindalsbugt may be visited by boat. The whole region between Tønsberg and Larvik is historic ground. At Hjertnæs are several 'bautastenar'.

144 Kil. Jaaberg; 149 Kil. Tjølling, with a view of the Larviks-fjord as far as Fredriksværn. We cross the Laagen (p. 27) by a long bridge, to the suburb of Thorstrand, and pass through two tunnels to —

158 Kil. Larvik. — Rail. Restaurant. — GRAND HOTEL, R. $2\frac{1}{2}$ -4 $\frac{1}{2}$, B. 1, D. (at 2 p.m.) 2, S. $1\frac{1}{2}$ kr.; THORA HANSEN'S HOTEL, R. $1\frac{3}{4}$ -3, B. $1\frac{1}{4}$, D. (at 1.30 p.m.) 2, S. $1\frac{1}{2}$ kr., both near the station and the pier; LARVIKS HOTEL — LARVIKS BAD, with mineral and sulphur springs and mud-baths; board 18 kr. weekly, 64 kr. monthly, R. 20-50 kr. per month. 'Kurpenge', or visitors' tax, 22 kr. per week, 90 kr. per month. — SEA BATHS, W. of the harbour — British Vice Consul, Chr. Nielsen.

Larvik, Larvig, or Laurvik, formerly the capital of a county, with 10,400 inhab., and its suburbs Langestrand to the W. and Thorstrand to the E. (with bottle-works), are beautifully situated on the Larviksfjord, near the mouth of the Laagen, a noted salmon-river.

The station is on the harbour, which the railway skirts. Pleasant walk on the long piers. The streets running inland ascend to the Bøgskov*, a fine beech-plantation behind the highest houses to the N. of the town. Near the entrance are a café and a pavilion, where a band often plays. One of the walks in the wood leads from the pavilion to the right (N.E.) to a fine point of view overlooking the Farisvand. Another walk is from the station E to Larviks Kirke (view of the fjord) and Herregaardsbakken (in all $1\frac{1}{2}$ -2 hrs.). — The large building to the S., conspicuous from the sea, is the old manor-house of Fritsøehus.

The train (views to the right) crosses the Faris-Elv (which drives the Fritsøe Jernværk and other factories), ascends to the Farisvand (69 ft.; about $8\frac{1}{2}$ sq. M.; 420 ft. deep), and skirts its W. bank, passing through many short tunnels. Pleasing field and woodland scenery. — 169 Kil. Tjose; 182 Kil. Aaklungen, on a small lake (135 ft.). Then several other lakes. 188 Kil. Bjerkedal (235 ft.).

192 Kil. Eidanger, $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. from the station, pleasantly situated in woods at the N. end of the Eidanger Fjord (sea-bathing).

FROM EIDANGER TO BREVIK, 9 Kil., railway in 22 min. (fares 45, 30 ø.), at first through fine woods. 2 Kil. Nystvand (Eidanger Hotel), on the Eidanger Fjord, the W. bank of which the train skirts. 6 Kil. Heistad. — Brevik (Hot. Stiansen), with 2530 inhab., is charmingly situated at the S.E. end of a rocky peninsula which separates the Eidanger Fjord from the Friersfjord. Opposite, to the S., is the little town of Stathelle. — From Brevik steamers ply to Christiania (Com 197, 198, 199) and Christiansand (Com. 244)

195 Kil. Porsgrund (Stiansen's Hotel; Victoria, an old mansion, plainly fitted up, 5 min. from the station, good, R. 2 kr.; British Consul, J. W. M. Franklin), a town of 5220 inhab., lies on both banks of the Skjens-Elv, which descends from the Nordsjø and falls into a bay of the Friersfjord 1½ M. below the town, bringing yearly 1½ million logs of timber to the sea. Porsgrund is noted for its porcelain.

We ascend the left bank of the broad Skjens-Elv, through a smiling district with many farms, and pass through a tunnel.

204 Kil. Skien. — *HØYER'S HOTEL, with electric light and baths, R. 2¼-6, B. 1½, D. (2-5 p.m.) 2¼, S. 1½ kr.; ROYAL HOTEL, R. from 1½, B. 1, D. 2, S. 1½ kr., good; both near the station and the quay; GRAND HOTEL, Telemarks-Gade, with view of the quay of the Telemarken steamers, with baths and electric light, good. R. 1½-5, B. 1¼, D. (2-30 p.m.) 2, S. 1½ kr.; H. TURISTEN, R. 1½, B. 1¼, D. 2, S. 1½ kr. — Café-Restaurant in the Festivitets-Lokal (also warm baths, 50 ø-1 kr.). — POST OFFICE, Torv-Gade, near the harbour.

STEAMERS To Telemarken twice daily (once on Sun.), both to Ulefos-Dalen (Com. 470) and to Ulefos-Hatterdal (p. 28; Com. 468), pier above the Damfos, ½ M. from the rail. stat. (cabs in waiting). — Sea-going steamers daily to Porsgrund, Langesund, and Christiania (Com 197, 198, 199).

Skien (pron. Shane), the railway terminus, a commercial and industrial town with 11,870 inhab., founded as Skida in the 14th cent., repeatedly burned down (last in 1886) and rebuilt, was the birthplace of the dramatist Henrik Ibsen (1828-1906). It lies on the N. bank of the Skjens-Elv, which descends from the Nordsjø, breaks through a rocky barrier in two falls, and then forms a roomy harbour. In the Jernbane-Torv, by the harbour, are the Railway Station and the Raadhus, with arcaded porch. The broad Prindsens-Gade ascends hence to the new Church, a Gothic brick building by J. H. Bergh, with two lofty slate-covered spires. The square in front of the church is adorned with a Bust of Ibsen, by Visdal. Adjacent is Skien's Festivitets-Lokal, with a public library, baths, and café.

From the Grand Hotel the street named 'Broerne' (quays) leads to the Damfos and the Klosterfos, the two waterfalls mentioned above. On an island between them formerly stood the nunnery of Gimse, founded in 1110.

On the steep Bratsbergklev, S.E. of the town, are the ruins of the Bratsberg Chapel, which has given its name to the whole province (fine view by morning-light). It is reached from the station in 20 min. by the Nedre Skotlandsvei and a flight of wooden steps.

4. From Drammen by Høugsund and Hønefos to the Randsfjord.

89 Kil. RAILWAY (express has through-carriages from Christiania) to Hønefos in 2½-3 hrs. (fares 3 kr. 55, 2 kr. 30 ø.), to Randsfjord in 3¼-4 hrs. (4 kr. 15, 2 kr. 65 ø.). — Steamer from Randsfjord to Odnæs, see p. 26.

Drammen, see p. 21. The Randsfjord line (views to the right) ascends the broad valley of the Drammens-Elv. 2 Kil. Gulskogen; 11 Kil. Mjøndalen.

17 Kil. Høugsund (Rail. Rest.), junction for Kongsberg (p. 27; change). To the W. rises the Jonsknut (p. 27). Near Haugsund is the Hellefos, a fall of the Drammens-Elv, with salmon-fishery.

The Randsfjord train turns N., still ascending the Drammens-Elv. Beautiful scenery. Views on both sides. Several fine waterfalls. 22 Kil. Burud, 27 Kil. Skotselven, with a wood-pulp mill. We cross the Drammens-Elv, which here forms the Deviksfos. — 33 Kil. Aamot, on the left bank. A suspension-bridge crosses to a large saw-mill, driven by the fall of the Simoa descending from the Sigdal, and to the Nykirke. Scenery very fine. Farther on, the Snarums-Elv descends from the Hallingdal. We recross to the right bank. 39 Kil. Gjeithus, with the Gravfos and a large paper-mill. Pretty walk to the Hirsdal with the St. Olafsgryder, 'cauldrons' of the ice-period.

43 Kil. Vikesund (Krona Hot. & Skyds Stat., modest), junction for Krøderen (p. 39), lies at the efflux of the Drammens-Elv from the Tyrfjord. A long bridge crosses the river to the church of Heggen.

To the W. of Vikesund lies (4 Kil.) Bad Modum, with a chalybeate spring (St. Olafskilde), mud-baths, etc. (pension, incl. baths, medical advice, etc., from 6 kr.). Beautiful wood walks, with views, to the Kaggefoss and other falls of the Snarums-Elv. This district is the scene of many traditions of St. Olaf. About 5 Kil. W. are Cobalt Mines (closed) and the Haugsfos.

We skirt the W. bank of the Tyrfjord (200 ft.; area over 51 sq. M.; depth 920 ft.), with its many arms, the fourth largest of the Norwegian lakes.

On a bay of the E. bank of the Tyrfjord lies Sundvolden (Hot. Sundvolden, R. 1½-4, B. or S. 1¼ kr.), reached by road from Sandviken (p. 20) or by steamer from Svangstrand (p. 21). From Sundvolden we may ascend the Krogklev (1452 ft.). The path ascends through a gorge to (¾ hr.) Klerstuen, a rustic inn, then to the right, following the white crosses on the trees, to (25-30 min.) Kongens Udsigt (King's View, 1243 ft.) Beautiful view of the fjord and the district of Ringerike.

The numerous islands in the fjord are said to be stones once vainly hurled by a giantess at the church of Steen. — From Sundvolden to Hønefos 14 Kil. (carr. at the inn). The road crosses the Krogsumd by a long embankment. It passes the ruined church of Steen, the tumulus of King Halfdan (d. 860), and then Norderhøes Kirke, with a memorial stone (to the left) to the pastor's wife Anna Kolbjørnsdatter, by whose stratagem in 1716 the Swedish Col. Löwen was captured.

52 Kil. Nakkerud; 58 Kil. Skjærdalen, with saw-mills, and near it Ringerikes Nikkelværk; 65 Kil. Ask. The train quits the Tyrfjord.

71 Kil. Hønefoss. — 'GLATVED'S HOTEL, $\frac{1}{2}$ M. from the station (omnibus 50 ø), with baths, electric light, garden on the Bæga, host speaks English, R. 2-6, B. $1\frac{1}{4}$, D. $2\frac{1}{2}$. S. $1\frac{1}{2}$ kr.; GRAND HOTEL, nearer the station; JERNBANE HOT., at the station — Slyds to Sundvolden (p. 25) cariole $3\frac{3}{4}$, carr. for 2, 3, or 4 pers. 6, 8, o. 10 kr.; to Sandviken (p. 22) for 2, 3, or 4 pers. 18, $22\frac{1}{2}$, 25 kr. — Engl. Ch. Service at Glatved's Hotel.

Hønefoss (314 ft.), a little town of 2340 inhab., lies at the confluence of the Bæga or Aadals-Elv, which descends from Lake Spirillen, and the Rands-Elv, coming from the Randsfjord. These rivers form the Stor-Elv, which falls into the Tyrifjord. The Bæga-Elv, the larger of the two, has two falls, together known as the Hønefoss.

From the station we descend the street to (5 min.) the market place, and then turn to the left to the bridge which crosses the Bæga close to the falls. Though spoiled by saw-mills, flour-mills, and factories, the falls are imposing, especially in May and June when swollen by the melting snow. On the left bank, above the bridge, is a channel which conveys timber to the mills. Glatved's hotel is 6 min. below the bridge.

A road on the left bank of the Bæga leads in 1 hr. to the Høfssos, another cascade, close to the railway to Heen (carr. 4 kr., to Heen, 6 kr.).

The Ringkollen (2268 ft.), 5 M. E. of Hønefoss, is an admirable point of view (there and back 5 hrs.; cariole 5 kr.; carr. for 2, 3, or 4 pers. 8, 10, or 12 kr.). The road leads by Gjermundbro, and ends at the Gjermundbro-Sæter (tourists' hut). Walk to the top $\frac{3}{4}$ hr.

At Hønefoss the Randsfjord railway will be crossed by the new line to Bergen (p. 39). Our train ascends and crosses the Bæga.

78 Kil. Heen (Jernbane Hotel, Anderson's Hotel, both by the steamboat-pier, $\frac{1}{2}$ M. from the station, very fair), with several mills. Travellers alight here for the Lake Spirillen Steamer (p. 46).

Turning E., the train skirts the Højaas (1490 ft.) and the Askelioug (1503 ft.), traversing a sequestered wooded district.

89 Kil. Randsfjord Station (Hot. Berger, by the station; Randsfjord Hot., 5 min. further, on the opp. bank) lies on the Rands-Elv, at its efflux from the S. end of the Randsfjord. A bridge crosses the broad river to Hadelands Glasværk, which employs many Bohemian hands. — The pier of the lake-steamers is close to the station. (To Odnæs $4\frac{1}{2}$ -5 $\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.; fares 4 kr., 2 kr. 80 ø.; restaur. on board; Com. 452.)

The Randsfjord (446 ft.; 45 M. long, 52 sq. M. in area, and 355 ft. deep) is bounded on the E. by the fertile Hadeland, and on the W. and N. by Valders and Land. The banks, rising gradually to 2000 ft., well cultivated at places, and wooded at the top, are somewhat monotonous. The steamer stops at many stations; Røikenvik (Hotel), Hov, and Fluberg are rail. stations also (comp. 45). The inns at Odnæs (p. 45) are 8 or 10 min. from the pier.

5. From Hongsund to Kongsberg and Ulefos (Telemarken-Hardanger).

RAILWAY to Kongsberg, 23 Kil., in $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr. (fares 1 kr. 45, 80 ø.). — ROAD from Kongsberg to Notodden, 28 Kil., a drive of $4\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.; stolkjærre for 1 or 2 pers. $6\frac{1}{2}$ or $9\frac{1}{2}$ kr.; carr. and pair for 2, 3, or 4 pers. $14\frac{1}{2}$, $16\frac{1}{2}$, 19 kr. — STEAMER from Notodden to Ulefos (Com 463) twice daily in $2\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.; fare 2 kr. 30 ø.

A visit to the Rjukanfos (p. 30), which has been sadly spoiled by the electric and salt-peter works, will hardly pay any more. New railway-lines are being constructed from Notodden to Tinoset and from Fagerstrand to Fosso (p. 29), on account of these works. The two lines will then be connected by large ferry boats on the Tinsjø.

Hongsund, see p. 25. The Kongsberg train affords the finest views to the left. 5 Kil. Vestfossen, with factories; 7 kil. Flesaker, on the Ekernvand or Fiskumvand (58 ft.; steamer twice daily to Eidsfos, p. 22), bounded by lofty mountains on the E. 11 Kil. Darbu; 15 Kil. Krekling (412 ft.). Farther on we have a fine view of the mountains to the S. 22 Kil. Skollenborg (540 ft.); $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. to the S.W. is the Labrofos, 131 ft. high, a fall of the Laagen, which the train now approaches. Sterile soil, chiefly granitic sand. To the left rises the Skrimsfjeld (2851 ft.). Near Kongsberg the Laagen forms the Hammerfos, which works a government arms-factory.

28 Kil. Kongsberg — *GRAND HOTEL, on the left bank, near the station, R. 1-3, B. $1\frac{1}{4}$, D. (130 p.m.) 2-3, S. $4\frac{1}{2}$ kr.; *VICTORIA, in the W. quarter, right bank, R. $4\frac{1}{2}$ 6, B. $4\frac{1}{2}$, D. $2\frac{1}{2}$, S. $1\frac{1}{2}$ kr. Both hotels have omnibuses at the station, baths, etc., and are often crowded in summer. English, French, and German are spoken.

Kongsberg (488 ft.), a town of 5670 inhab., on both banks of the swift Laagen or Laugen, in the S. part of the Numedal (p. 32), owes its origin and its former prosperity to the neighbouring silver-mines, discovered in 1623 in the reign of Christian IV., but now almost worked out. Most of the houses are timber-built, but the large Church of the 18th cent., by which rises a monument (1883) to Christian IV., and the Raadhus are of stone. In the Smeltehytte, or smelting-works, specimens of the ore may be purchased. The Laagen is crossed by two bridges. The Udsigt ($\frac{1}{4}$ hr. W.) commands a good view of the town, and S. over the valley of the Laagen. The names of two of the mines, 'Gotteshilfe in der Not' and 'Armen-grube', recall the Saxon miners once employed.

The Jonsknut (2979 ft.), about 2 M. to the W., is ascended from Kongsberg in 4 hrs. (there and back 6-7 hrs.). We follow the minding road by Saugrenden to 'Kongens Dam', and walk thence to the top in $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. A path indicated by red and white marks leads from the Jonsknut, by the Li-Sæter, the Nor-Sæter, and the Seisli-Sæter, to (7 hrs.) Bolkesjø (see below).

FROM KONGSBERG BY BOLKESJØ TO TINOSËT, 52 km. The road ascends the Numedal (p. 32) on the right bank of the Laagen for 5 Kil., turns to the left into the Jondal, and ascends through pines on the right bank of the Jondals-Elv. Farther on we cross the river. After a drive of 4 hrs. or a walk of 5-6 hrs. we reach the highest point of the route (1790 ft.), where we obtain a striking view of the mountains of Telemarken, particularly the Lifjeld (p. 31) and the Gausta (p. 31), which appears like a blunted cone 25 kil. (pay for 36) Bolkesjø (1287 ft.; Hotel & Sanatorium, R. 2-3, B. 1¼, D. 2-3, S. 1½ kr.; Grand Hotel, same charges, both good) lies above the little lake of that name (1030 ft.) and commands fine views: below, farther S., lies the Folsjø (740 ft.); to the N. rises the Blei fjeld (4483 ft.).

We ascend, passing the farms of Helleberg. Fine views of the valley to the left. After an hour's drive a road diverges to the right to the church of Hovin (about 20 Kil. N.; p. 29). Our road turns S.W., passing several lakes on the right. Then a rapid descent to the Tin-Elv, which we cross an hour later at Årvikvolden, near the church of Gransherred, where we reach the Hitterdal road (p. 29).

27 Kil. (pay for 36) Tinoset, see p. 29.

The TELEMARKE-ROAD, after about 4 Kil., turns W. into the dale of the Kobberbergs-Elv. To the right rises the Jonsknut (p. 27). We ascend the wooded Medheia, and after 2-2½ hrs. reach Jerngruben (1352 ft.; tolerable inn), where the horses rest for ½ hr. The road still ascends, and then traverses the plateau (1476 ft.) in numerous undulations. Quitting the forest it descends into the Hitterdal. Beautiful view: in front the Telemarken Mts., the Himingen (3448 ft.; p. 29), and the Høksfjeld, to the left the Hitterdalsvand. A tablet calls attention to the view of the Gausta. Our road unites with the Skien road on the E. bank of the Hitterdalsvand (p. 29).

28 Kil. (pay for 36) Notodden (Hot. Furuheim, good, R. 2, B. 1¼, D. 2½, S. 1½ kr.; Victoria, commended) lies near the N. end of the Hitterdalsvand. A few hundred paces further the road crosses the Tin-Elv, which, 5 min. above the bridge, forms the Tinfos. The huge volume of water descends in three cascades about 65 ft. high. It supplies several factories with motive power. One of these manufactures saltpetre from the nitrogen of the air by means of electricity, according to the process of the Norwegian engineers Birkeland and Eide.

About 6 Kil. from Notodden, on the right, rises Hitterdals Kirke*, the largest of the existing twenty-four mediæval Norwegian 'Stavekirker', or timber-built churches. It dates from the 13th cent., and is first mentioned in 1315. The architecture and ornamentation of these singular churches belong to the 12th cent., the plan, so far as difference of material allows, being that of Anglo-Norman churches of that period (comp. p. 16). To the rectangular body of the church is added a square choir ending in a semicircle. The broad and lofty nave is separated from the low aisles by wooden columns. Over the gabled roof of the nave rises a square gabled tower, which terminates in a slender spire. The dragon-head ornamentation of these gables resembles that of a ship's prow. The roof of the choir is lower and is surmounted by a round turret. Round the whole building runs a low arcade (Lop), probably used as a shelter in bad weather before or after service. The capitals of the columns and the doors and door-frames are embellished with elaborate and fantastic carvings, representing dragons and other figures. The interior was adapted to modern use in 1850, and has lost part of its primitive character by the insertion of windows. The nave contains twelve columns and the choir four. The key ('Nøglen') is obtained at the parsonage, opposite the entrance.

The Hitterdalsvånd (50 ft.; 12 M. long) is uninteresting. The steamboat-pier (p. 27) is near the Furuheim Hotel. From the S. end of the lake, near Farødden or Farvolden, issues the Sauer-Elv, which soon expands for a short distance into the Bråfjord. Passing Aslaksborg or Aarnæs, the steamer reaches the Nordsjø (p. 33) and steers down that lake to Ulefos, a trip of 2½ hrs. from Notodden.

Ulefos, and thence to Dalen and Odde, see p. 33.

FROM NOTODDEN TO THE TINSJØ AND THE RJUKANFOS. Railway, see p. 27. The road passes the Hitterdals-Kirke (p. 28) and the gaards of Bamle and Kaasa. Conspicuous on the left is the Himingen (3450 ft.), a pyramidal mountain, sometimes ascended for the view (from Hitterdal over the Himingen to Løvheim, 7-8 hrs., with guide), beyond which rises the Hæksfjeld (p. 23). The road to Løvheim (p. 31) diverges to the left.

The Tinsjø road leads N., at the base of the Kjøvingfjeld (2263 ft.), and then ascends the course of the Ørvalla, which has forced its way through huge masses of debris, now overgrown with pines. We cross the stream several times. At the 'Plads' Bakken, about 2½ Kil. from Notodden, the horses are rested. About 5 Kil. farther the road from Gransherred and Bolkesjø (p. 28) joins ours on the right, and after 5 Kil. more we reach — 32 Kil. Tinøset (Hot. Tinoset, R. 2, B. 1½, D. 2, S. 1½ kr.), a group of houses at the S. end of the Tinsjø (605 ft.; 17½ sq. M. in area; 1436 ft. deep.). This lake resembles the Spirillen (p. 46), but its banks are not so high.

The steamer from Tinoset to Fagerstrand (2 kr.; Com. 266; comp. p. 27) calls at Sanden (left), Hovin (right), and other stations. The finest point in the landscape is the *Haakenæs*fjeld. Beyond it, 2¾ hrs. from Tinoset, we reach — Fagerstrand (Fagerstrand's Hotel, R. 1½-2, B. 1, D. 2, S. 1¼ kr., very fair), near the church of Mæl, at the mouth of the Maan-Elv. The steamer goes on to Sigurdsrud at the N. end of the lake.

From Fagerstrand to Fosso near the Rjukanfos 26 Kil., a good road (stolkjærre for 1 or 2 pers. 4 kr. 40, 6 kr. 60 ø.; carr. and pair for 2, 3, or 4 pers. 10½, 13, 14½ kr., there and back a fare and a half), ascending the beautiful Vestfjord-Dal, on the left bank of the Maan-Elv. To the right opens the Haakedal. The imposing Gausta (p. 31) soon becomes visible on the left. 9 Kil. Nyland, whence the Gausta may be ascended in 6 hrs. (guide 4-5 kr., may be dispensed with by experts). 3 Kil. the straggling village of Dale. The road ascends, at first gently, then steeply, with the Gausta behind us, to Vaae (1730 ft.), 22 Kil. from Fagerstrand. Then a further ascent in windings. On the left, a little short of Fosso, is a small platform on the left which affords the best survey of the Rjukanfos. About 4 Kil. from Vaal, after a drive of $4\frac{1}{2}$ hrs., we reach —

Fosso (2480 ft.; Rjukan-Turist-Hotel & Sanatorium, R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ - $2\frac{1}{2}$, B. $1\frac{1}{4}$, D. $2\frac{1}{2}$, S. $1\frac{1}{2}$ kr.). Just below the hotel a path leads to various points of view. The Rjukanfos ('reeking' or 'foaming fall'), formed by the Maan-Elv, takes two leaps into the ravine, one of 65 ft., the other of 492 ft. The upper fall, the Kvernhusfos, is used for generating electricity. A tunnel is being constructed to divert the whole volume of water to supply a factory where saltpetre is made by the new electric process (p. 28).

FROM THE RJUKANFOS TO THE HARDANGER FJORD: two routes, one to Odde, another to Eidfjord; the former preferable, but both fatiguing, and not to be attempted before July. Guides are necessary on parts of both routes. Provisions should be brought.

TO ODDE, 4-5 days: — 1st Day (11-12 hrs., with guide, who rows across the lakes). From Fosso we ascend the road on the left bank of the Maan-Elv. After $2\frac{1}{2}$ hrs the road ends for the present. By a gaard a rough path diverging to the left leads in $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. to Holvik (poor inn), on the Mjøsvand (2960 ft.; $15\frac{1}{2}$ sq. M. in area, 131 ft. deep). To the W. rises the huge Raulandsfjeld (5124 ft.). From Holvik we row either direct across the E. bay of the Mjøsvand (10 min; 50 ø), or W. to the ($1\frac{1}{4}$ hr) Erlandsgaard. From each landing-place rough and partly marshy paths (insufficiently marked) lead to (3-4 hrs.) the gaard of Gibøen (poor quarters), on the S.E. arm of the Mjøsvand. We row thence across the lake (10 min.; 50 ø.) and walk to (4-5 hrs) Berge, on the Totakvand (2248 ft.; $14\frac{1}{2}$ sq. M. in area; 820 ft. deep; good quarters at the Midgaard, $\frac{3}{4}$ M. farther W.). — 2nd Day (5½-6 hrs.; guide advisable). We follow the N. bank of the Totakvand, past the church of Rauland, to ($2\frac{1}{2}$ hrs) Killingthøst, then cross by boat to Brunelid (no houses) at the foot of the Flaatubunul (or row direct from Midgaarden to Brunelid in 2 hrs.; $1\frac{1}{2}$ kr. each pers.). Then a steep ascent of 20 min. to a more level tract. Before we again descend we have a striking view of the Grungedal, lying lengthwise before us. Lastly a steep descent of $\frac{1}{2}$ - $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. to the road mentioned on p. 37, which we reach near the bridge over the Grungedals-Elv. This road leads W. to ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr) the Rui Hotel (p. 37). From Rui to Odde by skyds in two or three days. — [The following route is easier, but rather longer: row from Midgaarden in 1 hr. ($1\frac{1}{2}$ kr. each pers.) across the Totakvand to Kosthøst on the S. bank, whence a cart-track leads to ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Jamsgaard on the Hitterdal and Hardanger road (p. 32), $\frac{3}{4}$ M. from the skyds-station Vinje.]

TO THE VØRINGFOS AND EIDFJORD, 3-4 days, guide advisable all the way. — 1st Day (about 12 hrs.). From Fosso to Holvik (see above) in $3\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.; row in $3\frac{1}{2}$ hrs. to Mjøstrand, and in $3\frac{1}{2}$ -4 hrs. more to the N. end of the lake; walk in $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr. to Mogen (poor inn, closed in 1808). — 2nd Day (9-10 hrs.; horse and guide 17 kr.). We go N.W. to the (6 Kil.) Gjuvsjø, abounding in fish, then W., past the three Skarstjerne on the left, to the ($3\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.) Fjeldsø, the N. bank of which we follow for 1 hr. Then to the N.W. (with a view of the Bjernerfjord) to the Lakensjø, and row across the strait which separates this lake from the great Nordmandslaagen (4157 ft.). On the further bank is the good tourist-hut Sandhøug (bed $1\frac{1}{4}$ kr., B. 80 ø, S. 1 kr. 20 ø.; kept by Sylvest L. Sæbo, a guide certificated by the Norweg. tourists' union). — 3rd Day (10-11 hrs.; horse 16 kr.). We at first skirt the N. bank of the Normandslaagen, then continue N.W., with fine views of the Hardanger-Vidda, to Berastølen, 9 hrs. from Sandhøug. A good path leads thence in 2 hrs. to the (9 Kil) Fosli Hotel, above the Vøringfos (p. 127).

22 Kil. Løvheim (Løvheim's Hot.), prettily situated, a little E. of Saulands Kirke.

FROM LØVHEIM TO SILJORD (see below), about 24 Kil., a hill-path leads S.W. up the Grundingsdal, watered by the Mjølla. On the Slaakuvand, halfway, is the Hot. Lifjeld, at the foot of the Lifjeld (see below).

From Løvheim a road ascends the Grundingsdal to the N., passing Moen and the Sønlandsvand, to Hot. Bjaar; then past the Bjaarvand, the church of Tuddal, and the Kovstulvand to (32 Kil.) the Tuddals Sanatorium (3193 ft.; R. 1-3, board 3½-4 kr.), situated in pine-woods on the Kovstultheia. Walks with fine views. — The Gausta (6180 ft.), the highest mountain in S. Norway, is ascended from the Sanatorium in 4-5 hrs. Tourist-hut at the top (adm. 1 kr.; 12 beds at 1 kr., B. or S. 1½ kr.), often full. We may descend to the Rjukanfos (p. 30); path with red marks.

Beyond Mosebø the scenery becomes grander. The Hjærsjø (490 ft.) lies on the left.

18 Kil. Skovheim i Hjærdal, or Skogheim i Hjertdal (Skogheim Hot., R. 2, B. 1½, D. 2, S. 1½ kr., good), is the starting-point for the ascent of the Vindegg (4906 ft.; with guide, 5-6, there and back 8-10 hrs.), which towers to the N.

About 7 Kil. from Skovheim the Kirkebø and Heggestøl road diverges S. from the road to (23 Kil.) Aamotsdal, crosses the watershed of the Hjærdal, and descends in zigzags to the little church and scattered gaards of Flatdal. It then skirts the E. bank of the Flatdalsvand. The Skorvefjeld (4443 ft.) rises in the background. By the lake rises the Spaadomsnut, which, according to tradition, will fall into the water when the end of the world is at hand. Farther on we sight the Siljordsvand (384 ft.), a picturesque lake, 8½ M. long, and the Lifjeld (5087 ft.), on which two French aéronauts from Paris descended in 1870. By the church of Siljord (Hotel) we cross the feeder of the lake. On the left comes a road from Ulefoss (p. 33).

The road to the right (N.W.) leads through the Morgedal, passing two small lakes (1390 ft.), to —

16 Kil. Hemmestveit i Brunkeberg; then past the church of Heidalsmo (Landsværk Hotel) and the Oftevand to —

19 Kil. Mogen (Mogen's Hotel), where a road diverges S. to (11 Kil.) Laurdal on the Bandaksvand (p. 35). — We cross a high range of hills. Near (15 Kil.) Aamodt we cross the Tøke-Elv, which descends from the Totakvand and forms the Hyllandsfos (288 ft.), a fall ¾ M. N. of Aamodt. We pass Thveiten.

20 Kil. Mule, above the E. end of the Vinjevand. The very hilly road now skirts the N. bank of the lake, passing many farms, one of which is the Janisgaard, where a road diverges to Kosthvert on the Totakvand (p. 30). About $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. farther a steep road ascends to the right to the (5 min.) skyds-station of Vinje (good). The main road descends to the church of Vinje, near the N.W. end of the Vinjevand. Fine view of the Midtjæld (4578 ft.) and of the Orm-Eggen to the S.W. By the gaard of Pladsen a 'bautasten', on the right, with a medallion portrait, commemorates the poet A. O. Vinje, who was born here.

12 Kil. Heggstøl. We cross the Vinje-Elv by a high bridge and join the road mentioned at p. 36. To the Rui Hotel, 12 Kil. more.

From Kongsberg to the Numedal.

ROAD with 'fast' stations to Brøsterud (123 Kil.); then a long day's walk across the mountains to Gjeilo on the Bergen railway (p. 40). This route is little used except by Norwegians.

Kongsberg, p. 27. The road ascends the right bank of the Lougen.

17 Kil. Svennesund. We cross the Lougen and pass the church of Svenne, on its left bank.

14 Kil. Søndre Flesberg, near the church of Flesberg. The valley contracts. We re-cross to the right bank by an iron bridge.

16 Kil. Alfstad (Inn), well spoken of. The valley is wider here. The gaard Fikken or Fekjan, 6-7 Kil. from Alfstad, affords good quarters; the owner has built a hut for sportsmen and anglers on the Sorkevand or Sørkjevand, 10 M. to the W. The Fikken Sæter belongs to Frithjof Nansen, the Arctic explorer. At the Vægli-Kirke we cross the stream, which has a small fall here, to the Brobakken Hotel, near the skyds-station.

17 Kil. Helle (Inn, commended). The road ascends, and then descends to the Ytre Nore-Fjord or Krøvik-Fjord (868 ft.), whose bank it follows. To the left rises the Eidsfjeld (4516 ft.). By Gaard Krøvik is an ancient timber building. On the opposite bank are the old and the new church of Nore. The road then skirts the Øvre Norefjord (12 Kil. long), and leads past the farm of Sevli, to —

27 Kil. Skjønne (947 ft.; good inn), with several old buildings. The road crosses the Laagen and turns W. into the Opdal. The Opdals-Elv has several falls. Then a steep ascent to the Fennebufjord (1567 ft.).

11 Kil. Liverud, at the W. end of the Fennebufjord, lies near the old Stavekirke of Opdal. We ascend past many farms and the new church of Opdal.

21 Kil. Brøsterud or Brostrud (2625 ft.; tolerable inn). Quarters also at Nørstebo, a little to the W.

The road ends here. We follow a bridle-path, past the Vass-Sæter and the Høfde-Sæter, to (17 Kil., in 4 hrs.) the church of Dågali (2837 ft.), near which quarters may be had at the gaards of Åsberg and Kjønnaas. We then cross the fjeld to the (10 Kil.)

Skurdal (2824 ft.; quarters at the Guttormsgaard), and again cross the fjeld to (17 Kil.) Gjeilo in the Ustedal (p. 49).

THE MOUNTAIN ROUTE TO THE HARDANGER (100 Kil.) takes three days (guide Thore Gundersen Videsjorden of Opdal). Provisions should be brought from the lower valley. 1st Day. From Narsteibø we ascend the sater-path, and then cross the plateau of the Hardanger Vidda (3300-4100 ft.) where we have an unlimited view of the vast and dreary expanse, unbroken save by a few rocky knolls. Passing the Skarsvand, we come to the Skars-Sæter, and cross the river by boat. We pass the night, after a walk of 11-12 hrs., in the tourists' hut on the Laagehåbjerg. — 2nd Day: We skirt the river, then the Gjeisjø and the Store Nordmandsstøbet, and after a walk of 10 hrs. spend the night in the tourists' hut at the confluence of the Bjæretå and the Setna. — 3rd Day. We pass the Nybu-Setre (3772 ft.), on the Nybusjø, the first huts on the W. side of the fjeld, and then generally follow the course of the Bjæretå, which lower down forms the Vøringfoss (p. 127) crossing snow, brooks, and marshes, to Sørlien, Maurset, and Garen, and the Fosli Hotel (p. 128).

6. From Skien by the Telemarken Canal and the Haukelifjeld to the Hardanger.

Four Days. From Skien to Dalen, 105 Kil. STEAMER twice daily from about mid-June, in 8-11 hrs (fare 8 or 4 kr.; to Ulefos 1 kr. 80 ø, 1 kr.; restaurant on board, B. 1½, D. 2¼ kr.). — ROAD from Dalen to Odde, about 180 Kil.; skyds tariff, see p. xxi; landau for 2 pers. 85, 3 pers. 100, 4 pers. 110 kr., one night being passed at the Voxlid Hotel (p. 37), and a second at the Brefoud Hotel (p. 114). The Haukeli road (p. 37) is often covered with snow till July. It a day be devoted to the Rannevuv (p. 38) we drive at once from Dalen to Berte (p. 36), and spend the next nights at the Haukeli-Sæter (p. 37) and at Seljestad or at the Hotel Udsigten on the Seljestadvuv (p. 115).

The steamer ascends the Skiens-Elv, passes several factories, and reaches (½ hr.) the Locks of Løveid*, hewn in the rock (1861), like those of Trollhättan. The passage takes 20 minutes. The fourth lock is used when the water is high. A bust recalls Amtmann Aall, the founder of the canal.

We pass several small islands and enter the Nordsjø (48 ft.; 23 sq. M. in area; about 17½ M. long; 540 ft. deep), a lake fed by many other Telemarken lakes, and flanked with low wooded hills. By the entrance to it, on the right, is St. Mikaelshul, a cave where Rom. Cath. services were once held. Farther on, to the right, we see the church-tower of Romnæs and the N. part of the lake (where the Hitterdal steamer plies, p. 38). About 2 hrs. from Skien we reach —

Ulefos i Holden (Nielsen's Hot., plain; carr. in waiting for passengers bound for Aaheim's Hotel, 10 Min., see p. 34; pop. 1500), situated on both banks of the Eids-Elv, which here falls into the Nordsjø, driving several wood-pulp and other factories. The owners reside in pretty villas with gardens, among which we note the castellated villa of the Aall family (right). To the left is the church of Holden.

At Ulefos begins the Bandak-Nordsjø Canal*, constructed in 1889-92, at a cost of 3,000,000 kr., which in its course of 17 kil.

overcomes the difference of level (187 ft.) between the two lakes by means of 17 locks. The work presented special difficulties, as the locks had in some cases to be formed by huge dams of masonry. The steamer takes $23\frac{1}{4}$ -3 hrs. to ascend from Ulefos to Hogga, the last lock (descent, $2\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.).

The Ulefos, the lowest fall of the Eids-Elv, is 33 ft. high. At the second of the three locks the river is crossed by an arched timber-bridge. On the S. bank lies Aaheim, where the express steamers do not touch (Aaheims Hotel, with pretty grounds, R. 2, B. 1, D. 2, S. $1\frac{1}{2}$ kr., good; omn. from Ulefos free). We next reach the Eidsfos (32 ft. high; seen to the left), overcome by two locks, and the rapids of the Vrangfos*, avoided by six locks. At the top of these is a dam of red granite, 105 ft. high and 69 ft. thick, where the overflow forms a cascade of 75 ft. (right). The banks are connected by an iron bridge.

The steamer takes nearly an hour to ascend from the lower Eidsfos lock to the highest Vrangfos lock (or 40 min. to descend). We may therefore land at the Eidsfos, cross to the right bank, and follow a pleasant path through the woods to (25 min.) the uppermost Vrangfos lock. Near the latter, on the right, is a platform with a stone table affording a fine view of the whole staircase of locks. Passengers in the reverse direction should also take this walk.

The steamer now ascends the broad river, deepened by its enclosing dams. The banks are wooded, with here and there a gaard in a clearing. By a bay on the S. side of the river we see the Nukefjeld (1286 ft.; ascended from Ulefos in 3-4 hrs.), and to the N. the Lufjeld (p. 31). On the left (N.) bank rises the church of Lunde, opposite which is Lundefaret, where the steamers sometimes call. We mount 10 ft. by the lock of Lunde or Grootevje, 7 Kil. from Vrangfos, and 10 ft. more by the lock of Kjeldal, 3 Kil. farther.

The last locks at (2 Kil.) Hogga raise the steamer 23 ft. more. The level of the lakes above Hogga is maintained by a huge dam.

Between the Flaa-Kirke, on the N. bank, and Strangen, a station opposite, the steamer enters the Flaavand (236 ft.). The elk still occurs in the forests on the banks.

We now enter the narrow Fjuagesund and reach the Hvidesjø. The mountains become higher and steeper: to the right rises the Brøkefjeld (3545 ft.), to the left, in the distance, the bare Robolt-fjeld (2318 ft.); to the W., near the Bandaksvand, the pointed Rau-berg-Nuten. At the end of the lake lies the wooded island of Buke.

To the right opens the bay of Sundkile* (4 Kil. long), surrounded by picturesque mountains, and entered by a narrow strait crossed by a drawbridge. The afternoon-steamer (express) does not enter the Sundkile. The others enter it and call at Kirkebo (Hot. Hvideseid, at the pier), pleasantly situated at its head. A skyds-road runs hence N. to (17 Kil.) Kobbervolden (p. 31), passing Brunkebergs Kirke.

The steamer returns to the mouth of the Sundkile, rounds the headland of Spysodden, and stops at Smedodden, on the S. bank, by the church of Hvideseid, at the W. end of the Hvidesjø.

FROM HVIDESEID TO ARENDAL (145 Kil.). The road ascends rapidly, and then descends to (7 Kil.) Strand : Vraadal (tolerable quarters), a little W. of which lies the Vraa and (see below). We turn S. and skirt the E. bank of the Nisservand, a fine sheet of water 21 M. long (steamer). The next stages are 17 Kil. Vik i Nissersdal, 23 Kil. Homme i Treungen; then past the Hegfos, formed by the Nisser-Elv; 19 Kil. Øi i Aamli; 16 Kil. Negaarden : Aamli (good inn); 13 Kil. Simonsdal (p. 6). Thence to Arendal, see p. 6.

We next steer through the artificial channel of Skarperudstrømmen (6 Kil. long), connecting the Hvidesjø with the Bandaksvand* (236 ft.); area 24 sq. M.; depth 725 ft.), a long and picturesque lake, enclosed by imposing mountains. The first view of the lake, beyond the high rocky island of Bandakø (left) and the station of Apalsjø (right), is very striking. Farther on, to the left above us, is a rock called St. Olaf's Ship. The lake then becomes a little monotonous, but the W. end is enclosed by the fine mountains near the Sætersdal.

About 1 hr. from Hvideseid we touch at Triset, by the church of Laurdal (Bakke's Hot., by the pier), situated in a fertile dale on the N. bank of the lake. A good road leads hence to Mogen i Høidalmo (11 Kil.; p. 31). On the S. bank of the lake, opposite Laurdal, lies Bandakslid, where some of the steamers call.

From Bandakslid (slow station) the hill is crossed by a zigzag road to (5 Kil.) Møltugaarden (fast station). We then pass the W. end of the Vraavand (8¼ ft., steamer), and ascend the course of its W. affluent, which forms the picturesque Lille Rykanfos* near the road, and emerges from the Skredvand (1079 ft.) a little higher up. We follow the E. bank of this lake to (8 Kil.) Rindebakken (slow station), then past Veum to (15 Kil.) Moland, on the Fyrsvand (25 Kil. long). Between Veum and Moland the Bispevei diverges W. to Viken in the Sætersdal (p. 5).

The lake contracts; the mountains become grander, especially on the N. About 1 hr. from Triset is the steamer's terminus — Dalen (105 Kil. from Skien). — *HOTEL DALEN, ¼ hr. from the quay, with garden, electric light, baths, and view of the lake, R. 2-6, B. 1½, D. (2 p.m.) 2¼, S. (8 p.m.) 1½ kr. (noisy on the arrival of the late steamer) — HOT. BANDAK, good, R. 1½-2, B. 1, D. 1½, S. 1 kr., omn. free, LAS TEL'S Hot., by the pier, good, R. 1½, B. 1 kr.; HOT. FOLKVANG. — English Church Service in July and August.

Dalen, at the W. end of the Bandaksvand, into which the Tokke-Elv falls here, is the starting-point of the road over the Haukeliffjeld. There is no lack of horses and vehicles (comp. p. 33), but landaus should be engaged beforehand.

EXCURSION TO THE RAVNEJUV, attractive (there and back on foot 6-7 hrs.; stolkjærre to Eidsborg 5 kr.). The narrow road, beginning ¼ M. from the quay (or reached thence by a short-cut), ascends the N. hill-side in windings. After 1 hr. it turns inland, becomes more level, and reaches the gaard of (20 min.) Reffelbræk (post-office). About 200 paces further the road forks. We follow the branch to the left to the lake and the (10 min.) old timber church of Eidsborg (2282 ft.), mentioned as far back as 1351. The portal is adorned with defaced carving; the interior is modernized. We leave the church on the left, skirt the lake high above it, and by a bad bridle-path ascend the steep Eidsborgaas. For a time nearly level, it then again ascends rapidly. The highest point (1 hr. from Eidsborg) affords a fine view of the dark-green mountains to the N. We now descend, amid rocks and wood, to ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) a small saw-mill. A path diverges here to the left to the Molands-Sæter; we go straight on and cross the brook. A finger-post, about 10 min. farther, indicates the way to the Ravnejuv*, or Ravnedyup, a rock 1083 ft. sheer above the Toke-Elv, where we have a superb view of the Libyefjeld and the district of Næsland. When paper is thrown into the abyss a constant current of air ascending thence carries it back over our heads. To the left, in the valley, we see the great bend of the road described below. A pavilion recalls the visit of King Oscar II. in 1879. Close by is the tourist-hut Ravnejuv-Sæter (five beds). — Riders and walkers may continue their journey N. from the Ravnejuv. The path at first leads through forest, and afterwards descends rapidly and crosses the Toke-Elv. In $1\frac{1}{4}$ hr. we come to Næsland, where gaard Sandok affords good quarters and vehicles (To Mule, in $1\frac{1}{2}$ hrs., 4 kr.; p. 31.)

Pass from Dalen to the Setersdal, see p. 5.

THE ROAD to THE HARDANGER crosses the broad Toke-Elv by an iron bridge, 1 Kil. from Dalen, and soon enters the forest. Farther on, at the mouth of the Botnedal, the old road to Mo (see below) diverges to the left. The new road crosses the stream and ascends in a long bend high above the brawling Toke-Elv. Where it crosses the Rokke-Elv walkers may cut off the bend of the road by a steep short-cut on the left bank. The road ascends for at least 2 Kil. more on the W. bank of the Toke-Elv, affording a grand view of the valley and the steep heights to the E. (Ravnejuv, see above). At another sharp bend a road to Næsland (see above) diverges to the right. The road, partly hewn in the rock, leads through beautiful pine-woods, high on the N. slope of the Rokke-Elv valley. At an opening in the wood we see the church of Mo to the left, on a small lake. On the hill-side are several gaards.

15 Kil. Moen. Farther on we cross the river, joining the old road on the right bank. Beyond the parsonage of Mo we reach the lower end of the Børtevand. The road passes Børteosen, on the W. bank of the lake, above which towers the abrupt Rauteffjeld (4693 ft.). The E. bank is uncultivated, and rises in jagged rocks, sprinkled with trees. We cross the Børte-Elv.

10 Kil. (from Moen) Hot, Børte (D. 2 kr., very fair). The bridle-path to Bredvik in the Setersdal diverges here (p. 5). The road turns inland and crosses the hill of Børtegrenden, beyond which we have a fine view of the upper end of the Børtevand. We gradually ascend the Børteheia, through beautiful pine-woods. A little beyond the top the view is more open. The road descends in windings and, at (9 Kil.) a 'Landhandler' joins the Hitterdal road (Heggstøl, p. 32).

The old road, which we now follow to the left, is rather rough. It crosses the Rus-Elv and, with numerous dips, ascends the valley of the Smørklep-Elv, on the E. slope of the Smørklepfjeld, passing several gaards. The Flaatebunnet (p. 30) rises to the N., and remains in view all the way through the somewhat monotonous valley. At the small Hot. Grungedalsbro, about 15 Kil. from Børte, the road crosses the river, and is here joined on the right by a path from Brunelid on the Totakvand (p. 30). It then turns sharp to the W. and near — 34 Kil. Rui (Rui Hot., R. $1\frac{1}{4}$ -2, B. $1\frac{1}{4}$, D. 2, S. $1\frac{1}{4}$ kr., fair) reaches the pretty Grungedalsvand (1590 ft.).

The road skirts the green lake, enclosed by wooded hills, in view of the Gurifjeld, and past the yellow-brown Grungedal Church. The scenery is picturesque, but the road is very bad. By the gaards of Edland we come to the — 12 kil. Hot. Haukeli (R. 2, B. or S. $1\frac{1}{2}$ kr., good), where the road crosses the foaming Geislaus-Elv. Fully 1 Kil. farther is the, Grand Hot. Haukelid (same charges). We next follow the left bank of the Flaathyl-Elv. To the left (S.), by kil.-stone 170 (from Skien), we see the fine Vafos, descending from the Nedre Langeidvand to the S. The route, now monotonous, passes a few farms, of which the two of Flaathyl are the chief. The Flaathyl-Elv forms several Høl, or pools, and breaks through a rocky barrier in a series of falls. The largest of the waterfalls (to the left, close to the road) is the Lille Rjukanfos ('little smoking fall'), best seen from a projecting rock near its foot. The largest Høl is the Ekelidhøl (2293 ft.).

16 Kil. Botten or Botn (2587 ft.; good station, with an interesting 'Stabbur') lies above the pretty Vorlivand (2512 ft.), which the road skirts. About 1 Kil. farther on, to the left, is the Vortid or Vaagsh Hotel (very fair; R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ -2, B. 1, S. $1\frac{1}{2}$ kr.), finely situated on the lake.

We pass several farms and the last sparse crops of barley and potatoes; then the small Htel Nystøl and the Arrebuvand and Evenbuvand. This region is almost uninhabited, and studded with many dead pines. Beyond kil.-stone 190 we reach the Krakledyr Skar, where a view is revealed of the mountains to the W.: to the left the Vasdalsegg (5415 ft.), then the Kistenut, the Kallevasheia, and the Svei. Below us, to the left, lies the Kjalavand (1948 ft.); to the S. rises the Kjælatind. Trees disappear.

18 Kil. Haukeli-Sæter (Knud Haukelisæter's Inn*, several houses, dining-room in the Norwegian style, rooms also in the pretty 'Stabbur', R. 1-2 $\frac{1}{2}$, B. $1\frac{1}{2}$, D. 2 $\frac{1}{4}$, S. $1\frac{1}{2}$ kr.), at the E. end of the Staavand (3088 ft.), lies in a mountain solitude, with an unimpeded view of the fjeld. The hills and even parts of the plateau are covered with snow as late as August. The Kistenut (3936 ft.) to the S. of the Staavand (there and back, with guide, 3-4 hrs.), and the Lille Nup (3772 ft.; 6 hrs. there and back), to the N. of the Haukeli-Sæter, afford extensive views.

The good road leads N.W., skirting the Staavand. After 10 min. we get a glimpse of the Storefend to the right. About 4 Kil. from Haukeli-Sæter, by the 70th kil.-stone from Odde, we cross the Ulevad-Elv, which descends from the N. and forms the boundary between the districts of Bratsberg and Søndre Bergenhus; to the right it forms several low but broad cascades. After $1\frac{1}{2}$ Kil. more we reach the Ulevavand (3098 ft.; 3 Kil. long), to the left, the N. bank of which our road skirts. We are now in the heart of a fjeld solitude. Stakes mark the road in winter. To the right we have a fine view of the abrupt Store Nup and the Storefond, and to the left the Svei; in front rises the Stafsnut, to the right of which are the Rekkingsnut and the Midtdyr-Ruste.

About 9 Kil. from Hankeli-Sæter we cross the Midtdyr-Elv, turn S., and at the foot of the Dyrnut, the E. part of the Stafsnut, ascend the Dyreskard*, passing through masses of snow and a rock-tunnel, and reach the pass in $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. more (3715 ft.; watershed). This point vies in grandeur with the Alpine passes.

The road now leads through a wilderness of snow and stones, descending slightly at places. To the right is Stafsnuten, to the left Sveien and the narrow green Øisteinvand. To the left, below the road, 15 Kil. from Hankeli-Sæter, lies the Midtlæger-Sæter; on the road is the Nye Midtlæger-Sæter. About 10 min. later the three houses of Svandalsflaene and several small lakes appear below us, to the left. On the road is a small tavern (D. 2 kr., tolerable), where the horses are usually rested. In 10 min. more begins the hill of Staven, and in 5 min. more we descend. To the right, below, is the Tarjebudal, with the sæters of Tarjebudal and Nya Støl, to the W., in front of us, rises the Horrehei. In 10 min. we cross by the Risbu-Bro to the right bank of the Risbu-Aa, and then descend rapidly in long zigzags. Near (10 min.) the Østmanlid-Sæter we have a glimpse of the Røldalsvand. The scenery improves. After 20 min. we cross the brawling Vasdals-Elv and follow its right bank, high above the river. Facing us is the broad Navle-Fos, near which the road passes 10 min. later. The river with its numerous falls is constantly in sight. The Røldalsvand again (5 min.) comes into sight, backed by the Holmenut and Røldalsæten (4103 ft.). A drive of 12 min. more brings us to — 30 Kil. (pay for 35 Kil. in the reverse direction) Røldal (Hotel Røldal & Skyds Stat., good, R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ -3. B. $1\frac{1}{2}$. D. $2\frac{1}{4}$. S. $1\frac{1}{2}$ kr.; Gryting's Hotel, D. 1 kr. 70 ø.; Fredheim's Hotel, plain; Engl. Ch. Serv. in summer), near the N. end of the Røldalsvand (1223 ft.). On the lake, off the road, is the church, partly built with the remains of an old 'Stavekirke'. — Farther on we cross the Tufte-Elv and skirt the lake. Where the roads to the Bratlandsdal (p. 114) and the Hardanger fork, we follow the latter and ascend to (5 Kil.) the Breifond Hotel (p. 114).

7. From Christiania through the Hallingdal to Bergen by Railway.

517 Kil. The BERGEN RAILWAY, begun in 1896, was opened in June 1908, but the portion between Roa (p. 44). Hønefoss (p. 26), and Gulsvik at the head of Lake Krøderen will not be finished before autumn 1909. Through-carriages will then run from the chief terminus (Hoved Banegaard) at Christiania (p. 2) to Bergen in about 13-14 hours. — Meanwhile we take a train on the W. Railway to Krøderen (4³/₄ 5¹/₂ hrs.) and steamer thence to Gulsvik (21/- 3¹/₂ hrs.; Com. 455). From Gulsvik to Bergen 351 Kil.; express in 10³/₄ (the whole through-journey taking 18³/₄ hrs.); passengers by slow train must spend a night on the way. Through-fares Christiania-Bergen, express 29.85, 20.50 kr.; ordinary 21.90, 16.50 kr.; Christiania-Voss, express 21.85, 15.40, ordinary 10.40, 18.70 kr. — Dinner on board the steamer. Or lunch (ordered through the rail. guard) may be taken at the Krøderen station (halt of 30 min.). Restaurants on the route between Gulsvik and Bergen are at Ne-byen, Aal, Finse, Myrdal, Voss, Dale, and Væddal (all unpretending).

From Christiania to Vikesund, 96 Kil., see pp. 20, 21, 25. Carriages changed here, except by the evening express. 10¹/₄ Kil. Sysle, the train, with the road, ascends near the left bank of the Snarum-Elv. 108 Kil. Snarum (577 ft.), with magnetite mines.

122 Kil. Krøderen (Rail Rest.; Hot. Krøderen & Skyds Stat., opp. the station; Kalager's Hot., very fair, Hot. Hansen), at the S. end of the lake of that name, where we take the steamboat.

The lower part of Lake Krøderen (433 ft.; 16 sq. M. in area, 100 ft. deep) is flanked with smiling hills. A new skyds-road skirts the N. E. bank. Beyond the church of Krødsherred or Olberg, which lies on that road, the lake contracts for a short way to the Noresund. On the W. bank are the steamboat-stations Lesteborg, Sandum (on the old road), and Ringnes. To the left towers the broad Norefjeld.

On the slope of the NOREFJELD are several summer resorts, to which roads lead from Lesteborg and Sandum: Hot Norefjeld (2427 ft.). 3 hrs. from Lesteborg; Sandum-Sæter (2100 ft.), and near it Hot Fjeldhøi, 2 hrs. from Sandum, through pine-woods. From Sandum-Sæter we may walk N. W. across a lofty plateau (leaving the Ramsås on the right), with a view of the Telemarken Mts. and the Eggedal, and then ascend in 2-2¹/₂ hrs. to the Augunshaug (3938 ft. extensive view). We may ascend thence in 2 hrs. more to the Høgevarde (4949 ft.; new tourist-hut, 40 beds), the highest point of the Norefjeld, affording a fine panorama extending as far as the Christiania Fjord. From the Augunshaug we may descend E. to Tungen and Ringnes (see above). From the Høgevarde we may descend N.E. through the valley of the Gulsvik-Elv to (7 hrs.) Gulsvik (see below).

On the E. bank rises the Blodfjeld (2961 ft.). Between the steamboat-stations of Enkerud and Leknes the new railway (see above), coming from Hønefoss, will reach Lake Krøderen. After a passage of 2¹/₂ hrs. we land at — Gulsvik (508 ft.), at the entrance to the Hallingdal, the temporary terminus of the Bergen Railway. The station (Rest.) is near the pier. Gulsvik's Hotel (R. 1, B. or S. 1.20 kr., plain) is ³/₄ M. further, by a bridge across the river.

The BERGEN RAILWAY ascends the left bank of the Halling-Elv. (kilometres reckoned from Gulsvik.) Scenery uninteresting. —

11 Kil. Flaa (508 ft.); on the opposite bank are the church of Flaa and the old skyds-station of Vik. 19 Kil. Austvoll. The river expands into several lake-like basins, the largest of which is the Brommavand (590 ft.), with the small station of (33 Kil.) Bromma.

45 Kil. Nesbyen. On the right bank lies the large village of — Næs, or Nes (Øie's Hot., Svenkerud's), with an old church and the district jail.

FROM NÆS TO NÆS-GRANUM ON LAKE SPIRILLEN, 10-11 hrs. (guide unnecessary). A well-trodden sater-path ascends E. to Lake Strøen (fishing, quarters at a sater) in 3-4 hrs., and by Dyppedal in 3-4 hrs. more to Lidjarnstad in the Øvre Hedal (see p. 47).

Scenery pleasing; pine-woods and numerous farms. We cross the river by the stone Svenkerud Bro.

62 Kil. Gol (679 ft.). On the left bank is Rolfshus (Berg's Hot., good), the starting-point of a road through the Hemsedal to the Lærdal (p. 41) and of a hill-route to Aurdal in Valders (p. 43).

The valley turns W.; opposite is the mouth of the Hemsil (p. 41). The Halling-Elv has many rapids and small falls. 77 Kil. Torpe (1073 ft.). On the opposite bank, to which a bridge crosses, is Skjerping (good inn), with the church of Torpe and remains of a timber-church of the 13th-14th cent. (p. 18), the porch and doors of which are finely carved. — 87 Kil. Aal (Rail. Rest., plain; Sundre Hot.), with a large church, an old Thingstue (with carved door of 1764), and the Gretastue of the 18th cent. The inhabitants of the upper Hallingdal still cling to their ancient manners and customs.

The river expands into the Strandefjord. The train runs high above the lake on the steep slope of the Sangerfjeld (3865 ft.). — 101 Kil. Hol (1980 ft.), opposite the mouth of a side-valley through which a route leads to Aurland on the Sognefjord (p. 152), and the Oddefjeld (4012 ft.).

The valley we ascend is now called the Ustadal. The train crosses the river and mounts rapidly. 112 Kil. Gjeilo (2604 ft.; Inn), near Ustadals-Kirke, whence we may ascend the E. summit of the great Hallingskarv (6438 ft.; guide 3 kr.). Pass to the Numedal, see p. 32.

The train now ascends to the Ustavand (3204 ft.), whence in the far W. we have a glimpse of the white glacier of the Hardanger Jökul (p. 41). We skirt the N. bank of the lake. Trees disappear. 135 Kil. Haugastøl (3240 ft.; new hotel), on the Støle or Stødle-Fjord, the N. continuation of the Ustavand. To the N. towers the long Hallingskarv, the W. summit of which (6435 ft.) is ascended hence; to the W. in the distance is the Hardanger Jökul.

FROM HAUGASTØL TO THE FOSLI HOTEL (p. 128), over the Hardanger Vidda (p. 38): 12-14 hrs. (guide 12-14 kr.). We row across the lake in ½ hr. to Østerdalen, walk in 1 hr. to the Østeravand, cross it by boat, and walk in ½ hr. more to the Krækjahytte (4083 ft.), owned by the Tourists' Union, whose guide Ole Larsen Aker lives here (fishing). A night had better be spent here. We next skirt the Krækjavand, cross the Krækjastubben by a bridge, and descend the Halmbo'tner to the Olafuvand. We then cross the Kjelda to the Fiskefjern-Sæter and the Smytte-Sæter, the first in the Hardanger region. Crossing the Leira, which descends from the N., we now come to the Indste-Sæter, whence the beaten track to Mauvset (2144 ft.) and the Fosli Hotel cannot be mistaken. The grand Hardanger Jökul (see below) is conspicuous all the way.

Adjoining the Stølefjord is the Nygaards-Fjord (3247 ft.). On the left is the Nygaard, formerly the highest dwelling in this region. The train ascends the rapid Ustekveika to the Tungevand (3653 ft.), which forms the boundary between Buskeruds-Amt and Søndre Bergenhus-Amt, between the Hallingdal and the Hardanger.

161 Kil. Finse (4010 ft.; Rail. Rest., plain; new hotel) lies on the Finsevand, immediately opposite the great snow-fields of the Hardanger Jökul (6536 ft.; pass to the Dämmevand and Smodal, or to the Fosli Hotel, 10-12 hrs., fatiguing, see pp. 129, 128; guide Endre Lisæth at Finse, certificated by the Tourists' Union, should be engaged in advance). The line reaches its culminating point at the Taugevand (4270 ft.), the watershed between the Skagerrak and the North Sea, and is protected by walls of timber against snow-drifts. The way is kept clear by the snow-plough until June. To the left in the distance is seen the Vasfjæren near Ulvik (p. 130).

The train winds down, past the Laaghellervand, through tunnels and cuttings, affording a last glimpse of the Hardanger Jökul. — 182 Kil. Hallingskeitt (3641 ft.), high above the valley, in which we see the sæter of that name. To the left rises the snow-clad Vosse-skavl (6738 ft.); in the valley below are the Grøndalsvand and the Klevevand (3143 ft.), whose outflow the train crosses by a high bridge. Numerous tunnels, between which are revealed striking views of the wild mountain scenery. The grandest of these is between the last tunnels before Myrdal, where we look into Frøtheimsdal on the right, and then into the deep Flaamsdal, below the Vatnahalsen Hotel (p. 140), and as far as the mountains on the Aurlands-Fjord. Close to the line are the lakes Seltuftvand and Reynungvand.

195 Kil. Myrdal (Rail. Rest.). Thence to Voss, see pp. 140, 139.

245 Kil. Voss, starting-point of the roads to the Hardanger and the Sogne-Fjord (p. 139). From Voss to —

351 Kil. Bergen, see pp. 139-137.

From Gol-Rolfshus to Lærdalsøren on the Sognefjord.

122 Kil. SKYDS (pay for 132, in the reverse direction for 146 Kil.) in two days.

Gol-Rolfshus, see p. 40. By the Heslacro, about 2 Kil. from Rolfshus, the road crosses the Hemså, which falls into the Halling-Elv from the N.W. and forms a fine cascade. We now quit the main valley, through which the Hallingdal road and the railway (see above) run on opposite sides of the river.

Before the road reaches the Heslacro a cart-road diverges to the right, which ascends in steep windings for $\frac{3}{4}$ hr., and then crosses the Fjeld, past several sæters, to (5-6 hrs.) the Oslet-Sæter at the E. end of the Tisletvand (2855 ft.; good quarters). Thence row in $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. to the N. bank, whence a road leads in 3-4 hrs. to Stende-Ulmæs in Valdres (p. 48).

The Lærdal road ascends the Hemsedal, on the right bank of the Hemsil, mounting the Golsbakk in long windings, and passing the new church of Gol (comp. p. 18). Beyond (10 Kil.) Løftegaard (1440 ft.) we recross the Hemsil and follow its left bank. The old road, diverging to the right, ascends on the E. side of the valley, passing several farms, while the W. side and the floor of the valley are uncultivated.

15 Kil. Granheim (Granheim Hotel, very fair). We then pass Kleven. On the other side of the valley rise the Veslehorn and the Storhorn, from which descend waterfalls. On the right the old road rejoins ours. We pass Kirkebo, a poor village, with the Hemseidals-Kirke, the last before that of Borgund (83 Kil.).

21 Kil. Fauske (good inn), at the confluence of the Grøndela and the Hemsil, where forms the Rjukande Fos ('smoking fall'), reached by a path. Cultivation ceases; a few scattered settlers only are passed. The road ascends rapidly in the bleak Mærkedal, a grand mountain-solitude.

20 Kil. (pay in opp. direction for 30) Bjøberg (3323 ft.; Inn, plain but good, frequented by reindeer-stalkers), the last station in the Hallingdal, lies in a dreary region at the foot of the Hemseidalsfjeld. Farther on (7 Kil.) a column marks the boundary between the 'Stiff' of Christiania and that of Bergen. The road skirts the precipitous Kjølsberg on the left and the Eldrevand on the right. To the N.E. rises the Jekulegge (6280 ft.). The road reaches its highest point (3789 ft.), and then descends rapidly to —

15 Kil. (pay for 22 in either direction) Breistølen (Inn, good). Then a descent, passing several waterfalls, to the bridge of Lørning on the Valdres route (p. 51). A little below the bridge is —

12 Kil. (pay 15, in opp. direction 19) Hegg i Borgund (p. 51).

From Hol to Aurland on the Sognefjord.

2½ Days. An interesting mountain route, but suitable only for good walkers. 1st Day. Skyds to Skaro, 2½-3 hrs.; 2nd Day. Skyds to Strandefjord, 1½ hr.; boat-skyds to Steincaardsboten, 2½ hrs.; walk to the Steinbergdals Hut, 5½ hrs.; 3rd Day. Walk by Østerbo (quarters, if need be) to the Vasbygdevard, 9 hrs.; cross by boat-skyds in ¾ hr.; walk to Aurland, 1¼ hr. — Field quarters are poor; nothing is to be had except 'adbrød', cheese, coffee, and home-brewed beer ('hjembygget Øl') and even milk is scarce. The tourist-huts keep canned meats. The traveller should therefore carry some provisions with him.

Hcl. see p. 40. From the station we descend to the road, cross the Ustaelt, ascend its right bank to the Hølsfjord (1935 ft.), and skirt its N. bank.

8 Kil. Neraal, or Nedreaal (good quarters at the Landhandler Tollef Sundre's, R., S., & B. 2½ kr.), at the W. end of the Hølsfjord, with the old timber-built Church of Hol, attended on Sundays by the peasantry in costume. To the W. towers the Hallingskarv (p. 41). — We now ascend to a higher part of the valley, passing

HARDANGER VIDDA

(left) the pretty Djupedalsfos. We skirt the Høvelsfjord (2125 ft.), at the W. end of which, 5 Kil. from Neraal, lies Gauril Viikard, the seat of the turbulent family of that name about the year 1700. We skirt the Urunda-Elv, cross it by a substantial wooden bridge, and ascend the wild ravine of a side-stream. We cross this stream, and then skirt the Sundalsv and pass the Gudbrands-Gaard (2553 ft.), at its W. end.

20 Kil. (pay for 25) Skaro or Skero, with the modest inn of Asle Engebretsen (R. 60, B. or S. 70 ø., D. 1 kr.), who provides boat-skyds for the Strandefjord and acts as a guide across the fjord (to the Steinbergdals Hut 6-7 hr.). — The rough road ascends for 8 Kil. more (1½ hr., walking or driving), past the Skarafos, and ends at the Gire Strandefjord (3182 ft.; 14 kil. long). In fine weather we take boat-skyds (see p. 42; 1 pers. 2, several 1 kr. each) in 2½ hrs. to the head of the lake; in bad weather we walk on the N. bank (3 hrs.) to Svingaardsbotten, where modest quarters are to be had until about mid-August.

A path, which diverges to the left from the route described below, beyond the Ulevasbotten and three smaller lakes, ascends the valley of the Veslela and descends the Moldaadal to (6-7 hrs.) Hallingslei (p. 41).

The actual mountain-pass begins here (guide to the Steinbergdals Hut advisable, 4 hr.), at first a sater-track, ascending past the Ulevasbotten or Ulevasbotten and three smaller lakes. After 1 hr. we reach the first and most conspicuous of the 'Varder', or stone landmarks on the route. For ½ hr. we skirt the foot of the abrupt rocky Ulevasnut (5932 ft.), and then turn sharp to the right to the 'skard', or gap, between the Ulevasnut and the Sundhellerfjeld. Beyond the watershed we pass several small lakes and cross brooks and patches of snow. Where the valley turns W. we ascend to the right to the Bolhøvdskard (3½ hrs. from Svingaardsbotten); then descend gradually into the broad upper Steinbergdal, cross a large stream, where the path is again distinct, and reach the well-equipped Steinbergdals Hut of the Tourist Union (2955 ft.; bed for members 50 ø., for others 1¼ kr.), 1½ hr. from Bolhøvd. Guide to the Vasbygvand about 8 kr.

The Steinbergdal*, which we now descend, on the right bank of the stream, is a grand valley falling away in steps, with sombre basins, small lakes, a few green pastures, and deep rocky ravines, in which there are several fine falls of the Steinbergdøla. In 1-1¼ hr. we reach the Gie-Sater. About ½ hr. farther, at the W. end of a small lake, the path turns into a side-valley and ascends abruptly for ¼ hr. Below the small Noset-Sater it is carried by a narrow foot-bridge over a large brook, which falls in a fine cascade into the main stream. At the Grenestel-Sater we rejoin the main valley, which we now follow, at first high above the stream, and then descending in windings, to (1 hr.) Østerbo (decent quarters, R., S., & B. 2¼ kr.), the first gaard in the Sogn district, 3½ hrs. from the tourist-hut. — After a short ascent our route descends the steep and once formidable Næsbøgalder, partly by a long ladder, and partly by a wooden gallery attached to the rock, above a small lake, to the ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr.) gaard of Næsbø. The path now cuts off a bend of the valley and crosses a hill on which lies the Holmen-Sæter. In 20 min. more we descend the steep and trying Bjørnestig, and then wind down into the ravine. We next ascend to the gaard of Sønjarheim or Sønnerheim (rfmts.), $3\frac{3}{4}$ hrs. from Østerbø, superbly situated. Then down the Sønjarheimsgalder, provided with an iron railing. After $1\frac{1}{4}$ hr. the valley expands. In $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. more, beyond the gaards of Øie and Stene (bed, if need be), where we engage a boatman, we reach the sombre Vasbygdvand* (173 ft.; area 7 sq. M.; depth 220 ft.), enclosed by abrupt rocky slopes, and row to (40 min.; $1\frac{1}{2}$ kr.) its W. end. Good road thence to (6 Kil.) Aurland (p. 153).

8. From Christiania through the Valders to Lærdalsøren on the Sognefjord.

Prior to the opening of the Bergen Railway (R. 7) the chief route between Christiania and the W. coast led through the Valders. Some travellers may still prefer it for the sake of the scenery, especially as the tamer part of the journey (to Fagernæs, p. 46) is now quickly performed by railway. The Lake Spirillen route (p. 46) is a day longer. From Fagernæs to Lærdalsøren is a drive of three days. Another route, the so-called 'New Valders Route' through Jotunheim (comp. pp. 54, 56), is now rising in favour.

a. Railway from Christiania to Fagernæs.

210 Kil. State railway (Nordbane, connecting Christiania with the W. bank of Lake Mjøsen) to Eina, and private line (Valderbane) thence, in $8\frac{1}{2}$ hrs (fare 10 45 or 7 kr.). To Gjøvik on Lake Mjøsen, 124 Kil., in $4\frac{1}{2}$ hrs. (6.20 or 3 85 kr.)

The train starts from the chief station, see p. 8. Beyond the suburb of Vaalerengen the Nordbane diverges from the Ostbane and ascends in a curve. To the left is the suburb of Kampen with a reservoir of the water-works. 4 Kil. Tøien; 7 Kil. Grefsen (355 ft.), junction of a branch-railway to Alnabru (p. 80). To the right, at the foot of the Grefsenaaen (1195 ft.), lies the Grefsen Sanatorium.

10 Kil. Kjelsaas (509 ft.) lies near the efflux of the Akers-Elv from the Maridalsvand, on the E. bank of which the train runs, passing through several tunnels. It then ascends rapidly through wood to Nittedal (770 ft.) and again descends. 32 Kil. Hakedal (545 ft.), with a church and disused iron-works. We ascend the valley of the Hakedals-Elv, skirt the E. bank of the Harestuvand, and mount rapidly through a tunnel to (53 Kil.) Roa (1214 ft.; near which diverges the unfinished part of the Bergen Railway, the Hønefoss-Gulsvik section; comp. p. 39); then descend to (61 kil.) Lunner (918 ft.) and (68 Kil.) Gran (672 ft.).

72 Kil. Jaren (680 ft.), whence a branch-line runs by Brandbu to Reikenvik on the Randsfjord (7 Kil ; see p. 26).

The main line again ascends (gradient at places 1:50), skirting the wooded Brandbukamp (1656 ft.), to (81 Kil.) Bleiken (1165 ft.), where we have a *View, to the left, of the middle part of the Randsfjord (p. 26). Farther on, through wood and past some small lakes, it reaches its highest point (1618 ft.). At (97 Kil.) Haagaar (1404 ft.) we come to the pretty Einavand, and skirt its W. bank.

101 Kil. Eina (1315 ft.; Eina Hot., Fjordheim Hot.), at the N. end of the lake, where the train crosses its outflow, the Hunds-Elv, is the junction of the Valders Railway (see below). The Nordbane descends the valley of the Hunds-Elv to (107 Kil.) Reinsvold (1167 ft.; branch-line to Skreia on Lake Mjøsen. 22 Kil.), Raufoss (1060 ft.; with an army cartridge-factory), Breiskall, Nygaard, and (124 Kil.) Gjøvik, on Lake Mjøsen, see p. 81.

The VALDERS RAILWAY descends W. from Eina, past (109 Kil.) Trevand and (116 Kil.) Skrukli, to the Randsfjord, the E. bank of which it skirts (fine view). The stations of Hov and Fluberg have steamboat-piers (p. 39).

140 Kil. Odnæs (550 ft.; Odnæs Hot., R. 2, S. 1½ kr., very fair; Vaarnæs Hot.) lies near the N. end of the Randsfjord. The train now ascends the valley of its affluent, the Etna-Elv.

148 Kil. Dokka (Rail. Rest.), in the province of Nordre Land, lies at the influx of the Dokka-Elv into the Etna-Elv. The train crosses the latter and follows the S. side of the valley. Scenery rather tame. On the N. side of the valley ('Solside', sunny side) are several substantial gaards. 155 Kil. Nordsinnen. Above the opposite bank is the church of that name, and on the road, beyond it, is the good Tomlevold Hotel, with its handsome old timber buildings. 166 Kil. Etna; pleasant view up the valley. The railway, as well as the road, crosses the Etna-Elv and ascends the wooded Tonsaas, which separates the valleys of the Etna and the Bæga. Pleasant woodland scenery, with several wild gorges.

179 Kil. Tonsaasen (1968 ft.), on the top of the plateau, is a favourite summer resort. Tonsaasen's Turist-Hot. & Sanatorium*, ¼ hr. from the station (pens. 5-8 kr.; post and telegraph), has beautiful wood walks and points of view, whence we survey the whole of Valders, bounded by the Jotunheim Mts. To the S.W., on the Fjeldheim road, is the (4 Kil.) Breidablik Sanatorium* (pens. 112-154 kr. per month; post and telephone), amid pine-woods, also with fine views. From Breidablik to Fjeldheim (p. 47) a descent of 5 Kil.

Beyond Tonsaas the train descends, past (191 Kil.) Bjergo, into the Bagnadal, crosses the Spirillen road (p. 46) at its junction with the Valders route, and reaches — 197 Kil. Aurdal. On the hill-side to the left, below the road, lies the large village of Frydenlund, with the finely situated Hot. Frydenlund (R. 1½-2, B. 1½, D. 2, S. 1½ kr.; English spoken).

About 6 Kil. W. on the S. bank of the Aurdalsfjord, into which the Aldjórna falls in a cataract, is Pension Høve (70 kr. per month). Thence a path leads past the Ostve, by Sunderlen and Sanders'ølen, a smelter-works (4½-5 hrs. from Høve) to (10-11 hrs.) Rolfstus in the Hallingdal (p. 45).

The train runs high above the Bagna, which has several falls, partly through wood. To the left we see the Aurdalsfjord, with its numerous islands, through which the Bagna flows, and the valley of the Auberg-Elv. 206 Kil. Leira. On the left, below us, is the beautiful Strandefjord (1170 ft.), through which the Bagna also flows and which extends to (20 M.) Fosheim (p. 48).

210 Kil. Fagernæs i Nordre Aurdal (1247 ft., Hot. Fagernæs & Skjels-Stat. with telephone, L. or D. 2, B. or S. 1½ kr.; H. Fagerlund, similar charges, both opposite the station, good), pleasantly situated among pine-woods on the N. bank of the lake, is the terminus of the Valders Railway. The names ('fair promontory' and 'fair grove') are appropriate. The road through Østre Slidre to Lake Rygdin (p. 164) diverges to the right by the Hotel Fagerlund. About 5 min. from the bifurcation a steep path ascends to the right to a pavilion with a fine view of the lake — Carriages for the further journey wait at the station, see p. 48; a motor-boat also plies to Fosheim (p. 48) once or twice daily in 1½ hr. (fare 1½ kr.).

b. From Christiania by Lake Spirillen to Aurdal-Fagernæs.

RAILWAY from Christiania to Heen, 131 Kil. express in 4½ hrs. (fare 7 05 or 4 50 kr.), ordinary train in 6¾-9 hrs. (fare 6 55 or 4 10 kr.) — STEAM-BOAT (Com. 455) from Heen to Serum, 56 Kil., once daily in 5-5½ hrs. (fare 3 kr.), when the river is low, the boat starts from Bergsund, to which passengers are conveyed by carriage. Through-tickets to Serum are to be had at Christiania (9 55 or 7 10 kr.). — ROAD from Serum to Fagernæs, 64 Kil., with fast stations. The Drivers' Union (Kjøreselskabet) lets carriages from Serum to Lærdal for 85, 100, or 115 kr. for 2, 3, or 4 pers., but recommends previous order by telephone. If the drive (on account of low water, see p. 47) be begun at Granum, 5, 6, or 7 kr. is added to the above fares, and 6, 8, or 10 kr. is charged for the détour to Lake Tyin (p. 57). Fares are often reduced in the slack season.

From Christiania to Heen, see R. 3. — The STEAMER (D. on board, 2 kr.) ascends the Bagna or Aadals-Elv, the effluent of Lake Spirillen. The navigable channel, with lake-like expansions, is indicated by stakes. To the left is the large gaard of Semmen, to the right the church of Ytre Aadalen, further on to the left Skollerud. The banks are hilly and pine-clad. The stream becomes rapid. To the left, 15 Kil. from Heen, lies the handsome gaard of Bergsund, where the steamer starts when the water is low.

The mountains become higher and more varied. Floating timber abounds. We reach, 2 hrs. from Heen, the rapid Kongstrøm, which forces its way through an old moraine, and soon enter —

Lake Spirillen* (495 ft.; probably from spira, 'to bubble'; area 9½ sq. M.; length 25 Kil. or 15½ M.; depth 35½ ft.). The banks are enlivened by many gaards, with green pastures and a few corn-fields, above which rise pine-clad hills. On our left, as we enter the lake, is the Høyfjeld (3240 ft.). The chief place on the W. bank is Væter or Aud'een, with a church, 8 Kil. W. of which rises the Tyggrnisen (3543 ft.). On the E. bank lies the fine gaard of Engerodden. Beyond the Ramborg (1630 ft.: left), we sight the head of the lake and the church of —

Næs, or Næsmoen, with its wild mountain-background. The Bæga enters the lake here, and is crossed by a long wooden bridge, under which the steamer passes. To the right, just beyond the bridge, about 4 hrs. from Heen, is the station of Granum (Granum's Hotel & Skyds-Stat.), where the steamer stops when the water is low. (Skyds to Sørum, 14 Kil.)

From Næs a road leads through the valley of the Urola to the Sørø Hedal, in which lies (22 Kil.) Tobøstad, with an old timber-built church, lately restored (comp. p. 28), in which some relics are preserved. Thence to Nesbyen on the Bergen R.R., see p. 40.

The navigable channel in the broad Bæga is marked by stakes. On both sides are wooded hills. On the left is the Bjørnbruabjerg, on the right the precipitous Valdershorn, which looks grandest from a point farther on. The steamer mounts the rapids of Valdresstrømmen, enters smooth water, and (1½ hr. from Granum, 5 hrs. from Heen) reaches — Sørum (Sørum's Hotel, very fair, R. 2, D. 2, B. or S. 1½ kr.), 56 Kil. from Heen, the steamboat terminus.

The Road up the valley from Sørum leads through pleasant scenery. To the right, beyond the river, lies the gaard of Hougsrud, one of the largest in Valders. Then, to the left, is the church of Nedre Hedal at Tolleifsrud, where a road to the Øvre Hedal diverges to the left (see above). Next comes Dokken i Søndre Aurdal. To the left rises the huge rocky Morkollen, the base of which the road skirts. Farther on we cross the Muggedals-Elv, which descends from the left.

13 Kil. Garthus (mediocre). To the left rises the Tronhusfjeld, to the right the Fonhusfjeld. Beyond the gaard of Storsveen we cross the Høleraa, which descends to the Bæga in pretty falls. A little farther on is the gaard of Olmhus. We then skirt the Svartvikfjeld. To the right opens the basin of Bang i Søndre Aurdal, on the left bank of the Bæga, with numerous farms, church, and parsonage. Close to Fjeldheim the Bæga forms the beautiful Storebrufos, which the road crosses.

The road to Aurdal ascends on the E. side of the Bæga ravine. To the W. rises the pointed Heldsknatten, at the base of which is the timber-built church of Reinlid (13th cent.), 1 hr. from the bridge over the Storebrufos. Our road is mostly hewn in the rock. Near the gaard of Juknm. to the right, are the remains of a glacier 'cauldron'. Fine views of the deep gorge of the Bægna to the left. After a drive of $1\frac{1}{4}$ hr. from Fjeldheim we reach the highest point. The road rounds a projecting rock and sights the snow-mountains of Jotunheim, especially the Kalvaahøgda and the Turfinstinder (p. 55). The hilly road, running partly through wood, unites about $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. short of Aurdal, with the Valders route, which skirts the railway (p. 45).

17 Kil. Aurdal, a station on the Valders line (p. 45). — We may drive on to —

13 Kil. Fagernæs, to avoid changing for this short stage.

c. Road from Fagernæs to Lærdalsøren.

149 Kil. A drive of 2-2½ days. Skyds for one pers. about 25, for two about 42 kr., and fee; carr. and pair for two pers. about 65, three pers. 76-80, four pers. 92-95 kr.; or with a digression from Skogstad to Lake Tyin (comp. p. 56), returning to Nystuen, 6, 8, or 10 kr. more; heavy luggage according to bargain. Advisable in the height of the season to order vehicles a day or two beforehand. — Those who arrive in the afternoon by rail may take Skyds the same evening to Fosheim, and sleep on the following nights either at Grundaheim, at Nystuen, or Murus-tuen. But as there is no lack of good inns the journey may be broken otherwise. It is always advisable to arrive at one's destination early in order to secure good rooms.

The scenery is picturesque almost all the way, and in parts will repay WALKERS, who may enjoy the novel experience of a night's march by daylight. In this case they should carry provisions, as the inns are hardly open before 7 a.m. — With the VALDERS route may be combined a short excursion to the S. Jotunheim Mts. Skyds from Fagernæs to Lake Bygdin (p. 55) motor-ferry across; ascend the Skinlegg motor-boat on Lake Tyin to Framnæs; drive to Nystuen (comp. p. 56). Those who have hired a carriage through to Lærdalsøren (see above) will limit their digression thus: drive from Skogstad to Framnæs on Lake Tyin (sleep); motor-boat to Tyinholmen, ascend Skinlegg, and return to Framnæs in time to go on to Nystuen.

The road crosses the Dal-Elv, which descends from Østre Slidre, with several fine cascades, and follows the bank of the Stranderfjord, passing the churches of Strand or Svennæs and (about 10 Kil. from Fagernæs) Ulnæs. From Ulnæs a long bridge crosses to the opposite bank, where the farm of Stende lies. (Thence to the Oset-Sæter on the Tisleivand, see p. 41.) To the W. rise the snow-mountains on the Vangsmjøsen (see p. 49) and several of the Jotunheim peaks. The upper part of the Stranderfjord is called the Grancimfjord. The road ascends to — 15 Kil. Fosheim (Fosheim Hot. & Skyds-Stat., with baths, good). The lake narrows to a river, the Bægna.

A road diverging to the left and crossing the Bægna leads in $1\frac{1}{2}$ hrs. to the Fosheimseter Sanatorium, well spoken of, a favourite haunt of anglers. In 2 hrs. more we may reach the Næsen-Sæter (pens. from 3 kr.), near the Svenskenvand (2354 ft.).

Beyond the church of Rœn, which lies above the road, on the right, but is not visible from it, the river expands into the Slidrefjord (1194 ft.), whose N.E. bank the road skirts. About 9 Kil.

from Fosheim we reach the splendidly situated stone church and the parsonage of Vestre Slidre (1387 ft.), which affords a charming view of the lake. A narrow road diverging here to the right crosses the Slidreåas to Rogne in Østre Slidre (p. 54). Farther on, to the left, is Eimang's Hotel, at Volden. Beyond the house of the 'Distriktslæge', or district physician (right), a gate and private road to the right lead to gaard Ølken (1395 ft.). On the left, just beyond kilometre-stone 90, is the Vinsnes Hotel (3-3½ kr. per day).

14 Kil. Løken (1280 ft.; Løken Hot., good, R. 1-3, B. or S. 1½, D. 2 kr.; Engl. spoken) overlooks the Slidrefjord, with its numerous islands, and the snowy mountains to the W.

The Hvidhøfd (white head; 3352 ft.), a peak of the Slidreåas, may be ascended from Løken in 2-2½ hrs. At the top is Høifjeld's Hotel. The view embraces the valleys of Vestre and Østre Slidre, the Rithorn, and the snow-mountains N. of Lake Bygdin. A little farther on is the Kvæle-høgda, where we see the whole range as far as the Vangsmjøsen, and the Hallingdal mountains to the S.

Beyond Løken is the church of Lomen. The road runs through wood, on the left bank of the Bæga, which about 6 Kil. beyond Løken forms the Lofos. We cross the Veslea and skirt the brawling Bæga. A road to the right leads to the church of Hurum. Our road crosses the Bæga and passes the Vangsnæs Hotel (right). We next cross the Ala-Elv, descending from the mountains to the left.

15 Kil. Øilo (1477 ft.; Øilo Hot. & Skyds Stat., good), at the foot of the Hugakollen, 150 paces to the left of the road. Those who halt here may visit the Sputrefos (by the gaards of Rogn and Dahl, there and back 3-3½ hrs.).

We soon reach the Vangsmjøsen (1529 ft.), a splendid Alpine lake, 19 Kil. long, and follow its S. bank. The road is partly hewn in the rock, especially beyond a projection of the abrupt Kvamsklev. In spring and autumn the road is endangered by falling stones; at the worst point it is protected by a roof. Farther on, a grand survey of the lake is disclosed. On the right rises the Vednisfjeld, on the left the Grindefjeld (see below), and opposite us the Skjoldfjeld. On the N. bank is the Drøsjafos. Next, to the right, we see the Church of Vang, which replaces the old timber church, removed to the Giant Mts. in Silesia in 1844. A stone by the churchyard-gate bears the Runic inscription: 'Kosa sunir risti stin thissi oftir Kunar bruthur sun' ('the sons of Gosa erected this stone to Gunar, their brother's son'). A few minutes beyond the church we reach the good Hot. Fugertid (Engl. spoken) and —

10 Kil. Grindaheim (Grindaheim Hot. & Skyds-Stat., R. 1½-2, B. or S. 1½ kr., Engl. spoken, good), prettily situated on the Vangsmjøsen. To the S. rises the imposing Grindefjeld (5602 ft.; ascent, there and back, about 6 hrs.).

Still skirting the lake, we have a view of the riven rocky slopes on the N. bank of the lake, on which tower the Skodshorn, where a phenomenon similar to that seen on the Lysefjord (p. 111) is said to occur, and the Skyrifjeld. About 12 Kil. from Grindaheim, near the W. end of the lake, into which the Bæga plunges in a lofty fall, lies the church of Øye. The road ascends in a bend to a higher part of the valley, crosses the stream, and reaches the small Strandefjord (1675 ft.). Ascent now steeper, and scenery wilder. Gaards are seen on the sunny (N.) side of the valley only. The rough old road follows the S. side. The new road crosses the Bæga.

17 Kil. Skogstad (1883 ft.; good Inn, Engl. spoken).

Ascending slowly, we pass the gaards of Opdal, at the entrance to the Horndal, which is closed by the Horntind (4775 ft.). After 3 Kil. we recross the Bæga, which forms several falls. A high but unimportant fall also descends from the Raubergskampen (4126 ft.), to the right.

Beyond kilometre-stone 140 the road crosses the Bæga again, and, by a small cottage, forks: right to Lake Tyin (p. 157), left to the Lærdal. To the right of the latter is the Stelmosi. To the left lies the small Utrovand, above the S. banks of which rises the Borrenesi (4242 ft.). To the right is the Stugunese.

11 Kil. (but pay for 17) Nystuen (3255 ft.; Knut Nystuen's Hotel*, R. 1½-4, B. or S. 1¼, D. 2 kr.; Engl. spoken), once a Fjeldstue, or hospice, built by government, lies on the barren Fillefjeld, at the S. base of the steep Stugunese (4826 ft.) and above the N. bank of the Utrovand. The ascent of the Stugunese (about 4 hrs., there and back) may be made by travellers who omit the excursion to the Skinegg (p. 57). To the W., just beyond the enclosure of the hotel, we diverge to the right from the road and ascend W. by a bad path. We then follow a fence, on the E. side of a brook descending from the saddle, and lastly are guided by the stone landmarks to the summit. The view of Jotunheim is one of the finest in this region. The greater part of it is given in the annexed sketch, after E. Moh'n's Panorama (pub. by Beyer of Bergen, 2½ kr.). Farther to the left, above the lower hills, several peaks of the Horunger are also visible, particularly the Austabot-Tind with its glacier. To the right, beyond the Skinegg, are the snow-mountains to the N. of Lakes Gjende and Bygdin, the latter finely grouped, from the Sletmark-pig to the Turfinstinder and the Kalvaahøgda.

The road soon reaches its highest point (3296 ft.), the watershed between E. and W. Norway. About 2 Kil. from Nystuen, on this side of the Kirkstøl-Sæter, the old road diverges to the left, skirting the imposing Suletind (5810 ft.), and rejoins the new road near Maristuen (2-2½ hrs; but marshy and hardly advisable). The new road crosses the river, and beyond kilometre-stone 150 passes a column which marks the boundary between the Stifts of Hamar and Berg-n. We then skirt the Fillefjeldvand or Upper Smeddalsvand and the Lower Smeddalsvand (3084 ft.), with the Sadel-Fjeld rising opposite, ascend rapidly to the Bruse-Sæter (3242 ft.), and descend thence, high above the foaming Læra.

17 Kil. (pay for 22 in opp. direction) Maristuen (2635 ft.; Knut Maristuen's Hot.*, R. 1½-6, B. or S. 1½, D. 2¼ kr.), formerly the second 'Fjeldstue' on the Fillefjeld, founded as an ecclesiastical hospice in 1300.

Below Maristuen the vegetation (birches, aspens) testifies to the milder climate of W. Norway. The road crosses the torrent issuing from the Oddedal. To Lærdalsøren 50 Kil. more. We descend rapidly and cross the Læra by the Haanung-Bro. At Berlaug, about 4 Kil. short of Hegg, the Hallingdal route, crossing the river, joins our route on the left (p. 42).

11 Kil. (pay for 17) Hegg (1483 ft.; Hegg Hot., R., B., S., 1½ kr. each, well spoken of).

Beyond gaard Kvamme the road again bends S.W. and is nearly level, traversing a valley which was once the bed of a lake, terminated by the Vindhelle (p. 52). Numerous gaards. About 9 Kil. from Hegg and 4 Kil. from Husum we reach Kirkveold's Hotel Borgund (very fair, D. 1 kr. 80 ø.) and the small, age-blackened —

Church of Borgund* (key at the inn; 1-2 pers. 10, each pers. more 20 ø.), the best-preserved 'Stavekirke' in Norway, perhaps dating from 1150, but first mentioned in 1360. It has been carefully restored by the Norwegian Society of Antiquaries, whose property it is, and accurately shows the original character of this kind of church. The ornamentation, especially on the lofty portals, belongs to a golden period of art. On the W. portal is scratched a partly obliterated Runic inscription: 'Thorer raist runar thissar than Olau misso' (Thorer wrote these lines on St. Olaf's fair), and 'Thittai kirkia a kirkiuvelli' (This church in the church-ground). The form of these runes affords a clue to the date of the building. The interior consists of a nave and aisles, with twelve columns, adjoined by a choir with a semicircular (perhaps not the original) apse. When the doors are closed the only light admitted is by small openings in the walls. Window-glass was unknown in Norway at that period, and the service probably consisted solely of the mass, chanted in the candle-lighted choir, while the congregation knelt in the dark nave. No 'Stave-kirker' were built after the Reformation. — The old Belfry ('Støpel'), standing between the old church and the large new one erected on a similar plan, was restored about 1660.

A little beyond the two churches the road enters the picturesque ravine of Svartegjel, worn by the Læra through the huge rock-barrier of the Vindhelle. The grandest point is the Svarteggjelfos, close to the entrance. Farther on, to the left, at the mouth of the Dylma, lies Nesdalen. The gorge then again contracts to the Grumsøigjel.

After seeing the waterfall in the Svartegjel, walkers may return to the Hotel Borgund and ascend behind it, between houses and barns, to the OLD ROAD, recognisable by the telegraph-poles. Ascending this to the left, we obtain a good view of the churches from above. Beyond the top of the hill the road descends in rapid zigzags, overlooking the Lærdal. From Hotel Borgund to Husum by this route is a walk of $\frac{1}{2}$ hr.

13 Kil. Husum (1070 ft.; Hotel, good, R., B., S. 1 each, D. 2 kr., Engl. spoken). The Læra forms the cascade of Holgruten.

The road crosses the torrent by the Nedre Kvamme-Bro and leads on its left bank through a grand rocky Ravine, with partly overhanging rocks. On the N. bank, where the old road ran, is the gaard of Galderne. The water-worn rocks show how much higher the river-bed must once have been. At one point the road has been hewn through a huge 'glacier cauldron'. Farther on, to the right, is the fine Store Soknefos.

The ravine expands. By Gaard Saltun, situated on a mass of débris (skred), the road crosses the river and then follows its right bank. It intersects the deposits of the Jutul-Elv (waterfall to the right) and enters a broader part of the valley, from which the Opdal, closed by the Aaken or Okken (5683 ft.), diverges S.E.

15 Kil. Blauflaten (Inn), to the left of the road. Behind is the small Bøfos. The valley is enclosed by lofty mountains, on which old coast-lines are noticeable (comp. p. xxxii; rising in steps and forming horizontal lines), particularly after the road has crossed the river by the Volds-Bro, passed the church of Tenjum, and reached the gaards of Æri. Here the valley turns sharp to the N. Looking back, we have another view of the Aaken, with its peculiar crest. Lastly the valley turns W. On the right, near Øie, is the Stenjumfos, descending between the Vetu-Aas and the Hogan-Aas.

11 Kil. Lærdalsøren, see p. 153.

9. Jotunheim.

Norway consists mainly of a vast tableland, but it has a few districts with the Alpine characteristics of well-defined mountain-ranges and valleys. Of these Jotunheim is the chief. It is bounded by the Sognefjord on the W., the Gudbrandsdal on the N.E., and Valdres on the S. It was explored for the first time by Keilhau in 1820, and named by him Jotunfjeldene, or the 'Giant Mountains', but is now generally known as Jotunheim, a name recalling the 'frost giants' in the Edda.

The peaks of Jotunheim (called Tinder, Pigge, Horne, and Nabber; rounded summits are Høer) average from 5800 ft. to 6500 ft. in height; the Galdhøpig (p. 68) and the Glittertind (p. 67) alone exceed 8000 ft. The Swiss Alps are much higher (Mont Blanc, 15,784 ft.), and so is the snow-line (8850 ft.), which in Jotunheim is about 5580 ft. The larger glaciers are called Bræer, the smaller Huller ('holes'). Basins enclosed by precipices of 1500 ft. or more are known as Botner. The valleys lie, with few exceptions, above the forest-zone, and are therefore much less picturesque than those of the Alps. A peculiarity is that they rarely end in a pass, but culminate in a nearly level Band, with a series of lakes, the passage from one side to the other is sometimes so imperceptible that the uppermost lake has outlets in both directions. Three large lakes, Bygdin, Tyin, and Gjende, and many small ones, all at a height of 3000 ft. or upwards, enclosed by bare or sparsely overgrown rocky hills, complete this bleak northern scenery.

TRAVELLING IN JOTUNHEIM is less easy than among the Alps owing to the lack of good paths. Even the frequented routes often lead through the debris of the 'Ure' (p. xxix), across marshes, or over glacier-torrents inadequately bridged. The direction is usually indicated by cairns or single stones ('Varder'). On the other hand the mountain ascents are generally easier than in the Alps. Note, however, that inns are scarce, and that it is often impossible to find shelter in the event of fatigue or rain. In stormy weather the motor-boats on the three great lakes cease to ply. Most of the 'hotels' are very unpretending. The rooms are generally clean and the beds tolerable; but the best rooms are often occupied by boarders, so that the tourist has to share a room with six or eight others or even to sleep on a bench in the dining-room. Arrive, therefore, as early as possible. Members of the Turiist-Forening, known by their club-button, have a preferential right to beds at the tourist-huts (except those built with state aid) until 10 p.m. The charges are very moderate: bed usually 1¼ kr. (members of the Forening 50 ø.). The day's expenditure, exclusive of guides, need not exceed 4-5 kr. Most of the travellers are Norwegians, often parties of ladies.

The SÆTERS (also called Støl or Sel), or chalets, which contain a least one living-room and a store-room, offer very rustic quarters. A frequented points rooms for visitors are sometimes provided in the out-buildings. The cows are usually sent up to the mountains (till Sæters) at midsummer (24th June), and remain there till the beginning of Sept. Women and girls are often their sole attendants.

The Guides are respectable, but generally speak Norwegian only, and are inferior in education and equipment to their Swiss congeners. As they are scarce the traveller must often wait until a group of tourists is formed. The usual fee is 4 kr. a day, but the charge for each excursion is given below. The guide is not bound to carry more than 2 'bismar-pounds' (24 lbs.) of luggage, and even this he carries unwillingly. For longer tours we hire a porter, who receives about two-thirds of a guide's fee. No charge is made for the return-journey. — ICE-AXES ('Isæxer') and ROPES ('Reb') are usually provided at the chief stations of the Tourist-Forening. The art of mountaineering is far less developed in Norway than in Switzerland, and is indeed less required. Strong waterproof boots are essential. — Those who travel without a guide should, on leaving a sæter, whence numerous paths always diverge, ask to be shown the way for about half-hour. After that they will be kept right by the 'varder' or landmarks. As a rule keep each in view till the next is sighted. In dull or cloudy weather it is safest to take a guide.

Except the greater ascents most of the excursions may be made on horseback. The hire of a horse does not include the attendant's fee, which if an adult ('voxen Mand'), is paid as a guide.

FINEST POINTS in Jotunheim are included in the following tour (9-10 days): 1st Day. Motor-boat on Lake Bygdin to Eidsbugaren (pp. 55, 56), or motor-boat on Lake Tyin to Tynholmen (p. 57); ascend Skinegg (p. 57). — 2nd and 3rd Days. To Gjendeboden (p. 60), and excursions near Lake Gjende (p. 60). — 4th and 5th Days. To Spiterstulen (p. 63), ascend Galdhøpiggen, descend to Røjshejm. — 6th and 7th Days. By Bævertun-Sæter (p. 70; reached a day sooner by omitting Røjshejm) to Turtegrø (p. 73). — 8th Day. Excursions from Turtegrø (pp. 78, 79). — 9th Day. By the Keiser and Skogadalsbøen (p. 72) to Vetti. — 10th Day. To Aardal on the Sognefjord (pp. 73, 74; half-day). — On from Turtegrø we may go direct by Fortun (p. 77) to Skjolden on the Sognefjord in 3 hrs. (p. 156).

A Standard rule of Norwegian travel is that horses, guides, boats, food, etc. should always be ordered in ample time, on the day before if possible.

a. From Fagnæs to the Hotel Jotunheim, and up Lake Bygdin to Eidsbugaren.

4½ Day. Road to Fagersrand, 56 Kil. Skyd: for 1 pers. 10.20, for 2 pers. 15.80 kr.; carr. and pair for 2, 3, 4 pers. 27, 30, 35 kr. — Motor Boat (Com 457a) on Lake Bygdin to Eidsbugaren in 3¼-1 hrs., once, or in the height of summer twice daily, fare 4 kr., or to Nybøden (half-way) 2 kr. — Then ascend the Skinegg (p. 57), and go on by Tynholmen to Framnæs, etc. (p. 57).

Fagnæs, see p. 45. — The road ascends the Østre-Slidre valley, at some distance from the left bank of the Dalelv. Nearly level at first, it then ascends rapidly through wood. To the left, below, lies the Sælbo-Fjord, with several gaards high above it, and snow-mountains in the distance. On the right is the loftily situated church of Skrutvold, then that of Rogne. Below, to the left, is the Voldbo-Fjord, at the N. end of which is the church of Voldbo, whence a good road leads to the left, over the *Slidreaa*s, to (26 Kil.) Fosheim or to (20 Kil.) Løken (see p. 49).

We cross the Vinde-Elv, and then skirt the Hæggefjord.

23 Kil. Hæggenæs Hotel (R. 2, B. or S. 1½, D. 2 kr., good). To the E. rises the Store Mellenfjeld, the W. slope of which is the Øiangenshei, a splendid point of view (ascent 3-3½ hrs.; guide 1 kr. 60 ø.).

The road now ascends steeply to Hægge and the chief church of Østre Slidre, a 'Stavekirke' (p. 28), mentioned as early as 1327, but largely rebuilt. To the left is gaard Northorp. Farther on, to the left, are the Dalsfjord and the Mørstafjord, connected by a river with each other and with the Hedalsfjord.

11 Kil. Skammestein (good quarters). The road runs above the Hedalsfjord. Beyond Okshovd, where a road to the Hedal-Sæters diverges to the right, the main road bends to the left towards Lake Øiangen. Fine view of the lake, with the Slettefjeld, Mugnatind, and Bitihorn (see below). We pass the Beito-Sæters, still ascending. Trees disappear. The marshy plateau is enclosed by mountains: W. the Mugnatind, N. the Bitihorn, on the abrupt E. slope of which the road crosses a pass.

At the Hot. Jotunheim (R. 1 kr., B. or S. 75 ø., very fair) we reach the E. bay of Lake Bygdin, divided into several arms, and its effluent the Vinstra, which we cross by an iron bridge.

22 Kil. (pay for 25) Fagerstrand (Turist-Hot. & Skyds-Stat.). The road ends here at the pier of the motor-boat. A footpath leads W. to the (¾ hr.) Bygdinsund, a strait between the bays and the main lake, and to the small Hot. Bygdishøj.

Ascent of the 'Bitihorn' (5250 ft.) and back, 4-5 hrs. About ¼ hr. S. of Hot. Jotunheim we diverge to the right from the road, in the direction of the disused tourist-hut of Raufjordshøj, and ascend the E. slope, keeping well to the left of several swamps at the beginning. The 'Horn' soon becomes visible, serving as a guide. For an hour we walk across 'Rab', or meagre underwood (juniper, dwarf birches, Arctic willows), and for another hour ascend the steep rock. Magnificent view of the imposing Alpine landscape to the W., and of the vast plateau to the E., relieved by several peaks and large lakes.

From Fagerstrand to Gjendeshejm, see p. 66.

Soon after starting, the motor-boat (p. 54) touches at Hot. Bygdishøj and enters Lake Bygdin (3485 ft.; area 17½ sq. M.; depth 705 ft.), the largest lake in Jotunheim, about 25 Kil. in length from E. to W. On the N. it is bounded by lofty mountains, on whose slopes cattle are pastured. The S. bank is lower and less picturesque. On the right we pass the mouth of the Breilaupa. About 4 Kil. farther is the 'Fæløger' Hestvolden, whence we may ascend the Kalvaahøgda (7159 ft.).

We next pass, on the right, the deep Turfsindal, with remains of old moraines and the tourists' hut of Nyboden at its entrance. To the W. towers the Turfsintind (7030 ft.; ascent and back, 7 hrs.), a splendid point of view similar to the Kalvaahøgda.

FROM NYBODEN TO LAKE GJENDE (p. 60), two routes. One, very grand, but fatiguing, leads N W through the Langedal, passing the Langedals-tjern (4888 ft.), and crossing the Langedalsbræ (6233 ft.) between the Sletmarkpig (p. 59) on the left and the Svardalspigge (see below) on the right, into the Vesle Aadal. Guide not always to be found at Nyboden. The other route, preferable and comparatively easy (4-5 hrs.; guide, not indispensable. 4 kr.), leads through the Turfinnsdal and Svarddal. It ascends steeply at first, about 1000 ft., on the W. slope of the valley, and then gradually. After $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr. it crosses the brook and affords, to the left, a view of the Turfinnskul, a basin formed by the Turfinnstinder, while before us rise the three Knutshulstinder, enclosing the Knutshul. The highest part of the route is reached at the S. end of a long lake (4737 ft.), whence, on the 'Band' (p. xxix), we see the mountains to the N. of Lake Gjende, particularly the pointed Semmelstind. We skirt the E. bank of the lake; to the right, about half-way, diverges the path to the Lejrungsdal (p. 68). Two other small lakes lie to the left. Beyond the second, for which a curious natural barrier has been formed by an old moraine of the fine Svardalsbræ, we cross the Svarddøla, which descends to Lake Gjende, with the grand Svardalspig (7031 ft.) towering to the left. We soon reach a huge precipice descending to Lake Gjende, called Gjendebrynet, through which the Svarddøla has worn a deep gorge, the Svardalsglup. The shortest way now descends W. (note the 'Vader' carefully), direct in $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. to the lake, where we shout for a boat to ferry us to Gjendebod (10 min., each pers. 10 ø). — But if time permit, we ascend a steep stony ridge to the left to the Svardalsaaale (5336 ft.), which commands a superb survey of N. Jotunheim. Far below lies Lake Gjende. We now descend on the W. slope by a rough path, below the Langedalsbræ, at first rapidly over loose stones, and then over soft grass. Lastly we follow the course of the glacier-stream into the Vesle Aadal, whence we soon reach the Gjendebod (p. 60).

Voyaging on Lake Bygdin, we next pass the Langedals-Elv, and then the Galdebergstinder (6804 ft.), from which falls the Galdebergsfos. On the S. side rises the Dryllenæs (4934 ft.). Rounding the sheer rocks of the Galdeberg, we observe to the right above us the Galdebergstind, and facing us the Langeskavl (or Rustegg) with the Uranaastind (p. 59), an imposing scene. Next on the right opens a valley with a fall of the Høistakka, where the motor-boat calls when desired (p. 59). To the S.W. rise the Koldedalstinder (p. 59). and, furthest S., the Skinlegg (p. 67). Looking back, we see the three peaks of the Sletmarkpig (p. 59). The lake owes its milky colour here to the Melkedøla, a genuine glacier-torrent.

Eidslugaren, see p. 57.

b. From Skogstad or Nystuen to Lake Tyin and Eidsbugaren or Tyinholmen.

ROAD from Skogstad or Nystuen to Framnæs, on Lake Tyin, 11 and 10 Kil. respectively (pay for 17 or 16). From Framnæs MOTOR BOAT (Com. 456) on Lake Tyin to Tyinholmen in $1\frac{1}{2}$ -2 hrs., once, or in the height of summer twice daily; fare 2 kr. (or boat with two rowers, for 1, 2, or 3 pers. 3.60, 4.40, 5.20 kr.). — ROAD from Tyinholmen to Eidsbugaren, $\frac{3}{4}$ hr., or over the Skinlegg $2\frac{1}{2}$ -3 hrs. — We may then walk on to the Gjendebod the same evening (p. 59).

The road to Lake Tyin, diverging from the Valders road between Skogstad and Nystuen (p. 50), crosses near the Opdals-Sæter (2943 ft.) a foaming fall of the Bjørdøla, descending from the left, and ascends steadily on the slope of the Stølsnæs (with the Rau-bergsampen on the right, p. 50) to the —

Hotel Framnæs (R. 1½, D. 2, B. or S. 1 kr., good), on Lake Tyin, 6 Kil. from the parting of the ways, with a superb distant view of the bold Uranaastind and other peaks. The ascent of the Storgalden, which affords an extensive panorama, takes 2½-3 hrs. (there and back, rough path, guide 1 kr.).

Lake Tyin (3536 ft., area 13½ sq. M.; length 14 Kil.: depth 325 ft.), like the other Jotunheim lakes, is a grand solitude. The banks are uninhabited, except in summer by 'Fækarle' and their cattle (at Lorviken, Maulnæs, Gjetereden, and Trindehougen on the E. bank, and Breikram on the W.). Masses of snow in the hollows, reaching down to the water's edge, enhance the impressiveness of the scene. As we voyage up the lake, the Melkedalstinder are conspicuous to the right of the Uranaastind. To the left is the large W. bay whence the Aardøla issues; farther on we see the Koldedal with the pointed Koldedalstind (p. 59). The Falketind and other peaks also come in sight. The general view is highly picturesque. The terminus of the motor-boat is —

Tyinholmen (Hot. Tyinholmen, bed 1-1½ kr.; host speaks Engl.), a good centre for several excursions. A broad road, passing three small lakes, crosses the isthmus between lakes Tyin and Bygdin to (4 Kil.) — Eidsbugaren (Hot. Eidsbugaren, bed 1¼, B. or S. 1¼ K., very fair), at the W. end of Lake Bygdin (p. 55).

The favourite excursion, either from Tyinholmen or Eidsbugaren, is the ascent of the nearer peak of the long Skinegg* (4902 ft.; 1½ hr.). From either place we follow the road mentioned above to a point where the peak comes in sight (see Udsigt on the map), and ascend thence. In descending to Eidsbugaren avoid going too much to the right, where a torrent would have to be crossed, but make for the middle lake of the three lying on the road-side.

VIEW. To the S we survey part of Lake Tyin and the whole Fillefjeld, with the Stugunse near Nystuen (p. 50) and the rounded Suletind (p. 51). Of more absorbing interest are the mountains to the W. and N. the Breikvamsgr, the Gjeldedalstinder (7080 ft.) and Koldedalstinder (p. 163; Falketind, Stølsnæstind), with their mantles of snow; farther distant the Horunger (Skagastølstind and Styggedalstinder, p. 79). Next are the Fleskedalstinder, the Langeskavl, the Uranaastind (p. 58), the Melkedalstinder, the Sjugultind, and other peaks. To the N tower the mountains N.W. of Lake Gjende, and more prominently the Sletmarkhø, Galdebergstind, and Turfinstinder on Lake Bygdin. Of that lake itself the W. end only is visible, with the huts of Eidsbugaren. Comp. Panorama, p. 58.

Herds of reindeer are pastured in summer on the fjeld N. of Tyinholmen, and are sometimes seen near the road of an evening. Enquire of the landlord.

The ascent of the Langeskavl (6115 ft.), and back, takes half-a-day (guide necessary; 4, for each pers. more 1 kr.). From Eidsbugaren we ascend E., along the Melkedøla (p. 71), and at the top of the hill, instead of turning to the right into the Melkedal, enter a side-valley to the left, and mount as far as possible to the right. The bare summit towers above masses of snow. The view embraces the mountains seen to the W of the Skinegg, to which we are now nearer, and also the whole of Lake Bygdin as far as the Bithorn.

The ascent of the Uranaastind (7033 ft.), the highest E. summit of the Uranaase, takes 6-7 hrs., or a whole day there and back (comp. p. 75; guide necessary, 8, for each pers. more 1 kr.). We follow the Langeskavl route, which we leave to the W in order to ascend the great Uranaasbræ. We cross the glacier to the Bræskar, whence we look down into the Skogadal to the W (p. 71). Lastly an ascent on the N. side of about 800 ft. more to the summit, which is always free from ice. The extensive view vies with that from the Galdhøpig (p. 63). To the W. the Uranaastind descends sheer into the Uradal (p. 75); to the E. it sends forth two glaciers, the Uranaasbræ, just mentioned, and the Melkedalsbræ, the E. arm of which descends into the Melkedal (p. 71), while the N. arm, divided by the Melkedalspygge, descends partly into the Melkedal, and partly into the Skogadal (p. 71).

The Koldedalstind or Falketind (6703 ft.) N.W. of Lake Tyin, ascended in 1820 by Keithau and Chr. Boeck, the first Jotunheim mountain ever climbed, is reached from Tyinholmen in 8-10 hrs. (guide 10, each pers. more 1 kr.). We ascend the valley of the Koldedøla (p. 75) to the foot of the Tind, and climb to the top, most of the way over glaciers. — The dangerous descent to the Koldedal should be avoided; better return by the same route.

*Excursion to the Store Melledalsrand see p. 71. Through the Koldedal to the Fleskedals-Sveire and Veltå, see p. 74.

c From Tyinholmen or Eidsbugaren to Gjendeboden and Gjendesheim.

BRIDLE PATH from Eidsbugaren (p. 57) to the Gjendeboden, 5-6 hrs.; the path is bad, but is indicated by marks (guide, advisable, 2 kr. 40 ø., horse 4 kr.). — MOTOR BOAT from Gjendeboden to Gjendesheim (Com. 457b), once, or in the height of summer twice daily; fare 29/4 kr. (or by rowing-boat, with one boatman for 1-4 pers. 3.20, 4, 5.20 kr., with two 6 6.80, 8 kr.).

Tyinholmen and Eidsbugaren, see p. 57. From Eidsbugaren we follow the N. bank of Lake Bygdin, cross (10 min.) the rapid Melkedøla (p. 71) by a wooden bridge, and in 1 hr. reach the Høistakka, which we cross by a bad wooden bridge a little above its mouth, while horses ford it lower down. This point may also be reached by the motor-boat, or by rowing-boat (with one rower, for 1, 2, 3 persons, 80 ø., 1 kr., 1 kr. 20 ø.).

We ascend rapidly on the left bank of the Høistakka, which descends from the heights in several fine cascades. Above the last the ground is marshy. In 1 hr. we reach the long Høistakktjern (ca. 4100 ft.), and then skirt the E. side of the lake for about 1/4 hr. To the right towers the Ordalshe (5552 ft.). We pass a small lake and cross (1/2 hr.) a brook. To the left rises the Grønneberg (4968 ft.), and at its foot lies a lake, through which flows the Høistakka. To the right is the huge Sletmarkpig (7068 ft.), whose great glacier descends N. into the Vesle Aadal. The route ascends more rapidly, passing to the W. of a small lake, to (40 min.) the passage between the Gjeithø (4790 ft.; W.) and the Rundtom (4872 ft.; E.), where we obtain a view to the N.E. of the Semmel-tind, with the large glacier on its slope, and the Beshø (p. 65).

We descend the Vesle Aadal, following the course of the stream, either wholly on the left bank or crossing it twice according to the state of the path. After a time Lake Gjende is fully revealed, with the Memurutunge to the left, and then the Beshø and the Veslefjeld. To the right, over the Vesle Aadal, tower the Svartdalspigge. About 1 hr. from the head of the pass, after crossing to the left bank for the last time, the path forks. We descend to the right, direct to the lake, provided the guide has a boat ready. Otherwise we go to the left, round the E. flank of the Gjendetunge (see below), to a bridge over the brook emerging from the Store Aadal (p. 61), and descend its left bank.

Mountain-climbers should combine the ascent of the Gjendetunge (see below), bounding the Vesle Aadal on the W, with this route (a digression of $1\frac{1}{2}$ -2 hrs.). About 20-25 min. after crossing the above-mentioned pass we turn to the left and ascend the steep and stony slope of the Tungepig, to the N., opposite the glacier of the Sletmarkpig. An hour's climb on the N.W. side of the Tungepig brings us to the nearer peak of the Gjendetunge, falling precipitously to Lake Gjende. We may then descend to the Store Aadal (p. 61).

Gjendeboden (a tourists' hut, kept by Rennaug Hoft; 20 beds, good fare) lies on Lake Gjende, at the mouth of the Store Aadal, which is backed by the snow-clad Skardalsegg, and at the foot of the precipices of the Memurutunge, and is a good centre for excursions. Guides, Nils K. Storstenrusten and Halvor Hoft.

'Lake Gjende (3212 ft.; 478 ft. deep; 18 Kil. long) is enclosed on both sides by abrupt mountains, of which the Beshø (p. 65), on the N., and the Knutshulstind (7681 ft.) and Svartdalspigge (7031 ft.; guide from Gjendeboden 3 kr.), on the S., are the highest. These peaks are not seen from the Gjendebod, but become visible as we ascend the Store Aadal. The colour of the water is green, especially when seen from a height. The lake is fed by several wild glacier-torrents. Fog ('Gjendeskaven') often prevails.

From the Gjendebod over the Memurutunge to the Memurubod 4 hrs. (with guide, 3 kr.). We follow the N. bank of the lake for $\frac{1}{2}$ hr., and then a steep grassy slope to the left. By a small lake (4790 ft.; 1 hr.) we pass two large 'Varder' and soon reach the top of the hill. The Memurutunge, a hilly plateau about 5020 ft. in height, with snow-fields, small lakes, and interesting Alpine flora, forms a kind of mountain-peninsula, bounded on the W by the Store Aadal, on the S by Lake Gjende, and on the N by the Memuru-Elv. The View embraces, to the S, the Knutshulstind, the Svartdalspigge, and between them the deep Svardal; then the Langedal and the Sletmarkpig; to the W, from the Raudal, rise the pointed Melkedalstinder and Raudalstinder, chief of which is the Skarvdalstind. To the N.W. lies the Langevand with the Smørstabtinder, the Kirke, and the Uladalstinder. To the N. the Hinaatjernhø, Memurutinder, and Tjukningsue. To the E., the Beshø — We now descend to the Memurudal, which we reach near the Øvre Memurubod-Sæter. Following the right side of the brook for another hour, we reach Memuruboden (p. 61), where we cross a brook close to the houses.

The view from the (2 hrs.) Gjendetunge (5095 ft.) is superior to that from the Memurutunge only in its fuller survey of the lake. We cross the bridge to the W., ascend the Store Aadal on the right bank for about $\frac{1}{2}$ hr., and then ascend steeply to the left.

The ascent of the highest Knutshulstind (7681 ft.), from the Gjendebod, through the Svardal (p. 56), takes 8 hrs. (for experts only).

FROM THE GJENDEBOD THROUGH THE RAUDAL TO SKOGADALSØEN, 10-12 hrs (guide 6 kr.). The route leads up the Store Aadal on the right bank to a ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr) waterfall formed by a brook descending from the Grisletjern, and then ascends rapidly to the left. Farther on it crosses the brook and leads on the N. side of the Grisletjern and other ponds to the Raudalsbøen (3 hrs. from the Gjendebod), where the Raudal begins. This grand, but at first monotonous valley, with its almost unbroken series of lakes, lies N. of and parallel with the Melkedal (p. 74). On reaching the 'Band', at the top, we enjoy superb views in both directions: to the right rise the Raudalstinder (7412 ft.; first ascended by Carl Hall in 1890; 7-8 hrs.; not difficult, but guide necessary); to the left is the Melkedalstind with its sheer precipice; between these peeps the Fana-raak (p. 70) in the distance; looking back, we see the Raudalstind on the left, the Sjugulstind on the right, and between them the Sletmarkpig (p. 59) with a great glacier amphitheatre. It takes about $\frac{1}{2}$ hr to cross the 'Band', from which a route leads W. round the Svartdalsegg to the Langvand and the Store Aadal (a round of 10-12 hrs. from the Gjendebod). We next cross the Raudals-Elv by a snow-bridge and traverse toilsome 'Ur' and patches of snow on the S. side of the valley, skirting a long lake for $\frac{1}{2}$ hr (patience very necessary). As we near the Raudalsmund, the precipice with which the Raudal ends at the Store Utadal, the scenery again becomes very grand. We see the mountains of the Utadal and Gravdal, including the curiously shaped Storebjørn (p. 70), from which the Sjoringsbrø descends. To the E. we survey the whole of the Raudal, flanked by the Raudalstinder on the N. and the Melkedalstind (p. 74) on the S. The red ('raud') 'gabbro' rock here has given the valley its name.

We now descend on the S. side of the grand fall of the Raudals-Elv to the Store Utadal, about $2\frac{1}{2}$ hrs. above Skogadalsbøen, see p. 75.

The *Voyage down Lake Gjende (motor and rowing boats, see p. 59) is highly picturesque. Soon after starting we obtain a view, to the S., of the Svartdal (p. 56), at the entrance of which we observe the cattle-shed of Vageboden. To the N. rise the slopes of the Memurutunge (p. 60). About halfway down the lake, at the mouth of the Memurudal, is the tourists' hut of Memuruboden, kept by the guide Ole G. Sveine (R. 1, D. 2 kr., B. or S. 80 ø., very fair), where the motor-boat calls (1 hr.; $\frac{1}{2}$ kr.). In the background of the valley is the abrupt ridge of the Tyukningssue (7913 ft.). Towards the N.E. the Beshø is conspicuous during the trip, and more to the E. the Veslefjeld descends abruptly to the lake. To the S. of the lake towers the Knutshulstind with its glacier.

From the Memurubod a most attractive and (with guide about 5 kr.) fairly easy glacier-pass leads to SPITERSTULEN (8-9 hrs.; p. 63). We ascend the Memurudal, watered by the turbid and milky Memuru-Elv, to the W. Memurubra, ascend this glacier to the pass adjoining the Heilstugubra (p. 62), and descend the Heilstugubra to the Visdal (p. 62).

From Memuruboden a good footpad leads along the lake to GJENDESHEJM in 3 hrs.

At the E. end of the lake, on the N. bank of its affluent the Sjøa, lies the club-hut of Gjendeshejm (see p. 65).

d. From Gjendeboden to Røjsjøen.

TWO DAYS. 1st, in 8-10 hrs to Spiertstul, path marked by Varder (guide 4 hr); 2nd, to Røjsjøen, either direct (5 hrs.) or over the Galdhøpig (see p. 63).

We ascend the left bank of the Store-Aadal and pass through the deile of Høistulen, between the Memurutunge and the Gjendenge. To the right, the Glaamsdalsfos. Splendid view of the Semmeltind to the N. (see below). In 1 hr. we reach the Vardesten, a large rock; $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. beyond it the bridle-path to the Memurutunge diverges to the right (p. 60). We next see, to the left of the Semmeltind, the Hellerfos (see below), and to the left, above the fall, the imposing Uladalstinder (7608 ft.; easy ascent, splendid view). Walkers will find the passage of the Semmelaa, which descends from the Semmelhol glacier, unpleasant after rain. (The Semmelhol is also crossed by a route into the Visdal, no less unpleasant, but much grander.) Our path ascends rapidly on the E. (right) side of the foaming Hellerfos, the discharge of the Hellertjærn, and reaches the top of the hill in $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. (2 hrs. from the Gjendebod). Behind us is a superb view of the Sletmarkpig and Svartdalspig. We traverse a weird wilderness, bounded by the Uladalstinder and strewn with glacier-boulders. We at first follow the path skirting the Hellertjærn (4563 ft.) to the N.W., and then turn to the right into the valley which leads N., and afterwards more to the E., to the Uladalsband. Where the steeper ascent begins ($2\frac{1}{2}$ hrs. from the Gjendebod) riders must dismount.

FROM THE HELLERTJÆRN TO THE LEJRDAL AND RØJSHEJM, 3-4 hrs. longer than our present route, but much less toilsome (guide, not indispensable, to Ytterdals-Sæter 5 kr. 70 ø; horse to Røjshejm 8-10 kr.). From the Hellertjærn we follow the main track, reach the Langevand or Langvatn (4630 ft.), and skirt its N. bank ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.). On the right rise the Uladals-tinder, to the S, the Skardalsegg (7215 ft.). At the W. end of the lake we ascend past the two Høgvageltjærne to the Høgvagel ('Vagge', a Lapp word, 'mountain-valley'; 5430 ft.), the highest point of the route; grand view of the Horunger to the S.W. The path then descends to Lejrvandsboden on the Lejrvand (p. 76).

A steep ascent of $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. brings us to the first of the four S. Uladal Lakes (about 5180 ft.). This and the second lie to our left, the third to our right, and the fourth to our left. The route, here extremely toilsome, keeps to the right below the slopes of the Semmel-tind (7480 ft.; easily ascended from the N. side; 'Semmel', a female reindeer). After another hour it reaches the Uladalsband (5758 ft.), its highest point, where it joins the route across the Semmel Glacier. We now descend to the two N. Uladal Lakes (5166 ft.). To the right rises the Hejlstuguhø (p. 63). Following the E. bank of this lake over most trying 'Ur', we at length reach (2 hrs., or from the Gjendebod 6 hrs.) Uladalsmunden, the junction of the Uladal with the Visdal (red finger-post). Splendid view up and down the latter valley. To the left towers the Kirke. Route to the Lejrvand, see p. 76.

The route down the Visdal (to the Spiterstul $1\frac{1}{2}$ -2 hrs. more) follows the right (E.) bank of the Visa, at first traversing soft turf, a pleasant contrast to the 'Ur'. To the left towers the Styggehø (7282 ft.). After 1 hr. we reach the Hejlstuguaa, descending from the Hejlstugubrå (bridge a little higher up). Shortly before reaching the (1 hr.) Spiterstul, we observe to the left, through the Bukkehul, the Sveljenaasbræ and the Styggebræ (p. 68), two glaciers with magnificent ice-falls, especially the latter.

Spiterstulen (3700 ft.), the highest sæter in the Visdal, with the Skauthø (p. 67) on the E., affords plain quarters in the house of the guide, Eilev H. Ofigsbø (bed or B. 70 ø., D. 1½ kr.).

With a guide (generally obtainable at Spiterstulen) we may ascend the Glittertind (p. 67), the Leyrhe (7834 ft.), the Hestaguhø (7914 ft.), and one of the Memurutinder (7986 ft.).

Instead of going direct to Røjshejm, it is preferable to ascend the Galdhøpig (p. 63) from Spiterstulen (1½ hrs.; guide 6 kr. for 1 pers., each addit. pers. 2 kr.). The route, while on the rock, is good, and even on the glaciers offers few difficulties to Alpine climbers. It leads N. from the Sveljenaasbræ and over the three peaks of the Sveljenaast. Splendid views of the Visdal Mts. behind us. — Those who wish to go first to the Juvvas Hut (p. 63) hardly need a guide (3 kr.; 4 hrs.): from the Visa bridge they ascend the slope N.W., following the Varder; at the top they cross the lowest tongue of the Styggebræ, and then have an almost level walk to the hut.

From Spiterstul to Røjshejm about 5 hrs. more (guide not indispensable). We soon reach the birch-zone (about 3600 ft.) and (½ hr.) a rock-barrier through which the Visa has forced a passage. In another ½ hr. we come to a grove of picturesque firs ('Furuer', whose zone extends up to about 3280 ft.), most of them bare on the N. side. Above us, to the left, is a tongue of the Styggebræ. We cross (¼ hr.) the Skauta-Elv, which forms a waterfall above. Curious bridge. To the S. we perceive the Uladalstinder and the Styggebræ (p. 62). Farther on is a guide-post pointing E. to Glitterhejm (p. 67), and W. to the route leading across the river and past the Nedre Sulheims-Sæter to the Juvvashytte (W.; p. 68). The Røjshejm route remains on the right bank.

We cross the Glitra. On the other side of the valley we see the Nedre Sulheims-Sæter. We cross the Grjota, the Smuggjela, and the Gokkera. The Visa is lost to view in its deep channel; we follow the margin of its ravine. A path ascending to the right for a few hundred paces leads to the finely situated Visdals-Sætre (2958 ft.; quarters obtainable, best at the Øvrebræ-Sæter).

The Gokkraskard, a fine point of view, may be ascended hence: to the S. the Uladalstinder, to the S.W. the Galdhøpig, to the W. the Hestbræpigge. — Still finer is the Lauvhø (8710 ft.), whence the Glittertind is also visible.

From the Visdals-Sætre we may also ascend the Gokkerdal, between the Lauvhø on the N. and the Gokkeraxel on the S., to the pass of Finnshals (3884 ft.). Following the Finnshals-Elv, and crossing the Smaadals-Elv in the Smaadal, we may turn to the right to the Smaadals-Sæter (3903 ft.), whence the huge Kvitingskjøle (6975 ft.) to the N. may be ascended, and to the Smerli and Naaver Sæters on Lake Tesse. Thence across the lake and past the Oxefos to Storvik (p. 85; 1-1½ day).

The Røjshejm route remains in the valley, skirting the Visa Ravine. The Lauva descends from the right. The sæter-path descends steeply, and in 1½ hr. from the Visdal-Sætre reaches the first houses, where we cross the curious bridge to the left.

Røjshejm, see p. 67.

e. From Vinstra in the Gudbrandsdal to Gjendesheim.

TWO DAYS 1st New ROAD, with fast stations, to the Kampe-Sæter, 23 Kil., about 5 hrs. drive. — 2nd. Road to the Sikkilsdals-Sæter, 25 Kil.; thence walk, and partly row, to Gjendesheim.

Vinstra, p. 83. — The road diverges to the left ('til Kvikne') from the Gudbrandsdal route, crosses the railway and the Loug, and ascends past Furuheim (p. 84) and through wood. The way to the Fælor Sanatorium (p. 84) diverges to the left. After 25 min. the large gaard of Lo lies to our right; the deep wooded gorge of the Vinstra opens on our left. We ascend steeply above the ravine. In 25 min. more a path to the right leads to the Kongsli Sanatorium (p. 64). To the left the Gaalua falls from the Fæforkampen, on the opposite slope. We pass several gaards.

10 Kil. Vistad, near the church of Kvikne and the large gaard of Harilstad. After 20 min. the road enters a ravine to the right, crosses a brook, and ascends to the left for nearly an hour. At the top the drivers make a long halt at gaard Graupe. To the right is the lofty Hedalsmuen.

The road crosses the Ommundsaa and the Skaabyggja (saw-mill) and passes several gaards. The lake of Olstappen becomes visible to the left, and we soon reach the new Hot. Bakkerud (R., B., S. 80 ø. each, good). In $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. more we come to — 18 Kil. Kampe-Sæter (3050 ft., Inn, R. 1-1 $\frac{1}{4}$ kr., B. 80, D. or S. 1 kr. 20 ø., very fair), a summer resort.

Passing the sæter of Rovelien, we ascend to the top of the hill, where we have a last view of the Kampe-Sæter. Then a hilly plateau. The Skalfjeld rises to the left. Jotunheim now comes into sight, with the Valders Mts. to the left and those of Lom (p. 86) to the right. We descend, and about 2 hrs. from the Kampe-Sæter cross the Murua. In 1 hr. more we reach the Aakrevand and skirt its N. bank.

18 Kil. Aukre-Sæter (3130 ft.; modest rfmts.) lies at the W. base of the Aakrekampen (4630 ft.), 5 min. from the road. — We now gradually ascend along the affluent of the Aakrevand to the ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) —

Sikkilsdals-Sæter (very fair, R., B., S. 70 ø. each, D. 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ kr.; guide to Gjendesheim $2\frac{1}{2}$ -3 kr., incl. baggage), where horses are reared.

From the sæter, in 10 min. we reach the first Sikkilsdalsvand, where boats are in waiting to take us up the lake (1 pers. 1.40, 2-4 pers. 2 kr.; $\frac{1}{2}$ hr.). To the right towers the abrupt Sikkilsdals-horn (6033 ft.); to the left are the Gaapaapigger; the snow-clad Beshø (p. 170) is visible in the distance. We walk across the isthmus to the Store Sikkilsdalsvand (3307 ft.), and row to its head in $\frac{3}{4}$ hr.

The route now ascends for 20 min., and then slightly ascends and descends, partly over marsh and across brooks. Fine view, across the Sjodal, of the Nautgarstind, Glittertind, and other Jotunheim Mts. To the right diverges a path to the Bes-Sæter (see below). The Gjendesheim path skirts the slope to the left, crosses a broad stream, and descends to the Turist-Forening's bridge at Maurvangen, which crosses the foaming rapids of the green Sjor, the discharge of Lake Gjende. A walk of $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr. more on the left bank brings us to — Gjendeshejm (3248 ft.; a good club-hut, kept by Kari Rusnæs; two houses; R. $1\frac{1}{4}$ kr., B. or S. 80, D. 1 kr. 60 ø.), at the E. end of Lake Gjende (p. 61), one of the most frequented points in Jotunheim, and a centre for attractive excursions. Guide, Sievert Th. Bøie.

The ascent of the Besegg and back takes 7-8 hrs. (guide 3 kr.). A good path ascends N., on the E. slope of the Veslefjeld, to ($1\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) the Bessavand (4528 ft.; 330 ft. deep), where a path indicated by 'Varder' comes up on the right from Beshejm (see below). To the W. we sight the huge Beshø. Turning to the left we skirt the S. bank of the lake, and then ascend in $1\frac{1}{2}$ -2 hrs. more to the summit of the barren and stony Veslefjeld (5764 ft.). The view embraces the whole of the dark-green Lake Gjende, with the Koldedalstinder and Stølsnaastinder to the S.W., and the Beshø in front. — We now follow, to the W., the narrowing crest of the Veslefjeld, which separates the Besvand from Lake Gjende, 1300 ft. below us, and which terminates in the 'Besegg, a curious narrow ridge descending sheer to Lake Gjende.

Travellers with steady heads may descend to the Ed between the two lakes, and thence to Memuruboden (p. 61, with guide from Gjendeshejm 4 kr.; or over the Memurutunge to Gjendeboden 6 kr.).

The ascent of the Beshø (7585 ft.; 8-9 hrs., there and back; guide 4 kr.) coincides with that of the Veslefjeld as far as the Bessavand; we then row across the lake, or, if the boat is not available, follow the slope on the N. bank, and then ascend by the Beshøbrø. The view from the top embraces the whole of Jotunheim. Far below lie the Memurutunge, the Besvand, Lake Gjende, and the Rusvand. The slope towards the last is very steep.

About 1 hr. N.E. of Gjendeshejm is the Bes-Sæter (Tourists' Inn Beshejm, good, R., B., S. each 80 ø., D. 1 kr. 60 ø.), above the Øvre Sjodalsvand (3255 ft.), whence we may either row (2 kr.), or walk along the W. bank, to ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) the Besstrands-Sæter, at the N. end of the lake. A road thence passes the Nedre Sjodalsvand (3242 ft.), traverses a spur of the Besstrands Rundhø (4912 ft.), and crosses the Russa-Elv, to ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) the — Rusli-Sæter (3127 ft.; quarters), where the rough road from Sjor ends (p. 84).

ASCENT OF THE NAUTGARSTIND FROM THE RUSLI SÆTER (3-4 hrs.). We ascend a cattle-track ('Koraak') to the Hindfj; then turn to the left to the Søndre Tveraa, and round the Russe Rundhø (6233 ft.), traversing 'Tr'. Fine view of the Tjukningssue (see below). We now sight the snowless summit of the Nautgarstind (7615 ft.), to which we have still a steep ascent of fully 1000 ft. on the N.E. side. On the W. side the Tind ends in a vast 'Butn' or basin, 1800 ft. in depth. Magnificent view.

FROM THE RUSLI-SÆTER TO MEMURUBODEN (p. 61), 9 hrs., rather fatiguing. We first follow the left bank of the Russa-Elv, wade through the Sandve and Nordre Tveraa, and reach the (2½ hrs.) Saubod-Sæter, where the path joins the Gjendesheim and Glitterheim route, coming from the left across the brook. In ½ hr. we reach the Rusvasbod, and then follow the N. bank of the Rusvand (4084 ft.). After ½ hr. more the Glitterheim path diverges to the right. Our path leads to the (2 hrs.) W. end of the lake, and then ascends the Rusglop, between the Gloptind on the E. and Tuinningsæue (7916 ft.) on the W.; we next descend past the Hesttjern, lying to the right. After following the height to the S. a little farther, we descend abruptly to Memuruboden.

FROM GJENDESHEIM TO GJENDERODEN (p. 60), interesting, but the difficulty of crossing the Lejrungs-Elv is a serious drawback. The route ascends the Øvre Lejrungsådal, between the Lejrungsåra and Knutshulstind, to the Svardal (p. 56), and then passes the Svardalsaa (Guide necessary, 6 kr.)

FROM GJENDESHEIM TO LAKE BYGDIN (6-8 hrs., unattractive; guide 5½ kr.). Route indicated by Varder. Passing the Lejrungsvand (3222 ft.) we ascend the course of a brook to the S. to the Brurshårsknatte, avoiding the extensive marshes of the Lejrungs-Elv. Around the valley rise the Kalvaahøgda (p. 55), Knutshulstind (p. 56), Tjernhulstind (7665 ft.), and Hegdebrøttet (7250 ft.). Then across the marshy plateau of Valdersfjell (4593 ft.) and past the Fiskefjernånaus (5022 ft.) to the W. Near the Rypetjern we cross the W. Rypa by a bridge, and then descend, E. of the Synshorn (4765 ft.), to the Vinstra bridge by Fagerstrand (p. 55).

f. From Gjendesheim to Glitterheim. Glittertind.

Tolerable path, indicated by Varder, 7-8 hrs.; guide advisable, 5 kr. From Gjendesheim to the Besvand, 1¼ hr., see p. 65. We here cross the Bessa, close by its efflux from the lake. (When the water is high we may use the Turist-Forening's boat, if available.) We then gradually descend to the valley of the Russa, which we cross after 1 hr. by a bridge some way below its efflux from the Rusvand. Near the Saubod-Sæter on the opposite bank the path joins that coming from the Rusli-Sæter (see above). It then ascends on the left bank of the stream to Rusvasboden (private property), at the E. end of the Rusvand (4084 ft.).

We follow the N. bank of the lake. After ½ hr. we diverge to the right and ascend on the left bank of the Tjærnholsaa, the second of the larger streams descending from the N. (The Memuruboden route still follows the bank of the lake, see above.) At a suitable place, about 20 min. up the stream, we cross to the right bank, and 1 hr. later back to the left bank. The path becomes stony and more fatiguing. The little lake Tjærnhol remains on the left; from its N. end the path ascends steeply, partly over snow, in about ¾ hr. to its highest point (2¾ hrs. from Rusvasboden). Grand view of the Glittertind group to the N.W.

The descent from the pass to Glitterheim takes 1¼ hr. At first gradually, over snow, stones, and grass, and then more abruptly, we descend on the left bank of the brook into the Veodal. We ascend this valley for about 25 min. to a bridge over the Veø-Elv, cross to the right bank, and in ¼ hr. reach — Glitterhejm (4782 ft.; club-hut, 30 beds at 11 $\frac{1}{4}$ B. or S. 1 kr., guide K. Storsenrusten).

From Glitterhejm to the Sulheims-Sæter in the Visdal (and thence N. to Røjshejm or S. to the Spiterstul), 4-5 hrs. (guide desirable). We ascend on the left bank of the Veo-Elv. A little below the point where it issues from the Veobrå we ascend rapidly to the right and cross the plateau of Skautfly; then descend on the right bank of the Skauta to the Sulheims-Sæter in the Visdal. From this point we may ascend the valley in about 1½ hr. to the Spiterstul, or descend in about 4 hrs. to Røjshejm (see below); to the Juvras Hut, see below. — From Glitterhejm across the Veo and Memuru glaciers to MEYRUBODEN (p. 61), 8-9 hrs., or, including the ascent of the Memurutind, about 3 hrs. more.

From Glitterhejm to Kandsværk, see p. 85.

THE ASCENT OF THE GLITTERTIND from Glitterhejm takes 5-6 hrs. (guide necessary, 6 kr.). We mount the slope towards the W.; the Stejnbodvand lies below us on the left. Behind us, all the way, tower the Memurutinder and Nautgarstind (p. 65). Snow lies thicker as we near the top. Roped for the last ½ hr., we climb the vast mantle of frozen snow which covers the summit and forms superb fringes on the brink of the immense precipice on the N. side. (Beware of going too near!) On the summit of the Glittertind (8880 ft.) is a small refuge-hut (coffee, champagne, etc.). The view is similar to that from the Galdhøpig, which is 23 ft. higher. Most conspicuous to the S. are the Memurutinder.

THE DESCENT TO SPITERSTULEN takes 4-5 hrs. (guide advisable). We follow a tongue of snow running W., and then the Skauta, the stream issuing from it, which we cross. We turn N., round the Skauthø (6876), and descend to Spiterstulen (p. 63). — Vigorous walkers may descend from the top direct to the Sulheims-Sæter (p. 63) in the Visdal in 3 hrs., and ascend the steep opposite slope in 2½ hrs. more to the Juvras Hut (p. 67).

g. From the Ottadal to Røjshejm. The Galdhøpig.

Hot. Fosshelm in the Ottadal, see p. 86. The road to Røjshejm (15 Kil.) diverges from the main road beyond the Bævra bridge and ascends on the left bank of the stream, passing the inn of Andvord or Anvord. At one point, Staberg, where there is a mill, the ravine is very narrow, and huge rocks have fallen into it from above. On emerging from the gorge we are struck with a superb view of the snow and ice-clad Galdehøer (7303 ft.), which conceal the Galdhøpig, and the Juvbræ. To the left, on the opposite bank, are the gaards of Glimsdal and the falls of the Glaama (p. 68). Next come gaard Sulhejm, on the right, with a waterfall in the gorge, and gaard Gaupar. The road crosses the Bævra.

Røjshejm (pron. roizáme; 1800 ft.; Inn, very fair, but often full), at the junction of the Bæverdalen and the Visdal (p. 63), is a good centre for excursions and a favourite summer resort. By the upper bridge over the Bævra, 2 min. above the inn, are several 'glacier cauldrons', the largest about 10 ft. wide.

A pleasant walk of 1-2 hrs.: follow the Andvord road for 12 min., and cross the bridge to a rocky island formed by the two branches of the Bævra, and affording a fine view of Røjshejm and the Galdhøer: thence by a foot-bridge to the right bank; turn to the left, and follow the track through underwood to Glumsdal, a group of gaards, where the Glaama descends in four falls. We may then ascend by the broad track on the left bank of the Glaama in 20 min. more to gaard Engum, at the top of the falls.

THE ASCENT OF THE GALDHØPIG is made daily in the height of the season by numerous travellers, including many Norwegian ladies. The night is usually spent in the Juvvashytte (4-5 hrs.), whence the summit is reached in $2\frac{1}{2}$ -3 hrs. We follow the Bæverdalen road (p. 69) for 40 min., and near a white church ascend the bridle-path to the left to ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) the Raubergs-Støle, which may also be reached by a direct footpath in $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr. We next ascend S.W. to (1 hr.) the barren and stony Galdehøi (5243 ft.), which the bridle-path avoids. Towards the E. the view is limited to the Glittertind. In $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr. more we reach the Juvvashytte (ca. 6280 ft.; 27 beds at 60, B. or S. 80 ø.. D. $1\frac{1}{2}$ kr, good, but often full), owned by the guide Knud O. Vole. Near it is the small Juvvand, into which juts the perpendicular ice-wall of the Tverbræ. To the right rises in contrast the black rounded cliff of Kjedelen. Fine view of the Troldstejnshøer and the Glittertind, to the E., and of the Memurutinder, Beshø, etc., to the S.E.

At the Juvvashytte begins the real ascent (guide 6 kr., each pers. more 2 kr.; Knud Vole or his son). A fair path leads over stony débris to the snow-fields. When the snow is in suitable condition the guide brings sleighs or snow-shoes for the descent. In front of us rise the summit of the Galdhøpig and the rocky arête of the Sveljenaasi, with the Kejlhaustop and Sveljenaaspig, looking almost black as they tower above the snow of the Styggebræ or Veltjuvbræ. Crossing snow and a stony tract, we reach the 'Varde' on the Styggebræ in $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr., and take $\frac{3}{4}$ -1 hr. more to cross the glacier (rope essential; beware of crevasses). We next ascend a ridge of rock covered with loose stones, and lastly mount a toilsome snow-arête to the ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) summit, with its welcome shelter-hut (coffee, champagne, etc.).

The *Galdhøpig (8402 ft.; pron. gálløpig), the highest mountain in Norway, first ascended by S. Sulheim in 1854, is the chief peak of the Ymesfjeld, a peculiar plateau with precipitous sides, enclosed by the valleys of the Lejra, Visa, and Bævra, and connected with the other Jotunheim Mts. by the Høgvagel (p. 62) only. The view is unbounded. It extends N.E. to the Snehætta (p. 91) and the Rondane (p. 94), to the left of the Glittertind (p. 67); to the S.E., S., and S.W. stretches the whole of Jotunheim; to the S.W. the Smerstabtinder and the Horunger are conspicuous; to the W. is the Jostedalbræ, to the N. of which are the heights on the Nordfjord. In this realm of rock, snow, and ice not a single human habitation is visible.

From the Juvvas Hut we may also ascend the Glittertind (p. 67; guide for 1 pers. 10, for each pers. more 4 kr.).

From the Juvvas Hut to the SPIRERSTUL, see p. 68. — Another path leads W. in 2½ hrs. to the ELVE-SÆTER (see below).

The Lomsegg (6762 ft.) may be ascended from Røjshejm, or from Hot. Fosheim (p. 86), in 2½-3 hrs. (guide 2-4 kr.). Refuge-hut at the top. Imposing view of the Glittertind and Galdhøpig, and of the Smørstabbreipigge and Fanaraak to the S.W.; fine view of the valley also.

The view from the Hestbræpigge (7096 ft.) reveals the Jotunheim Mts. in longer array than that from the Lomsegg. Riding practicable part of the way. The latter part of the ascent over snow and ice is nearly level.

From Røjshejm to Lake Gjende through the Visdal or the Lejrdal, see p. 63-60.

h. From Røjshejm over the Sognefjeld to Turtegrø.

1st Day. To Bævertun, a walk of 6-6½ hrs. (or drive one-third of the way). — 2nd Day. To Turtegrø, 7-8 hrs. (path well marked by 'Varder', but from Krosboden onwards a guide is desirable). Most of the brooks are bridged; some of the fords are awkward after rain. Horse and guide from Røjshejm by Turtegrø to Fortun (p. 77), 20 kr.; from Bævertun to Turtegrø, 12 kr.

Røjshejm, see p. 67. The road ascends on the right bank of the Bæra ('bæver', a beaver) to (4½ Kil.) Bæverdals Kirke, in a well-cultivated region. It then leads through a grand gorge, expanding into a pleasant basin with the gaards of Horten. About 2 Kil. farther is the entrance to the Lejrdal. Just before the bridge on the main road up the Bæverdalen, we enter the Lejrdal to the left, and then (2 Kil.) cross the Lejra, where we reach the gaard of — Elvesæter (2182 ft.; R. 1¼, D. 1½, B. or S. 1 kr., good; English spoken).

FROM ELVESÆTER TO THE JUUVASHYTTE, 3½-4 hrs., a tolerable path indicated by 'Varder'. We retrace our steps to the bridge on the Bæverdalen road, keep to the right, and in ¼ hr. diverge to the right by a path to the Mytings-Sæter. Then a steep ascent, lastly over a large snow-field, to the hut (p. 68).

The road leads from Elvesæter about 6 Kil. further up the narrow wooded valley, above the left bank of the Lejra. To the left, on the slope of the Galdhøpig, are the Store Juvbræ and then the Store Grovbræ; straight on is the vast Lofst (p. 77) with its glaciers. A bridge crossing to the Lejrdals-Sæter is passed on our left. After about 1½ hr. the road becomes a bridle-path, which ascends the slope of the valley more rapidly. In 20 min. we pass on the left the path to the Lejrvand (comp. p. 76). Our path now leaves the Lejrdal and ascends to the right to the Bæverkjærn-Hals (about 3600 ft.; 'Hals', a pass). A fine *View of the flat upper basin of the Lejrdal, framed in snow-mountains and glaciers, is gradually disclosed. At the Bakkeberg-Sæter, 2½ hrs. from the Elvesæter, we sight the pale-green Heidalvand, lying below on the right, and the Blåhø, generally covered with snow.

We now descend, passing on the right the Bævertjærn, with its many promontories, into the Upper Bæverdalen. At the end of the lake, between it and the Bævertunvand (3048 ft.), we cross the river by a bridge, 1 hr. from the Bakkeberg-Sæter, and follow the N. bank of the latter lake to ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr., or about $4\frac{1}{4}$ hrs. from Elvesæter) the — Bævertun-Sæter (3050 ft.; Bævertun Hot., kept by S. Ophaug, D. $1\frac{1}{2}$ kr., plain but very fair; Bakkeberg's Hot.), at the W. end of the Bævertunvand.

About $1\frac{1}{4}$ hr. from Bævertun the path crosses the Dommabro or Dombroi, where the Domma, shortly before joining the Bævra, flows underground. We then ascend for $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr. the monotonous valley to the Nupshaug, a curious rocky knoll in the middle of the valley. Adjacent is a fall of the Bævra; to the left are two other waterfalls. Fine view behind us. Then follows a steeper ascent to the left to a higher region of the valley. Opposite us we survey the Smørstabbæ*, one of the grandest glaciers in Norway, overtopped by the Smørstabtinder. Of these peaks either the Saksa or the serrated Skeja (first ascended by Carl Hall in 1891) may be ascended from the Bævertun-Sæter with a good guide (there and back 12-14 hrs.). The highest peak, the Storebjørn ('Big Bear'; 7513 ft.; first ascended by Carl Hall in 1885), to the S., is more difficult. The Bævra issues from the Smørstabbæ. In $2\frac{1}{4}$ hrs. from the Bævertun-Sæter we reach the small tourists' inn of Krosboden (owned by the guide Nils T. Bakkeberg; R. 1 kr., B. 80, S. 90 ø., very fair), amid grand mountain scenery.

Beyond Krosboden our path turns to the right and ascends the Sognefjeld (or Dølefjeld). This very ancient mountain route is well provided with 'Varder' (landmarks, cairns, or 'stone men'). In $1\frac{1}{4}$ hr. we come to one of these, the 'Kammerherre', a curious mass of rock, just beyond which is the summit of the pass (about 4900 ft.). The view of the Smørstabbæ and the Smørstabtinder increases in grandeur. We cross the boundary of Bergens-Stift. To the left lies the Rauskjeld-Vand, the first of the large lakes which extend over the whole plateau. Next, to the left, is the extensive Prestesteinvand, with its numerous bays. In the distance, to the E., next to the Smørstabtinder, rises the Kirke (p. 76), to the S.E. the Uranaastind (p. 59). To the S. the glaciers descending from the Fanaraak (6693 ft.) almost reach the Prestesteinvand. We next descend to the Herrevand, crossing its effluent by the wooden Herrevasbrui (4309 ft.). The Smørstabtinder now disappear from the view behind us. We round the W. buttress of the Fanaraak and descend to the Juvvand (4119 ft.). To the right, in the distance, lies the broad back of the Jostedalsbræ. In front rises the whole range of the Horúnger: the Riingstinder, Dyrhaugstinder, and Skagasteltinder. The best point of view is the Oskarshoug* (p. 85), a little to the left of the path, $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr. from the Herrevasbrui. We now descend by a good path to ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) —

i. From Tynholmen or Eidsbugaren through the Melkedal and over the Keiser to Turtegrø.

2 DAYS. A grand but fatiguing route (marked by 'Varder'; guide not indispensable for adepts). 1st Day: To Skogadalsbøen 10-11 hrs. (guide 6 kr.). 2nd Day: To Turtegrø 6½ hrs (guide 1 kr.) — As the guides of Eidsbugaren, Vetti, etc., are little acquainted with the Horunger, the traveller about to explore these mountains should dismiss his guide at the Helgedals-Sæter.

To the mouth of the Melkeda, and across that river, see p. 59. Quitting the lake, we gradually ascend the Melkedal*, with its rapid stream. After ¾ hr. the valley divides. The branch to the left ascends to the Langeskavl and Uranaastind (p. 59); that to the right is still called the Melkedal. Steep ascent through the latter, passing several waterfalls. The valley has no level floor, but consists of a chaos of heights and hollows. The rocks are polished by glacier-friction or covered with loose boulders. Vegetation ceases. About 20 min. above the bifurcation of the valley we ascend a steep snow-slope to the plateau of Melkehullerne, with several ponds.

In 20 min. more (about 1½ hr. from Eidsbugaren) we reach the Store Melkedalsvand* (4347 ft.), in a strikingly grand situation, and worthy of a visit for its own sake from Tynholmen or Eidsbugaren (best in the forenoon, 5-6 hrs. there and back). Even in July ice is seen floating in the lake ('aarsgammel Is', year-old ice, winter-ice; 'natgammel Is', night-ice, fresh ice). To the W. rises the Langeskavl; then the Uranaastind; in front of the latter is the Rødberg; next, the Melkedalsbræ, descending to the N.W. end of the lake, and the Melkedalstinder, all mirrored in the dark-blue water.

Another hour over 'Ur' and snow brings us to an ice-pond at the foot of the First Melkedalstind, whence we ascend a steep snow-slope in 20 min. to the Melkedalsband, the watershed ('Vandskjelet'). Farther on appears the Second Melkedalstind (7106 ft.; ascended either from the Rauddal or the Melkedal), and to the N.W. the Raudalstind (p. 61). The route skirts the three Melkedals-tjerne, through which flows the Skogadala. The stream has to be forded between the second and third pond. Rough walking here. A view of the Horunger is now disclosed (p. 79). The striation of the rocks by glacier-action ('Skurings-Striber') is frequently seen. The torrent is again crossed by a snow-bridge (caution necessary), or we may wade through it knee-deep a little lower down. The Melkedal now ends in a barrier of rock ('Bælte', girdle), over which the river falls about 590 ft. To this point also descends from the left the W. arm of the Melkedalsbræ, by which the descent from the Uranaastind may be made (p. 59).

We now enter the lower valley, the Skogadal, a broad basin. Above it tower the Skagastølstinder and the Styggedalstind. The Maradalsbræ descending from the Skagastølstinder is very striking.

The Skogadal is at first uninteresting, but the vegetation improves, and we come to woods of fine birches (whence the name, 'forest valley'). A walk of 2 hrs. from the 'Bälte', without defined path, brings us to the tourist-hut of — Skogadalsbøen (p. 75), about 10 hrs. from Eidsbugaren.

About $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. further the Gravdal route leads to the right (p. 76). We turn to the left and cross the Ulla by a bridge (2789 ft.). Beyond it the path to the right leads to the ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Guridals-Sæter, but we follow the good sæter-track to the W., on the N. bank of the Gjertvas-Elv or Styggedals-Elv, which descends from the Gjertvasbræ and the Keiser. On the S. bank is the deserted sæter of Gjertvasbøen (whence a path leads to the Vormelid-Sæter, 1 hr.; p. 75). The view behind us becomes grander and more open: to the left is the Smørstabbæ; at the end of the Store Utladal is the Kirke; more to the right are the Raudalstinder; opposite is the Skogadalsnaasi; farther to the right are the Melkedalstind, the Uraniastind, and, to the extreme right, the Falketind. After 1 hr. the stream has a small fall. To the left, at the base of the E. Styggedalstind, now usually called Gjertvastind (7710 ft.), lies the great Gjertvasbræ, opposite which we pass $\frac{1}{2}$ - $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. later.

A route about 1 hr. longer, and not difficult for good walkers, ascends past the N. side of the Gjertvasbræ to a low pass, and descends to the Styggedalsbræ and thence to the Helgedals-Sæter (see below). — Ascent of the Gjertvastind, see p. 79.

The path, now good, next leads to the (20 min.) Gjertvand, to the left of the lake is ascends steeply, over 'Ur and snow, to the 'Skar', and then, between the Styggedalsnaasi on the left and the Ilvasnaasi on the right, to the pass of ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr.) Keiseren (4928 ft.; Lapp 'Kaisa', mountain), on which lie the Ilvand and the snows of the Storfond. To the S.E., above the snow of the Styggedalstind, rises the Koldedalstind; to the N. is the Fanaraak; to the W. the great Jostedalsbræ, above the mountains on the Lysterfjord.

The path, nearly at the same level, passes the pond of Skauta. The Horúnger, especially those round the Styggedalsbotn, become conspicuous to the left. After $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. we cross the Helgedals-Elv, flowing W., sometimes scarcely fordable, and in $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. more reach a bare rocky height overlooking the Styggedalsbotn (p. 79), a huge basin of snow and ice. After $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. we see in the 'Botn' to the left the outflow of the Styggedals Glacier, and to the right the Steindals-Elv coming from the Fanaraak. In front of us, about 660 ft. below, lies the broad Helgedal, to which the path now rapidly descends.

In 20 min. we pass, on the left, the fine Skarutefos, formed by the confluence of the Helgedals-Elv and the Styggedals-Elv. The path then crosses the Steindals-Elv, usually not difficult, and leads through the broad valley, past the Helgedals-Sæter, to — k. From Aardal on the Sognefjord to Vetti. Vettisfos.

To Vetti $5\frac{1}{2}$ 6 hrs.: $1\frac{1}{4}$ - $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr. by steamer or rowing-boat; $1\frac{1}{4}$ hr. by carr.; the rest ($3\frac{3}{4}$ hrs.) on foot, the path being bad for riding. The Sognefjord steamers to Aardal are not timed very conveniently. This route is recommended as an approach to Jotunheim or to the Horunger, but the Vettisfos alone hardly repays.

Aardal, see p. 154. We walk up the Aardals-Elv, on the right bank of which we see gaard Hercid, to the ($\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) Aardalsvand, (16 ft.; 9 Kil. long; 409 ft. deep), flanked with abrupt cliffs and deep ravines. A small steamer plies on the lake five times a week ($1\frac{1}{4}$ hr.; 20 ø.); rowing-boats always to be had ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.; 1 pers. 80 ø., 2 pers. 1 kr. 32, 3 pers. 1 kr. 62 ø.). To the right we see the Stegafjeld, with the precipice of Opstegene on its E. side; beyond lies the Fosdal; high above is the Eldegaard, with a waterfall. Farther on, high up to the right, is the Løst-Sæter; then the Midnashamer, with the Eldeholt. To the left rises the Bottnjuv-kamp, with its huge precipice; to the right are 'Plads' Gjeithus and the Raudnæs. To the left lies the Nondal, with several gaards and the Nondalsfos. On rounding the Raudnæs we sight —

Farnæs, at the N.E. end of the lake, where we land. Bargain for horse or vehicle advisable. Guides Thomas A. Vetti (licensed) and Ola E. Hjelle (to Vetti unnecessary).

FROM FARNÆS TO FORTUN (8-10 hrs., with guide, 4 kr.). The bridge-path ascends N.W. through the Fardal or Langedal, past the Aare and Stikle sæters, to the Muradn-Sæter (3440 ft.), whence a path leads through the Lovardalskard (4698 ft.), a narrow pass at the base of the Austabotinder and the Soletinder (p. 79), into the Bærdal (sæter and refuge-hut) Thence to gaard Fuglesteg (2493 ft.; 'bird-path') and an extremely steep descent to Fortun (p. 77).

The road from Farnæs to Gjelle (7 Kil.) ascends the right (W.) bank of the Ulla. In $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. we see a fine cascade on the opposite side of the valley. Then, on the right, the mouth of the Aardøla, the effluent of the Tyinsjø (p. 57), and gaard Moen (poor quarters). About 5 Kil. from Farnæs the road crosses the Ulla, and 3 Kil. beyond the bridge it ends at Gjelle. To the right is the fine Gjellefos.

From Gjelle a poor and in part stony path ascends the Vettisgjel, a ravine 4-5 Kil. long. We first descend to the left, cross the river, and reach gaard Skaaren, just beyond which we re-cross to the left bank. We now thread our way through a chaos of stones above the wild Ulla. In 20 min. we come to a bridge on the left crossing to the Afdalsfos, 530 ft. high; but the fall is also seen from our path on the left bank, 10 min. further. Scenery imposing. The ravine ends ($\frac{3}{4}$ -1 hr.) at the Heljabakfos, a fall of the Ulla. Then a steep ascent to the Heljabakken, from which we have a view of the 'Plads' below, Gaard Vetti above, and three small waterfalls to the left. Lastly a climb of $\frac{1}{2}$ - $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. more to — Gaard Vetti (1030 ft.; plain quarters at Anfind Vetti's, bed 80, B. 70 ø., D. 1 kr., horses to be had for returning to Farnæs; Anfind J. Vetti is a guide certificated by the Turist-Forening).

We ascend the valley for $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. more (guide unnecessary) to the ⁴*Vettisfos*, or Vettismorkafos, a fall of the Morkedøla, which here plunges headlong into the Utlå ravine, forming a huge veil, 850 ft. high. We have an admirable view of the fall from a height near it, but we may cross a small bridge to the other bank to see it quite close (waterproof desirable). — Those who have 3 hrs. more to spare may ascend for $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. the path to the Vettismorka-Sæter, in order to enjoy the fine view from the platform above the fall.

⁵CIRCUIT OF THE HORÚNGER (with guide; a horse must be obtained at Farnæs or Gjelle, and provisions from Aardal). 1st Day: From Gaard Vetti by the Vettismorka-Sæter and the Fleskedals-Sæter (see below), in 7-8 hrs. to Skogadalsbeem (p. 75). 2nd Day: Across Pass Keiseren (p. 72) to Turtegrø (p. 78), and ascent of the Dyrhaugstind (p. 79). 3rd Day: By Fortun to Skjelden, see p. 77.

1. From Vetti to Tyinholmen.

9-10 hrs. A grand expedition (with guide; 1 pers. 6, each more 1 kr.)

Gaard Vetti and the Vettisfos, see above. From Vetti we ascend the Vettisgalder, N.E., in zigzags, and in $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. reach a plateau with a view of the Utladal to the N., and the Maradalsfos on the left. In $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. more we reach the top of the hill, where there are a few dying or dead pines. A path descends to the left through scrub and across the Morkedøla to the above-named *Platform overlooking the Vettisfos. We then return to the left bank of the Morkedøla, ascend its course, and (20 min.) cross it to the — Vettismorka-Sæter (2188 ft.), $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. from Vetti. To the W., at the head of the Støls-Maradal, rises the Riingstind with the Riingsbræ; below is the Maradalsfos; to the right, the Maradals-naasi. The view of the Horúnger becomes grander.

From the upper valley of the Morkedøla, on the S. side, rises the Gjeldedalstind (7198 ft.; first ascended by Carl Hall in 1884), and on the N. the Stølsnaastind (6790 ft.; first ascended by Mr. Slingsby in 1875). Both may be ascended, with guide, without serious difficulty. Grand views.

Our route leads through firs and birches, and ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) crosses the Fleskedals-Elv; it then ascends through wood to an open space where we enjoy a *View of the Skagastølstinder (p. 79) to the left. We descend in $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. more ($2\frac{1}{2}$ hrs. from Vetti) to the Fleskedals-Sæter (3149 ft.; humble quarters, when open). Splendid view of the Riingsbræ and other Horunger.

The route to Tyinholmen re-crosses the Fleskedals-Elv and follows that stream. To the N. we first observe the Friken (see below), and afterwards the precipices of the Fleskenaaastind (5853 ft.) between the Fleskedal and the Uradal. In $\frac{3}{4}$ -1 hr. we re-cross the stream and gradually ascend to the defile of Smaaget (about 4500 ft.), $2\frac{1}{2}$ hrs. from the Fleskedals-Sæter. *View of the Horúnger behind us. To the right of the rather monotonous route we first observe the Stølsnaastinder with a large glacier, then the Kolde-dalstind; to the left the Fleskenaaastind. We then descend rapidly to the Upper Koldedalsvand or Uradaismulen, and follow the red and white 'Varder' to the S., along the Kolledøla, to the Lower Koldedalsvand. We cross the Uradais-Elv, 2 hrs. from Smaaget, skirt the E. bank of the lake, and follow the stream to the upper end of Lake Tyin, on whose N. bank we soon reach Tyinholmen (p. 57), 2½ hrs. from the bridge over the Uradais-Elv.

m. From Vetti through the Utladal, Gravdal, and Lejrdal to Røjshejm.

1st Day. From Gaard Vetti to Skogadalsbøen (6-7 hrs.). Those who sleep here may ascend the Skogadalsnaasi in the afternoon. — 2nd Day. From Skogadalsbøen to Lejrvandsbøden (6-7 hrs.) or to Stethavn (8-9 hrs.) — 3rd Day. To Røjshejm (8-9 or 6-7 hrs.).

From Vetti (p. 73) to the Fleskedals-Sæter, 2½ hrs., see p. 74. Our route ascends the green slope of the Friken (4630 ft.; whose highest point remains to the right), following the 'Varder', descends a little, and then skirts the slope high above the Utladal, affording a *View of the Horunger, whose sharp peaks tower above a vast expanse of snow: first, to the left, the Skagastølstinder rising above the Midtmaradal, then the Styggedalstind, the E. buttress of the group, descending into the Maradal, with the extensive Maradalsbræ. To the S. in the prolongation of the Utladal, we see the Blejan and the Fresviksfjeld (p. 150); S.E., the Stølsnaastind; E., the pointed pyramid of the Uranaastind; N., the Skogadal and Utladal Mts.

In ¾ hr. more we see below us, to the left, on the other side of the valley, the Vormeli-Sæters (p. 72), and in front of us Skogadalsbøen and the Guridals-Sæters (p. 76). The path now descends rapidly through willow and birch scrub ('Vir') to (¾ hr.) a small birch-grove. In 10 min. more the lonely Uradal opens on the right, with an immense mass of 'Ur', fallen from the S. slopes. At the E. end of the Uradal rises the Uranaastind (p. 59). We cross the Uradaia by a small bridge, then follow a cattle-track ('Koraak') through sparse birch-wood at the foot of the Urabjerg, cross the Melkedøla or Skogadøla, and (½ hr.) reach — Skogadalsbøen (2914 ft.), consisting of a good club-hut and two sæters, inhabited from the end of June till the beginning of September, a good centre for excursions in the E. Horunger (p. 79). — Guides, Amund J. Odden and Gudbrand Rep.

From Skogadalsbøen we may scale the Uranaastind (p. 59); also the Skogadalsnaasi (6083 ft.; 3-4 hrs., there and back), by ascending the valley to the (½ hr.) Lusahoug (see below) and then climbing to the right.

The ascent of the Gjertvæstind (p. 79), and back, takes 8-10 hrs from Skogadalsbøen. The real ascent begins at Gjertvæsbøen (2950 ft.; p. 79) and leads up the Gjertvæснаasi. In 1-1½ hr. we reach the first plateau (4266 ft.), and in 3 hrs more the Gjertvæstøp (5686 ft.). About 500 ft. higher we reach the base of the peak, then ascend a slope of snow, partly over rock, and lastly by a broad crest to the summit.

We now leave the bridge above mentioned (p. 72; route to the pass of Keiseren) to the left and follow the E. bank of the Utlå. Beyond the abandoned Lusahoug-Sæter, we ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr.) reach the confluence of the Store and Vette Utlå. The latter descends on the left from the Vette ('little') Utladal, in which the Guridal Sæters are visible, and plunges in several falls over the rock-barrier of the Tunghoug. The Store Utlå, along which the steep path ascends, has forced its way through the barrier and foams in its channel far below. On the left rises the Hüllerhøi (5257 ft.). Fine view behind us of the Styggedalstinder with the huge Gjertvasbræ. Grand scenery.

We next reach a higher region of the Store Utladal, and ($2\frac{1}{2}$ hrs. from Skogadalsbøen) cross to the right bank of the Utlå by a bridge (3326 ft.; the route through the Raudal to the Gjendebod follows the left bank of the Utlå; see p. 61). The Muran-Sæter, once situated here, has disappeared. Grand view of the Styggedalstinder to the W., the Kirke to the N.E., and the Raudalstind to the E. We keep to the right bank. On the S. side we observe the Skogadalsnaasi and the second Melkedalstind; then a large waterfall descending from the Raudalsmund (p. 61), adjoining which on the N. rise the Raudalstinder. Nearly opposite the Raudal is the 'stone camp' of Stor Halleren, used by reindeer-stalkers. Looking back, we have an impressive view of the Horúnger. The valley now takes the name of Gravdal. We next have to wade (best near the Utlå) through the Sand-Elv, descending on the left from the Sjortningsbræ, an offshoot of the great Smørstabbæ, above which towers the curiously shaped Storebjørn (p. 70). The path ascends and the flora becomes Alpine. We reach a height of 4920 ft., and then, after a walk of 8-9 hrs., the — Lejrvandsboden on the Lejrvand (4930 ft.), where we find good quarters, guides, and horses at R. Elvesæter's Inn. The routes from the Gravdal, the Lejrdal, the Visdal, and the Høgvagel (p. 62) converge here.

From Lejrvandsboden we may scale the curiously shaped Kirke (7070 ft.), which towers to the E. in 4-5 hrs., the Stehetind in 4 hrs., the Sammelholstind (7165 ft.) in 6-7 hrs., and the Storebjørn (p. 70), rising from the Smørstabbæ, in 6-7 hrs.; the passage of the Smørstabbæ to Krosboden is also interesting. All these excursions, difficult in part, require a guide.

FROM THE LEJRVAND TO SPITERSTULEN IN THE VISDAL, $5\frac{1}{2}$ - $6\frac{1}{2}$ hrs., very fatiguing. We skirt the N. side of the Lejrvand and cross the effluent of the four tarns of the Kirkeglup, between the Kirke (right) and the Tverbottenhorn (left), as near as possible to its influx into the Lejrvand. We keep to the S. of the first three tarns, then at the upper end of the third lake cross the brook to the N. side of the valley, above the fourth tarn. We next descend into the Upper Visdal, wading through brooks from the Uladalstinder, picking our way through holes and bogs, and following the S. side of the stream as closely as possible. Shortly before we join the route from Gjende a path becomes traceable, leading to the bridges over two glacier-streams, the Uladalsaa and the Hejlstuguaa. Thence to Spiterstulen about 2 hrs. more, see p. 62.

Descending the Lejrdal, we skirt the vast Ymesfjeld (p. 68) on the right, but the curious-looking Skarstind (7891 ft.) is the only one of its peaks visible. To the left are the grand glacier tongues of the Smørstabbia and several of the Smørstabtinder. To the N. of the Storebræ rises the Storebratind (7307 ft.). In 2 hrs. from the Lejrvand we reach the sæter of — Slethavn (kept by Amund Elvesæter; good quarters). To the W. towers the Skagsnab (6560 ft., with guide, 8-9 hrs., there and back).

To the left, farther on, is Lofset (7320 ft.), with its glaciers. In 2 hrs. we pass the prettily situated Ytterdals-Sætre (3087 ft.; plain quarters), near a high fall of the Duma. We cross the Lejra (p. 69) and descend to (4-5 hrs.) Røjshejm (p. 67).

n. From Skjolden on the Sognefjord to Fortun and Turtegrø.

ROAD to Fortun (6 Kil). Good cart-track thence to Turtegrø (10 Kil., 2½-3 hrs.). Guide and horse from Fortun to Røjshejm (p. 157; 2 days), by Turtegrø 20 kr.; guide alone 10 kr. (not necessary for Turtegrø). — Good GUIDES for the Hórúnger region Ole J. Berge of Turtegrø and Ole N. Øiene of Fortun (both certificated and speak English), K. Furuaas of Fortundal, Halvar Halvorsen and Torger G. Eide of Skjolden, Knud Fortun of Fortun.

Skjolden (p. 156) lies at the N.E. end of the Lysterfjord, at the mouth of the Mørkereidsdal on the N. and the Fortundal on the E. The steamboat-pier lies below gaard Eide (Thorger Sulhejm's Inn, good, 4 kr. per day), on an old moraine.

The road to Fortun, from which that to Mørkerejd (p. 156) diverges at once to the left, across the bridge, follows the course of the Fortundals-Elv, past a large ice-house, and rounds the moraine of Eide. It then skirts the S. bank of the milky Eidsvund (10 ft.; 111 ft. deep; 1 sq. Kil. in area), beyond which we have a fine view into the Fortundal, with the huge precipice of the Jersingnaasi (3109 ft.) on the N. and the waterfalls mentioned below. We ascend the left bank of the stream. The fertile valley is enclosed by wooded slopes. To the N.E. rises the Fanaraak (p. 70), behind us lies the fjord. To the right the Lingsfos falls from a great height. The road skirts the overhanging rocks of the Smalaberg. On the right is the Kvæfos; then, high above us, Gaard Fuglesteg (p. 73).

6 Kil. Fortun i Lyster (147 ft.), a group of substantial gaards with a new church (Skyds-station). About 12 min. beyond the church, lies Fortuns Hotel (R., B., S. 1¼ each, D. 1¾ kr.; good).

Pleasant WALK up the Fortundal, with a view of the Jersingnaasi (see above) on the left, to the (10-12 min.) Ovabergs-Elv, which issues from the gorge of Skagagjel in a fine fall and descends to the Fortundals-Elv in two arms. Crossing both bridges, we ascend a path to the right, pass behind the cottages, and climb to a rock projecting over the fall (caution necessary). We may now return to the high-road and go on, a few paces further, to the bridge over the Fortundals-Elv, and (without crossing it) ascend a small rocky hill by the Havshelvos (with salmon-fishing apparatus), where we obtain a view of the beautiful valley in both directions, of the Liabære to the N., in the distance, and of the upper part of the Kvæfos to the S.

The road follows the left bank of the Fortuns-Elv, between the Tufsen on the left and the Sognefjeld on the right, to Svensher (6-7 Kil. from Fortun). Here it ends and is continued by a path, which crosses to the right bank. The valley becomes wilder. To the left is the Svådalsbrø, to the right the Liabro (8097 ft.). About $2\frac{1}{2}$ hrs. from Svenshi we may either ascend to the left over the Kleppekar or follow the great bend of the river past the poor gaard of Bagh. Farther on, beyond the sæters of Aa and Tværdal, we reach ($7\frac{1}{2}$ -8 hrs. from Fortun) the —

Nørstedals-Sæter (good quarters at T. Holmestad's), near the mouth of the two side-valleys of Middalen and Velladalen, and the starting point for several MOUNTAIN PASSES (guide necessary) — 1 Ascend the Fortundal, with a view of the Stenegbrø to the left, and at the foot of the Krossbakkenose turn to the right to the Itand (4310 ft.), a lake in the bleakest environment at the E base of the huge Tundredalskirke (6603 ft.) and covered with ice even in summer. We follow the E. bank of the lake (rough walking), ascend about 800 ft. more, then descend (fine view), partly over glaciers, to the Tundredals Sæter (12-14 hrs from Nørstedal), where the night is spent. Next day we descend by Kritingen to Aamot, whence we drive down the Ottadal to Lindshem and Skeaker (p. 86) — 2 Ascend the Fortundal, mount to the left at the Krossbakkenose to the Fortundalsbrø, and cross this, between the Tundredalskirke on the E and the Tværaadalskirke on the W (as described at p. 87), to the Sota-Sæter (9 hrs.). — 3. Ascend the Fortundal, cross the stream by a new bridge to the left, and ascend the Gravdal to the glacier. On the W side of this descend the Grændal to the Fosse-Sæter, in the Nørhøvedsdal (see p. 166).

A short-cut, beginning at Fortun's Hotel, and a cart-road winding up between the station and the church, ascend the steep Fortungalder, affording views of the Fortundal behind. The steepest part of the ascent takes $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. The road now ascends the fertile Bergsdal, passing the two gaards of Berge (1086 ft.), with a fine view of the falls of the Orabergs-Elv. We cross the Elv by an iron bridge and ascend in a wide curve to the left, past the gaard of Sørde. In $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. we reach the second section of the valley. The hilly road affords a view of the foaming Optunfos, by gaard Optun. Here begins another steep ascent of $\frac{1}{2}$ hr., passing the Eik-Sæter. At the top, on the right, a side-brook forms a waterfall, and the Orabergs-Elv forms the Dokkefos, near the sæter of Dokka. In front rises the nearer Dyrhangstind. To the right, $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. beyond Dokka, is the Simogalfos, past which a path crosses the river to the Rings-Sæters (p. 79). The main route remains on the right bank and passes below the sæter of Gjessinge. On the other side of the valley the stream descending from the Skagastelshotn forms several splendid falls (Turtegrøfossene). In $2\frac{1}{2}$ -3 hrs. from Fortun we reach — Turtegrø (2789 ft.; Turtegrø Hot. & Skyds-Stat., kept by Ole Berge, very fair; Ivar Øiene's Hot., kept by P. Tønjum; at both R., B., S. $1\frac{1}{4}$ - $1\frac{1}{2}$, D. 2 kr.), the chief centre for excursions to the Horünger, the grandest mountain-group in Jotunheim, with their needle-like peaks and mighty glaciers, which attract a steadily increasing number of climbers. Guides (p. 77) and horses always to be had. — About 10 min. beyond the inns the path forks: the left branch ascends rapidly to the Sognefjeld (p. 70), the right to Helgedal and Keiseren (p. 72).

One of the finest points of view, and the most easily reached is the Oskarshoug (3730 ft.), a few paces to the right of the path to the Sognefjeld, $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. above Turtegrø. At the top is a Vardø, commemorating the visit in 1860 of King Oscar II., when Crown Prince The view embraces the Fanaraak (p. 70); then the Helgedal, through which leads the route to the Keiseren Pass, farther to the right, more distant, the Styggedalstinder; nearer, the three huge Skagastølstinder; the Maradalstind, rising behind the extensive Maradalsbræ; to the right of the glacier, the Dyrhaugstinder; to the right of these, farther off, the Store Rिंगstind, the Soleitind, and Austabottind.

Still more extensive is the view from the *Klypenaasi (3756 ft.), N.W. of Gjessinge (p. 78) ascended in 2-2½ hrs (guide 2 kr.). Superb general survey of the Horunger range, from the Austabottind and Soleitind on the W. to the Styggedalstinder on the E.

Most interesting is the excursion to the *Skagastølsbotn, with the Skagastølsbræ (4430 ft.), behind which rise the Skagastølstinder. To the hut on the Skagastølstind (see below), and back, 5-6 hrs. (guide 5 kr.) The route crosses the stream twice, passing near the Skagastøls-Sæter, which lie on the right, and then ascends the valley between the spurs of the Dyrhaugstinder and the Kolnaasi (5112 ft.). The glacier projects into the lake in the Botn

To the W. of the Dyrhaugstinder opens the Ruingsbotn, a basin also containing a large glacier, enclosed by the Rिंगstind, Dyrhaugstind, and (W.) the Løvnaasi or Nonhøugen, prolonged to the S. by the Soleitind and the Austabottinder. The excursion from Turtegrø (and back) takes 6 hrs (guide 2 kr.). At the mouth of the valley lie the Rिंगs-Sæter.

We may also visit the Styggedalstind (6 hrs., there and back; guide 2 kr.), the easternmost in the Horunger, with the superb Styggedalstindbræ, bounded on the W. by the Kolnaasi, E. by the Simlenaasi, and S. by the Styggedalstinder. The route passes the Helgedals-Sæter (p. 72).

One of the finest easier ascents is that of the N. Dyrhaugstind (3234 ft., about 4 hrs; guide 10 kr.), the nearest of several peaks of the Dyrhaugstind. We ascend rapidly past the Skagastøl to the Dyrhaug, and climb its crest, partly over 'Ur', to the summit. The view embraces, to the E., the Skagastølstinder and to the right of them the wild Maradalstinder; W. the Soleitind, Austabottind, and Rिंगstinder; due S. the other Dyrhaugstinder. Lower down, on the left, lies the Skagastølsbræ, on the right the Rिंगsbræ. Between the Skagastøls and Dyrhaugstinder we see the snow-mountains on Lakes Bygdin and Tyin; N. the Fanaraak and the Smørstabbtinder; W. the vast Jostedalbræ as far as the Lodalskaup (p. 159).

An Englishman Mr. W. C. Slingsby, and a Dane, Hr. C. Hall, have been the chief conquerors of peaks of the Horunger once deemed invincible. Among the easier are the N. Skagastølstind (about 7220 ft.; ascended by Keilhau and Boeck, 1820; guide 6 kr.), the passage of the Skagastølsbræ to the Skagastøls Hut, which lies on the 'skar' or 'band' (ca. 5740 ft.) above the Skagastølsbotn (3-4 hrs. from Turtegrø); also the Fanaraak (p. 70); beyond the limits of the Horunger district; guide 5 kr.).

More trying are the highest Dyrhaugstind (6897 ft., guide 15 kr.); the S. Dyrhaugstinder (ca. 6460 ft.); the Gjertvæstind (7708 ft.; guide 10 kr.); the Stølsmaradalstind (6616 ft.); the N. Midmaradalstinder (ca. 6390 ft.; guide 15 kr.); the middle Rिंगstind (6283 ft.; guide 15 kr.); the E. Rिंगstind (ca. 6230 ft.); the Skagastølsneb (ca. 7215 ft.); the S. Maradalstind; the passage of the Styggedalstind to the Gjertvæstind

For experts only, with able guides, are the Store Rिंगstind (6910 ft.; there and back 9-10 hrs.; first ascended by C. Hall in 1890; guide 15 kr.); the Soleitind (6825 ft.; 10 hrs.); the highest Maradalstinder (ca. 7400 ft.; the Midmaradalstind (6810 ft.; guide 20 kr.); the pass over the Ruingsbræ and the Stølsmaradalstind to Vetti (p. 73); and the pass from the Midmaradalstind over the Midmaradalstinder to the Stølsmaradalstind.

Still more serious ascents, taking 12-16 hrs.: the Veste Skagastølstind (7710 ft.; Hall, 1885; 2 guides, 50 kr.), the Centraltind (7753 ft.; Hall, 1885; 1 guide 25, 2 guides 40 kr.); the Store Austabottind (7225 ft.; Hall, 1885; 1 guide 25, 2 guides 40 kr.), the Mellemste Skagastølstind (7566 ft.; Hall, 1884); the Store Styggedalstind (7805 ft.; Hall, 1885, 1 guide 25, 2 guides 40 kr.); and the Store Skagastølstind (7723 ft.), once thought impossible.

like the Matterhorn, but conquered by Slingsby in 1876 and now ascended several times every year (guide 35, 2 guides 50 kr.; a hut with a few rugs is the only sleeping place; thence to the summit 3, descent 2½ hrs.)

A splendid GLACIER WALK of 12-14 hrs. is the passage of the Skagastølstind or Midmaradalsskar (5781 ft.), between the Skagastølstind and the Dyrhaugstinder, over the Midmaradalsskræ to the Midmaradal and the Utladal (p. 74), and down the latter to Vetti (p. 73).

10. From Christiania through the Gudbrandsdal to Stryn on the Nordfjord, Marok on the Geiranger Fjord, or Aandsnæs on the Romsdals Fjord.

The distance from Christiania to Visnæs (Stryn), on the Nordfjord, or to Marok, on the Geiranger Fjord, is 464 Kil.; to Aandsnæs, on the Romsdals Fjord, 457 Kil. Each of the three routes takes 3-4 days, and in each the last day's journey is the finest.

a. Railway from Christiania by Hamar to Otta in the Gudbrandsdal.

297 Kil. Express (to Lillehammer, thence ordinary train) in 8¾ hrs. (fares 23 10, 16.00, 10 30 kr.); ordinary train in 10 hrs. (14.00 or 8.70 kr.).

Christiania, see p. 8. As we leave the station, we have a fine view of Christiania and the fjord to the left, and of the Egeberg and the suburb of Oslo to the right. 4 Kil. Bryn (260 ft.); 7 Kil. Alna, junction of a branch-line to Grefsen (p. 44); 11 Kil. Grorud (420 ft.); 18 Kil. Strømmen (485 ft.). The train crosses the Nit-Elv, the N.W. feeder of the Øieren.

21 Kil. Lillestrøm (355 ft.; Rail. Rest.), junction for Kongsvinger and Stockholm (see p. 97). The railway from here to Eidsvold (1851) is the oldest in Norway. Scenery uninteresting; but at Frogner (405 ft.) and Kløften (545 ft.) we get a glimpse of blue mountains to the W. Beyond Jesseim a gravelly region, scantily wooded. At Dal, with its pretty villas, the scenery improves. Two tunnels.

68 Kil. Eidsvold (413 ft.; Rail. Rest.; Jernbane Hotel*, at the station) lies on the right bank of the broad, clear Vormen, which descends from Lake Mjøsen to the Glommen. Near the station is the Eidsvoldbad. By the church is a 'Bautasten' in memory of Vergeland, the poet, discoverer of the mineral spring. In the old mansion of Eidsvoldsværk (now owned by the state, and adorned with portraits of members of the diet), 5 Kil. S.W., the Norwegian constitution (p. lvii) was adopted in 1814.

The train ascends the right bank of the Vormen. Beyond (75 Kil.) Minne, near the Minnesund, it crosses the river by an iron bridge (65 ft. high, 396 yds. long), and soon reaches Lake Mjøsen, the E. bank of which it skirts.

Lake Mjøsen (397 ft.; area 138.7 sq. M.; depth 1482 ft.; length 62 M.; greatest width 9½ M.), 'Norway's inland sea', extends between the fertile districts of Gudbrandsdalen and Hedemarken to the N. and E., and Thoten and Svre Romerike to the W. and S. In spite of its immense depth, its original connection with the sea is doubted, the depression being now attributed to dislocation of strata. With the exception of the Skreidfjeld (2673 ft.), on the W. bank, the hills are of moderate height.

Several STEAMERS ply on the lake: From Edsvold by Hamar and (5 hrs.) Gjøvik to Lillehammer (7½ hrs., Com. 440); also from Hamar to Gjøvik (Com. 443). The banks with their fields, woods, and pastures, farm-houses and hamlets, are pretty but rather monotonous. The Hunner Ørret is an esteemed kind of trout peculiar to Lake Mjøsen.

84 Kil. Morskogen (275 ft.). Fine view of the bay of Feiring, opposite. The train enters Hedemarkens Amt. 97 Kil. Espen (427 ft.), on the picturesque bay of Korsødegård; 102 Kil. Tangen (538 ft.), with its church. We ascend through woods, pass the small station of Stensrud and (114 Kil.) Stange (729 ft.), and then descend through a fertile district. 119 Kil. Ottestad (610 ft.), on the pretty Akersvik, which the train crosses by an embankment; the road, to the right, crosses by a wooden bridge.

126 Kil. Hamar (415 ft.; Rail. Rest.*, D. 1½ kr.; Grand Hot., by the station, very fair. R. 2-6 kr., B. 1 kr. 20 ø., D. 1½, S. 1¼ kr.: Victoria, Strand-Gade, near the station), a thriving town with 5700 inhab., seat of the district governor and of a bishop, lies between the Furnæsford and the Akersvik, which is crossed by the bridge above mentioned. Hamar dates from 1152, when a bishopric was founded here by the papal nuncio Nicholas Breakspere, an Englishman, afterwards Pope Adrian IV. It was destroyed by the Swedes in 1567. The station contains a small Railway Museum. A visit should be paid to the ruins of the Cathedral, dating from the 12th cent., ½ hr. N.W., near the large farm-house of Storhammer. (We follow the Strand-Gade to the left on leaving the station, then the Storhammer-Gade, and pass below the railway outside the town.) The four round arches of the nave, resting on massive piers, are most picturesque.

Between Hamar and Gjøvik steamers (see p. 80) ply 2-3 times daily (in 1½-2¼ hrs.; fares 1 kr. 20, 80 ø.), passing the fertile Helgø ('holy isle').

Gjøvik (422 ft.; Hot. Victoria, Gjøvik's Hotel, both good), capital of Toten Fogderi, with 3430 inhab., at the mouth of the Hunselv, is the terminus of the Nordbane from Christiania (p. 44). To the N., 1 Kil. on the road to Vingnæs (and Lillehammer), is the church of Hunn.

The road from Gjøvik to (37 Kil.) ODNÆS (p. 45) leads by Stangstuen. — From Gjøvik to LILLEHAMMER (p. 82) steamboat once daily in 2½ hrs.; also a Skyds road (46 Kil.) on the W. bank, by Screen and Gryte, to Vingnæs. and ferry thence to Lillehammer.

FROM HAMAR TO OTTA. — The train skirts the Furnæsford, a large bay of Lake Mjøsen. View of the Helgø to the left.

133 Kil. Jesnes, 140 Kil. Brumunddalen, an industrial village; 144 Kil. Veldre, near the N. end of the fjord, with a pretty view; 153 Kil. Tande, above Ringsaker (the church contains an early-Flemish altar-piece), near it, on the peninsula of Stansholmen, are the remains of a castle of the 13th cent. We now descend through a tunnel to (156 Kil.) Moelven and skirt the long narrow N. arm of Lake Mjøsen. 160 Kil. Ring; 163 Kil. Brøttum; 175 Kil. Bergseng. Two tunnels.

184 Kil. Lillehammer (588 ft., 191 ft. above the lake; Ingberg's Hot., by the station and near the pier; Victoria Hot.*, R. 2-5, B. 1 $\frac{1}{4}$, D. 2, S. 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ kr.; Grand Hot., good, R. 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ -4 kr., Ormsrud's H.; Breiset H.), a town with 5840 inhab., several saw-mills, a cotton-mill, etc., stretches for more than a mile along the road to the Gudbrandsdal and is divided into a N. and S. half by the brook Mesna. The place is of early origin, but only became a town in 1827. The railway-station and the church are at the S. end of the town. To the S. of the station, on the Maihøg ($\frac{1}{4}$ hr.), is an open-air museum with eleven old Norse cottages (adm. 50 ø.); the Ljørestue dates from about 1450; Per Gynt's Stue, of about 1600, contains a collection of old weapons. — Near the Mesna bridge a finger-post indicates the way to ($\frac{1}{4}$ M.) the Helvedeshøl, 'hell cauldron', a ravine with the fine waterfalls of the Mesna — A little way S. of the station is a bench on the roadside, overlooking the narrow lake.

Opposite Lillehammer, on the W bank (ferry from the pier), lies the gaard of Vingnæs (p. 81).

At Lillehammer begins the Gudbrandsdal, watered by the Lougen, or Laagen (p. xxix). The inhabitants (about 50,000) are spirited and prosperous, and still cling to old customs. The valley is fairly well cultivated. The arable land has been laboriously reclaimed by the removal of stones, often seen in heaps on the roadside. The syllables rud, rod, or ryd, with which Norse names often end, refer to the 'uprooting' and clearing process. Cattle and horse-breeding thrives. The scenery is pleasing, but on the whole sombre.

The railway skirts the E. side of Lillehammer and crosses the Mesna. Both sides of the valley are wooded. On the hill to the right is the sanatorium of Balberg-Kampen. The Gausdal soon opens to the left.

192 Kil. Faaberg; the church of that name is 2 Kil. distant on the right bank, to which a bridge crosses.

The road to the bridge descends from the station in a bend, ascends on the opposite bank to the church of Faaberg, and leads up the GAUSDAL (fast stations). Passing Aulestad, the country-seat of the poet Bjørnson, it goes on to (20 Kil.) Veisten, (11 Kil.) Moen, and (17 Kil.) Kvisberg.

The line ascends the left bank of the Lougen. 197 Kil. Hunder, near Fossegaard (pension). The train crosses the river near the Hunnerfos (visible from the bridge, and also to the right further on), where Hunner-Ørreter, or lake-trout, are caught, and then skirts the steep Hoknafjeld (2407 ft.). — 203 Kil. Øier; its church stands on the other bank, halfway up the hill among several gaards. To the right a fine view of the broad green river and the wooded mountains.

214 Kil. Tretten (Hot. Losnaøs, good) lies at the S. end of Lake Losna (598 ft.), an expansion of the Lougen, abounding in fish. The church of Tretten lies on the left bank, reached by a bridge. Up the valley are seen the snow-clad Róndane (p. 94), which look quite low in the distance.

From Tretten a good road leads (a drive of 1 hr.) to Wings's Sanatorium (1870 ft.; open 10th June to 10th Sept.; R. 2½-3, B. 1¼, D. 2½, S. 1¼, board 8½ kr.). In 1½-2 hrs. more we reach Høifjelds Sanatorium i Gausdal (2575 ft.; R. 30-85, double R. 80-140, board 90 kr. per month, open 10th June to 1st Sept.), 15 Kil. from Tretten (diligence twice daily, 4 kr.). Pleasant walks. The Skedkamp (3695 ft., 1-1½ hr.) and Præstekamp (4090 ft.; 2 hrs.) are very fine points of view.

We follow the W. bank of Lake Losna, skirting the Kiliknappen (3548 ft.) and other abrupt heights. 224 Kil. Losna. Nearing (232 Kil.) Myre, we see the white church of Faavang on the opposite bank. An iron bridge crosses to the hamlet of Tromsnaes (Tromsø Hot.), on the left bank. Next, also on the opposite bank, we observe, on a wooded height, the old church of Ringebu, mentioned in 1270, but transformed into a cruciform church with a spire in the 17th cent. We penetrate the Ranklev by a tunnel and cross the Lougen and the Vaale. — 243 Kil. Ringebu (Vaalebro Skyds-stat., by the rail. station, Bø Pension, ¼ hr.), near gaard Skjæggestad.

From Skjæggestad a lonely path leads to (1 day) Solliden, and thence either to the pretty Ainevand, and by Foldal to Jervin on the *Dovre*fjeld (p. 91); or down the valley of the Aine-Elv to Atna (p. 94).

The bed of the stream widens. The train runs on embankments on the left bank, skirting the Kjønnaas, and crossing the Frya. — 252 Kil. Hundorp (Inn). Gaard Huntorpe is said to have been once the seat of Dale Gudbrand, the heathen opponent of St. Olaf. Gaard Hove was a heathen place of sacrifice. Near it are several barrows ('Kæmpehouge').

From the right bank near Hundorp a road ascends by Tofte Høylið's Sanatorium (about 1970 ft.) to the Fagerhei Sanatorium (20 Kil.; carr. in 5½ hrs.); another to Lauvaasen Sanatorium (about 2950 ft.; 15 Kil.; carr. in 4 hrs.).

On the right is the church of Søndre Fron. The train skirts the left bank of the broad river, which soon becomes a torrent, and beyond (260 Kil.) Harpefoss (Inn) flows through a narrow gorge (view to the left).

From the station a road leads over the 'Harpe-Bro' and through the Skordal to the (12 Kil.; carr. in 3 hrs.) Golaa-Høfjelds Sanatorium (about 2950 ft.; R. 2-4½, B. 1, D. 2½, S. 1, pens. 6-9 kr.), on the Golaa-Vand. — The Valsæter Sanatorium is 1 hr. farther.

The river widens further on. To the E. we see the Solbraa-kampen. Beyond the church of Søtorp or Nordre Fron we reach —

Lougen to (1 Kil.) the Furuheim Hotel & Sanatorium (R. 1 $\frac{1}{4}$ -3, B. 1, D. 2, S. 1, board 3 kr.; baths; Engl. spoken). — From Vinstra to Jotunheim, see p. 64.

The following sanatoria are also commended. On the Kongstikampen, 5 Kil. from Vinstra, the Kongst. Sanatorium (1640 ft.; R. 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ -2 $\frac{1}{2}$, pens. 3-4 $\frac{1}{2}$ kr.); the Fæfjor Sanatorium (2886 ft., R. from 1 $\frac{1}{2}$, board 3 $\frac{1}{2}$ kr.), three houses and several villas, on the Fæfjorkampen, 11 Kil. from Vinstra; also the Fæfjorkampens Sanatorium (3608 ft.), etc.

The scenery becomes wilder and grander. The valley turns N., and then W. By the road-side is a monument to Capt. Sinclair (see below).

278 Kil. Kvām (873 ft.), with a church. A poor district, with stunted pines and birches; cottages ('Stuer') roofed with turf.

287 Kil. Sjoa, opposite the mouth of the Sjoa.

A road ascends the pine-clad Sjoadal to (9 Kil.) Hedalen's Hot. & Sanatorium (R. 1, B. 1, D. 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ kr., S. 80 ø.) and (6 Kil.) gaard Ellingsbø (burned down in 1903), near the church of Hedalen. Bjølstad, 9 Kil. farther, is an interesting old gaard, the owner of which claims royal descent. The main building dates from the beginning of the 19th cent., the others from the 17th-18th. — FROM ELLINGSBØ TO GJENDESHEIM, a day's journey (skyds to Hovde 4 $\frac{1}{2}$, two pers. 7 kr.). The tolerable road skirts the left bank of the Sjoa, and after about 12 Kil. forks. The right branch leads to the Randsverk-Sæter (p. 66); the left branch crosses the Rinda and follows the Sjoadal, which here bends to the S., to (17 Kil.) Hovde (2070 ft.; Hovde Hot., R., B. or S. 80 ø.). From this point the road (skyds to Hind-Sæter 4, for 2 pers. 6 kr.) ascends the Sjoadal, which turns W. and contracts to the ravine of Ridderspranget, so named from the legend that the 'Valders-Ridder' sprang over it with his bride in his arms when chased by the 'Sandbu-Ridder'. About 5 Kil. from Hovde we join the old route from the Randsverk-Sæter and follow this to the S., crossing the Veø-Elv, to (15 Kil. from Hovde) the Hind-Sæter (Hot.), at the influx of the Store Henden, which descends from the Nautgardstind (p. 65). From the Hind-Sæter we go on to the Rusti-Sæter (p. 65) and the (10 Kil.) Besstrand-Sæter (p. 65, skyds 2 $\frac{1}{2}$, for 2 pers. 3 $\frac{3}{4}$ kr.). We then row (boat, if procurable, about 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) on the Øvre Sjødalsvand, or walk on the W bank of the lake, to (1 $\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) the Bes-Sæter, and in 1 hr. more reach Gjendesheim (comp. p. 65). Note that in the opposite direction boats are always to be had at the Bes-Sæter, but a vehicle requires to be ordered from the Hind-Sæter.

The train re-crosses the Lougen by a long bridge, crosses the green Otta-Elv near its mouth, and reaches the terminus at —

297 Kil. Otta (944 ft.; Grand Hot., R. 1-2 $\frac{1}{2}$, B. 1.80, D. 2 kr.; Blekastad's or Otta Hotel, R. 1 $\frac{1}{4}$ -2, B. 1, D. 1 $\frac{1}{2}$, S. 1 kr., both good; Bjørkheim Hot., R. 1-3, B. 1, D. 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ -2, S. 1-1 $\frac{1}{4}$ kr.; Skyds Stat., kept by Loftsgaard; Engl. Ch. Serv. in summer), situated between the Lougen and the Otta-Elv. A bridge crosses the Lougen to the Gudbrandsdal road, on which, a little lower down, is the steep hill of Kvingen. On 26th Aug., 1612, when Col. Ramsay and Capt. Sinclair with 900 Scottish auxiliaries, who had landed a few days before at the Klungenæs on the Romsdalsfjord, were trying to force their way through Norway to join the Swedes, then at war with the Norwegians, they were intercepted by an ambush of 300 Norwegian peasants at this spot. The natives had felled trees and collected piles of stones on the hill above the road, which they hurled down on the invaders. Most of the Scots, including Capt.

Sinclair, were thus crushed, and almost all the survivors were put to the sword. Col. Ramsay was taken prisoner. [See p. liv; also Thomas Mitchell's 'History of the Scottish Expedition to Norway in 1613' (London, T. Nelson & Sons), and Laing's 'Norway'.] A tablet on the rock to the left, with the inscription 'Erindrings om Bøndernes Tapperhed' recalls the 'peasants' bravery'.

From Otta to the Myssu-Sæter and the Rondane, see p. 94.

b. Road from Otta by Grotlid to Stryn, on the Nordfjord, or to Marok, on the Geiranger Fjord.

167 Kil. to either destination SKYDS (pay for 213 or 216 Kil.). From Otta to Grotlid 128 (pay 154) Kil., for 1 pers. 26.18, for 2 pers. 39.27 kr.; from Grotlid to Hjelle i Stryn 41 (pay 59) Kil., for 1 pers. 10.03, for 2 pers. 15.05 kr.; from Grotlid to Marok 41 (pay 62) Kil., for 1 pers. 10.54, for 2 pers. 15.81 kr. — Carr. and pair from Otta, for 2, 3, or 4 pers. to Hjelle 35.85, 106.50, 127.80 kr.; to Marok 97.20, 108.20, 129.60 kr.

The journey from Otta to Hjelle or to Marok takes 2½-3 days. The best night-quarters are at Friisvold, Fossheim, Polfossen, and Grotlid, and on the Stryn route the Videsæter also; but as there are other good stations, the journey may easily be broken otherwise. As on all the other routes to the W. coast of Norway, the last day's journey (from Grotlid onwards) is the finest.

The road ascends the monotonous Ottadal, on the left bank of the foaming river, partly through wood.

We pass the old gaards of Tolfstad, Bjørnstad, and Snerle. The valley expands; the snow-capped Lomsegg (p. 69) becomes visible in the distance. Near Sørum our route is joined by the road from (21 Kil.) Laurgaard and Nordre Snerle (p. 88).

12 Kil. Sørum (Sørum Hot., R. 1½, B. or S. 1¼, D. 2 kr., good), ½ M. beyond which is the old church of Vaage, first mentioned in 1270, and expanded, partly with the old materials, into a cruciform church in the 17th cent. The old ornamentation points to the early 12th cent. as the date of the original building.

The road follows the S. bank of a lake 36 Kil. long (on which a motor-boat plies), called Vaagevand (1135 ft.) in its E., and Ottavand in its W. half. About 12 Kil. from Sørum is gaard Volden.

Near Volden diverges, to the left, a rough road which leads past the Lemindsjø to Randsværk, a large group of sæters (29 Kil.; p. 84; Tourists' Inn). A path leads thence W., on the Rinda, to the Fugli-Sæter (quarters). Farther N. it rounds the Fuglha (5164 ft.) to the plateau of the Ramtjerne and (2 hrs.) descends into the Vodal. It then ascends on the left bank of the Veø to Nybø, Berginustbø, and (4½ hrs.) Glitterheim (p. 67).

Near gaard Storvik the road crosses the Tesse-Elv, which descends from the Tessevand (3008 ft.; Nordsæter Pens.), and forms fine cascades. (The lowest may be visited in ½ hr.; the highest, the Oxefos, in 1½-2 hrs.; comp. p. 63.) Opposite, on the N. bank of the lake, rises the Skardhø (5346 ft.). — Beyond the church of Gardmo we reach — 21 Kil. Hot. Friisvold, or Friisvold (R. 1½-2¼, B., D., or S.

1½ kr., good). Farther on, the Lomsklev hides the lake, which now takes the name of Ottavand. Facing us rises the huge Loms-egg (p. 69), at the foot of which the Bærra descends from the snow-mountains of Jotunheim. Near the bridge over the stream, which has a fall here, is the —

15 Kil. (pay for 17) Hot. Fossheim (R. 1-3, D. 1-1¾ kr., good, beyond it. Hot. Fossberg, good). The Røysheim road diverges to the left (p. 67). To the right, on an old moraine, is the church of Lom (1295 ft.), a 'Stavekirke' (p. 28), first spoken of in 1270, afterwards made cruciform, when the W. side was lengthened and the spire built. The apse is old and has the usual round tower. The interior, with nave and aisles, borne by 26 flat-hewn columns, has been deprived of its original character by the new ceiling. A silk flag with a hand holding a sickle is said to recall the first irrigation of this district, where rain is scarce. By the Præstegaard is an old 'Stabbur' (store-house).

We continue to follow the S. bank of the Ottavand. On the right, beyond the lake, rises the Loms-Horúng (5660 ft.). The country is fairly well peopled. Rye and barley are the chief crops.

12 Kil. (pay 14) Aanstad (good Inn), near the church of Skeaker, or Skiaaker, which lies a little to the right of the road.

Route to Melmen in the Romsdal, see p. 89; guide, Svend P. Kvitingen.

10 Kil. (pay for 14) Flækøi (Inn, very fair), to the left of the road. To the left, a little farther, are the former station of Lindsheim and the Nordbergs-Kirke. On the other side of the valley is the mouth of the Gjedingsbak, coming from the Sletflykamp (4484 ft.). Facing us appears the Openaaase (4264 ft.).

At the Domma Bridge (9 Kil. from Flækøi), by which the road crosses to the left bank of the Otta-Elv, we look into two side-valleys: S. the Tundradal, headed by the snow-clad Tundredalskirke; W. the Brotedal.

In the BROTEDAL a road leads by Aamot to (about 9 Kil. from the Domma) Mork (2192 ft.), and past the (¾ hr.) Dyringen Sæter to (7-8 Kil.) the lower end of the Liavand. A path, leaving the road at Dyringen and crossing the bridge, ascends on the S. bank of the brook and the S. side of the Liavand (2433 ft.) to the (1½ hr.) Brænden or Brenn Sæter (occupied till mid-Aug.). It leads thence, with views of the Rivenaaskuten and the Tværdaalskirke, to the (¼ hr.) — tingen's), a starting-point for several grand MOUNTAIN EXCURSIONS (with guide). 1. Ascend by the brook issuing from the Sotkjærn, and cross it into the Tværraad. From this valley ascend the Steindal to the right and cross the glacier between the Tundredalskirke (6500 ft.) and the Tværraadskirke (6828 ft.) to the Fortundalsbrø; then a rough descent to the Nørstedals-Sæter (p. 78; 9 hrs. from the Sota-Sæter) — 2. As above to the Tværraad, then to the right across the Kollbrø to the Fjeldsh-Sæter (see p. 156). — 3. From the Sota-Sæter cross the bridge, follow the N. bank of the stream, and skirt the Røkjeskaalvand (3066 ft.) to the ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Musubytt-Sæter; next ascend the Svarbygdal to the Hanspike (4523 ft.), and rapidly descend the Sprangdal to the Faaberg-Sæter (p. 158).

To the left, below, the Otta-Elv forms the Siberghofos. The road ascends steeply through a chaos of fallen rocks ('Ur'), overgrown with pines, and above the ravine reaches the Høgerbottenvand, from which the foaming river issues. The lake contains several islands. In the background rises the Opnaase; to the right, on the hill, lie the Høgerbotten-Sæter (3020 ft.). Passing two saw-mills, we come to the Frederiksvand and the long Polvand (1930 ft.). Near the end of the latter, on the opposite bank, opens the Rauddal, above which, on the N., towers the snow-clad Skridulaupen, with the Framruthovd and Glitterhø.

21 Kil. (pay for 32) Polfossen (Polfos Hot.*, R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ -2, B. or S. $1\frac{1}{2}$. D. 2 kr.; landlord speaks English), in wood, near the straggling Polfos, which we survey from a bridge. Trout-fishing.

Crossing the bridge, we may go N.W. to the Botten-Sæter, on the Glitter-Elv, the effluent of the Glittervand; or S.W. to the ($1\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) Framrust-Sæter (2880 ft.), at the lower end of the Rauddal. From this sæter a grand route, much used before the opening of the Videdal road (p. 173), ascends (W.) the Rauddal, skirting the long Rauddalsvand, crossing several brooks, and mounting past the Rauddalsbrø to the Kamphamre (4068 ft.). Then a steep descent to the Sundal and the Sundals-Sæter, and through the Hjelledal to Hjelle, on the Strynsvand (p. 172; 14-15 hrs.). — By crossing the Framrust-Elv, S. of the Framrust-Sæter, mounting the hill, and following it to the S.E., we reach (1 hr.) Mork (p. 86), the starting-point of the passes to the Sogne district.

The road ascends past the falls of the Otta-Elv. The valley expands and takes the name of Billingsdalen. We cross the Kværnau, which descends in a series of falls on the right from the Synstaalkirke (4362 ft.). Thousands of fallen trees rot on the ground, as there was no way of utilizing them before the road was made. We cross the Thordals-Elv, coming from the N., fed by many glaciers and snow-fields. On hills of debris, to the right, lie the sæters of Billingen; to the S., on the opposite side of the Otta, are the Aasen-Sæter. We next pass the Vuluvand, on the left, into which the Vuludals-Elv falls, and on the right the Ny-Sæter (2683 ft.). The scenery becomes grander. The road is now nearly level. A little to the left is the Skridulaupbrø, with the Glitterhø and Skridulaupen. In the distance, between these and the Kvillenaava (6261 ft.), is the great white expanse of the Jostedalsbrø. We then pass the small Heimdalsvand and Grotlidsvand. On the latter lies the old 'Fjeldstue' (p. 90) of Grotlid or Grjotlien, which affords tolerable quarters when the hotel, 2 Kil. further, is full.

20 Kil. (pay for 27) Hot. Grollid see p. 174. The road divides here. S.W. to Hjelle i Styrn; N.W. to Marok i Geiranger (see pp. 174, 173. and pp. 174-176).

c. Road from Otta to Aandsnæs on the Romsdals-Fjord.

180 Kil. MOTOR CAR from Otta to Aandsnæs in 10 hrs (30 kr each per-on). SKIDS in 2½-3 days; 1 pers 27 57, 2 pers. 41 80 kr.; carr and pair for 2, 3. or 4 pers 80, 90, 100 kr — Superb scenery on the last part of the route. Finest parts for walking between Stuefoten and Ormeym and between Flatmark and Aandsnæs. Good night-quarters at Laurgaard, Brændhøugen, Tofteemoen, Domaas, Holsæt, Lesjeværk, Melmen. Stuefoten, and Ormeym.

We cross the Lougen and ascend N. in the Gudbrandsdal, on the left bank of the river. Beyond the bridge over the Ula, which near its influx into the Lougen, and close to the road, forms the Däänofos ('thunder-fall'), we see the church of Sel to the left. The churchyard wall is built of slate, and many of the tombstones are of 'klæbersten' or soap-stone (saponite). The conspicuous mountain to the N., heading the valley, is the Formokampen (4836 ft.). The valley bends to the N.W. We pass many deposits of debris ('Skred'), the largest near Laurgaard, and cross the river.

15 Kil. Laurgaard (1040 ft.; Inn*, D. 2 kr.), a drive of 1½ hr. from Otta.

The road on which Laurgaard lies leads W., up the valley of the affluent of the Selsvand, and across a wooded height to Sørum (21 Kil; p. 85), but is not recommended.

A bridle-path, diverging to the right from the road, a little before it crosses the bridge in the Rosten Ravine, ascends steeply to (about 11 Kil.) the Hørringen Sæter (about 3280 ft.; Hot. Ulsvoldssæter, pens 2½ kr.; Hot. Laurgaardsæter), whence the Formokampen (see above) is ascended.

We return to the left bank of the Lougen. The road leads through a "Ravine formed by the river in forcing its passage, in a series of rapids and cataracts, through the rock-barrier of Rusten. The grandest point is at the Bridge which carries the road to the right bank, about ¾ hr. from Laurgaard. We walk to the bridge, and order vehicles to follow. — Beyond the ravine we enter an Alpine valley, where cultivation is poor. A little beyond the bridge is the Rosten Hotel. On the right rises the Rustensfjeld, on the left the Kjølen, the mountain range between the Lessø Valley and Vaage. Large snow-fields are seen even in July. The broad floor of the valley is covered with debris and sand, overgrown with stunted pines.

12 Kil. Brændhøugen (1375 ft.; good Inn), Brennhøugen, or Brønnhaug (1½-1¾ hr.'s drive from Laurgaard) belongs to the parish of Dovre. The Jetta (5433 ft.), to the W., affords a fine view of the Dovrefjeld, the Róndane, and Jotunheim.

Crossing the Lougen, we pass the new savings-bank, the school, and then the church of Dovre (1555 ft.), on an ancient moraine. Most of the gaards are on the sunny side of the valley ('Solside'). A little beyond the Hot. Kirkestuen, on the hill to the right, lies the old king's-gaard of Tofte.

12 Kil. Toftemoen (Fru Tofte's Inn, good and moderate), $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.'s drive from Brændhøugen, is an 'inhabited site' (Tuft) on a 'sandy plain' (Mo). The road ascends over huge masses of detritus to gaard Lid. Fine view of the deep ravine of the Lougen, with the Kjelen rising above it. The distant peak to the N.W. is the Store Horång (5155 ft.).

11 Kil. Domaas, or Dombaas (2110 ft.; Hotel*, R. $1\frac{1}{2}$, B. $1\frac{1}{4}$, D. 2, S. $1\frac{1}{2}$ kr.), lies at the divergence of the Trondhjem route (p. 90) from ours, $1\frac{3}{4}$ hr.'s drive from Toftemoen. An excursion of 4-5 hrs. may be taken to the Hardeg-Sæter on the S. bank of the Lougen, where we have a fine view of the Snehætta (p. 94).

The Romsdal road leads as far as Stuefjoten through an uninteresting mountain-basin, with a scanty growth of pines, birches, and heather, but with thriving gaards on the slopes. Except at first, the ascent is gradual. Below (left) is the bed of the Lesjevand, now drained.

12 Kil. Holaaker (1720 ft.; Inn, good and moderate), $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.'s drive from Domaas.

From Holaaker to the Aursjø-Hytte and thence to Lilledal and Sundal, see p. 198; from the Aursjø-Hytte to the Ekisdalsvand, see p. 191.

We now pass Lesje-Kirke (1970 ft.), and in $1\frac{3}{4}$ hr. reach — 15 Kil. Holsæt, or Hoset (good Inn).

A bridle-path ascends from Holsæt by the Lora-Elv to the Storsæter and Nysæter (about 5 hrs.), and crosses the mountains S. to Aanstad (Skeaker, p. 86), a long day's journey, which may be broken by spending a night at the pleasant Nysæter (see p. 90).

The drive from Holsæt to Lesjeværk takes $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.

10 Kil. Lesjeværk (2090 ft.; good quarters; the timber-built station is of the mid-18th cent.), a deserted iron-mine, at the S.E. end of the Lesjeskogen-Vand (2050 ft.), which forms the watershed between the Skager-Rack and the Atlantic. To the former descends the Lougen, and to the latter the Rauma, issuing from the W. end of the lake, near the church of Lesjeskogen, which gives the whole district its name. Close by ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.'s drive from Lesjeværk) is —

12 Kil. Mølmen (2005 ft.; Inn, very fair), an angling and shooting resort. The Storhøi (6693 ft.), to the N., may be ascended, and back, in 6-8 hrs. The excursion to the Digervarde, to the S. (see below), takes a whole day. Ed. O. Mølmen is a certificated guide.

FROM MØLMEN TO SKEAKER (p. 86); two days of 8 hrs. each, trying on foot, as broad torrents have to be forded; horse 12, guide 12 kr. Provisions necessary.

1st Day. The path ascends slowly through birch-wood in the Grendal to the (1 hr.) Grønsætre (sæters of Enstad and Mølmen). We descend to the stream and cross several brooks and stony deposits. After 2 hrs. the path ascends to the left. Scenery bleak and wild. We reach ($4\frac{1}{2}$ hrs. from Mølmen) the top of the first hill ('Toppen'). The Romsdal Mts. stand out to the N.W.; N.E. are the Svarthøi and Storhøi, and farther distant the Snehætta snow-range; S.W., the Løthøi with its great glacier. A ride of 1 hr. to the S., over stony ground, brings us to the second 'Top', the Digervarde (5833 ft.), which commands a view of the whole Jotunheim chain, from the Glittertind (p. 67) and Galdhøpig (p. 68) to the Fanaraak (p. 70) and beyond them.

We descend in about 2 hrs., partly over loose stones, to the Ny-sæter (one double bed, coffee, milk, and bread are the only fare).

2nd Day In 1 hr we reach the Loraffjeld, then pass several tarns and the W side of the larger Fillingvand. The broad snow-clad mountain to the left is the Loms-Horung (p. 86), the W end of which we reach in 3-4 hrs more. To the W. lies the Aursjø (3395 ft., not to be confounded with the lake mentioned at p. 193), with an imposing background. The path next skirts the W. slope of the Horung for 1 hr., in view of the mountain-range on the S. side of the Ottadal the Lomsegg, the Hestbræpigge, and the Tundredalskirke, etc., with the valley far below.

The descent to the church of Skeaker takes a full hour (ascent 2 hrs.) The vegetation rapidly becomes richer. The path descends to the Aura, the discharge of the Aursjø, which forms a fine waterfall. The first gaard on the valley-side is Bakke. Among the next is one on the left with a finely carved portal. By the church of Skeaker the greenish Olla is crossed by a long bridge (splendid view; see p. 86).

Beyond Mølmen, on the right, lies gaard Einabu. A 'bautasten', by the road-side, refers to King Olaf, 'the Saint', who is said to have halted at this gaard on his flight in 1029 (p. xli). The road skirts the Rauma further on. The scenery becomes grander. In the distance are the mountains of the Romsdal.

13 Kil. Stueftaaten ($1\frac{3}{4}$ hr.), and the next stations (10 Kil., pay for 11; $1\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) Ormejm, (11 Kil.; $1\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) Flatmark, (12 Kil.; $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Horgheim, and (14 Kil.; $1\frac{3}{4}$ hr.) Aandsnes, see pp. 191-188. Beyond Flatmark the route will repay walking.

11. From Domaas in the Gudbrandsdal over the Dovrefjeld to Støren (Trondhjem).

154 Kil. Road, once the chief mountain route between Christiania and Trondhjem, somewhat monotonous, and now off the great arteries of traffic. Two Days, a night being spent at Aune (p. 91). Or from Olla (p. 84) to Støren, 210 Kil. Skros in about three days 1 pers. 86 89, 2 pers. 55 86 kr.; carr. and pair for 2, 3, or 4 pers. 125, 140, 160 kr. Or from Molde, in combination with the Romsdal route (p. 198), four days. On the last day, in the evening, by rail from Støren to Trondhjem, see p. 96.

Domaas, see p. 89. The Trondhjem road diverges N. from the Gudbrandsdal, and ascends steeply through moor, bog, and stunted pines, to the Dovrefjeld, which separates S. (Sendenfjeldske) from N. Norway (Nordenfjeldske Norge). Grand view of the mountains behind us. In about 1 hr. we reach the plateau. The road crosses the Fogsaa, an affluent of the Glommen. To the left are great mountain expanses, where the Driva, which descends to Sundal, has its sources.

On the Fogstuhø (5824 ft.; ascent and back 4 hrs.; view of Jotunheim, Snehætten, and Rondane) are seen three sæters on the right and others to the left. To the N. rise the Hundsjø and Skreda Fjeld, and beyond them the Snehætta (p. 91), with its vast glacier.

10 Kil. (pay for 11 in this direction) Fogstuen (3222 ft.; Høifjelds-Sanatorium, R. $1\frac{1}{4}$ -3, B. or S. 1, D. $1\frac{1}{2}$ -2 kr., good), in a grand solitude, was originally one of the four 'Fjeldstuer', or mountain-huts, founded by King Eystein for the use of travellers in 1120.

The road crosses the Fogsaa and passes several lakes, beyond which the stream is called the Folda. On the right are the Blaakheer. We pass the Vardejsø (2986 ft.); to the right, farther on, are several suters. The road leaves the valley of the Folda.

21 Kil. Jerkin or Hjerkin (3091 ft.; Jerkin's Sanatorium, frequented in winter by snow-shoers, R. 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ -2, D. 2, B. or S. 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ kr.), where we join the Foldal road (p. 94). The (1 hr.) Jerkinslø, the highest point on the old road (4105 ft.), commands a view of the Kollen, Rondane, and Jotunheim. The Snehætta is visible from a hill to the W. of Jerkinslø, crowned by a 'Varde'.

THE ASCENT OF THE SNEHÆTTA (and back, from Jerkin 12-14 hrs.; guide 5, horse 8 kr.; provisions necessary) should only be made in settled weather. For 4 $\frac{1}{2}$ -5 hrs. we ride across a rocky and mossy tract, crossing several torrents, to the Johan Jerkinslytte, known as Rinheim (about 6070 ft.; 12 beds; key at Jerkin). Lastly 2-3 hrs. over snow and ice. The Snehætta (7560 ft.; p. xxxv) was first ascended by Esmark at the end of the 18th cent. The extensive view lacks picturesqueness. The chief object of interest is the peculiarly formed mica-slate of which the mountain is composed.

The road soon reaches its highest point (3353 ft.), and then descends to the Svonaa, the course of which it follows. Striking view of the Svonaatinder and of the Snehætta, which looks quite near. We cross the boundary between the Stifts of Hamar and Trondhjem, and gradually descend, past the little gaard of Grønbacken (on the left), into the valley of the Driva, formed by the union of the Kaldvella and the Svonaa.

10 Kil. (pay for 13, in opp. direction 14) Kongsvold (2982 ft.; Kongsvold Højsfjelds-Sanatorium, R. 1 $\frac{1}{4}$ -3, B. or S. 1, D. 1 $\frac{1}{4}$ -2 kr., good, but often crowded) is another good starting-point for the Snehætta, and for the ascent of the Knutsø (5600 ft.; 3-4 hrs.; similar view), to the N.E., which is botanically interesting.

The road now enters a narrow ravine flanked with huge rocks, through which the Driva careers wildly. Fine Alpine flora.

15 Kil. Drivstuen (2231 ft.; good quarters). The valley expands; vegetation becomes richer; first the pine, then the birch, and later barley and potatoes appear. Scenery grand. We pass the mouth of the Aamots-Elv on the left. The road follows the right bank of the Driva. About 9 Kil. from Drivstuen, a few paces off the road, is the gorge of Magalaupet ('gully'). The road, which has lately been much improved, descends to a fertile zone of the valley.

12 Kil. (pay 17) Rise (Inn, R. 1 kr., B. or S. 80 ø., good), near the mouth of the Vinstra, coming from the right. The *Dovre*fjeld ends at —

10 Kil. Aune (1775 ft.; good quarters, R. 1 $\frac{1}{2}$, B. or S. 1 $\frac{1}{4}$, D. 2 kr.), also called Ny-Aune or Ny-Øvne. The route to the Sundal (Christiansund, Molde; R. 29) diverges here from that to Trondhjem. To the W., on the Sundal road, we see the church of Opdal, with its pointed spire. The snow-clad hill beyond is the many-peaked Horn (p. 199). To the S.E. is the Allmandbjerg (4430 ft.).

The Trondhjem road quits the Drivadal, follows the Ryna, and crosses the low watershed to the Orkla, whose valley it follows. We get a last glimpse of the Snehætta.

14 Kil. Stuen, or Nystuen (1759 ft.; good quarters). The road descends to the Orkla. We cross the Gisna, which here falls into the Orkla, forming a cascade. Then an ascent to —

11 Kil. Austbjerg or Ulsbjerg (1372 ft.; very good quarters).

FROM AUSTBJERG TO TØNSÆT, 72 Kil., a good road, with fast stations, but poor quarters. forms an interesting route from the Orkladal to the Glommendal. It passes the church of Inset, runs high above the Orkla Ravine, and crosses the foaming Naven (Næva) by a copper-foundry. 11 Kil. Næverdal. The river forms many rapids. 13 Kil. (pay 17, but not in reverse direction) Frengstad. We pass the church of Åvikne, with substantial gaards (birthplace of B. Bjørnson, the poet), and cross the brawling Jen-Elv. The road ascends high on the right bank of this stream to (14 Kil., pay 17) Stoen i Keilne. We cross the low watershed to the Tønne, which flows through the Stubsg (right) and enters the Glommen at Tønsæt. — 11 Kil. (pay for 17) Nytræen (good quarters at a large gaard). We cross the Tønne to (10 Kil., pay 12) Fosbakken. On the right is the Tunfos, on the left the Magnifos. Fine view of the Østerdalen Mts. — 14 Kil. (pay 17) Bjørnsmoen i Tønsæt (p. 94).

We ascend through wood, skirting the deep wooded Ravine of the Orkla. Fine views, notably of the snow-mountains to the S.W.

12 Kil. Bjerkaker or Birkaaker (1401 ft.; Inn) lies on the watershed between the Orkla and the Gula.

FROM BJERKAKER TO ØRKEDALSØREN, 74 Kil., a road with fast stations. The road descends in two curves to the Orkla (781 ft.) and follows its right bank, past several gaards. About $\frac{3}{4}$ hr.'s drive from Bjerkaker, to the left, lies Gaard Hoel, where a famous drinking-horn is still shown, presented by Christian V., out of which Charles XIV. John (Bernadotte), Oscar I. and Charles XV. drank when on their way to be crowned at Trondhjem. Observe the old birch-tree, 10 ft. in circumference. 15 Kil. Haarstad (722 ft.), with the church of Rennebu. We cross the Orkla. 16 Kil. Åa (tolerable quarters). 9 Kil. Kalstad i Meldalen (463 ft.), from which a road leads by Garberg and Foseide to Surendalsøren (p. 200). 9 Kil. Løkken (Hot. Orkla, very fair), with a large copper-mine owned by an English company, terminus of the Ørkedalsøren and Thamshavn railway (p. 200).

The road leads through the marshy Soknedal and follows the course of the Igla, then that of the Stavilla, which after its confluence with the Hauka takes the name of Sokna.

12 Kil. Garli or Garlien (1145 ft.; good station) lies on a height to the left. Crossing the Igla, the road enters a ravine, in which the Sokna has many falls and drives mills ('Kværnhus'). Beyond the church of Soknedal (870 ft.) we reach —

10 Kil. (pay for 11, in opp. direction 13) Præsthus (702 ft.; good quarters). The road follows the narrow, fir-clad valley of the Sokna, first on the right, then on the left bank. It passes near the church of Støren (to the right, on the opposite bank), crosses a hill, and reaches the valley of the Gula.

14 Kil. Støren, or Engen i Støren, railway-station (p. 96).

12. From Christiania to Trondhjem by Railway.

561 Kil. RAILWAY (Nordbanerne, starting from the chief station, Pl F 4) One through-train daily; in the height of summer a second fast train three times a week, stopping at 14 only out of 75 stations, in 16½ hrs.; fare—51.90 kr. (incl. sleeping-berth), 80 kr. (and 3½ kr. more if berth desired), 19.10 kr. (56 lbs. of luggage free). The ordinary trains have 2nd and 3rd class only (24.60, 15.30 kr.). They stop for the night at (13 hrs.) Tonsætt, arriving in Trondhjem next afternoon. In order to secure good rooms at Tonsætt it is advisable to write or telegraph beforehand. Hot meals are provided for express passengers at Hamar only (1½ kr.; diners help themselves), for travellers by ordinary train at Koppang and at Singsaas (same charge). At the other stations sandwiches (10 ø.), beer (25 ø. per ½ bottle), tea, etc. may be had.

Views between Hamar and Rena to the right; thence to Trondhjem to the left. The last part of the journey, beyond Røros, is the finest. Pleasant to go to Eidsvold by early train, take steamer to Hamar, and there join the express in the afternoon (comp. p. 80).

From Christiania to (126 Kil.) Hamar, see pp. 80, 81. Here we alight and go on by the narrow-gauge Røros Railway (engage berth). The train ascends through the lonely wooded regions of Hedemarken. 131 Kil. Hjellum; 135 Kil. Ilseeng; 139 Kil. Hørsand (571 ft.). Fine view of the Skreidfjeld (p. 81), S.W. of Lake Mjøsen. 141 Kil. Audalsbrug; 144 Kil. Løten (758 ft.). We pass the drilling-ground of Terningmoen.

158 Kil. Elverum (617 ft.; Rail. Rest.; Central Hot.; St. Olaf's Hot., ½ M. from the station, beyond the river, very fair), first station in the Glommen valley, which the train ascends to Røros.

The peasantry of Østerdalen, the thinly peopled region of the Glommen and its affluents, are among the richest in Norway, some of their forest-estates extending to many square miles. The value of their timber has risen greatly since the completion of the railway. The timber is felled in winter, and floated down the river in summer. Their gaards are comfortably and even luxuriously fitted up, but they still cling proudly to the name of peasant ('Gaard-bruger'; sometimes parodied as 'Sofabønder'). The characteristic form of the old houses has been copied in many of the railway-buildings.

164 Kil. Grundset (643 ft.); 171 Kil. Ørna (666 ft.). Near (184 Kil.) Aasta (741 ft.) the train crosses the river of that name.

190 Kil. Rena (738 ft.; Rail. Rest.), prettily situated on the right bank of the Glommen, not far from the church of Aamot, near which are several inns. Near (204 Kil.) Stenviken (791 ft.) the train crosses the Glommen by a long bridge, and now follows the E. bank (views to the left). 214 Kil. Ophus (801 ft.). The Glommen broadens and forms a lake further on. 224 Kil. Rasten (840 ft.), 237 Kil. Stai (863 ft.). Fine view of the valley, intersected by the river in many branches.

247 Kil. Koppang (1158 ft.; Rail. Rest., D. 1½ kr., good; Hansen*, 2 min. to the left of the station; Jernbane Hot., opposite the station; Koppang Hot.) lies on a height above the river. To the W., above the forests, rise high mountains, carpeted with yellow lichen (Rhizocarpon geographicum).

The train now runs through wood, high above the Glommen, and crosses two bridges. Fine views to the S. The valley contracts.

272 Kil. Atna (1170 ft., Fjeldvang's Hotel, good), on the left (E.) bank of the Glommen. A ferry (10 min. from the station) crosses to Atneesen (Skyds-stat., good quarters), near the mouth of the Aine-Elv.

For an EXCURSION TO THE RONDANE a competent guide is Ole Pedersen Moen of Søndre Moen, near Brænden, on the Atnesjø. — From Atneesen a road (with slow stations; horses, as well as dinner at Solligaarden, should be ordered by telephone from Atneesen) ascends the right bank of the Atne-Elv and crosses the Hira (3½ Kil.); a road leads to the left to the Storfjeld-Sæter Sanatorium (2884 ft.; good; 18 Kil. from Atna). 26 Kil. (from Atna) Solligaarden, near the church of Sollien (2454 ft.); 28 Kil. Utti (good quarters), at the E. end of the Atne-Sjø (2880 ft.). Imposing view of the chief peaks of the Rondane: the Høgrond (6693 ft.), the Stygghjell (6234 ft.), and the Rundvashøgda (6890 ft.). These peaks are ascended from the Musvold-Sæter (good quarters), which we reach by crossing the lake by boat-skyds (2-4 hrs) and walking for 1½ hr. more. The Rondeslet (7103 ft.), the highest of the Rondane Mts., is ascended (with guide) through the Langtupdal and over the Høgrond (5-6 hrs; steep and trying). — From the Musvold-Sæter a path crosses the hills to the Bjørnhul-Sæter (good quarters) and (6-7 hrs.) Myssu-Sæter, whence we can reach Otta in the Gudbrandsdal in 3-4 hrs (see p. 84).

285 Kil. Hanestad (1254 ft., Hotel). On the opposite bank rises the imposing Grottingbratten (3743 ft.). The train skirts the river, with a view of high hills to the N., and again enters the woods.

304 Kil. Barkald (1487 ft.), where the Glommen forms the Barkaldfos. To the E. is (3 Kil.) the wild gorge of Jutulhugget, whose lowest point lies about 130 ft. below the Glommen. The gorge was formed, according to the legend, by the attempt of a giant to divert the Glommen into the Rendal.

324 Kil. Lille-Elvedal (1660 ft.; Rail. Rest.; Steien Hot., R. 1.20-4, B. 1, D. 1.50, S. 1.20 kr.; Dæhlie's Hot., commended), at the influx of the Folda into the Glommen, which is crossed here.

THE ROAD UP THE FOLDAL TO JERKIN offers the shortest route from Christiania to the Sundal and Nordmøre: 32 Kil. Ryhaugen, with a view of the Rondane; 18 Kil. Krokhaugen (good quarters), whence a route leads S. to the Atnevand and the Rondane (see above); 17 Kil. Dalen, splendid view of the Snehætta; 17 Kil. Jerkin (p. 81). Thence by Kongsvold, Drivstuen, Rise, and Aune to the Sundal, see pp. 91, 92.

The train skirts the base of the Tronfjeld (5456 ft.), a mountain of gabbro and serpentine, ascended from Lille-Elvedal (4 hrs.; road nearly all the way). Striking view of it, as we look back. — 337 Kil. Auma (1598 ft.). Dreary landscape.

347 Kil. Tønsæter (1620 ft.; Rail. Rest.; Jernbane Hot.; Schulrud's Hot., R. 1 kr.) lies near the influx of the Tønna into the Glommen, chiefly on the opposite bank of the latter. It is the centre of the N. Østerdal, formerly in the Stift of Trondhjem. A 'Stavekirke', dating from 1240, has disappeared; the present church is modern.

From Tønsset to Kvikne and Austbjerg, see p. 92

To the S.W., on the right of the Tronfjeld, rise the Røndane (p. 94).

358 Kil. Telneset (1634 ft.). The train ascends more rapidly. Pasture succeeds arable land. 368 Kil. Tolgen (1782 ft.), in a bare region. To the right, the Hummelfjeld (5050 ft.). The vegetation becomes quite Alpine.

385 Kil. Os (1976 ft.); the village lies on a slope (Lid) on the opposite bank. The train crosses the Nøra and, beyond an extensive moor, the Naa. It stops, and then backs on a side-line into Røros.

399 Kil. Røros or Røraas (2060 ft.; halt of 6-10 min.: Rail. Rest.*; Fahlstrøm's Hot., near the station, good, R. 1, B. 1, D. 1½ kr.; Mad. Larsen's Hot.), a mining town with 1800 inhab., founded in 1646, after the discovery of the copper-mines. It lies on the Hitter-Elv, while the Glommen, descending from the Aursund-Sjø, flows round the W. side. The timber houses, roofed with turf, and the large church of 1780 are curious. Vast expanses of turf, bordered with terraces of glacial detritus and large sand-hills, where the dwarf-birch alone thrives, have been converted into pastures by careful manuring. Corn does not ripen, and the forest is gone. Apart from the mines, cattle-breeding is the only industry.

The mines yield about 600 tons of pure copper annually. The chief mines are Storvarts Grube, 2907 ft. above the sea-level, 9 Kil. N.E., with 8 per cent of copper; near it, Ny Solskins Grube; to the N.W., 14 Kil., Kongens Grube, yielding 4 per cent of copper; Mug Grube, about 7 Kil. further. The mining is worked by electricity, generated at the Kuraasfos, on the Aursund-Vand (see below). The smelting-works are the Røros Hytte, the Dragaas Hytte at Aalen, and the Lovisa Hytte at Lille-Elvedal.

From Røros we may drive by skyds, by (17 Kil.) Jensvold to (18 Kil.) Skotgården on the Aursund-Vand, (2284 ft.; area 17 sq. M.; depth 118 ft.), near which is a camp of nomadic Lapps. — Another skyds-road leads S.E., by (16 Kil.) Sætern, Røros and (17 Kil.) Langen, to (5 Kil.) Senderøken on the Fømund-Sjø (2175 ft.; 79 sq. M. in area, about 57 Kil. long; 427 ft. deep) on which a steamer plies (com. 508; restaur. on board; hotel at the S. end of the lake). Thence to Sweden, see p. 367.

442 Kil. Eidet (1380 ft., Rail. Rest.) below it a copper-foundry. Picturesque scenery. The train skirts the rocks of Drøilierne (seven short tunnels) and crosses the ravine of the Drøia by a lofty bridge. In the cuttings we observe first clay-slate, and then granite and gneiss formations. 454 Kil. Holtuaalen (988 ft.), with a new church. The peasants here wear a red jacket, leathern breeches, and a 'tophue' or peaked woollen cap. We descend the valley of the now tranquil Gula to (463 Kil.) Langlete (774 ft.) and (472 Kil.) Reitstøen (673 ft.).

480 Kil. Singsaas (578 ft.; Rail. Rest.), with a bridge over the Gula. Large terraces of debris to the left mark the entrance of the Forradal. On the left a fine waterfall. 486 Kil. Bjergen (482 ft.), prettily situated. Three short tunnels. Kotsøien, a stopping-place. 499 Kil. Rognæs (315 ft.), with a bridge over the Gula. Near Rognæs and Støren was quarried the bluish Klæbersten of which Trondhjem cathedral is built. Nearing Støren, we see to the left the church mentioned on p. 92, at the influx of the Sokna into the Gula. We cross the Gula.

517 Kil. Hovind (174 ft.) We again cross the river, which here forms the Gulefos on the left and dashes through its narrow bed. To the right is the church of Horrig. 524 Kil. Lundemo (108 ft.); 530 Kil. Ler (79 ft.). The train ascends a little. 534 Kil. Kvaal (161 ft.). We descend; views to the left. 538 Kil. Søberg (102 ft.). 541 Kil. Melhus (76 ft.), with a new stone church (to the right). Many interesting river-terraces. We now leave the Gula, which flows N.W. into the Gulosen (p. 200), turn to the N.E., and cross the hill between the Gula and the Nid, which falls into the fjord at Trondhjem. At (546 Kil.) Nypun (230 ft.) we get a glimpse of the Orkedalsfjord, and of a distant mountain, snow-clad till August. 551 Kil. Heimdal (463 ft.), with several villas of Trondhjemers. — We descend for the last time, passing many gaards. At the stopping-place Selsbæk we reach the Nid-Elv, near the Lerfos (right; p. 205), and then follow its left bank.

Lastly (comp. Map, p. 204) a short tunnel under the suburb of Ilen, beyond which we reach the harbour and station of — 561 Kil. (350 M.) Trondhjem (p. 200).

13. From Christiania by Railway to Charlottenberg (and Stockholm).

148 Kil. Express in 3¼ hrs (fares 12.10, 8.55, 5.70 kr.). One through-train daily between Christiania and Stockholm without change in 12¼ hrs. (37.90, 23.85 kr.; 1st class sleeping-berth 10 kr. extra; 2nd class berth (not obligatory; apply to station-master or to the tourist-offices) 5 kr.

From Christiania to (21 Kil.) Lillestrøm, see p. 80. The Eidsvold line (p. 80) diverges here to the N.; the Charlottenberg train runs S.E., through less interesting scenery. Lillestrøm lies on the N.W. bay, called Draget, of Lake Øieren (332 ft.), a long basin of the Glommen.

On Lake Øieren or Øvøren a steamer plies from Fetsund (see below) or, when the water serves, from Lillestrøm to Sandstangen (Carlsberg Tourist Hot.) at its S. end, in about 8½ hrs (fare 1½ or 1 kr.).

100 Kil. Kongsvinger (483 ft.; *Rail. Rest., with R.; Kongsvinger Hot.; Victoria). The little town, with 1600 inhab., lies on the opposite bank of the Glommen, 1¼ M. from the station. The Fortress (Festning) (788 ft.), erected in 1683, was abandoned in accordance with the Convention of Karlstad (1905). Fine view.

From Kongsvinger a branch-line ('Solørbane'), 50 Kil., in 1½-2½ hrs.) runs to Filsen, at the mouth of a tributary of the Glommen.

The railway turns S.E. and quits the Glommen. The Vingerse (476 ft.) and the long lakes near Aabøgen and elsewhere are basins of an old bed of the Glommen.

112 Kil. Aabøgen, 122 Kil. Eidsskog, 127 Kil. Skotterud, 133 Kil. Magnor, all with large timber-yards, the last also with glass, iron, and other works. Beyond Magnor the train quits the district of Vinger, in which Kongsvinger lies, and crosses the Swedish frontier.

143 Kil. (89 M.) Charlottenberg, the first station in Sweden, and thence to Stockholm. see R. 49.

14. From Christiania to Gotenburg by Railway.

357 Kil. RAILWAY. From Christiania to Kornøse, in 4-5 hrs.; thence to Gotenburg in 4-6 hrs. more (fares to Fredrikshald 11.65, 8.25, 5.50 kr.; thence to Gotenburg 17.90, 11.10, 7.35 kr.). From Christiania to Gotenburg one through day-express in 8 hrs (fares 23.90, 18.80, 12.50 kr.; also a night-express (going on to Helsingborg) in 11½ hrs. (sleeping-berth extra). Few restaurants on the line.

The journey itself is uninteresting, but Sarpsborg, Fredrikshald, and Trollhattan are well worth seeing, and one night may be spent on the way if necessary. Steamers run daily from Moss, Fredrikstad, and Fredrikshald to Göteborg. In the reverse direction better leave the railway at Moss and take a local steamer up the beautiful fjord to Christiania.

Christiania, see p. 8. (As far as Moss, comp. Map, p. 20.) The train rounds the suburb of Oslo and skirts the Ekeberg (p. 18), affording us a fine view of the city. From (4 Kil.) Bakkelaget we survey the islands and villas of the Ormsund. The train skirts the Bundefjord, and passes many country-houses 8 Kil. Ljan (Pension Hammer). The train ascends to (18 Kil.) Oppegaard (318 ft.). To the right is the peninsula of Næsodden. 24 Kil. Ski (420 ft.; Rail. Rest), junction of the Østre line (p. 100).

Near (32 Kil.) Aas is an agricultural school. 39 Kil. Vestby; 48 Kil. Saaner, station for Saan, a sea-bathing place. The train now descends to the fjord and skirts the Mossesund.

60 Kil. Moss (Rail. Rest.; Arnesen's Hot., 10 min. from the rail. station, R. 2-2½ kr., B. or S. 1½ kr.; Moss's Hot., both good; British Consul, J. H. Vogt), a thriving town of 9000 inhab., with busy ship-building yards, lies on a bay of the Christiania Fjord. The station is on the S. side, 7 min. from the steamboat-pier. Opposite the church is an old churchyard, with tombstones of the 18th cent., now a promenade. On the Hjelle, to which a bridge crosses, are several villas, the Jeleens Sanatorium, and the orphanage of Ørkerød.

FROM CHRISTIANIA TO MOSS steamers several times daily, in 3-4 hrs. (Com. 168, 169, 171, etc.) The first part of their course lies between the Hjelle and the mainland.

FROM MOSS TO HORTEN (p. 8) on the opposite bank of the Fjord, steamer 4 times daily in ¾ hr. (80 or 50 s.).

Next stations: Dilling, Rygge, Raade, Onsø. The train crosses the Kjølbjergs-Elv, and passes through a tunnel.

94 Kil. Fredrikstad. — Hotels. OLSEN'S HOTEL, some way from the station, R. 1½-4 kr., D. 2, S. 1½ kr.; SCHULZ'S HOT., near the pier, R. 2-3½, D. 2, S. 1½ kr.; both good, with baths; VICTORIA. — Steamer to Christiania daily. — British Vice-Consul, C. J. O. Thus.

Fredrikstad, a town with 15,250 inhab., on the Christiania Fjord, at the mouth of the Glommen, owes its importance to its timber-trade. The busiest quarter is the Forstad, on the right bank of the river, with the railway-station, a large new church, a theatre, and the 'Forlystelsehus Valhalla', a popular resort. The old town on the left bank, founded by King Frederick II. in 1570, was once strongly fortified. A steam-ferry plies between these two quarters.

About 7 Kil. E. of Fredrikstad, and 6 Kil. S. of Sandesund (p. 99), lies Torsekilien or Hundebunden, a sea-bathing place. — To the W. of Fredrikstad lies (10-11 Kil) the island of Hanko (p. 7).

Beyond Fredrikstad, on the left, are curiously worn rocks. Fine views of the broad river. The train crosses an arm of the Glommen. The banks are covered with factories, timber-yards, and brick fields. 103 Kil. Greaker. Thriving gaards. The train quits the Glommen. 106 Kil. Sandesund, station for the S. port of Sarpsborg, with the quay of the Fredrikshald steamers.

109 Kil. Sarpsborg (125 ft.; Hot. Kristiansen, Pl. a, in the Torv, good; Victoria, Pl. b, plain; carr. to Sarpsfos and back in 1 hr., 1.20 kr.), a town of 9200 inhab., on the left bank of the Glommen, was founded in 1840 on the site of a town destroyed in 1567. To the N. of the town the river forms the lake of Glengshølen, and to the S.E. the huge Sarpsfos. More than one-third of all the timber exported from Norway is floated seaward on the Glommen (upwards of 5 million logs annually; comp. p. 21).

We walk through the town, of which the principal street is the Marie-Gade, and ($\frac{1}{4}$ hr. from the station) reach the Suspension Bridge (Pl. C, 2). The immense volume of water forces its way here through a rocky bed about 164 ft. only in breadth, through which it thunders in several falls, in all about 80 ft. in height. The falls (over 50,000 horse-power, in turbines of 1200-3000) are utilized for a number of saw-mills, celluloid, and other factories, most of them at Hafslund on the left bank. Here too is an electric power-station, serving factories all the way to Fredrikstad. Just beyond the bridge we descend 200 paces to the right, pass the red turbine-house, and reach a platform of masonry directly over the fall, the best point of view.

FROM SARPSBORG TO SKI, by the Østre Bane, 81 Kil., uninteresting. The line crosses the Glommen by the suspension-bridge, and then skirts the Nipen. S Kil. Isø; 20 Kil. Gaustestad; 26 Kil. Ralkestad; 36 Kil. Lidsberg (493 ft.); 41 Kil. Mysen; 46 Kil. Stitu. At (52 Kil.) Askim (394 ft.) are nickel-mines and the great Glommen Electric Works, which utilize four falls of the Glommen at Kykkolsrud and Hervee, one of the largest works of the kind in Europe (60,000 horse-power, supplying even Christiania). The train then crosses the broad Glommen. 60 Kil. Spydeberg (351 ft.); 63 Kil. Tømter; 75 Kil. Kraakstad (305 ft.); 81 Kil. Ski (p. 98).

The train crosses the Glommen by a lofty bridge, borne by the four piers of the suspension-bridge above mentioned, and overlooking the Sarpsfos to the right. 119 Kil. Skjeberg (128 ft.), in a marshy hollow; 131 Kil. Berg (230 ft.). Woods and patches of arable land ('Smaa-Lene') alternate with marsh and meadow. Farther on we reach the Idefjord, and obtain a view of the Bratø. On the fjord are large marble-polishing works, the marble for which comes from Fuske, near Bodø (p. 220). Several tunnels. The train passes between the fjord on the right and a rocky height on the left, and crosses the Tistedals-Elv.

137 Kil. Fredrikshald. — Rail. Rest. — GRAND HOTEL (Pl. a; C, 3), by the station with baths and electric light, good, R. 2-3, B. 1-1½, D. 2-3, S. 1½-2 kr.; SCHULZ'S HOTEL (Pl. b; D, 3), Kirke-Gaden, with electric light, R. 2¼-3½ kr., B. 80 ø., D. (2 p.m.) 2, S. 1½ kr., quiet, with garden; IVERSEN'S HOTEL, Jernbane-Gaden, R. 1-2, B. 60 ø. to 1, D. (2 p.m.) 1½-2, S. 80 ø. to 1 kr.

STEAMERS to Stromstad (p. 103; Com. 110) once or twice daily (fare 1½ or 1 kr.); to Hanks and Christiania, see p. 101; from Tistedalen to Skullerud, see p. 101. — British Vice-Consul, J. W. Kleim.

The ascent of the Fredrikssten (and back) takes 1½ hr. (carr. 3 kr.), or, including the excursion to the Tistedal, 3 hrs. (carr. 7 kr.).

Fredrikshald, an ancient Norwegian frontier-town, which was bravely defended against the Swedes in 1658-60, in 1716, and in 1718, lies on both banks of the Tistedals-Elv, which here enters the Idefjord. On the S.E. rises the disused fortress of Fredrikssten. It now has 12,270 inhab. and is one of the centres of the timber traffic of E. Norway and the adjoining parts of Sweden. Over a million logs are collected here annually.

A walk along the harbour (Pl. C, 4) affords a fine view of the Fredrikssten and the wooded islet of Sauø (p. 101). In the market-place (Torvet; Pl. D, 3) rises a simple monument to the brothers Kolbjørnsen, who distinguished themselves at the siege of 1716. The old castle of *FREDRIKSSTEN (Pl. E, 3, 4; 371 ft.), crowning a hill to the S.E. of the town, abandoned as a fortress since the treaty of Karlstad (1905), repays a visit. We ascend from the Peder Kolbjørnsens-Gade, either direct by a steep path to the left to the W. gate, or to the right, by the promenades to the S., to the E. gate. The best points of view are the Brand-Batteri, to the left of the entrance by the W. gate, and the Klokketaarn, the highest point, to which a path in steps ascends S.W. from the E. gate. —

Outside the E. gate, going E., past the memorial-stones of former commandants, we come to a road to the left, leading through a wooden gate into the Kommandant-Park (Pl. F. 3; the road to the right leads to the Tistedal and also down to the town). An iron pyramid erected here in 1860 recalls the death of Charles XII. of Sweden on 11th Dec., 1718 (p. 11). A stone ball with a cross, a little to the S., marks the spot where the heroic monarch was shot. The trench in which he stood at the time is also traceable. The inscription on the monument is by Tegnér, to the effect that the hero, 'alike in fortune and misfortune, was the master of his fate, and, unable to flinch, could but fall at his post'.

'His fall was destined to a barren strand,

'A petty fortress, and a dubious hand;

'He left the name at which the world grew pale,

'To point a moral or adorn a tale'. (Sam Johnson.)

Farther E. is the outwork of Gyldenløve (Pl. F. 3); to the S. is the Roland Bastion (Pl. E. 4). Pleasant promenades.

Leaving the Park by the S.E. exit, we reach the Tistedal road a little below the bifurcation mentioned above, and descend in 5 min. to a broader road, leading to Id. We turn to the left, and after 5 min. diverge to the right. (A finger-post on the left shows the way to the Skonningfos.) After 9 min. (not to the left across the Tistedals-Elv) we go straight on, ascending on the left bank. After 20 min., by the houses of Tistedalen, we descend to the left and cross the bridge (while the main road goes on to the Tistedalen station). The brawling stream, in its narrow rocky bed, is much utilized industrially. By the highest houses, 7 min. beyond the bridge, we have a view of the Femsjø (see below). We now pass by the church of Tistedalen and descend on the right to ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr.) Kolbjørnsen's Park (Pl. D, E, 2) and Fredrikshald.

Time permitting, we may ferry (10 ø.) to the Saugø (Pl. B, C, 4) and walk through a narrow valley to the other side of the islet (10 min.). Fine view of the fjord with Bratø and the Swedish coast. The grounds of Villa Rød (Rødsberget; Pl. B, 2; adm. free) may also be visited.

FROM FREDRIKSHALD TO CHRISTIANIA steamer daily, in $7\frac{1}{2}$ -11 hrs. (fare $4\frac{1}{2}$ or 3 kr.; Com. 172, 176). We steer through the Svenesund into the broad Single Fjord, between the Hvaløer on the left and the Singleøer on the right, then past the Kragerø on the left into the picturesque bay of Fredrikstad (p. 98); next round the N. end of the Kragerø, past the beacon of Torgauten, and round the S. cape of the mainland to Hanke, etc. (comp. p. 7).

From Tistedalen (see above) a steamer plies thrice weekly to Skullerud (p. 97) in $9\frac{1}{2}$ hrs., a pleasant trip.

On leaving Fredrikshald, we have a view of the pretty Tistedal, with its waterfalls, factories, and villas. The train quits the valley by a short tunnel at (140 Kil.) Tistedalen (269 ft.), and runs on an ancient moraine.

Further on we have a fine view, to the left, of the Femsjø (256 ft.), $6\frac{1}{2}$ Kil. long, which is connected with the Aspern (340 ft.), the Aremarks-Sjø, the Gudemarks-Sjø, and the Ørje-Sjø (384 ft.) by canals for the timber-traffic. (Steamer to Skullerud, see above.)

The fortress of Fredrikssten is visible to the W. for a short time. Several tunnels. Glimpse (right) of part of the fjord of Fredrikshald. Beyond (150 Kil.) Aspedammen (564 ft.; the highest point on the line we see the Ørsjø to the left. Large timber-yards are passed near (159 Kil.) Præstebukke, beyond which we enter thick wood.

167 Kil. Kornsjø (476 ft.; Hotel) is the last Norwegian station. (Customs-examination, comp p. xi.)

The line crosses the Swedish frontier. Small articles of luggage are examined by custom-house officers in the train. 178 Kil. Mon (Rail. Rest.), Swedish custom-house, except for luggage booked to Gothenburg. 186 Kil. Hökedalen.

189 Kil. Ed (Rail. Rest., D. 1½ kr.; Turist-Hot. Karl XII., R. 1¼-1¾ kr.), prettily situated above the lake Stora Lee (branch-line, 1¾ M.; steamer on the lake 3 times weekly to Tocksfors at its N. end, in 6¼ hrs.). By the station is a monument to Nils Ericson, the engineer (p. 284). A few paces farther on we have a fine view of the lake.

Beyond Ed is a forest-region. At (207 Kil.) Bäckefors (Hotel) we cross the line from Uddevalla to Bengtfors (p. 104). Beyond a tunnel we pass the Tiäkersjö on the right. 217 Kil. Dalskog. Farther on, to the left, we sight Lake Venern in the distance. 224 Kil. Rostock, a small chalybeate bath.

233 Kil. Mellerud (Rail. Rest.), junction of the Gotenburg and Falun Railway (R. 56) and of a line to (3 Kil.) Sunnanå on Lake Venern. — From Mellerud to —

336 Kil. Gotenburg, see RR. 44, 56

15. From Christiania to Gotenburg by Sea.

325 Kil. STEAMBOATS ('Oscar Dickson and 'Goteborg', both rather small, Com. 44, 40; Kom. 400) four times weekly in 18-19 hrs. (fare 16 kr.), calling at Strömstad, Hafstensund, Grebbestad, Tjellbacka, Tängen, Lysekil, and Marstrand, mostly within the island-belt ('indenskjöers', Swed. 'inomskars'), but the sea is often rough in the open Skager-Rack, as we near Strömstad. Travellers in the reverse direction arrive after dark and so miss the beautiful approach to Christiania. Hurried travellers may get their baggage examined on board and land at once, but most passengers spend the night on board and attend the examination at 8 a.m. next day. — The larger steamers 'Bjerg Jarl' and 'Södra Sverige', plying between Christiania and Stockholm once weekly, may be taken as far as Gothenburg, but they steer direct through the open sea.

Local steamers also ply between Gotenburg (Stenbro; Pl. D, 2) and Marstrand several times daily (2 hrs.; fare 1.75 kr.), and once daily to Uddevalla (5½ hrs.; 4 kr.; Com. 397, 398). Passengers from Christiania may prefer to land at Strömstad and go on by rail to Gothenburg (Tingstad station) in 5½-6 hrs.; the chief stations are Tanum (p. 108), Munkedal, Uddevalla, Lyngskile (with sea-baths), Stenungsund (opposite the sea-baths of Stenungsö), and Säve.

The voyage through the Swedish island-belt ('skärgård') is interesting, though the scenery can hardly be called picturesque. Thousands of islands, either barren or clothed with scanty vegetation on their E. side, intercept the waves of the Kattegat and Skager-Rack, and hence the sea is calm. The climate is healthy, the sea-bathing places are much frequented, and the water is saltier and purer than in the long Norwegian fjords. The inhabitants are chiefly fishermen, sometimes wealthy, descending from the ancient vikings, who have left memorials of their exploits in the 'Helleristningar' (see below) still to be seen in the parish of Tanum near Grebbestad, at Brastad near Lyskil, and elsewhere. At many points there are remains of ancient castles, tombs, stone chambers ('valar'), and monuments ('bautastentar'), so that this region (Bohuslän) is justly regarded as a cradle of northern sagas. The cod, herring, lobster, and oyster fisheries are important. Windmills crown almost every height.

The "CHRISTIANIA FJORD down to Moss is described in R. 1. Below Moss the fjord widens, and the scenery becomes less interesting. At the mouth of the fjord we stand out to sea, to the W. of the Hvaløer, leaving Fredrikstad (p. 98) and Fredrikshald (p. 100) considerably to the E., and steer direct to — Strömstad (Stads-Hot.; Hot. Hellberg; Hot. Victoria), the first Swedish station, a favourite watering-place (pop. 3000; mud and sea baths), at the efflux of the Strömså from the Strömsvatn. In the environs are many caverns and glacier cauldrons. Strömstad is a great depôt of oysters and lobsters. At Blomsholm, $4\frac{1}{2}$ M. N.W., is a 'stensättning' (standing stones; comp. p. 271) in the form of a ship. — Local steamers to Fredrikshald (p. 101).

Beyond Strömstad we steer, now sheltered by the island-belt, through the narrow Hafstensund, past the Nordkosters Dubbelfyr (lighthouse) on the right, and then S.E. through the Kosterfjord. Near Grebbestad, a fishing-village and bathing-resort, is the battle-field of Greby, with numerous 'bautastentar', legendary memorials of a defeat of Scottish invaders. Note specially a labyrinthine 'stensättning'. This parish, with the church of Tanum 6 Kil. inland, is rich in 'Helleristningar' or 'sgraffiti', figures of men and animals, ships and symbols, scratched on the rocks in prehistoric days.

Fjellbacka, the next station, with 900 inhab., a large church, and a brisk trade in anchovies, lies at the foot of a cliff. In the rock is the Rammelklåva or Djefvulsklåva, a narrow cleft, near the top of which large stones are wedged in. To the W. are the Väderöar and the Väderbodsfyr. We now enter the Soteffjord, swept by the waves of the Skager-Rack. On the peninsula of Sotenäs, to the left, are the fishing-villages Smögen, Grafverna, and Tängen. We next pass the Hallö Fyr and the Malmö, with quarries of brown-red granite. Steering S.E., we then call at — Lysekil (Strand-Hot. and Turist-Hot., R. 1.75 to 3.25 kr.; Stads-Hot.; Hot. Lysekil), a favourite bathing-place (3800 inhab.), with a trade in anchovies and a handsome Gothic church, finely situated on the long peninsula of Stängenäs, which with the Bokenäs forms the Gullmarsfjord, extending far inland. Good bathing; pleasant villas. Extensive view from the Flaggberg.

The Gotenburg steamers follow the outer course ('ytte vägen'), still partly sheltered by islands, to the W. of the islands of Orust and Tjörn. To the left lies Fiskebäckskil, a bathing-resort with a biological station of the Stockholm Academy of Sciences. Farther on are the fishing-villages of Gåsö (right), Grundsund (left), and Gullholmen on the Hermanö (right). We pass the Måseskär and the Kärringö, with their lighthouses, and sight the red houses and the church of Mollösund, on the island of Orust. The larger steamers now pass through the Kirkesund, the smaller through the shallow Albrektssund. Among the lighthouses and beacons we next observe the Hamnskärs Fyr, on the left, on the dangerous Paternoster Skär, to the N. of Marstrand.

Local steamers only (from Lysekil and Marstrand) ply to Uddevalla, at the head of the Byfjord, the N.E. prolongation of the Hafstenfjord.

Uddevalla (Stora Hot., R. from 1½ kr., very good; Uddevalla Hot.; Hot. Royal), a town of 11,450 inhab. has a cotton-mill and a small museum of antiquities. Fine view from the Kålgårdsberg. The Kapellbackar (197 ft.). W. of Uddevalla, are composed of innumerable shells, proving a great elevation of the coast since the glacial period. A little S. is the pretty bathing-place of Gustafsberg (steamer every ½ hr. in 10 min.).

RAILWAYS from Uddevalla to Gotenburg (Tingstad station) and Stromstad (p. 103); also by Backefors (p. 102) to Bengtssfors on the Dalslands-Canal (p. 287), 80 Kil. in 4½ hrs.; also by Örnared (p. 286; 28 Kil., in 50 min.) to Venersborg and Herrljunga (p. 286). — LOCAL STEAMERS to Fiskebäckskil, Lysekil (p. 103). and other small sea-bathing resorts (Comp. Kom 398.)

Marstrand (Turist-Hotel; Stads-Hotel), a little town with 1530 inhab., on the E. side of a small island, is visited by about 3000 sea-bathers annually. Handsome church of St. Mary, of 1460. Pleasant walks round the town. In the Societets-Park is the Alphyddan, a good restaurant (board from 2½ kr.). The town is commanded by the disused fortress of Karlstén (view; fee). To the N. is the Koö, with the bathing-place of Arvidsvik.

Farther on we pass through the Sillesund and the Sälöfjord. To the left opens the Elvefjord, into which the N. arm of the Göta-Elf falls. We then pass (left) the large island of Björkö, a sea-bathing resort. From the Kälsund we enter the narrow Varholmens-Sund, and beyond Elfborg, once a fortress, we reach the mouth of the Göta-Elf, which we ascend in ½ hr. more to — Gotenburg (p. 278).

16. From Christiansand to Stavanger by Sea.

The distance from Christiansand to Stavanger is officially stated at 32 Norwegian sea-miles (206 Kil. or 128 Engl. M.), but the course of the steamer, penetrating into many fjords, is considerably longer. The distances are here given in sea-miles (S.M. about $4\frac{2}{3}$ Engl. M.) from station to station. STEAMBOATS, of different companies, ply daily in 17-20 hrs. (fares 13 or 8 kr.; to Bergen, 22 or 13 kr. 75 μ). When the sea is rough we may land at Flekkefjord and go on to Stavanger by railway, for which the steamboat ticket is available.

From the LARGE STEAMERS, which call at few stations, the coast is imperfectly seen, but the Flekkefjord and some other points are striking. The vessel's course is at places protected by islands (Skar), but is often in the open sea, particularly off Cape Lindesnæs, the coast of Listerland, and Jæderen. The LOCAL STEAMERS are much slower and call at many small stations, but they afford a good view of the interesting coast. The fjords are continued inland by narrow and deep valleys, ascending to the great table-lands of the Fjeld. The inhabitants of these valleys, the Opplandsfolk, are mostly engaged in cattle-rearing. Each valley forms a little world of its own, with peculiar character, dialect, and customs. The Kystfolk, or the coast-dwellers, are much engaged in the export of mackerel and lobsters to England.

Christiansand, see p. 2. — The first station of the mail-steamers is ($2\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.) Mandal. On Ryvingen, an outlying islet 7 Kil. to the S., the first land sighted as we approach Norway from the S., is a lighthouse, with electric light equal to 34 million candles, visible for many miles around, and one of the strongest in the world.

6 S.M. Mandal (Hot. Victoria, Andresen's Hot., both plain; British Vice-Consul, T. F. Anderson), the southernmost town in Norway, with 3700 inhab., consisting of Mandal, Malmø, and Kleven (with the harbour), lies partly on rocky islands, at the mouth of the Mandals-Elv. Pleasant excursion up the valley of the Mandals-Elv, by (45 Kil.) Tryggsland, to the (100 Kil.) Aaserals Turist-Hotel & Sanatorium (1150 ft.; R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ -2, board 4 kr.; Engl. spoken), on the Lofvond, which affords good trout-fishing. It may also be reached from Christiansand by Hornnes (p. 4).

Beyond Mandal we pass the mouth of the Undals-Elv and the conspicuous lighthouse on Cape Lindesnæs (formerly Lindandisnæs, Engl. Naze), 160 ft. in height. This cape, the S. extremity of the Norwegian mainland, has since 1650 been marked by a beacon-light (the earliest in Norway). It marks the boundary between Søndenfjeldske Norge and Vestenfjeldske Norge, which extends to the promontory of Stadland (p. 160). In $2\frac{1}{2}$ hrs. more we reach —

6 S.M. Farsund (Hamre's Hot.), a small seaport with 1800 inhab., burned down in 1904, at the mouth of a fjord running inland in three long arms, into the eastmost of which falls the Lyngdals-Elv. — The steamboat now steers N., past the lighthouse of Lister, and then past the mouth of the Feddefjord. Steaming up the Flekkelfjord, we next call at ($2\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.) —

6 S.M. Flekkefjord (Mof's Hot., 5 min. from the pier, R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ -2, B. or S. $1\frac{1}{2}$, D. 2 kr., very fair, Wahl's Hot., well spoken of; British Vice-Consul, J. P. M. Eyde), a prettily situated little town of 2000 inhab., with a good harbour and pleasant public grounds. The handsome Rail. Station (Rest.) is on the E. side of the town, 7 min. from the quay. To the S.E. lies (10 Kil.) Fedde, on the fjord of that name, to which the Kvinesdal descends from the N.E.

FROM FLEKKEFJORD TO STAVANGER, 130 Kil., railway in 5¼-6½ hrs. (fare 7.50, 4.65 kr., comp p. 107). The train ascends N. in the Sredal to the Lundevand (area 10.5 sq. M.: depth 1030 ft.), crosses the effluent of the Sredalsvand (area 7 sq. M.; depth 553 ft.) at (14 Kil.) Sivnes, and reaches the N. end of the former lake at (24 Kil.) Moi (Rfms.), an industrial place. It then mounts rapidly, through many tunnels and past several small lakes. Beyond (38 Kil.) Heskestad (543 ft.) it descends. 58 Kil. Bel'eland; 74 Kil. Ekersund (Rail Rest., see below), out of which the train backs, crossing and re-crossing the Ekersunds-Elv. We next traverse the plain on the coast, passing through moor and woods, and with a view of the sea, several lakes, and barren rocks. The chief stations are: 112 Kil. Narbo (Rest.). 120 Kil. Time, with woollen factory; 135 Kil. Sandnes, a thriving place with 2600 inhab. and several factories, at the S. end of the Stavanger Fjord, which the train now skirts (see Map, p. 110). 150 Kil. Stavanger, see below.

Leaving the Flekkefjord the steamer passes the mouth of the Sira, which falls into the sea in a cascade. For a short way the coast-cliffs are overgrown with grass and underwood.

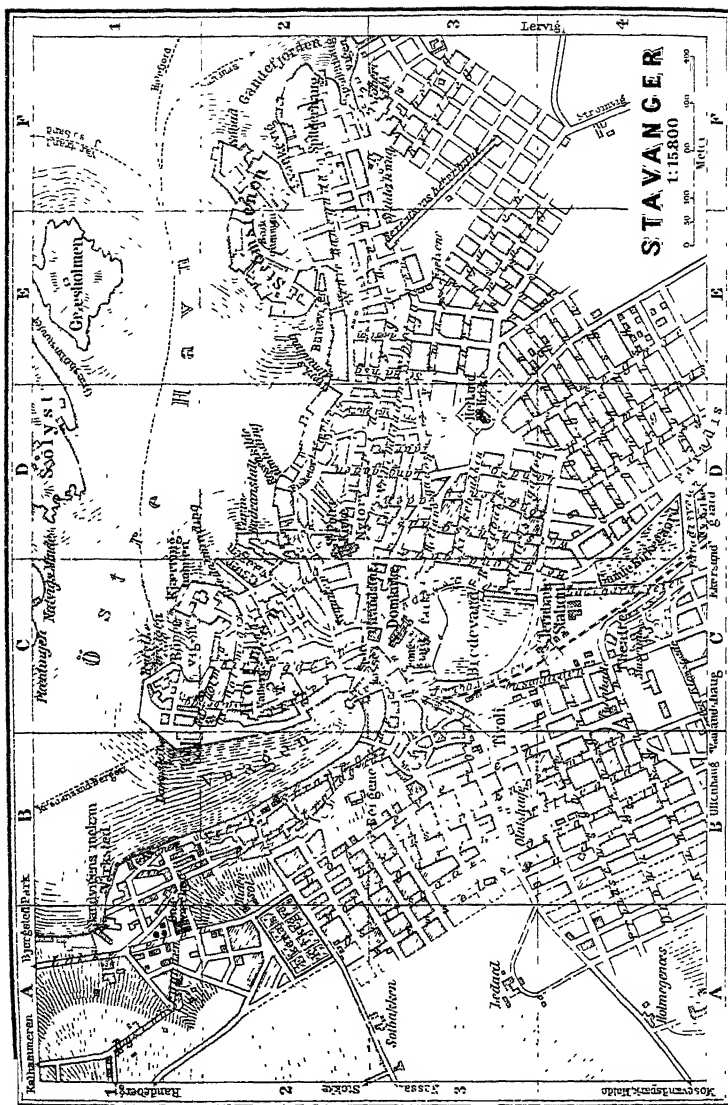

Ragefjord (not always called at) is the station for Sogndal. In 3½ hrs. from Flekkefjord we reach —

8 S. M. Ekersund. — SALVESEN'S HOTEL, 6-7 min. from the pier and 4 min. from the station; GRAND HOTEL, in the market, not far from the station, Engl. spoken — British Vice-Consul, O. M. Puntervold.

Ekersund or Egersund, a town with 3200 inhab. and a large fayence-factory, lies in a rocky region, at the S. end of Jaderen, the flat coast-district extending to Stavanger, which affords good fishing. Fine survey of the environs from a rocky hill with a pole on the top, reached in 25 min. by following a lane opposite the railway-station, and ascending to the right past the cemetery and a farm-house.

The STEAMBOAT next passes the Ekerø, a large island with a lofty iron lighthouse. The coast here is unprotected by islands, and the sea is often rough. A flat and dreary region, enlivened by a few churches and the lighthouses of Obrestad and Feiesten. To the N. of the latter, 12 Kil. from Stavanger by road, is the church of Sole, by which are the ruins of the old church, said to date from the 12th cent., fitted up as a dwelling by Hr. Bennetter, a Norwegian artist. We steer past the Flatholm Fyr and the mouth of the Hafs-fjord. Here in 872 Harald Haarfager (p. 116) gained a decisive naval victory, which made him sovereign of the whole country, and released him from a vow, taken ten years before, not to cut his hair until he should be king of all Norway. To the left rises the lighthouse on the Hvitingsø. The vessel turns E., passes the Tungenes, a promontory with a lighthouse, and (6 hrs. from Ekersund) reaches —

15 S. M. Stavanger. — *HOT. VICTORIA (Pl. a; C, 2), by the steamboat-pier, between the Nedre and Øvre Holme-Gade, with baths, café etc., R. 3-5, B. 1, D. 3-4 kr.; GRAND HOTEL (Pl. b; C, 1, 2), Valbjerg-Gade, corner of Nedre Holme-Gade, R. 2-3, B. 1½ kr.; HOT. NORDSTJERNEN, Skagerr 23, E. 1½-2½ B. or S. 1½, D. 2 kr.; FRU EGG LARSEN'S H., Nord-bygdge 1 R. 1.30, D. 1½ kr. very fair. — Haarr's Café, Trokk, with evening music.

SHOPS Goldsmith G. Hellström & Co, Øvre Holme-Gade 22. Furrier: O. Jensen, Kirke-Gade 41. Fishing-tackle F. M. Valentinsen, Kirke-Gade 10; Wood-carving, embroidery, etc.: Stavanger Husestøforening, Kirke-Gade 20.

POST & TELEGRAPH, Øvre Holme-Gade (Pl. C, 2). — BANKS. Stavanger Priortbank, near the Grand Hotel; Handels & Industri-Bank, Kirke-Gade 35. TOURISTS' AGENTS: Beyer, Valbjerg-Gade, opp. Grand Hotel; Bennett, Øvre Holme-Gade 16. — BRITISH VICE-CONSUL, T. Waaga.

SIX BATHS, at Strømstenen (Pl. F, 2), to the E. — WARM AND VAPOUR BATHS, in Jorenholmen.

Stavanger, capital of an 'Amt', with 35,000 inhab., one of the oldest towns in Norway. is prettily situated on a branch of the Bukkensfjord, or Stavanger Fjord, and is the commercial centre of the Ryfylke, the district enclosing the fjord. It dates from the 8th or 9th cent., but has suffered from many fires, and is now modernized. Alex. L. Kjelland, the poet (1849-1906), a native of the town, was long its burgomaster. Fish-canning and shipping are the great industries of the place.

The large steamers (Pl. B, 1) land at the mouth of the harbour of Vaagen, on the N.W. side of the peninsula of Holmen, the fjord steamers at Ryfylke-Bryggen (Pl. C, 1), on the N.E. side of Holmen. The main street of the Holmen quarter is the Kirke-Gade, which leads past the Valbergtårn (Pl. C, 2; view from the top), in 6 min. to the cathedral, opposite the town-hall, and the Brandvagt (Pl. C, 3; where the key of the church is procured).

The *CATHEDRAL (Pl. C, 3), the finest church in Norway after the cathedral of Trondhjem, originally a Romanesque basilica, was founded by Bishop Reinald, an English prelate, at the end of the 11th cent. and dedicated to St. Swithin (Suetonius, Bishop of Winchester, d. 862). After a fire in 1272 it was rebuilt in the Gothic style. After the Reformation it was neglected, but since 1866 it has been well restored. The nave is separated from the aisles by massive pillars, five on each side, which evidently belong to the original building. The choir, which adjoins the nave without intervening transept, has a square E. end, with a large and effective window. Its rich Gothic style points to the period after the fire of 1272. The choir is flanked with four low towers, two at the E. end, and two smaller at the W. end. The aisles and the choir have beautiful portals. Pulpit of 1658 and Gothic font in the interior.

On the S. side of the church is the Kongsgaard (Pl. C, 3), with its old chapel (Munkelirke; restored), once the residence of the bishop, who was transferred to Christiansand in 1685, and now the Latinskole. To the E. of the Kongsgaard, by the Bredvand, is a small Park (Pl. C, 3), a favourite promenade, skirted by the Kongs-Gade. — To the S. of the little lake are the Railway Station (Pl. C, 4), the Theatre, and the Museum (Pl. C, 4). The latter, a conspicuous building on a height, contains antiquities, natural history specimens, etc. (adm. free on Sun. 11.30 to 1.30 and 5-6, and Thurs. 12-1; at other times, fee). Adjacent are a Hospital, a gymnastic hall, and other new buildings. — The red St. Petrikirke (Pl. D, 2) was built in 1863-65. — The Peders-Gade, nearly $1\frac{1}{2}$ M. long, leads to the docks by the Spilderhaug (Pl. F, 2).

On the hill, N.W. of the town, is the Bjergsted, a public park, with several fine points of view and a café. It may be reached on foot in 20-25 min. by the Lokkevei (Pl. B, A. 3, 2, 1), or by boat from the quay (in 10 min.; 20 ø. each pers.).

The finest view of the town, fjord, and surrounding hills is obtained from the Vaalandshaug or Vaalandspiben (328 ft.), with water-works and tower (rfmts.). From the museum we follow the Peder Klows-Gade (Pl. C, 4), then the Hornklows-Gade to the left, in 10 min. turn to the left where the road forks beyond the last houses, and in 10 min. more reach the tower. — The view from a tower on the Udlandhaug or Ullenhaug (460 ft., rfmts.), $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. farther, is more extensive but less picturesque. The inscription on the tower refers to Harald Haarfager's victory in 872 (p. 108).

Excursion to Sole, on the coast, 12 Kil. S.W. (p. 108) Return by Malde, N. of Sole.

The Stavanger Fjord.

The Bullenfjord or Stavanger Fjord, a broad basin studded with many islands, has arms indenting the land in every direction, some with smiling shores, others flanked with high hills. The lower slopes are generally cultivated, while snow-fjelds appear in the background. The only inhabited places are the islands and the alluvial deposits at the foot of the cliffs. The scenery is little inferior to that of the Hardanger Fjord.

a The Lysefjord.

STEAMBOAT ('Oskar II', Com. 264) thrice weekly from Stavanger to Høgsfjord, Fossand (2 hrs.), at the entrance to the fjord, and Lyse-bunden, at its E. end (there and back 10-14 hrs.). Fares on Wed and Sun, 2 kr there and back.

Høgsfjord or Høle (tolerable quarters), to which we may also drive from rail. stat. Sandnes (24 Kil., in 3-4 hrs.), lies on the Høle-fjord, nearly opposite the mouth of the Lysefjord, on which lies Fossand, near the church of Gjese. A large moraine here led Esmark, the Norwegian scholar, about 1825, to the conjecture that the country was once covered with glaciers.

The *Lysefjord, the grandest fjord on the S.W. coast, $\frac{1}{2}$ -2 Kil. broad, 37 Kil. long, and 1480 ft. deep, is enclosed by precipitous rocky slopes rising to a height of 3300 ft., and almost uninhabited. Near the entrance, opposite Høleslid, is the island of Holmen. At Eidene or Eiane are large granite-quarries. Farther on we note curious rock-formations, such as Prækestolen, or 'The Pulpit' (marked by the Stavanger Gymnastic Club with four colossal F's) and the Søstrene, a low spur with four peaks. Beyond the promontory of Mulen, on the N. bank, lies gaard Sangesand, with a large plantation of cherry-trees (1170, it is said). The singular peak of Kaase Heia is known as 'Kjærringen' (the woman). Kalltid, on the S. bank, also has quarries. To the N. is gaard Kallesten, with another large cherry-orchard. To the S. lie Flørlid and other gaards. At the head of the fjord (2½ hrs. by steamer from Fossand), among huge rocks, lies the station of Lysebunden (two beds at gaard Nerebø). On the Kjerag, towering above the head of the fjord on the S., a curious phenomenon is sometimes observed (last on 10th Nov., 1897, after many years' interval). After a crash like thunder, rays or jets of steam issue from the rocks, probably from a cavern near the summit.

From Lysebunden passes lead N.W. to Aardal (see below; one day); E. to Granheim in the Setersdal (see p. 4); S. to Frijeland (30 Kil.) or to Aadneram, both in the Svedal (p. 108); and S.W. over the Okelro-Fjeld and through the Blaastel-Dal, passing Ekeskog, with the beautiful Maarnesfos, to the Fraffjord (40 Kil.; see below).

The Fraffjord, the S.E. end of the Hølefjord, to which a steamer runs four times weekly, is also worth visiting.

b. The Sandsfjord, Hylsfjord, and Saudefjord.

STEAMBOATS of the Stavanger Steamship Co. (Com. 267) 8 times weekly, from the Ryfylke-Brygge direct to Sand in 4½ hrs. (3 kr. 60 ø.), to Saude in 5½-7¼ hrs.; also indirectly by changing steamers at Jælsø.

On leaving Stavanger we get a glimpse of the open sea to the left, but it is soon shut out by islands. On the left lies the Vadøse. On the right rise the mountains of the mainland, with snowy peaks in the distance. In an hour we pass Strand and Tou, at which local steamers call. Between these places opens Bjørheimskjæften, a gorge through which the Bjørheimsvand empties itself into the fjord.

From Tou a good road leads past the Bjørheimsvand to the Tysdalsvand, on which we row to gaard Nedre Tysdal (quarters) at the E. end; walk thence over the hill to Tveit & Aardal, near Bergeland, and descend by the Store Aa to Aardal (see below; about 27 Kil.). From Bergeland the Hjæsfossen may be visited.

Most of the steamers steer N. to the Talgø, with its marble quarries, and past the Fogne (right) to Juteberg or Judeberget on the Findø; then across an open part of the Bukkenfjord, where we get a glimpse of the Atlantic (left), to the Stjærnersø; thence through a narrow strait between that island and the Bjergø, and across the Nærstrandsfjord to Nærstrand, a summer-resort; next across the mouth of the Sandeidfjord and past the Foldø to Jælsø (p. 112).

The steamers touching at Tou steer N. between the Fogne and the mainland into the Fisterfjord, and thence into the Aardalsfjord to Aardalsosen or Aardal, near the mouth of the Store Aa, which descends from the Øvre Tysdalsvand and smaller lakes. (Thence to Tveit, near Bergeland, 8 Kil., see above.) Observe the extensive moraines of ancient glaciers. — Steaming down the fjord again, and up the Fisterfjord to the N., we pass between the mainland and the Rundø to Hjelmeland, a pleasant village amidst orchards, so named from a 'helmet'-shaped hill near the church.

We next enter the Hjæsenfjord*, with wild, grand rocks, and call at Tytlandsvik or Tøtlandsvik on a bay of its S. bank, and at Valde on its N. bank.

From the head of the Hjøsenfjord a rough path crosses the mountains in two days to Viken in the Setersdal (p. 4).

Returning to the mouth of the fjord, we next pass Knutsvik and enter the mountain-girt Erfjord, where we call at Haalandssosen. Again returning, we then steer for Jælsø.

Jælsø or Jelse (Larsen's Hotel), which the direct steamers from Stavanger reach in 2½-4, and the indirect in 5-10 hrs., is a large village, with a church and a good harbour. Most of the steamers touch here and exchange passengers for different destinations.

We next steam up the Sandsfjord, which gradually narrows and is enclosed by lofty rocks. Several waterfalls. The fjord then expands. In 1½-2 hrs. from Jælsø we reach —

Sand (Kaarhus Hot., with view, R. 1½-2, D. 2, B. or S. 1½ kr., very fair), a village and church at the mouth of the Logen, which forms the pretty Sandsfos 5 min. above. To the Suldalsvand, and thence to the Breifond Hotel and Odde, see p. 113.

The Sandsfjord now divides into two branches.

To the right is the Hylsfjord, on which a steamer plies once a week only; at the grand head of it lies the station of Hysten (quarters). Fine waterfalls descend from the cliffs.

From Hysten to Vaage on the Suldalsvand, 1½-2 hrs., good middle-path, ascending the wild Hylsdal, and crossing the Hylsskar, where we have a striking view of the lake below (comp. p. 113).

To the left is the Saudefjord, the head of which the steamer reaches in 1½-2 hrs. from Sand.

Saude or Sønde (Solberg's Hot.) and Saudestjøen (Rubbe's Hot.), pleasantly situated here, are favourite resorts from Stavanger. Walks S.W. to the pretty Svandal; N.E. to (2 hrs.) Birkelandsdalen, with its zinc-mines; E., along the fjord, to (35 min.) Indre Saude, with the church and the Søndenaa-Fos, and thence to (10 min.) the bridge across the stream issuing from the Aabødal, which here forms the Høllandsfos.

FROM SAUDE THROUGH THE SLETTEDAL TO SELJESTAD, 1½ day (road to Aartun being made). Guide and provisions necessary. — To the (¾ hr.) bridge at the Høllandsfos, see above. About 35 min. farther is gaard Estreim. To the right rises the snow-clad Slavie Nut (5170 ft.). The ascent now begins. Below, to the right, flows the Stor-Elv. Fine views, as we look back on the Saudefjord. Halfway up we reach gaard Fiveland. At the top, 2½ hrs. from Saude, is a grand rocky landscape. As we descend, we have ever finer views of the Stor Lid-Vand, with the Suldalsfos, and of the basin of Aartun, a green oasis, with houses, fields, stream, lake, and waterfall, in a dreary dark-grey chaos of rocks.

At Aartun, 4½ hrs. from Saude, we find tolerable quarters, but poor food. — The route now leads N. into the Slettedal, through a monotonous landscape, passing many seters and waterfalls. After 5 hrs. from Aartun, halfway to Seljestad, the path begins to ascend, and soon commands fine views of the snow-draped Kirke-Nut and the Slettedal behind us. Farther on appears the Følgefond (p. 120), a little to the left. We cross a wide tract of moorland and gradually descend to the Røldal road, which we reach (10 hrs. from Aartun) near Seljestad (p. 115).

c. The Sandeidfjord.

STEAMER (Com. 283) to Sandeid thrice weekly, in 7-8½ hrs. (2.70 kr.).

Once weekly the steamers follow the route above described to Nærstrand, and twice weekly the indirect route by Tou. Aardal, and Hjelmeland, to Jalsø (p. 112).

From Jalsø, or Nærstrand, they steer into the Sandeidfjord, which presents no special attraction. Two lateral fjords diverging from it, the Yrkefjord to the W., the Vindefjord to the E., form a complete cross, recalling the Lake of Lucerne. Some steamers call at stations on these fjords. Vikedal, at the mouth of the Vinde-fjord, has a number of handsome gaards.

At the head of the fjord lies Sundeid (Fru Weidell's Inn), whence a road leads N. to Ølen (8 Kil.; p. 117).

17. From Sand (Stavanger) by the Suldalsvand to Odde on the Hardanger Fjord.

2-3 Days, according as the steamer on the Suldalsvand suits. 1st Day. ROAD (skyds) to Osen, 2-2½ hrs. STEAMER (Com. 490) on the Suldalsvand (once or twice daily) to Næs in 2¼ hrs. (2 kr.). ROAD (skyds) to Horre (Brefjord Hotel), about 3 hrs — 2nd Day. ROAD (skyds) to Odde, about 7 hrs.

Sand, see p. 112. — The Logen, whose valley the road ascends, has several falls (Sandsfos, p. 112). Both the river and the Suldalsvand, out of which it flows, abound in salmon and have been leased for a long term by English anglers, whose handsome dwellings are noticed at various spots. The first part of the road is so picturesque and also so hilly, that travellers had better walk on for about an hour, leaving vehicles to follow. To the left is the Skotifos. The road crosses the river 10 Kil. from Sand, and remains tolerably level to the Suldalsvand. It then crosses a tributary, with a saw-mill, and passes Vatshus. Fine view in front. The church of Suldalen and gaard Mehus lie to the left. After a drive of 2-2½ hrs. from Sand we reach —

19 Kil. Osen or Suldalsosen (Hot. Suldal, R. 1½-2, B. or S. 1¼-1½, D. 1½ kr.; Hot. Suldalsporten, R., B., S., each 1½, D. 2 kr.; both good, Engl. spoken), beautifully situated on the right bank of the Logen, at its efflux from the Suldalsvand. Opposite rises the curious rocky pyramid of Straabekollen.

Vaage (good quarters; steamboat-station), with the Hylsøkur rising above it (p. 112). We here survey the central of the five reaches of the lake. To the left, farther on, lies Luleid, on the hill. In front we have a good view of the curious rounded and polished promontory of Boshaug and of the mountains to the N. To the E. rise the snow-clad Kalle-Fjeld and the long Kvenne Heia. — The steamer's terminus is Næs, but three days a week it goes on to (4 Kil.) Roultkvam (p. 6).

Næs or Næsfjaten (Hot. Bratlandsdalen*, three houses, R. 11½-21½, B. or S. 11½, Engl. spoken), which affords a fine view of the lake and snow-clad mountains, lies at the mouth of the Bratlands-Elv, at the beginning of the road to Røldal. Vehicles meet the steamers.

The road ascends the beautiful Bratlandsdal*, passing at first through a grand gorge, with overhanging rocks. It is preferable to walk as far as the top of the hill, where vehicles halt. Farther on the valley is less interesting. At gaard Thornæs, about 5½ Kil. from Næs, we cross the Bratlands-Elv, and farther on we pass the gaards of Bratland. To the left is the lofty Flæsefos. Beyond gaard Ørebakke we cross the border between the Stavanger Amt and Søndre Bergenhus Amt. We pass Hægerland, on the slope of the Kualuås, and thread a narrow ravine, with a series of rapids. We re-cross the river by the Hægerlands-Bro. The erosive action of the water has left distinct traces all the way up the slopes. The road now reaches the narrow Ljonevand, passes gaard Ljone, and crosses the bridge of that name. Charming scenery. Beyond the Hundefos, formed by the Bratlands-Elv, towers the Ljonehals, a huge cliff worn smooth by the river.

At Botten or Botnen the road re-crosses the river, here issuing from the Røldalsvand (1224 ft.), and skirts the W. bank of the lake, which is enclosed by fine mountains. Beyond the Haare-Bro, spanning a brook coming from the left, the roads to Telemarken and the Hardanger fork. (The former skirts the lake, at the N. end of which appears Røldal, p. 38.) On the Hardanger road (10 min. farther; 3 hrs.' drive from Næs) is the — 24 Kil. Breifond Hotel* (R. 2-3, B. 11½, D. 21½, S. 13¼ kr.; often crowded; Engl. spoken), on the site of the former skyds-station of Horre or Huare. Fine view of the lake and the Haukelifjeld. The Haarefos, to which we ascend at the back of the hotel, may be visited in ¼ hr.

The HARDANGER ROAD ascends the Horrebrækkene in windings, which walkers avoid by short-cuts (marshy in wet weather). On the right are the slopes of the Horreheia, on the left the Elgersheia. Behind us, S.E. of the Røldalsvand, towers the Bredfond with its great snow-mantle. At the top of the hill (3393 ft.), 8 Kil., or 1¾ hr.'s drive, from the Breifond Hotel, the road, tolerably level for some way, crosses a dreary solitude with several ponds. We soon obtain a view of the snowy Folgefond (p. 120), and then descend the Gorssvingane in many windings, where the ¹¹VIEW becomes ever grander. Far below lies the narrow Gorsbotn, flanked by steep hills, with the sombre Gorsrand, at the end of which is a waterfall. Beyond stretches the broad valley of Odde, overtopped on the left by the flat snow-fields of the Følgefond. The whole scene is one of the most impressive and characteristic in Norway. The old bridle-path and the stream, called the Hedsten-Elv lower down, are seen at places by the side of the Gorssvingane. At the lower end of the Gorsvand (2798 ft.) is a kind of rock-gateway, where the view is unimpeded. Birches and pines mark the beginning of the tree-zone. We descend in zigzags, past the Svaagen and Hedstensnuten, to —

The road to Odde will even repay walkers (4½-5 hrs.; drive of 2½ hrs.). It follows the hill and then crosses the stream twice. A rock to the left of the road, 3 Kil. from Seljestad, and a little beyond the 20th kil. stone 'fra Odde', affords a view of the Hestekleffus. The road descends in a curve. On the right is the small Hot. Udsigten (R. 1½, B. or S. 1½, D. 2¼ kr.; Engl. spoken). Just above it a path leads to the left to a point marked by an iron vane, affording a superb view of the wooded gorge of 'Seljestadjuvet', through which the road winds down. Lower down we cross the stream. Continuous views of the picturesque valley. After 5 min. a narrow road descends to the left through wood to gaard Jøsendal and Fjære (p. 117). A little beyond the next bridge a steep road ascends to the right to gaard Skurd; farther on, to the left, a road leads across the river to the gaards on the heights. In another ¼ hr. the road passes the Espelandsfos*, on the left, and the Lotefos*, on the right. On the hill to the right is an inn (p. 125). To Odde a drive of 2 hrs., or a walk of 3-3½ hrs. more.

23 Kil. (pay for 26) Odde (p. 124).

18. From Stavanger to Bergen by Sea.

25 Norw. Sea-miles (100 Engl. M.), but the course taken by the steamers is much longer. Distances are given below in sea-miles from station to station. — MAIL STEAMERS (Christiania-Bergen; Com. 218) leave Stavanger (and Bergen) every evening, 10-11 hrs., calling at Kopervik and Haugesund. LOCAL STEAMERS, also starting every evening, take an hour more, touching at Ferresvik, Kopervik, Haugesund, Mosterhavn, and Lervik. There are also slower steamers, large and small (Com. 224, 278), starting daily.

The whole voyage is in smooth water, protected by islands, except for the short distances between Stavanger and Kopervik, and between Haugesund and Langevaag. As the fine scenery of the Hardanger Fjord (L. 19) only begins at the Hersø we lose little by going thus far by night.

Stavanger, see p. 108. The vessel steers N.W.; on the left are the Duse-Fyr and Tungenæs-Fyr on the Rundebery; to the right the Hundvaagø, Mosterø, Klostere with the old Ullstenkloster, and the Rennø-s. Before entering the open Bukkenfjord we see on the left the tall lighthouse on the Hvitingø, and N.W. the lighthouse of Fulnæs (Skudsnæs). On the left is the small seaport (pop. 1200) Skudsnæshavn, with its lighthouse, at the S. end of the Karmø, a large island. We enter the Karmsund. The first station of the smaller steamers is Færresvik, on the Bukkenø.

6 S.M. Kopervik, or Kobbervik (Ellingsen's Hot.; Næss Hot.), with 1000 inhab., on the Karmø, is a great centre of the herring-fishery. The island is flat, and partly cultivated, but largely marshy. It contains many barrows, or ancient burial-places, especially at the N. end, which have yielded valuable relics. The climate, cool in summer, mild and humid in winter, is healthy. — About 16 Kil. W. of the Karmø is the lonely little island of Utsire, with a chapel and a lighthouse, near which herrings abound.

On the left, 7 Kil. beyond Kopervik, is the old church of Augvaldsnæs, by which, and leaning towards it, is a 'bautaasten', 26 ft. high, known as 'Jomfru Marius Synaal' (the Virgin Mary's Needle). Tradition says that when this pillar falls against the church the world will end. — Farther N., on the other side of the Karmsund, are five similar stones, the 'Five Foolish Virgins'. At the end of the Karmsund, on the right, lies —

2 S.M. Haugesund (Grand Hot.; Jonassen's Hot., British Vice-Consul, B. A. Stolt-Nilsen; pop. 7900), or Karmsund. On the Haraldshaug, a mound to the N., the supposed tombstone of Harald Haartager (d. 933) is pointed out. Here rises the Haralds-Støtte, an obelisk of red granite, 56 ft. high, on a square pedestal, around which are ranged about 20 stones, 9 ft. high, representing the ancient Norse tribes. It was erected in 1872, on the thousandth anniversary of Harald's famous victory (p. 108). — A road leads from Haugesund E. to (48 Kil.) Ølen (p. 117).

The larger steamers go direct to Bergen (sometimes touching at Lervik only), passing either between the Bømmelø and the Stordø, or between the Stordø and the Tysnæs. — To the N. of Haugesund is an unprotected part of the coast, called Sletten, which the steamers pass in an hour. Near the N. end of it is Lyngholmen, the first station in Bergens-Stift. On a rock to the W. is the Ryvaardens-Fyr. We enter the Bømmelfjord, one of the narrow entrances to the Hardanger (p. 118); on the Bømmelø, to the left, which contains gold-mines of little value, rises the Siggen (1542 ft.). This region is called the Sønd-Horland; the natives are Seringer. Grand mountains in the background, with the Folgefond (p. 120). Some of the steamers touch at Tjernagel, on the mainland, others at Lungevåg, on the Bømmelø, opposite.

6 S.M. Mosterhavn, on the Mosterø, has a little church said to have been built by Olaf Tryggvason (995-1000).

2 S.M. Lervik (Dahl's Hot.; change boats for Ølen and Fjære, see p. 117), lies at the S. end of the Stordø, with its sulphur-mines, one of the largest islands at the entrance to the Hardanger. The wooded Halsenø, to the E., contains remains of a Benedictine monastery, founded about 1164, and several barrows.

To the S. of Lervik opens the Aalfjord, with the villages of Nakenes and Vikrevik. To the E. is the Skoneviksfjord, on which a steamer plies.

On the Ølenfjord, a S. arm of the Skoneviksfjord, lies Ølen (Inn, good. skyds-stat.), 8 Kil. from Sandeid (p. 113), and visited 6 times weekly by steamers. Several call at Etne (Hol. Etne), at the E. end of the Etne-Pollen, whence a mountain-path leads direct to Seljestad (p. 115), a very fatiguing walk of 11-12 hrs. (about 50 Kil.)

To the E. of the Skoneviksfjord is the Aakrefjord (steamer once a week only; Com. 283), with the stations Aakre and (at the head of the fjord) Fjære (tolerable quarters). From Fjære a narrow road, practicable for one-horse vehicles, crosses the mountains, amidst imposing scenery, to Rullestad (quarters; near it are several glacier 'cauldrons'), Vidertun, and (18 Kil.) Gnord Jøsundal on the road to Odde (p. 113; from Fjære to the Lotefos a drive of 4 hrs.). Comp. Map, p. 119.

Beyond Lervik the direct steamer follows the Bønneidfjord and then the Klosterfjord, named after the monastery on the Halsenø.

2 S.M. Sunde, on the E. side of the Husnæsffjord, on the peninsula of Husnæs.

Herø, a small island opposite Helvik, where passengers for the Hardanger sometimes change boats (9½ hrs. from Stavanger, 4¾ hrs. from Bergen).

The scenery now becomes more attractive; the mountains are higher and less monotonous, on every side is a profusion of rocks, islands, headlands, and wooded hills, enlivened with smiling hamlets nestling in sheltered creeks.

3 S.M. Terø, a little island with several gaards on the N. side of the Husnæsffjord. Beautiful scenery; to the W. the large island of Tysnæsø, to the E. appears the huge snow-mantle of the Folgefond (p. 120), of which we have an admirable distant view. To the E., opposite Terø, is the peninsula of Stongunæs, composed of greenish slate with veins of auriferous quartz.

The district of Nord-Horland begins here. The steamer threads the Loksund, a narrow strait between the mainland and the Tysnæsø, an island attractive to artists and anglers. The next station, Emingevik, lies on the Tysnæsø, at the N. end of the strait. Steering between wooded islands, we next call at Godø Sund (Gullaksen's Hol.; good, pens. 3½ kr., with sea-baths), on a small island, N. of the Tysnæsø, pleasant for some stay. The station of Vaage, near the Tysnæskirke, also lies on the Tysnæsø.

The Bjørneffjord and the Korsffjord are next traversed. To the W. we have a glimpse of the open sea, from which the Newcastle steamers enter the Skjærgaard. On the left our course as far as Bergen is bounded by the island of Stor Sartorø. To the S. of the little island of Trøle, in the Korsffjord, we have a last view of the Folgefond (W.). To the right is the Lyseffjord, with the charming Lysø (day's excursion from Bergen, by Nestun, p. 138), and the ruined Lyselkloster, dating from 1146, on its E. bank. On the right are the peninsula of Koisnæs and the Faneffjord. The Løvstaken near Bergen (p. 137) now comes into sight to the N. Beyond the Bjætkrø (left) we call at Bukken, on an island close to the mainland (right), and then pass the Bjørø (left). We steer through the Vatlestrøm, a strait with a strong current, N. of Bjørø, on the right lies Hakonshellen. Numerous lighthouses. To the left lies the Lille Sirtørø, with the station of Bratholmen. Our course turns N.W. into the Byffjord, with the hilly Askø (p. 137) on the left. The promontory of Kvarren, on the mainland, to the right, with large petroleum-stores, is the N. spur of the Lyderhorn (p. 132).

17 S.M. (from Haugsund; 11 from Tersø) Bergen, see p. 130.

19. The Hardanger Fjord.

From Slavanger to Odde on the Hardanger Fjord the overland route already described (R. 17) is the most interesting. Or we may go direct by STEAMBOAT (twice weekly, Sun. and Thurs.; Com. 281) in 22 hrs. (fare 13 30 kr.). Passengers by the Thurs. steamer change at Hersø (p. 117) into the steamer from Bergen to Odde. Once a week the Bergensk-Nordenfjeldske Turistskib is available.

From Bergen to the Hardanger Fjord STEAMBOATS (Com. 280) to Eide daily in 9½-15 hrs. (8.60 kr.); to Odde in 12½-19½ hrs. (10½ kr.). Good food on board; comp. p. xviii.

From Bergen by Trengereid to Norheimsund, see p. 141; by Vossevangen to Eide or to Utvik, see R. 20.

From Telemarken by Haukeli and Røidal to Odde, see R. 5.

The Hardanger Fjord* is the best-known of the Norwegian fjords, and the beauty of its scenery has been famed from the earliest times. Wergeland calls it 'det underdejlige', the 'wondrous-beautiful'. It presents a most characteristic example of Norwegian scenery: the broad fjord, the bold rocky banks, and the strip of fertile land fringing the water. Near it are also some of the finest waterfalls in Norway, easily accessible. In point of grandeur, however, the Hardanger is perhaps surpassed by some of the N. fjords, such as the Fjærlandsfjord (p. 147), Nordfjord (p. 165), and Jørundfjord (p. 181). The inhabitants (Hårænger or Håringes) and their characteristics are interesting. The bridal crowns and gold and silver trinkets (such as the Sølje, or Sylgja, a kind of brooch or buckle) are curious, and the embroidery, coverlets (Slumretæpper), and carpets (Tæpper) made in this district are much esteemed. The costumes are seen to advantage only on Sundays, before or after church. The women wear the 'Skaut', a kind of white linen cap, folded and starched, and sometimes a red bodice, embroidered with beads. The peculiar Hardanger violin (Fele) has steel strings combined with gut to increase the resonance.

Our description follows the course of the Hardanger-Søndhorland Steamers (Com. 280), which, however, call at different stations on different trips. The distances are in Norwegian Seamiles (p. 107).

a. The Western Hardanger Fjord, to the Mauranger Fjord.

STEAMER (Com. 289) from Bergen to Sundal thrice weekly in 6-9 hrs. (6-10 kr.) The other steamers do not call at Sundal but keep nearer the N. bank of the fjord

At the entrance to the Kvinðherreds-Fjord, which forms the avenue to the Inner Hardanger, on the N. and S. sides respectively. lie the islands of Tersø (10 S.M. from Bergen) and Herø (11 S.M. from Bergen; p. 117). The steamboat-station on Herø is named Herøesund (change of boats, see p. 117).

From Herø we steer into the Stor-Sund, a strait between the islands of Skorpen and Smiltshvit on one side and the mainland on the other. On this strait are the stations Uskedal, overtopped by the Englefjeld and the Kjeldhaug; Demelsviken or Dimmelsviken, between the dark Solfjeld on the S. and the Skinnebergs-Nut on the E., adjoined by the Malmunger-Nut; and — 2½ S.M. (from Tersø) Rosendal (Skivole's Hotel), near the towerless church of Kvinðherred, with the park and château (built in 1678) of the barons Hoff-Rosenkrone. The château contains a statue of the Countess Bariatinska by Thorvaldsen, and a few paintings. — To the E. towers the conspicuous Melderskin (5192 ft.; ascended in 6 hrs.) a fair path through the Melsdal to the Midtsøter and the Myrdalsvand; thence rather steep. Grand view of the Folgefond and of the fjord down to the open sea.

Some steamers now cross to the stations Gjermundshavn and Mundheim on the N. bank (see Map, p. 117), or to Skjelnæs (quarters at the Landhandler's) in the large Varaldsø. Thence to Bakke, Jondal, etc., see p. 120. — Between the Varaldsø and the mainland to the E. the fjord is called Sildefjord. The steamer touches at the church of Ænes (Skyds-stat.), at the mouth of the Ænesdal, over which a jagged ridge with the snow-fields and glaciers of the Folgefond (p. 120) rises as a background.

At Ænes opens the Mauranger Fjord*, on which a steamboat plies eastwards three times, and westwards twice a week; on other days it is reached by boat-skyds from Skjelnæs (about 18 Kil. from Sundal, 3-3½ hrs. row). To the right of the entrance to this fjord, with its high rocky banks, is the Furebergfoss, a broad foaming waterfall. The steamboat-station is —

3 S.M. Sundal (Hot. Sundal, plain, but good, R., B., or S. 1½, D. 2 kr.), near gaard Bondhus, the starting-point for a visit to the Folgefond and its glacier, the Bondhusbræ. Samson Olsen Sundal is a certificated guide.

A visit to the Bondhusbræ*, and back, takes 3½ hrs. on foot. A narrow cart-track (stolkjærre 3, for 2 pers. 4 kr.) ascends the Sundal, enclosed by high mountains, on the left bank of the torrent, and through 'Ur' at the end, to the (¾ hr.) small Bondhusvand (624 ft.). Splendid view of the lake, with its prominent rocky islets, and of the Bondhusbræ, rising over the green moraine on the S. bank.

Several cascades fall from the heights, right and left. A boat lies ready to take us to (20 min.) the other end (rowed by the guide brought from Sundal, 1.60 kr.). We then ascend a path, marshy at places, pass a sæter (occupied only after mid-July), and cross the moraine (1050 ft.; splendid view of the glacier and of the foaming Brufos on the left) to the (20-25 min.) glacier.

THE PASSAGE OF THE FOLGEFOND is a fine and not very difficult expedition (to Odde 10½-11 hrs., guide necessary; 8, for 2 pers. 10, for 4 pers. 12 kr.; horse to the top of the pass, 12 kr.; provisions necessary: the ascent is in shade in the early morning; comp. also p. 126). About ½ hr. from Sundal a bridle-path diverges to the left from the road to the Bondhusbræ, descends and crosses the glacier-brook by a bridge, and leads through meadows to the foot of the opposite height. We ascend in windings, past a tablet recording the construction of the path by the German 'Nordlands-Verein' in 1890. In about 2½ hrs. from Sundal we reach the Gars-hammer-Sæter (about 2300 ft., beer). Farther on we cross the outflow of a small lake and pass over some marshy ground. We then ascend by a tolerable path to the right, between boulders. In about 1½ hr. the red-roofed hut of Breidablik comes in sight. We next descend a little, observing to the left an ice-bound lake, whose broad outflow we cross by stepping-stones; then re-ascend, over a large snow-field, to (½ hr.) the Breidablik Hut (about 4430 ft.; beer, etc.), on the Bottenhorgen. Extensive survey of the huge 'Folgefond' ('fond' or 'fonn', a field of snow), which covers a plateau about 36 Kil. long and 6-15 Kil. broad. Travellers with horses find sledges at the hut, but this 'summer sleighing' is but poor sport, and not much quicker than walking. The crossing of the great snow-mantle takes about 3½ hrs.; at the top (5414 ft.) we obtain a view of the Hardanger Vidde, with the curiously shaped Haarteigen. The Tyssestreng (p. 126) are also visible. A bridle-path on the other side leads past the Tokheimenuter and down the Tokheimsdal to Tokheim in 2 hrs.; Odde is ½ hr. farther (see p. 124).

From Gjerde, on the Østre Pollen, the E. arm of the Mauranger Fjord (boat from Sundal in ¼ hr., 50 s.), a bridle-path ascends the Folgefond, passing the hut in the Ørebøtn and the Hundser (5862 ft.), crossing the snow, and descending to Tokheim (see above; guide, Gotskalk A. Gjerde; charges, see above). As from Sundal, travellers may ride to the glacier and cross the snow in sleighs.

b. The Central Hardanger Fjord, East to Eide.

STEAMER from Sundal to Eide twice a week in 4-4½ hrs. (fare 3.70 kr.). The other steamers do not call at Sundal. From Bergen to Eide daily, in 9-14 hrs. (8.60 kr.).

On leaving the Mauranger Fjord the steamer steers N. Fine view behind us of the peaks, snow-fields, and glaciers above the Ænesdal (p. 119). To the right Aarsand; then Aarvik, with a large waterfall. We next cross the Hissfjord to Vikingsnæs (p. 121). — Other steamers, after Mundheim or Skjelnæs (p. 119), touch at —

5 S.M. (from Terø) Bakke (Bakke Hot., good), pleasantly situated on the Strandebarmstugt, a bay of the Hissfjord. View of the Folgefond to the S.E., the snow-clad Treite Kviting (4190 ft.) N.W., and the Terøik-Nut (3520 ft.) N.E. At the head of the bay, 3 Kil. N., is the church of Strandebarm; farther on, near the hamlet of Fosse, on the E. bank, is a waterfall, 490 ft. high (130 ft. in one sheer leap), but poor in dry weather.

From Strandebarm a path leads by gaards Haukaas and Sultjøry and the Torahella Sæter to (4-5 hrs.) Netland in the Steinsdal, and down the valley to Norheimsund in 1 hr. more (see below).

We next round the peninsula of Vikingnæs, the S. spur of the wooded Ljonæs-Aas, where several 'chalets', with or without board, are let to summer visitors (chiefly English, Engl. Ch. Serv. in July & Aug.). View of the Myrdalsfos to the right.

2½ S.M. Jondal (Utne's Inn), on the E. bank, noted for its 'Hardanger boats'. The fjord contracts.

FROM JONDAL a road ascends the Korsdal by (¾ hr.) Birkeland to (3 hrs.) Gaard Flatebø (1100 ft.), grandly situated; then S. to the Jondalsbrø, near the Dravleland and Johlevand. — From Flatebø to the Sorrfjord (5-10 hrs.; guide necessary). The bridle-path leads N.E. to Synset, ascends steeply and takes a wide bend to the N., turns E., skirts the Thorsaut (5134 ft.), and leads S. to the Saraklep (highest point, 4530 ft.); then a steep descent to the Reisæter (1080 ft.), and thence to Bleie (Naac, p. 123).

Beyond Jondal we pass several waterfalls, leaving Jonarnæs on the right, and enter the Ytre Samlen-Fjord, touching at Skuteviken once a week. Beautiful scenery. The steamer rounds the Arenæs on the W. side, passes the church of Vikør, and enters the Norheimsund, on which lies —

3 S.M. Norheimsund or Sandven (Sandven's Hot., very fair, R. 1½-2, B. or S. 1½, D. 2 kr.; Iversen's Hot.; Engl. Ch. Serv. in the season), charmingly situated, and suitable for some stay. Admirable view of the Folgefond, with a series of intervening mountains. — The new road to Trengereid (p. 141) ascends the Steinsdal to the W.; after ½ hr. we cross a bridge on the right to the Øfsthus (Øverste Hus) Fos, a waterfall 100 ft. high, with a path passing behind it (25 ø.), visible from Sandven. We may also walk S.E. on the bank of the fjord to (2 hrs.) Vikør and Axenæs (see above). The road to the N., crossing the mouth of the Steindals-Elv, winds over the hill to Østense (see below). — The Torenut (about 3426 ft.), to the N., is easily ascended by the Sjau-Sæter in 5 hrs.

Beyond Norheimsund the margin of the Folgefond continues in sight, to the S. We next touch at — Østense or Øistesjø (Olsen's Hot., small but pleasant), prettily situated on the bay of that name.

A road crosses the hill to the E. of Østense to (1½ hr.) Skaare, on the narrow and picturesque Fiksensund*, which runs 11 Kil. inland from Stenstø (p. 122). At the head of the Fiksensund, reached by rowing-boat from Skaare in 1½ hr., lies gaard Botnen (Flatebø Hot., good), whence a steep path leads in 2-3 hrs. to the Hamlegrø Hotel (p. 138), at the S. end of the Hamlegrøvand. — FROM BOTNEN TO BOLKEN, a full day's walk. A tolerable bridle-path, very steep at places, ascends the Flatebeggjet to the (5 Kil.) Løkedal sæter, whence we may ascend the Flatebøfjeld or Løkedalsnuten (3455 ft.; fine view; 2-3 hrs. there and back). From the sæter the path ascends to the watershed (1910 ft.), then descends a little to (6 Kil.) Hodnaberg (two 'sæter-hotels'), at the N.E. end of the Hamlegrøsvand (fishing), and skirts the river issuing from the Thorjunnvand to (6 Kil.) gaard Skjeldal (1083 ft.). Lastly a good road leads to (5 Kil.) Grimestad, at the W. end of the Vangsvand, and thence by Liland to Boiken (p. 189).

Twice a week the steamer next steers N. of the Kvamsø, and past the mouth of the Fiksensund, touching on one voyage at Stenstø, to Aalvik, on the Indre Samlen-Fjord. Fine view of the Samlehoofd (S.; see below). Near the station is the picturesque Melaanfoss. We now steam direct to Eide (see below). — Other steamers steer across the fjord from Østensø to Herand, on the S. side of the bold Samlehoofd or Samlekolle (2058 ft.), round that hill, and, past (1½ Kil.) Vinås and Hesthammer (previously touching at Utne once a week, see below), to the somewhat monotonous —

Gravenfjord or Granvin-Fjord. At its mouth, to the right, rises the abrupt Oxen (4102 ft.; ascended from the S.E.; fine view, especially of the Sørfjord to the S., and the high mountains to the E.) — At its N. end, where the channel contracts, lies —

5 S.M. Eide (* Måland's Hot., a large house ¼ M. from the pier, R. 2-2½, B. or S. 1½, D. 2¼ kr., Jaunsen's Hot., 3 min. farther, R. 1-1½, B. or S. 1¼, D. 2 kr., unassuming; Engl. Ch. Serv. in July and Aug.), a busy place, being the station for Vossevangen, and pleasant for some stay. Interesting walk up the Vossevangen road to the superb Gravensvand (½ hr.; to the Gravenskirke, 4 Kil.; p. 141).

From Eide to Vossevangen or Ulvik, p. 141.

c. The Sørfjord.

STEAMER (Com. 280) from Eide to Odde daily in 3-4 hrs. (fare 2 90 kr.); from Bergen to Odde daily in 14-16½ hrs. (10.50 kr.), from Vik i Eidfjord (Com. 282) to Odde daily (3.60 kr.)

Quitting the Gravenfjord (see above), the steamboat crosses the broad Utneffjord, the central reach of the Hardanger Fjord, with the Oxen rising astern, to —

2 S.M. Utne (Utne's Hotel, good), beautifully situated on the S. bank, with a large church. At the back lies a shady valley. The Hunekamb (3593 ft., 2½ hrs.; descent to Grimo, see p. 123, 1½ hr.) affords a fine survey of the Utne, Eid, and Sør Fjords. — Steamer to the Eidfjord, see p. 127.

The Odde steamer passes gaard Tronæs, with the headland of Kirkenæs opposite, to the E., and enters the —

Sørfjord* ('south fjord'), running S. for 40 Kil., and narrowing from 2 Kil. to a few hundred yards, which separates the ice and snow-clad Følgefjord from the great central mountain-plateau. At the mouths of the torrents their alluvial deposits have formed fertile patches of land, where cherries and apples thrive luxuriantly, especially in the centre and N. parts of the fjord, where it is never frozen over. The banks are relatively well peopled. The charm of the fjord lies in the contrast between the smiling hamlets below and the wild fjeld above. — The first station is usually —

Grimo (Pugerud's Inn, good), on a fertile site on the W. bank. Picty walks (to the hill of Haugsnes, 20 min. S.; to Utne, 7 Kil. N. by road).

Opposite Grimo opens the charming Kinservik (reached by rowing-boat), with the Husdal and the Thveitafos and Nygastelsfos. A lofty road, with fine views, leads from Kinservik church, skirting the headland of Krosnæs, to Lofthus (a walk of $2\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.).

3 S.M. (from Eide; 5 from Ulvik) Lofthus (Hot. Ullensvang, pens. 4 kr., good, Engl. spoken; Engl. Ch. Serv. in the season), in an orchard-like region on the E. bank, enclosed by a wide girdle of rocks, with a watertall and view of the Folgefond, is one of the finest points on the Hardanger. A little S. is Oppedal, a landing-place where the steamers call once a week instead of at Lofthus. The parish-church of Ullensvang, on the S. side of the Aapo-Elv, which falls into the fjord here, dates from the Gothic period; fine W. portal; Gothic choir-window, with the head of a bishop at the top, and a weeping and a laughing face right and left. The Brurastol, a rocky height above the church, affords an admirable survey of the Sørfjord, N. to the Oxen (p. 122), and S.W. to the Folgefond. A visit to Bjørnebykiset ('bear's leap'), a fall of the Aapo-Elv, takes $2\frac{1}{2}$ -3 hrs. from the inn (there and back). Farther off is the Skrikjofos, higher but of less volume.

On the opposite bank of the fjord are the large gaards of Jnastad, Vilure, and Aga, which last still contains an old hall lighted from above. Above Aga rises the Solnut (4833 ft.); beyond it, the Thorsnut (5165 ft.). The glaciers of the Folgefond peer down the valleys at intervals. — Next station —

Berven or Berven, in sight of the glaciers opposite. The projecting peak of the Bervenut (1 hr.) is a fine point of view.

On the W. bank is the Vikebugt, with the station of — Naae and the gaards of Bleie. Above fertile fields and gardens protrude the glaciers of the Folgefond, from which waterfalls descend. — From Bleie over the mountains to Jondal, see p. 121.

Next on the E. bank are gaards Sundstø and Sere; Hovland, with a spinning-mill; Kvalenæs, a promontory and gaard.

Espen, a station on the E. bank; with several gaards charmingly situated on the hill.

Then, on the W. bank, Kvitnaa, at the entrance to the imposing Raumsdal, with the glaciers of the Folgefond in the background. Interesting excursion to the Raumsdalsvand and back (6-7 hrs.; bad path). Farther on is Digenæs, with waterfalls. Between Kvitnaa and Digenæs, on the hill, is gaard Aase. Beyond Digenæs is gaard Apald; then Auen, with the waterfall of that name, also called Ednaufos.

On the E. bank, beyond Espen, comes Fresvik, with its fine large amphitheatre of wood, its meadows and corn-fields. Opposite Digrenæs are the gaards of Skjælvik, in a girdle of hills, and Stana, with Isberg at a dizzy height above it. Between the Tyssedalsnut and the Thveitnut opens the Tyssedal (electric power station; p. 126). Close to the fjord is a fall of the Tyssaa, admirably framed in pine-forest. A group of rocks farther on is called Biskopen, Præsten og Klokkeren.

On the W. bank lie the gaards of Eitrheim, with the peninsula of Etnæs, and Tokheim, with its waterfall and the Tokhemnsnut, whence a path crosses the Folgefond to the Mauranger Fjord (p. 120). Pleasant walk from Odde to Tokheim ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) by the road on the bank, thence by a path on the hill-side, through orchards, and up to the crest of the peninsula, with an unimpeded view N. and S. (in all, there and back, 3 hrs.).

4 S.M. Odde. — *HARDANGER HOTEL, on the fjord, 2 min. from the pier, with a large hall, pretty dining-room (paintings by Nils Bergshien), baths, and two dépendances, Engl. spoken, R. 1-3, B. or S. $1\frac{1}{2}$, D. Odde or Odda, at the S. end of the Serfjord, the terminus of the great routes from Telemarken and the Stavanger Fjord (RR. 5, 17), commanded on the W. by the Roklenut and on the E. by the Raasnaas, is one of the most frequented places in the Hardanger district. It is very picturesquely situated, but its charm is marred by the factories which have lately sprung up. Of these there are several above the village, S.E., on the right bank of the Aabo-Elv (carbide of calcium, zyanamide, etc.). They are supplied with electric power from the Tyssedal (p. 126), by means of a cable 7 Kil. long, and are connected with the quay by tramway.

The slope which the Telemarken road ascends, skirting the seething falls of the Aabo-Elv, is an old glacier-moraine (p. xxxii). To the left, opposite, lie the factories. Fine survey of Odde and the Serfjord behind us. On the height, by the Hot. Odda, the Sandenvand*, the feeder of the Aabo-Elv, is revealed to view. An iron bridge, the Vastunbro, crosses the river, $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. from Odde.

EXCURSIONS. — 1. To the BUARBRÆ (and back, $4\frac{1}{2}$ -5 hrs., guide unnecessary). Boat to Jordal incl 3 hrs. of waiting, 1 kr. each person. A road diverging to the right, a little short of the Vastunbro, and leading round the N. end of the Sandvenvand, on the slope of the Eidesnut, to ($\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) the mouth of the Jordal and the hamlet of that name, is under construction. To the S. towers the Jordalsnut. The route into the Jordal passes between the houses and ascends through orchards. Higher up also the valley is remarkable for its rich vegetation (birches, elms, barley, etc.). The abrupt rocks enclosing the valley are clothed with underwood. The bluish-green glacier of the Folgefond forms the background. In $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. from Jordal we cross to the left bank of the Jordals-Elv. In 50 min. more the stony path passes gaard Buar (1050 ft.), on the opposite bank. To the left, high up, is a waterfall. The path, nearly level for about 10 min. more, then ascends to a refreshment-hut. Lastly a rough ascent over the moraine to (6-8 min.) a point opposite the ice-fall of the Buarbræ. The glacier is divided by the Urbotten rock into two arms, which afterwards unite and form a 'medial' moraine. The Buarbræ has been receding for several years and is inferior to the Bondhusbræ (p. 119), while both are surpassed by the great glaciers of the Nordfjord (pp. 169, 171).

Good mountain-walkers may ascend on the right side of the Buarbræ to the Folgefond, skirt the Eidesnut and the Rukkenut, and descend past the Tokheimsnut to Tokheim and Odde (p. 124), an interesting but fatiguing expedition of 8-10 hrs (guide 4-8 kr.).

2. To the LÖTEFOS (and back, 7-8 hrs.' walk, 4-5 hrs.' drive) We follow the Telemarken road to the Vastunbro (p. 124) and the E. bank of the Sandvenvand, partly under high rocks and over 'Ur' or rocky debris, enjoying a superb view of the Jordal, with the Buarbræ and Folgefond in the background. Farther on, to the left, is the fine Kjendalsfos; opposite is the Strandsfos, descending from the Scartenut. At the head of the lake, 7 Kil. from Odde, lies gaard Sandven. (Walkers may row from the Vastunbro to this point and may order a boat for the return-journey.) The road next passes Hildal (328 ft.), where the Væfos or Hildalsfos descends on the right, and (4 Kil.) Grønsdal (reached by a bridge), the starting-point for the ascent of the Saue-Nut (about 3940 ft.; splendid view of the Folgefond). The valley contracts to a picturesque ravine ('Djuv'), through which dashes the Grønsdals-Elv. To the left is a tablet to the memory of a German naval officer who met his death here in 1897 by falling from his bicycle into the torrent. After about 15 Kil. from Odde we reach, on the left, the Lotefos and the Skarsfos, the waters of which unite below, and opposite them the veil-like Espelandsfos, one of the most beautiful waterfalls in Norway. The best point of view is on the hill to the left, just above the road (Inn, R. $1\frac{1}{2}$, B. $1\frac{1}{2}$ kr., small; but very fair).

We may now drive up the superb ravine to Seljestad (p. 115), 2 hrs. more, a full day from Odde and back.

3. ASCENT OF THE FOLGEFOND FROM TOKHEIM AND DESCENT TO THE BUARBRE (better than in the reverse direction; 10 hrs.; guide 8 kr.). To Tokheim, see p. 124. A good bridle-path winds up the Tokheimsdal in $1\frac{1}{2}$ -3 hrs. to a refuge-hut (3773 ft.) and in 20 min. more to the brink of the Folgefond. We then ascend over the snow, passing several rocks marked by Varder, to the top of the hill (5414 ft.), where the view, especially of the Hardanger Vidda (p. 33), is very extensive. We diverge to the S. from the way to Sundal (p. 119), which is indicated by bundles of faggots, and in 1 hr. reach the margin of the snow near the Eidesnut, where we have a splendid survey of the whole Buarbræ. Then a somewhat toilsome descent over grassy slopes to ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) the refreshment-hut at the foot of the glacier, and back to Odde in $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr. more (see p. 125).

The Route over the Folgefond to Sundal on the Mauranger Fjord (10-11 hrs. guide 12-16 kr.) is interesting; but as there are few steamers on the fjord, the route is preferable in the reverse direction (p. 120).

4. To THE SKJÆGGEDALSFOS, 9-10 hrs., there and back (half on foot). Motor-boat on the fjord to Tysseidal (p. 124; 40 min., 1 kr. there and back; ask hours at hotel, or of the boatman). Above the landing-place is an Electric Power Station, with huge turbines, driven by water conducted from the Ringedalsvand by a great tunnel (over 100,000 HP.). A good bridle-track, stony at places, ascends the left bank of the Tyssaa, through wood, affording beautiful views of the fjord and the Folgefond behind us. We pass several small falls and sweep round a wild gorge, in which the Tyssaa disappears. We descend to the stream again, and ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr. from Tysseidal), near a waterfall, cross to the right bank. In $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. more we reach gaard Skjæggedal (pron. sheggadal; good inn, Engl. spoken; order meal for return, D. $2\frac{1}{2}$ kr.). On the left the Mogelifos descends from the Mogelinut, and on the right is the Vaséndenfos, the discharge of the Ringedalsvand (about 1300 ft.). We pass the Vetlevand ('small lake') and in 20 min. more the picturesque and exquisitely clear Ringedalsvand (1430 ft.; motor-boat in 40 min. to the fall, and back, 2 kr.), with the huge Einsætfjeld on the S. The lake is 6 Kil. long; the voyage to its head takes $\frac{3}{4}$ hr.; halfway the Folgefond becomes visible behind us. Beyond a projecting rock on the right ('Klumpen') we see the great fall in the distance; then, high up on the left, the graceful Tyssestreng, falling from a sheer rock. From the landing-place we have a rough climb of $\frac{1}{4}$ hr., through 'Ur', to the foot of the Skjæggedalsfos*, a superb waterfall 525 ft. high. Though less imposing, it is much more picturesque than the Vøringfos (p. 128). In summer the volume of water is scanty, but when the snow is melting ('Flomtid'), or after heavy rain, the effect is very grand.

FROM ODDE OVER THE HARDANGER VIDDA TO VIK I EIDFJORD: four day's walk (take provisions and sleeping-rugs; guide, Jørgen Freim of Odde). 1st Day, by the Einsætfjeld and Mosboden to the shooting-hut of Langevasboden; 2nd Day, to the Lillas-Sæter; 3rd Day, to gaard Vinnerlid (bed 1 kr.; no food); 4th Day, to the Fosli Hotel, Vøringfos, and Vik. (p. 127)

d. The Eidfjord.

STEAMER (Com. 282) from Eide, where passengers by the Odde and Beigen steamer change, to Vik, on week-days in 2 hrs. (fare 2 40 kr.; once a week via Utn in 4 hrs.); to Ulvik in 3-4 hrs. (2.10 kr.; from Vik to Ulvik 1.20 kr.).

The Eidfjord or Øiffjord, the eastmost branch of the Hardanger Fjord, is enclosed by bold rocks. The steamer calls when required at Ringøen, Djønne, and Vallavik. Beyond the Busnæs, with gaard Bu, and the Bunut rising behind it, the Oseffjord diverges to the left (p. 129). The steamer passes its mouth. On the right towers the Skoddalsfjeld. At the mouth of the valley running inland between the Skoddalsfjeld and the Rullenut lies Erdal, with a saw-mill and a group of houses, where moraines and ancient water-lines are observable. On the N. side of the fjord rises the snow-clad Onen (p. 129). Facing us rises the bare Vindaxlen. Between the Onen and Vindaxlen opens the Simodal (called at by few steamers), above which peers the snowy plateau of the Hardanger Jøkul (p. 41). Near Vik, on the S.E. bank of the fjord, is the house of the painter Nils Bergslien.

5 S.M. (from Eide) Vik i Eidfjord. — VØRINGFOS HOT., R. 1½-2, B. or S. 1½, D. 2 kr.; Engl. spoken; in the dining-room are paintings by Nils Bergslien. Engl. Ch. Serr in the season. — Skyds to the Maabøvand 1 pers. 2 55, 2 pers. 3 75; there and back 5.10, 7 50 kr.; if horse be ridden on to the Fosli Hotel, 4 kr. more. Those who do not go beyond the Fos should take provisions with them. — Guide for long excursions, Halsten H. Møletun, of Sæbø (see below).

Vik, grandly situated at the S.E. end of the Eidfjord, is a good starting-point for several fine excursions. The (10 min.) church of Eidfjord stands on a moraine ('Vör'), 1 M. broad, which separates the fjord from the Eidfjordsvand. The effluent of the latter forces its way through the moraine.

TO THE VØRINGFOS, and back, a walk of 8-9 hrs. (Skyds to the Maabøvand, see above.) The road skirts the river to the Eidfjordsvand (42 ft.; 5 Kil. long; 246 ft. deep), a lake enclosed by abrupt rocks, and follows its W. bank, being largely hewn in the rock. Beyond two short tunnels we see gaard Kvam ('basin') on the hill above, from which falls the Kvamfcs. Opposite rises the Eidfjordsfjeld. At the head of the lake we cross the Bygdar-Elv (Hjælmo-Elv), which issues from the Hjælmodal (p. 123).

7 Kil. Sæbø and other gaards (Møletun, Lilletun, Varberg, Røise) lie on a small fertile alluvial plain, watered by the Bygdar-Elv and by the Bjoreia, which issues from the wild Maabødal. The road ascends the Maabødal, at first on the left, then on the right bank of the Bjoreia, past gaard Tveito, where the river has pretty falls, to gaard Maabø (820 ft.; 7 Kil. from Sæbø). It crosses the river 1½ Kil. farther, and ends for the present beyond the Maabøvand, 25 min. from Maabø. A good bridle-path leads in ¾ hr. more (passing the path diverging to the right to the Fosli Hotel, see below) to the Vøringfos, the roar of which has long been audible. A suspension-bridge carries us close to the fall. The Bjoreia plunges in a single leap of 535 ft. into a narrow abyss enclosed by sheer rocks on three sides. Dense spray constantly rises from the seething cauldron, forming a cloud above it, with beautiful rainbow-hues, especially in the afternoon.

High above the fall is the conspicuous Fosli Hotel (ca. 2300 ft.; R., B., or S. $1\frac{1}{2}$, D. 2 kr., very fair). The path to it diverges from the Vøringfos path, $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. short of the Fos, crosses the Bjoreia by a wire bridge, and reaches the hotel in $1-1\frac{1}{4}$ hr. Two points on the brink of the ravine, protected by railings, afford splendid views of the fall.

The Fosli Hotel is a centre for interesting excursions. One of the finest is the passage to the Simodal (to Tveit $5\frac{1}{2}-6\frac{1}{2}$ hrs; guide 4-5 kr.). We cross the marshy plateau between the Store and the Vette Ishaug (about 4270 ft.), or we may make a slight détour over the latter. In $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr. a fine *View is disclosed of the great Hardanger Jøkul, whose glaciers send down streams to the Rembesdal on the W. and the Skykjedal on the S. The top of the Rembesdalsfos is also visible. The old route to the Simodal bears to the left; we keep to the right, at first without a path, and soon reach the new route. We descend straight for about 20 min. to the margin of the Skykjedal, where we obtain a magnificent *View of the upper Skykjefos (see below). — We then return to the top and go in the direction of the new path, crossing the Skykjedals-Elv (difficult in wet weather, when the old path is better). We skirt the upper margin of the valley to (20 min.) the new path (Bakkelaupet, see p. 129), winding down the green slope to (1 hr.) the foot of the Skykjefos, of which it affords a good view. Then down the valley to ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr.) Tveit and (1 hr.) the pier of Simodal, whence we row to (1 hr.) Vik (p. 127).

With a guide, and in $5\frac{1}{2}$ hrs. more, we may include the Dømmevand, bearing to the left from the Bakkelaupet along the slope; comp. p. 129.

Another good excursion from the Fosli Hotel crosses the plateau to the S., by gaard Hel, the Skisæter, and Bærrastel, into the imposing Hjælmodal, which a good path descends to Sæbø (8-9 hrs. in all). — To the Krækja-Hytte and Haugastel on the Bergen line, see p. 40. — Over the Hardanger Vidda to Brøsterud in the Numedal, see p. 33. — To the Rjukanfos (3 days), p. 30. — A spare day at the Fosli Hotel may be spent in visiting one of the reindeer-herds pastured on the neighbouring hills (3-4 hrs.).

TO THE SIMODAL, a splendid day's excursion (10-12 hrs.; guide to the Skykjefos 4, Rembesdalsfos 5, Dømmevand 7 kr.; provisions necessary), which may be begun from the Fosli Hotel and ended at the Bergen railway. The E. end of the Eidfjord is a narrow creek, where the steamer calls two or three times a week, but it is generally visited by rowing-boat from Vik (5 Kil., in 1 hr.). Before landing we see N. into the Aasdal, in which rises a curious isolated rock. We land near gaard Sæd, on an old moraine (good quarters at Torstein T. Tveit's).

A road ascends the Simodal to the gaards of Mehus, and then leads across a bridge to Tveit (5 Kil. from Sød). We now ascend the right bank of the torrent by a bridle-path. Rich northern vegetation. A view of both ends of the valley (N.E. and S.E.) is soon disclosed. After 1 hr we cross the stream formed by the huge Skykjefos, which falls from a height on the right (1150 ft.) in a sheer leap of 650 ft. We then ascend to the right in windings by a new path called 'Bakkelaupet'. A path to the left, 1 hr. from the bridge, leads to the N.E. end of the valley, where the copious Rembesdalsfos*, 853 ft. high, is visible. [It takes 1 hr. to reach this Fos; we may then follow a fatiguing path named the Andresstig, which ascends about 1700 steps to (1-1½ hr.) the Rembesdalsvand.] At the top of Bakkelaupet, about 2 hrs. from the Skykje Bridge, the path from the Fosli Hotel joins ours on the right (comp. p. 128). We now mount the slope to the left, enjoying a superb View* of the whole Simodal, to (1 hr.) the Skaaranut, high above the Rembesdalsvand, to which descends the Rembesdalsbrø or Rembesdalskaak'e. In 1 hr. more we come to the Tresnut, and then cross the glacier to (1 hr.) the tourists' hut. — It is more interesting, but longer, to descend rapidly from the Skaaranut to the Rembesdalsvand (ca. 3280 ft.), row across to the Rembesdals-Søter, and re-ascend (fatiguing) above the N. margin of the glacier, and past the Lure Nut, to the hut.

The tourists' hut by the Rembesdal Glacier, erected in 1900 for the workmen engaged in making the tunnel mentioned below, was enlarged in 1908 and affords good quarters and food. An ascent thence of barely 10 min. brings us to the wild and imposing Dæmmevand*, fully 4920 ft. above the sea. Striking contrasts are afforded by the dark-green water with its floating ice, the deep-blue glacier, the dark rocks of the Lure Nut, and the glistening white Hardanger Jekul (p. 41), towering above. A tunnel, completed in 1901, affords the lake a regular outlet. Before its construction the water of the lake was sometimes dammed up by a barrier of ice, through which it finally burst, causing great havoc in the Simodal. — The return-route to the Rembesdalsvand, descending thence to the Rembesdalsfos, is less recommended.

From the Dæmmevand to Fanse or Hallingskeit on the Bergen railway 2½-3 hrs.; comp. p. 41.

From Vik we steer down the Eidfjord and into its N. arm, the Osefjord, with a grand mountain-background: to the E. the snow-clad Onen (5150 ft.), from which the lofty Døgerfos descends; N. the majestic Vasfjæren (p. 130). On the right, near the entrance, is a fall of the Bagna-Elv. A low wooded hill, Osen, separates the sombre Osenfjord from the smiling Ulvikfjord, which we next enter, soon sighting the gaards thickly clustered round the head of the fjord.

3 S.M. Ulvik. — *BRAKENÆS HOTEL, beautifully situated on the fjord, a great resort of tourists, R. 1½-2, B. or. S. 1½. D. 2, pens 5 kr. — WESTRHEIM'S, higher up, a good family hotel and pension, R., B., or S. 1½. D. 2 kr., ULVIK'S, adjoining, similar charges, good. — SPONHEIM'S, on the Graven road (p. 142), 20 min. from the pier, plain — English Church Service in July and August.

Ulvik-Brakenæs, charmingly situated, is one of the most attractive places on the Hardanger Fjord. Brakenæs, with its church, is the chief cluster of houses among the hamlets and gaards at the head of the fjord, collectively known as Ulvik.

WALKS. — Follow the road by the Ulvik and Vestrheim hotels, crossing the bridge at the fine fall of the Tyssaa, and winding up the Hyllakløv. In ½ hr. we reach the point where the road sweeps round to the left, to avoid the gorge of the Tyssaa. Magnificent *View (still finer at the top, ½ hr. farther on; comp. p. 142). — We may also follow the road on the fjord, S. from the Brakenæs Hotel, for a mile or so, to enjoy the fine view of Ulvik, backed by the Vasfjæren, as we return. The road goes on to (6 Kil.) Hellenæs, where the steamers call when the fjord is frozen.

From the church a road, shaded at first by a fine avenue of limes, birches, ashes, and poplars, leads N.E., past many gaards (Hagestad, Lekve, etc.), and through meadows dotted with apple-trees, across the hill to the Osefjord (1 hr.). If on the way a boat is offered for the trip to Ose (and back 2½ kr.), it should be accepted, as rowers are not always to be found at the boat-houses. The row all the way back to Ulvik takes 1¾-2 hrs. (3 kr.).

The *HEAD OF THE OSEFJORD (where the steamers do not touch) is enclosed by huge mountains. Opposite the boat-houses just mentioned, to the E., is the lonely gaard of Segneithveit, amidst cherry-trees; a little to the S. of it is the 'Stenkirke', a rocky fissure with a low entrance. In ¾ hr. we row to the N. end of the fjord. Provisions should be taken, as Ose (tolerable quarters) offers little food. Anve Osa is a good guide for excursions in the Osedal.

The wild Osedal* runs inland between the Krosfjæren and Nipahegd on the E. and the Vasfjæren on the W. It narrows to a ravine. To the Ose-Sæter, and thence, between the Oseskavl and Vosseskavl (right) and the Gangdalskavl (left), to Opsæt on the Bergen railway, a toilsome walk of 10-12 hrs. (p. 140).

The ascent of the Vasfjæren (6355 ft.), and back, takes 12-16 hrs. from Ulvik. Oie Hagestad of Lekve (see above) is a good guide (6-8 kr.). We may sleep at the sæter on the Solsivand, 1 hr. N. of Lekve, the night before. Splendid view from the top. — From the Solsivand to Opsæt (p. 140), 10-12 hrs.

20. Bergen.

The large STEAMERS are mostly berthed on the N. side of the harbour by Bradbanken and Festningsbyggen (Pl. B. 2), but some of the British vessels land at the Toidbod (Pl. B. 2). The HARDANGER STEAMBOATS lie at the Holbergs-Almenning (Pl. 5; B. 2); the SOGNE and NORDEFJORD boats by the Nykirke (Pl. 6; B. 2). Cabs, see p. 131 (drivers apt to over-charge). Porter ('Bærer') to the hotels, 35 ø-1 kr. — Travellers leaving Bergen by steamboat should ascertain where the vessel starts from. Berths, see p. xviii.

The office of the Bergenske Co. is at Torv-Almenning 8; branch by Bradbænken; offices of other companies mostly in the Strand-Gade. — The RAILWAY STATION (Pl. C, 4, p. 137) is in the S. part of the town, near the Lille Lungegaardsvand; the new station on the Store Lillegaardsvand is to be finished in 1910 (p. 136).

Hotels. *HOT. NORGE (Pl. a; C, 3), Ole-Bulls-Plads, with electric light, elevator, and baths, R. 3-15, B. 1½-2, D. Bergen (N. lat. 60° 23'), one of the oldest and also most picturesque towns in Norway, with 80,600 inhab., lies on a hilly peninsula and isthmus bounded on the N. by the Vaagen and the Byfjord, S.E. by the Lungegaardsvand, and S.W. by the Puddeffjord. In the background rise the 'seven hills' which form the cognisance of the city (formerly seven balls): the Sandviksfjeld (1286 ft.) to the N., Blaamanden (1854 ft.) with the Fleifjeld (985 ft.) to the N.E., Ulriken (2113 ft.) to the S.E., Løvstaken (1558 ft.) to the S., Damgaardsfjeld (932 ft.) with the Lyderhorn (1300 ft.), to the S.W.; and Askefjeld to the W. The climate is mild and humid, like that of the W. coast of Scotland; the rainfall is 72 inches (in the Nordfjord about 35 in., at Christiania 26 in. only), winter frosts are slight and short; the mean temperature of the year is 45° Fahr. (Christiania, 41°), and that of July 58° (Christiania, 62°). The vegetation in the environs is rich; flowers abound, while grain and fruit ripen fairly well.

The town extends round the spacious harbour, called Vaagen, back to the rocky spurs of the Fleifjeld, and over the peninsula of Nordnæs, which separates the Vaagen from the Puddeffjord, and is now spreading S. and E. towards the Lille and Store Lungegaardsvand. The quarters next the harbour, with its large warehouses ('Sogaarde'), alone retain a mediæval stamp. The houses here are still timber-built, and painted white. The streets are called 'Gader', the lanes and passages 'Smug' or 'Smitter', and the large squares or open spaces 'Alménninge'. Bergen has been repeatedly burned down, as in 1702, a disaster described by Peter Dass (p. lvi) in three poems. A water conduit from the Svartediget (p. 137) now diminishes the danger.

The inhabitants of Bergen and of the districts of Nordhordland, Søndhordland, and Voss are noted for their vivacity and sociability. 'Live and let live' is the burden of one of their old songs.

Bergen (from Byergein, 'pasture on the hills') was founded by Olaf Kyrre about 1075 on the E. side of the present harbour, which once ran inland to the cathedral. The town must soon have become important, as the greatest battles in the civil wars of the following centuries were fought near it. In 1135 Magnus Sigurdssen was captured and deprived of his sight here by Harald Gille, who in his turn was murdered by Sigurd Stenbe the following year. In 1154 Harald's son Sigurd Munn was slain by his brother Jøge on the quay of Bergen and in 1164 Magnus Erlingssen was crowned king here. In 1181 a naval battle was fought near the Nordnæs between kings Magnus and Sverre; and in 1188 the Kuvlunger and Øskjegger were defeated by Sverre at the naval battle of Florvåg (near the Askø). Ten years later during the so-called 'Bergen summer', the rival Byrkebener, under Haakon Jarl and Peter Steyger, and Bagler under Philipp Jarl and Erling Steinuæg, fought for possession of the town, till the latter were defeated in a great battle near the German church. In 1223 a national diet was held at Bergen, at which Haakon Haakonsson's title to the crown was recognized (p. xlii).

For its commercial prosperity the town was indebted to the HANSEATIC LEAGUE, which established an office here in 1445. Having wrested various privileges from the Danish government, the German merchants gradually monopolized the trade of N. and W. Norway, and forcibly excluded English, Scottish, Dutch, and even the Norwegian traders, from participation in it. Their officials lived in a quarter of their own by the German Quay (p. 134), consisting of sixteen long narrow 'gaards', which served also as warehouses. To diminish the risk of fire, these gaards had only one room at the back with a fire-place. Each was presided over by a 'Byg-herre', and was divided into several 'Stuer' or separate dwellings. In order to keep the Bergen 'Comptoir' dependent upon the chief seats of the League at Lubeck and Bremen, the clerks were forbidden to marry, and the immorality that prevailed in their quarters became notorious. After an oppressive sway of a century, the Germans were successfully opposed by Christopher Valkendorf in 1559, but their Comptoir existed for two centuries more. At length, in 1764 their last 'Stue' was sold to a Norwegian. Even in the 17th cent the trade of Bergen exceeded that of Copenhagen, and at the beginning of the 19th cent. Bergen was more populous than Christiania.

The FISH TRADE has ever been the chief source of Bergen's wealth, and continues to be so in spite of the growing competition of Aalesund and Christiansund. In May and June occur the first Nordfar-Stævne ('north-farers' meeting'), when the fishermen of the N. coast arrive with their 'Jagter', deeply laden with cod-liver oil (of five qualities: 'Damp Medicin-tran', 'Medicin-tran', 'blank', 'brun-blank', and 'brun' and roe ('Rogn'), and in July and August they bring 'Klipfisk' and 'Rundfisk'. — Bergen has the largest mercantile fleet in Norway (over 290 steamers). Ship-building also flourishes, as at Georgernes Verft on the Puddefjord, Laksevaag Dampskibsbyggeri at Laksevaag, and Bergens Mekaniske Værksted at Solheimsviken.

The main street is the STRAND-GADE (Pl. B, C, 2, 3), parallel with the harbour, containing the principal shops and offices. (Its W. prolongation leads to the Nordnæs; see p. 134.)

At the E. end of the Strand-Gade lie the TORV and TORV-ALMENNING (Pl. C, 3), running S. from the E. end of the harbour, and separating the old town from the new quarter built since the fire of 1855. Here are the Exchange and several large banks. The Torv-Almenning is adorned with a Statue of Christie (Pl. 3, C 3), president of the first Norwegian Storting in 1814. To the N., in front of the Exchange, rises a Statue of Ludvig Holberg (Pl. 7, C 3), the poet (b. at Bergen 1684, d. at Copenhagen 1754; p. lvi).

From the Torv, at the head of the harbour, projects a wooden pier called Triangelen, at which the fishing-boats land. Interesting fish-market (especially Wed. and Sat., 8-10 a.m.). On the N. the Torv is bounded by the Meat Market (Kjødboazar), on the first floor of which is the Town Library (90,000 vols.; reading-room open 12-2 and 5-8). — N.E. runs the Vetrilids-Almenning and S.E. the Kong-Oskars-Gade, see p. 136.

To the N.W. of the Torv extends the Tydskebygge (Pl. C, 2), or the German Quay, where the northern fishing-smacks land (see above). Originally built of wooden piles, it was replaced by a stone quay in 1900, and stone warehouses were erected in place of the old timber-built gaards of the Hanseatic League. Of these, however, the one next the Torv, the Finnegaard, has been preserved and converted into a Hanseatic Museum (Pl. C, 2).

The Hanseatic Museum (daily, 10-6 in June, July, & Aug., 3-4 the rest of the year; Sun., 12-1; adm. 1, catalogue 1 kr) shows how the gaards were fitted up, and contains a collection of furniture, weapons, etc., mostly of the latest Hanseatic period. On the GROUND FLOOR were the warehouses; on the FIRST FLOOR an ante-room led to the 'Stue', or office of the manager, with his dining-room and bedroom behind; on the SECOND FLOOR were the 'Klaven', or rooms of the clerks and servants ('Byløber'). In the court at the back, adjoining Øvre Gade, there was a common room ('Skjæstue'), where alone light and fire were allowed, and where the residents held social intercourse, especially on winter-evenings.

The Mariakirke (Pl. C, 2),¹ with its two towers, erected in the 12th cent., enlarged in the 13th, was the Hanseatic church from 1408 to 1766, and German services were held in it down to 1868. The nave is Romanesque, the choir Gothic; the pulpit with its numerous figures and the altar date from the 17th cent. The adjacent Cemetery contains German tombstones, ancient and modern.

The Tydskebygge is continued N.W. by the Fæstningsbygge (Pl. B, 1, 2), the quay of the deep-sea steamers. The entrance to the harbour here is defended by the old fortress of — Bergenhus (Pl. B, C, 1, 2), with the Rosenkrants-Taarn and the Haukonshal (free, 11-1, entered from the Fæstningsbygge, near Brodbænken). The Rosenkrants or Valkendorf's Tower, originally built by Haakon Haakonsson, extended by Rosenkrants in 1565, and restored in 1848, consists in fact of two towers, of which the N. is the later. Several balls built into the walls and gilded recall an attempt of English ships to capture the Dutch fleet which had sought refuge in the harbour in 1665. The interior of the tower serves as an arsenal (adm. 25 ø.). The top (bad winding staircase) affords a fine survey of the harbour and the town. Behind this tower is the Haakons Hal, of the 13th cent., with a large festal hall (restored). — Above the fortress are the scanty remains of the ancient Sverresborg (Pl. C, 1).

On the S.W. side of the harbour, between it and the Puddefjord, the peninsula of Nordnæs (Pl. A, 1, 2) projects far into the sea. It is crowned by Fort Frederiksberg, now the fire-watch. On the N.W. side of the fort are the Observatory, the Seamen's School, and the Hospital. The conspicuous brick building on the N. side is the Semandshus, an asylum for old sailors and their widows. At the end of the peninsula are promenades with benches and view.

A new quarter with broad regular streets has sprung up around the Lille Lungegaardsvand (Pl. C, 3, 4). On the W. side of this lake lies the small Town Park, where a band plays on week-days in summer, 12.30 to 1.30, and usually also 8-11 p.m. To the W. of the park, between the Grand Café (Pl. x) and the Norge Hotel (Pl. a), rises a Monument to Ole Bull, the violinist (1810-80), by Stephan Sinding, erected in 1901. On the rock-pedestal a northern fairy is playing on a harp, over which water trickles.

To the S. of the Town Park is the Vestlandske Museum (Pl. C, 3), built by Henr. Bucher in 1894-97, with a bronze statue of the painter Dahl (p. lix), by Ambrosia Tønnesen, on the façade.

GROUND FLOOR. On the left is the Fisheries Museum (Sun., Wed., Frid., 11-2, at other times apply at the office of the Fisheries Co., entered from the Plads of the railway-station) — On the right is a permanent INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION

On the FIRST FLOOR is the Vestland Industrial Art Museum (daily, 11-2 & 4-6; on Tues., Thurs., & Sat. 25 s.; (other days free): furniture and wood-carvings of the 15-18th cent., gold and silver plate, porcelain, Norwegian tapestry, Hardanger lace, embroidery, silver ornaments, copper and tin utensils, clothing, etc.

On the SECOND FLOOR is the Picture Gallery (daily 11-12, free; catalogue 20 s.) paintings by Bodom, Eckersberg, Tidemand, Gude, Nordenberg, Rasmussen, Fritz Thaulow, etc. Among earlier works we note 272. A. R. Mengs, Cartoon of the Entombment; 319. Carstens, The people of Eugen seeking to purchase freedom from Holstein (drawing) — Here also is the exhibition of the Art Union (Kunstforening); daily 11-12, 50 s.).

The CHRISTIES-GADE runs S. between the Vestlandske Museum and the Railway Station, past the Rom. Cath. Church of St. Paul, to the Sydnæshoug, a hill on which rises the —

Bergenske Museum (Pl. C, 4), containing antiquarian and natural history collections and a library. The central block was erected in 1865 by Nebelong, the wings were added in 1897-98 by Sparre. Adm. daily, 11-2 and 4-6; 25 s. on Tues., Thurs., Sat.; other days free

The GROUND and SUNK FLOORS contain NORSE ANTIQUITIES (good catalogue, with illustrations, by Lorange, 50 s.), chiefly from W. Norway In the entrance-hall is a large model of the old Hanseatic quarter on the German Quay; on the right, two carved church-portals from the Sogne-dal; then, ecclesiastical vessels and pictures, a fine altar-piece in carved oak, of the 16th cent., tankards, porcelain, carved furniture (largely Dutch); views, maps, and plans of Bergen; souvenirs of Ole Bull (see above); prehistoric and ethnographical curiosities. — The NATURAL HISTORY COLLECTION (first and second floors; catalogue 25 s.) comprises a very complete set of specimens of Norwegian birds and marine animals (skeleton of a huge whale, etc.).

The GARDEN contains a bust of Dr. G. A. Hansen (discoverer of the bacillus of leprosy), a large hot-house, a 'Runic Hall', with 'bautastenar' and tombstones, the model of a prehistoric tomb, etc.

On the hill to the W. of the museum rises the conspicuous Church of St. John (Pl. B, C, 4), a large Gothic brick building erected in 1890-93 from plans by H. Backer, with altar-piece (Christ in the desert) by Grønvold.

To the E. of the museum is a pleasant villa quarter, through which we pass to the Nygaards Park (Pl. C, 4, 5), with fine views Near the entrance, on the left, is a bautasten in memory of the founders of the park. On the S. side of the grounds, opposite Holmen, are a pavilion where a band plays (Sun., 5-7) and a café. —

Outside the S. gate of the park, on a bay of the Solheimsvik, is an Aquarium (Pl. C, 5; Danielssen's Biological Station; open daily, except Sat., from May till the end of August, 11-2 and 4-7; 20 ø.). The salt-water tanks outside contain seals, dolphins, etc.

We may return by tram (p. 131) from the neighbouring Nyggaards-Brø (Pl. D, 5). Under it is the Store Strøm, connecting the Store Lungegaardsvand with the Solheimsvik and the Puddefjord. The tide flows through this strait.

The Torv is prolonged to the N.E. by the Vetrlids Almenning. Between them, to the S.E., opposite the meat-market (p. 133), runs Kong-Oskars-Gade (Pl. C, D, 2, 3). Here rises the Korskirke (Pl. C, 3), or Church of the Cross, founded about 1170 but rebuilt in 1593, containing a memorial stone of the Norwegians who fell in the naval battle of the Alvø (16th May, 1808) — Farther S.E. is the Cathedral (Pl. D 3 St. Olaf i Vaagsbunden, i.e. 'at the end of the harbour'), originally a monastery-church, erected in 1248, rebuilt in 1537, and restored in 1870. It consists of a nave and S. aisle only. Fine Gothic windows and portal in the lower story of the tower. — The Kong-Oskars-Gade (tramway, see p. 131) then passes the Technical School (Pl. 11), near which the new railway station is being built, and ends at the Stadsport (Pl. D, 3; built about 1630). On the right and left of this lie the old cemeteries of Bergen.

Outside the Stadsport runs the KALFARVEI (Pl. D, E, 3, 4), with its old plantations and remarkably luxuriant gardens, sheltered by the hill rising on the left. On the right are the Pleiestiftelse, a hospital for lepers, and the Lungegaards Hospital (Pl. E, 4). A little farther on is Kalfaret, the tramway terminus (p. 131).

The best view of Bergen and environs (finest by morning-light) is obtained from the Fjeldvei* (Pl. D-F, 2-4), a road halfway up the wooded Fleifjeld (p. 132). We reach it in 15-20 min. either from the Vetrlids-Almenning (Pl. C, 2; tram station; p. 131; No. 1) or from the Kalfarvei (Pl. E, 4; see above). From the Kalfarvei there are two routes: one, rather steep, opposite the Pleiestiftelse, the other, easier, but longer, ascends from the tram-terminus (p. 131; No. 2), passing the Café Bellevue (p. 131). The finest point is marked by a rounded terrace with benches (384 ft.; Pl. D, 2), above the cathedral. The N. prolongation of the Fjeldvei descends the Skrædderdal to the suburb of Sandviken (Pl. C, D, 4), whence we return to the town by tram. The whole excursion takes 1½ hr.

The view is more extensive from the Fløien* (984 ft.; Pl. D, 2), ascended in ¾ hr. from the Fjeldvei by a winding road. On the top are a large iron vane, which has given its name ('Fløi') to the hill, and a good Restaurant (p. 131).

The road winds up for about ¾ hr. more and ends high above Svartediget (p. 137), with a fine survey of the valley and lakes of Fjøsanger (p. 137), and of the mountainous islets at the mouth of the Hardanger Fjord (best by evening-light). A path leads hence to the left up the (20 min.) Blaamand* (1654 ft.), the most accessible of the hills round Bergen, commanding a fine open view of the coast-islands and the open sea.

We note also the view from the Café Knatten, 20 min. above Café Bellevue (comp. Pl. F, 4), where we overlook the lake Svartediget, enclosed by bare rocky hills. The Kalfarvei goes on to the Store Lungegaardsvand, and to Fløen and Møllendalen (Pl. F, 5), near the new cemetery. From either place a steam-launch starts every $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. for the Lille Lungegaardsvand.

A trip may be taken from the quay of Næstet (Pl. B, 3) by steam-ferry (every $\frac{1}{4}$ hr.; 5 ø, after 9 p.m. 10 ø.) across the Puddefjord to Laksevåg, with its large shipbuilding-yards and dry docks (p. 132). We then walk to the Gravdal at the foot of the Lyderhorn (1300 ft.), which may be ascended, or else E. along the fjord, passing pleasant villas, to Solheimsviken (see below) and the Nygaards-Bro (Pl. D, 5; p. 136).

The ascent of Løvstaken (1526 ft.) from the tram-terminus at the Nygaards-Bro (Pl. D, 5; p. 131) takes $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. (there and back 3 hrs.). We cross the bridge, take the first road to the right in Solheimsviken (see below), and where it forks follow a path straight on, after 5 min. we turn to the right, and, 100 paces farther, to the left, partly through wood; then by a good zigzag path to the top in $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. Extensive panorama; from the height a few paces S. we descry the Følgefond to the S.E.

Another good point of view is Ulriken (2113 ft.). Follow the road past the Store Lungegaards-Vand (see above) to (20 min.) its bifurcation; here turn to the left; in $\frac{1}{4}$ hr., by a mill, ascend the path to the left, past several gaards, and then in zigzags, steeper, to ($\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) the stone pyramid on the nearer top (1992 ft.).

Pleasant drive (and back, $\frac{2}{2}$ hrs.; see p. 131) to the estate of Fantoft, with its beautiful grounds. An old 'Stavekirke' from Fortun (p. 77) was re-erected here in 1884, freely restored (but without any trace of a Loft, or open arcade, comp. p. 28). The pavilion above commands a fine view of the Nordaaevand. (Birkelund, a good restaur., 5 min. from the church.) Fantoft is $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. from rail. stat. Fjøsanger (ask the way at station when arriving by rail).

To Solstrand, a bathing-place near Os, see p. 138.

Interesting trip by steamboat (pier by the Muralmenning, Pl. C 2; fare 80 ø.) to the ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Askø (Inns Kongshaug and Ask), a large island in the Skjærgaard, N.W. of Bergen. Ascent of $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. to the 'Udsigt' on the Dyrteig; superb view of sea and coast.

21. From Bergen by Vossevangen to Myrdal (Gulsvik, Christiania); to the Hardanger Fjord; to the Sognefjord.

RAILWAY. (The W. section of the Bergen-Christiania line was opened as far as Vossevangen in 1882. For the E. section see R. 7.) To Trengereid $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. (fares 2.10, 1.90 kr.); to Vossevangen $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. (expr. 6.40, 4.25 kr.; ordinary 5.90, 3.35 kr.); to Myrdal $\frac{6}{4}$ hrs. (9.40, 6.50 or 7.80, 4.80 kr.). No first class.

From Vossevangen much-frequented Roads lead E. to Eide and Ulvik on the Hardanger Fjord (p. 141), and N. to Gudvangen on the Sognefjord (p. 142). A shorter route to the Hardanger is by the new road from Trengereid to Norheimsund (p. 140). A grand road leads from Myrdal to Fretheim on the Aurlands-Fjord (p. 141); but the steamboat times from Fretheim are less convenient than from Gudvangen.

The railway (views mostly to the left, as far as Voss) passes through a short tunnel and crosses the Store Strøm. — 2 Kil. Solheimsviken, the industrial S. suburb of Bergen (see above), lies on the bay of that name at the foot of the Løvstaken (see above). We pass several small lakes. 5 Kil. Fjøsanger, with villas, on the Nordausvand (to Fantoft, see p. 137). — 8 Kil. Hop. Then a gradual ascent to — 9 Kil. Nestun or Nedstun (104 ft.; Rail. Rest.; Hot. Nestun), near the marble quarries of Midtun. The high level of the line affords a view to the left across the Nestunsvand to the slopes of Ulriken. Near Nestun is Troldhaugen, formerly the seat of E. Grieg, the composer (d. 1907), now that of his widow.

BRANCH-RAILWAY from Nestun to (20 Kil.) Os or Osøren (Nilsen's Hot., Elvie's Hot.), on the Brænefjord, $\frac{3}{4}$ M. from the "Solstrand Hotel & Seabath" (Engl. spoken; pens 5-6 kr.) pleasant for some stay. Fine view over the fjord to the Folgefond (p. 120). Excursions to Hutriken, the Lysekloster (p. 117), and the Ulvenvand. — We may return to Bergen by steamer (Com 212).

We cross the Nestun-Elv by a high bridge (views right and left), turn N. E. into the pretty Langedal, and ascend through two tunnels and twice across the river. 15 Kil. Heldal, a little S. of the Grimenvand. We pass through two tunnels, and skirt the Haukelands-Vand. 18 Kil. Haukelund (269 ft.) Then a descent, with a good view of the torrent issuing from the lake.

25 Kil. Arne (65 ft.), with its church, at the S. end of the Arnevaag, a narrow creek of the Sørfjord.

29 Kil. Garnæs (65 ft.; Rail. Rest.), on the Sørfjord. Opposite rises the church of Haus on the large Ostere. The engineering of the line on the bank of the Sørfjord is very interesting. Many tunnels.

39 Kil. Trengereid (50 ft.; quarters at M. Trengereid's) is the starting point of the new road to Norheimsund (p. 140), skids may be ordered beforehand by telephone to meet train). To the S. rises the Gulffjeld (3235 ft., ascent and back 5 hrs.; extensive panorama; guide 4 kr.).

By the Raunip (2471 ft.), which the train rounds, the Sørfjord is only 550 yds. wide. Opposite are the church of Brudvik and the Brudviksnip (2674 ft.). On the Olsnæs-Ø is a school. We cross the Vardals-Elv, which has a fall above the bridge (right) and drives a large mill lower down. 51 Kil. Vardal (50 ft.; Rail. Rest.). Several tunnels; the longest pierces the Høttaparti.

59 Kil. Stanghelle. We leave the Sørfjord, cross the Dalevaag, skirt the W. bank of that long narrow creek, and ascend the Dals-Elv. Steep rocks on the right.

66 Kil. Dale (Rail. Rest.; Gullachsen's Hot.), with large cloth-factories, lies at the mouth of the Bergsdal.

A good road, passing through several tunnels, leads from Dale by (6 Kil.) Fosse, the highest gaard in the Bergsdal, to the Liesand. Thence a rough path by the Lien-Sæter and Rødland to the (20-22 Kil.) Hamlegrø Hotel, on the S. bank of the Hamlegrøvand (1940 ft.; 8 M. long; fishing). Thence to the Fiksensund, see p. 121.

Beyond Dale nine tunnels; the Hypingen Tunnel is 1414 vds. long. Charming views of the Bolstad-Fjord between these. The train skirts its S. bank.

78 Kil. Bolstad (29 ft.), at the E. end of the fjord, enclosed by rocky hills. — Eight tunnels. We ascend the left bank of the Vosse-Elv, and then skirt the S. bank of the Evangervand. Fine views of the wooded hills all the way. Near Evanger, to the left, lies Fudnæs, at the mouth of the Tejdal (p. 146).

88 Kil. Evanger (50 ft.; Monsen's Hot., well spoken of), at the head of the lake. The village and church lie on the opposite bank of the Vosse-Elv, which here falls into the Evangervand. To the S. towers the Myklethveitvete (3740 ft.; ascended from Evanger in 2-3 hrs.; extensive view; guide, Jakob A. Evanger).

We follow the left bank of the Vosse-Elv, cross it, and pass through a short tunnel to (99 Kil.) Bolken, at the efflux of the Vosse-Elv from the Vangsvand (143 ft.). A suspension-bridge crosses to Liland's Hotel (good).

From Bolken by Grimestad and Skjeldal to the Hamlegrovand and thence to the Fiksensund (Hardanger, 9-10 hrs.), see p. 122.

Skirting the N. bank of the Vangsvand, we see, to the S., the long crest of Graasiden (4273 ft.), partly snow-clad.

108 Kil. Voss. — RAILWAY STATION to the W. of the village

HOTELS. *FLEISCHER'S HOT., in an open situation outside the village immediately W. of the station, often crowded, R. 2-3, B. 1-1½, déj. (12 o'clock) 2, D. (2 n.m.) 2½, S. (3 p.m.) 1½, pens. 5½-7 kr.; baths and Skyds-station — To the E. of the station, in the village, VOSSEVANGENS-HOT., by the church, R. 1½-2, B. or S. 1½, D. 2¼, pens. 4-5 kr.; opposite, PRÆSTEGAARD'S HOT., R. 1½-1½, B. or S. 1¼, D. 2 kr.; MICHELSSEN'S HOT., unpretending. At the upper end of the village, far from station — Also lodgings, indicated by bills. — Engl. Ch. Serv. in the season

POST OFFICE in the main street, about 150 vds beyond the church — TELEGRAPH and TELEPHONE, opposite the church, to the N.

CARRIAGES and Skyds to (80 Kil.) Eide, (47 Kil.) Ulvik, (86 Kil.) Stalheim, (48 Kil.) Gudvangen, usually engaged for the whole journey. Carr. and pair for 2, 3, 4 pers., to Eide 14, 16, 18 kr.; to Ulvik 24, 28, 32 kr.; to Stalheim 16, 20, 24 kr.; to Gudvangen 25, 30, 36 kr. (bargain advisable)

Voss or Vossevangen (177 ft.), in a fertile region at the E. end of the Vangsvand, is the chief centre of traffic between the Hardanger and the Sognefjord. The stone Church, in the middle of the village, dating from 1271-76, contains memorial tablets to pastors of the 17th and 18th cent., a candelabrum of 1733, and a Bible of 1589. L. Holberg, the poet (p. 133), was tutor at the parsonage in 1702. At the upper end of Voss the road divides: left to 'Gudvangen, Sogn'; right to 'Eide, Hardanger'.

About ½ M. W. of Fleischer's Hotel, on the upper road diverging to the right from the Bergen road, is gaard Fin, near which is preserved the Finneloft, a timber-house built in 1300. ('Loft' or 'Bur' is a two-storied farm-house, as opposed to the 'Stue', or house of one story.) The lower story of the Finneloft is of solid timber, the upper in a more ornate style. There is no inside staircase. The interior contains a few rustic antiquities (adm. 10 ø.).

WALK of 1½ hr. A path leads S. from the church, skirting the upper end of the Vangsvand, partly through pine-woods, to the (10 min.) Rundals-Elv, the E. feeder of the lake, which we cross by boat (5 ø. each pers.) On the left bank we mount to the road ascending the hill, and follow it through wood and across a wooden bridge, and then in sharp windings to (1½ hr) the Café Breidablik. Fine view of Vossevangen and its environs. — The road continues to ascend to (3-4 Kil. from Breidablik) Herre and Kogn (about 4 Kil. further).

A motor-boat plies on the Vangsvand.

The ascent of the Lønehøje (4672 ft.), N. of Voss, is easy and attractive (5, there and back 8 hrs.; guide 3 kr.). A road diverging from the Gudvangen road a few paces E. of the church of Vossevangen leads by Ringheim (p. 142) and Traae to the Klepsater. Thence a path ascends over pastures and loose stones, rough at places, to the S.W. summit, with a picturesque view of Vossevangen, and then across a slightly sloping snowfield to the higher E. summit, whence the view embraces the mountains N. to the Jostedalbræ, E. to the Hardanger Jökul, and S. to the Følgefond. — Another grand view is obtained from the Hondalsnut (4783 ft.; ascent also about 5 hrs.).

From Voss, or from Bolken (p. 139), by Grimestad and Skjeldal (6 Kil.; road thus far), to the Hamlegrovand and to Østense on the Hardanger Fjord, see p. 121.

The tram crosses the effluent of the Lundarvand (left; p. 142) by a handsome stone bridge and ascends, affording a view of the Hondalsnut (see above) to the right across the broad valley. Two tunnels. 113 Kil. Ygre. Then several tunnels in the Sverreskar ravine, which is said to be so named in memory of a perilous campaign of King Sverrir and his Bjerkebener (p. xlii) in a snowstorm in the autumn of 1177. We ascend to the Rundal, or Raundal, and follow the wooded valley, above the right bank of the winding Rundals-Elv. Numerous tunnels, with glimpses of the slopes of the Hondalsnut on the other side of the valley. 120 Kil. Grove, 129 Kil. Reime, 138 Kil. Mjellfjell. To the left opens a view of the Rjoandedal, the effluent of which passes through a tunnel under the line. The valley contracts. To the right we see into the Slondal. Below the line lie the small Langvand and Rundvand. Trees cease.

150 Kil. Opset or Opsæt (rustic Inn), in a lonely hill-region, lies near the W. mouth of the Gravehals Tunnel, 3¼ M. long, driven in 1897-1902 through the Urhovd, the hill at the head of the Rundal.

Toilsome passes from Opsæt: up the Slondal (see above), and round the Skaarafjeld to Ulvik (p. 130, 9-10 hrs.); or up the Gangdal to the Vosseshavn (p. 130); then to the N. end of the Osefjord (p. 130; 10-12 hrs.).

Beyond the tunnel we reach —

156 Kil. Myrdal (Rail. Rest.), the highest region of the Flaamsdal (p. 144), amid wild scenery, on the N. slope of the Brjokfjeld. The Vatnahalsens Hotel (2625 ft.; R. 2, B. or S. 1½, D. 2½ kr., good), 15-20 min. from the station, a good centre for excursions, has a grand view of the Flaamsdal, and also E. up the Myrdal, where the effluent of the Rejnunsvand forms the Kjosfos (electric works). Continuation of the railway, see pp. 41-39.

From Trengereid, or Voss, to the Hardanger.

FROM TRENGEREID TO NORHEIMSUND, 51 Kil., shortest land-route between Bergen and the Hardanger. (Skyds for one pers. 9, 2 pers. 13½ kr.; comp. p. 137.) The road winds up between the Gulfjeld and the Kraen (2142 ft.), with fine views of the Sørfjord behind, crosses a high plateau, and descends in view of the Samnanger-Fjord.

11 Kil. Aadland (Aadlands-Hot., R. $1\frac{1}{2}$, B. or S. $1\frac{1}{2}$, D. $2\frac{1}{4}$ kr.), prettily situated on the bay of that name in the Samnanger-Fjord, where a Bergen steamer plies several times weekly (Com. 292). The road rounds the N. and E. banks of the fjord, crosses the Egedals-Elv, and reaches —

8 Kil. Tysse or Tøsse (Røsseland's Hot.), with its large woollen factory. We then ascend the valley of the Egedals-Elv, past the Frølandsvand and the Egedalsfos, 289 ft. high, to the Kvamshøy Hotel (D. 2 kr.; good).

12 Kil. Ekeland (1280 ft.), where horses are usually changed. We descend, with a fine view of the Følgefond (p. 120), through the ravine of Tokagjelet*, by a grandly engineered road with many tunnels, and down the beautiful Stemsdal, past the Øfsthusos. to —

20 Kil. Norheimsund, see p. 121.

FROM VOSSEVANGEN TO EIDE OR ULVIK (3 hrs., or $5\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.' drive; fares, see p. 139). The Hardanger road diverges at the upper end of the village to the right from the Sognefjord route (p. 142), crosses the Vosse-Elv, and ascends on the left bank of the river (in view of the Myrdal railway to the left), through beautiful woodlands and past substantial gaards. It then enters a side-valley, passes gaard Møle, and 11-12 Kil. from Voss reaches its highest point (873 ft.). It descends gradually and crosses the boundary of Hardanger. The Skjerve-Elv, flowing S., has its dark brown tint from a number of marshy ponds. The upper part of the valley ends suddenly, and the road descends in windings into Skjervet*, a deep and picturesque ravine flanked with huge rocks. On the left falls the Skjervefos in two halves, the upper veil-like in form. We cross a bridge between the two. Below the bridge is Café Fosheim. Rich vegetation and many traces of old moraines.

22 Kil. (pay 25 in opp. direction) Øvre Vasenden or Seim (Nasheim's Hot., very fair, R., B., S. each 1 kr.), at the N. end of the Gravensvand (95 ft.; 3 sq. Kil.; 282 ft. deep), commands a fine view of the lake and of the massive Nasheimshorg (3248 ft.) to the S.W. The Oxen (p. 122) is visible to the S.

The Road to EIDE skirts the E. bank of the lake, leaving to the left both branches of the Ulvik road (see below) and Gravens-Kirke. It is then carried by wooden viaducts and cuttings through the rock past the lower end of the lake, and lastly through the rocky ravine of the Gravens-Elv, to —

8 Kil. Eide (p. 122).

The ROAD TO ULVIK from Øvre Vasenden (3 hrs.' drive, $4\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.' walk; times given refer to walking), which will repay walkers, diverges to the left from the Eide road $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. from Næsheim's Hotel and ascends in a curve. Beyond a stone bridge over the feeder of the Gravensvand it is joined by the road from Gravens-Kirke, used by travellers from Eide. Walkers may cut off the next long bend. We ascend the valley, above the left bank of the stream. After $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. we pass gaard Dule, on the opposite side of the valley. In 20 min. more we reach the top of the hill (1125 ft.), where the Skavskarnut towers to the left and a marshy brook flows down both sides of the pass. Here we have a fine view S.E., between the Sotenut (l.) and the Kjærringfjeld (r.), of the Vastjæren (p. 130). In front lies the Espelandsvand (1125 ft.), the N. bank of which the road now skirts, passing the Espelundsgaard. To the left, in the depression between the Skavskarnut and the Sotenut, is a fine waterfall, the outflow of which is crossed by the road. As we near the end of the Espelandsvand the snow-clad Onen (p. 129) appears in the background to the right. Beyond the Espelandsvand lies the little Stokkevand, drained by the Tyssaa, which we cross 1 hr. from the top of the hill. To the right diverges a road to the Løming-Sæter. The main road goes straight on, crossing to the left bank at (20 min.) a saw-mill, and recrossing in 20 min. more. Below the bridge the river forms the pretty Verufos and plunges into a deep ravine. The Vastjæren again appears in front, above wooded hills. In $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. more we suddenly come upon a delightful *View of the Ulvikstjord and the mountains around it. Below lies the church of Ulvik. The road descends the Hyllakløv in long windings, some of which walkers may cut off, and again crosses ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr.) the Tyssaa, with its fine cascade (saw-mill).

22 Kil. (pay for 29, from Eide for 32) Ulvik (p. 130).

From Vossevangen or from Myrdal to the Sognefjord.

12 Kil. Tvinde or Tvinne i Voss (312 ft.; Tvinde's Hotel, D. 2 kr., good). On the left is the fine Tvindefos*. The road, now steeper, will repay walkers. The valley is shut in by lofty wooded slate rocks. About 2 Kil. above Tvinde the Vossestrands-Elv forms a picturesque fall, which the road crosses by the Asbrække-Bro (436 ft.; we descend cautiously a few paces to see it). About 4 Kil. farther up, the road returns to the right bank; it passes several gaards and crosses two large streams from side-valleys on the left. The second of these, about 1 Kil. from Vinje, is the Merkadals-Elv, up which a path leads by Aarmot to Vik on the Sognefjord (10-12 hrs.; p. 146). The valley expands.

10 Kil. Vinje i Vossestranden (738 ft.; Vinje's Hotel*, R. 1½-2, B. or S. 1½, D. 2 kr.), in a pleasant site, not far from Vinje-Kirke, 1¼ hr. by carr. from Tvinde. View of the Lønehørje (p. 140) S.W.

The road ascends the course of the river, through a ravine, to the S.W. end of (3 Kil. from Vinje) the Opheimsvand (955 ft., Framnes Hotel*, R. 2, B. 1½, D. 2¼ kr., Engl. Ch. Serv. in Aug.), a lake abounding in fish, and skirts its N.W. bank. Above the wooded hills of the opposite bank tower mountains of light grey syenite, producing a curious effect. To the S. rises the Mulnagrensnuave (3610 ft.). The church of Opheim and the Opheim Hotel (R. 1½-2, B. or S. 1.40, D. 2 kr., good) are prettily situated on the lake, about 4 Kil. from Vinje. A tablet on the right, 20 min. farther, is in memory of two Americans who lost their lives here in a carriage accident.

Beyond the Opheimsvand we cross the watershed between the Bolstad and Sogne Fjords. On the right, the Aaxeln; then, the Kaldafjeld (4265 ft.). We follow the left bank of the Nærøds-Elv, which descends to the Sognefjord, and then ascend in a curve, high above the stream, to the — 14 Kil. Hotel Stalheim (1122 ft.; R. 2-2½, B. or S. 1½, D. 2½ kr.), at the top of the Stalhems-Klen, an abrupt rock about 820 ft. high, at the head of the Nærødal. The *View of the deep and sombre valley, and the huge mountains right and left, is one of the grandest in Norway (afternoon light best). On the left towers the blunted cone of the Jordalsnut (3610 ft.; see below); on the right the Kaldafjeld and Aaxeln (see above), all of light-grey syenite. In the distance the background is formed by the hill from which falls the Kilefos near Gudvangen (p. 151). We also enjoy a fine view, S., of the broad valley towards Opheim, whose river forms the Stalhems-fos; but the fall only comes in sight as we descend into the Nærødal (p. 152).

The hill rising N.W. of the hotel is the Stalhemsnut, to the E. of which a narrow road ascends a valley N. to (10 min.) gaard Brække. Here to the right diverges a fine, but rough mountain path, called Naalene*. It descends a little, then crosses the gorge whence issues the Sivlefos (p. 152), and skirts the heights, affording a superb view of the ravine of Stalheim. After ½ hr. we may return. The path goes on to gaard Jordal, from which the Jordalsnut (see above) may be ascended (with guide; Anders Olsen Gudvangen or Ole Myren). — The ascent of the Brukkepa takes 3 hrs., there and back; guide 3 kr.

From Stalheim to Gudvangen, 12 Kil., repaying also for pedestrians (2 $\frac{1}{4}$ -2 $\frac{3}{4}$ hrs.; see p. 152; Stolkjærre for 1 pers. 2.04, for 2 pers. 3.06 kr.; carr. for 2, 3, 4 pers. 9, 10, 12 kr.). The steep winding descent to the floor of the valley must be made on foot.

Myrdal and Vatnahalsens Hotel, see p. 140, and comp. Map, p. 43.

The ROAD TO THE AURLANDSFJORD (20 Kil.; downhill, 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ -3 hrs.' walk) vies in beauty with the Stalheim route. It descends the steep slope in sixteen loops to gaard Kaardal, where a path from Opsæt (p. 140) comes from the left. We cross the pretty Kaardalsfjos by an iron bridge and descend the narrow Flaamsdal*. Beyond a tunnel of 132 yds. and gaard Melhus the road crosses the stream and runs at some height on the left bank. Gaard Berekvam lies below on the right. The valley expands. Cuttings through the rocks have disclosed several large glacier cauldrons. The road is carried to the right bank by the Hegabro. High up on the W. slope of the valley, to the left, is the fine Riondefos. In a long bend the road then descends to the lowest section of the valley, where the church of Flaam lies. Lastly a nearly level stretch of about 3 Kil. to Fretheim's Hotel (p. 152).

22. The Sognefjord.

The distance by sea from Bergen to Lærdalsøyen at the E. end of the fjord (starting-point of the Valders and Hallingdal routes to Christiania, R.R. S. 7) is 31 Norwegian sea-miles in a straight direction. The STREAMBOATS take 15 $\frac{1}{2}$ -24 hrs., according to the stations called at. They are well fitted up and have good restaurants (B. 1.40 kr., D. 2 kr.), but berths are limited. Those who have to sleep on board should secure a sofa or a cabin. (Comp p. xviii.)

The Sognefjord* ('Sogne', a narrow arm of the sea), the longest of the Norwegian fjords, measures 180 Kil. (112 M.) from Sognefest to Skjolden, averages 6 Kil. (4 M.) in width, and is 4000 ft. deep at places. Like all the other fjords, it is unattractive at its entrance, where the rocks have been worn smooth partly by the action of the waves and partly by the enormous glaciers which once covered the whole country. The scenery improves as we go E., until the fjord ends in a number of long narrow arms, with banks rising abruptly at places to 4900 ft., from which waterfalls descend. At the heads of the N. branches of the fjord appear the glaciers covering the plateau (Jostedalbræ, p. 157). In other parts of the fjord the narrow banks smile with orchards, corn-fields, and pleasant dwellings. In grandeur the Sognefjord surpasses the Hardanger, but the scenery of the latter is softer and richer, and its famous waterfalls are superior.

Nowhere in Norway is the rapid decrease of the rainfall from W. to E. so marked as in the Sognefjord. At Sognefest, at the entrance to the fjord (see p. 145), the annual rainfall is about 60 inches, on the Fjærlandsfjord (56 M. from the coast) 42, on the Nærøfjord (70 M.) 26, on the Lysterfjord (80 M.) 16, and at Lærdal (87 M.) 13 inches only. In the E. branches of fjord the climate resembles that of inland Europe, with short warm summers and long winters, in which, however, these arms are only partly frozen over.

The following description follows the order of the stations of the Nordre Bergenhusamt's steamers, but their routes vary. One line starts from Bergen (Com. 299), the other (Com. 300) confines itself to the fjord. The distances between the stations are given in Norwegian sea-miles (comp. p. 107).

a. The W. Sognefjord to Balholm and the Fjærlandsfjord.

BERGEN STEAMBOAT (Com. 299) five times a week, by Vadham (6¼-14 hrs. ; fare 7-80 kr.), to Balholm (Balestranden) in 9-20 hrs. (10.20 kr.). Fare from Bergen to Lærdal 12.60 kr. — The FJORD STEAMER (see p. 149) plies only once weekly between Vadheim and Balholm (in 3 hrs ; fare 4 kr.)

Bergen, see p. 130. The voyage to the mouth of the Sognefjord is of little interest. It carries us through the 'Skjærgaard' fringing the district of Nord-Horland, which with Sønd-Horland (p. 116) formed the ancient Herdafylke. Beyond the low bare hills in the foreground, worn by glaciers, rise the high mountains in the distance. The steamer threads some very narrow straits.

First come Alverstrøm and Lygren, rarely touched at. More important is Skjærjehavn, at the N. end of the Sandø. Then Eivindvik or Evenvik, on the small Gulenfjord, the old meeting-place of the Gulathing. This was one of the four great Norse 'Things' or popular assemblies (Frostathing, Gulathing, Borgarthing, Eidsfathing) abolished by King Magnus Lagabøtir (p. xlii).

At the mouth of the Sognefjord lie the Sulen-Øer, the 'Solundare' of Frithjof's Saga, a group of islands with hills rising to 1840 ft. (5 Kil. to the left).

On the mainland, to the right, lies the station of Sognefest or Sygnest, to the E. of which rises the Stanglandsfjeld.

On the N. bank we see the Lihest (2470 ft.). Here are the stations of Bæfjord and Lervik. Beyond the headland of Værholm lies Ladvik or Lavik, the chief place in the W. Sogn district, with a church.

On the S. bank lie Brække, on the small Risnefjord, and Trædal or Tredal, on the Eikefjord; then Björdal, in the picturesque Fuglsatfjord, overlooked by the conical Graafjeld. The steamers do not always call at all these stations.

We now steer N. into the pleasant Vadheimsfjord.

19 S.M. (from Bergen) Vadheim (Vadheim's Hotel, R., B., or S. 1½, D. 2¼ kr.) lies at the mouth of two valleys, through the left one of which leads the route to the Nordfjord (p. 161).

On the rocky N. bank lies Kirkebø, with its church, a pretty place near the mouth of the Højangsford. Then Maaren, with a waterfall, and the small Lonefjord. Next, Næse, or Nesse, and Sage, with a fine waterfall.

On the S. bank lie Ortnevik and Sylvarnæs or Sølvarnæs; then Neset, on the Arnefjord, with its fine mountain-background. At these places the steamers call once a week only.

As we steer E., the scenery becomes more striking. The mountains, rising to over 3000 ft., assume picturesque forms and are clothed with vegetation, while snow-fields peep between them. The steamers call at Kvamsø on the N. bank once weekly. We next steer S., round a headland at the mouth of the small bay of Vik, where we notice a 'Gilje' and other salmon-fishing appliances.

7 S.M. Vik or Vikseren (Hopstock's Hot., good) lies in a fertile site at the mouth of two valleys, W. the Bodal, and E. the Ofriddal, with its branch the Seljedal. Snow-mountains form the background; to the E. the Rambæren (p. 149). The old churches of Hoperstad and Hove, the former a 'stavekirke' (p. 28) of the early 13th cent., the latter in stone, were both restored in 1891.

From Vik we may drive inland about 8 Kil., in one of three directions, to one of three mountain-passes (about 8 hrs. each): — To Stalheim (p. 143, passing the Jordalsnut at the end of the route, fatiguing but interesting) — To Vinje i Vossestranden (p. 143; towards Aarmot the path is destroyed at places, a drawback for bad walkers, but we may drive the last 11 Kil. from Aarmot onwards, passing the Myrkedalsvand). — To Gulbræa in the Exingdal (with guide), and on to Næsheim (quarters); next day over the fjeld to (about 10 Kil.) Aarhus i Tejdalen, and by road down the Tejdal to Fadnæs on the Evangelvand (p. 139).

The Sognefjord here turns sharply to the N. In the distance, even from Vik, we see the Vetlefjordsbræ (p. 147). The steam to Balholm takes about $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. On our right lies Vangsnæs, on a headland where the fjord again turns E. The W. bank being the supposed scene of Frithjof's Saga, as rendered by Tegnér, Vangsnæs is said to have been Frithjof's Framnæs.

2 S.M. Balholm. — Hotels (often crowded). KVIEKE'S HOTEL*, nearest the pier, R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ -3, B. or S. $1\frac{1}{2}$, D. $2\frac{1}{4}$ kr.; HÔTEL BALESTRAND*, a few yards farther, R. 2- $2\frac{1}{2}$, B. 1, D. 2, S. $1\frac{1}{2}$ kr., both with bath-houses in the fjord. — Physician, Dr. Koster. — Boats at the hotels (50 ø. per hr.). — Engl. Church Serv. in summer

Balholm, the chief place on the fertile and highly cultivated Balestrand, is beautifully situated to the S. of the mouth of the small Essefjord. Its well-wooded environs, its orchards of apple and pear trees, the view over the broad Sognefjord, and the pleasant walks invite to some stay. Norwegian, British, and German visitors abound.

A pleasant road, overlooking the fjord, leads from the hotels, past the English Church of St. Olaf (1897) and several houses, to (10 min.) a mound, with a large birch-tree and a modern 'bauta-sten', marking it as the tomb of King Bele of Frithjof's Saga (comp. above). The road goes on, shaded at places by tall trees, past the villas of the painters A. Norman, Hans Dahl, and others.

Beyond the last, on the bank to the left, is (10 min.) a Larvarp for catching salmon (rfmts. at the Hygea chalet). The hilly road ends at (1 hr. from the hotels) gaard Flesje, situated among fine trees on the fjord.

Another pleasant walk is W. from the pier on the Essefjord* to ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) the bridge over the effluent of the Essedal; or we may take a row (2-3 hrs.) on the fjord, with its superb girdle of mountains: to the N. the Toten (4593 ft.; ascent 8 hrs.); then the Furunipa; separated by the sharp notch of Kjeipen from the snow-clad Guld-æpke; farther on, the Vindreggen (3870 ft.) and Gjeiterygen; and S.W. the Munkeggen (4118 ft.; ascent 12 hrs.).

A fine prospect is afforded by the hill above the Bale-Sæter, reached in $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. by a path, steep and stony at places. About 75 paces beyond the Bele mound (p. 146) we cross the meadow to the right, between the houses; then ascend on the left bank of the stream (not across it), through brushwood above the last houses, and to the right beyond the fence. The best point of view is about $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. above the Bale-Sæter.

To the N. of Balholm, on the other side of the mouth of the Essefjord, rises the prettily situated church of Tyugum. The good road, which leads to it from the landing-place, ascends past the parsonage, and, beyond ($\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) a path descending to the right, runs on at the same level, affording charming *Views of the Fjærlandsfjord and across the Vetlefjord, with the Jostedalsbræ in the background.

FROM BALHOLM TO SANDE I HOLMEDAL (two days). 1st Day. Row to Sværen at the head of the Sværefjord (see below; tolerable quarters); then ascend the valley gradually for about 8 Kil.; mount a steep and rough path to the pass of Sværskarå (2297 ft.; fine view of the Sognefjord behind); ascend a marshy slope to the watershed; descend past the Torenas Sæter (5 hrs. from Sværen) to the Holme-Vand in the Viksdal; then partly through wood, past the Lange-Sæter, across the river, and over marshy ground to Mjell (8-10 hrs. from Sværen). — 2nd Day. From Mjell bridle-path to gaard Hof; then down the Eidal to Eidalsæren on the Viksvand (p. 162); ferry to Horsevik, and thence by road to Sande (p. 162; in all, 3-4 hrs. on foot and $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. by boat).

The finest excursion from Balholm is to the Fjærlandsfjord*, which runs inland, N. of Balholm (fjord-steamer to Fjærland daily in 2-3 hrs.), 26 Kil. long, nearly 2 Kil. broad in its S. and 1 Kil. in its N. half. Its banks are less abrupt than those of the Nærøfjord (p. 151). The entrance is commanded by the Toten (see above) on the left and the Storhaugen (3200 ft.) and Trodalseggen (4627 ft.) on the right.

To the left diverges a broad bay of the fjord, branching into the Sværefjord and the beautiful Vetlefjord. The steamer calls once a week at Ulvestad, at the head of the Vetlefjord.

From Ulvestad a road ascends the valley to Mell, where we see the Vetlefjordabræ descending from the Jostedalsbræ. The Melnipa (p. 148) to the E. and the Gotopfield or Gotophæst (5630 ft.) to the N. are said to command superb views. — From Mell a toilsome mountain-route leads to gaard Grening, near Haukedal (p. 163; 7-8 hrs., with guide).

After the steamer has rounded the headland of Menæs we note on the right, above the Rommedal, the Rommehest (4100 ft.; ascent reputed easy), and on the left the Harevoldsnipa (5353 ft.) and the Melsnipa (5790 ft.), separated from the Jorddalsnipa by the Jorddalsdal, behind which appears the snowy Jostedalsbræ. We now obtain a *VIEW of the head of the fjord with its background of snow and ice: first the Suphellebræ, then the Bøjumsbræ; but as we near the Mundal, the latter disappears. On the right lies gaard Berge, at the mouth of the Bergedal. (To Sogndal, see p. 150.)

3 S.M. Fjærland (Mundals-Hot.*, R. 1½-2, B. or S. 1½, D. 2¼ kr.; Engl. Ch. Serv. in summer), the steamboat-terminus, lies at the entrance to the broad Mundal, high up in which is seen the Jostedalsbræ. A granite tablet recalls King Oscar II.'s visit in 1879, and a 'bautasten', 19 ft. high, has been erected to Fru Pavels-Larsen, authoress of many tales in Sogn dialect.

A visit to the glaciers which descend on both sides of the Skeidsnipa, a little N. of Fjærland, into the Bøjumsdal and the Suphelledal, is interesting, but they are far more picturesque when seen from the steamer. We may drive to both glaciers. (Stolkjærre to one, and back, in 3 hrs., one pers. 3½, two pers. 4½ kr.; to both, and back, 5-6 hrs., 5 or 6 kr.) The road skirts the W. bank of the fjord; at the end of it, on a hill to the right, is gaard Horpædalen, with a dashing torrent. To the left, farther on, we look into the Bøjumsdal, with the Jostedalsbræ in the background. About 4 Kil. from Fjærland the road into that valley diverges to the left; that to the Suphelledal crosses the brook and goes straight on.

The Bøjumsbræ*, the grander of the two glaciers, is 1¾ hr. from the fork of the road. The road ascends the right bank, between the houses of Bøjumsfustene and Ødefjord, and ends at the Bøjums-Sæter. Thence we ascend on foot, cross the stream, and in ½ hr. reach the glacier (453 ft.).

The Store Suphellebræ*, which descends furthest of all the glaciers in S. Norway (to 223 ft. above the sea), is also 1¾ hr. from the fork of the road. The road crosses the Bøjums-Elv and ascends the Suphelledal, past the Suphelle Gaard, to a point about 1½ Kil. N. of the gaard. Thence a walk of 10 min. to the glacier. About 480 ft. above its base the glacier is divided by a rock into two parts. Of these the upper only is united with the Jostedalsbræ; the lower part is formed of masses of ice which have fallen over the rock.

The Vetle Suphellebræ, which has the finest ice, is reached by the path to the right, 5 min. N. of the Suphelle Gaard, crossing the broad Elv, and leading over fallen rocks, which extend to the (2 hrs.) glacier. — A fatiguing walk hence (with guide and provisions) to (3½-4 hrs.) the Veitestrandsskar, then down the Snaudedal to gaard Stølen, where the Snaudedal joins the valley descending to the Veitestrandsvand; lastly down the latter valley to (4½-5 hrs.) Nordre Næs, at the N. end of the Veitestrandsvand (p. 155).¹

The ascent of the Gretten (about 5580 ft.), W of Fjærland, and back takes 8-9 hrs. (guide 5 kr.). Superb view of the fjord and the Jostedalsbræ.

In the Horpedal (p. 143), to which we row in 20 min., a good path leads in $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. to the picturesque Horpedalsfjos.

Grand passes from Fjærland cross the JOSTEDALSBRÆ to JÅLSTER (p. 163), in 9-10 hrs. (guide 10 kr.). Skirting the Bgjumsbræ, a good path ascends the Jakobbakkadn to the glacier in $\frac{3}{4}$ hrs.; we cross the latter (roped), past the Kvitevarden (about 4920 ft.), descend to ($\frac{1}{2}$ -2 hrs.) the Troldvand, and then follow a recently improved path, through the wild ravine of the Landeskar, to ($\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.) Lunde (p. 164), whence we may row in $\frac{3}{4}$ hrs. to Skej (two rowers, 4 kr.). — From Fjærland we may walk direct up the Mundal, pass between the Jostedalsbræ and the Jostefond, with the Seknesandsnipa (4964 ft.) on the W., and then descend through the Seknesandskar to (10-12 hrs.) Seknesand.

Guides at Fjærland: Mikkel S. Mundal (certificated), Johs. Mundal, Hans Bøjum, Henrik Mundal, and Anders T. Mundal.

b. From Balholm to Gudvangen. Aurlandsfjord and Nærøfjord.

THE FJORD STEAMER (Com. 300) plies between Balholm and Lerdal four times weekly, touching in both directions at Gudeangen (from Balholm $\frac{3}{4}$ -4 hrs.; fare 4 kr.), and also once or twice at Aurland and Flaam. — THE BERGEN STEAMERS (p. xvii; Com. 229) call at Gudvangen and at Aurland-Flaam twice a week. — The fjord-steamer touches at a few only of the stations mentioned below.

Balholm, see p. 146. Fine view of the Balestrand behind us, with the Langedalsbræ in the background. The first station of the Bergen steamers is Vangsnæs (p. 146). The steamer skirts the S. bank of the fjord, above which rise imposing mountains. To the N. is the Blaafjeld, from which a waterfall descends.

On the S. bank is Fedjos or Fejos, with a church, touched at several times a week, whence, through the Gulsetdal, we may ascend the Rambæren (5250 ft.; grand view of the Jostedalsbræ and the fjord; those who object to mounting so high may turn at the Kongshei or the Kongsvand, 2-3 hrs.), and the Fresviksbræ (p. 150).

$\frac{2}{3}$ S.M. (from Balholm) Lekanger, or Leikanger (J. Olsen's Hot.), lies on the Sjøstrand, the fertile and well-peopled N. bank of the fjord. To the W. is gaard Husebø, with a tall 'bautasten'. To the E. of the pier are the house of the 'Amtmand', the parsonage, and the church; farther on is gaard Henjum, with a 'Stue' (timber house) of the 17th cent.

$\frac{1}{2}$ S.M. Hermansværk (Hot. Leikvang) lies at the mouth of the Henjumsdal, through which a day's excursion may be taken N. to the Gunvordsbræ (5119 ft.).

The fjord-steamer (Com. 300) steers direct to the mouth of the Aurlandsfjord (p. 150). — The Bergen steamers usually first enter the narrow Norefjord to the E. On the left are gaards Lunden and Slinde (occasional boat-station). On the right is Fimreite, on a fertile hill, with the mountain of that name above it (2572 ft.). On 15th June, 1184, Magnus Erlingssøn was defeated and slain here in a naval battle by King Sverre. To the left is the church of Olmheim. — Rounding the Nordnæs, a spur of the Striken (4118 ft.), we enter the Sogndalsfjord, with smiling, cultivated banks. On the left lies gaard Fardal (touched at on the return from Sogndal), at the mouth of the Øverste Dal or Øfste Dal, whose river plunges headlong into the fjord. On the right rises the Storhougfjeld (see below). To the left is gaard Stedje or Steie (Frk. Lem's Inn), with its fine orchards.

3 S.M. Sogndal (Danielsen's Hot., good; Skyds-station at gaard Fjærn), composed of gaards Sogndalskirke, Hofslund, Sogndalsfjæren, and others, is charmingly situated on a moraine pierced by the Sogndals-Elv, with lofty mountains around it: S. the Storhougfjeld (4236 ft., easily ascended, fine view); SW. Skriken (4118 ft.), and N. Njuken (3190 ft.; easily ascended in 3½ hrs.). Pleasant walk on the bank of the river to the waterfall, with its mills; then S. to the new church, a 'bautasten' by which bears the Runic inscription: 'Olaf'r konungr saa ut mille staina thessa' (i.e. 'King Olaf looked from between these stones'). Thence to Stedje (see above), with its two large 'Kæmpehouge' ('giant tumuli'), and back to Sogndalsfjæren by boat (1 hr. in all).

FROM SOGNDAL TO SOLVORN (14 Kil.; pay for 19), OR TO MARIFJÆREN (22 Kil.; pay for 33), by carr. in 3 and 5 hrs. respectively, while the steamboat does not reach these places for 12 or 14 hrs. (comp. p. 153) The scenery will repay walkers also

FROM SOGNDAL TO FJÆRLAND (12-15 hrs.). A tolerable road ascends from Sogndal to the Sogndalsvand (1542 ft.) and leads on its E. bank to Gaard Selseng (17 Kil.). To the W. opens the Gunvorddal. From Selseng we may ascend the Thorstadnakken (5250 ft.; imposing view of the mountains of the Fjærlandsfjord and of the Jostedalsbræ; E., the Horunger, in clear weather). — From Selseng we may ascend the Langedal by a marked path, past several saters, the highest of them being called Toftahougstele, to the central of the three notches in the mountain (about 4140 ft.), to the left of which rise the peaks of the Frudalsbræ (5168 ft.). Then down the Bergedal to Gaard Berge on the Fjærlandsfjord (p. 148), from which we row in ½ hr. to (3 Kil.) Fjærland.

The steamer returns to the great highway of the Sognefjord, passes the promontories of Meisen and Hønsene, and steers either E. direct to Lærdal (p. 153), or S. to —

3 S.M. Fresvik (Bethun's Hot.), on a bay formed by the projecting hill of Nute, and commanded on the S. by the Nonhaug ('non' being 2 p.m., when the sun stands above the hill). Fine view looking back on Lekanger, with the Gunvordsbræ above it. A visit to the Fresviksbræ on the Fresviksfjeld (5144 ft.), 8-9 Kil. from Fresvik, is interesting.

From Fresvik through the Tundal, and across the mountains to the Jordal and Stalheim (p. 143), takes fully 8 hrs.

Most of the steamers now steer S. between the headlands Sattkjelnes and Solsnæs into the Aurlandsfjord*, an enormous ravine about 1½ Kil. broad, flanked with sheer precipices 3000-3900 ft. high. At a few spots only dwellings have been erected on alluvial deposits ('Ør', 'Aur'), or are perched high above the lake on some apparently inaccessible rock. On both sides are many waterfalls, either leaping direct, or gliding in streaks of foam over the dark-brown rock, and reflected in the fjord.

Beyond the Solnæs, on the left, are the buildings of Buene, with a timber 'slide'. On the right is Simlenæs; farther on, the Fyssefos. Then, on the left, Brednæs or Breinæs, and the mouth of the valley of the Kolar-Elv. — To the left, by the promontory of Nærenæs, we obtain a superb view of the upper Aurlandsfjord, with its vista of rocky crags (see p. 152).

The headland of Bejteln separates the upper Aurlandsfjord from the Nærofjord, its S.W. arm.

The *Nærofjord, the grandest of all the branches of the Sognefjord, is at first 900-1000 yds. in breadth. Soon after entering it we see on the right a waterfall of the Lægde-Elv, 985 ft. high. Opposite rises the pointed Krogegg; then the Gjeitegg. Between these, and afterwards between the Gjeitegg and the Middagsberg, we obtain fine glimpses of the snow-clad Steganaase (p. 152) high above. Opposite the Middagsberg, on the right, are several gaards on an old coast-line at the mouth of the Dyrdal.

The fjord contracts to a defile about 200 yds. broad, with perpendicular sides. On the right, between the Middagsberg and the Rauveg, are the gaards of Styve; above rise the snow-masses of the Store Bræ. Several veil-like waterfalls. On the right, the Dyrdalsfjeld. Then, on the left, the Nissedals-Elv, descending from the Skammedalshøidn (not visible). To the right is a waterfall from the Ytre Bakken, forming a double leap far above. The fjord bends to the S. We now see the Nærødal Mts., notably the Sjærpenut (see below), and to the right the fall of the Bakke-Elv, with the gaards and the little church of Bakke (reached in 1 hr. from Gudvangen by a path which gives a vivid impression of the gloomy solitude of the fjord). Farther on are several waterfalls on both sides; the last (left) is the Kilefos (see below).

4 S.M. (from Fresvik; 8 from Balholm) Gudvangen. — Hotels (a few min. from the pier): VIKINGVANG HOT., R. 2, B. or S. 1½, D. 2¼ kr.; HANSEN'S HOT., R. B. S. each 1½, D. 2¼ kr.; both very fair; English spoken. — Engl. Church Serv. in the season.

CONVEYANCES to Stalheim (1¾ hr.) usually at the pier. stolkjærrer for 1 pers. 2.55 kr., 2 pers. 3.85 kr.; there and back, incl. stay at the foot of the Stalheimsklev, 5 or 7 kr.; caleschvoign for 2, 3, 4 pers. 10, 12, 14, there and back 20 kr. The scenery will repay walkers, especially in descending from Stalheim to Gudvangen (2½-2¾ hrs.). The view from the top is best by afternoon-light.

Gudvangen is a group of gaards at the head of the Nærofjord, at the influx of the Nærødals-Elv. The enclosing mountains are so lofty and abrupt that the little hamlet never sees the sun in winter. On the E. rises the Sjærpenut; W. the Solbjørgenut. From the Kilsbotten, to the N. of the former, falls the Kilefos*, 1840 ft. high, beginning with a leap of 500 ft.; to the right of it are the small Hegtnæsfos and Nautefos, whose waters unite below.

The picturesque Nærødal, the inland continuation of the fjord, has the same wild character. The road crosses, ½ hr. from Gudvangen, a great 'Ur' (p. xxxix), and then the clear river. On the right bank is gaard Sjærping. To the right towers the huge Jordalsnut (3610 ft.; ascent, p. 143), composed of light-grey syenite. On the rocky slopes are many traces of the rock-avalanches ('Skred') which have fallen into the valley. The road gradually ascends on the right bank. On the left bank are gaards Hemre and Hylland. We re-cross ($1\frac{3}{4}$ -2 hrs. from Gudvangen) to the left bank and reach the foot of the Stalheimsklev* ('cliff'), which abruptly closes the valley, and where we alight. We now walk up the 'Klev' in sixteen steep zigzags ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr. to the top). On the right and left are the Sivlefos and the Stalheimsfos, two picturesque waterfalls. Superb view at the top of the pass (1122 ft.; see p. 143; carr. fares to Vossevangen, p. 139).

The Upper Aurlandsfjord*, which runs S.E. from the headland of Bejteln (p. 151), communicates by steamer two or three times weekly with Lærdal (Com. 299), and once or twice with Gudvangen (Com. 300). To the left, high on the steep E. bank, lie gaards Horken, Nedberge, and (in a ravine) Kappadal. To the right, on the hill, are the Stege-Sætre, with two waterfalls near. Then Underdal, finely situated, with a church, whence we may ascend by the Melhus-Sæter to the Steganaase ('terrible nose'; 5660 ft.), the highest peak of the Syrdalsfjeld. — Farther on, to the right, rises the long Flenje-Egg, with its peaks, the Jelben (N.) and the Flenjanaase (4836 ft.). The fjord widens. On the left open several deep ravines, first the Skjerdal, with the gaard of that name, then the small Voldedal and the Vasbygd, the chief place in which (and the terminus of one of the fjord-steamers) is —

4 S.M. (from Fresvik or Gudvangen) Aurland or Aurlandsvangen (Ellend Vangen's Hotel, R., B., or S. 1, D. 2 kr., tolerable), with its little stone church. — A road ascends the valley of the Aurlands-Elv (abounding in fish) to the (6 Kil.) Vasbygdvand (p. 44).

FROM AURLAND TO TØNJUM IN THE LÆRDAL (2 days). 1st Day: steep ascent of nearly 4000 ft. between the Blaaskavl (5817 ft.; 6 hrs. from Aurland; fine view) on the N. and the Høiskarsnut (4488 ft.) on the S.; then, leaving the lofty Hodnsnipe to the left, to the Hodn-Sæter (8 hrs.). — 2nd Day: to the Skale-Sæter and up the Barshegda (4627 ft.); fine view as far as the Horunger, and of the Jøranaase with the Troldelifjeld. Then down a rough sæter-path to the (7 hrs.) church of Tønjum, 10 Kil. by road from Lærdalsøren (p. 153).

Once or twice a week a steamer goes on to the head of the fjord, grandly encircled by mountains, and stops at —

1 S.M. Flaam (Fretheim's Hot., R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ kr., tolerable), with the large gaard of Fretheim, at the mouth of the Flaamsdal. Up that valley leads the road to Vatnahalsen and Myrdal, already described (p. 144).

The walk up to (19 Kil., by skyds, pay 27) Vatnahalsen is uphill almost all the way: to the Høgabro $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr., Melhus $1\frac{1}{4}$, Kuadalsfos $\frac{3}{4}$, Vatnahalsen 1 hr.

c. From Balholm or from Gudvangen to Lærdalsøren.

STEAMER (Com. 289, 300) from Balholm to Lærdalsøren, by Sogndal or by Gudvangen, 8 times a week in 7-12 hrs. (fare 4 kr.). — From Gudvangen to Lærdalsøren, 6 times a week in 3-6 hrs. (fare 4 kr.).

From Balholm and from Gudvangen to the mouth of the Aurlandsfjord, see pp. 149, 150. — The steamer rounds the Saganæs, the base of the Holten, and sometimes calls at the substantial gaard of — Ytre Frøningen. On a green plateau, about 400 ft. higher, is the school of this scattered district.

From Ytre Frøningen the "Blejan" ('the sheet'; 5560 ft.) may be ascended in 6-7 hrs. (rather steep): superb view of the Sognefjord, the Jostedalstræ, Horunger, Jotunheim Mts., the Hallingdal, and Voss. The fjord itself is best seen from the brink of the Lemegg, an almost sheer precipice of 4900 ft. to the N. — An easier ascent is from the Vindedal (see below), reached from Lærdalsøren by boat. Best to sleep at the Vindedals-Sæter, $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr. above Vindedal and 2-3 hrs. from the top.

To the N. towers the Storhougfjeld (p. 150). We next pass Indre Frøningen and the promontory of Refnæstangen, a spur of the Hausaffjeld, behind which rises the Lemegg (see above). We either steer direct to Lærdalsøren, or first N. to —

5 S.M. (from Sogndal) Amble (Husum's Inn, good), charmingly situated on the crater-shaped Amblebugt. A pleasant road leads hence, past the Amblegaard (the owner of which, Hr. Heiberg, has a large collection of memorials of the Norwegian family of that name), and along the fjord, to (2 Kil.) Kaupanger, beautifully situated. The small 'Stavekirke', with 20 pillars in the nave and 4 in the rectangular choir, probably built about 1200, was unskilfully restored in 1862. Fine elms and ashes.

FROM AMBLE TO SOGNDAL (13 Kil.) Beyond Kaupanger the road begins to ascend; superb view looking back on the Sognefjord and the snow-clad Blejan (see above). The road leads through pine-forest to the top of the hill, and then descends past several large gaards (each with 'Stabbur' and belfry) to (7 Kil.) Eidet (poor station). A road skirting the Eidsfjord, with a view, S., of the slope of the Storhougfjeld, leads hence to (6 Kil.) Lofteanæs, a handsome gaard opposite Sogndal, to which we ferry. — To row direct from Eidet to Sogndal (6 Kil.) takes 1 hr. (with two rowers 1 kr. 8 ø). Herrings abound in the Eidsfjord. The water is fresh on the surface, but salt below.

Leaving Amble, we have a fine view of the Blejan (see above) to the S., and of the Fresviksbræ (p. 150) to the W. in the distance. On the left opens the Aardalsfjord (p. 154). Opposite the headland of Fodnæs, on the right, we see into the Vindedal, with the Store Graanæs in the background, and the long Glipsfjeld on the E. side. The fjord, now called Lærdalsfjord, is bounded on the left by the Vetanaase and, farther E., by the Hegamaase (4900 ft.). On the right, to the E. of the Glipsfjeld, we look into the Eierdal. In the foreground are the gaards of Haugene.

7 S.M. (from Balholm) Lærdalsøren. — Pier 1 Kil. from the hotels (carr. 50 ø. each pers.; with luggage 60 ø.). Those who have to start early from Lærdalsøren may go on board the steamer the night before, but the noise of loading is fatal to sleep.

Hotels: 'LINDSTRØM'S HOTEL, three houses with garden, R. 2, B. or S. 1½, D. 2½ kr.; KVAMME'S HOTEL, plain, but good. Engl. spoken at both. Physician, Dr Monnichsen.

Lærdalsøren, shortly called Lærdal, the terminus of the Valdres route (R. 8), lies on a broad marshy plain at the mouth of the Læra, enclosed by bare rocky mountains. View limited. To the E., at the end of the Oftedal, on the left, rises the Haugnaase (4383 ft.), and on the right the Frejbottenfjeld. The village, with 800 inhab., has a doctor, a chemist, and a few tolerable shops. The timber church of 1873 with two towers, lies in a second group of houses 5 min. farther inland. A 'bautasten', 19 ft. high, recalls the wars of 1808-9 and 1813-14.

WALKS. A good road leads past the pier and the winter-pier (used when the fjord is frozen) to the mouth of the Kierdal (see p. 153; there and back 1½ hr.). — Up the Lærdal road, past the church, for 35 min.; then to the left over the bridge; next to the right to the hamlet of Hauge; lastly to the left to (10 min.) two yellow houses at the foot of the hill, containing the Fiske-Udklæknings-Apparat (for fish-breeding), founded in 1899 (fee 15-20 ø.). Near it is the low 'Klokstapel' of the old church of Lærdal.

d. The Aardalsfjord and Lysterfjord.

STEAMER (Com. 299) from Lærdalsøren to Aardal twice weekly in 2 hrs., also twice weekly by Skjolden in 12 hrs. (fare 1 70 kr.); to Skjolden at the head of the Lysterfjord four times weekly in 3½-7½ hrs. (fare 3 kr.); to Marifjæren only in 3-5½ hrs. (2 kr.).

From Lærdalsøren to Fodnæs, see p. 153. On rounding the promontory we obtain, to the left, a fine view of the Lysterfjord, with the Haugmælen; in the background is the Jostedalsbræ (p. 157); S.W. towers the Blejan (p. 153).

The entrance of the Aardalsfjord is rather featureless. On the N. bank rise the Bodlenakken and then the Brandhovd, between which lie the Ytre and Indre Oferdal (see below). On the wooded S. bank is the station of Nadviken or Vikedal. We next look into the Søheimsdal to the N., and soon sight the superb mountains encircling —

Aardal or Aardalstangen (Klingenberg's Hot., very fair). The little village, with its pretty church, lies partly on an old coast-line (p. xxxii) and partly on deposits from the mountains on the right, at the mouth of the Aardals-Elv, which issues from the adjacent Aardalsvand. Opposite, to the S., rises the snow-clad Slettefjeld or Middagshaugen (4436 ft.). Excursion to the Vettisfos (1 day; p. 74).

Returning from Aardal, the steamer calls when required at Oferdal, the station for the valleys of Indre (E.) and Ytre (W.) Oferdal, between the Brandhovd and the Bodlenakken. We then round the abrupt Bodlenakken and enter the Lysterfjord*, the N.E. arm of the Sognefjord, 40 Kil. long, where the wildest and the most smiling scenery are combined. The glacier-streams give the water of the fjord a milky tinge. On the W. side rises the steep Haugmaalen (3806 ft.), which may be ascended nearly all the way on horseback. In $2\frac{1}{4}$ hrs. from Aardal the steamer reaches —

4 S.M. Solvorn (Walaker's Hot., pens. $3\frac{1}{2}$ kr., very fair, Skyds-station), finely situated on a W. bay of the fjord, backed by the snow-mountains around the Vettestrandsvand (see below).

A road ascends from Solvorn to the (2 Kil.) Hafsløvand (456 ft.), the E. bank of which is skirted by the road from Marifjæren to Sogndal (see below). To the N. of the junction of the two roads lies (2 Kil.) Hillestad (Hillestad's Hotel, well spoken of, R. 80 ø., B 1, S. 1 kr.; 4 Kil. from Solvorn, pay for 6), where guides and horses are obtained for the ascent of the Molden (see below; on foot 3-4 hrs.).

From Hillestad, a road leads by Hafslø, with church and parsonage, to (8 Kil.) Sogel, at the S. end of the Vettestrandsvand (640 ft.), a lake 14 Kil. long. Thence by rowing or by motor-boat to the N. end of the lake, where rustic quarters (and probably a guide) may be had at the gaard of Næs or Nordre Næs; then a walk of 10 hrs. by the Vettestrandsskar to the Suphelledal and to Fjærland (see p. 148). — From Næs we may also visit the splendid Austerdalsbræ, to the N., farther up the valley. The path to it leads by the Tungesæter (rustic quarters), at the junction of the Langedal and the Austerdal, to the glacier in $3\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.; then across the lower to the upper glacier, 1 hr. more. We may then, with guide, ascend the glacier and cross the Jostedalsbræ to Brigsdal (pp. 170, 169) in 12-14 hrs. Several of Herr Bing's routes across the Jostedalsbræ are marked on the Map at p. 144 (to Aamot, see p. 164).

On a tongue of land on the E. bank, opposite Solvorn, lies Urnaes, a pretty place where the steamer calls when desired. High above it is the oldest 'Stavekirke' in Norway (see p. 28), possibly of the 11th cent., but the 'Lop' or arcade was removed in 1722. In the vicinity are several large tumuli ('Kæmpehouge'). On the W. bank towers the Molden (3640 ft.). On the E. bank, $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. from Solvorn, is gaard Ytre Kroken, famed for its orchards (small-boat station, when required). To the N.W. appears the Hestebra, part of the Jostedalsbræ; to the right of it is the Leirmohovd; more to the N. are the Krondal mountains (p. 158). In $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. more we reach — diverges to the left (see p. 155), and pass through pine-wood, obtaining glimpses of the lake and the Jostedalsbræ to the N. Beyond gaard Oklevig the road reaches its highest point, and then descends the winding Gildreskreda* (Skreden). Superb view of the fjord. On our right rushes the Orro-Elv, the effluent of the Hafslo lake, forming the Helvetesfos and Futesprang. Below, at the N. end of the Sogndalsfjord, lies Nageløren. We now skirt the Barnæsffjord. Oaks, elms, and ashes appear. The fjord contracts. On the opposite bank lies Loftesnæs (p. 153).

2 S.M. Marifjæren (Tervi's Hotel & Skyds-station, at the pier, R., B., or S. 1.20 each, D. 2 kr., good), prettily situated on the Gaupnefjord, the best starting-point for the Jostedal (p. 157). On the hill, N.W., is the new church of Joranger, where we have a superb view of the fjord and the Feigumsfos (p. 156). To reach it we may take a steep footpath (unpleasant to descend) ascending from the Bygde-Elv bridge; but it is better to follow the Hillestad road (see below) to a (20 min.) bridge, and then ascend to the right (20 min.).

FROM MARIFJÆREN TO SOGNDAL (22 Kil., pay for 38). This fine route, which will repay walking, leads up the Bygde-Elv. On the right, above, lies Joranger. Then past the abrupt Molden (see above). Numerous farms with cultivated fields. Fet, with its old church, lies to the right. From the highest point of the road (about 900 ft.) we see the distant snow-mountains S. of the Sognefjord. Descent rather steep, with grand view. 8 Kil. (pay for 14) Hillestad, see above.

We skirt the E. bank of the Hafsløvand, where the road to Solvorn

14 Kil. (pay for 19) Sogndal, see p. 150.

The upper part of the Lysterfjord is grand and picturesque. The steamer passes Næs, on the left, and on the right the imposing Feigumsfos, which descends from a valley to the N. of the Rive-naase (3465 ft.) in two falls, about 650 ft. high. To the N. of the fall rises the Sørheimsfjeld; then the Skurvenaase (see below).

On the W. bank is Hofheim or Hofjumsvik. Then —

2 S.M. Døsen (Døsen Hot.), or Lyster, as the boatmen call it, charmingly situated, residence of a parson, Lensmand, and physician. Adjacent is the old stone church of Dale, with a fine portal. To the left on the hill is a sanatorium for consumptives.

From Døsen we may ascend the Daledal by a bridle-track, past gaards Bringe and Skaar and the sæters of Vallagjerdet and Kvale, to gaard Kilen, the highest in the valley. Then a steep climb over the Storhougs Vidde (2802 ft.) to the Vigdals-Sæter, and W. through the Vigdal, passing the Buskrednaase on the right, to the fjeld-gaards Øvre and Nedre Vigdal. From the latter we cross a hill, descend abruptly to the Ormbergs-Stei, and go N. to Gaard Ormberg in the Jostedal (p. 157), about 27 Kil. from Døsen (a fatiguing walk of 9-10 hrs., with guide).

1 S.M. Skjolden (Thorgerir Sulheim's Inn, above the pier, to the right, good; carriages meet the steamer), the steamboat-terminus at the mouths of the Fortundal (p. 77) and Mørkereidsdal, is the starting-point for a visit to the Horúnger (pp. 78, 79). By the pier is the conspicuous landing-place for the ice stored in a large cellar a little way inland.

In the sombre Mørkereidsdal, extending about 20 Kil. N. of Skjolden, a road leads past gaards Skole, Bolstad, Flohaug, and Moen to Mørkereid or Mørkei (6 Kil.). Here the valley forks. A steep track ascends the left branch to the Aasabønd and skirts the W. slope of the Skurvenaase (4504 ft.) to the Aa-Sæter (reached also by rowing up the lake), whence we may go N. to the Rausdal (see below). The route to the right at Mørkereid ascends the Mørkereidsdal, passing the Knivebakke-Sæter (left), the Dul-Sæter, and the Dalen-Sæter, to the Fosse-Sæter, at the junction of the glacier-routes from the Nørsteds-Sæter (p. 78) and the Sota-Sæter (p. 86). We cross the river here to the left, and ascend to join the route from the Aa-Sæter to the — Fjeldsl-Sæter, a mountain-inn kept by Ole Bolstad, with the aid of the Norw. Tourist-Forening, a good starting-point for several passes and for snow-shoeing on the glaciers. — PASSES (with guide). 1. (Map, p. 154) Past the Rausdals-Sæters and up the E. bank of the streamlet in the Rausdal to the frozen Rausdalsvand, then to the E. of the Rivenaaskulen (6190 ft.) and over the Kollbræ down to the Tværaadal, and on to the (10-11 hrs.) Sota-Sæter (p. 86). Or from the Rausdal we may cross the Harbarsbræ, between the Tværaadals-Kirke (6830 ft.) and the Tundredals-Kirke (6590 ft.), and descend past the Solkjærn to the (12 hrs.) Sota-Sæter. — 2. Past the Rausdals-Sæter, W. over the fjeld, and through the Martedal and Fagerdal to gaard Faaberg in the Jostedal (p. 158).

FROM MARIFJØREN TO THE JOSTEDAL.

The Jostedal is a great fissure in a vast plateau of snow and ice, the W. part of which consists of the Jostedalstræ with its branches, while the E. half is formed by the Sjøteigbræ and several snow-clad peaks or 'noses'. The sides of the valley, rising to 3000 ft., are generally wooded below, and are often broken by transverse rifts, from which torrents and waterfalls descend. At intervals the rifts recede, forming basins bounded by rocky barriers, through which the stream has forced a passage. This excursion takes $1\frac{1}{2}$ days, there and back, but in spite of the importance and beauty of the Nigardsbræ (p. 138), is scarcely repaying. The road is very hilly. — The Jostedalstræ is the greatest expanse of snow and ice in Europe, being 380 sq. M. in area and 1400-1600 ft. in thickness. A few rocky knolls alone break through the ice-mantle. Into the adjacent valleys it sends down 28 glaciers, of which the longest is the Tunsbergdals-Bræ (see below), 14 Kil. long, second only in Europe to the Aletsch Glacier (16 Kil. long). The ice, as everywhere else in Norway, has been receding for several decades, so that the ascent over the glacier-tongues to the great plateau has at places become steeper and more difficult. The passage of these glaciers is only fit for experts with guides.

Marifjæren, see p. 155. The road leads past the precipitous W. bank of the Gaupnefjord to (3 Kil.) Røneid, at the mouth of the Jostedals-Elv, situated, with several gaards, on the alluvial soil of the river opposite the old church of Gaupne (note the finely carved portal from an earlier 'Stavekirke', and paintings of the 17th cent. in the interior). Above rises the Raubergsholten (2675 ft.).

The road ascends on the right bank of the muddy torrent. The lower part of the valley is well cultivated. We pass an old moraine and cross the Kværne-Elv. High and shapeless rocks now flank the road all the way to Leirimo. In front of us rises the Leirmohovd. After crossing the Fondela the road turns to the right to the gorge of Hausadn. Behind us may be seen the twin peaks of the Asbjørnnaase (5270 ft.). From the rocks on the right falls the Ryefos. We soon reach the first of the basins peculiar to the Jostedal, named after the gaards of Leirimo, on the hill to the left. (From Leirimo we may visit the Tunsbergdalsbræ, see above.) We cross the foaming Tunsbergdals-Elv. To the right towers the Kolnaase. The river expands over the whole floor of the valley.

14 Kil. Alsno lies on an old moraine ('Mo'). We soon enter a gorge called Haugaasgjel, in which are the falls of the Vigdela, and pass through the deep and imposing basin of Myklemyr, once a lake. To the left rises the Hompedalskulen (4823 ft.); in front, to the right, is the Vangsen (see p. 158). Passing gaards Myten, Teigen, Øen, and Myklemyr, the road leads through a narrower part of the valley, with the large gaard of Ornberg on the right, and enters the basin of Fossen and Dalen. Beyond another defile, with a bridge leading to Døsen (p. 156), we reach the basin of —

10 Kil. Sperle (plain but good quarters, B. 60 s., D. $1\frac{1}{2}$ kr.). We now cross a rocky height, where we have a fine view of the Liaxlen and the Jostedalstræ to the N. Beyond gaard Sperle is the waterfall of that name, coming from the Listalsbræ on the left. Then a steep ascent to the Nedre Lid, wooded at the top, and past the 'Gjel' of that name on the right. A drive of $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. from Sperle brings us to the beautiful basin of Jostedal (660 ft.), with the church.

On the left we see the Bakkefos, descending from the Strondaffjeld, and near it the Øvre Gaard. On the right the Gjeitsdøla has three fine waterfalls. To the S.E. rises the imposing Vangsen (5713 ft.; ascended from Jostedal in 4 hrs.), with a glacier on its N.E. slope. Between the valleys of Vanddal and Gjeitsdal, which open to the right, is seen the pyramidal Myrhorn, a peak of the great Spertegbræ behind it. Beyond gaard Gjerdet we cross the stream issuing from the Krondal. Up that valley, on the right, rises the Haugenaase (4262 ft.), on the left the Vellenibben and Grønneskredbræ. Corn thrives thus far.

THE Krondal well repays a visit, from Kronen (quarters), at its entrance, to its head beyond gaard Bergset (quarters), where three very fine glaciers descend: in the middle the ice-terrace of the Bergsæbræ, with (r) the Tværbræ and (l) the Grønneskredbræ — From the Krondal OVER THE JOSTEDALSBRÆ TO LOEN or OLDEN (p. 163), 12-15 hrs., a grand but trying route. (Guide, Johannes Snetun, in the Krondal, 14-20, porter 10 kr.). From Kronen or from Bergset we ascend the E. side of the Tværbræ or Bjernesegbræ, which comes from the N., to the (3 hrs) Haugenset, between the Tværbræ and the Nigardsbræ, marked by the last 'varde' in the Jostedal (good water). The passage of the glacier now begins. In 1 hr. the Kjendalskrona, the Lodalskaupa, and other Nordfjord Mts. come in sight. In 2-3 hrs. more we reach the first 'varde' on the opposite side. We descend the Kvandalsbræ (20 min.), and by a very fatiguing route on its margin, to the Kvandal (1½ hr.; p. 171). Or we may follow the Jostedalsbræ farther W. and descend by the Sundebræ to Sunde on the Oldenvand (p. 169).

We next cross a hill and obtain a fine view looking back. On the further side, 2 hrs.' drive from Sperle, we obtain a splendid general view of the Nigardsbræ, descending between the Haugenaase and Liachsen. The road passes the Berge-Sæter and crosses the Jostedals-Elv. A path diverging to the left before the Berge-Sæter is reached soon crosses the effluent of the Nigardsbræ, and, ill-defined, skirts the N. slope of the glacier-valley. The best view of this famous glacier, so often described by Norwegian and other writers, is obtained about $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. from the Berge-Sæter, from a point where the crest of the lateral moraine juts a little into the valley. The descent to the foot of the glacier is of little interest.

After crossing the Jostedals-Elv we come to gaard Kroken, where another steep ascent begins. The road then descends and (3 Kil.) ends at — 17 Kil. (pay for 19) Faaberg (1313 ft.; rustic quarters at Rasmus Larsen Faaberg's, a good guide, independent of the Norw. Tourist-Forening; bed or D. 1, B. or S. $\frac{1}{2}$ kr.). The Forening recommends Lars Larsen Lien, at the Lien-Sæter, on the opposite bank, reached by a foot-bridge across the river a little short of Faaberg.

From Faaberg through the Fagerdal to the Merkerejdsdal, see p. 156.

FROM FAABERG OVER THE JOSTEDALSBRÆ TO HJELLE ON THE STRYNSVAND, 13-14 hrs. (two guides 25 kr.). We ascend on the left bank of the Jostedals-Elv, which bends to the N., in 1 hr. reach the Faabergstelsbræ on the left, and then (40 min.) cross the stream and ascend in a few min.

to the left to the Faaberg-Sæter (1874 ft.; where a night may be spent). We next ascend the desolate Stordal, on the right bank of the broad river-bed (were the path over the Handspikje to the Sota-Sæter diverges to the right; see p. 86). Where the valley divides, and the Stegesholibræ descends on the right, we turn to the left and ascend the huge moraine of the Lodalsbræ, the lower end of which (about 2970 ft.) we reach in $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. from the Faaberg-Sæter. Next a slight ascent over ice almost free from crevasses. Roping only becomes necessary at the top, where the glacier is covered with snow. In front rises the Bræmmba, an isolated rock. Ice permitting, we continue to ascend on the glacier, but it is sometimes advisable to ascend the rocks of the Raukskarfjeld to the right. Opposite us rises the Lodalskaupa (6795 ft.), the highest peak in this region. We soon reach ($\frac{3}{4}$ hrs. from the beginning of the glacier) its highest point, a little to the left of the Stornaase (5935 ft.). We then descend on the N.E. margin of the Erdalsbræ. Where the glacier descends more abruptly, about 2 hrs. from the top, there begins a narrow path on the rocks to the right. Here we leave the ice after $\frac{5}{4}$ hrs. Then a steep and rough descent into the broad Erdal, where in $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. we reach the Lille-Sæter. Thence in $2\frac{1}{4}$ hrs., by Stor-Sæter and Greiding, by a good path to Erdal on the Strynsvand, whence we ferry in $\frac{1}{2}$ hr to Hjelle (p. 172). The descent from the Lodalsbræ to Bedal on the Loenvand takes about the same time, but is seldom made.

A pass, said to be easy, leads from Faaberg by the stone hut on the Liaalen, rising N.E. of the Nigardsbræ, or by the Nigardsbræ, then across the Jostedalsbræ, and down to Bedal on the Loenvand (p. 171).

23. From Bergen to Aalesund and Molde by Sea.

42 S.M. (183 Engl. M.) to Aalesund, 51 S.M. (204 Engl. M.) to Molde. These official distances are greatly increased by the sinuosities of the steamer's course. The distances given below in Norwegian sea-miles are from station to station.

STEAMERS (Com. 224b, 227a, 60, 124) almost daily to Aalesund in 15-18 hrs. (fares 16.80, 10.50 kr.), to Molde in 19-22 hrs. (fares 20.40, 12.75 kr.). Some of the steamers touch at Aalesund only, going thence direct to Christiansund and Trondhjem; others call at Aalesund and Molde; others again at Flora, Molde, Aalesund, and Molde; few touch at the minor stations.

From Bergen to the mouth of the Sognefjord, see p. 145. The Polletind (1740 ft.) here rises on the island of Indre Sulen.

To the N. of the Sognefjord we skirt the district of Søndfjord, which with Nordfjord (p. 165) formed the ancient Firdafylke. We steer between the islands of Ytre and Indre Sulen. The scenery improves, and the mountains show more variety. We pass the Dalsfjord (p. 162). To the W. lie the Varø and the island of Alden (1552 ft.), known as the 'Norske Hest', which pastures upwards of 1000 sheep. The steamboat usually passes to the W. of the lofty Atles (2283 ft.), and steers across the Stangfjord, past the headland of Stavnæs and the Stavfjord, the entrance to the Førdefjord (p. 163). On a solitary cliff to the W. stands the light-house of Stabbensfyr.

20 S.M. Florø (Salomonsen's Hot.; Fru Olsen's Hot.) is touched at by most of the large steamers. The thriving little town (680 inhab.) is the trading centre of the Norddals, Eike, and Hedals fjords.

A local steamer (Com. 305) plies once weekly from Florø up the small Eikefjord to the station of that name, whence we may penetrate into the great glacier-region of the Kjeipen (4460 ft., explored by Wm. C. Slingsby), the snowy heights of which are seen (N.) from the fjord.

The Bergen and Nordfjord steamer (p. 165) follows from Florø to Moldø a route similar to that described below, but calls at more stations. It corresponds (Com. 304b) with steamers on the Gulefjord, which opens S.E. of Bremanger. From Kjelkenæs, on this fjord, we may row to Rise (quarters) and walk thence by a wild path, N.W. of the Kjeipen (see above), to the Aalfotfjord (p. 166).

Steering N., we have on the left the islands of Skorpø and Aralden; then the mountainous Frøi-Ø, with Kalvaag or Kallevaag, a station of the Nordfjord steamers (p. 165). With the Frøifjord, the strait between the mainland and the large island of Bremanger, begins one of the finest parts of the voyage. In Bremanger is Berdle or Berle, another station of the Nordfjord steamers. To the right, the grey moss-grown rocks are relieved by a few long slender waterfalls. Soon, to the left, at the N.E. angle of Bremanger, is seen the huge Hornelen (3002 ft.), towering almost sheer, ascended on the E. side by K. Bing in 1897. This is the Smalsorhorn of the Saga, said to have been visited by Olaf Trygvason about 1000. In the Skatestrøm, a strait to the N. of Hornelen, between Bremanger and the Rugsundø (p. 162), the ebb and flow of the tide produces strong currents.

The steamer crosses the mouth of the Nordfjord, affording a fine mountain-view, and (3 hrs. from Florø) reaches —

7 S.M. Moldø (Moldsen Hot.), a small island between the mainland and the Vaagsø. On the Vaagsø, with its hills 2300 ft. high, lies Sæternæs (Sunde's Inn), a station of the local steamers.

We next steer N. through the Ulvesund, a strait between the Vaagsø and the mainland, then across the bay of Sildegabet ('herring's mouth') and past the Barmø and Seljesø. On the latter are the ruins of a Benedictine monastery and of a shrine of the Irish St. Sunniva, the tutelary saint of Bergen. Sailing vessels had formerly often to lie here for weeks till the wind served for taking them round Stadtland.

The peninsula of Stadtland is a hilly plateau 28 Kil. long and 4-13 Kil. broad, stretching far into the sea 'like a huge right hand with a long fore-arm'. The highest point is the Skræatna, rising above Drage. More conspicuous is the Kjærring (1683 ft.), answering to the end-joint of the middle finger. The N. point is called Staalet. On the N.E. side rises the Revikhorn (1410 ft.). Stadtland is much exposed to storms, and even in summer the sea is often rough.

On Stadtland, opposite the Seljesø, by the church and parsonage of Hovø, lies Selje, a station of the Bergen and Nordfjord steamer (Com. 306), whence we may row up the little Moldefjord in 1 hr. to gaard Eide. A rather steep bridle-path leads thence in $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. (pay for 7 Kil.) over the Mandseid (about 490 ft.) to Enerhaugen on the Kjødøpollen. Then by boat in 1 hr. to (4 Kil.) — Aacim (Aacim Hot.), near the church of Vanelven, at the S.W. end of the Vanelvsfjord. Steamboat to Aalesund, by Volden, once weekly (Com. 318; p. 165). Road to Bryggen on the Nordfjord, see p. 166.

The bay on the N. E. side of Stadthland is the Vanelvsgeb, adjoined on the S. E. by the Vanelvsfjord (p. 160). The steamer passes the Sandø, in which is the Dolstenshul, a cave 200 ft. above the sea, and the large islands Gurskø and Hareidland, and sometimes calls at Herøen, N. of the Gurskø, at Volden (p. 185), and at Ørstenvik (p. 185). Next, to the right, lies the large Sulø. To the N. appears the Godø, with a lighthouse; then, on the right, the island of Hessen, with the pointed Sukkertop; farther N., the Valderø, with a lighthouse and a cave (Sjong-Hul), 120 ft. high, on the S. W. side. Passing the Stenvaag, the bare rocks of which are used for drying fish ('Klipfisk', p. 223), we reach, in about 5 hrs. from Molde, —

15 S. M. Aalesund, see p. 184.

The voyage from Aalesund to Molde (fare $3\frac{1}{2}$ -4 kr.) is beautiful, especially by evening-light. Beyond Aalesund we have a grand *View of the Søndmøre Mts. (pp. 197-200) to the right, the fissured Jønshorn and the snow-fields of the Kolaastinder remaining long visible. Farther on, to the left, is the Lepse, with the Rønstadhul. To the right is the lighthouse of Gunaviken. A view of the conspicuous Skaala (p. 192) and other mountains N. of the Romsdal is now disclosed. Lastly we enjoy a panorama of the whole Romsdalsfjord. From Aalesund to Molde the large steamers take $3\frac{1}{2}$ -4 hrs.; the local steamers, with their many stops, take much longer.

9 S. M. Molde, see p. 186. — Voyage to Christianssund and Trondhjem, see p. 194.

24. From the Sognefjord to the Nordfjord.

FROM VADHEIM TO SANDENE (or Gloppen), 124 Kil., a two days' drive: Stolkjærre for 1 pers. 20.91, for 2 pers. 51.88 kr.; Caleschvogn for 2, 3, 4 pers. 55.85, 61.60, 67.40, 73.80 kr. — This is a much frequented route, as the huge Jostedalstrø (p. 157) precludes any other. The first part being the least attractive, we may take the Søndfjord steamer from Bergen to Ferde (Com 308), or we may steam all the way to the Nordfjord.

Good walkers or riders may take the route from Skjolden over the Sognefjeld to Reysheym (p. 67) and thence by Grollid to Stryn (p. 172). The glacier passes from the Jostedal to the valleys of the Nordfjord are fit for experts only, with good guides (pp. 158, 159, 168).

Vadheim (by steamer from Bergen 7-10, from Lærdalsøren $9\frac{1}{2}$ -10, from Balholm 3-4 hrs.), see p. 145. Conveyances usually await the steamer.

The hilly road ascends the Vadheimsdal (westmost of the two valleys opening here), flanked with rocks 1500-1900 ft. high. The first gaard is Ytre Dale, on the left. The road crosses the river and ascends between the Dregebenip (left) and the Fagerstetnip (right; 2995 ft.). On a rock to the left lie the gaards of Dregebø. The road then re-crosses the river, skirts the Lower Yzlandsvand, and again crosses the river before reaching the dark Upper Yzlandsvand.

(433 ft.). The watershed is by the gaards of Aureberge (535 ft.), lying in a basin to the right, with a small lake. To the N. rises the imposing Kvamshest (see below). Passing gaard Lofald on the right, we cross the Gula or Holmedals-Elv, and soon reach —

16 Kil. Sande (Sivertsen's Hotel, R. 1½-2, B. or S. 1½, D. 2¼, pens. 5-6 kr.; very good; Engl. spoken), with the church of Indre Holmedal and several gaards. To the S. rise the Høgehøi (2850 ft.) and the more distant Dregebenip; W. the Stensatfjeld (2470 ft.); N. W. the lofty Kvandalsfjeld (3324 ft.).

From Sande a good road leads W., down the left bank of the Holmedals-Elv, to (14 Kil.) the slow station of Eddevik, near the church of Begstad and gaard Sveen (good quarters; R. 1½, B. or S. 1¼ kr.) on the Dalsfjord, on which a steamer plies twice weekly (Com. 302; 12½-13 hrs. from Bergen). The finest point on the Dalsfjord is Dale, on the S. bank, with the Dalshest (2333 ft.), the dome-shaped Kringlen (2434 ft.), and other mountains. — From Sveen to Langeland (see below), 11 Kil.

From Sande a road leads E., up the Holmedal, to (7 Kil.) the slow station of Horsevik on the pretty Viksvand (525 ft.), which repays a visit. On an island near the N. bank of the lake is the church of Hæstad. From Horsevik to Vik, at the N.E. end of the lake, 14 Kil. (by boat). Near Vik is the mouth of the Eldal (p. 147) on the right. — From Vik a road leads through the Haukedal to (7 Kil.) Mostadhaug on the Haukedalsvand, whence we may row to Rørvik (p. 163).

Beyond Sande the road ascends to gaard Tunvald at the base of the Tunvaldfjeld. Fine view behind us. We soon sight the mountains of the Dalsfjord (in Søndfjord); in the distance, the Løkelundshest (2625 ft.); nearer, the Kvamshest or Store Hest (4065 ft.), resembling a huge horse's head; below us the wooded basin of Lundebygden. We next reach the gaards of Skulbred, on the peaty Skulbredsvand, whence we view the Kvamshest and the Lille Hest (3019 ft.) to the N.E. of it, with a snow-field between them. We pass several pleasant gaards.

12 Kil. (pay for 14 in this direction) Langeland (rustic quarters) lies high above the S. end of the Langelandsvand (2½ Kil. long), where a road to Sveen on the Dalsfjord diverges to the left. The road to Førde follows the E. bank of the lake, and above the Bakkevand reaches its highest point (1119 ft.); it then descends in windings into the valley of Førde and to the Førdefjord. Walkers may avoid the windings by short-cuts, but should not wander too far from the road. To the left rises the Solheimsheia (1276 ft.); to the right we see the Halbrandsfos. The ascent from Førde to the Bakkevand takes 1¼ hr.

In the valley the road to the left leads to the steamboat-pier on the Førdefjord, of which the upper bay only is visible. We turn to the right and ascend by the broad Jølster-Elv to (about 1 Kil., 4½-5½ hrs' drive from Vadheim) —

11 Kil. (pay in opp. direction for 14) Førde. On the road is Hafstad's Hot.* (R. 2, B. or S. 1½, D. 2¼ kr.). On the right bank, reached by a long bridge, is Sivertsen's Hot.* (same charges; Engl. spoken). Near it (left) is the telegraph-office; on a moraine-hill

(right) is the church. The broad and smiling valley is enclosed by high hills: N. the Ferdenip (2828 ft.); E. the Viefjeld (see below); S.W. the Solheimsheia (p. 162). Førde is the capital of the district of Søndfjord (p. 159). The 'fjord race' of horses bred here is noted.

On the Førdefjord, on whose bank runs the road mentioned above, a steamer plies twice weekly (Com. 303) to Naustdal on the N. bank in 1-1½ hr., to Flores (p. 159) in 5 hrs.

Leaving Førde, we look to the left, N.E., into the Angedal, with the Sandfjeld (4100 ft.) and the Kuuffjelde (4190 ft.) in the background. Our road ascends the well-cultivated valley of the Jølster-Elv, passing numerous gaards. Fine view of the broad Brelandsfos. On the opposite bank rises the Viefjeld (2210 ft.). About 6 Kil. from Førde the long Farsunde-Bro carries us across the lower end of the Movatten (75 ft.), a small lake through which the Jølster-Elv flows. The road skirts the N. bank of this lake, at the foot of the Viefjeld. On the S. bank lie several gaards. At the head of the lake, on the right, is the agricultural school ('Landbrugsskole') of Mo, beyond which is seen the Huldrefos. Beautiful pine-wood. About 5 Kil. from the Farsunde-Bro a road diverges to the right to Holsen.

The road to Holsen (no skyds) crosses the Jølster-Elv and leads a little N. of the Aasenvand; then on the N. bank of the Holsenvand (410 ft.). The church of Holsen is about 9 Kil. from the parting of the ways. The road next leads over the Rervikfjeld, and past the Rervik Sætre, to gaard Rervik on the Haukedalsvand (863 ft.), at the N.E. end of which, about 15 Kil. from Holsen, is the church of Haukedal. The road ends at gaard Grønning (1090 ft., quarters), 4-5 Kil. farther up. Thence to Balholm on the Sognefjord, see p. 147. — A grand but rough route, fording several brooks, ascends the Grendal, with a view of the Grovebræ on the left and the Jostefond on the right, to the Seknesandsskar, and descends to Seknesand (p. 184).

Beautiful scenery. The green wooded valley is backed by fjelds to the E. and N.E.

20 Kil. Nedre Vasenden (Nielsen's Hot., R. 1½-2, B. or S. 1½, D. 2¼ kr.) lies at the W. end of the Jølstervand, out of which the Jølster-Elv flows in a series of rapids (seen from the bridge by the inn).

On the pretty Jølstervand* (673 ft.), 23 Kil. long from S.W. to N.E., plies a small steamer (Com. 495; 2 hrs., fare 2 kr.). The banks are studded with gaards, mostly on the 'Solside', or N. side. The road on the N. bank leads by the base of the Jyggfjeld, past the gaards of Sviddal at the mouth of the Bergsdal, and through the fertile Aalhusbygd, with the church of Aalhus or Jølster.

On the S. side of the lake rise the Samdalsfjeld, the Klana, the Orken, and the Sadelegg. Above these peep at intervals the Grovebræ or Jølstrajekul and the Jostedalsbræ. By the gaards of Myklebostad are pretty waterfalls.

To the left, at the E. base of the Bjersatfjeld (3314 ft.), which the road rounds, are the gaards of Aardal or Ørdal. Then the church of Helgheim.

On the right opens the Kjøsnesfjord (10 Kil. long), backed by the blue-green Glacier of Lunde*. To the N. of this fjord rises the Bjerga (5512 ft.); to the S. the Seknesandsnipa (4968 ft.).

At the E. end of the Kjøsnesfjord lie the gaards of Seknesand and Lunde (poor quarters at both), whence, with a guide, we may cross S. to the Grøndal (p. 163) and go on to Sværen (p. 147), or we may cross the Jostedalsbræ S.E. to Fjarland (p. 148). The latter is an attractive route, not difficult for adepts, to the middle Sognefjord (comp. p. 150; to the Lundeskar 2½, the glacier 1, across it 1½, the Bøjum-Sæter 2¼, Fjarland 2 hrs.).

At the head of the Jølstervand lies —

23 Kil. Skej (Hot. Skej*, R. 1½-2, B. or S. 1½, D. 2¼, pens. 4½-5 kr.; Engl. Ch. Serv. in July & Aug.). Vehicles always to be had.

The road ascends past several small lakes. On the right, between the Feglevand and the Skredevand, is the Fosheimsfos, descending from the Bjerga. By the Bolsæt vand the old road remains on the left. Our road crosses a hill to the Stardal, at the head of which appears the huge Jostedalsbræ. Beyond Klagegg (741 ft.; 5 Kil. from Skej) the road divides: left to Egge, right to Aamot in the Stardal.

The latter road ascends to (about 10 Kil.) Aamot (tolerable quarters at Tollef Aamo's; guides always at hand), the starting-point of several grand passes across the JOSTEDALSBRÆ (guides, Ole T. Aamot, Elling Aamot, Feder Navnæs; rope necessary). — (1) Road to Drivet (quarters at the guide's M. Hejsæt); then over the Oldenskar* (above 3450 ft.) to the Oldenvand (guide 5 kr.; p. 169), 6-7 hrs.: 2 to the foot of the Aamot Glacier, 2 over rough 'Ur' to the highest point, and a very steep and fatiguing descent of 2 hrs. more, with fine views, to Mælkevold and Rusteen (p. 169). A most interesting excursion, often taken by ladies, and not difficult in good weather. — (2) Across the Jostedalsbræ to the Austerdalsbræ, then down to Nordre Næs (10-12 hrs.), comp. p. 155.

The road to Egge turns to the left into the narrow Vaatedal, flanked with high mountains, and descends by the stream. On the right is the Hæghejmsfjeld, on the left the Svenskenipa (4770 ft.). The road crosses to the right bank, and the valley expands. On the right towers the conical Eggenibba (5250 ft., ascended from Egge, 6-7 hrs.; bridle-path to the Egge-Sæter, halfway).

14 Kil. Egge i Vaatedalen (558 ft.; Hot. Egge, R. 1½-2, B. or S. 1½, D. 2¼ kr.).

We next skirt the E. side of the Bergemsvand (469 ft.). On the left rises the Raadfjeld, on the right the Vora. Beyond the gaards of Bergheim or Bergem the road crosses an affluent of the Sanddalsvand on the right and divides. The right branch (rough) crosses a high hill, by Moldestad, to Utviken (p. 165); the good road to the left leads to — 12 Kil. Red or Re (Hot. Gordon, good), finely situated on the E. bank of the Bredhejmsvand*, Breimsvand, or Breumsvand (184 ft.; 8½ sq. M. in area; 896 ft. deep), a grand and sombre Alpine lake, about 16 Kil. long, enclosed by imposing mountains. On the left rises the Skjorta ('shirt'; 5780 ft.).

The *Road, hewn in the rock and partly buttressed by masonry on the N. bank of the Bredhejmsvand, rivals in grandeur the Axen- strasse in Switzerland. To the left rises the Rysdalshorn. Beyond Vasenden the stream issuing from the lake forms the Eidsfos. The road ascends a little, partly through wood, and then descends, affording a fine view, to — 14 Kil. Sandene, on the Gloppensfjord (p. 167), a station of the Nordfjord steamers and of a local boat (see below).

The rough road diverging to the right from the road between Berghheim and Red (see above) leads to (7 Kil. from Egge) Moldestad, whence a road to the right leads to Foshejm and Myklebostad.

To Foshejm 5, thence nearly 4 Kil., past the Sanddalsvand, to Myllebostad. From Foshejm a glacier-pass leads past the Store Cecilienkrona to Olden (p. 163). From Myklebostad we may ascend the Snenipa (6063 ft.).

The road to Utviken now crosses the high hill between the Bredhejmsvand and the Invikfjord; it first ascends and then descends so steeply that walking is almost imperative most of the way (from Moldstad to Utviken $3\frac{1}{2}$ -4 hrs.). The road ascends between the Skavlevægge on the right and the Fällefeld on the left. As we mount, a view to the right is gradually disclosed of the vast snow-expanses of the Gjetenyken (5823 ft.). At the top we reach a plateau of moor (2074 ft.), where the road undulates considerably. Numerous glacier boulders. To the S.W. we look back on the sharply defined Skarstenfeld (p. 167). On the N. margin of the plateau we sight the Invikfjord far below, commanded on the N. by the Laudalstinder, the Storhorn with its large glacier, and the Hornindalsrokken. The descent is steep at first and afterwards in gradual windings, which the walker may avoid by short-cuts. The Stor-Elv, which descends in many falls on the right, turns several mills near Utviken.

20 Kil. (from Egge; pay for 26) Utviken, a station of the Nordfjord steamer and of a local boat (see p. 167).

25. The Nordfjord.

STEAMERS (Com. 306a; a few only have sleeping-berths) from Bergen to Falejde 3-4 times a week in 20-36 hrs. (fare 15 kr.); thence to Visnes $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. more (15.40 kr.); to Loen, $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. beyond Visnes, and to Olden, $\frac{1}{2}$ -1 hr. more (15.80 kr.). In the height of summer a local steamer also plies almost daily (Com. 306b) from Sandene (Gloppen) to Utviken, Falejde, Stryn, Olden, and Loen.

The sea-voyage from Bergen is long. Whether starting from Bergen or from Sandene (pp. 165, 167), the traveller had better steam direct to Visnes, Loen, or Olden (p. 163), make excursions in the Loendal or the Oldendal, and continue his journey through the Strynsdal and Videdal (R. 26).

The Nordfjord*, running parallel with the Sognefjord, one degree of latitude farther N., but scarcely half the length, extends 80 Kil. inland to the N.W. slope of the Jostedalsbræ (p. 157). The different parts of the fjord have different names. The common designation, 'Nordfjord', originally meant a district, the N. part of the Nordre Bergenhus-Amt, but is now applied to the fjord itself.

Its finest scenery is in its inmost recesses, here unusually grand and picturesque. No finer combination exists of vast expanses of water with mighty mountains and glaciers. Nowhere are the peculiar charms of Norwegian scenery, vying with the Alpine, more admirably illustrated.

Steamer from Bergen to Moldø (13-15 hrs.), see pp. 159, 160. The steamer retraces its course and steers E. between Vemelsvik and Gangsa into the Nordfjord. The first station here is Rugsund (Inn), on the S. side, opposite the Rugsundø.

From the next station, Bryggen (Inn), on the N. bank, a road leads over the Maurstadeid (2080 ft.) to Aaeim on the Vanelvsfjord (20 Kil.; p. 160). We next call at Haug or Haus in the Daviksfjord, also on the N. bank; then at — Davik, in a pretty bay of the S. bank, once the residence of the poet Claus Frimann (d. 1829); and at Domsten or Dombesten. Splendid view, S., of the Aalfotbrø.

The fjord now forks into the Isfjord to the S.E. (see below) and the Eidsfjord to the E.; in the latter the steamer touches at Starheim, Nausdal or Nesdal, and (5½ hrs. from Moldø) —

Nordfjordeid, a large place with church, post-office, and bank. About 1 M. from the pier is Boalth's Enke's Hotel (good; often full of English salmon-fishers). Near it is a military camp and drilling-ground. — From Nordfjordeid a road ascends the valley to Nor or Nord (7 Kil.), on the Hornindalsvand (20 sq. M. in area), the geological continuation of the Eidsfjord, 184 ft. higher, while its depth is 1590 ft. below the sea-level. Its lofty banks are partly wooded. From Nor a steamer (Com. 500) plies 4 times a week in 2½-3½ hrs. to Grodaas and Kjøs (p. 176).

FROM NORDFJORDEID TO VOLDEN (p. 185; 46 Kil.). The road leads W. on the Eidsfjord to a bifurcation: the road to the left leads to Nausdal (see above), that to the right to (15 Kil.) the slow station of Smerdal. Fine view of the Gjegnabrø (see below) behind us. The road crosses the pass (1640 ft.) and descends rapidly to (11 Kil., pay for 13) the slow station of Søndre Birkedal, on the lake of that name, with picturesque rocky environs. Then, by Kile, to the (10 Kil.) slow station of Strømsbavn, on the Kilefjord, the S.W. bay of the Voldenfjord, and by boat on the fjord to (10 Kil.) Volden.

From Søndre Birkedal an interesting path ascends the Laurdal and crosses the fjeld to the Dalsfjord. On the way we may ascend the Felden (4800 ft.; grand mountain and glacier view), in which case the route takes 8-10 hrs. (with guide). From Indre Dale on the Dalsfjord, an arm of the Voldenfjord, to Volden by boat about 14 Kil.

Returning to the entrance of the Eidsfjord, we steer round the Havnnæs into the Isfjord, then round the Askevik into the Aalfotfjord, where we call at Aalfot. To the S. of the Isfjord we see the Øksendalsstreng, draining the Aalfotbrø and the Gjeynabrø, and descending in fine cascades from the gorges of the Vestre and Østre Øksendal (p. 167). We pass close to them on the way back from the Aalfotfjord. We next pass the massive Skjæring (4075 ft.), with the solitary gaard of Skjeistrand. The fjord here is called the Hundviksfjord. We cross the mouth of the Hyenfjord, which cuts deep into the S. bank, in view of the Gjegnabræ, to the station of Hestnæsøren (quarters at the post-office). One steamer goes to Hyen, at the S. end of the fjord.

In the Hyenfjord, opposite Hestnæsøren, opens the Skjærdal, through which we may ascend past the Hemestet to the Gjegnabræ. The Seartevands-tind and the Gjegnet (5653 ft.), two splendid points of view, may be ascended. Descent to the Øksendal, or S. to Hope, near the S. end of the Hyefjord (guide and rope necessary). The indication of these routes on the map has been given by Hr. K. Bing (p. 132), who has explored this region. — Glacier-excursions may also be taken to the Bukkenipa (5250 ft.) and the Storhest, W. of the Øksendal, and to the Marietind and Sagen, W. of the Alsfotbræ.

The steamer now rounds the Kvitenas into the attractive Gloppen-fjord, flanked on the W. with lofty, partly snow-clad mountains. On the W. bank are Ryg and the church of Gimmestad, on the E. the church of Gloppen. Then (3½-4 hrs. from Nordfjordeld) —

Sandene or Gloppen (Hot. Gloppen*, 5 min. from the pier, R. 1½-2, B. or S. 1½, D. 2½ kr.; Sivertsen's Hot., 5 min. farther, same charges; Engl. Ch. Serv. in Aug.), in a charming site at the S.W. end of the fjord, terminus of the road from Red on the Bredhejmsvand (carr. to Skej, etc., see p. 161). Trout-fishing and pretty walks near. Steamer to Bergen thrice weekly (fare 14.20 kr.), to Falejde, Loen, and Olden daily (4 kr.).

We return to the main fjord, here called Uttfjord. The hills are wooded and dotted with pleasant gaards. Fine view behind us, S.W., of the glacier-clad Gjegnet (see above). Stations: Rysfjæren, on the S., and Rand on the N. bank. On the latter, a little farther on, is a fine waterfall.

The fjord is now called the Invikfjord. Numerous gaards on the green slopes of the N. bank. To the E. we view the glaciers of the Store Cecilienkrona (p. 169) and Gryterejsnibben. In 2½-3½ hrs. from Sandene we reach — Utviken (Hot. Britannia, R. 1-1.20, B. or S. 1.20 kr., good), a pretty, scattered village with church. The road from Eqge (p. 164) ends here. Both the Bergen and the local steamers call at Utviken.

The fjord now turns sharp to the N. On the left rises the Sølvbjerg-fjeld. On the right, in a beautiful bay, is the pier of Indviken (no inn), with its church, at the mouth of the wild Præstedal, which is flanked N. by the Skarstenfjeld (5384 ft.), and S. by the Sterlaugpig (5554 ft.; both easy and interesting ascents). We next round the headland of Hildehalsen, where the fjord again turns E., to —

Falejde (Hot. Falejde, three houses; Engl. Ch. Serv. in July and Aug.). A road with beautiful views, from which the Grodaas road (p. 176) diverges to the left, skirts the fjord, crosses the Stryns-Elv at Toning, and leads to Visnæs (9 Kil.; skyds for one pers. 1.53, two pers. 2.35 kr.; caleschvogn for 2, 3, or 4 pers. 4, 5, or 5½ kr.).

The fjord is here superb. Facing us is the castellated Aarhejms-fjeld (2018 ft.); at its foot, at the mouth of the Strynsdal, lies —

Visnæs i Stryn (Hot. Central*, with view, R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ -2, D. $2\frac{1}{2}$; B. or S. $1\frac{1}{2}$, pens. 4-6 kr.; Visnæs Hot., very fair, both at the pier; Hot. Stryn, at Toning, see above; Hot. Wiig, at Vik, further W., 20 min. from the pier), starting-point for the Strynsdal and the Videdal (pp. 172, 173). Beautiful road along the fjord to Loen (10 Kil.; stolkjærre, in $1\frac{1}{4}$ hr., 1.70, 2.55 kr.).

In the distance, a little to the right of the Aarhejmsfjeld, are the Skaala (p. 170; 'bowl'), with its glacier-basin opening N. W., and the Sandenib (p. 170); nearer rises the Auflemsfjeld (see below), between the Loendal and the Oldendal. To the right, behind the Auflemsfjeld, appears later the Melhejmsnib (p. 170). To the S. we look into the Oldendal, with the Store Cecilienkrona (W.; p. 169) and the Ravnefjeldsbræ (E.). On the N. bank rises the Ophhejmsfjeld, a splendid point of view (ascent from gaard Rake, 2 hrs.).

Loen (Hot. Alexandra*, two large timber houses, 6 min. from the pier, Engl. spoken; R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ -2, B. or S. $1\frac{1}{2}$, D. $2\frac{1}{4}$, pens. $4\frac{1}{2}$ -6 kr.; Engl. Ch. Serv. in July and Aug.), with a small church, finely situated at the mouth of the Loendal (p. 170), which is here bounded by the Loffjeld (N.) and the Auflemsfjeld (S.; 5090 ft.), merits a prolonged stay. The new road to Olden is nearly completed (7 Kil.; by boat in $\frac{3}{4}$ hr.; there and back with two rowers, 5 kr.). Steamer from Loen to Olden $\frac{1}{2}$, from Visnæs $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. (1 kr.).

Olden, or Olderen (Yri's Hotel, $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. from the pier, R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ -2, B. or S. $1\frac{1}{2}$, D. $2\frac{1}{2}$ kr.; vehicles in waiting; Engl. Ch. Serv. in summer), lies at the S. end of the fjord, at the mouth of the beautiful Oldendal. To the right we see the snow-clad Store Cecilienkrona and the Bennæs-Klaaven, to the left the Synsnib and the Melhejmsnib (comp. p. 170).

Excursions to the Oldendal, Loendal, and Strynsdal.

The three valleys Oldendal, Loendal, and Strynsdal, S.E. and E. of the Invikfjord, ascend into the heart of the Norwegian Fjeld, and to the Jostedalbræ (p. 157). Each is occupied by a lake, 11-16 Kil. long, formed by ancient moraines or (in the case of the Løenvand) by a barrier of rock (Eyd), which separates it from the fjord. All, notably those in the Oldendal and Loendal, are enclosed by huge precipices rising to 4900 ft., over which tower peaks to a height of 1000-1500 ft. more. From these descend glaciers on every side. Abundant trout and salmon attract many anglers — GUIDES, unnecessary except for the glaciers: Rasmus R. Aabreckke of Olden, Thor Ejde of Ejde (p. 169), and Thor Antonsen Greidung of Opstryn (p. 172) are certificated by the Turist-Forening. Per J. Granfur, at Fosnæs or Greidung (p. 172), and Elias M. Hogrenning and R. Jacobsen of Flo (p. 172) are also commended.

*EXCURSION TO THE OLDENDAL (there and back, $8\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.).

Olden, see above. The road to Ejde (5 Kil.; stolkjærre 1.28 kr.) affords a pleasant walk, but we may have to drive to catch the steam-launch on the Løenvand. The road ascends by the milky stream, in view of the Store Cecilienkrona (p. 169), passes the Løkenfos with its saw-mill half-way, crosses the river, and then leads on the bank of the pretty Floenvand to (25 min.) the gaards of —

Ejde, at the N. end of the Oldenvand* (122 ft.; $3\frac{1}{4}$ sq. M. in area; 295 ft. deep), running S., 11 Kil. long and barely 1 Kil. broad. The steam-launch ($1\frac{1}{2}$, there and back $2\frac{1}{2}$ kr.) makes the passage in $\frac{3}{4}$ hr.; but if time permit, a rowing-boat (with one rower $\frac{1}{4}$, with two 6 kr.; $1\frac{1}{2}$ -2 hrs.) is preferable.

On the left, soon after starting, is gaard Sandnæs; on the right an ancient moraine with gaard Bennæs, and the Bennæs-Klauven above it. Waterfalls on every side. To the right rises the steep snow-clad Store Cecilienkrona (5627 ft.; ascent 7-8 hrs., fairly easy, guide 6 kr.). To the left, on the banks of torrents, lie gaards Haahjem, Strand, and Gjerde. To the S. the lake appears closed by the Synsnib ('noon-hill'), but nearing Sunde we see through an opening to the right the Grytereidsnib (5614 ft.) and the Yrinib with two glaciers. — The strait of Sunde*, through which a strong current flows, has been formed by the deposits of two streams descending on the left from the Sundebræ, between the Gjerdeakseln (6408 ft.) and Neslenibben (4862 ft.). On the right are the gaards of Sunde. On rounding the precipices of the Synsnib, we obtain a magnificent *View of the S. half of the lake, now broader, with the Mælkevoldsbræ, which seems to descend to the head of the lake, though 5 M. distant from it. To the right, scarcely less imposing, towers the Yrinib, with its waterfalls, and at its base gaards Bak-Yri and Indre-Yri. At the end of the lake is the Rustefjeld, with its conspicuous waterfall. On the left is the abrupt Kvam-fjeld, with several cascades.

We land at Rustøen (quarters at the guide's, Jakob Jenssen Myklebostad). As the launch starts 4 hrs. later for the return-trip, we drive to the Brigsdalsgaard (about 5 Kil.; vehicles in waiting; 2-3 kr.). The road leads across swampy alluvial lands, passing (10 min.) the gaards of Kvamme, to ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Mælkevold. To the left, above, is the Aabrekkebræ, between two rocky heights, taking its name from the gaards visible beyond Mælkevold. Also to the left is the Brigsdalsbræ. At the head of the valley is the Mælkevoldsbræ, imbedded between the Kattenak and the Middagsnib. To the right of the glacier are the twin falls of the Vaalefos.

FROM MÆLKEVOLD TO AAMOT, a splendid fjeld-pass of 7-8 hrs., see p. 181. Rasmus R. Aabække is recommended as a guide.

The road ascends over 'Ur' and, 25 min. from Mælkevold, crosses the river at a sharp angle, at the union of the streams descending from the Vaalefos and from the Brigsdal on the left. In 10 min. more the road ends at —

Brigsdals-Gaard (493 ft.), where dinner may be ordered for the return (2, bed $1\frac{1}{2}$ kr.).

A somewhat stony path on the right bank of the Brigsdals-Elv ascends to the ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Waterfall of that stream, and to a higher level of the valley, where we obtain, E., a most striking view of the Brigsdalsbræ*, the blue ice of which towers above birch and alder thickets. We pass through the wood, and lastly over fatiguing moraine, to (20 min.) the foot of the glacier (1000 ft.), with its superb ice-cavern, from which the stream issues. High up to the right is seen the Kjstabræ, from which waterfalls and occasionally blocks of ice descend.

The Brigdalsbræ, a very steep offshoot of the Jostedalsbræ, was ascended for the first time in 1895 by K. Bing (p. 167), with the guide Rasmus Rasmussen Aabrekke to the top, 9 hrs.).

*EXCURSION TO THE LÖENDAL (7 hrs., there and back).

Loen, see p. 168. The road to the Loenvand (stolkjærre 75 ø., there and back $1\frac{1}{2}$ kr.; a pleasant walk, but comp. p. 168) ascends on the right bank of the torrent. We follow the main road, which trends to the right. Park-like landscape, with trees, shrubs, and green meadows. Above it tower great mountains. We cross the stream issuing from the Tjugedal on the left. The Loendals-Elv forms the Haugfos, of horseshoe-shape.

The ascent of the Skaala (6353 ft.; from the Tjugedal near Loen, and back, 8-9 hrs., not difficult for good walkers; guide for one pers. 5, for each pers. more 50 ø.) is attractive. Refuge-hut on the top (adm $\frac{1}{2}$, bed 1 kr.) A vast snow-field covers the W. slope. — A path ascends E. from the Tjugedal to the Tjugedals-Sæter; thence a stiff climb, without path, at last over unpleasant 'Ur' to the top of the pass. On the other side we descend, at first over snow, and then by a sæter-path to the church of Opstryn (p. 172; 5-6 hrs. in all).

From Loen it is a drive of 25 min. or a walk of $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. to — Vasenden, at the lower end of the Löenvand* (289 ft.; 437 ft. deep), a grand Alpine lake of pale-green colour, 14 Kil. long. The small steamer 'Bødal' plies twice daily to Bødal in 40 min. (return-fare $2\frac{1}{2}$ kr.); a rowing-boat takes about double the time (there and back, with two rowers, $5\frac{1}{2}$ kr.).

Soon after starting we survey the whole lake. On the left, above gaard Sande, rises the Sandenib (5426 ft.), on the right are the Auflemsfjeld and Melhejmsnib (5429 ft.). From all the mountains, especially the Ravnefjeld (see below) on the right, descend large glaciers, ending, however, far above the lake. At the Brengsnæs-Sæter, on the left, a high waterfall descends from the Skaalebræ (see below). On the W. side of the lake is the Helle-sæterbræ, ending abruptly at a height of about 3900 ft., whence numerous streams and, in hot weather, ice-avalanches fall, spreading out in fan-shape below. On the E. bank are gaard Hogrending and a waterfall from the Osterdalsbræ. The W. bank is uninhabited. On the E. rises the Kværnhusfjeld (5700 ft.), with gaard Rødi at its foot. To the W. is the steep, serrated Ravnefjeld (6575 ft.), where a terrible landslide occurred on 15th Jan. 1905. The falling rocks produced a great wave in the lake, which swept away several gaards on the E. bank, causing a loss of 61 lives. Farther on, to the E., opens the Bødal, backed by the Skaalfjeld with the Skaalebræ. A memorial-stone on a low rock by the lake recalls the landslide.

In the BØDAL, where the steamer stops if desired (or reached by rowing-boat, 4 kr.), a new track ascends, first on the left and then ($\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) on the right bank, looking back on the Ravnefjeld and the Loenvand. On the right, 1 hr. from the bridge, is the Hesleimfos. The track, becoming rather stony, ends at the ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Bødals-Sæter (1989 ft.; bed 1, B. or S. $\frac{3}{4}$, D 2 kr., fair). Grand environs. On all sides protrude glacier-tongues into the valley. We cross a bridge S. of the sæter and ascend by a path, rough in parts, to ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) the foot of the Bødalsbræ*, the glacier which descends furthest — The ascent of the Loalslaupa* (6794 ft.; p. 159) from the Bødals-Sæter takes 7-9 hrs (two guides, 25-30 kr.); the pass to Faaberg in the Jostedal (p. 168) takes 15 hrs (two guides).

The lake contracts to a strait. High up to the right, on the S. slope of the Ravnefjeld, we see traces of the great rock-slide (see above). In front towers the Nonsnib, rising almost sheer 6000 ft. At its foot opens the Kvandal or Næsdal, with its glacier and the adjacent Utigardsfos, about 2000 ft. high, descending in steps from the glaciers of the Ravnefjeld. Passing through a bend of the lake, we enter the impressive Basin* of Næsdal, bounded on the W. by the Ravnefjeld, S. by the Nonsnib, and E. by the Bødalsfjeld. Between the last two peep the Kronebræ and the Kjendalskrone (5998 ft.). In the midst of this grand scene, at the mouth of the Kvandals-Elv, lie the turf-roofed gaards of Næsdal.

At the Kjendal pier is a good restaurant connected with the Alexandra Hotel (p. 168), where dinner (2 $\frac{1}{4}$ kr.) may be ordered for the return. A road leads hence over a sandy plain, and then up the E. side of the valley, protected against the river by stone dykes. After $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. suddenly appears the Kjendalsbræ* in all its grandeur, on which waterfalls descend from the right. After 20 min. more the road ends. A stony path, passing a rfrmt. hut, and then mounting the débris of the moraine, and crossing branches of the glacier-stream, leads in $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. more to the glacier. (Dangerous to mount it, or even to go near it, owing to falling stones.)

From NÆSDAL (see above) across the Jostedalstræ to the Jostedal, a grand expedition of about 15 hrs. (comp. p. 169).

The STRYNSDAL* is usually visited on the way to or from Grotlid (comp. p. 174), but may be combined with a drive to beyond Skaare (p. 179): a fine day's excursion from Visnæs or Loen (10-11 hrs.).

Visnæs, see p. 168. The road (skyds, 1 pers. 1.87, 2 pers. 2.81; caleschvogn for 1, 2, or 3 pers. 5, 6, or 7 kr.) crosses the Stryns-Elv. On the right bank the road to Falejde and Hellesylt goes to the left (p. 167); we follow the Stryn road to the right. It ascends E., past Ytre Ejde (waterfall), the church of Nedstryn (right), and the gaards of Gjerveen and Øvre Ejde. On the left rises the Kirkenibbe (4072 ft.; ascent from Visnæs 8 hrs.; guide 4 kr.), from which several waterfalls descend. On the opposite bank is the house of an English fishing-tenant. Farther on we skirt the Nedre Floden, the lower bay of the Strynsvand. On the left of the road is a large glacier 'cauldron'. Ahead of us is the massive Flofjeld, with the Rindals-horn (p. 172); to the right is the Brækkefjeld, with a large snow-field. In $1\frac{1}{4}$ hr. from Visnæs we cross by a long bridge to — 11 Kil. Mindre Sunde (Hot. Mindre Sunde, R. $1\frac{1}{2}$, D. 2, B. or S. $1\frac{1}{2}$ kr.), finely situated, where vehicles may always be had for driving back to Visnæs.

The Strynsvand* or Opstrynsvand (69 ft.; 9 sq. M.; 650 ft. deep) is the largest of the three lakes to the E. of the Nordfjord. A motor-boat plies on it five times daily to Hjelle (13 Kil., in $1-1\frac{1}{2}$ hr., $1\frac{1}{2}$ return-fare $2\frac{1}{2}$ kr.; Com. 499a, b). The W. part of the lake is narrow. On the left descends the Store Sundfos; to the right is gaard Dispen, below the glacier of that name. In front the scene is bounded by the Flofjeld, behind by the pointed Kirkenibbe. On the bank to the right are gaards Meland and Bergstad. To the left rises the slope of the Skeibergsfjeld, beyond which opens the Vesle Bygdal, with its gaards. By two islets, between which we steer, beyond gaard Lindvik (on the left), the lake expands and bends S.E., revealing its full grandeur. At its head is the Erdal, with its background of glaciers. To the right is the Fosnæsbræ, descending from the Skaala (p. 170). To the left is the Marsaafos; then, the Flofjeld (4403 ft.), with the Rindalshorn (5952 ft.) behind it, and the gaards of Flo in front (722 ft.; good quarters; guide for the pass over the Flofjeld to Hellesylt, 2-3 kr., p. 177). Next, to the right, is the 'nose' of Tunoldshaugen, with gaards Brakke and Aaning high above. Farther on, to the right, are the church of Opstryn and the gaards of Fosnæs. (Thence to Loen, with guide, 4-5 hrs.; p. 170.) On the left is the Glomsdal, with gaards Glomsnæs and Sigdestad; below is a fine waterfall. The huge Hjellehydna separates the Videdal from the grand Erdal (see below), in which, as we near Hjelle, appears the Tindeffjeldsbræ on the right, overlooked by Yngvar Nielsen's Tind (see below). At the mouth of the Videdal, near the head of the lake, lies Hjelle, where we land.

Hjelle, or Jelle (Hot. Hjelle, R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ -2, B. or S. $1\frac{1}{2}$, D. $2\frac{1}{4}$ kr., very fair), is the starting-point of the routes to the Geiranger (R. 26) and to the Gudbrandsdal (see pp. 173 and 88-85).

The wild Sundal deserves a visit. The path to it diverges to the right about 2 Kil. from Hjelle. It ascends on the left bank to (2 hrs.) gaard Sundalen (8 Kil.), soon crosses the brook, and reaches ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) the Sundals-Sæter (rustic quarters; bring provisions; route to the Raundal and the Framrust-Sæter, see p. 87). — A toilsome pass crosses the Sognskarbræ hence to ($5\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.) the Jostedalbræ, and in 2 hrs. more descends the Ausdalbræ to the Stygveand and the Ausdalsvand, which we skirt for 2 hrs.; then $2\frac{1}{2}$ hrs. more to the Hysæter in the Stordal (poor quarters), in all 12-15 hrs. from the Sundals-Sæter. To Faaberg in the Jostedal (p. 158), about $2\frac{1}{2}$ hrs. more.

From Hjelle we may row in $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. to gaard Erdal, at the S. end of the Strynsvand, and walk in $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. to gaard Gredung (poor quarters; guides see p. 163), the starting-point for the Erdal or Aardal, into which glacier-tongues from the Jostedalbræ descend on all sides. Before us to the right, is the Tindeffjeldsbræ, with Yngvar Nielsen's Tind (5575 ft.; ascended by K. Bing in 1898); to the left are the Kyghydna (5325 ft.) and the Sæterfjeld (6205 ft.). From Gredung we ascend, in view of the Rindalsbræ or Gredungsbræ, coming down between the Strynskaupe (1) and the Skaalfjeld (r), to (2-2 $\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.) the softly-situated Gredungs-Sæter, at the foot of the fissured glacier (2346 ft.). — Over the Jostedalbræ to Faaberg in the Jostedal, comp. p. 159.

26. From the Nordfjord to Aalesund and Molde.

a. From the Strynsvand via Grotlid to Marok.

38 Kil. (pay for 121). ROAD, the grandest route between the Nordfjord and Søndmøre. Two days, a night being spent at the Videsäter or at Grotlid. The road is drivable from mid-June to mid-September only. Vehicles are usually engaged for the whole journey from Hjelle to Marok. Stolkjærrer for 1 pers. 20 57, for 2 pers. 30 85; caleschvogn for 2, 3, or 4 pers. 54 45, 60 50, 72 50 kr. (comp. p. 174). — The best bits for walking (not before mid-July) are from Skaare to Vasvendingen (p. 174; $4\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.) and from the Djupvashytte to Marok (pp. 175, 176; $3\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.).

From Hjelle (p. 172) the road, opened in 1896, ascends by an ancient moraine, which the Videdals-Elv has broken through. Fine *View behind us of the snow-mountains S.W. of the Strynsvand, notably the finely shaped Skaala (p. 170), the Tindefjeld, the Fornæsbræ, and the Brekkefjeld. To the right opens the Sundal (p. 172), with the snow-fields and glaciers of the Sæterfjeld. We cross the Sundals-Elv and pass the gaards of Folven. The loops of the road on the Aaspelifjeld are seen in the distance, and the Videsäter high above. We then cross the river and, after a drive of $3\frac{1}{4}$ hr. from Hjelle, reach — 7 Kil. Skaare (D. 2 kr.; the host Rasmus Skaare and Olav Skaare are good guides). As the road to the Videsäter (2 hrs.' drive) is very steep most of the way, we may take skyds for baggage only ('enkelt') and ascend on foot.

FROM SKAARE TO THE DJUPVASHYTTE, grand, but toilsome, $5\frac{1}{2}$ -6 hrs. (guide 6 kr., not indispensable). From the Jølbro (see below) we ascend the Skæringsdal to the left, to the ($1\frac{3}{4}$ hr.) Skæringsdal-Sæter; then to the right, up the Grasdøl, steep at places, to the Grasdalsvand, and lastly a stiff climb to ($3\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.) the snow-clad Grasdalsekor, between the Grasdalsegg and the Skæringsdalsbræ, where a superb view of the Djupvasvand and the Geirangerfjord Mts. is revealed. We then descend to the ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Djupvashytte (p. 175).

About 2 Kil. beyond Skaare, to the right, we obtain a view of the deep ravine of the Videdals-Elv. The road reaches the mouth of the Skæringsdal, crosses it by the Jølbro* (295 ft. above the river), and winds up the Aaspelifjeld between the two ravines. To the right is a high waterfall, descending from the snow-fields of the Nuken. The road crosses the Videdals-Elv and follows its left bank. Behind us is a splendid *View of the Videdal, flanked with grand mountains jutting one before the other. In the background rises the Skaala. Walkers who cut off the curves of the road take $1\frac{1}{2}$ - $1\frac{3}{4}$ hr. from the Jølbro to the Videsäter.

8 Kil. (pay for 9) Vide-Sæter (Inn), good, kept by the guide R. Skaare, R., B., S., each $1\frac{1}{2}$, D. $2\frac{1}{4}$ kr.) lies at the top of this section of the valley. Behind the inn a path to the left leads to a raised platform above the Østebrosfos.

The road gradually ascends the second section of the valley, crosses the foaming stream, and in $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. begins to mount in windings to the third region of the valley. Waterfalls right and left.

To the right, above, on the steep slope of the Raudegg, is the long Tystigbræ. Looking back, we have another superb view of the head of the Strynsvand, with the Skaala and Brækkefjeld behind. Further up we twice cross the stream, which here forms pretty waterfalls, and pass several tarns.

By the Lungevand, which is not free from ice till August, is the boundary between Nordre-Bergenhus-Amt and Christians-Amt. To the right is the E. part of the Tystigbræ. Passing several small lakes, the hilly road leads through the long Vatsvenddal to (2¼ hrs.' drive from the Videsäter) Vasvendingen (3737 ft.; 1500 m.), the highest point of the road. To the right are the snow-fringes of the Skridulaupbræ. Behind we have a last view of the Skaala.

Grotlid is still about 12 Kil. distant, a drive of 2¼ hrs. To the right, between the Randegg and the Skridulaup, opens the Maaraadalen, with its snow-fields and glaciers. Beyond the Heilstuguvand, turbid and milky from the glacier-water of the Maara, we descend to — 28 Kil. (pay for 43) Grotlid, Grotlid, or Grjottlien ('stony slope'; 2888 ft.; Hotel, new and good, R. 1½-2, B. or S. 1½, D. 2-2¼ kr.; quarters also, if need be, at the old inn, 2 Kil. E., same owner; see also p. 87), in a bleak fjeld-solitude, at the junction of the roads from Stryn, from the Geiranger, and from the Gudbrandsdal (R. 10). Opposite the hotel lives a Lapp family, who tend the reindeer on the mountains around.

SKYD'S TARIFF to the Djupvashytte (3-3½ hrs.), 1 pers. 6.12, 2 pers. 9.18; to Marok 10.54, 15.81; to the Videsäter (3-3½ hrs.), 7.31, 10.97, to Hyelle (5-5½ hrs.) 10.03, 15.6; to Polyfoss (2½ hrs.; p. 87), 4.59, 6.99 kr.

FROM GROTLID TO THE TAFJORD, about 11 hrs. (guide to Kaldhus-Sæter necessary, 4-5, horse 7 kr.). We leave the Marok road before the bridge over the Hamsa (see below; the path on the right bank soon ceases), and ascend that stream to the Viavande, a series of lakes W. of the Heilstugegg and the Langegg. Then past the Fågerbottenend and down to the Kaldhus or Kalur-Sæter, on the lake of that name (1970 ft.; good tourist-hut). Lastly a good path down the valley and past the Onilsvand to Tafjord (p. 183) about 12 Kil.

THE ROAD FROM GROTLID TO MAROK skirts the N. bank of the Breidalsvand (2888 ft.; 8 Kil. long), bounded on the N. by the Breidalsegg and S. by the Vatsvendegg or Langvasakseln, and crosses several of its tributaries. Among these is the Hamsa, about 5 Kil. from Grotlid, whose mouth we pass round. We next pass the small Lægervand and the Langvand, with the precipices of the Stavbrækker rising on the left and the Djupvåsegg (5383 ft.) on the right. About 19 Kil. from Grotlid a stone marks the boundary between Christians-Amt and Romsdals-Amt.

To the left appears the snowy Skaringsdalsbræ, S.W. of the Djupvand (3295 ft.), which we now reach. The water of this blue lake, often ice-clad even in summer, descends E. to the Otta and the Laagen. The valley still rises a little towards the right. From the top the Kolbeinsdal descends N., traversed by a marked path to the Viavande, Kaldhus-Sæter, and the Tafjord (comp. above).

The road rounds the Djupvand, on the S. side of which we perceive the huge rocks of the Grasdalsegg (5151 ft.) and the Skæringsdalsbræ. A 'bautasten' marks the highest point of the road (3405 ft.). — At the W. end of the lake, 5 Kil. from the frontier-stone, 2½ hrs'. drive from Grotlid, is the — 24 Kil. (pay for 36) Djupvashytte (Inn, two houses, R., B., S., each 1½, D. 2¼ kr., very fair).

From the Djupvashytte over the Grasdalskar and through the Skrængsdal to Skaare, see p. 174 (5-6 hrs.; guide 6 kr.).

A little farther on we reach the watershed between the Skager-Rack (towards which the Otta flows) and the Atlantic. The road skirts the Rundhorn (4902 ft.). About 35 min. beyond the Djupvashytte a finger-post on the left points to the short ascent to the Jattegryde, a glacier 'cauldron', 7 ft. in diameter and 10-14 ft. deep.

The *grandest part of the route begins here. The traveller should walk (3½ hrs., or a drive of 1¾-2 hrs. to Marok). The road descends rapidly in zigzags. The distance to Marok is 17 Kil., though in a straight line scarcely 6 Kil., and the difference in height between the watershed and the fjord is 3405 ft. The road is one of the grandest of its kind, and is not surpassed even in the Alps. Nowhere in Norway is the contrast between icy field and genial fjord so striking.

A superb mountain-scene presents itself, just beyond the 'cauldron', after we have crossed the Øvre Blaafield-Bro: left, the Flydalshorn; right, the Vindaashorn, and beyond it the Saathorn (5833 ft.), then the Grindalsnibba (5033 ft.); in the distance are the hills enclosing the Geiranger Fjord; far below lies the smiling Oplandskedal, which, in contrast to the vast fjeld, looks like a small park, with its meandering stream and winding road. In ¼ hr. we cross the Nedre Blaafield-Bro. Walkers had better keep to the road; the only advisable short-cuts are the path 10 min. beyond the Nedre Blaafield-Bro, and beyond the stone '800 m. over Havet'. To the right is the Kvandals-Elv, descending in falls from the Djupe-dal. After 40 min. we cross it by the Kvandals-Bro. Four bold curves carry us down to the upper Geiranger basin, the Oplandskedal, with the Oplandsgaard and the Ørje-Sæter (about 1420 ft.; to the right, ½ hr. from the Kvandals-Bro).

We again descend rapidly to the next region of the valley, the Flydal, with a view, to the left, of the Flydalshorn and Blaahorn. Between these, high above gaard Flydal, appears a great snow-mantle, sending forth waterfalls. Some 6-8 min. beyond the Ørje-Sæter, 6 Kil. from Marok, the road forms a 'Knude' or knot (1335 ft.; rfmts.), passing under a viaduct which it has just crossed. To the left, 10 min. farther, is the fine Tverabøfos, fully seen only from the rocks below the road. A finger-post, 10 min. farther, indicates the way to the Flydalsdjuv* (985 ft.), an abyss of several hundred feet, while in front of us lies the picturesque lower valley, with the Union Hotel, and the church of Marok. The road soon passes the good Hotel Udsigten (919 ft.; p. 178); the view here is similar to that from the Flydalsdjuv. A tall 'bautasten' recalls the adoption of the Norwegian constitution in 1814 (p. lvii) and the foundation of the new kingdom in 1905.

As we descend we are struck with the profusion of waterfalls on every side. The largest streams descend on the right from the Vesteråsadal, and unite, 5 min. from the Hotel Udsigten, below gaard Hole, where we cross the Hole-Bro. A finger-post to the right, 2 min farther, points the way to the Storsaterfos (p. 179). We cross the Flaabro and the Kopebro. Before we cross the Gjerdebro, by the stone '100 m. over Havet', a path to the right leads to the Kleivafos, a fine fall of the Vesteraas-Elv.

In 5 min. more we reach the Union Hotel (p. 178). The road crosses the Vingebro and passes the copious Storfos, beyond which the river carries the united waters of the valley to the fjord. It then rounds the hill on which the church of Geiranger stands, passes the Geiranger Hotel, and ends at the steamboat-pier of — 17 Kil. (pay for 26) Marok (see p. 178).

b. From Falejde or Visnæs by Grodaas to Hellesylt and Marok.

ROAD to Hellesylt, a drive of 8-9 hrs., usually without change of horses, with a rest of 1½ hr. at Grodaas. Fares from Visnæs to Hellesylt: Stolkjerre for 1 pers. 9.86, for 2 pers. 14.79 kr.; caleschvogn for 2, 3, or 4 pers. 26.10, 29, 34.80 kr. (from Falejde 25, 27½, 33 kr.) — MOTOR BOAT (Com. 320) and STEAMER (Com. 327, 328) daily from Hellesylt to Marok (Geiranger) in 1½ hr. (fare 2 kr.).

At gaard Scarstad, about 2 Kil. from Falejde (p. 167) and 7 Kil. from Visnæs (p. 168), the road ascends N.W. in steep windings, affording fine views, through openings in the wood, of the fjord and the mountains behind us. The highest point of the road is about 800 ft. above the sea. Then over hilly ground, through monotonous wood, skirting the Langesatervand and some smaller lakes, and past several gaards, we descend to — 12 Kil (pay for 17 from Falejde, 23 from Visnæs) Kjes, on the Kjesbunden, the S.E. bay of the Hornindalsvand. We may row from Kjes to Grodaas, but driving is quicker. The hilly road skirts the lake and rounds the Kjesnebb.

6 Kil. (pay for 8) Grodaas or Sanden (Rafteveld's Hot., R., R., or S. 1½, D. 2 kr., very fair, English spoken) has a charming site at the E. end of the Hornindalsvand, a lake abounding in fish and enclosed by wooded hills. Steamboat in summer (p. 166). A little to the N. is the church of Hornindal; N.W. rises the Hornsnakk.

ASCENTS from Grodaas of the Hornsnakk, Kjesnebb, and other heights, 2½-3 hrs. each, also of the Gulekop (p. 177) and the Glitteregg (4175 ft; 5-hrs.), which rises from the lake to the S.

From Grodaas a bridle-path leads by Tommasgaard and Lødemel (Rasmus A. Lødemel, a good guide here, speaks English) to the pass of Kviven (2795 ft.) and past the Kvædals-Sætre, where it joins a path from Oterdal on the Hornindalsvand, to (5 hrs.) Kaldvatn, on the road from Bjerke to Færde on the Østefjord (p. 181).

Finer but longer is the pass of the Hjorteskar to Rørstad (7-8 hrs.). This route leads up the Hjortdal (see below) to the Hjortdals-Sæter, through the Blaabradal, and along the glacier to the pass between the Lavedals-linder and the snow-clad Storhorn (5181 ft.), it then descends the Lavedal, past the Lavedals-Sætre, to Rørstad, on the Kaldvatn and Bjerke road (p. 181).

The road ascending the Hornindal is so steep, that walking is as fast as driving. It passes thriving gaards, the Denefos, and the entrance to the Hjortdal. The valley expands farther up, and is flanked with snow-mountains. On the right rises the huge Gulekop; in front of it, the Seeljesæterhorn (2207 ft.), by which opens the Knuddal; then, the Mulsvorhorn (2704 ft.), to the left, the Brækegg (4321 ft.) and Lilledalsegg.

9 Kil. (pay for 11, but not in opp. direction) Indre Haugen or Hougen, a poor station. Hans A. Räftevold is a good guide.

Farther on, up a side-valley to the left, we see the almost inaccessible-looking Hornindalsknikken (5047 ft.; ascent from Haugen 10 hrs., driving practicable for 2 hrs., extensive view). We then cross the boundary of Nordre Bergenhus-Amt and Romsdals-Amt.

6 Kil. Kjelstadli (1391 ft.).—Grand scenery again. To the left opens the glacier-valley of Kjelstad; and to the right the Rørhusdal, with the pointed Rørhusnibbu. We descend to Tronstad (1161 ft.), a little N. of which, by Tryggestad, the Nebbedal (p. 179) opens on the left. Fine view of the Fibelstadnib.

The road descends on the left bank of the Sundals-Elv; the valley soon contracts to a deep ravine, descending to the Sunølv-Fjord. To the left opens the Mulskreddal. From the great moraine we have a splendid view of the fjord and the mountains. We cross the stream, which enters the lake in a waterfall, and pass the church of Sunelven.

13 Kil. (pay in opp. direction for 17) Hellesylt (Grand Hotel, R. 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ -2, B. or S. 1 $\frac{1}{2}$, D. 2 $\frac{1}{2}$, pens. 4-5 $\frac{1}{2}$ kr.; Engl. Ch. Serv. in July & Aug.), grandly situated at the head of the Sunelvsfjord, on which the Aalesund steamers and a motor-boat ply daily (p. 176). Vehicles await the arrival of the steamers.

FROM HELLESYLT TO THE STRYNSVAND. We drive up the valley to the S.E., passing the fine waterfalls Denefos and Freisefos, to Bjardal and (12 Kil.) Vold-Sæter (quarters). For the passage of the Flofjeld (4 hrs.) we require a guide, who rows us over the Nestevand and the Stegolsvand. We next pass the Aangelsvand and descend by the Øvre Flo-Sæter (quarters if need be) and Nedre Flo-Sæter to Flo on the Strynsvand (p. 172).

Fine view of Hellesylt and the falls of the Sundals-Elv (see above) as we leave the pier. On the E. bank towers the Nokkeneb (4373 ft.); on the W. we see gaard Ljøen, whence a road winds up the Ljøenbakker (about 1970 ft.) and crosses the fjeld to Slyngstad (p. 183).

Opposite opens the Geiranger Fjord, into which we steer, notable for its bold cliffs and numerous waterfalls. On the right, the Nokkeneb; on the slope to the left, gaard Madvik. Then, to the right, gaards Syltevik and (above it) Blomberg, the Liadalsnibba (4886 ft.), and the Gjerkelandsegg (4941 ft.); and on the left, the Grauthorn (4426 ft.). The fjord now contracts. On the N. are the Knivsflaafosse or Syv Søstre ('seven sisters', but four only visible from below), falling from a perpendicular cliff. High up near them is gaard Knivsflaa. Above them rises the Gjeitfjeldtind (5145 ft.); farther on is the Gjeitfondsegg (4800 ft.). From a gorge on the S. bank emerges the fine Skaggeflaafos or Gjeitfos, near which is gaard Skaggeflaa (1640 ft.). Many smaller waterfalls pour from the cliffs, but partly dry up in August. Some of them descend in spray, betraying their existence only by the white foam on the fjord; others leap sheer from jutting cliffs in veil-like form. When the cliffs are shrouded in fog, the waterfalls seem to come direct from the clouds. The rocks to the right have fantastic outlines; above them rises the Prækestol (pulpit). Opposite, to the left, is the Gausdalsfos. Also to the left is gaard Grande, overtopped by the Laushorn (4911 ft.). Nearing Marok, we obtain a superb view of the basin of Geiranger, dominated on the left by the Saathorn (5887 ft.). High up on the right are the snow-fields of the Flydalshorn. At the head of the fjord, about 20 Kil. from Hellesylt, lies —

Marok. — *UNION HOR., on the hill above the church and the foaming Storfos, $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. from the pier, carr. in waiting (short-cut, passing to the left of the church); HOR. GEIRANGER, 5 min. from the pier, with view of the fjord, plain, but also good; these two belong to the same owner and have similar charges (R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ -3, B. or S. $1\frac{1}{2}$, D. $2\frac{1}{2}$ kr.). — MERØK'S INN, close to the pier, plain, R., B., or S. 1 kr. — HOR. UDSIGTEN (Bellevue), on the Grotlid road (p. 176), $2\frac{1}{2}$ M. from the fjord, seen, as we land, high over the church-spire; R. $1\frac{1}{2}$, B. $1\frac{1}{4}$, D. 2, S. $1\frac{1}{2}$, pens. 5 kr., good. — Engl. Ch. Scriv. in July and August.

VEHICLES await the steamer: to the Flydalsfuv and back (2 hrs.), stolkjærre for 1 pers. 2, 2 pers. 3 kr.; caleschvogn, 2-3 pers. 5, 4 pers. 6 kr.; to the Djupeashytte (17 Kil.), stolkjærre for 1 pers. 4.42, 2 pers. 6.68 kr. (there and back double fare); caleschvogn there and back, 2 pers. $23\frac{1}{2}$, 3 pers. 26, 4 pers. 31 $\frac{1}{2}$ kr.; caleschvogn to Hjelle i Stryn (p. 172) in two days, 54.45, 60.50, 72.60 kr. (in one day, without change of horses, forbidden).

Marok, Merok, or Mæraak, is a hamlet nestling round the head of the fjord on an old moraine, overlooked by its church. Above it opens the basin of Geiranger, which the road to Grotlid ascends, rich in waterfalls (pp. 176-174).

Travellers from Marok to Stryn miss the striking view they have in the reverse direction (p. 174), but see the waterfalls of the Geiranger basin to better advantage, while in descending the Videdal farther on they enjoy the splendid panorama of the snow-mountains on the Strynsvand. As far as the Djupeashytte (p. 176) driving takes as long as walking (4 hrs.).

Visitors to Marok arriving and intending to depart by steamer should at least take an *EXCURSION TO THE FLYDALSDJUV (p. 175), a walk of $2\frac{1}{2}$ hrs., there and back. The road should be kept both ways. Below the Union Hotel is the Storfos, in which all the tributaries of the river unite. Above the second bridge of the road ('Gjerde-Bro'), on this side of the stone 100 m. over Havel, a rough path diverges left to the Kleivafos, a fall of the Vesterås-Elv. By the third bridge ('Kope-Bro') are other falls. Beyond the fourth bridge ('Flaa-Bro'), 10 min. beyond the stone

'200 m. over Havel', a guide-post points left to the Storsæterfos (steep ascent of $\frac{3}{4}$ hr.). — The road ascends, crossing the 'Hole-Bro' at the Holefos, to Hotel Udsigten, commanding a splendid survey of the Geiranger valley. A little farther on, beyond the stone '300 m. over Havel', a finger-post indicates the way to the right to the Flydalsdjuv (p. 175).

The 'VESTERAASDAL, the N. approach to the Geiranger basin, between the Laushorn and the Grindalshorn, also deserves a visit. We follow the above-mentioned path, past the Storsæterfos, to (1½-2 hrs. from Marok) the Stor-Sæter (2152 ft.) Splendid view. — We may then ascend the valley to the Vesteraas-Sæter and mount the Kaldhusbakker to the S. end of a small lake, from which we visit the Vesteraasbrø to the left. Then either to the E., down the Steldal to the Kaldhus-Sæter, or N. down the Herdal to the Herdalsvand (1618 ft.) and Relling i Norddal (p. 182).

Another fine excursion is to Skaggeflaa (p. 173; 5 hrs.). We row in 1 hr. to the Skaggeflaamøstet, whence the path ascends. Splendid view at the top.

FROM MAROK TO THE NORDDALSFJORD, 5-6 hrs., across the Eidsdalsfjeld, an easy pass. From gaard Grande (p. 178), to which a track leads on the N. bank of the fjord in 35 min., a steep middle-path ascends past several gaards on the right bank of the brook. Fine view of the Geiranger Fjord all the way. After 1¼ hr. we see a pretty waterfall below us, on the left; in ¼ hr. more we reach the top of the ascent and turn to the left. Then a gradual descent to (1¼ hr.) gaard Indre Etde on the Eidsvand (good fishing), where a road begins. At the N. end of the lake (½ hr) the road forks. The track to the right, at first level, then descends abruptly in 2 hrs. (but better follow the easy road to the left in 2 hrs.) to Tredal on the Norddalsfjord (p. 182), whence we row to Sylte in 1½ hr. (1.92 kr.).

c. From Hellesylt through the Norangsdal and by the Jørundfjord to Aalesund.

ROAD from Hellesylt to (25 Kil) Øie: stolkjærre for 1 pers. 4.25, for 2 pers. 6.38 kr.; caleschvogn for 2, 3, or 4 pers. 14, 17, or 20½ kr. — STEAMER from Øie to Aalesund (Com. 328) 6 times a week in 3-4 hrs. (8.30 kr.; for Scholt change at Hundeidvåg, p. 182) — From Sæbø by Ørstenvik to Aalesund, 1-1½ day; see pp. 181, 182.

This route through the district of Søndmøre contains some of the most varied scenery on the W. coast of Norway. The grandest parts are the Norangdal, the Norangsfjord, and the Jørundfjord.

From Hellesylt up to Tryggestad, a drive of $\frac{3}{4}$ hr., see p. 177.

The road to Øie turns N.W. and ascends the Nebbedal, a pleasant green valley sprinkled with birches. On the left rises the long Kvitegg, with several heights, between which a glacier is imbedded. On the right is the Tryggestadnakken, separated by the Sætrødal from the abrupt Fibelstadnib, which forms the background of the valley all the way. To the N. rise the Smørskredtinder (p. 180).

10 Kil. (pay for 12) Fibelstad-Haugen (1214 ft.; Hot. Norangsdal, very fair, a little to the left of the road; finger-post), lying between the summit of the Kvitegg and the Fibelstadnib, on the watershed between the Sunelvsfjord and the Jørundfjord, is a good mountaineering centre.

Ascent of the Kvitegg (5590 ft.; 4-5 hrs.), one of the finest in Søndmøre. Guides, Lars Haugen and P. A. Lillebø, the schoolmaster (3-5 kr.).

FROM FIBELSTAD-HAUGEN TO BJERKE, on the Jørundfjord, a splendid walk of about 5 hrs. (with guide): W. up the valley to the Kvitelvedalskar, N.W. of the Kvitegg; then past the N. side of the little Kvitelvedalsvand, and down its brook to the Tussevand (1970 ft.), where we get a view of the wild Hornindalsrokken (p. 171), round the N. side of the lake, down the Tusse-Elv through a series of gorges, and past the Tussefos to Bjerke (p. 181).

At Fibelstad-Haugen begins the Norangsdal*, one of the grandest valleys in Norway. The road (to Øie 2½ hrs., which will repay walkers) follows the E. side of the valley. In front the valley appears closed by the Smørskredtind, which with its peaks and the glacier between them recalls the Wetterhorn near Grindelwald. Several small lakes are passed. The brook sometimes disappears under the rocks and the avalanche-snow, which lies in the valley throughout the summer. A few poor sæters are built into the rocks for shelter from avalanches and stone-falls. In 1 hr. we sight the curious peak of Slogen (see below), which seems to alter its shape as we proceed. The valley contracts. The scenery is wildest by the sheer black cliff of Staven* (over 4920 ft.), at the fourth lake. The road crosses to the left bank.

The valley expands. To the left is the Kjeipen, the prolongation of the Staven. The road keeps to the left side of the valley, opposite the slope of the Smørskredtinder (5240 ft.; ascended by Mr. Slingsby, 1884). To the left are the Middagshorn (4353 ft.) and Blaahorn; in the distance, the Saksa (p. 181).

About 2 hrs. from Fibelstad-Haugen we reach Skylstad, the highest gaard in the valley, at the foot of the Middagshorn. The road crosses to the right bank. Farther on (about ¾ hr. from Øie), a terrible landslide from the Kjeipen (see above) occurred in May, 1905, which covered the valley with débris and boulders and dammed it up, forming a lake and submerging the old road and several sæters (new road on the W. bank).

14 Kil. (pay for 15) Øie (Union Hot.*, R. 1½-2, B. or S. 1½, D. 2¼, pens. 5 kr.), at the E. head of the Norangsfjord, 7 min. from the pier, in a beautiful and sheltered site. On both sides of the valley and fjord rise imposing mountains: the jagged Slogen (summit not visible from Øie) and the Middagshorn; then (right) the Klokseggen and (left) the Blaahorn (4500 ft.). On the E. the valley is closed by the Skruben (see above), with its snow-fields. To the W., the Saksa, with its singular notch from top to bottom; beyond the Jørundfjord are the jagged Grøtdalstinder, near the Bonddal (p. 185).

The ascent of the Slogen* (5210 ft.) is recommended to good climbers (from Øie 4 hrs., with guide); the last part is an interesting clamber over rocks, free from danger. The view, called by Mr. Slingsby one of the noblest in Europe, embraces the numerous peaks of Søndmøre, and is often preferred to the Jotunheim views.

A grand but fatiguing route leads from Skylstad (see above) between the Slogen and the Smørskredtinder over the pass of Skylstadbrekken (2592 ft.): then either N.E. to Stranden (p. 183), or N.W. by gaard Brunstad in the Velledal down to Aure (p. 184).

The Norangsfjord* (steamers, see Com. 328) is an arm of the Jørundfjord, of similar Alpine character. Leaving Øie we see the Elgenafos on the left; then the gaards of Stennæs in an exposed situation under the Staalberg (4138 ft.); and on the right, at the mouth of the Urkedal, the gaards of Urke (pier). In the distance rise the snow-clad peaks of the Vellesæterhorn. To the W., above Urke, towers the Saksa (3446 ft.), which with the Staalberg forms the grand portal to the Norangs fjord. Behind us is the Slogen.

The Jørundfjord (or Hjørund or Jøring-Fjord), which the steamer now enters, is one of the most superb in Norway. Instead of being a deep cutting in the great Norwegian plateau, with nearly upright sides, it is flanked with picturesque ranges and peaks, some of them strikingly bold and pointed, others isolated by deep gaps or notches ('Skard'), with snow and glaciers far above. Viewed by evening-light the effect is singularly beautiful.

The S. part of the Jørundfjord is visited by the steamer thrice a week. On its W. bank is gaard Skaare, with the 'Fos' of that name, at the foot of the Skaaretinder; on its E. bank, to the S. of the Jagta (5240 ft.), lies gaard Viddal (pier). At the S. end of the narrowing fjord, high above the water, lies Bjerke (quarters at Gie's, the school-master), the terminus of the steamer. Above it rise the Bjerkehorn (4445 ft.) and the Tussemut (4203 ft.). Near it is the Tussefos, descending from the Tussevand in three stages. Jacob Bjerke is a good guide.

A road (slow stations) leads from Bjerke up the Sjæustaddal, by Rørstad and Rued, to (15 Kil.) Kaldvatn (p. 177), and down to (8 Kil.) Førde (quarters at D. Maan's), on the Østefjord, the S.E. arm of the Voldenfjord. (To Volden, 18 Kil., by boat; p. 185.). From Rørstad the Storhorn (5126 ft.) may be ascended in 6 hrs.

On other days the steamer, on leaving the Norangs fjord, steers to the W. bank of the Jørundfjord, over which towers the jagged Storhorn (see above), adjoined by the Skaaretinder. It then passes the Hustadnæs. On the bank, a little S., is the Raamandsyøk, a cavern in the rock Raamand.

Sæbo (skyds-station), with the church of Jørundfjord, lies in a small bay, at the mouth of the well-tilled Bondal (p. 185), backed by the Veirhalden (p. 185). Grand view of the S. arm of the lake, with the snow-fields of the Kvitegg (p. 179) and Tussemut (see above) beyond.

From Sæbo to Ørstenvik, 24 Kil., a beautiful drive (comp. p. 185); from Ørstenvik to Aalesund steamer 4 times weekly (Com. 321).

The scenery of the N. part of the Jørundfjord is at its grandest as we near Store Standal (pier), at the mouth of the valley of that name (p. 185), on the N. side of which rise the glacier-clad Kolaastunder (4800 ft.), and on the S. side the vast snow-fields of the Sølvkallen. To the N. towers the Standalshorn. As we steam on we have a very fine view of the Lille Standal, with the serrated snowy ridge of the Romedalshorn, recalling the Aiguilles of Mont Blanc; beyond rise the Tre Søstre. — Comp. Map, p. 186.

On the E. bank, opposite Standal, rises the imposing Molaupefjeld, named after gaard Molaupe at its N. base. Near it is the cavern Troldgjøl, where a phenomenon similar to that on the Lysefjord has been observed (p. 111). Then, on the same side, is the Stettefjeld. On the W. bank are the cloven Jønskorn (4714 ft.), with a glacier in the depression, and the station of Salterø. We now cross the mouth of the Jørundfjord, obtaining in clear weather a final survey of the whole fjord (36 Kil. long), as far as the snow-fields of the Skaaretinder, and call at Hundeidvig, where there is correspondence twice a week with the boats to Søholt and Marok (comp. p. 184).

We next steer W. to Fæstø, and then N. through the Vegsund (see p. 184) to Aalesund (3¼-4 hrs. from Øie).

d. From Marok and Hellesylt by Søholt to Aalesund or Molde.

STEAMER from Marok to Søholt (Com. 327 and 335) daily in 4½-9 hrs. (fare 3.60 kr.); to Aalesund in 7-12 hrs. (fare 5.10 kr.). — From Søholt to (26 Kil.) Vestnæs ROAD. From Vestnæs to Molde STEAMER in 1 hr. (fare 2 30 kr., see p. 187)

Marok, see p. 178. The steamer returns to the Sunelvsfjord and Hellesylt (p. 177), and then steers N. Of the mountains flanking the fjord the chief are, W., the Aakernæs fjeld (5042 ft.), jutting far into the fjord, and, E., the Nonsfjeld and Snushorn. On the E. side are several gaards and waterfalls.

From the Sunelvsfjord, at the entrance to which, W. and E., are the Oksenæs and the Skrenak, most of the steamers turn E. into the Norddalsfjord, the inmost arm of the Storfjord (p. 183). On the N. bank lie the gaards Li and Overaa. On the S. bank is the rock called St. Olaf's Snushorn. The first station (2 hrs. from Hellesylt) is — Viredal, at the mouth of the valley of that name. (Pass to the Geiranger Fjord, see p. 179.) Then Relling, with the Norddalskirke, whence the wild Torvleisa (5994 ft.) may be ascended in 5 hrs.

Sylte (Hot. Grønningsater, good), with the church of Muri, lies on the N. bank. A vein of bright quartz in a rock high above the fjord is called St. Olaf's Slange or Syltormen. To the E. rises the Heggurdalstind.

FROM SYLTE OVER THE STEGAFJELD TO THE ROMSDAL, an interesting route of 1½ day. The road ascends the old moraine of Langbrekken. At the top is a cross in memory of St. Olaf, who in 1028 fled from Sylte to Lesje in the Gudbrandsdal (p. xli). The road then ascends the Valdal, crossing the river several times, and passing pleasant gaards, which attract summer-visitors from Aalesund. At gaard Rem, 12 Kil. from Sylte, horses and vehicles may be obtained. Beyond Rem we cross the great 'U' of Skjærsurden. At gaard Langdal (rustic quarters), about 30 Kil. from Sylte (3½ hrs. drive) a guide may be obtained (to Veblungnæs 8 kr.). The road ends at Øvre Støl, 20 min. farther. We now ascend the Meierdal, past the Øvre Støl, at first on the left bank of the stream. By the first large 'Varde', 1¼ hr. from Nedre Støl, we descend to the left and cross the stream by a natural bridge. We now follow the Varde, passing several small lakes, to the (1¼ hr.) top of the pass of the Stegafjeld. In ¾ hr. more the valley descends abruptly, and we sight the Isterdal and the Romsdal Mts. (p. 190), with a bit of the Romsdal Fjord in the distance. We then descend the Stégane, an awkward zigzag path, past the Isterfos, with a view of the W. side of the Troldtinder (p. 180) to the right. In 1 hr. from the top of the hill we reach the Knud-Sæter, and in $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. more the Barn-Sæter, where we cross the Istra by a narrow wooden bridge. At (20 min.) the Sogge-Sæter begins a cart-track, which, turning to the left by (40 min.) the houses of Isterdal, leads in 1 hr. more to Vællungsnes; or we may turn to the right togaard Sogge, cross the bridge to the Romsdal road, and follow the latter to Alandsnes (p. 188).

To the S.E. of Sylte is the Tafjord*, served once weekly by a steamer bound for Aalesund, and twice by one going to Marok, very grand, but inferior to the Geiranger. On the left of the entrance are two high waterfalls; then the Muldalsfos*, to which a footpath ascends. The upper part only is seen from the fjord. The terminus of the steamer is at the hamlet of Tafford (11 Kil. from Sylte; poor quarters). On the hill above, to the right, are iron-mines owned by an English company. Lofty snow-mountains peer over the banks on every side.

From Tafford a bridle-path ascends through fine and at places superb scenery, generally skirting the foaming torrent, to ($2\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.) the tourist-hut Kaldhus-Sæter (p. 174), whence mountain-paths lead to the Dyppas-hytte (p. 175) and to Grollid (p. 174). — Fromgaard Muldal, by the Muldalsfos (see above), to Stuefæsten in the Romsdal, see p. 181.

From Sylte we steer W., past the pretty gaards of Lange and the *Liubyg*d (station). To the left, a beautiful view of the Sunelvsfjord up to Hellesylt. The steamer then crosses to — Stranden (quarters at K. Olsen's, P. Ous's, andgaard Ringstad), with its church and the pleasant gaards of Slyngstad (pier), at the mouth of the Strandedal.

The fjord, also called Strandefjord or Slyngsfjord, continues beautiful. Rounding the prominent Stordalsnæs or Holmen, we steer into the small Stordalsvik (pier), with gaards Hove and Vinje, at the entrance to the Stordal. The next stations are Dyrkorn and Vagsvik, whence we may ascend the Laupare (4754 ft.), or drive to Sylte on the Tresfjord (p. 188). Nearly opposite Vagsvik is the bay of Sjævik with the station Ramstad.

We round the Gausnæs and ($3\frac{1}{2}$ –4 hrs. from Sylte) reach —

Søholt, or Sjæholt (Hot. Søholt, kept by A. Rasmussen, good, R. 2, B. or S. $1\frac{1}{2}$, D. 2 kr.; Th. Sjæholt Enke's Hot.; Engl. Ch. Serv. in July & Aug.), at the N. end of the pleasant Ørskogvik, and separated from the church of Ørskog by a stream which here falls into the fjord at the base of the Lisfeld (ascent $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.). To the N.E. is the Snauffeld (2880 ft.); over the Gausnæs rise the mountains by Aure (p. 184). — From Søholt to Molde, see p. 185.

ROAD to AALESUND, 40 Kil. (a drive of 5–6 hrs.). Stations: (13 Kil.) Fluete or Flote, (13 Kil.) Redsøet, and (14 Kil.) Aalesund (comp. p. 184).

The steamer touches at the small wooded Langskibssø, in a bay between the mainland and the Oksenø, next at Glomset, and steers S. across the fjord, here for a short distance called Nordfjord, and then Storfjord. In the wider sense the latter name embraces the whole fjord up to Sylte (p. 182). We steer round the Aursnæs to — Aure (Hot. Sendmør; Hot. Aure), on the Søkkelvsfjord, prettily situated, with grand environs. As we near it we see the Hammer-sættinder rising above Aure on the left; to their right is the pointed Strømshorn (3222 ft.); then the Brunstadhorn, the Gjeithorn, the Vellesæterhorn (4750 ft.), and the Ringdalstind, partly snow-clad.

Beautiful Excursion of one day (48 Kil., slow stations; best therefore to hire vehicle for the whole trip at Aure). We drive E. to (41 Kil.) Sjøvik (p. 183); then S. up the Ramstaddal to the (12 Kil.) Ny-Sæter (quarters), on the Nysætervand (1247 ft.), whence the Keskar (3937 ft.; fine view) is easily ascended. We next cross a hill to the Velledal, where Brøtninghaug, its highest gaard, is 6 Kil. from the Ny-Sæter. Magnificent view, in descending, of the snow-mountains above mentioned. Then past gaard Velle, where the valley bends N., to (13 Kil.) Strømmeggjardel, at the S. end of the Søkkelvsfjord, and back to (6 Kil.) Aure.

On the W. side of the Søkkelvsfjord is the station Ekornæs, with the Skopshorn (4430 ft.) above it. Then, on the Storfjord, S. and N., the stations Tusvik and Emblejm or Emblem. We next steer E. of the large island of Sulø and enter the narrow Vegsund, with its pier; but some vessels go round the whole island and pass between it and the Hareidland. [Steamers in the reverse direction steer S. from Vegsund to Hundeidvig, where the Illesylt and Jørundfjord lines (p. 181) correspond.] From Vegsund we cross the Borgundfjord to the Buholmskai, and then steer round the Aspø to the Skandsekai, in the harbour of Aalesund.

Aalesund. — SCHIEDROP'S HOTEL (Sch. on the Plan, p. 186), on the Skandsekai, 5 min. from the pier, good, R. 2-4, B. or S. 1½, D. (2 p.m.) 2 kr., SCANDINAVIE (Pl. Sk.), Løvenvold-Gade 8, farther from the quay, R. 2-4, B. or S. 1½, D. 2 kr., well spoken of — POST AND TELEGRAPH, Notenes-Gade, 4 min. beyond Schiedrop's Hotel.

Aalesund, a busy trading town with 11,800 inhab., lies on the Nervø and the Aspø, two islands on the outer fringe of the 'Skjærgaard', a favourable site to which it owes its rapid rise. It was only in 1824 that it became a harbour, and in 1848 that it was privileged as a town. Originally built of wood, it was almost entirely burned down on 23rd Jan. 1904, but has been since rebuilt in stone. Aalesund is the commercial centre of the whole region of the Storfjord (see p. 183), and for the cod-fisheries of the W. coast (yielding 5-6 million kr. per annum). The harbour, which opens N.W. between the two islands, is protected by the Skandse, a peninsula of the Nervø, on one side, and by bulwarks on the other. The narrowest part of this strait, the Aalesund, which gives the town its name, is crossed by a bridge. On the Nervø ('indom Sundet') are the custom-house, the inns, etc., and on the Aspø ('udom Sundet') are the church and the school. On the E. side of the Nervø quarter is a pretty Park. From the E. side of the park a steep path ascends in steps to the 'Fjeldstue' on the (¼ hr.) nearer height of the Axla* or Aalesundsaxla (509 ft.), where we have an extensive view of the sea, the islands, and the Søndmøre Mts. to the E. — A road on the S. side of the Nervø, in the direction of Søholt (p. 183), affords fine views of the mountains.

THE STEAMBOAT TRAFFIC of Aalesund is brisk. Besides the coasters of the Bergen and Trondhjem line (p. 159), and the Søndmøre steamers to Hellesylt and Geiranger (Com. 321), to the Jørundfjord (Com. 328), and to Molde and the Romsdal (Com. 332), note also the line —

FROM AALESUND TO EIDSÅ AND AARJEM (Com. 321). The steamer passes the island of Hessen (p. 181) and rounds the E. end of the Sulø, into the Sulefjord, between E. the Sulø and W. the island of Hareidland. On the latter, the hills of which rise to 2360 ft., are the stations Brandal, Hørnede with its church, and Liavaag. We next cross the Varðalsfjord to Varidal, and steer S., past the Liadalshorn (3510 ft.), to the Ørstenfjord, at the head of which (8 hrs. from Aalesund) lies — Ørstenvik (Ørstenvik's Hot., good), at the mouth of the well-tilled Ørstenelvi or Aamdal, watered by the Ørsten-Elv. To the N. rises the Saudehorn (4390 ft., easy ascent, and back, 5-6 hrs.; fine view of the Søndmøre Mts.). Another point of view is the Melshorn (2740 ft.; a shorter ascent). From Ørstenvik to the Jørundfjord, see below.

From Ørstenvik to Volden by road (11 Kil.), a drive of 1¼ hr.; the steamer, rounding the peninsula between the Ørstenfjord and the Voldenfjord, takes 1½-2 hrs.

Volden (Næss's Hotel), near the slow skyds-station of Rødset (good quarters), on the E. bank of the Voldenfjord, is another starting-point for the Jørundfjord (see below).

Then several small stations, beyond which, once a week, the steamer goes to Eidsa on the Søvedfjord, and twice a week to Aaem on the Vanevsvfjord (p. 180, about 5½ hrs. from Volden), returning to Aalesund by the same route.

THE "ROADS TO THE JØRUNDFJORD from Ørstenvik and from Volden form the finest approaches from Aalesund to the Alpine scenery of Søndmøre. Valleys with rich vegetation are framed with strikingly picturesque mountains. — From Ørstenvik the old road leads by (10 Kil.) Vatne and through the Bonddal (see below; 3½ hrs.). The new road leads through the Follestaddal (8 hrs.). Both roads first ascend the beautiful Ørstenelvi, in view of a fine mountain-background, to gaard Aam, 5 Kil. from Ørstenvik, at the mouth of the *Follestaddal. We ascend the latter, in view of the superb Kolaastinder (p. 181), whence a glacier dips to the E. At gaard Kolaas (8 Kil. farther; modest quarters) the Romedal diverges to the left. The road, now rough and hilly, ascends the Standalseid; at the top we get a splendid view of the Kolaastind behind and the peaks on the Jørundfjord before us. Then down the Standal to (8 Kil.) Store Standal (pier; no quarters; p. 181). Lastly, row to Sæbø, 8 Kil.

FROM VOLDEN the road crosses the Klødalseid (984 ft.), and at gaard Brauteset joins the road from Ørstenvik and Aam (see above), at the N. end of the Vatne-Vand, the E. bank of which it skirts.

13 Kil. Vatne. Then uphill, past gaard Osvold, at the mouth of the Byrdal, to the pass (919 ft.), where the view of the Jørundfjord Mts. is revealed. Next down the Bonddal, flanked by the Veirhalden (4013 ft.) and the Grettdalstind on the left, and the Aarsethorn (4498 ft.) and Storhorn (4488 ft.) on the right, and past several gaards. By gaard Hustad, on the Storhorn, high up on the right, is the ravine St. Olafsda.

14 Kil. (pay for 19, in opp. direction for 20) Rise (good quarters); ¼ hr. farther is the pier of Sæbø (p. 181). Lastly by steamer or boat-skyds to Aie (p. 180; 10 Kil.; order early).

FROM SØHOLT TO MOLDE. — Vehicles generally in waiting (p. 183: stolkjærre to Vestnæs, 1 pers. 4½, 2 pers. 7½ kr.). The road ascends the Ørskogdal to a moorland plateau with a small lake. The numerous huts are 'Loer' for sheltering the hay; the long poles mark the route in winter. Beyond the highest point and the boundary between Bergens-Stift and Trondhjems-Stift, is (10 Kil.) the tourist-hut of Ørskogsfjeldet (coffee, 'brus'). We then descend the Skorgedal.

15 Kil. Ellingsværd (574 ft.) Right and left are the Brustind and the Ystind. The valley becomes prettier. At Viken we reach the picturesque Tresfjord and skirt its W. bank, passing several gaards. We cross the mouth of the narrow Misfjord, leaving the church on the left, to — 11 Kil. Vestnes (p. 187; in all 3¼ hrs.' drive). Steamer once or twice daily to Molde and the Romsdal (Com. 332, 338, 341).

27. Molde and the Moldefjord. Romsdal. Eikisdal.

Arrival. The pier of the large steamers adjoins Hot. Alexandra; omnibus from the Grand Hotel meets steamers. The fjord-steamers land not far off, at the Torv, and also by the Grand Hotel.

Hotels: GRAND HOT. POMMERENK, finely situated at the E. end of the town, well fitted up, with baths, R. 2½-7½, B. 1½, D. (2 p.m.) 3 kr.; Engl. spoken. "HOT ALEXANDRA, at the W. end, with baths, R. 1½-3, B. 1½, D. 3, S. 2 kr. — SØSTRENE HOLM (Pl. H), R. 1¼, B. 1, D. 1½ kr; MOLDNES HOT., in the main street; SØSTRENE EIDE, well situated on the fjord, pens. 4 kr, G. ANDERSON.

Sea Baths, 6 min. W. of Hot. Alexandra (25 ø., towel 7 ø; for men 7-9, 11.30-2, and 5-8).

Post & Telegraph in the main street (see Plan). — Engl. Ch. Serv. in summer at the parish-church. — British Vice-Consul, P. F. Dahl.

Steamers to Bergen and to Trondhjem, each 11 times a week, to Aalesund 17 times; to places on the Moldefjord, see pp. 187, 191. — Careful enquiry should be made as to hours of departure. — Motor-launches may be hired by the day for excursions.

Molde, a bright little town of 1700 inhab., dating from the 15th cent., is pleasantly situated on the N. bank of the Moldefjord, at the foot of green slopes backed by higher hills. Its trade is now small, but it is a great summer-resort. Being sheltered from N. and W. storms, the vegetation is surprisingly luxuriant here, though nearly 3° of lat. N. of St. Petersburg. Roses abound, and some of the houses are overgrown with honeysuckle. Birch, beech, horse-chestnut, lime, ash, and cherry-trees thrive. The cherries are good, though small. — The Church contains a picture by Axel Hønder: the Women at the Sepulchre.

The great charm of Molde is the noble survey it affords of the broad fjord and the long chain of mountains to the S. and S.E., with their rocky crags and snow-clad peaks. The finest point of view is the Rekneshaug* (259 ft.), a hill laid out in promenades, N.W. of the town, to which we ascend in 20 min. from the Grand Hotel by the upper road, crossing the Molde-Elv and passing the church, or in ¼ hr. from Hot. Alexandra. At the top is a pavilion, with a view-indicator. In the foreground lies the town, at the foot of green hills, beyond which stretches the beautiful fjord, broken by the long islands Hjørte and Faarø. Our Panorama, taken from a slightly higher point, gives the names of the chief heights.

Between the Humle Have, a private garden, and the Rekneshaug a path, indicated by a finger-post 'til Vården', and joined after a few min. by the path from the Rekneshaug, ascends to the right through a white gate past a pavilion with a flagstaff (rfrmts.), to the (1 hr.) top of the "Moldehei (1349 ft.), with a refuge-hut (usually closed) and a huge vane. The view is more extensive but less picturesque than from the Rekneshaug. About 5 min. W. of the hut is a stone 'varde', with benches commanding the open sea.

A charming walk may be taken in the avenue leading W. from the Alexandra Hotel, past the garden of Reknes, a hospital for consumptives. Still finer is the avenue leading E. from the Grand Hotel, past the old Molde-Gaard, and skirting the Fanestrand* or Fannestrand, where the rich vegetation of Molde is seen to advantage. The road is shaded with birches, ashes, maples, larches, and other trees, and is flanked with pleasant gaards, villas, and gardens, such as Consul Johnson's Buen Retiro, 1½ M. from the Grand Hotel (visitors admitted). About 20 min. farther is the consumptive hospital of Legrovik. All the way we enjoy a fine view, to the S., of the fjord and the distant mountains. Continuation of the road, see p. 196.

To the N.E. rises the Tusten (2284 ft.; 2¼-3 hrs.; guide advisable, as the way is not very easy to find). At the bridge on the upper road, on the left bank of the Molde-Elv (see p. 186), is a red, white, and blue finger-post, showing the way to the Tusten, passing the match-factory of Elvbakken. After 5 min. a footpath ascends to the right, marked by other posts, at first through wood, always to the E., past several ponds, and partly over bog and moor. Lastly, a steep ascent, following the 'Varde', to the top, crowned with its huge Varde or 'stone-man'. The view is very extensive, embracing the fjord and the mountains to the N., E., and S., and the boundless Atlantic to the W.

To the Troldkirke, a day's excursion from Molde (stolkjerre there and back 6, 2 pers. 9, carr. and pair 12-14 kr.). We ascend the Aaredal, diverging from the Fanestrand (fine view of the Moldefjord from the top of the hill), and descend the Malmedal to the Malmefjord and the skyd-station of (20 Kil) Julsæt. We then ascend again, and farther on leave the Indre Erenen road to the left. At gaard Varhol (5-6 Kil from Julsæt, 4 hrs.' drive from Molde) we obtain a guide and torches for a visit (2¼-3 hrs.) to the Troldkirke, a cavern in a shining white vein of limestone in the Tverfjelde, 70-80 yds. long, 7-10 ft. wide, and 7-22 ft. high.

a. Excursion to the Romsdal.

STEAMBOAT from Molde to Aandalsnæs (or Næs; Com. 332, 335, 338, 345) in 2-5 hrs. (fare 2-2.80 kr.) The last part of the voyage is magnificent.

— ROAD from Aandalsnæs up the Romsdal (comp. p. 189). The walk from Aandalsnæs to (27 Kil) Flatmark and the drive back (3 hrs.) form a pleasant day's outing. Those who are short of time may turn at Borgheim (p. 190).

Or, we may take steamer (Com. 339) to Alfarnæs, walk or drive to Thorvik, and cross to Aandalsnæs (comp. p. 192). — Passes between the Romsdal and the Eidsdal, see pp. 189, 191.

The vessel steers S., affording a fine view of the mountains, backed, at the head of the Tresfjord, by the Laupare (p. 183), with a large snow-field in the depression. In 1 hr. we reach —

Vestnæs (Hot. Vestnæs, 5 min. from the pier, R. 1½-2, B. or S. 1½, D. 2 kr., very fair), with its church, on the W. side of the entrance to the Tresfjord, a deep bay set in wooded hills and bare rocky peaks. The road to Søholt begins here (p. 186). A steamer ascends the Trestfjord (Com. 341) twice a week, to Viken and Sylte (whence a road up the Kærsejmsdal leads to Vagsvik on the Stor-fjord, 17 Kil.; p. 183), returning by Dougstad and Vikebugt.

We steer E., past Gjermundnæs, with an agricultural school on a hill. Fine view of the snow-clad Ystunder. To the left is the island of Sækken, on which lies Vestad (called at once or twice weekly), where we have a fine glimpse up the Langfjord, with the Skaala (p. 192). On the right, the populous Vaagestrand, with its white church, and the pier of Ræstadbygd (called at once or twice weekly).

The view ahead is very picturesque. To the right of the wooded Oksen (2674 ft.), in the distance, appear the furrowed Vengetunder, then the Store Trolldtind, with its large snow-field, Kougen, and Dronningen (p. 190). Some of the steamers enter a small bay at the foot of the Oksen and call at Nordvik, whence a road, passing the church of Ejd, crosses to the Rødvenfjord (p. 192).

The view becomes still grander. On the S. bank rise the Trolldstole (3714 ft.), notably St. Olafs-Stol, with a 'Botn' enclosed by two hills. Some steamers call at Vold, with its new timber church, at the mouth of the fertile Maandal, backed by the Trolldtind and Nonstind with their snow-fields.

We pass the mouth of the Indfjord*, with its superb mountain-background (Isterdalsfjeldene, p. 182); on the E. it is bounded by the Skolten (3438 ft.), with a waterfall. Fine view of the Smerbottenfjeld (3744 ft.) to the N.; to the S. rise the Romsdal Mts.: the Vengetunder, the sharply-cut Kalskraafjeld (p. 190), looking small in the distance, with its glacier, and the fissured Romsdals-horn (p. 190). These mountains average nearly double the height of those of Wales and Westmorland.

Veblungsnæs (Romsdal Hot., good), at the foot of the Sætne-fjeld (3900 ft.), S. of the influx of the Rauma into the Romsdalsfjord, is a much less important entrance to the Romsdal than Aandal-snæs, but carriages generally meet the steamers. To the E. of the village (5 min.) is the church of Gryten, an octagonal timber building. Just beyond it the road forks: the branch to the left, crossing ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) a long bridge, leads to the Romsdal; that to the right leads past the houses of Sætne and a military camp to Isterdal (p. 182).

The steamer passes the broad mouth of the Rauma, affording a superb view of the Romsdal, and steers round the promontory on its N. side, where we have a glimpse of the Isfjord, to —

Aandal-snæs. — HOTELS (apt to be unpleasantly crowded): 'GR.-HOT. BELLEVUE, on a height, 5 min. from the pier, with baths and fine open views, Engl. spoken; R. 2-2½, B., or S. 1½, D. 2½ kr. — HOT. ROMSDALSHORN, nearer the pier, good, but plainer, R., B. or S. 1½, D. (2-3 p.m.) 2 kr. — 'PARK HOTEL (formerly H. Høigenæs), on the Romsdal road, ¾ hr. from the pier (p. 190), R. or D. 2½, B. or S. 1½, pens. 5-7 kr.; HOT. HALSA, see p. 190.

CONVEYANCES await the steamboats. The fares on the cards shown by the driver include the return; thus, to Horgheim (p. 190) and back, stol-kjerre for 1 pers. 5, for 2 pers. 7, carr. and pair 19 kr.; comp also p. 88.

GUIDES. Mathias Seggemoen and Erk Nordhagen of Gryten (p. 189).

Aandsalsnæs, usually called Næs or Nes, on the picturesque, mountain-girt Isfjord (steamer several times weekly), to the N. of the mouth of the Rauma, is the chief approach to the Romsdal and well suited for some stay. The nearest height is the Mjelvafjeld, the front spur of which is also called Næsaxlen. Farther off is the Storhest. To the right of the Næsaxel we look up the Romsdal with the Vengetinder, Romsdalshorn, and Troidtinder; to the right of these we see the Isterdal (p. 182) and the Sætnesfjeld; to the W. rise the Troidstole (p. 188) and the Blaafjeld (3560 ft.); to the N. the heights of the Blaafjeld; to the E., in the distance, the Gjuratind and other Eikisdal peaks.

EXCURSIONS. To the Romsdal, see below — By road on the S bank of the Isfjord, in view of the mountains in the background of the fjord, the Strandheta (2592 ft.), Brødvikheia (2383 ft.), Stortungen (3145 ft.), to (5 Kil.) Sten, terminus of the Romsdal steamers; or we may turn back halfway. — To the Isterdal, as far as the Isterfos, or up the Sidgane to the Stegafjeld (p. 182) — Row to Thorvik (p. 192; boat-skyds; 2 hrs. there and back; bargain advisable), and take a walk on the beautiful coast-road

FROM AANDALSÆS TO ØVERAAS ON THE EIKISDALSVAND, a drive of 1½ and a walk of 6-7 hrs., trying in part, especially in wet weather. Skyds to Grøvdal (15 Kil., pay for 17), on the S bank of the Isfjord, past Sten (see above), to the E end of the fjord; then across the Isa-Elv or Hens-Elv, on the right bank of which (left) lies the church of Hen. Hilly road up the well-cultivated Grøvdal, past gaards Kavli and Unhem. To the right a fine view of the Vengedal, the Vengetinder, and (to the right of these) the Romsdalshorn. In front are the abrupt Moanebba and the Sæternebba. The road ends (drive of 1¼ hr. from Næs) at gaard —

Grøvdal, whose owner (Ed. Grøvdal) acts as guide (to the Meringdals-Sætre 4-5 kr.). Quarters also at gaard Morsetel, on the opposite bank. — Seen from Grøvdal, the valley appears closed by the Nyhatind (5217 ft.), with its large snow-field, and S W. of it the Gjuratind (5702 ft.; summit not visible). The ascent of the Gjuratind (and back), 9-10 hrs., is described as difficult (especially at the end), but most interesting.

From Grøvdal we walk, crossing two bridges, to (½ hr.) the Grøvdals-Sætre, where the ascent gets steeper. The path, at first on the left bank, crosses (¼ hr.) to the right bank by a bridge. Farther on (red and white marks) it turns to the left and mounts to the pass of the Røndels-skar (about 3 hrs. from Grøvdal). Descent over snow and 'Ur', passing to the left (W) above the Særtvand, overlooked by the rocky Hesten. Then another steep descent. About 1 hr. from the pass we come in sight of the Eikisdalsvand, with left and right the Gogsøre (p. 193) and the Vikesaksen (p. 193). At the Meringdals-Sætre, ½ hr. from the Røndels-skar, the path becomes more distinct. Øveraas is constantly in sight. In 20 min. we cross the stream to the left, at a point indicated by 'varder', and soon reach the landing-place of the small boat, for which we shout 'hoio bot!' from above

Øveraas, see p. 198.

The Romsdal*, or valley of the Rauma (p. 89), is one of the most famous in Norway. The road from Næs descends to the right bank of the river and (2 Kil.) unites with that from Veblungsnæs (p. 188; 3 Kil.). It then ascends the smiling, park-like valley (alders, birches, ashes), flanked with high mountains.

On a height to the right, about 4 Kil. from Næs and nearly surrounded by the Rauma, is the Park Hotel (see p. 188). Farther on, to the left, is gaard Aak, owned by an Englishman. To the right, beyond the stream, opens the Isterdal, with its peaks: left, Bispen ('the Bishop') and Søstrene ('the Sisters'; 3094 ft.); right, Kongen ('the King', 5013 ft.). A little farther on is Hot. Halså (R. 1½-2, B. or S. 1½ kr., good), beyond which a road to the right crosses the Rauma to gaard Sogge (comp. p. 183). On our road lie gaards Hole and Venge; opposite is gaard Fiva, in a birch-grove. On the E. side of the valley, but soon lost to sight, are the picturesque Vengetinder (5958 ft.), and the Romsdalshorn* (5104 ft.), usually called Hornet, which dominates the whole landscape.

THE ASCENT OF THE ROMSDALSHORN (one day), made by C. Hall in 1881, is not very difficult, but dangerous, and after snow impossible. We ascend the Vengedal (here drivable), and climb from the W. side — The ascent of the highest VENGETIND (and back, 8-10 hrs.; first made by Wm. C. Slingsby in 1881) from the Venge-Sæter is less difficult. The Mjælne, which M. Slingsby (1885) calls one of the steepest mountains in Europe, is best scaled from Andre Dølen (good quarters) in the Erstadal, a side-valley of the Vengedal, a drive of 3 hrs. from Næs. Ascent, and back, 14-15 hrs.

On the W. side of the valley rise the Trolldtinder* ('witch-pinnacles'; 6040 ft.). Part of the crest is known as 'Brudefjelget', or the bridal train. The highest peak may be ascended by the small glacier visible between Næs and Aak (difficult; C. Hall, 1882). The road leads close by the foaming Rauma. At one place, much exposed to avalanches in winter, the road is carried through the broad bed of the river by an embankment.

14 Kil. Horgheim (pron. hor'yem; tolerable inn) lies on an old moraine. The finest scenery of the Romsdal ends here; the floor of the valley is marshy. The slopes are strewn with remains of avalanches.

We pass gaards Mirebø and Trøene, and, on the other side of the valley, Rødningen, Alnæs, and Remmem. Near Remmem (right) is a waterfall, and beyond gaard Monge (left) is the beautiful Mongefos, descending from the Mongegjura (4232 ft.). Above, not visible from the road, rises the Kalskraafjeld (5892 ft.; ascended from Flatmark). Splendid view of the Trolldtinder and the Semletind (5770 ft.) behind us. The road and the Rauma thread their way through a chaos of rocks formed by a great landslide. Beyond the church of Kors, not visible from the road, we reach — 12 Kil. Flatmark (Inn, fair, D. 2 kr.), in a fertile and smiling part of the valley. Opposite rises the Skiriaxlen (3747 ft.).

Scenery still fine, though less grand. On each side are waterfalls, bereft of their might in dry seasons: on the left the Styggefondfos, Gravdefos, Skogefos; on the right the Dentefos. To the S., above Ormejm, rises the Middagshoug. The Rauma is here dammed up into a lake. The road now ascends rapidly. To the right is the Værmofos*, leaping nearly 1000 ft. from the W. side, majestic after rain and spring-thaws (best viewed from a rock opposite the fall, on the right bank of the Rauma).

11 Kil. Ormejm (Inn, good; view of the Værmosfos from the back) is beautifully situated high above the Rauma. To the S. rises the Alterhei, with its peak Storhatten (5940 ft.; ascent past the Værmosfos in 4 hrs., two-thirds ridable; horse 4, guide 4 kr.).

From Ormejm to Reitan on the Eikisdalsvand, see p. 194.

Visitors to the Romsdal from Veblungsnæs or Aandalsnæs usually turn at Ormejm or even at Flatmark. About 4 Kil. above Ormejm a finger-post indicates the way to the Slettafos*: we cross a bridge and ascend to the right by a rough path to a spot below overhanging rocks, which magnify the roar of the fall. The rocky sides of the gully contain remains of glacier cauldrons.

The road runs high above the Rauma, which, often lost to view, receives several tributaries, notably the Ulvaa on the right, the discharge of the Ulvedalsvand. We ascend the once dreaded Bjørneklev ('bear's cliff') in windings.

10 Kil. (pay for 11) Stueflaaten or Stuefjoten (2051 ft.; Inn*, R. 1½-2, B. or S. 1½, D. 2 kr.). Fine view from the Toppen (2 hrs.).

From Stuefjoten a field-path ascends by the Bevra, and leads past the high-lying gaard Bjorkien, the three Bavervand Lakes, and the Grævervand, to Finsat and the Eikisdalsvand (p. 193; 10 hrs., with guide).

TO THE NORDDALSEFJORD, W. road up the Ulvaa to the Tunge-Sæte (quarters), at the E. end of the Ulvedalsvand; across field, and down the Muldals-Eite to gaard Muldal (quarters), above the Taffjord (p. 183).

The shortest way from the Romsdal to Jotunheim leads from Molmen, next station beyond Stuefjoten, to Skeaker (Røyshejm; p. 67) in 2 days.

Road through the Gudbrandsdal, see pp. 90, 89. As far as Domaa it is monotonous and tiring.

b. Excursion to the Eikisdal.

STEAMER (Com. 339, 345) five times weekly, in 3½-6 hrs., to Neste. — ROAD thence to Øveraas on the Eikisdalsvand 8 Kil. (skyds, see p. xix). — MOTOR-BOAT on the Eikisdalsvand to Reitan-Ungaard at its head (five times weekly in 2 hrs.; fare 1 kr., special trips, 1-5 pers. 10 kr., 6-10 pers. 15 kr., there and back; or by boat-skyds in 3-3½ hrs. (with two rowers 5.64, with three rowers 7.20 kr., return-fare double). The excursion takes three days, one night being spent at Neste and another at Øveraas (or at Øveraas and Neste, according as the steamer leaves Molde in the forenoon or afternoon. Instead of returning to Molde we may drive from Øveraas to Ejdsvaag and Ejdseren on the Sundalsfjord, whence steamers ply twice weekly to Sundalsøren and to Christianssund. — The pass to Grevdal and the Romsdalsfjord, described at p. 190, is recommended to walkers.

The steamboat steers E. from Molde. On the left is the Fanestrand (p. 187). On the right is the Bolsø, with a loftily situated church, at the E. end of the island, and the station of Bolsøenæs, where the steamers call on Sundays. Turning S., we pass, on the left, the headlands of Dvergsnæs and Gjednæs and the station of Vaagsæter in its bay (where the steamers touch on Sundays only), and steer round the Sørnesje. On the right are the islands of Sakken (p. 188) and Vesø ('holy island'), with its church. The Molde steamers (Com. 339) call at Næsjestrand, the Christianssund steamers (Com. 348) at Havnevik.

Both steamers cross the mouth of the Langfjord, passing the small, peculiarly shaped island of Hestholm (S.E. of the Veg), and affording a fine view of the Romsdal Mts., of Ottestad and Alfarnas, and of the Rødvenfjord in front.

FROM ALFARNES (skyds-stat) TO AANDALSNÆS (Romsdal). The hilly road, skirting the Rødvenfjord, leads through beautiful scenery. Opposite we see the church of Ejd (p. 188) and the Oksen (p. 188); in the distance rise the Troldestole (p. 188). At (9 Kil.) gaard Løareym (Inn) the road forks, right to Nordvik, and left to Thorvik. The latter ascends the Løaremskløvene, at the top of which we get a striking view of the Gjersøvatn, a lake set in a wooded basin; of the Skjoltten (p. 188); to the left of it the pointed Vengetinder (p. 188), to the right the Sætneåsfjeld, Isterfjelde, and Indfjord Mts. The road descends, leading round the basin, ascends again through a defile, and, leaving the hill of Klungenas to the right, runs through pine-woods to — 14 Kil. Thorvik, on the Romsdalsfjord. The station for boats, as well as horses, lies high above the fjord, but we may drive down to the shore. — A new road on the bank leads to Hen (p. 189; 40-41 Kil.).

From Thorvik by boat-skyds to (4 Kil.) Veblungsnæs, or to (6 Kil.) Aandalsnæs, see p. 183.

The steamer next enters the Langfjord, 30 Kil. long, 3 Kil. broad, on the N. bank of which (with stat. Aarset) towers the Skaula (3284 ft., the 'skaala' or 'bowl' not visible from this side). On the S. bank, most of which is well tilled, are the stations of Holm and Mittet. On the N. bank Kanvik and Tjelde. On the S. bank Visdal or Vistdal, with a church, on a creek from which the Vistdal runs inland. Many boat-houses (Næst) on the shore. In the background we see old coast-lines, high above the water, and the Vistdalsfjelde. The boat steers past the mouth of the Ejrisfjord to — Ejdsvaag (Hot. Sverdrup, good, 5 min. from the pier), at the E. end of the fjord, which is shallow here and at low tide covered with sea-weed. The church is 10 min. E. of the inn. Boat-skyds from Ejdsvaag to (14 Kil.) Næste with two rowers 3 kr. 92, with three 5 kr. 60 ø.

A road crossing the stream that falls into the lake by the church of Eidsvaag soon divides: to the left, across the Tiltetved, to (8 Kil.) Eidsæren (p. 197); to the right, on the bank of the fjord, passing the parsonage of (5 Kil.) Nasset, where the novelist Bjørnson spent part of his youth. This road, now very hilly, with views of the Ejrisfjord, goes on to gaards Yre and Indre Bogge (see below), and to Bredvik, and then skirts the steep bank of the fjord. Lastly we either cross the Eikisdals-Elv to Næste (20 Kil. from Eidsvaag) or go straight on to Øveraas (p. 193).

The steamer turns back from Eidsvaag for a short distance and turns S. into the Ejrisfjord*, which extends 10 Kil. to the S.E. To the left, in the distance, is the Storglanæbba; before us rises the imposing Skjortia (5620 ft.) or Hvitkua ('white cow'); then, to the right of it, the abrupt Gogsøre; lastly, in the background, the Sjødela and the Meringdalsnæbba (p. 193), with their large snow-fields. We call at Bygge or Bogge on the E. bank, and soon reach — Næste, or Nauste, or Ejrisfjordsæren (Eikisdal Hot. & Skyds-stat., good; Engl. spoken), a little W. of the mouth of the Eikisdals-Elv. The white villa to the E. of the river is owned by an Englishman.

From Nøste a fjeld-pass, diverging to the right at the Eirisfjord-Kirke (see below), leads between the Hesthaug (3626 ft.) on the N. and the Uglehaug on the S., and down the Hornedal to Grøvdal (p. 189; 8-9 hrs.)

The ROAD to Øveraas (suitable for walking; $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) ascends the fertile Siradal, watered by the Eikisdals-Elv, and flanked with high mountains. To the left is the Skjorta, soon concealed by the Gogsøre or Goksøira (4324 ft.); to the right, in the background, the Meringdalsnæbba and the Sjødøla (see below). We pass ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) the Eirisfjord or Sira-Kirke, lying a little to the left. Beyond it, by the school-house, our road forks, both branches leading to the Eikisdalsvand. That to the right emerges by gaard Aasen. We take the hilly road to the left, cross the broad river, and skirt the Gogsøre. The top of the old moraine, separating the Eikisdalsvand from the Siradal and broken by the river only, commands a fine view of the valley and the fjord behind us. On the S. side of the moraine, 1 hr. beyond the church, are the gaards of — 8 Kil. (from Nøste) Øveraas (Inn, plain, but very fair), 5 min. from the N. end of the Eikisdalsvand.

FROM ØVERAAS TO GRØVDAL, see p. 189. We row across the outlet of the lake, follow the sæter-path on the left bank, then cross the stream and ascend past the Meringdals-Sætre, noting the red and white marks (guide desirable).

FROM ØVERAAS TO ØKSENDALEN (p. 197), 7-8 hrs., with guide. We at first follow the N.E. bank of the lake, then ascend a sæter-path E. to the Ljosebotn-Sæter, near the Ljosebotnvand. The route, now steeper, crosses two snow-fields and then descends rapidly to Branstad, where it joins the Øksendal road.

The *Eikisdalsvand (197 ft.; motor and small boats, p. 191) fills a rocky cleft about 18 Kil. long. On both sides tower snow and ice-clad mountains enlivened with waterfalls. Even at the beginning of August the snow-fields reach almost to the lake. At places, however, the slopes are clothed with pines and other trees. Hazel-nuts abound, and are sold as 'Romsdalsnødder'. Towards noon the lake is usually like a mirror, reflecting Fjeld and Fos in a curious double picture. The few dwellings on its banks are constantly menaced by the rocks above.

On leaving Øveraas, we see at first only a small part of the lake. To the left are the precipices of the Gogsøre and the Aashammer. To the right, gaard Meringdal, with the Meringdalsnæbba and Sjødøla (5640 ft.) above. We soon turn a corner and see the whole lake. On the left is the Fløttatind (5424 ft.). To the right the Nyhoitind (p. 189) peers above the Sjødøla. To the left, the waterfall of Tongjem; then, the two gaards of Viken (whence a fjeld-path leads to the Lilledal, p. 198), with the Vikesakisen (5970 ft.) above them. On the W. side are the Ævelsbræ and the imposing peak of the Gjuraatind (p. 189). Above gaard Hoem lie the snow-fields of the Hoemfjeld, overtopped by the Hoemtind. Farther on, to the right, is the Rangaatind (5224 ft.), to the left the Aagottind (5217 ft.) and the Bjørktind (4354 ft.).

Even before passing the Rangaatind, we observe to the right, in the distance, at the head of the lake, the Maradalsfos*, a superb fall of the Mardøla, descending from an upland dale some 2500 ft. above the sea, plunging 650 ft. down a sheer cliff, rebounding in spray from the rock below, and re-appearing in two arms to form a second great fall lower down. (An excursion from Rejtan to the fall, and back, takes 3 hrs.; the lower fall only is accessible.) Farther on is another and perhaps larger fall, leaping on the N. side of the Maradalsfos into the same abyss.

The lake now trends S.E., and gaard Rejtan comes in sight. Above the gaard is a beautiful veil-like waterfall, with the Børfjeld (4065 ft.) beyond.

Gaard Rejtan (H. Rejtan's Inn, very fair) lies 6 min. from the pier, near the mouth of the Aura-Elv or Eira-Elv. Farther up (6 min.) are the gaards of Utigaard (guide to be had) and Opigaard (tolerable quarters). — Pretty walk up the valley to (20 min.) the Eikisdal Chapel (351 ft.), where service is held four times in summer. Farther on are several mills, below, to the left, driven by a stream springing direct from the earth. Near the bridge over the Aura is a salmon-fishery.

The road leads up the valley, passing pretty gaards, to Finsæt (11 Kil. from Rejtan; Elverhøi Hot, very fair). Path thence (1 hr.; guide desirable, 1 kr.) to the Aurestupe or Aurstaupe, the falls of the Aura, issuing from the Aursjø. We may then ascend the Aura (with guide), following the 'Varder', to the tourist-hut on the Aursjø (p. 198).

From Rejtan we may ascend by a difficult fjeld-path, passing to the W. of the Evelsfonn, the Rangaatinder, the Hoemsfjeld, and the Gjuratind, to Grovdal (p. 189; 10-11 hrs.).

FROM REJTAN TO ØRMEJN, in the Romsdal (p. 191), 8-10 hrs. (guide necessary). The ascent to the fjeld is rather steep, especially for the first 3 hrs., following a brook and passing a waterfall opposite Rejtan. We ascend between the Gjeitside and the Børfjeld to the Sandgrovskar. At the top of the fjeld we cross snow-fields, with the Sandgrovhøgda and the Sandgrovande left and right. Descent easier. No sæter until within $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. of Ørmejn (p. 191).

28. From Molde to Trondhjem.

Most travellers go from Molde to Trondhjem by steamer, either direct, or by Battenfjordsøren (p. 196), to avoid the exposed passage between Bud and Christianssund (p. 195). The land-routes (pp. 197, 199), notably the S. end of the Sundalsfjord and the Sundal (p. 198), offer many attractions; but those who have seen the Romsdal and the Nordfjord must not expect anything grander.

a. Direct Sea Route.

34 S.M. STEAMBOAT (Com. 220, 224b, 225a, 227a, 124) daily in about 12 hrs. (13.60, 8.50 kr.). Passengers subject to sea-sickness should start in the evening in order to make the passage to Christianssund in the night. — The figures below show the distances from Molde to Christianssund, thence to Bejan, and from Bejan to Trondhjem (comp. p. 107).

Molde, see p. 186. — Soon after starting we steer N. into the Julsund. The islands Otters and Gorsten lie on the left; the Julaxel (1810 ft.), on a headland, and the pyramidal Gjendemsfjeld (2080 ft.) on the right. Leaving the Mosfyr to the left, the vessel rounds the cape of Bud or Bod, connected with Molde by a local steamer and by a road, and stands out to sea, unprotected by islands till it reaches Christianssund. Beyond the Bodfjeld we soon sight the headland Stemshesten (2230 ft.), the S. boundary of Nordmøre, and later the lofty Tusters (see below). To the left lies the islet of Fuglen ('bird island'), with a beacon; on the right are several gaards at the base of the Stemshest (Stemme, Hanæs, etc.). Fine view of the snow-mountains of the Romsdal. We next pass the lights of Kvidholmsfyr and Hestskjærsfyr (a white building) on the right, and steer between the Kirkeland (right) and the Inland (left) to —

12 S.M. Christianssund. — *GRAND HOTEL, in the Torv, rebuilt after a fire in Dec. 1907; Møllerup's HOT., behind the former; Nils Kaarvoss's VILLA, opposite, R. 2, B. or S. 1½, D. 2 kr., commended; Lossius's HOT., near the pier, plain. — British Vice-Consul, J. Pareus

Christianssund (pop. 12,000), the capital of the district of Nordmøre, a rapidly growing town and important fish-market, was founded in 1742. It lies on four islands, which enclose the harbour: Kirkelandet, S.W., with the chief church and the hotels; Inlandet, E.; Nordlandet, N.E., with a church and fine woods; and Skorpen, W., with the bare drying-places for the 'klipfisk', which are packed in 'voger' of 39 lbs. and exported chiefly to Spain. Steam-launches ply between the islands.

From the harbour we ascend the street to the market (Torvet), adorned with a statue of President Christie (p. 133; a native of Christianssund); we then go to the right to the Parish Church, with its pretty promenades, follow the Langvei to the N., and outside the town reach the Vaardetaarn, a splendid point of view, 25 min. from the harbour. In ¼ M. more we come to the large basin of the water-works, to which all the rain-water that falls on the rocky hill is led. — Off Christianssund, 15 Kil. N.W., is the island of Grip, with a fishing population of 200.

LOCAL STEAMERS abound. Thus, to the Sundal (Com. 352), see p. 197; to Surendal-Todal (Com. 353), see p. 200; to Molde and the Romsdal (Com. 345) twice a week.

Beyond Christianssund the larger vessels at first keep to the open sea. To the left in the distance is the lighthouse of Grip (see above). To the right, the islands Tusters (2923 ft.) and Stabben (2960 ft.), between which are seen the distant snow-mountains of the Sundal and the Elkisdal. We now steer within the island-belt. To the left, the Edø; beyond it, the low island of Smølen; right, the Ertvaagø. Scenery now featureless. Farther on, through the Ramsefjord, we look out to the open sea. We next steer into the strait of Trondhjemsleden, between the mainland and the large island of Hitteren, where deer occur, with the station of Havnen.

15 S.M. Bejan, on the flat S.W. point of the large peninsula of Fosen. This region, Ørlandet, is well tilled. Numerous houses and gaards.

We next see the church of Ørlandet to the left, the tower of the old mansion of Østraat in the distance, and N.E. the long expanse of the Skjærnfjord. Rounding the Agdenes, a cape on the right, we now steer S.E. into the Trondhjem Fjord, the entrance to which is guarded by batteries. Those on the N. side are at Brettingnes. The currents here are very strong, especially at half-tide. With a N.W. wind the sea is rough. On the right is the little port of Selven, where travellers bound for the N. direct change into a steamer coming from Trondhjem (comp. Com. 226a). The hills on the banks are low; the foreland on the E. side is well cultivated, and here we see the smiling bay of Rissen and the ruined nunnery of Rein. On the right, the church of Lensvik; left, Rødberg, or Rauberg, and the church of Stadsbygden. We next pass the broad mouth of the Orkedalsfjord (p. 200), on the E. side of which rises the Graakallen (p. 205). By Trollabrug (p. 205) we obtain our first view of —

b. By Land to Battenfjordsøren and thence by Sea, via Christianssund.

ROAD to Battenfjordsøren (38 Kil.) Motor-car in $1\frac{1}{4}$ - $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr., fare 7 kr.; horse-carr. in $4\frac{1}{2}$ -5 hrs. (stolkjærre for 1 pers. 7, for 2 pers. 10 kr.; caleschvogn for 2, 3, or 4 pers. 16, 18, 20 kr.; bargain advisable). Start early to enjoy the scenery. The inn at Battenfjordsøren is very fair, but best to go at once on board the STEAMER (Com 351; six times weekly, arriving at Battenfjordsøren about 9 p.m.), as it starts at 4 a.m. The steamers are small, but the berths (50 ø.) and food (B. or S. $1\frac{1}{2}$, D. 2 kr.) are good. The passage to Trondhjem takes 13 hrs. (fare 10.60 kr., for two members of a family 16 kr.).

The road from Molde skirts the Fanefjord. Beyond the sanatorium of Legrovik (p. 187) the handsome gaard Aarø lies on the right, and a road to the Aarødal (p. 187) diverges to the left. We next pass Røbak, the large church and the parsonage of Bolsø, and Strande. Fine view of the fjord, on the S. side of which is the conspicuous Skaala (p. 192). Passing Lenset and Mjelve, we soon reach — 19 Kil. Hjelset (tolerable quarters), which is also a steamboat-station (Com. 333, 362). — Road further up the Fanefjord, see p. 199.

The Battenfjord road, diverging to the left, ascends past several gaards, with occasional views. To the right is a road to Ejde (p. 199). We then cross the high plateau of the Rauheia. Beyond a small lake (about $1\frac{1}{4}$ hr.'s drive from Hjelset) the road begins its winding descent. To the left are the Fursat-Sæter and the small Hot, Fursat. Pleasant view of the fertile valley. After a drive of $1\frac{1}{4}$ hr. more we reach — 19 Kil. Battenfjordsøren (Hot. Nordmør, by the pier, R. 2, B. or S. 1 $\frac{1}{4}$, D. 2 kr.), prettily situated at the S. end of the Battenfjord or Botnfjord.

The voyage down the Battenfjord to Christianssund (p. 195) takes 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. At the mouth of the fjord, W., lies the large gaard Gimnæs. We then pass between the islands Aversø, with the Meknøkken (1690 ft.), and Fredø. At Christianssund we lie to for 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ hr., time enough in fine weather for a walk to the Vaardetaarn (p. 195).

The rest of the voyage avoids the open sea wholly or in part. In the former case we steer S. of the large islands Tustersø, Stabben, and Ertvaagø (p. 195), calling at Laurvik (Aure) and Vighals (Vikan); in the latter we keep N. of these islands, following the route of the large steamers to Edø, Magerø, Borø, and Storfosen. On Storfosen is a large dairy-farm (180 cows), which supplies Christianssund with milk.

Bejan, where the two water-ways unite, and the entrance to the Trondhjem Fjord, see p. 196. The voyage from Christianssund to Trondhjem (p. 200) takes 10-10 $\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.

c. By Land through the Sundal.

This route is best combined with a visit to the Eikisdal (p. 191). returning thence, we go E. from Eidsvaag (p. 192) to Eidsøren and take the SUNDAL STEAMER (Com. 851; good restaur. on board; thrice weekly, in 2 $\frac{1}{4}$ hrs.) or boat-skyds (4 hrs.) to Sundalsøren; or else we cross the fjeld from Øveraas (p. 193) to Øksendalen, and there take steamer or boat-skyds to Sundalsøren (in all 1 day). — From Sundalsøren a road with fast stations leads by Aune to (135 Kil.) Søren, on the Trondhjem railway (p. 96; 2 days).

The Sundal steamer comes from Christianssund (p. 195). The route is at first uninteresting. Stations: Kristvik, Endreset, Kværnæs, Gimnæs (see above); then, beyond the mouth of the Battenfjord, Torvig, Berge, Ødegaard, Hoem, Flemmen, and Sandvig (Gjul), where the Sundalsfjord begins. We touch also at Koksvik i Thingvold (p. 200; see Map, p. 186) and Angvik (p. 199), and reach (6 hrs. from Christianssund) —

Eidsøren (Skyds-station; three beds), where the road from Eidsvaag ends (p. 192). Boat-skyds to (17 Kil.) Øksendalsøren with two rowers 4.76, with three 6.80 kr.; to (23 Kil.) Sundalsøren 6.44, 9.20 kr.; to (14 Kil.) Koksvik (p. 200) 3.92, 5.60 kr.

Beyond stations Fjøsøide and Jordal we enjoy a freer *View of the head of the fjord, to the S., with its girdle of snow-capped mountains. The steamer first steers into the bay of — Øksendalen or Øksendalsøren (Virum's Hotel), at the mouth of the valley of that name, with two high mountains at its head. A road ascends the valley to Branstad (14 Kil.; p. 193; fjeld-path to the Eikisdalsvand). Boat-skyds from Øksendalen to (11 Kil.) Sundalsøren with two rowers 3.08, with three 4.40 kr.

The next station is Opdal or Opdal, on the E. bank of the fjord, the starting-point for a visit to the Inderdal.

From Opdøl (slow station) a road ascends the Virumdal to Dalsbø and (14 Kil.) Nedredal or Nerdal (quarters; fjeld-route to Todalsøren, see p. 200). We then walk up the Inderdal* to the tourist-hut of Inderdal (bed 75, B. 40, D. 80, S. 50 g.), where guides for fjeld-ascents are to be had. The finest points are the Skarfeld (6070 ft.), the pointed Dalataarn (4902 ft.), and behind it the Tuarnfjeld (6103 ft.). — From Inderdal across the fjeld to Storfale in the Sundal (see below), 5-6 hrs.

The Sundalsfjord becomes grander. To the left rise the snow-capped Evelsfonnhei (5042 ft.) and the pointed Hofsnibba (5144 ft.), with the Fonnenibba to its left; in front towers the Kalken (6181 ft.), separating the Sundal from the Lilledal. In 2 $\frac{1}{4}$ hrs. from Ejdsøren the steamboat reaches — Sundalsøren (Inn & Skyds-stat., tolerable), at the mouth of the Sundals-Elv, dominated on the N. by the Hofsnibba.

From Sundalsøren we row in $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. to gaard Trædal, at the entrance of the grand Lilledal*, which a road ascends to (9 Kil.) gaard Lilledalen (quarters at Ole Dalen's). Thence we ascend (for a short way very steep) to (5 hrs.) the Holbu-Sæter, on the Holbuvand (2585 ft.), where the hut of the Christianssund Tourist Society offers food and four beds. A marked path leads hence past the Osvand (2733 ft.), Langvand (2743 ft.), Sandvand (2756 ft.; with the Sandvaslaugen-Sæter), and Torbuvand (2814 ft.), and up the hill, to the N. end of the Aursjø (3434 ft.; 10 Kil. long), on the W. side of which are the three Alf-Sæters and a summer 'pension'. Skirting the E. bank, we reach, 5 hrs from the Holbuvand, the large and well-equipped Aursjø- or Lesje-Hytte (20 beds). In 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ hrs. more we arrive at the Gautbu-Sæter on the Gautsjø; then past the Flensvand, and at places skirting the Jora, the outflow of these lakes, we descend to (2 $\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.) Holaaker, in the Gudbrandsdal (p. 89).

The lower part of the Sundal* almost rivals the Romsdal in grandeur. The scenery is most impressive when approached from the Dovrefjeld (R. 11).

The road ascends on the right bank of the river, passing the Sundalskirke, and crosses an old moraine, overgrown with birches. To the left are the picturesque Vingefosser, formed by the discharge of the Evelsfonn. We cross this brook and then the Sundals-Elv. To the left, behind us, is gaard Elvershei, belonging to an Englishman; to the right is the snow and glacier-clad Kaldfonna (6060 ft.), also conspicuous farther on. The road ascends by an old moraine to a higher zone of the valley, crosses the stream issuing from the Grødal (right), and leads to the right close under the steep slope of the Hoaasniibba. At four points here the traveller is urged by his skyds-gut to drive quickly to avoid avalanches ('Kjør till!'). Beyond gaard Tyfte, the road returns to the right bank. Looking back, on and beyond the bridge, we have a fine view of the snow-fields of the Evelsfonn (see above). In 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ -2 hrs. from Sundalsøren we reach gaard —

19 Kil. Storfale (Inn, very fair, R., B., & S. 3 kr.), on a hill to the left. Waterfalls descend on both sides of the valley.

The Inderdal (see above) may be reached hence in 5-6 hrs. (with guide).

The serrated mountain that becomes more conspicuous as we advance is the Romfjogskjærringen. We ascend a rock-barrier, closing the lower part of the valley; view of the Evelsfonn behind. — The road crosses the Sundals-Elv and passes the little red Romfogs-Kirke. To the left, by gaard Musgjerd, are the long Otheimfos and the jagged ridge culminating in the Skretund (3852 ft.). The road re-crosses the river by the Otheim-Bro, passes the gaards of Gravem, and skirts the steep S. slope of the Skretind. Opposite opens the Gredal. — In 2-2½ hrs. from Storfale we reach —

17 Kil. Gjøra (good inn). — A few kilometres farther on, near the boundary of the Romsdals-Amt and the S. Trondhjems-Amt, the road becomes so steep that most travellers walk. To the right is the deep gorge of the Sundals-Elv, or Driva, as it is called in its upper course. The good road ends here, and is continued by a very hilly one of the old type.

10 Kil. (pay for 14, but not in opp. direction) Sliper (1804 ft.; poor inn). The next part of the road, under the Sliperhøvd (3435 ft.), is also pleasanter for walking than for driving. On the E. side of the Sliperhøvd opens the valley of the Vindøla, an affluent of the Driva, which the road crosses at a saw-mill. On the left bank, visible in the distance, is the church of Lenset, commanded by the Vindalskinn (4744 ft.). Around are numerous gaards. The road passes the thriving gaard Gravaune, skirts the S. spur of the Vindalskinn, and runs through underwood. We soon come in sight of the long valleys and heights of the Dovrefjeld. We cross the Festa, with its falls both above and below the bridge (2014 ft.). To the left, behind us, rises the Horn (5226 ft.), with a large snow-field.

15 Kil. (pay for 21, in opp. direction 18) Aalbu (1740 ft.; good inn), at the S. base of the Dørremshøvd (2871 ft.), is a walk of 4 hrs. from Sliper, a drive of 2½-3 hrs.

A broad track, diverging S. at Aalbu, crosses the Driva, skirts (being at places a path only) the N. and E. sides of the Svarthøvd (3127 ft.), crosses the Driva again, and reaches (about 2 hrs.) the Dovrefjeld road (p. 91) about halfway between Aune and Rise.

The road, still hilly, passes the Opdals-Kirke (2070 ft.), a timber building of the 17th cent., with a conspicuous spire, at the foot of the Ørsnipen (4521 ft.).

11 Kil. (pay for 13) Aune (p. 91), on the great Dovrefjeld road, about 1¾-2 hrs' drive from Aalbu.

d. By Land viâ Angvik and Orkedal.

This route traverses the Nordmøre, a district much admired by the Norwegians. It is best combined with a visit to the Eikisdalsvand by going on from Eidsæren (p. 197) by steamer (Com. 851) or boat-skyds to Koksvik i Thingvold, whence Orkedalsgrøen is reached in two days.

From Molde to (19 Kil.) Hjelset, see p. 196. The road follows the Fane fjord, past gaard Ejde, to —

8 Kil. Næs. Beyond the church of Kleve, at the E. end of the fjord, the road to Tjelde (18 Kil.; p. 192) diverges to the right. Straight on, past gaard Istad, we reach —

11 Kil. Heggejm or Heggem and (11 Kil.) Angvik, a station of the Sundal steamer (p. 198). Then by boat-skyds across the Sundalsfjord to (6 Kil.) —

Koksvik i Thingvold (Inn, good and moderate), with an old church, another station of the Sundal steamer. — Then land-skyds to (7 Kil.) Bølsæt, and boat-skyds to (7 Kil.) Stangvik, a station of the Christianssund and Todal steamer. Land-skyds again to (15 Kil.) Aasen, near the steamboat-station of Surendalsøren.

The steamer from Christianssund to Surendalsøren and on to Surendal and Todalsøren (Com. 353) plies thrice a week. Cart-road from Todalsøren up the valley of the Todals Elv to gaard Kaarrath (good quarters). Then in 5 hrs. to the Inderdals-Hytte (p. 188), and in 8 hrs. to the Troldhams-Hytte (see below), or in 5 hrs. to the Nædredal (guide 4 kr.), see p. 198.

From Aasen we drive to (10 Kil.) Haandstad (74 ft.) and to (15 Kil.) Kvammen. In the Foldal, which opens S., is the (10 hrs.) Troldheim Tourist Hut, for excursions in this interesting region.

17 Kil. Rindalen (469 ft.; quarters), with a church.

17 Kil. Garberg i Meldalen, the first place in Søndre Trondhjems-Amt. The road reaches the Ørkla, whose valley a road ascends to Kalstad i Meldalen and Bjerkaker (p. 92). We descend on the left bank of the river to the village of —

19 Kil. Storkmo (good inn), a station of the electric railway from Løkken (p. 92; 5 Kil.) to Orkedalsøren, by which we complete our journey (Com. 37). Stat. Fandrom, 7 Kil. E. of which is the large sanatorium of Lisbetsøter (3114 ft.).

20 Kil. Orkedalsøren (Rian's Inn), at the influx of the Ørkla into the Orkedals-Fjord, an arm of the Trondhjem Fjord. Large factory of wooden wares. The terminus is at (21 Kil.) Thamshavn (new hotel), with its saw-mills and large quays for the copper from Løkken. Steamer (Com. 368) from Thamshavn to Trondhjem daily, in 2½ hrs., down the Orkedalsfjord and past the mouth of the Gulosen.

29. Trondhjem and its Fjord.

Arrival. The RAILWAY STATION (Pl. D, E, 1) lies N. of the town, by the harbour. The large STEAMERS are berthed at the W. quay of the Nedre Elvehavn. Carriages, hotel-omnibuses, and porters ('Bybud') with hand-carts ('Triller') await trains and steamers. — Bergenske and Nordenfjeldske Steamboat Office (Pl. 1; E, 2), Kjøbmands-Gade 52, near the Bratør-Bro.

'Det er saa fagert i Trondhjem at hvile'.

('It is so fair in Trondhjem to dwell')

Refrain of Old Song.

Trondhjem, or Throndhjem (pron. trōnjēm), German Drontheim, capital of the Stift or province of that name, and seat of a bishop, with 38,200 inhab., lies on a peninsula formed by the Trondhjems-Fjord and the river Nid, in 63°30' N. lat., (same as the S. coast of Iceland). In summer the climate is like that of the S. of England, in winter like that of Dresden. The river is rarely frozen over, the fjord never. Hence the rich vegetation. Many of the townspeople are wealthy, and they have long been noted for their kindly disposition. The district is called Trendelagen, its inhabitants Trønder. Around rise picturesque hills: E. the Blæsevoldbakke, ending in the spur of Ladehammeren; S.W. the Bagliaas; W. the Gjeitfjeld.

HISTORY. Till the middle of the 16th cent. the town was called Nidarōs ('mouth of the river Nid'). Like Upsala in Sweden, Trondhjem is the 'heart of the country'. Here, on Bratgren, the Norwegian kings were elected and crowned. Here met the famous Grething. In 986 Olaf Tryggvesson founded a palace here, and a church dedicated to St. Clement. St. Olaf, the chief founder of the town (1016), continued the work, and after his death at the battle of Stiklestad (1080) a new impulse was given: for his remains were placed in a reliquary on the high-altar of St. Clement's Church, where they attracted hosts of pilgrims. The St. Olaf cult made Trondhjem one of the largest and richest towns in Norway, and gave rise to the erection of the cathedral, nine other churches, and five monasteries.

But civil wars, pestilence, sieges, and fires brought disaster, and the pilgrimages were ended by the Reformation. The reliquary of the saint was carried off, his remains were buried in some unknown spot, and most of the churches and monasteries were swept away. — The town has been entirely or partially burned down no less than fifteen times. In 1769 the population numbered 7500, in 1815 about 10,000, in 1835 about 12,900, in 1875 it reached 22,500, and since then 33,200. Trade is brisk, but much inferior to that of Bergen. The chief exports are copper from Røraas (p. 95), dried and salted fish, and train-oil. The shipbuilding yards, a foundry, engine-works, and several factories may also be mentioned.

The HARBOUR is about 120 acres in area. The oldest part is the Øvre Elvehavn (Pl. E, 2, 3), flanked with timber-built warehouses, behind which runs the Kjøbmands-Gade, with the merchants' offices. Adjoining the Øvre is N. the Nedre Elvehavn (Pl. F, 1), and W. the Kanalhavn (38 ft. deep in the middle). The Ydre Havn, or outer harbour (Pl. E, 1) is protected by a breakwater.

In the centre of the town is the MARKET PLACE (Torget), where the Munke-Gade and Kongens-Gade cross. In the former, a little N., is the Stiftsgaard (Pl. D, 2, 3), the residence of the 'Stiftsamtmand' (governor of the province), used as a royal palace during coronation festivities. In the Kongens-Gade is the Fruekirke. Beyond it is the 'Park', with a small bronze statue (by Bissen) of the famous Admiral Tordenskjold (p. 14), born at Trondhjem in 1691. Opposite (E.) are the handsome new Masonic Lodge (Frimurerloge; Pl. 2; D, 3; café, see p. 200) and (N.) the Savings Bank (Pl. 5; D, 3), which contains the Kunstforening (entrance from Apothekerveiten; daily 12-2, adm. 25 ø.; Sun. free; Wed., 12-2, 25 ø.); then the Fisheries Museum (entrance from the Søndre-Gade; daily 12-2). — In the Dronningens-Gade is the Nordensfeldtske Museum of Industrial Art (Pl. 3; E, 3).

The Munke-Gade, in which the new red building of the Technical School is conspicuous to the left, leads S. to the N. transept of the cathedral. The entrance for visitors is in the chapter-house (K on the Plan), to the N. of the choir.

The *Cathedral (Pl. D, 4), in plan and in execution the grandest church in Scandinavia, was founded by King Olaf Kyrre over the tomb of St. Olaf (comp. p. 201), and was enlarged after the erection of Trondhjem into an archbishopric in 1151. Eysteinn (1161-88), the third archbishop, who owing to a quarrel with King Sverrir (p. xlii) fled to England and remained there three years, afterwards returned and built the present transept on the site of the former nave (see Ground Plan C), which already had a tower in the centre, and the *Chapter House (Pl. K), both in the late-Romanesque style under English influence. To these Eysteinn's successor added the *Choir (Pl. B), terminating in an exquisite octagonal apse (Pl. A), which covered the revered relics of St. Olaf, the chief treasure of the church. We find here developed, with the aid of favourable material (bluish saponite or soapstone, Norwegian 'klæbersten' from quarries to the E. of Trondhjem, and marble from the quarries of Almenningen, p. 212), all the decorative splendour of early Gothic, mingled with Romanesque features, with traces of elaborate classical treatment, and with indications of exuberant imagination. During a fourth building period, 1248-1300, was added the grand Nave (Pl. D), also Gothic, but still more under English influence. The cathedral has been repeatedly injured by fire, in 1328 so seriously that the choir had to be almost entirely rebuilt. In 1531 a terrible fire destroyed both town and cathedral. The adoption of the Reformation in 1537 limited the restoration to the most urgent repairs. In 1708 and 1719 the church was again injured by fire, and down to 1869 the part W. of the transept was a ruin. Since then it has been undergoing judicious restoration: a great work which is justly regarded as a point of national honour. The able architect C. Christie (d. 1906) used all the old parts and carefully supplemented them with new ones. The chapter-house, the choir with its octagonal apse and rich S. portal (Kongeindgangen, royal entrance), and the great central tower with its four corner-turrets in the English style, are completed. The work is now progressing under the architect Hr. Ryfjord; its completion in 1914 is hoped for, but will probably take longer. The funds are provided by the state, by the Trondhjem Savings Bank, and by private contributions (about 100,000 kr. per annum).

The INTERIOR is open 12-1.30 and 6-7.30 p.m.; Sun. 1-2.30 only (donation to funds expected). — We enter the Romanesque CHAPTER HOUSE (Pl. K; comp. p. 202) and pass through it to the E. end of the church with its domed OCTAGON (Pl. A), executed in rich Gothic style. The silver reliquary of St. Olaf once preserved here, was removed to Copenhagen at the Reformation. From the ambulatory a side-door leads to St. Olaf's Spring (Pl. o), which probably determined the site of the church. A staircase (closed during the public hours of admission) ascends to the Triforium and Clerestory, which afford a good view of the church. The apse is adjoined by the E. NAVE (Pl. B), which is partitioned off from the TRANSEPT (Pl. C) and used for Sunday service. The white marble columns contrast effectively with the greyish blue of the saponite walls. The light-coloured stained-glass windows were executed in England. Above the chancel arch is a figure of Christ. — The sacristan opens the passage to the Romanesque TRANSEPT (Pl. C). The stained glass in the S. chapel is from Cologne. — We may also visit the unfinished NAVE (Pl. D).

In the 11th and 12th cent. the cathedral was the royal burial-place, and several kings were afterwards crowned here. By the constitution of Norway (1814) the kings must be crowned here, and this was done in the case of Charles XIV. John in 1818, Charles XV in 1860, Oscar II. in 1873, and Haakon VII. in 1906. — Important works on the cathedral have been published by P. A. Munch, Schirmer (Norwegian), and Minutoli (German). A short illustrated description by O. Krefling, in English, was published in 1905 by Brun (p. 201; 1½ kr.).

To the E. and S.E. of the cathedral is the Churchyard, many of the graves in which, in Norwegian fashion, are adorned with fresh flowers every Saturday. On its N. side is a bust of Thomas Angell (1692-1767), founder of the adjacent ladies' home. To the S.W. of the cathedral is the old Kongs-Gaard (Pl. D, 4), once the archbishop's residence, and now an artillery arsenal.

The Academy of Science (det kgl. norske Videnskabers Selskab), Erling Skakkes Gade 47 (Pl. 9; C, 3), founded in 1760, once had Schøning, Suhm, Gunnerus, and other scholars among its members. It has a library of 70,000 vols., large natural history collections (especially northern animals and minerals), and antiquities and coins from Trondhjems-Stift (open 12-2 on Sun., Tues., Wed., and Frid.; in July and Aug. daily, and Sun. 5-6; adm. free on Sun. and Wed.; at other times, 25 ø.). The small 'Stavekirke' of the 14th cent., in the court at the back, was brought from Holtaalen in 1884, and has had the W. wall of the church of Aalen added to it.

WALKS. — To the EAST we may cross the upper bridge over the Nid (the Bybro; Pl. D, E, 3) to the suburb of Baklandet, and ascend (lastly by a path to the left) to (10 min.) the grounds by the fortress of Kristiansten* (236 ft.), erected in the 17th cent., which afford a picturesque view of the town and environs, especially by morning-light. — Passing through the suburb of Baklandet, where there are large engine-works and a shipbuilding-yard, we may go N.E., across the Meraker railway (p. 206), by Lademoen, to the (½ hr.) headland of Ladehammeren.

On the WEST the town was formerly enclosed by fortifications. On their site rises the modern Ilenkirke (Pl. B, 2), built of blue quartz-sandstone. Beyond is the suburb of Ilen (12 min. from the Torv; tramway, see p. 201), with a Roman Catholic church (Pl. A, 2) and a hospital. On the fjord are extensive timber-yards.

A picturesque *View of Trondhjem (best by evening-light), with the winding Nid in the foreground, the hills to the E., and the extensive fjord, is obtained from Aasveien (Pl. A, 3, 4), a road ascending the hill to the S. of Ilen and passing several villas; from the tramway-terminus we take the second street to the left, leading in about $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. to a bench. The rocky hill above was once crowned with a castle of King Sverre (Sverresborg).

The highest hill near Trondhjem is the Graakallen (1831 ft.), ascended in about 2 hrs.; from the tramway-terminus at Ilén we mount the steep Stenbjergbakken street (Pl. A, 2, 3) straight on, turning to the S. at the top; after 25 min. we follow a road to the right, leading to ($\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) the Fjeldsøter Hot. & Restaur. (1477 ft.; p. 200); 10 min. further is the small restaur. Skistue (D. $1\frac{1}{4}$ kr., good). A footpath leads in $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. more to the top, crowned with a vane and a refuge-hut. The view embraces a great part of the Trondhjem Fjord; E. the Størdal (p. 206) as far as the mountains on the Swedish frontier (Sylarne, p. 376); S. the Guldal (p. 96) and the vast fjeld, over which tower the Snehatta and the Troidheim Mts.; to the W. is the sea.

On the slope of the spurs of the Gjeitfjeld, visible from Ilén, are several old coast-lines, 528 and 580 ft. above the sea, corresponding with others on the hills on the E. side of the fjord. A path, branching from the Trollabrug road, ascends to them past the Skytterhus (rifle-range). — The road to the (5 Kil.) Trollabrug iron-foundry also offers a fine view of the fjord.

In the fjord, to the N., lies the fortified island of Munkholmen (motor-boat in 10 min.; 25 ø.; adm. free; a soldier acts as guide), the site of a Benedictine monastery, founded in 1028, of which part of a round tower is the only relic. Count Peter Griffenfeldt (p. lxxiv), the minister of Christian V., was confined here from 1680 to 1698. Some interesting old Norwegian buildings are preserved here. The view from the outer walls is attractive.

The excursion to the falls of the Nid near gaard Leren, 8 Kil. S. of Trondhjem, is best made by carriage (skyds for 1 pers. 5, horse carr. for 2 pers. 8, caleschvogn 12, landau 14 kr.; $\frac{1}{2}$ -1 kr. extra for every hour beyond four). The road leads through Ilén and up the left bank of the river. Or we may go by train to Selsbæk (p. 96). The road from the station descends in 5 min. to the Trondhjem high-road. Here we turn to the right, and after fifty paces diverge to the left. In 10 min. we come to a finger-post 'til Fossestuen', where the road to the left leads in 10 min. more to Fossestuen, a good restaurant opposite the bed of the Lille Lersfos, which has been turned off and no longer exists, and to (20 min.) the Store Lersfos, 105 ft. high, the right side of which is still fine, though three-fourths of the water are diverted by the electric works, which supply Trondhjem with light and the tramway with power. (Three turbines of 1000 H.P. each; admittance only by permission obtained at the Trondhjem office.)

A pleasant STEAMBOAT TRIP (Com. 374) may be taken on the Inner Trondhjem Fjord, flanked with low hills. The E. bank is well cultivated at places. The chief stations are Holmberget, on the Frosten peninsula, W. of which in the little Tutera (with ruins of the Cistercian monastery of Tautra, founded 1207); then Leksvik, on the W. bank, and Hokstad on the large Yttere, with sulphur-mines. Levanger (p. 207) is reached in 4-5 hrs. — Other steamers pass Levanger, steer direct to Stenkjær (p. 207), and then by Fosnæs (p. 208) to Hjeldnæsset at the head of the fjord.

AN EXCURSION TO THE SÆLBO-SJØ takes two days. 1st Day, by rail to Heimdal (p. 96); walk to Teigen, or drive (skyds-station at rail. stat. Heimdal) to Bretun (17 Kil. pay for 24), both at the W. end of the Sælbo-Sjø or Sælbo-Sjå (525 ft.; 443 ft. deep), a lake, 29 Kil. long, on which a steamboat plies five times weekly in summer (Com. 510). On the S.E. bank of the lake, near the church of Sælbo, at the mouth of the Nid which descends from the Tydal, lie Marienburg and the Sælbo Sanatorium, where we spend the night. — 2nd Day, row (7 Kil.) or drive (15 Kil.) to Setsaas on the N. bank, and drive by a picturesque route, by (7 Kil.) Fuglem and (12 Kil.) Viken, to (12 Kil.) Hommelvik on the Meraker railway (see below).

From Trondhjem to Storlien (Östersund, Stockholm).

106 Kil. RAILWAY (Merakerbane) in 4½ hrs.; two trains daily (fares 5.30, 8.50 kr.). To Hell several trains daily in 1½ hr. — To Stockholm, 748 Kil., two trains daily in 24-25 hrs. (fares 23.10, 15.50 kr.).

The train crosses the Nid; to the right is the suburb of Baklandet; then, left, the church of Lade. Beyond (3 Kil.) Leangen is the lunatic asylum of Rotvold, on the left. We skirt the fjord, here called Strindensfjord, and farther on, Stjerdalsfjord. 7 Kil. Ranheim; 15 Kil. Malvik.

23 Kil. Hommelvik, with brisk timber-trade. (Road to Lake Sælbo, see above; fine view from a hill on the road, 1 hr. inland.) Short tunnel.

32 Kil. Hell, junction of the Levanger line (see below), lies at the mouth of the Stjerdals-Elv, which is crossed by a bridge. — The line ascends the left bank of the Stjerdals-Elv. The green valley is flanked with birch and fir-woods. 42 Kil. Hegre, near the mouth of the Forra, descending from the N.E.; 57 Kil. Floren. Waterfalls on both sides. At (72 Kil.) Gudaaen (276 ft.) we cross the Reinaa. Tunnel. Then an ascent, through pretty scenery, and across the Stjerdals-Elv to —

81 Kil. Meraker (719 ft.; Rail. Rest.; custom-house for travellers coming from Sweden), a pleasant little town, the last in Norway. Fine view from the station. Near it is an old copper-mine. — The line ascends rapidly. Beautiful pine-wood. The vegetation becomes scanty. The Åreskutan (p. 384) and other Swedish snow-mountains appear in the distance. We cross the Swedish frontier (1824 ft.), where many timber galleries protect the line against snow-drifts.

106 Kil. Storlien (Rail. Rest.; see p. 386). The line is now Swedish (R. 58).

From Trondhjem, by Sunnan, Snaasenvand, and Fiskumfos, to Namsos.

RAILWAY from Trondhjem to (137 Kil.) Sunnan in about 4 hrs. (fares 6.85, 4.25 kr.). — STEAMER (Com. 514, 515) to Sem daily in 4½-5 hrs. (fare 2.10 kr.). — ROAD from Sem to Fiskum 56 Kil., and thence to Namsos 71 Kil. (fast stations). — This is a fine route, though the Fiskumfos is not in full force after mid-July; if the Snaasenvand steamer suits it can be done in 3 days. Or we may go direct from Stenkjær to Namsos in one day. To Stenkjær by steamer, see p. 206.

From Trondhjem to (32 Kil.) Hell, see p. 206. The railway to Levanger crosses the Stjerdals-Elv, passes (35 Kil.) Stjerdalen, skirts the fjord, and then turns inland. 42 Kil. Skatval. View of the Aasenfjord to the left; in the foreground is the little island of Stenviksholm, with a ruined castle. 51 Kil. Langstein; 62 Kil. Aasen, on the Hammervand; 70 Kil. Ronglan; 76 Kil. Skogn. Fertile country.

84 Kil. Levanger (Backlund's Hot, good), a prettily situated little town with 1750 inhab., a training-college, and several factories, suffered seriously from fires in 1846, 1877, and 1897, but has been rebuilt.

92 Kil. Rinnan; 96 Kil. Værdalen or Værdalsøren, on the left bank of the Værdals-Elv, which we cross. [By gaard Stiklestad and the church of Verdal, 4 Kil. inland, a column erected in 1805 recalls the death of St. Olaf at the battle of 29th July 1030. Comp. p. xli.]

A road with fast stations ascends the Verdal, which was devastated in 1893 by huge volumes of water forcing their way up from the strata below the surface. 8 Kil. Skjærdalen; 11 Kil. Garnæs; 19 Kil. Sulstuen (good station); 22 Kil. (pay for 35) Skaltugan (good quarters), the first Swedish station (comp. p. 375). From here we may walk (with guide) to the Skalyr (1350 ft.), cross the lake by boat, and ascend the fjeld to a Lapp Camp (comp. p. 255), to be found here in summer (3-4 hrs. from Skaltugan).

106 Kil. Salberg, with church on the right; 113 Kil. Sparbuén, also with a church, on the Borgenfjord, which separates the peninsula of Inderø from the mainland. 119 Kil. Vist. The train approaches the Beitstad-Fjord, the inmost arm of Trondhjem Fjord.

137 Kil. Stenkjær (Thorbjørnsen's Hot; Grand.-H.; pop. 2000), rebuilt after a fire in 1900, has a pleasant site at the mouth of the By-Elv, which descends from the Snaasenvand and is crossed here by a bridge.

FROM STENKJÆR TO NAMSOS (p. 213), 86 Kil., by skyds-road. 15 Kil. (pay for 17) Østrik (good quarters), on the inmost bay of the Beitstadfjord (see above). Then past gaard Fosnæs (p. 206) across the watershed (800 ft.) to the Namsenfjord 15 Kil. Elden (292 ft.); 18 Kil. Redhammer (good quarters; steamer-station, Com. 384); 16 Kil. Bangsund (22 Kil. from Namsos by water); 11 Kil. Spillum. From Spillum 3 Kil. more to the Stremhylla Ferry; then row across the fjord (4 Kil.) or drive (8 Kil.) to Namsos.

The train leaves the fjord and ascends on the N. bank of the By-Elv. 131 Kil. Byfossen, between the Reinsvand and the Fossumvand, through which the By-Elv flows.

137 Kil. Sunnan (good quarters at H. M. Bremer's), the terminus of the railway, lies at the S.W. end of the Snaasenvand

(78 ft.; 45 Kil. long; 443 ft. deep) a beautiful lake enclosed by wooded and rocky hills. On the N. bank runs a road with poor stations. By steamboat (p. 207), the pier of which is at gaard Nestvolden, beyond the bridge, $4\frac{1}{2}$ hrs. to —

Sem (good quarters). From Sem we drive round the E. end of the lake, and ascend the Snaasenheia by a beautiful, but hilly road. Beyond the highest point (804 ft.) the new road diverges to the right and descends into the pretty valley of the Sandøla, which, at the bridge, forms the fine Formofos. We descend on the right bank of the stream, skirting the E. slope of the Gjeitfjeld (2580 ft.).

27 Kil. (pay for 33) Formo (Formo Hot.). Running near the winding Sandøla, the road next reaches the Namsen-Elv, crosses it (about $1\frac{1}{2}$ Kil. above the mouth of the Sandøla), and joins the Namsos and Fiskum road, 5 Kil. E. of Vie (see below); to the left is the church of Grong (see below). We follow this road, E., on the right bank of the Namsen-Elv, to —

12 Kil. Fossland (197 ft.). The road, hewn in the rock in many places, crosses the mouth of the Garlands-Elv, and ascends the marshy slope of the Aurstadfjeld (1355 ft.), passing the gaards of Gartland (owned by Mr. Merthyr Guest) and Aurstad, where we enjoy a superb view. We now descend to the farm-buildings (good quarters) on the Fiskumfos, a great fall of the Namsen-Elv, 105 ft. high (not unlike the Rhine-Fall at Schaffhausen), but dwindling in August. The little house below the dairy affords a good view of the fall. About 1 Kil. farther, 17 Kil. from Fossland, is the station of Fiskem or Fiskum (Hot.).

FROM FISKUM TO NAMSOS, down the wooded and populous Namdal (about 8000 inhab.), a long day's journey (9-10 hrs., excl. stoppages). The scenery is fine at places.

To Fossland, and then to the end of the road coming from the Snaasenvand, and past the church of Grong, see above.

11 Kil. (from Fossland) Vie, a great resort of English anglers, the Namsen-Elv being one of the best salmon-rivers in Europe. The fishings are let. Nearly 1 Kil. farther is gaard Ler (good quarters) at the foot of the Holoklumpen (1368 ft.). The road skirts the river and the Spanfjeld (1559 ft.), and passes the old church of Rauem.

17 Kil. Haugum, in Rauemsletten, a fairly well-tilled district. About 2 Kil. E. of Haugum a skyds-road branches N., by Flasnæs (good quarters) and the E. bank of the Edsvand, to (11 Kil.) Galgaften and (14 Kil.) Merkved; then past Høiland church to (17 Kil.) Flot, and down the Rosendals-Elv to (17 Kil.) Kongsmo, at the head of the inner *Folden*fjord (p. 213).

The road traverses the marshy Tramyr.

11 Kil. Hun, near the church of Skage. We descend on the left bank of the Reinbjør-Elv, cross it near its influx into the Namsen-Elv, and follow this broad stream, at the foot of the Aalbergfjeld.

15 Kil. Namsos (p. 213).

Apart from the British tourist-steamers (enquire of Messrs. Th. Cook & Son, or other tourists' agents) and others from Hamburg etc., those of the united companies Bergenske and Nordenfjeldske Dampskibs-Selskab (p. xviii) are the most important plying to the Nordland. In summer they send tourist-steamers from Trondhjem twice a week to the North Cape (Com. 225b), besides mail-steamers once a week throughout the year to Hammerfest, to Vadsø, and to Syd-Varanger (Com. 226; Lines II, III, I); also fast steamers once or twice a week to Tromsø (Com. 227a, b). The Vesteraalens Dampskibs-Selskab (Com. 229) also maintains a fast service between Trondhjem and Hammerfest, besides tourist-vessels once a week between Narvik and Trondhjem and between Narvik and the Lofoten Islands (comp. p. 222).

The BERGEN AND NORDENFJELD TOURIST STEAMERS usually ply as follows: — Dep. Trondhjem Tues. and Thurs. evening; at Svartisen Wed. and Frid. evening; Thurs. and Sat. a splendid voyage through the Lofoten Islands; arr. same afternoon at Tromsø (halt of 3 hrs.); Frid. and Sun. morning arr. at Hammerfest, and same evening at the North Cape (p. 238). Dep. North Cape Sat. and Mon. morning; arr. in the evening at the Lyngenfiord; arr. at Tromsø Sun. and Tues. morning, and at the Lofoten (Raftsund) in the evening; at Torghatten Mon. and Wed. evening, and at Trondhjem Tues. and Thurs. morning. The whole trip from Trondhjem to the North Cape and back thus takes less than a week. These tourist-steamers are comfortably fitted up, they afford the easiest and speediest access to the sights of the Nordland; but the company is sometimes noisy, and the life on board, as in a large hotel, is apt to pall.

THE FARES IN THE TOURIST STEAMERS for the whole voyage, including food, are as follows. — berth in a cabin containing one or two berths, 250-300 kr. (about 18l. 18s to 16l. 17s), according to position; cabin-fare, with berth in the general gentlemen's or ladies' cabin, 220 kr (12l. 4s. 3d.). Single tickets, but not return-tickets, are issued for sections of the voyage, if there is room. Time-tables should be procured from the agents in good time, and berths paid for in advance, unless the passenger be prepared to sleep in the general cabin.

The MAIL STEAMERS call at numerous stations and take $1\frac{1}{4}$ -3 days for the voyage from Trondhjem to Bodø, 2-5 days to Tromsø, and $3\frac{1}{2}$ -6 days to Hammerfest. Thence through the Magerø Sund (p. 239; or, if the passengers desire, round the North Cape) to Vadsø, $2\frac{1}{2}$ days more. The whole voyage from Trondhjem to Vadsø and back takes about 17 days. The mail-steamers are little inferior in comfort to the tourist-steamers, and as they make frequent stoppages of one or more days, they give time for excursions on shore. On the other hand they sometimes stop longest at the least interesting places, especially on the return-voyages after the end of July, when the loading of enormous cargoes of herring is apt to cause a delay of 24 hrs. or more.

THE FARES IN THE MAIL STEAMERS are reckoned by mileage, the first cabin costing 40 ø per Norwegian sea-mile. The fare from Trondhjem to Bodø (76 sea-miles) thus amounts to 30.40 kr., to Tromsø (125 S.M.) 50 kr., to Hammerfest (155 S.M.) 62 kr., to Vadsø (171 S.M.) 80 kr., to Vadsø (210 S.M.) 84 kr. Return-tickets ('Tur og Retur') are valid for six months, and are available for the 'Vesteraalen' (p. 209), but not for the tourist-steamers. The voyage may not be broken. — Charges for food, see p. xviii.

Each steamer carries a small POST OFFICE, which also transmits telegrams. Passengers may receive telegrams at Trondhjem, Namsos (p. 213; not touched at by the tourist-steamers), Henningsvær (p. 224), Ledingen (p. 228), Ilavstad (p. 223), Tromsø (p. 230), or Hammerfest (p. 236). These should be directed to the addressee as 'Passager . . . (name of steamer). Dampskibskontor . . . (name of station)'. The captain, mates, and post-office officials generally speak English.

One drawback to the Nordland voyage is the difficulty of getting sleep. As there is scarcely an uninteresting point on the whole voyage, and as it is always day in the height of summer, the traveller is naturally anxious to see everything; to obviate over-fatigue and exhaustion he should endeavour to sleep for at least 4-6 hrs. after midnight and an hour or two after dinner. As nearly the whole voyage is within the island-belt ('indenskjærs'), sea-sickness is rare. Two pilots (Lodser) are always on board to navigate the vessel at difficult points.

The fare for going ashore in one of the 'Ranenskaade' (p. 216) that swarm round the steamer on entering a harbour is 10-20 ø. (better ask for the 'taxt' or tariff). — The steamer sounds its siren or whistle when ready to start.

The physical features of the Nordland are profoundly interesting. Weather, winds, fogs, the play of light and shade, the purity of the air, are all peculiar to the country. The combination of mountain, glacier, and ocean scenery is unrivalled. Even the Alpine tourist will be at fault here in estimating distances. Perhaps the trip from Tacoma and Victoria to Sitka, along the coast of Alaska, offers the closest analogy within reach of the ordinary tourist (see Baedeker's United States or Baedeker's Canada). The wealth of animal life is here extraordinary. The sea teems with cod, herrings, skate, and other fish. Narwhals 6-12 ft. long, dolphins leaping from the water, porpoises, and other denizens of the ocean are seen (best from the bows of the vessel) disporting themselves in every direction, but whales are rarely visible. At certain places nestle swarms of eider ducks, whose swimming and diving powers are remarkable, enabling them to dive twenty fathoms or more for the little crabs and other crustacea on which they live. Every where the air is full of sea-gulls, which are often robbed of their prey by the skua (Lestris parasitica, pomarina, cataractes), which, unable to fish for itself, compels them to drop their booty.

The most striking scenery extends from the Arctic Circle (Hestmandø, p. 217) to the Lofoten Islands (R. 31) and the S. end of Hinde (Lødingen; p. 228); and beyond Tromsø the Lyngenfjord (p. 233) is of surpassing grandeur. Beyond Hammerfest the scenery becomes severe and forbidding. At the North Cape Europe ends, and the Arctic regions begin. — The best points for passengers by the mail-steamers to break their journey are: Bodø, for excursions to the Saltfjord (p. 220; chiefly interesting at new and full moon) and the Sulitelma (p. 221); Svolvær or Digermulen, for the Lofoten Islands (p. 222), or for the ascent of Digermulkollen by midnight-light (one of the finest points of the journey in clear weather); Tromsø, for the Ulfsfjord and Lyngenfjord (p. 233); and Hammerfest, for the ascent of Tyven (p. 237).

Inns are to be found at all the larger places; elsewhere travellers are generally well received by the 'Landhandlere'.

The best SEASON for a cruise to the North Cape is between 20th June and 15th August. Before mid-June the mountains are still covered with snow, and the vegetation in the valleys is backward; after mid-August the nights become longer. The success of the journey depends of course on the weather, which may disappoint at any season.

The MIDNIGHT SUN visible within the Arctic Circle (66° 32' 30") is seen as follows: —

Places	For the first time			For the last time.
	Upper Margin	Centre	Whole Disk	Whole Disk	Centre	Upper Margin
Bodø	30th May	1st June	3rd June	8th July	10th July	12th July
Tromsø	18th -	19th May	20th May	22nd -	24th -	25th -
Hammerfest	13th -	14th -	16th -	27th -	28th -	29th -
North Cape	11th -	12th -	13th -	30th -	31st -	1st Aug.

Passengers by the tourist-steamers have several opportunities of seeing the midnight sun: at the Vaagsfjord beyond Harstadhavn (p. 228); off the Fuglø (p. 233); from the North Cape (p. 238); and on leaving the Lyngenfjord, also looking towards the Fuglø. Passengers by the mail-boats who make excursions inland also have opportunities of seeing it (pp. 218, 225, 228, 237), but from the boat itself it is generally shut out by the islands. A perfectly clear horizon is rare. The sublimity of the spectacle has been described by Carlyle, Bayard Taylor, and many others.

*Midnattssolen på bergen salt
Blodrodt till allt skåda;
Det var ej dag, det var ej natt,
Det vagde emellan båda.*

The midnight sun on the mountains lay
And blood-red was its hue;
It was not night, it was not day,
But wavered 'twixt the two. (Tegnér.)

The Maps in the Handbook (four sections; marks indicate where they join; see p. x), though of small scale (1:1,500,000), show the usual courses of the steamboats and will suffice for most travellers. Detail has been subordinated to clearness. The course of the mail-steamers is indicated by ———, that of the tourist-steamers by —.—.—. Other interesting routes are marked —————. Distances are given in Norwegian sea-miles from the starting-point of each route.

The best of the larger maps are Nissen's and B. Geelmuyden's Lomme (pocket)-Atlas over Norge, the Nordland maps of which are very clear (3 50 kr.).

Travellers by mail-steamer should get the latest Communicationer.

30. From Trondhjem to Bodø.

76 S.M. (about 310 Engl. M.; p. vi). The actual course of the steamers is much longer, varying according to the stations called at. The distances given below are from Trondhjem. The MAIL STEAMERS to Namsos take 13-15 hrs. (fare 12.40 kr.); to Bodø 42-44 hrs. (on some voyages 48-52 hrs; fare 30.40 kr.). The express-steamer 'VESTERAALEN', touching at Selven, Rørvik, Brønnø, and Sandnessen, reaches Bodø in 28 hrs. The TOURIST BOATS do not touch at Bodø.

The voyage from Trondhjem to (7 S.M.) Bejan, see p. 196. — The vessel steers due N. On the left is the large red lighthouse of Kjeungen ('the kid'); on the right stretches the large peninsula of Fosen (p. 196), lying between the open sea and the fjord of Trondhjem. To the W. are the islands of Stor Fosen and the Tarv-Øer.

12 S.M. Valdersund, opposite the Valsø. The Nordlandsjagte, rigged with square-sail ('Raaseil') and topsail ('Skværseil' or 'Topseil'), are sometimes seen here on their way to Bergen with cargoes of dried fish, but they are gradually being superseded by steamers.

15 S.M. Stoksund. To the N. are the Hardbakkul, near gaard Hardbak, and three other caves; W. the Linessø and Stoke.

17 S.M. Sydkgroø. To the N.W. lies the island of Almenningen, whose quarries furnished the marble for Trondhjem cathedral (see p. 202). Fish spread out on the rocks to dry begin to appear. In winter they are hung on 'Hjelder', or wooden frames. Eider-ducks abound. — Besaker, on the mainland, lies opposite the small Børø.

21 S.M. Sandviksbjerget, opposite the Ramsø. The black and white rings on the rocks ('Tørneringe'), like targets, mark the position of iron stanchions for mooring vessels. The supervision of these rings ('Ringvæsen'), of lighthouses, and of pilotage ('Fyr-væsen', 'Lodsvæsen'), is under government. Numerous lights are of course required in the 'Skjærgaard'.

We next cross the open Folden, prolonged N.E. by the Folden-fjord. The sea is often rough here.

25 S.M. Bjørø. The mail-steamer now turns S.E. into the Namsen-fjord, separated from the Rødsund on the N.E. by the long winding island of Otterø. The scenery improves as we ascend the fjord. Namsos only comes in sight after we have rounded the long Marranes.

31 S.M. Namsø (Grand Hot.; British Vice-Consul, J. Sommer-skjeld), a town of 2300 inhab., on the N. bank of the Namsen-Elv, at the mouth of the Namdal (p. 208), founded in 1845, was rebuilt after destructive fires in 1872 and 1897. It has a large timber-trade and several saw-mills. From the Church, on a hill in the middle of the town, we follow the Stor-Gade, cross the meadows to the left, and ascend steps in the rock to ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) the hut on the Bjerumklampen (360 ft.; view).

Small steamers ply from Namsos to the Indre Foldenfjord (Com. 381; last station, Kongsmo, p. 208); also to the Nærø Vigten, and Lekø (Com. 383; see below); and S. to Redhammer and Trondhjem (Com. 376).

We now pass through the strait of Lokkaren and the pretty Serviksfjorden, on the W. and N. sides of the Otterø, to Foslandsosen, on that island. Then through the very narrow Rødsund and across the partly exposed Foldenfjord, where the mail-steamer touches at Appelvær, a small island with a fish-cannery. We steer through a maze of islets, past the Nærø on the right.

32 S.M. Rørvik (Anzjen's Hotel, good; telegr. stat., comp. p. 210), on the island of Indre Vigten, adjoined on the W. by Mellem and Ytre Vigten, with the Sulafjeld (607 ft.) and Dragstind (525 ft.).

Next stations Risvør and Fjeldvik or Fjælvik.

To the left is the island of Lekø or Leka; a rock rising on its S. headland resembles a giantess. On the Lekø lies the hamlet of Skei, with its white church, where some steamers call.

36 S.M. Gutvik; behind rise the two Heilhorne. On the right opens the many-branched Bindalsfjord (which the mail-boats ascend once a week to Terraak), the boundary between Nordre Trondhjems Amt and Helgeland, the Halogaland of early Norse history, extending N. to the headland of Kunnen (p. 218).

A local steamer (Com. 390); starting from Brønnø (see below), plies up the Bindalsfjord twice a week. Once a fortnight it goes to Thosboin, at the N. end of the narrow Thosenfjord. From Gaard Thosdal (459 ft.) we may go, with guide, to Hortskarmo (397 ft.) in the Svenningdøl, and to Mosjøen on the Vefsensfjord (p. 215) in $1\frac{1}{2}$ -2 days. The ascent from Gaard Thosdal is extremely steep; on the E side the troublesome Gaasvas-Elv has to be forded.

The mountains become more varied in form. To the N., about 5 S.M. distant (2 hrs. by steamer), soon appears the island of Torgen, with its curious hill called Torghatten* ('market-hat'; 824 ft.), resembling a hat floating on the sea. The mail-boat rarely touches here; the stations nearest the island are Vennesund, Vik, and Sønnæs. The tourist-steamers on the return-route land passengers at the E. side of the island. A marshy and stony path (strong boots advisable) ascends halfway up the hill to (30-40 min.) the 'Hul' ('Hullet', 'the hole'), a huge natural tunnel 407 ft. above the sea. Its height at the E. entrance, where masses of debris are piled up far into the interior, is about 65 ft., at the W. end 246 ft., and in the middle 204 ft.; total length 535 ft.; breadth 36-56 ft. The sides are mostly flat, and nearly perpendicular, and look at places as if artificially chiselled. The view of the sea with its countless islands and rocks, seen through this gigantic telescope, is very striking. The natives sell milk, lemonade ('Brus'), and 'Muldebær' (p. xxxviii). The excursion takes $1\frac{1}{2}$ -2 hrs.

As the steamer proceeds we see through the hole in Torghatten from N.E. to S.W. — We pass the Kvalø and steer through the Brønøund to the important station of — 42 S.M. Brønø (Brønø Hot., Torghatten Hot., both good; telegr. stat.), residence of the pastor and the doctor. The telegraph is of great use to the fishermen. At Brønø, or even at Bejan or Rørvik, herring-fleets are often seen, the smaller boats being for fishing, the larger for the cargoes. On the arrival of a Sildstøm, or shoal of herrings, the herring-fleet is wired for, and is towed by steamers to the scene of action; and after it are sent supplies of salt and barrels by steamers chartered for the purpose. (Farther N. the chief herring-fishery stations are Selsøvik, Bodø, Lødingen, Harstadhavn, Gibostad, and Tromsø.) On the shore are seen the cottages of the 'Strandsiddere', who live almost exclusively by fishing, while the inland dwellers are called 'Opsiddere'.

From Brønø a local steamer plies up the grand Velfjord to Nøvernæs, opposite the Storberja, the innermost bay of the fjord, and to Hommelste, by the church of Naustvik. In the Tidingsdal or Tetlingsdal, the S continuation of the fjord, the ground suddenly rises, $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. from its mouth, in a terrace of 460 ft., over which falls the Tidingsdalsfos in a leap of 272 ft. — To the N. of the Velfjord branch the deep and wild Oksfjord and the Storfjord.

All the steamers pass the mouth of the Velfjord, on the S. side of which rises the Mosaksel (1713 ft.), and on the N. the picturesque Høiholmstinder with the Andalshat (3310 ft.). To the W. lies the large island of Vægen or Vega, rising to about 2630 ft., on which lies Rørø. The mail-boats either call at Rørø or steer through a narrow strait between the Havnø and the mainland, on which is the station of Forvik.

The tourist-steamers pass between the islands of Vægen and Havne, in full view of the imposing Seven Sisters (see below). To the E. towers the conspicuous Finknafjeld (4330 ft.). On the right is the Røds, a red 'gabbro' rock, where some of the post-steamers call.

47 S. M. Thjøtø or Tjøtta (Jørgensen's Hotel), a small island, once the property of Haarek of Thjøtø, a well-known character in old Norse history, lies at the mouth of the beautiful Vefsensfjord, which runs inland, E. of the island of Alsten, and is served twice weekly by the mail-steamers. The banks of the inner fjord are finely wooded. We steer into the narrow S.E. bay, called Vefsenbunden, and stop at Mosjøen (Haugan's Hot.), with 1400 inhab. and the large steam saw-mills of Halsenøen, Drevjebruget, and others.

From Mosjøen a road leads N.E. by (11 Kil.) Haukland, on the Fustvand (122 ft.), and (20 Kil.) Angerme, near the Luktvand (446 ft.), and lastly in windings down to (14 Kil.) Elsfjord (p. 216) on the Ranenfjord.

Another road leads S. by (16 Kil.) Fokstad, (14 Kil.) Løksfors, (18 Kil.) Fellingsfors (quarters), (14 Kil.) Klevmoen, and (11 Kil.) Gryteselven to (12 Kil.) Hatfjeldalen, with church and parsonage, whence a good bridle-path ascends to (13 Kil.) Skjævik on the Røsvand (1227 ft.; area 73 sq. M.; depth 820 ft.). Then row over the lake to (4-5 hrs.) the Tustervand, a bay connected with the Røsvand by a narrow channel, out of which flows the Ressa. Down this stream, partly by boat, we reach in one day Korgen and Ressaeren (quarters at Kibsgaard's), near the influx of the river into the Serfjord, a S. branch of the Ranenfjord (p. 216). From Ressaeren a road leads N. to (30 Kil.) Hemnes (p. 216, to which a small local steamer occasionally plies) — Korgen is the starting-point for the Øxtinder, which rise to the S., and are reached through the Leirskardal (quarters at Kr. Feldal's). A tourist-hut on the N. slope, by the Kjendevand (1706 ft.), is projected. The chief peaks are the Oxskolle (6273 ft.) and the Kaiser Wilhelms Tind (6256 ft.; so named by K. Bing, who scaled it for the first time in 1900) — A fjeld-pass crosses W. from Korgen to (4-5 hrs.) the Luktvand (see above).

The tourist-steamers and some of the mail-boats steer through the 'Skjærgaard', W. of the Thjøtø and the large island of Alsten (pop. 1500), on which rise the finely shaped hills called the Syv Søstre ('seven sisters'; 2630-3500 ft.). We count six only, but one has a double crest. The highest of the sisters is the Stortind (3500 ft.). At the S. end of the island is the church of Alstahoug, where Peter Dass (p. lvi) was pastor in 1689-1708. On the Haugnæs, near the church, is the so-called Kongsgrav ('king's grave'). The mail-steamers call at Søvik (Jensen's Hot.); also, on the N. side of the island, at Sandnæsøen (Sannæsøen's Hot.; Syv Søstre, R., S., each 1¼ kr., tolerable; Jakobsen's Hot.; local steamer to the islands of Lovunden and Threnen, see p. 217; Com. 397), near which are the old church of Stamnæs and the district-prison. From Sandnæsøen we may ascend the N. peak of the Seven Sisters, passing (8 Kil.) gaard Botnet.

The courses of the steamers passing E. and W. of the island of Alsten unite at Sandnæsøen. Farther on we pass on the E. side of the Dynnæsø, or Denna, of which the Denmand (2644 ft.) is the highest point. At Bjærn, on the Dynnæsø, the greatest of the Nordland fairs takes place on 2nd July. These fairs were originally called Ledingsberge (or Lensberge), as the people used to pay their taxes (Leding) there.

53 S.M. Kobberdal, on the island of Løkta, with hatcheries of eider-ducks. The birds build their nests in nooks artificially made for the purpose. As they are then very tame, a number of their eggs are taken, and the eider-down they leave in the nests is afterwards collected.

To the E. opens the Ranenfjord*, which the tourist-steamers do not enter. This fjord is the most richly timbered in the Nordland; from its pines are made almost all the boats, houses, and coffins between this point and Vadsø. The 'Ranenbaade', with their high bows and sterns, recalling the Venetian gondolas, are considered typical national craft, and are often used as pleasure-boats.

The Ranenfjord is visited twice weekly by the mail-boats (lines II and III), and several times a week by local steamers (Com. 395; from Sandnæsøen, see p. 215). Stations Utskarpen, on the N. bank, and Elstfjord, both served by the local boats only; then Hemnæs or Hemnesberget, in a picturesque site, with its church on a hill, and a group of huts for the use of church-goers arriving overnight. Then — 65 Kil. Mo (Sestr. Johansen's Hot., R. 2, D. 1 $\frac{1}{2}$, S. 1 kr., good), a busy trading-place, at the mouth of the Dunderlandselv. The large shipbuilding-yard of Lars Meyer here turns out 700–800 'ranenbaade' annually. The iron-ore of the Dunderlandsdal is shipped at Mo. The mines, owned by a British company, 20 Kil. up the valley, employ 600 hands (no admittance). About halfway up is the Renfos, which supplies power. — On the N. side of the fjord, about 5 Kil. from Mo, are the pyrites-mines of Bosmo, which employ 200 hands; the ore-washing works are on the shore.

The limestone strata of the Dunderlandsdal contain many STALACTITE CAVERNS ('Drypstenshuller'), as the Risagrottoes on the Langvånd (154 ft.), near Hammernæs, 11 Kil. N., the Laphul, near Gaard Bjørnæs, and opposite to it another by Gaard Grønhen, both in the valley of the Rødvas-Elv. The feeders of the Dunderlands-Elv often disappear in such caverns and re-appear lower down, as the Silvasaa, near Gaard Storfoshei, about 15 Kil. from Mo. A little to the N. of it is the forest-girt Ørtvånd, at the foot of the Ørtfjeld (see below). Further up to the N.W. is the Esteraa, which drives mills close to its efflux. Near this are the Tyushul ('thieves' grotto') and the 'wind-cave', where the rush of subterranean water is heard.

From Bjællaanæs, or Bjældaanæs, in the Dunderlandsdal (55 Kil. from Mo), we may visit the Stormdalsfos and the marble grotto at its foot, near the Brediksfjeld. We may also ascend the Ørtfjeld (473 ft.; across the Stormdalshei), or the Brediksfjeld (4482 ft.), which commands a splendid view of Svartisen and the Lofoten Islands. — From Bjællaanæs it is a day's ride up the Bjældaadal, across a pass (2806 ft.), and down the Øvre and Nedre Toldaadal, to Toldaa in the Beierendal; then by Ousbakke (pass to the Saltdal, see p. 221) to Storjord (45 Kil. in all; quarters at the under-forester's). From Storjord to Soløen (p. 219) 14 Kil. more.

From Bjællaanæs to Almindingen in the Saltdal is a long day's journey (16-17 hrs.), on which scarcely a soul is ever met. We either ascend the Bjældaadal (by the telegraph-wires), or the Gubbelaadal, Randal, and Lenesdal, which last forms the upper end of the Saltdal. Below the junction of the Saltdal and (E.) the Junkerdal lies Gaard Berghulnas; thence to Almndungen and Rognan, see p. 224; or we may ascend the Junkerdal, passing through the grand rocky gorge of Junkerdaals-Ur, between the Kjernfjeld (E.) and the Solvaagfjeld (5122 ft.; W.), to the Junkerdaals-Gaard (14 Kil.; quarters). Through the upper Junkerdal, called Gvaddis, a bridle-path, much frequented in winter, with several 'Fjeldstuer', leads to Sweden. Many Lapp settlements on the Underlanddal and Saltdal hills.

A road leads from Mo to the Swedish frontier (40 Kil.). It ascends on the right bank of the Tveraa, by Brennaasen and Idgruben, and winds up the 'Idgrublier' to Rødvatn (1601 ft.; good quarters; 25 Kil. from Mo). It then leads past the Tværvatn (1623 ft.) and the Umskarvatn (2054 ft.), its highest point, to Umbugten (good quarters), on the Umvand (1742 ft.), a lake 40 Kil. long, abounding with fish, with a fine view of the Ørindør (p. 215).

55 S.M. Vikholmen (Olsen's Hotel), prettily situated, about 6 Kil. N.E. of the mouth of the Ranenfjord, where the mail-boats rejoin the course of the tourist-steamers. We now steer between the islands of Huglen, Hannasø (seat of the 'Sørenskriver', or district judge), and Tombø or Tomma (3005 ft.; so called from two rocks resembling thumbs). To the E. are seen the S.W. spurs of the Svartisen, and to the W., where we have a glimpse of the open sea, the curiously shaped islands of Lovunden (2031 ft.) and Tranen or Threnen (2064 ft.). Though still 30 and 45 Kil. distant, these islands seem quite near in clear weather. They are the haunt of dense flocks of loons or divers ('Lundefugle', Mormon arcticus), whose eggs, about $2\frac{3}{4}$ by $1\frac{3}{4}$ inches, are esteemed in the Nordland. Their nests, made in clefts of the rock, difficult of access, are annually plundered. The young birds are pickled. Local steamer once a week from Sandnæsøen (p. 215; Com. 397).

The abruptness of Lovunden, the top of which appears to overhang the water, has given rise to the saying —

'Se! hvordan han luder den gamle Lovund!
(See how it overhangs, the ancient Lovund'.)

We steer through the Stegfjord, the strait between (left) the Lurø, with its pyramidal hill (2261 ft.), and (right) Alderen.

We soon sight the Hestmandø* (1864 ft.), one of the most striking of these islands, resembling a 'horseman' with a cloak falling over his horse. The hill may be ascended without a guide. The view embraces the whole archipelago, and the long Svartisen to the E. The Arctic Circle ($66^{\circ} 32' 30''$) runs through the Hestmandø, the crossing of which is announced by cannon-shots.

59 S.M. Indre Kvarø, a lonely place, whence we may visit the Melfjord, the Lurø, Lovunden, Threnen, and the Hestmand.

Dominating the landscape for miles, on our right, rises Svartisen*, an enormous expanse of snow and ice, about 50 Kil. long and over 30 Kil. broad, covering a plateau about 3950 ft. high (comp. pp. 120 and 157), from which protrude a few knolls ('Nuter', 'Klumper', 'Knolde'), while numerous glaciers descend from it to the fjords.

Stations Selsevik and (right) the Rangsundø, beyond which opens the Melfjord, with grand mountains.

62 S.M. Rødø ('red island'), with the Rødøleven (1444 ft., easy to ascend), a hill resembling a lion looking W. — To the right open the Tjongsfjord and Skarsfjord, with their branches the Bjerangsfjord and the Holandsfjord, which extend close up to Svartisen. All these fjords are very narrow, being at places only 300 yds. across, while their rocky walls attain a height of over 3000 ft. The tourist-steamers enter the Holandsfjord and land passengers between gaards Reindalsvik and Enna. A bad path, crossing several brooks, runs thence to (20 min.) the lower margin of the Fondalsbræ, an arm of Svartisen, the general view of which, however, is grander from the steamboat. To the S. rises the Reindals-tind (2916 ft.), which is said to afford the best survey of Svartisen.

The midnight sun (p. 212) is visible here for a fortnight before 1st July. We steer past the Omnesø or Aamne (right) to the — 64 S.M. Grenø, a smiling island, where we have a most striking view of Svartisen, now nearer to us. We look into the Glomfjord, which cuts deep into the mainland, and steer through a narrow strait between the Melø (left) and the Skjerpa (right) towards Kunnen. Far N. we sight the Lofoten Islands for the first time. — The steamer sometimes stops at Ørnæs and Stødt.

The headland of Kunnen* or Rothnæet (1965 ft.), the N.W. spur of the Svartisen plateau, the boundary between Helgeland and Salten, forms a climatic landmark like Stadtland in the Sendmere (p. 160). There is here a 'Havseie' ('sea-glimpse'), or opening in the island-belt, where we sight the open sea and sometimes feel its motion. To the W. the Stødtfyrr is visible, to the N. the Fuglø (see below), and in the distance the Landegode (p. 221).

The TOURIST STEAMERS leave the mainland and cross the Vestfjord, affording a splendid view of the Lofoten Islands (p. 222).

The MAIL STEAMERS pass (left) the Fuglø (2514 ft.), the Fleina, and the Arnøer, and (right) the church of Gildeskaal and the large island of Sandhorn, with a mountain 3261 ft. high (beyond which lies the Beierenfjord, p. 219). We then cross the mouth of the Saltfjord (p. 219), at the E. end of which, in clear weather, are seen the snow-fields of the Sulitelma (p. 221), and soon reach the rocky harbour of —

76 S.M. Bodø. — GRAND HOTEL, by the market-place, 3 min. from the pier, R. or D. 2, B. 1¼, S. 1½ kr., good, with fine view from the tower. — Bodø og Omegns Turistforening gives information as to excursions.

Bodø, in N. lat. 67° 17', a thriving town, with 5000 inhab., is the seat of the Amtmand, or provincial governor, of the Nordland. Among the modern buildings still linger a few old cottages roofed with turf. The large timber church in the Gothic style dates from 1886. The midnight sun is seen here from about 1st June to 12th July (comp. p. 212).

The ascent of the Løbsaas, or Løbsfjeld (1142 ft.), a hill to the N.E., repays. From the N. end of the Stor-Gade we follow the broad road past the foot of the hill. At (30 min.) the parting of the ways, by the second reservoir of the water-works, a board shows the way to the tourist-hut, whence a well-marked path leads in $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. more to the 'Keiserveide', a memorial of the visit of Emp. William II. The top commands, N.W., the Lofoten Islands; E. the snow-mountains around the Sulitelma and the Olmajalos (p. 221); S.E. the Børsvatnstinder; and S. the Sandhorn, with the Svartisen. We may also visit the Junkerfjeld (929 ft.; fine view) and the Vaagevand (390 ft.), with its club-hut, each $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr. from Bodø.

About 3 Kil. S.E. of Bodø is the Bodøgaard, with a church and parsonage, where Louis Philippe, duke of Orleans, afterwards king, when travelling as a refugee under the name of Müller, was entertained on his voyage to the North Cape in 1796. The road crosses a moor, now drained and cultivated. To the left is a lunatic asylum ('Rønvik Sindssyge-Asyl'). The drainage-works revealed, under the peat, a layer of broken shells, about 20 inches thick, on a foundation of dark-grey clay interspersed with crystals of quartz, pointing to the geologically recent subsidence of the sea from this point. The erratic syenite blocks, amidst the slate-rock of which the peninsula of Bodø is composed, are also interesting.

EXCURSIONS FROM BODØ. The well-wooded country around affords a welcome contrast to the bare, desolate scenery of the Nordland.

(1) TO THE BEIERENFJORD. A local steamer (Com. 406) plies up this fjord (there and back, 8 hrs.) twice a week. Crossing the mouth of the Saltenfjord and passing an 'Æg- og- Duun-Vær' (breeding place of eider-ducks) and the island of Sandhorn (p. 218), we call at Røsnaes, at the mouth of the Beierenfjord, an inlet flanked with grand mountains, narrowing, beyond Kjelling, to a defile by gaard Eggesvik. On the bank are several glacier 'cauldrons'. The last station is Tvervik.

From Tvervik we may row to (3 Kil.) Solsen (good quarters at Landhandler Jentoft's), whence we may ascend the Høitind (4610 ft.; with guide; view of vast mountain-solititudes towards Sweden; S. the Svartisen; W. the sea, dotted with islands, and the distant Lofoten Islands). Or row to Arstad (skyds-station), with its fine waterfall. The road up the picturesque valley leads past Beierens Kurke (near gaard Moldjord), to Storjord, Oosbakke, and (about 20 Kil.) Toldaa (p. 216).

(2) TO THE SALTSTADFJORD AND SKJERSTADFJORD. — STEAMBOAT (Com. 407) 3 or 4 times a week (according to Flod or Fjære, high or low tide) to Skjerstad, Fuske, and Rognan, at the S. end of the Skjerstadvfjord, and thence back to Bodø. — To visit the Saltstrøm we land at Strøm and await the return of the steamer. The scene is most impressive when the tide is coming in, but to see it we have to spend a day at Strøm. To avoid this a good plan is to drive from Bodø to Kralvaag (17 Kil.; $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) and thence take sailing-boat to Strøm (1- $\frac{1}{2}$ hr.; wired for from the Bodø Turistforening, p. 218).

The Saltfjord, between the peninsula of Bodø and the islands Strøme and Knaplunde, is connected with its E. prolongation, the Skjerstadsfjord, by three narrow straits only: the Saltstrøm, between the two islands, 165 yds. wide; the Sundstrøm, 66 yds. wide, between the Strømø and the mainland; and the Godøstrøm, on the N.E. side of the Knaplundø. Through these channels the great basin of the Skjerstadsfjord, over 100 sq. M. in area, with its millions of tons of water, is emptied or filled four times daily. The current is strongest at spring-tides (new and full moon), and the outflow is greatest in spring when the melting snow swells the streams falling into the fjord. The difference between the inside and outside levels of the water at high or at low tide is sometimes $3\frac{1}{2}$ ft. or more. The navigation of these straits is only feasible for an hour at half-tide. Fishing very productive here.

The steamer rounds the S.W. point of the Bodø peninsula, steers across the Saltfjord to the E. end of Strømøen, and calls at Strøm (quarters at Landhandler Furre's). The best point for viewing the Saltstrøm* is $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. from the house. On the Knaplundø, opposite, a column (Kongestøtten) recalls the visit of King Oscar II. in 1873. Those who spend a day at Strøm may cross S. to the mainland and ascend the nearest of the Børsvastinder (3438 ft.; 5-6 hrs.; fatiguing).

After passing through the Saltstrøm, the steamer turns E. into the Skjerstadsfjord, which with its various arms runs 45 Kil. inland. The first station is —

Skjerstad, the capital of this region, with a church and 6300 inhab., at the entrance to the Misværffjord, which the steamer ascends twice a week. Opposite, to the W., is the old gaard of Lenæs, with an ancient burial-place. The steamer then steers to —

Venset. About 5-6 Kil. farther is Øinesgavlen, a headland of conglomerate (a formation also found on the Kjætnæs, 14 Kil. S.). The steamer now ascends the N. arm of the fjord to —

Fuske or Fauske (slow skyds-station), whence a road leads by the Fuskeid to (15 Kil.) Dybvik on the S. Foldenffjord (p. 226). Then, 8 hrs. from Bodø, we reach — Fineidet (Fru H. Lundquist's Hot.), the port for the copper-ore mined on the Sulitelma and for the beautiful white marble quarried near Fuske.

EXCURSION TO THE SULITELMA. Passing an extensive moraine, we cross the Fineid (in about 10 min.), which separates the fjord from the lake of Nædre Vand. Small STEAMERS (50 g.; through-fare to Furulund $1\frac{1}{2}$ kr.) on this lake steer through the Gfengamsstrøm into the Øvre Vand, to ($1\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) Sjenstaa or Skjenstuén, in a basin at the head of the latter. The district is known as Vattenbygden. — From Sjenstaa the narrow-gauge SULITELMA RAILWAY runs through a rocky ravine in bold windings above the brawling Langvass-Elv, with views of the Galmisfos and the distant Sulitelma. In $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. we reach Hellarmo, at the foot of the Langevand (410 ft.), where we embark in another small STEAMER (60 g.). Fine scenery on the Langvand; grand waterfalls, notably the Kupsi Joki ('red water'; left).

Furulund, the steamboat-terminus ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.), is the seat of the Swedish Sulitelma Mining Co., which yields about 200,000 tons of copper ore annually and employs 1500-2000 hands; handsome offices and dwellings. Tourists may dine at the 'Dampkjøkken', or restaurant for the unmarried officials, and usually get a bed there also (but enquire at Bodø). In the company's store ('Handelsforretning') provisions, rugs, etc., may be purchased. — A row to the (1 hr.) Rupsi Joki (p. 220) is interesting.

From Furulund we may walk by Fagermo, with its great budding-works, to (1 hr.) Fagerli (good plain quarters at Ole Sørensen's, an excellent guide), at the E. end of the Langvand, with the copper smelting-works. Near it the Balmi Joki forms a fine fall, yielding electric power for Furulund. For guides apply, if need be, to the director of the mines at Furulund.

The ascent of the "Sulitelma" (Lapp 'Sullus Cielbma', 'festival mountain') from Fagerli takes 8-10 hrs. (and back) and is neither very fatiguing nor dangerous. In 1½-2 hrs. we reach the plateau of Haukabakken (2185 ft.), with a fine view of the Langvand, the Svartisen, and the Sulitelma group; 2 hrs. more bring us to the foot (about 3280 ft.) of Stortoppen (6173 ft.), the north-western-most of the three peaks of the Sulitelma, which stretches from N.W. to S.E. After a steep climb of 1½-2 hrs. over loose stones we reach Vardetop, the W. horn of the Stortop (about 490 ft. lower than the latter), and enjoy a grand outlook over a wild mountain region, with many glaciers (Jækna) and lakes. The Stortop, which rises opposite, can hardly be ascended from this side; the first ascent was made in 1888 from the Sala-Jækna, which is wedged in between the peaks and descends 5 E. into the Leurodal (see below). The enormous masses of snow on the mountain have forced the glaciers to descend 600-700 ft. below the snow-line. To the N. of the Sulitelma group is the Olmajalos (5347 ft.), with the Olmajalos-Jækna and the Lina-Jækna.

From Fagerli we may also ascend the Räpissvari (3172 ft., 2 hrs.), with a fine view of the Langvand and the Sulitelma; or we may ascend by the Balmi Joki to the (2¾ hrs.) Lommijaur, a lake at the S. base of the Sulitelma, and follow its bank to the height (2789 ft., 2½ hrs.) between it and the Leurodal, or Lairodal, where we have a characteristic view of the Sulitelma, Sala-Jækna, and Lommijaur. We are here close to the Swedish border; to Kvickjock, see p. 389. — A fine pass crosses from Fagerli to Rognan (see below; 1½ day; guide advisable, 8 kr.). On the first day a well marked path ascends the Storfjeld (about 3770 ft.) to the tourist-hut on the Vasboinfjeld (poor quarters). On the second day we row down the Vasbotneand and walk by its effluent to Evinggaard or Rokland, whence a road descends the Saltdal to (13 Kil.) Rognan.

From Fineidet we steer into the S. arm of the fjord to — Rognan (Spørck's Hot.), the last station (stay of 1 hr.), at the end of the fjord, on the left bank of the Saltdals-Elv. On the right bank is Saltdals-Kirke.

From Rognan we may drive up the SALTDAL, partly through pine-woods, past Sundby, Almndingen, and Nævernes, to Rusaaes (good quarters); thence to Oosbakke in the Beierendal in one day, or to Bjellsaaes in two days (comp. p. 217; horse 10, guide 6 kr. per day).

(3) From Bodø to Bjørnes, in the island of Landegode, 12 Kil. N., the Foldenford steamer (Com. 404; p. 226) plies once weekly. On other days we row (2-3 hrs.; 3-4 rowers), and land near gaards Kvig and Sandvig, to ascend the Kvigtind (2595 ft.; with guide; 2-2½ hrs.), which affords a grand view of the whole Lofoten chain (N.W.), of the Sulitelma Mts. (E.), and of the Hestmand and Threnen (S.).

31. The Lofoten Islands.

The Bergen-Nordenfjeld TOURIST STEAMERS steer N. across the Vestfjord, in view of the Lofoten Islands, and on their way back put in at the Raftsund (p. 225). The mail-steamers of that company ply from Bodø to Lødingen (p. 228) by different routes. The line Com. 226, I, follows the coast to Grotø (p. 227), crosses to (5-6 hrs.) Svolvær (p. 224), and goes on to Lødingen in 3-5 hrs. more, calling at various stations — Line Com. 226, II, skirts the mainland longer and is described separately (R. 32). — Line Com. 226, III, goes direct from Bodø to the Lofoten Islands (Moskenæs, p. 223), calls at Henningsvær, Kabelvaag (p. 224), and other stations, and reaches Svolvær in 12 hrs. from Bodø, and Lødingen (p. 228) in 8 hrs. more. — The 'Hurtigrute' ('quick route'; Com. 227) goes direct from Bodø to Svolvær.

The VESTERAALEN STEAMERS (p. 215) ply either direct (Com. 229) to Svolvær, or (Com. 230) with intermediate stations. The company issues 'Tur & Returbilletter' for two months; the voyage may then be broken at intermediate stations, or continued by local steamer. The tourist-route of this company between Narvik and Trondhjem (p. 223) runs through the Raftsund.

LOCAL STEAMERS (Com. 411, 442, 413) from Svolvær, in three alternate lines, serve the E and W. coast of the Lofoten and Vesteraalen Islands.

A VISIT of about a week to the Lofoten Islands is full of interest. Good quarters are to be had at Svolvær, Kabelvaag, Digermulen, etc.; but one must be prepared for rough walking, and for food and sleep at hours regulated, not by the clock, but by the time-tables of the steamers and the length of the excursions. For long expeditions tents and tinned foods are useful. The name Lofoten, 'the lynx-foot', is of the singular number in Norwegian.

The broad Vestfjord*, entirely open towards the S.W., separates the Lofoten and Vesteraalen Islands from the mainland, and presents some of the grandest scenery in Norway. The tourist-steamers traverse it from end to end; the mail-steamers cross it at various points. In both cases we enjoy a superb view of the long, jagged LOFOTEN CHAIN ('Lofotvæggen' or Lofoten wall). The light is best in the forenoon. Weird, but less imposing, is the midnight light, which utterly pales the moon. Most effective of all is a gale or a thunder-storm.

The Lofoten Islands, the S.W. prolongation of the Vesteraalen group, consist of a mountain-chain cleft by countless creeks and straits, extending 150-200 Kil. S.W. into the Atlantic, and have not inaptly been likened to a gigantic backbone, tapering away to the smaller vertebrae of the tail at the S. end. The four large islands (Moskenæs, Flakstad, Vestvaag, Østvaag) and a number of smaller ones lie so close together that no opening in the chain is visible from a distance. They are flanked with thousands of rocky islets ('Holme', 'Skjær', or 'Fløse', from Icel. flesjar). The rock is for the most part gabbro, gneiss, and granite. The peaks are Alpine in form, with crater-like summits, partly covered with snow, and partly with glossy green moss and grass. Good harbours ('Vaage') abound, where large vessels, dwarfed to nut-shells, lie close to rocks several thousand feet high. At places the land is flat, with lakes, swamps, meadows, and a few arable fields. The growth of trees is scanty, yet the winters are so mild that sheep remain in the open air.

The famous LOFOTEN FISHERY is carried on from mid January to mid-April in the Vestfjord, when the cod (Gadus callarius; Norw. Torsk or Skrej) come from the depths of the Atlantic to spawn on the coast between Aalesund and Tromsø. So dense are the shoals ('Stimer') as they move in serried lines, 100-160 ft. deep, that the lead, when thrown, actually rests on the bodies of the fish (Fiskebjerg). The fishing banks round which they swarm lie at a depth of 30 to 110 fathoms. At this season about 40,000 fishermen in some 9000 boats flock to the islands, and distribute themselves over 36 banks (Fiskevær). The larger boats (about $\frac{1}{3}$ of the number), each manned by 6 men, fish with nets ('Garn'), 27-33 yds long, with meshes of 3-3 $\frac{1}{2}$ in., which are sunk and made fast in the evening, and drawn up in the morning. The smaller boats, with crews of 3-5 men, fish with lines ('Lin'), 1600-2700 yards long, and armed with 1200-1500 hooks, which are worked by day and even by night. The old-fashioned hand-lines ('Dybtsagn'), with double-hooks ('Pilk'), are also used. A catch of 300-400 cod for a net boat or 200 for a line-boat is considered a good day's work, but the yield is sometimes double these numbers. The daily wages of the net-fisherman average 1.52 kr., those of the line-fisherman 1.68 kr., while the hand-line crews receive 1.31 kr., in addition to their keep. The annual yield is worth 57 million kroner. As the fishermen are paid in cash, the Norwegian banks send large sums of money to the islands every February.

On shore the fish are opened ('opvirket') and cleaned, or split entirely open ('Klipfisk' or 'Klepisk' from 'klippet', split open), salted, and spread out on the rocks to dry. They are then collected in heaps under small round wooden covers, known as 'hats', or are tied tail to tail and hung ('spørret') on wooden frames ('Hjelder'). They hang until June and are then mostly dispatched to Bergen. The heads are dried by fire, pulverized, and converted into 'fish-guano'. On outlying islands the cods' heads are boiled with sea-weed ('Tarre', Alaria esculenta) and used as fodder for cattle. The roe is used by anglers as bait. From the liver cod-liver oil is made.

Most of the fishermen sleep in temporary huts ('Rorboder') erected for them. In the middle is the fire-place ('Komfur'), where they cook their 'Supamåla' and 'Okjysta'. Each crew is called a 'Lag', who choose their own 'Hovedsmand' or captain. The proceedings are usually orderly and peaceable, especially as spirits are not procurable. A travelling chaplain ('Stiftiskaplan') performs service on Sundays. At the close of the winter-fishery ('Gaafisket') most of the fishermen go N. to Finmarken for the 'Vaarfiske' ('summer fishery') or 'Loddefiske'.

The fishery is often attended with lamentable loss of life. When a westerly gale springs up, preventing their return to the islands, the open boats are driven across the Vestfjord towards the mainland, often capsizing on the way.

The south-westmost of the larger islands is the Moskenæsø (80 sq. M.), on which lies Aa, the first station of the mail-boats of Line III; then Moskenæs with its church; lastly Reine (good inn), at the mouth of the Kirkefjord. The S. end of the island is called Lofotodden, past which runs the famous Malstrøm or Moskenstrøm, a strong current often dangerous to fishing-boats. Farther S. is the islet of Mosken; then the Værø, with church and parsonage; and the flat and populous island of Røst. Still farther S. is Skemvær, with the last lighthouse and the Nykjerne, hills peopled chiefly by gulls and guillemots.

The Sundstrøm separates the Moskenæsø from the Flakstadø (40 sq. M.), on which lie the stations Sund, Nusfjord, and Napp, on the Nappstrøm, the two last served by the local boats only. On the W. side of the island is the church of Flakstad. Near Sund is the Kvalvig ('whale-creek'), a natural trap for whales, which used to enter the creek at high tide and could not get out again.

Beyond the Nappstrøm is the large Vestvaagø (157 sq. M.). On a small island at the S. end is Balstad (Foshoug's Hot.), a fishing-port, backed by the Skotstind (2214 ft.); then Mortsund, at the mouth of the Buksnæsfjord, and Leknes, on its innermost branch; lastly Stamsund (Stamsund's Hot.), all mail-boat stations. The local boats also call at Gravdal, by the church of Buksnæs, at Ure, E. of the great headland Urebjerget (1100 ft.), and Valberg. Good roads connect the villages on the Vestvaagø. Among the hills on the island the Himmeltinder (3166 ft.) are conspicuous.

The Gimsøstrøm, flanked with finely shaped mountains, separates the Vestvaagø from the Østvaagø (209 sq. M.), the largest of the Lofoten Islands. On an islet off the S.W. point of the Østvaagø lies Henningsvær (Jensen's Hot.), a station of the mail-steamers, a great fishery centre, and the usual residence of the naval officer who superintends it. Near it is a guano-factory. Above towers the Vaagekalle (3091 ft.). Off the island lie the rocky islets Flesene, Grundskallen, and Vestvær, all noted fishing-grounds. On the S. coast of the Østvaagø is the station of — Kabelvaag (Jespersen's Hot., good), the largest fishing-port in the Lofoten Islands, with the hamlets of Storvaagen and Kirkevaagen. Hans Egede, the missionary of Greenland, was pastor here in 1705-18. The present church of Vaagen was built in 1898. A road leads from Kabelvaag through fine rocky scenery to (1 hr.) the fishermen's huts of Ósan, opposite Svolvær, to which we may ferry in $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. (25 ø.).

Svolvær (Höt. Lofoten, good; British Vice-Consul, J. Berg), on a peninsula on the S. coast of the Østvaagø, another busy fishing-harbour, is the most important steamboat-station on the Lofoten Islands, and the starting-point of the Lofoten and Vesteraalen local steamers (p. 222). One of the 'Rorboder' (p. 223) may be inspected here. Here, too, is another guano-factory. On the islet of Svinø, opposite the pier (ferry there and back 40 ø.), is the studio of the late painter Gunnar Berg (d. 1894), containing a few of his paintings and sketches (adm. free on application). His tomb is in the islet of Gunnarholm, to which a bridge leads from the Svinø. To the N. rises the Blaatind (1959 ft.), ascended in 3 hrs. (there and back 5 hrs.), a splendid point of view, from which the midnight sun is visible between 28th May and 14th July. The following ascents are more toilsome: to the E. of the Østnæsfjord, which cuts deep into the Østvaagø to the N. of Svolvær, the Rulten (3484 ft.; very difficult), and further N. the Gjeitgaljartind (3557 ft.) and the Higrafstinder (3810 ft.), the two last of which descend abruptly to the Troldvand. — Opposite Svolvær, E., are the islands of Skroven, a mail-boat station, with its lighthouse, Lille Molla, and Store Molla, with a pier for the local boats at Brettesnæs and a large English guano-factory.

To the N. of Store Molla opens the Raftsund, separating the Østvaagø from the Hindø, or Hinne, which belongs to the Vester-aalen group. The Hindø, with its many branches, is the largest of all the Norwegian islands (864 sq. M.). At its S.W. end lies Digermulen (Eilertsen's Hot., 5 kr. per day; motor-boat may be hired for the Trolldjord or other excursions), a station of the Vester-aalen steamers (Com. 413, 410; see below). The tourist-steamers do not call here. Passengers by the local boats should not omit to ascend the Digermulkoll* (1148 ft.), which affords perhaps the most magnificent view in the whole Nordland, and has become better known since the visits of Emp. William II. Ascent, rather fatiguing, $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.; at the top are two 'varder' and a refuge-hut (no rfmts.), the key of which should be brought from Digermulen. We overlook the picturesque Raftsund, E. of which, in the foreground, rises the Sneffeld, connected with the Digermulkoll; left of the Sneffeld are the distant hills of the Langø; and more to the left are the mountains named below. To the S.W. we survey the whole Vestfjord with the open sea beyond, and to the E. the mountains on the mainland. — A still more extensive view is obtained from the Sneffeld (2100 ft.), ascended from the Digermulkoll in 2 hrs. (descent to the shore $1\frac{3}{4}$ hr.).

The Raftsund*, the grandest of the Lofoten straits, is flanked with huge mountains furrowed with ravines. All the tourist-steamers pass through it. To the left, on the Østvaagø, we observe the Korsnæstind and the Rørhøptind (3088 ft.). The scene is grandest at Løksund, whence we see, towering at the head of the narrow Trolldjord*, the Higraustinder (see above), thickly clad with snow, and the Troldtinder (3248 ft., 3261 ft.). In calm weather the steamer enters the Trolldjord, enclosed by abrupt rocks with snow-filled gorges. [A most interesting excursion (6 hrs. there and back) may be taken from Digermulen (see above) by motor-boat to the Trolldjord, and then on foot, by a marshy path, to the (1 hr.) Troldvand (548 ft.; over 3 Kil. long), a mountain-lake usually frozen, from which the Troldtinder rise almost sheer]. Beyond this point the Raftsund is bounded on the W. by the Svartsundtind (3458 ft.), the Faldøfeld (3078 ft.), and the Ilscnæstind (3281 ft.), and on the E. by the Brubrektinder (2142 ft.).

The VESTERAALEN GROUP comprises also, besides the Hindø, the considerable islands of Langø and Andø. One of the local Vester-aalen steamers (p. 222; Com 413) navigates the Raftsund. One of its stations is Malbo (Nielsen's Hot.), on the pleasant Hadselsø or Ulfø, at the E. end of which is Hadsel church. It then steers N.W. to Skagen on the Langø, an island with numerous fjords, peninsulas, and isthmuses, which forms the chief member of the W. Vester-aalen group and together with the Skogssø contains five parishes ('Fjerdings'). We then steer back, cross the Vester-aalsfjord to Vik, also on the Langø, and pass through the Børessund to — Stokmarknæs (Frederiksen's Hot., good), where a fair is held in June, on the Hadselg Thence across the Sortlandsund to Kvitnæs on the Hindø. The Meisadel (4154 ft.), the highest mountain in the Hindø and in the whole Lofoten and Vesteraalen group, is conspicuous all the way. Its glacier is said to be the saddle of a virgin giantess fleeing from wicked persecutors Thence to the N. between the Langø and the Hindø, to Sortland. Scenery grand, yet smiling.

At Sortland (quarters at G. Ellingsen's), on the Sortlandsund, we may land and wait for the boat returning next day. Meanwhile we may ascend one of the hills behind the village (1½-2 hrs.). — The next station is — Rosshavn (Landhandler), on the Andø, an island interesting to geologists. From its extensive swamps, on which the 'Muldebær' (Rubus chamæmorus) abounds, suddenly rise hills to a height of 1970 ft. Underlying the sandstone and clay-slate rock is a thick vein of coal, extending under the sea. The steamer turns here and steers to Skjoldhavn (Landhandler), on the Andø, where a local steamer from Harstadhavn also calls once a week (p. 228).

Opposite Skjoldhavn, beyond the Gavlfjord, lies Alfsvaag (Landhandler) on the Langø. The steamer then goes on to Langenæs, at the N. end of the Langø, and returns on the W. side.

Beyond Svolvær (p. 224) the mail-steamers call at stations varying on the different voyages, and at Lødingen join the route described below.

32. From Bodø to Tromsø.

49 S. M. (comp. p. 209). — The distances given below are from Bodø. The route is that of the MAIL STEAMERS of Line II from Bodø to Lødingen. They also cross to Svolvær on the Lofoten Islands, but the rest of their course skirts the mainland. From Lødingen to Tromsø the course of the mail-steamers almost coincides with that of the tourist-steamers. The mail-steamers take 9-10 hrs. from Bodø to Svolvær, 7-8 hrs. more to Lødingen, 3 hrs. thence to Harstadhavn, and 10-12 hrs. from Harstadhavn to Tromsø; the quick boats perform these voyages in 6½, 4, 3, and 7½ hrs. respectively.

Bodø, see p. 218. The steamer heads W. from the pier, and then steers to the right through the strait between the small island that protects the harbour and the larger Hjærtø. On the left opens the Vestfjord (p. 222). Farther on, to the left, rises the mountainous island of Landegode (p. 221).

4 S. M. Kjærringø, S. of the Foldenfjord, in a grand site. The lower part of the mountains has often been worn smooth by glacier-action, while their summits are serrated like the Aiguilles of Mont Blanc. At the S. entrance of the fjord rises the Strandtind (2336 ft.; sketched by Prof. Forbes in his 'Norway'), with its crater-like peak. At the head of the Foldenfjord rise other huge mountains, one of which, the Trolldtind (first ascended by C. Hall in 1889), recalls the Matterhorn.

The Foldenfjord divides into the Nordfolden and Sørfolden branches, to which a LOCAL STEAMER plies from Bodø in 12-15 hours. Stations: Bjørne (p. 221), Kjærringø (see above), Nordfolden on the N. arm of the fjord, Mersviksbotten on the Mersviksfjord, its extreme branch; then Rosvik (quarters at the Landhandler's), on the Sørfolden, Engam on the Leirfjord, a branch of the Sørfolden, and Dybvik at the end of the fjord, whence a road through wild scenery crosses the hills to Fuske (p. 220).

We next pass through the Gissund, a very narrow strait, the bottom of which is often seen through the green water, to —

10 S. M. Grøtø. The mail-steamers of Line I now steer across the Vestfjord to Kabelvaag (see p. 224). Those of Line II pass between Engelvær (W.) and the Skotsfjord, with the Skots tinder (2451 ft.; E.), and steer E. into the Flagsund, between the mainland and the Engelø, on the W. side of which is seen the church of Stegen.

12 S. M. Bogø. We next round the E. end of the Engelø, and cross the mouth of the beautiful Sagfjord to —

14 S. M. Skutvik, on the Hammerø, which culminates in the pointed Hammeretind (2028 ft.). Then, to the right, is the abrupt Tilthorn (1936 ft., first ascended by C. Hall in 1889). Next through the Ørsund, between the Lundø and the Hammerø, and out into the Vestfjord, in full view of the superb Lofoten chain (p. 222).

14 S. M. Kabelvaag and Svolvær, see p. 224.

The mail-boats of Line II now cross back (E.) to the mainland.

18 S. M. Tranø i Hammer, on a many-branched peninsula. — Line I calls at Kjøøen, on the S. bank of the Hindø, to which Line III plies from Svolvær, by Skraaven, Bisvæ, Halvardseen, Husford, and Vaaje. — The next station of Line II beyond Tranø is —

21 S. M. Korsnæs, at the entrance of the Tysfjord, on which a local steamer plies to Kjøbsvig. The chief arms of the Tysfjord are the narrow Hellemofjord, with the Botnfjord (extending to within 12 Kil. of the Swedish frontier), the Grundfjord, the Manfjord, and the picturesque Stedfjord, above which rises the Stedtind, a curious flat-topped mountain, with sheer left side, well seen from Lødingen.

From Musken, near the head of the Hellemofjord, a route leads by Kraakmo (good quarters), between the 4th and 5th of the seven Sagvande, to Temmerenæs on the Sagfjord; another to Hopen on the Nordfjorden (p. 226). — From Kraakmo we may ascend the huge Kraakmotind, or go by boat up the 5th, 6th, and 7th Sagvande (the boat being dragged across the isthmuses) to the great primeval forest on the 7th lake. From Kraakmo to Tømmernæs on the Sagfjord (17 Kil.) we row down the four lower Sagvande. Near the fjord is a waterfall 50 ft. high. — Another route crosses the picturesque Drageid from Drag on the Tysfjord to the Sagfjord, not far from the steamerboat-stations Bogø and Tranø (see above).

The steamers of Line I run from Kjøøen, and those of Line II from Korsnæs, into the Ofotenfjord, the geological continuation of the Vestfjord. The church of Evenes or Ofoten and the houses of Liland lie to the left. The fjord expands: N.E. opens the Bogen, a broad bay; S. are the bay of Balangen, the banks of which are inhabited by Lapps, and the Skjommenfjord (p. 228).

31 Kil. Narvik lies on a peninsula bounded on the S. by the Beisfjord and on the N. by the Rombaksfjord, between which rises the Beisfjordtætta (4751 ft.). The town (Grand Hot., R. 2-2½, B. or S. 1¼, D. 2 kr.; Hot. Fenix; both good, 5 min. from the rail. stat., 20 min. from the quay) was founded in 1902 as a sea-port, always free from ice, for the Swedish iron-ore (pp. 392, 393; annually nearly $1\frac{1}{4}$ million tons), and as the terminus of the Lapland Railway. It now has 4500 inhab., large quays, and many shops. The station is at the N. end of the town, 25 min. from the pier. To the W. of the station is a good point of view marked by a flagstaff. — Excursion by rail to the frontier, or even to Abisko, interesting, comp. p. 392.

Two Tourist Routes of the Vesteraalen Steamboat Co. (p. 209) start from Narvik; Mondays by Tromsø to the North Cape, then by Hammerfest to the Lyngenfjord, and back by Tromsø to the Lofoten Islands (Digermulen, Raftsund), and past Torghatten to Thronhjelm (6 days; 200-250 kr., incl. food); — Fridays to the Lofoten Islands (Digermulen, Raftsund, Svolver) and back (2 days; 50 kr., incl. food). — The Saltens Steamboat Co. also sends a boat once a week for a circular voyage to the Lofoten Islands (Com. 410; 15-18 kr.).

Narvik is also a station of the Bodø-Lofoten-Ofoten steamers (Com. 409), which twice weekly steam up the Skjommenfjord; at the head of the fjord is Elvegaard (Landhandler), with the church of Skjommen, at the mouth of the Elvegaards-Elv. A road leads up the right bank of the river to the gaards of Bokhl (13 Kil.). Then by a rough bridle-path on the left bank in 4-5 hrs. to a poor refuge-hut ('Gamme'), whence in 7 hrs. we may reach the copper-mines of Sjängels in Sweden (quarters at the Formand's). Grand but toilsome passes lead thence in 8-10 hrs. to Vassjaur or Abisko on the Lapland Railway (p. 392). — The W. arm of the Skjommenfjord is said to be still finer. At its head, to the W., above Skjombotn, towers the Frostisen (4731 ft.), with its vast glaciers. The mountain-slopes, rising abruptly 4000 ft. from the water, have been worn smooth by ice-avalanches.

The next station to the N. of the Ofotensfjord is —

22 S. M. Lødingen, at which all the mail-steamers and many of the local boats touch, an important telegraph-station (comp. p. 210), with a church and parsonage, picturesquely situated on a peninsula of the Hindø, which is here separated from the Tjællø and the mainland by the Tjællsund.

The next stage is less interesting. We steer past the E. side of the Hindø, through the Tjællsund, which afterwards expands into the Vaagsfjord.

26 S. M. Sandtorv, on the Hindø, the first station in Tromsø-Amt.

28 S. M. Græsholmen, also on the Hindø.

30 S. M. Harstad or Harstadhavn (Hot. Nordstjernen; Grand Hot.) is a pleasant, thriving place on a height at the N.E. end of the Hindø. The steamers land at the quay. A drive may be taken to a neighbouring Lapp Encampment (comp. p. 231), and on the return a visit may be paid to the old church of Throndenæs (2 Kil. N. of Harstad), once the northmost in Christendom. The drivers charge 3-4 kr. for each person. As there are vehicles enough, the travellers should decline to be crowded.

Harstad is also a station of the Tromsø-Amt steamers (Com. 416, 417) to Risshavn (p. 226) in the Vesteraalen group.

To the N. we see the jagged peaks of the Gryte, and in the distance the Senjehest (984 ft.), the S. headland of Senjen (p. 229). The tourist-steamers steer N.E. across the Vaagsfjord. The midnight sun is visible here till mid-July (p. 212). Between the Gryte and the Senjehest appears the distant Vesteraalen island Andø (p. 226).

To the E. tower the abrupt Aarbodstind and Faxtind (see below). — The mail-steamers turn E. from Harstad to the Roldø and into the Astafjord to — 32 S. M. Huvnøvik, on the Roldø. The church of Ibestad, like that of Thronøenæs, is of stone, and vaulted, while the other churches in Tromsø-Stift are of timber. To the S.E., on the mainland, towers the Messetind (3317 ft.), and S. of it the Skavlikollen (3304 ft.); both may be climbed, with guide, the former from the Gratangenfjord, the latter from the Gravfjord.

We steam through the grand Salangenfjord* and Mjørsund, between the Andørje and the mainland. The tourist-steamers pass this way on their return-voyage. On the mainland lie the stations of Lavangnæs and Søveien (Com. 416). Immediately W. of the Mjørsund rises the huge Aarbodstind (3855 ft.), with a large glacier and a waterfall, and to the E. the pointed Faxtind (4003 ft.).

The scenery is still more impressive at —

35 S. M. Kastnashavn; all these mountains, notably the pinnacle of the Faxtind, are seen at once, and the W. horizon is bounded by the Andø Mts. and others. To the W. the Dyrø and Dyrørsund.

38 S. M. Kløven, on the island of Senjen (641 sq. M.). Quantities of 'Kveiter' (halibut, p. 211) are caught here, some of them 6-10 ft. long, and dried in the open air. The fat fins are called 'rav', the flesh of the back 'røkløng'. A single fish sometimes more than fills a barrel. To the S.E. rise the snow-clad Ghirragas-Tjokko, or Istinder (4864 ft.). — The next station is Finsnæs, on the mainland, pleasantly situated on the Finfjord, whence a road leads N., past the Finfjordvand, to Guldhav in the Maalselv-Dal (p. 230).

42 S. M. Gibstad (telegr., comp. p. 210), also in Senjen. Our course lies between that island and the mainland. The shores are green, wooded, and fairly well peopled, and this pleasing scenery is backed by snow-mountains. Opposite us, on the mainland, are the white church and the parsonage of Lenvik; to the left rise the jagged peaks at the N. end of Senjen; in front appears the Lille Blaamand on the Kvalø (p. 230).

The tourist-steamers and the mail-boats of Lines II and III cross the Malangenfjord, the N. frontier of Norway in the middle ages, enclosed by high mountains. To the S. rise the snowy heights of the Maalselvdal; to the E. are the snow-peaks on the Lyngenfjord. The mail-steamers of Line I and several local boats from Tromsø enter the fjord (Com. 419). To the right is the church of Rosfjord. The chief station in the Malangerfjord is — 47 S. M. Maalsnæs (Pedersen's Hot.), on a tongue of land, where the fjord divides into several arms. This is the starting-point for excursions to the Maalselvdal and Bardudal, inhabited chiefly by colonists from the Østerdal and the Gudbrandsdal, who began to settle here in 1796.

FROM MAALSNEES TO THE ROSTAVAND We drive (fast stations to Bakkehaug) past Hollendernæs, where the Dutch attempted to settle in the 17th cent. against the will of the Hanseatic merchants (p. 133). This is alluded to by Peter Dass (p. lvi): —

*'Men der denne Handel lidt længe paastod,
Da blev det de Bergensle Kjøbmænd imod,
Hollænderne maatte sig pakke.'
(‘But the business had soon to be closed,
For the merchants of Bergen opposed,
And the Dutchmen were forced to begone’)*

The first station in this fine valley is (14 Kil.) Guldhaug. The road then leads past the church of Maalselven to (11 Kil.) Moen (good quarters). The grand mountains facing us are the crater-like Glurragas Tjokko, or Istander (p. 229). A good point of view is Lille Mauket (1970 ft.), near Moen.

Passing several small stations, and then (18 Kil.) Bakkehaug and (12 Kil.) Neergaard, with its church, we arrive at Øverby, near the confluence of the Maals-Elv and the Jagmol-Elv (Through the valley of the latter a route leads to the Lyngenfjord; p. 233.) Above the Rostavand rises the huge Rostafjeld (5118 ft.). To ascend it we ride to gaard Kongskid (good quarters), and then mount through a small valley on the E. side. Wild reindeer occur here. Opposite the Rostafjeld rise S.E. the Likkaværre (4890 ft.); S.W. the Ruten (4596 ft.) and Alapen (4954 ft.); and E., quite near, the Brattifjeld.

FROM MAALSNEES TO SØVEIEN To Moen, see above. The next station is (17 Kil.) Sundli, in the Bardudal. Before reaching it we diverge to the left to Fosmoen and the copious Bardufos; to the left rises the Istander (p. 229), the W. peak of which may be ascended — 23 Kil. Søtermoen. Beyond this the road in the Bardudal is uninteresting. It leads past Viken to the Altevand (1684 ft.), where N rises the Kistefjeld (5653 ft.) and S. the Rokomborre (5343 ft.). — Our road crosses W. the hill Kobberyggen to (10 Kil.) Brandvold, leads past the Nedre Vand to Vashoved, and lastly to (17 Kil.) Søveien (p. 229).

FROM THE MAALSELDVAL TO THE BALSFJORD. Of several routes the easiest (with guide; 1 day's walk) is from Ølsborg, a little N. of Moen, to Storstenæs (good quarters at the Landhandler's, not to be confounded with the houses near Tromsø, p. 233), from which we row in 1½ hr. (4 kr.) to Havnnæs (good quarters), near the S.E. end of the fjord. Here we may either take the Balsfjord steamer, passing on the E. bank mountains 5000 ft. high, to Tromsø; or from Nordkjos, at the head of the fjord, we may walk by Øvregaard, through wood and pasture, to the Lapp settlement of Mælen; then across two rivers (ask for horse at Mælen) to Hatteng, at the S. end of the Lyngenfjord (p. 233), 6-7 hrs. from Havnnæs.

Leaving the Malangenfjord, we pass the great Bensjordind (4084 ft.), with its snow-fields, on the right, and the large island Kvalø on the left, where in the foreground rises the rocky and snow-clad Lille Blaamand (2625 ft.). On the S. coast of the island, between Buvik and Mjelde, several old coast-lines (p. xxxii) may be traced. The Blaamand itself (3429 ft.), the highest hill in the island, becomes visible in the distance farther on. We steer into the Tromsøesund, about 550 yds. broad. Behind us the Bensjordind is in sight till we enter the harbour of Tromsø. To the N. we see the snow-clad Skulgamtinder on the Ringvadsø; to the E. we look into the Tromsdal, with the Tromsdalstind in the background. The current in the Tromsøesund changes with the tide.

49 S.M. Tromsø. — GRAND HOTEL, near the quay, R. 2, B or S. 1½, D. 2 kr., very fair; HEGBOM'S HOT., further N. — Confectioner, Wohnhas, Skipper-Gade 16. — FURS, GOLD AND SILVER ORNAMENTS, etc., at Claus

Andersen's, near the pier. — LAPP COSTUMES, etc., at Figenschau's, near the quay. — GLOVES at Th. Kratochvil's (information of every kind). — BRITISH VICE-CONSUL, U. Aagaard.

THE LOCAL STEAMERS, well fitted up, of the 'Tromsø-Amts-Dampskibs-Selskab', ply to the Ulfesfjord, Lyngenesfjord, Reisenfjord, and Kvenangsfjord; also to Harstad, the Balsfjord, Ofofenfjord, etc. (Com 416-21), thus offering numerous excursions.

Tromsø, a town of 8000 inhab., the seat of an Amtmand and a bishop, with a training-college, and several churches and schools, lies on the island of that name, in 69° 38' N. latitude. It was raised to the rank of a town in 1794, and is now a busy place, exporting large quantities of dried and smoked herrings and other fish, train-oil, fur, etc., and trading largely with Russia. Many vessels for the capture of seals and walrus are also fitted up here.

In the market-place ('Torvet') are the Town Hall and the Rom. Cath. Church. In the S. part of the town is the large timber-built Prot. Church. On a hill outside the town is the handsome Museum ('Musæet'; adm. 50 ø.; Sun. 12-1 free), completed in 1894, with admirably arranged natural history and ethnographical collections. — The vegetation here is wonderfully rich. Mountain-ashes, wild cherry-trees, birches, etc., attain great size and luxuriance.

On the hill above the town is a birch-grove, adjoined by the public grounds of Altheim, where all Tromsø assembles in the evening. Numerous villas. We ascend by the Sparebank, and turn to the left at the parting of the ways. The right branch leads to the Præstevand, a small lake which supplies the town with water. — The road to the Charlottenlund also affords a pretty walk: ascend from the Torv, follow the road to the right above the Town Hall, and ascend to the left.

AN EXCURSION TO THE LAPP CAMP IN THE TROMSDAL (3-4 hrs., there and back) is not within the programme of the tourist-steamers. Motor-launch (10 ø.) across the strait to Storstennas, at the entrance to the Tromsdal. The path up the valley cannot be mistaken (3/4 hr.). The ground is rough and marshy at places. We pass through a birch-wood on the S. bank of the brawling glacier-stream, and at length reach a broad basin, with the Tromstind forming the E. background.

The Lapp Camp contains a colony of several Lapp families from Swedish Lapland†. Their dwellings, called 'Darfe Goattek'

† By the treaties of 1751, 1905 and 1909 the Swedish Lapps are entitled to migrate to the Norwegian coast in summer, and the Norwegian Lapps to Sweden in winter. These migrations often lead to disputes with the permanent inhabitants. The number of Lapps in Norway is estimated at 21,000, of whom 1700 only are still nomadic. Sweden and Russia contain about 12,000 more. The Lapps now intermarry freely with Norwegians and Finns. In Norway they are often called Finner, while the Finns are named Kvæner, from the 'lan' of Kajana in Finland.

Among works on the Lapps may be mentioned Milford's 'Norway and her Laplanders', 1842; Everes's 'Journey through Norway, Lapland, etc.', 1829; G. von Düben's 'Om Lappland och Lapparne', Stockholm, 1873; Friis's or 'Gammer', are stone or clay huts, with openings at the top for the exit of smoke, and in summer they have canvas-tents stretched on birch-poles. The Lapps offer fur-boots (Skal-Komager, or Skaller), spoons of reindeer-horn, and other articles for sale. They possess a herd of 2000-3000 reindeer, which graze on the adjoining hills. The peculiar crackling of the animal's hoofs recalls the sound produced by an electric battery. The reindeer are caught by a kind of lasso thrown over their horns. They are milked twice a week only. The rich and rather strong milk, the Lapp's chief article of diet, is diluted with water before use. 'The milk is strong and thick, as if beaten up with eggs' (Scheffer's Lapponica, 1675). The cheese made of it is reserved for winter. — On the way back from the Tromsdal we obtain a beautiful *View of Tromsø, with its green hills, and the snow-mountains of the Kvalø (p. 230) and the Ringvadsø (see below) beyond.

The Fløifjeld (2600 ft.; about 2½ hrs., guide advisable), a moss-clad rocky hill, rising from the sea opposite Tromsø, on the S. side of the entrance to the Tromsadal, is an excellent point of view. The path diverges from the Tromsdal route to the right, a few minutes from Storstennas, beyond the houses. It soon becomes steep, and ends halfway up; we then ascend over meadows (rich polar flora) and loose stones, and partly over snow. The top is marked by an iron vane. With caution, we may descend direct (no path) to the Lapp camp (see above).

The Tromsdalstind (4065 ft.; 3-4 hrs.; guide from Tromsø, 10-12 kr., may be dispensed with by experts) may be ascended from the Lapp camp. We walk to the (1 hr.) head of the valley, which ends in a great basin like those in the Pyrenees; then ascend the steep slope to the left, at first over turf, then over snow. Herds of reindeer sometimes graze here. To reach the crest of the hill we have to scale a very steep snow-field. The final ascent, over snow and detritus, is easier. The top, marked by a varde, commands the magnificent scenery of the Ulfsfjord and the glacier-chain on the Lyngenfjord; to the W. stretches the Arctic Ocean beyond Tromsø and the Kvalø. On the E. side the mountain falls almost sheer to a valley extending from the Ulfsfjord to the Balsfjord.

33. From Tromsø to the North Cape.

46 S.M. Distances from Tromsø are prefixed to the chief stations. From Tromsø to Hammerfest the Bergen and Nordenfjeld MAIL STEAMER takes 16-18 hrs., the Vesteraalen EXPRESS BOAT 11 hrs. only. — The Bergen and Nordenfjeld TOURIST STEAMERS leave Tromsø in the evening, reach the Fugle about midnight, and Hammerfest next morning, and are off the North Cape in the evening; those of the Vesteraalen Co. start from Tromsø in the morning and arrive at the North Cape late in the evening.

We steer N. through the Tromsøund, and N.E. through the Gretsund. To the left lies the mountainous Ringvadsø (with a glacier and a lake formed by a moraine); then the Reinø, at the S.W. end of which lies Finkroken. The steamers sometimes pass through the Langfjord, between the Ringvadsø and the Reinø. On the mainland, opposite Finroken, the Ulfstind (3609 ft.) is posted like a sentinel at the mouth of the Ulfstjord*, which runs S., inland, for 50 Kil., parallel with the Lyngenfjord. We obtain, in passing, a superb view of the snow-mountains of the Lyngen peninsula (see below), the Jægervandstinder (5544 ft.) with the Goutzagaize (4440 ft.), and to the right of them the Fornæstind (5660 ft.).

On the Ulfstjord a steamer (Com. 421) from Tromsø plies once weekly. From the station of Jægervand (good quarters) we may visit the lake of that name, beyond which rise the grand Jægervandstinder. (From the S. end of the lake (12 Kil. long) a toilsome but interesting pass leads past the Trollvand to (4 hrs.) Storstennas, whence we may skirt the Kjosenfjord to (8 hrs.) Kjos (see below) | — At Gjævik (quarters at P. Gjæver's, the Landhandler), whence the Fornæsdalsbrø (p. 234) may be visited, the steamer enters the inlet of Kjos, enclosed by huge ice-clad mountains. From Kjos, the terminus (coffee, bread, and eggs at the postmaster's; guide, Knut Johannesen), at the head of this creek, a road crosses the 'Eid' or isthmus, about 4 Kil. broad and 197 ft. high, to Lyngen (see p. 234). — In the S. part of the Ulfstjord, named the Serfjord, the steamer calls at Sjursnes, on the W. bank, near the church of Serfjorden. Opposite rise the huge Jægervarre and Njalasvarre (p. 234).

The mail-steamers stop at the little island of (S S.M.) Karlse, beyond which the Fuglesund to the left leads between the Vannø and the Arne to the open Arctic Ocean. The tourist-boats steer a little way down the Sund to await the MIDNIGHT SUN*, a glorious spectacle for those who have the rare fortune to see it unclouded. Across the blue, yellow, and silver shimmering sea appears in the foreground the rocky Fugle (2572 ft.), the sharp outline of which recalls Capri; to the left of it, in the background, hangs almost motionless the red and gold disk of the sun. This beautiful scene is even more impressive than from the North Cape, but is often marred or blotted out by fog or the storms of the Arctic Ocean. At other times the milk-white mist lies on the surface of the water only, while the sky is bright and sunny. In this case the steamer casts anchor, and passengers have leisure to observe the peculiar white 'Skoddebuer' or fog-bows.

On the islet of Skaars, adjoining the Vannø on the N.E., there was formerly a whaling-station, but whaling on the Norwegian coast has been prohibited by law since 1901. Operations have since been transferred to Iceland, Bear Island, and Spitzbergen.

To the S. opens the Lyngenfjord*, which is visited by the mail-boats of Line II, by the Tromsø steamers (p. 235), and by the tourist-steamers on their way back from the North Cape. The Lyngen peninsula, bounded on the W. by the Ulfstjord and on the E. by the Lyngenfjord, and ending in the bold headland of Lyngstuen (1215 ft.), is wholly occupied by snow and ice-clad mountains rising close to the sea. Furthest N. is the Pipertind (4036 ft.), on the N. side of which lies a broad Glacier*, embedded between several peaks. Next to it is the Storskaal, separated by snow-filled gorges from the Vagastind; and next the latter, beyond another gorge, is the Rendalstind. A glacier descends almost to the sea. Behind rise the Jægervandstinder (see above), also with large glaciers.

The vessel steers close under the rocks familiarly known as Smerstribben (butter-slices), from their variegated horizontal strata. The opposite bank is also mountainous and partly covered with snow, but has no glaciers. Opposite the islet of Aarsholm rises W. the Golborre, and S.W. the Fastdalstind. Farther on, opposite the mouth of the Kaafjord, tower the immense Kjostinder (5414 ft.). We round a headland, and, about 2 hrs. from the entrance to the fjord, reach —

Lyngen or Lyngseidet (quarters, for a longer stay only, at Anton Gjæver's, the Landhandler), residence of a pastor, a doctor, and a Lensmand. After so long a voyage in an inhospitable region, the little church amid birch-clad hills, flanked with snow-mountains, is specially attractive. To the S. of the valley, through which the road leads W. to Kjosén (p. 233), rises the Goalsevarre (4232 ft.). At its foot, about 20 min. from Lyngen, is a large Lapp Settlement, to visit which some of the tourist-ships land their passengers.

Lyngseidet, served five times a week by steamers from Tromsø (once by mail-steamer of Line II, twice by Lyngenfjord steamer, and twice by the Ulfsfjord boat to Kjosén, 4 Kil. from Lyngen; see below; Com. 226a, 418, 421), is a good centre for Excursions in the Lyngen District. Hr. Gjæver procures land and boat-skyds, but guides are difficult to get. Petersen's geological map of Tromsø-Amt and the Beskrivelse af Tromsø-Amt (1 kr.), published by the 'Geografiske Opmaaling' in Christiania, will be most useful. Patience is required in dealing with the sluggish but proud peasantry of the district. The traveller who seeks quarters from them deposits his luggage at the door, and waits until his request is answered with a 'Velkom' and a handshake. About 1½ kr. is given per day. Less ceremony is required with the Lapps.

Good walkers may ascend the Goalsevarre (see above) in 4 hrs. without a guide; a porter (2 kr.) may be taken from the Lapp encampment where the ascent begins. Keep to the left of the brook. The 'View from the top embraces (E) the S. part of the Lyngenfjord and (N.) the Kjostinder. — An excursion to the mountain-basin enclosed by the Goalsevarre, the Rørnastinder (ca. 4100 ft.), and the Jertind (ca. 3600 ft.) takes 6-7 hrs. — Another fine excursion for one day: cross the Eid to Kjosén (4 Kil.; p. 233); row to the (1½ hr.) Fornæsdaal, and walk up that valley (toilsome; guide necessary, 4 kr.), crossing old moraines, to the Fornæsdaal-Brae*, a superb glacier descending abruptly from the Golzevaggagaissa, between the Fornæstind and the Durmaalstind.

The following tour takes 1½ day. drive S. to (12 Kil.; fare 3 kr.) Pollen, then row to Dalen (poor quarters at both); next day walk by a good path on the left bank up the beautiful but uninhabited Lyngdal, passing the Jæggevarre (8286 ft.) on the N., to the (2½ hrs.) great glacier descending from the main plateau (lower end 1800 ft. above the sea). From the Lyngsdal we may also ascend the Njulavarre (5027 ft.) to the S. (grand view of the Jæggevarre glaciers), or walk N. to the glaciers of the Ruksisvaggagaissa.

Another interesting excursion is E. to the Kaafjord, where the local boats call (Com. 418a). Good quarters at Kr. Wassmuth's at Langnæs. Six immense waterfalls descend about 3000 ft. from the steep sides of the inner Kaafjord. The dwellers on the Kaafjord are mostly 'Sea Lapps', who have abandoned nomadic life and now live by fishing and cattle-rearing. From the steamboat-station Birtavarra, at the end of the fjord, a road ascends the Kaafjórðdal to (ca. 3-4 hrs.) the Birtavarra copper-mines. Near Skatvold are interesting coast-lines (p. xxxii).

The TROMSØ-AMT STEAMER goes on, S. of Lyngen, to the market village of Skibotten (good quarters at Antonie Rasch's), at the mouth of a river

(good fishing), with a fine view of the Njalavarre, and thence to Koesmenæs or Hatteng (good quarters at Hans Kùl's), prettily situated at the head of the Storfjord, the S bay of the Lyngenfjord. The surrounding mountains are: N.E., the blunt cone of the Hatten, S.E., the jagged Mandfjeld (5086 ft.), and S., the Otterind. — From Hatteng to Havnæs on the Balstjord, 6-7 hrs. (see p. 230); a horse, for fording the streams, should be hired to Mælen.

Beyond the Lyngenfjord we pass between the Arne and the Kaage (3966 ft.), with its glacier, into the Kaagsund, beyond which, on the left, is the Løge, and on the right —

13 S.M. Skjærvø (Guldbrandsen's Hot.), in a bay on the W. side of the island of that name, with a church, a post and telegraph office, and a doctor. Nansen's ship, the Fram, under Capt. Sverdrup, anchored here on 20th August, 1896, on her return from her three years' voyage.

To the S.E. we see the pointed Kvenangstinder on the Kvenangfjord, which is entered by the Lyngenfjord steamers, and also once weekly by the mail-boats of Line II (as far as Alteidet, see below). From the peninsula to the N. and E. of the Kvenangfjord, where the land is deeply indented by many fjords, rises the Øksfjordjøkel (3825 ft.), from which a glacier descends to the Jøkelfjord. Our course is now nearly due N., across the open sea ('Lophavet'), to —

17 S.M. Loppen, the first station in Finmarkens-Amt, with its little church, its turf-covered parsonage, and the Landhandler's substantial house. Little grows here except a few potatoes, which almost alone survive the storms raging for weeks. — The mail-boat of Line I steers S. into the Bergsfjord, rounds the wedge-shaped island of Silden (2028 ft.), and stops at —

20 S.M. Bergsfjord, on the E. side of the fjord. Grand scenery. In the background S. is a glacier of the Øksfjordjøkel, discharged by a waterfall. Passing Lersnæs, we steer S.E. to —

23 S.M. Øksfjord, on a peninsula between the Øksfjord and the Stjernesund, in a noble amphitheatre of mountains, conspicuous in which to the W. is the great Jøkelfjord, with a glacier descending from it. To the N. is the small church.

The Stjernesund opens E. into the Altenfjord, which may be visited from Hammerfest (p. 286; Com 425), made known to science by L. von Buch, Prof. Forbes, Keilhau, Ch. Martins, and others. The fjord has branches in every direction. The mountains are Alpine in form. The chief heights are on the W. side: the Kaaven (3130 ft.), between the Stjernesund and Langfjord; the Lassefjeld (3339 ft.), S. of the Langfjord; and the Store Halde (3744 ft.), W. of the Kaafjord. The vegetation here is surprisingly rich. Foliage-trees and wild strawberries occur, and potatoes thrive in places. The temperature in July rises at times to 100° Fahr. — The more important stations are on the S. side of the fjord: Langfjordbunden (12 Kil. from Alteidet, see above); Talvik ('pine-bay'), with a church; Kaafjord, with an old copper-mine, re-opened in 1895, and — Bossekor ('whale-bay'; bosso, Lappish for 'whale'; 'Fru Wig's Hot.'), with the church of Alten, at the foot of the Kongshavnfjeld (705 ft.), 3-4 Kil. E. of the mouth of the salmon-river Alten-Elv. In the vicinity are seen old coast-lines, at a height of about 200 ft.

FROM BOSSEKOR BY KARASJOK TO VADSSØ, 6-7 days. A guide (vappus) who knows Lappish is necessary. Equipment, see pp. xxiii, 242. At first there is a road, which crosses the Alten-Elv beyond Attengaard; then a bridle-path. We pass a number of 'sieidi', or sacred stones ('sieidi-gergi', oracle stones), formerly worshipped by the Lapps. The first night is spent in the Jotkastue or Romsdalsstue, by the small lake of Jotkajavre (1903 ft.; about 45 Kil. from Bossekop). — Farther on we observe N.E. the conical Vuorie Gaussa (3337 ft.) and the Vuolla-Njunnas (2760 ft.), once famous places of sacrifice. The country is mostly wooded. We next row down the large lake of Jesjavre (1332 ft.), or ride along its bank, and then ride or row down the valley of the rapid, but navigable Jesfjokk to the Mollesjokstue, the second 'Fjeldstue' or refuge, about 40 Kil. beyond the Jotkastue. — We again cross the fjeld to (35 Kil.) the third station, the Ravnastue. Thence we either go direct, by the Gwimo-Javre, to (25 Kil.) Karasjok, or first to (16 Kil.) the Karasjokka ('rapid river') and descend on its left bank to (16 Kil.) Karasjok — Karasjok (410 ft.; "Nielsen's Hot"), with about 800 settled inhab., has a church and a large school-house, and is thoroughly Lappish. — The rest of the journey is by boat. Below Karasjok (15 Kil.) the Karasjokka joins the Anarjokka. The combined rivers form the Tana-Elv, the right bank of which is Russian. At Levvajok, halfway to Polmak, is a 'Fjeldstue', in which the night may be spent. Next day the Storfos must be passed on foot, the boat being dragged down by land, but the other rapids are not dangerous unless the river is low. At the church of Polmak both banks of the river are Norwegian. At Suoppanjargga, 7 Kil. above Seida (p. 242), we leave the boat, and go 17 Kil. by road to Nyborg (p. 242).

From Øksfjord the mail-boat steers N., towards the mountainous Sørø, where it stops at Servær, Breivik, Hasvik, and sometimes at Gaashopen. This island, like the Stjernø and Seiland, which mask the mouth of the Altanfjord (p. 235) on the right, have the table-land character common in Finmarken. In Seiland rises the ice-clad Nordmansjøkel (3527 ft.); on the N. bank of the island are Kaarhavn and the islet of Vinna, where the steamer calls once a week. Numerous bays cut deep into the island. Between Seiland and the curiously shaped island of Haagen we near the harbour of Hammerfest. Before entering it, we look to the right into the strait of Strømmen, separating Seiland from the Kvalø, on which Hammerfest lies. A headland of the Kvalø narrows the strait to 1 Kil. at one point, across which the reindeer herds are made to swim to their summer pastures in Seiland.

30 S.M. Hammerfest. — GRAND HOT., very fair. — TELEGRAPH in the Grønnevoldgade, by the harbour. — Brit. Vice-Consul, C. Robertson. — LOCAL STEAMERS of the Nordenfjeld Co. ply from Hammerfest thrice weekly to the Allenfjord (p. 235; Com. 425 twice-taking two days, once one day there and back); also twice a week to the Porsanger Fjord and the Laxeifjord (p. 240; Com. 426; 3½ days, there and back).

Hammerfest, founded in 1787, with 2300 inhab., is the north-most town in the world (70° 40' 11" N. lat., 23° 45' 25" E. long.). The town is wholly timber-built. The sun does not set here from 13th May to 29th July, nor rise from 18th Nov. to 23rd Jan. (electric light). The port is frequented by ships from almost all parts of Europe, but chiefly from Russia. The chief exports are fish and train-oil, the imports hemp, flax, sail-cloth, iron goods, and corn. Fishing-fleets are dispatched hence to the polar seas. Cod-liver oil, prepared in numerous boileries, is the most valuable commodity. Hence the all-pervading 'ancient and fish-like smell'.

The harbour is skirted by the Grønnevold-Gade, where rise the

Rom. Cath. Church and the large warehouses. To the S.W. is the superior quarter of the town, rebuilt since the fire of 1890, with the Storgade as its main street. Here are the Prot. Church, the town-hall, two schools, and the Stift-Amtmand's house.

The E. prolongation of the Grønnevold-Gade leads N. round the harbour, then W. to (20 min.) the Fuglnas, to which we may also row. At the end of the cape are a lighthouse (disused of course in summer) and the house of the British consul. A conspicuous little granite column, called the Meridianstøtte, crowned with a globe in bronze, has been erected here in memory of the measurement of degrees in 1816-52, by Russian, Swedish and Norwegian geometers. Fine view of the town and the barren hills around.

The Latin and Norwegian inscriptions on the column are to this effect: N. end of the meridian 25° 21' long., extending from the Arctic Ocean to the Danube (from Hammerfest to Ismail), through Norway, Sweden, and Russia, which, by order of King Oscar I. and Emperors Alexander I. and Nicholas I., the geometers of the three nations measured with uninterrupted labour in the years 1816-1852. Lat. 70° 40' 11 3". — On the Fuglnas Sir Edward Sabine made his famous experiments with the pendulum in 1823.

From the hill to the N. of the Meridianstøtte we have an unbroken view of the N. horizon, and therefore of the midnight sun also

The long hill to the S. of Hammerfest, on which, as we enter the harbour, we observe a stone signal with a wooden top, is called Sadlen* ('saddle'; pron. sahlen). An easy path, beginning by the band-stand at the W. end of the Stor-Gade, ascends the slopes in windings to the (1/4 hr.) top (rfmts.), where we have a fine view of the town and harbour. We may descend to the valley on the E. side, where we reach a road by the little lake Storvand. On the other bank of the lake are remains of a birch-grove and several country-houses. — The signal-station at the top of the Sadlen, 3/4 M. W. of the little café, overlooks the glaciers and snow-mountains of Seiland and the Sers, but is not high enough for a view of the midnight sun.

ASCENT OF THE TYVEN, to the S. of Hammerfest (1 1/2 hrs. to the top; guide unnecessary). We follow the road on the E. side of the Sadlen, above the Storvand, and then turn to the right, following the telegraph-wires, keeping well to the right to avoid the swamps. The Tyven is the high hill at the foot of which the wires run. A little farther on we mount to the left to a knoll covered with loose stones, passing under the wires, and then past a small pond, to (1 hr.) the foot of the abrupt Tyven. Here we turn to the left, close to the base of huge fallen rocks, and ascend the steep course of a small brook, fringed with willows and dwarf birches. At the top of the gully we see W. the sea and N. the villas above mentioned, and beyond them another small lake. Large herds of tame reindeer, whose peculiar grunting ('Grynte') is heard a long way off, graze here in summer. We now ascend steeply to the right, passing a snow-field which lies on the right, and then, keeping still more to the right, reach (3/4 hr.) the top of the Tyven (1375 ft.), marked by a pyramid of stones. The hill consists of gneiss, with slate at the top. It descends very abruptly on the W. side, with the sea washing its base; close by is a bay with meadows, a birch-wood, and several houses. We survey E. the barren and desolate Kvæle, with its numerous ponds, and S. and W. long mountain-ranges, snow-fields, and glaciers. Most conspicuous are the islands of Seiland and Sørø. To the N. stretches the vast horizon of the Arctic Ocean. Of Hammerfest itself the Fuglæs only is visible. — The best way back is W., by the top of the Sadlen (p. 237), where the view is similar, though less extensive. By this route, the whole excursion takes 4, otherwise 3-3½ hrs.

Beyond Hammerfest the land ceases to be of account except as subservient to the sea, and fish becomes the centre of all interests. The landscape is Arctic, and the vegetation so scanty, that a patch of grass 'which might be covered with a copy of the Times' is hailed as a meadow. — On the right the coast is deeply indented with fjords. On the left there are a few islands, and between these are long stretches of open sea.

35 S.M. Rolfshavn, on the Rolfse. To the S., near the mainland, is the small Renø, where the mail-steamers call alternately with the Rolfse.

We next steer through the Havesund, between the mainland and the Havø, an island with a church, a pastor, and a Landhandler, in which rises a pointed hill called the Sukkertop ('sugar-loaf'). The mail-steamers now enter the Maassund, touching at the Maase, also with church, parsonage, and Landhandler, or sometimes at Gjesvær (see below), and then usually pass through the Magerø-sund (p. 239).

The tourist-steamers steer N.E. in the Maasøfjord, between the Hjelmse (left) and the Maase (right). At the N. end of the Hjelmse is a 'bird-hill', the haunt of countless sea-fowl, with the curiously shaped Hjelmstøren. — On the Magerø, E., the Gjesværtøp soon comes in sight, in front of which is Gjesvær, on an islet, at which the mail and the local boats touch. To the N. rise the Stappene* (stappi, old Norse 'column'), three pointed rocky islands covered with dense flocks of gulls, auks, and other sea-fowl. When scared by a cannon-shot thousands of them rise in dense snow-like clouds, uttering shrill cries. Others take to the water, but many remain sitting on ledges of the rock.

To the right opens the Tuefjord, cutting deep into the Magerø. We then round the long, low Knivskjær- or Knivskjæl - Odde (71° 11' N. lat.; a little further N. than the Cape), on which a mail-steamer struck in a fog in 1881, and soon (47 S.M. from Tromsø) sight the North Cape, which presents a majestic appearance though of moderate height.

The North Cape* (1017 ft.; 71° 10' 24" N. lat., 25° 45' 50" E. long.), the precipitous N. headland of the Magerø, called Knøs-kanes by the early geographer Schöning, a dark-grey slate-rock, furrowed with deep clefts, is usually regarded as the northmost point of Europe, though the Nordkyn (p. 240) is the northmost continental point. Passengers land in the Hornvik, on the N.E. side of the Cape. A rude path, bordered with iron stanchions and ropes, ascends the green mossy slope, swampy and stony at places. (Stout boots and wraps advisable.) In about 50 min. we reach the plateau, where a wire, very acceptable in foggy weather (but reported in disrepair), leads in 20 min. more to the top. A granite column recalls the visit of King Oscar II. in 1873, and a 'Varde' or cairn that of Emp. William II. in 1891. A cold wind generally prevails. (In the pavilion champagne is sold at 8-14 kr. per bottle.) The sun is at its lowest at 11.17 p.m., by mid-European time. The view embraces the open sea to the W., N., and E.; to the S.W. we see the Hjelmø and the Rolfsø; E., in the distance, the Nordkyn; S. the plateau of the Magerø, with its patches of snow, its ponds, and scanty vegetation.

'The northern sun, creeping at midnight at the distance of five diameters along the horizon, and the immeasurable ocean in apparent contact with the skies, form the grand outlines in the sublime picture presented to the astonished spectator. The incessant cares and pursuits of anxious mortals are recollected as a dream, the various forms and energies of animated nature are forgotten; the earth is contemplated only in its elements, and as constituting a part of the solar system'. — Acerbi's Travels to the North Cape. London, 1802.

'And then uprose before me,
Upon the water's edge,
The huge and haggard shape
Of that unknown North Cape, Whose form is like a wedge'. Longfellow.

To the E. of the North Cape is an excellent fishing-ground (comp. p. 244), where passengers are usually indulged with an hour or two of hand-line fishing from the deck of the steamer, the sailors willingly assisting.

34. From the North Cape to Vadsø.

About 60 S.M. (comp. p. 212). The mail-steamers (Com. 226 and 227c) take 62-70 hrs.

Beyond the North Cape the sole attraction of the voyage is the utter bleakness and solemnity of the scene. Both mainland and islands consist of vast monotonous plateaux, called Næringen, rising 1000-2000 ft., and for half-a-day at a time not a boat, not a human dwelling is to be seen.

From the Maasø (p. 238) the mail-boats steer E. through the narrow Magerøsfund, between the Magerø and the mainland. On the E. coast of the Magerø are stations Honningsvaagen and (6 S.M. from Maasø) Kjølsviken, with a church and the Landhandler's house.

We next pass the mouth of the Porsanger Fjord, about 20 Kil. broad, and extending 120 Kil. inland, to which local steamers ply from Hammerfest. In July and August the 'Sei' (saithe, Gadus virens), akin to the cod, is largely caught here. The Sei enters the fjord in pursuit of the 'Lodde' (Osmerus arcticus, a kind of smelt), which resorts to the shore to spawn. After the Lofoten fishery (p. 223) the fishermen come here for the 'Lodde' fishery.

The N. headland of the peninsula of Spirte-Njarga, which bounds the Porsanger Fjord on the E., is the Sværholdklubben, composed of clay-slate, about 1000 ft. high, the haunt of millions of sea-fowl. It belongs to the Landhandler of Sværholt, which lies in a small bay to the E., and of which he is the only inhabitant. He derives a good income from the sale of the sea-fowls' eggs.

The Laxefjord, which runs inland on the E. side of the Spirte-Njarga, is served by the local steamers only (p. 236). The mail-steamers next make for the Kjøllefjord, a bay on the W. coast of the large peninsula of Čorgaš-Njarga (pron. tshorgash). On the S. side of the entrance to the bay rises the Store Finkirke, a huge rock, once revered by the Lapps; and further up the fjord is the Lille Finkirke. The vertical strata of sandstone here are noteworthy. At the head of the fjord is the station of Kjøllefjord, with a church and several houses and Lapp huts ('Gammer'). To the right we observe an old coast-line (p. xxxii).

Leaving the Kjøllefjord, we next steer round the Rødevæg ('red wall') to the station of Skjætningberg, and along the abrupt coast to the headland Nordkyn (768 ft.; $71^{\circ}8'2''$ N. lat.; $27^{\circ}39'57''$ E. long.), the northmost point of the mainland of Europe. The masses of quartzose rock, broken into enormous slabs, have an imposing effect. Next, on the right, we see the headland Smerbringa (423 ft.).

The next small stations are Mehavn and Gamvik. Then, passing Omgang and the station of Finkongkjeilen, we enter the Tanafjord, an inlet nearly 70 Kil. long, which is served by the mail-steamers of Line I and by a local boat from Vardø (Com. 428). The E. bank is composed of variegated quartzose rock. On the W. is the Hopsfjord, up which we have a glimpse, across the narrow Hopseid, of the distant Laxefjord. The hills to the E. of the fjord increase in height, culminating in the Stangenestind (2375 ft.). To the W., farther on, is Digermulen, a peninsula separating the Tanafjord from the Langfjord; to the S. rises the distant Algas-Varre (p. 242). above Guldholmen. The stations of Vagge and Smalfjorden are called at alternately.

The other mail-boat steers direct from Finkongkjeilen, round the Tanahorn (883 ft.), which rises at the N. end of the peninsula of Rago-Njarga, to Berlevaag, Makur, Syltefjord (with its 'bird-hill'), Havningberg, and — 50 S.M. Vardø (Fru Øien's Hot.; Midgaard's Hot.; Brit. Vice-Consul, J. G. Gundersen), a town of 2600 inhab., with neat turf-roofed houses and little vegetable gardens, the chief fishing-station in Finmarken. It lies in N. lat. $70^{\circ}22'35''$ and E. long. $30^{\circ}7'24''$, on an island separated from the mainland by the Bussesund, between two harbours, the larger and deeper on the N. side, protected by a breakwater. In 1769 the Jesuit father Max Stell observed the transit of Venus here, as recorded in the church register. On 21st July, 1893, Dr. Frithjof Nansen set sail from Vardø in the 'Fram', and here, on 13th Aug., 1896, he and his companion, Fred. Hjalmar Johansen, first set foot on Norwegian soil on their return, landing from the British yacht 'Windward', which had brought them from Franz-Joseph-Land.

To the W. of the town is the fortress of Vardøhus, founded about 1310, to which Norway once owed her hold of Finnmarken, but now of no importance, with a garrison of 16 men only. Inscriptions on a beam here recall the visits of Christian IV., King of Denmark and Norway, in 1599, and Oscar II., King of Sweden and Norway, in 1873. To the E. of the town is a timber-built church. In the vicinity are countless 'Hjelder' for drying fish.

We may ascend the (20 min.) Vardefjeld (194 ft.), a rocky hill behind the church, overlooking the town and island: S.E. the Domen (512 ft.); E. the open sea; S. the district of Syd-Varanger, with the adjoining Russian territory. — Violent storms rage here in winter, but the temperature is so mild (lowest about 5° Fahr.) that sheep remain in the open air all the year round.

A Russian steamer plies once a week from Vadsø by Vadso to Archangel on the White Sea in five days; comp. Baedeker's Russia (in German only).

The steamer (to Vadsø $3\frac{1}{2}$ – $4\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.) rounds the islands Renø and Hornø. On Renø is the summer-residence of the commandant of Vardøhus, two turf-covered huts resembling 'Gammer'. The down and eggs of the sea-fowl on the island yield part of his income. We next pass the small trading-station of Kiberg on the dreary coast, and skirt the S. side of the Vadsø, on which the town of Vadsø formerly lay.

60 S.M. Vadsø (Aanestad's Hot.; Aas's Hot.; British Vice-Consul, B. M. Akermund), a town with 2200 inhab., half Finns ('Kvæner'), lies in 70° 4' N. lat., on the S. bank of the peninsula of Varjag-Njarga. The Lapp name of the place, Cacce-Suollo (pron. chahtze), the Finnish Vesi-Saari, and Vadsø all signify 'water-island'. The Finns, chiefly immigrants from Russian Finland, live at Ytre-Vadsø, the E. suburb. Each of their houses has a bath-room ('Sauna'), where a Russian vapour-bath may be ordered. On every side are odoriferous 'Hjelder' for drying fish. Potatoes, stunted mountain-ashes, and a few spring-flowers, such as forget-me-not, brave the climate. The Church stands on a hill to the N. of the town. The sacristy contains a votive picture of 1661. Under the tower, which may be ascended, is a curious offertory-box. The Amtmand has a pleasant 'Residens'. The shops sell Russian articles, such as 'Næverskrukker', or baskets made of birch-bark.

The last station of the mail-boats of Line I is Kirkenæs (p. 242).

FROM VADSØ TO THE TANAFJORD. — ROAD (104 Kil.; skyds for 2 pers. 25-30 kr.). This journey affords a welcome change after the long sea-voyage, but there is scant time for it, as we have to reach Vagge or Smalfjord on the forenoon of the second day in order to catch the mail-steamer. Enquiry should be made of the captain as to the time of her arrival at Vagge. Mosquito-veils advisable.

The road skirts the Varanger Fjord, passing several Lapp dwellings, as at Mortensnæs, and the church of Nesseby. The vegetation improves as we ascend the fjord.

47 Kil. Nyborg (quarters and vehicles for the further journey at the Landhandler's), on the Maskfjord, the inmost bay of the Varanger Fjord, is a station of the local steamboats (Com. 430). About 15 Kil. N. rises the Madevarre (1470 ft.; forest limit, 650 ft.). We next drive across the Seidafjeld (over which runs a 'Rengjerde', Lapp 'Aide', or fence to prevent the reindeer from straying) to —

23 Kil. Seida, on the E. bank of the Tana-Elv, the second-largest river in Norway, noted for its salmon and the particles of gold it contains. The post-master (a Finn) sells curiosities at high prices.

We row across to the W. bank, on which the road descends. At Maskjock the Rapp-Elv, a tributary of the Tana-Elv, is crossed. We pass Bonakas and then the church of Tana, at the foot of the Algas-Varre ('holy mount'; 1906 ft.).

31 Kil. Guldholmen ('gold island'; quarters), an islet close to the shore.

The road ends, 2½ Kil. further, at Tananæs, from which we row to (1¼ hr.) Vagge or to (2 hrs.) Smalfjorden (p. 240). No quarters at these three places.

35. Syd-Varanger.

MAIL STEAMER from Vadsø (Line I; Com. 226) to Kirkenes once weekly in 2 hrs., LOCAL STEAMER (Com. 429, 430) twice a week. The SYD-VARANGER is rich in timber, fish, and sea-fowl. In this district we see the Lapps and the industrious Finns to advantage (see Frits's Finmarken). The explorer should have a veil ('Slør'), covering the whole head and fastened round the neck, and if possible a mosquito-tent ('Raggas') also, as gnats occur in such swarms as sometimes to darken the sun.

One local steamer (Com. 429) goes by Kiberg (p. 241) to Kirkenes. The other (Com. 430) steers first to Bugønæs (good quarters at the Landhandler's), at the mouth of the Bugøfjord, which runs far inland. On the W. side of the fjord rises the Bugønæsfjeld (1513 ft.), on the E. the Brasfjeld (1476 ft.). On the right opens the almost uninhabited Kjøfjord. We skirt the N. side of the bare Skogersø and touch at Kjelmeseø, at the mouth of the Bøgfjord, which is entered both by the local and the mail-steamers.

The Bøgfjord, to the E. of the Skogersø, with its S. arms the Klosterelv-Fjord and the Lang-Fjord, is the largest and most important fjord in Syd-Varanger. On the point between the Klosterelv and Lang fjords lies Kirkenes, with the church and parsonage of Syd-Varanger (rooms at Landhandler Figenschou's), a rapidly increasing place since the discovery of iron-ore at Boris-Gleb, to which a railway is being constructed. — To the S.E., 5 Kil. up the Klosterelv-Fjord, lies Elvenæs (rooms at A. Klerck's), a station of the local steamers, at the mouth of the large Pasvik-Elv or Kloster-Elv (named after an old monastery at Peisen), which forms the boundary between Norway and Russia. The Russian chapel of Boris-Gleb lies on the left bank of the Pasvik, 4-5 Kil. S. of Elvenæs.

The river consists of a series of lakes, some of them 10-20 Kil. long, rising in steps, and connected by about thirty waterfalls. About 6-7 Kil. from Boris-Gleb are the Storfos (Gieddegvånje) and the Harefos (Njoammel Guoika, 'hare-fall'), on the Valegas-Javre. The (40 Kil.) Männikö-Koski ('pine-waterfall'), amid fine forest scenery, may also be visited.

The local steamer (Com. 430) next steers E. from the Bøgfjord into the Jarfjord, calls at Valen and Jarfjordbunden, and then follows the coast to the fishing and trading stations of Pasvik and Jacobselvs-Kapel. Since the visit of Oscar II. in 1873, recalled by a marble slab, the place has been named 'Oscar den Andens Kapel'. It lies on the Jacobs-Elv (Lapp Vuorjem), the boundary between Norway and Russia.

The following Lapp words (in which ð = ch, c = ts, and š = sh) occur frequently: Duoddar, mountain, varre, hill, varre-oaave, hill-top; tyokk, point; njarg, promontory, peninsula; suolo, island, gedge, stone; ðacce, water; vuođna, fjord; javre, lake, gawa, spring; jokki, river; guoika, waterfall; njalmi, estuary; jakna, glacier; olmuš, person, human being; goatle, house; maa, land; buocco, reindeer; suoppa, lasso; gušše, cow; gušše-vefa, cow's-fat, butter, guolle, fish; guvifin, trout; muorra, tree; dadno, fir, pine; tumse, cradle, puik, kyarris, sledge, beska, fur-coat; gabmagak, shoes; skalkomager, fur-boots; bellinger, leathern gaiters; nibe, knife; doppa, edge; bænaguidam, a mile (literally 'as far as a dog's bark is heard'). — The Lapp greeting on entering a house is 'raŋŋhe viissui' (peace to your house)! The answer, 'ibmel addi' (God grant it)! 'Burist' or 'buorre bæive' (good day)! Answer, 'ibmel addi'!

36. From the Altenfjord to Haparanda in Sweden.

About 700 Kil., a fatiguing journey of 11-13 days. From Alten (p. 295) to Kautokeino 4 days, thence to Muoniovara 3-4 days; to Haparanda 4-5 days more. This route has been trodden by L. von Buch, Acevbi, Charles Martins, Bravass, Oscar Schmidt, and other scientists and men of mark, but has no attraction for ordinary tourists. The best time is between mid-August and mid-September. Earlier the mosquitoes are insufferable; later the days draw in and snow begins. Passports must be visé by a Russian ambassador or consul (consul at Hammerfest).

FROM ALTEN TO KAUTOKEINO, about 140 Kil. by the mountain route W. of the Alten-Elv, or 155 Kil. if we follow that river. We prefer the former and engage guide and horses for the whole way. Four 'Fjeldstuer' afford shelter, but provisions must be taken. The highest point of the vast fjeld which we cross, far W., is the Nuppi-varre (2727 ft.; Lapp 'varre', Finnish 'vara', mountain). The stations are: 24 Kil. (map-measurement) Gargia-Stue (360 ft.; road thus far), 23 Kil. Suolovuobme or Solovom (1302 ft.); 26 Kil. Pigge-javre (1112 ft.); 52 Kil. Kautokeino.

Those who take the longer route, up the Alten-Elv (Alatajokki), ride across the Beskadosfjeld to the Ladnijaure and Masi (814 ft.), to avoid the Sautsofosse, the rapids in the lower part of the river. On the calmer upper course we row up to — Kautokeino (867 ft.; quarters at the Landhandler's, or at the Lensmand's), a settlement of Lapps and a few Finns, mostly absent in summer, with a church and parsonage. The inside of the village-wall is coated with ice. Birches thrive, but not pines.

FROM KAUTOKEINO TO KARESUANDO (about 100 Kil.), two days. We either ride or row up the Alten-Elv to (14 Kil.) Mortas. Thence, by Postgamme, to the frontier between the Norwegian Amt of Finmarken and the Russian principality of Finland, 44 Kil. more. Beyond the frontier of Finland, a strip of which, 30-40 Kil. broad, runs for about 120 Kil. between Norwegian and Swedish territory, we pass (11 Kil.) Syvajärvi. A ride of 28 Kil. more brings us to the Muonio-Elf, 130 yds. broad, the boundary between Finland and Sweden. We then cross the river to — Karesuando (1037 ft.; Inn), the first village in Sweden, with a church. Barley is grown in the vicinity.

FROM KARESUANDO TO MUONIOVARA (about 100 Kil.), in one day by boat down the Muonio-Elf. The trip is interesting, and the passage of the rapids is free from danger. It is usual to hire a boat and rowers to Muonio-Niska ('beginning of the Muonio') on the Finland side, or to Muoniovara (good quarters) on the Swedish side; but a fresh boat may be engaged at each station: 20 Kil. Küttainen; 20 Kil. Pålojuensun; 30 Kil. Kéthkusvando (12 Kil. beyond which are seen the first pines); 20 Kil. Rösteranta; 10 Kil. Muoniovara (761 ft.), prettily situated, with corn-fields.

FROM MUONIOVARA TO HAPARANDA (365 Kil.), also by boat, first on the Muonio, then on the Torneå-Elf. The rushing Muoniokoski, a cataract 2 Kil. long, is audible at Muoniovara, $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. distant. The descent is exciting (2 kr. to the 'fors-styrman'). The foaming river careers wildly through a narrow gully and over sunken rocks.

The boat from Muoniovara to Ruskola (see p. 394), manned by three boatmen, holds two passengers only, and costs about 80 kr. We descend a series of other cataracts and rapids. The voyage (about 280 Kil.) takes $2\frac{1}{2}$ -3 days. Good quarters at Kihlangi, Kengis Bruk (iron-works), Pello, and Matarengi, with Öfver Torneå and Mt. Avasaxa (p. 394), on the Finnish side.

Between the station of Läppea (406 ft.) and that of Kengis Bruk, 1 hr. below it, the Muonio falls into the Torneå-Elf. Near Pello (266 ft.) is the Kittis, a hill associated with the memory of Maupertuis, who directed the geometrical measurements here in 1736. — From Matarengi, where it is usual to land, to Haparanda, see p. 394.

From Läppea we may travel by land instead of by water.

37. Iceland.

Apart from the British vessels trading with Iceland and the summer cruisers of the German Hamburg and America line and the Nord-Deutsche Lloyd (which usually allow too brief a stay in the island), the Danish steamers are the most satisfactory for those who desire to see the Geysirs and Hecla (10 days) or to take the excursion from Akureyri to the Mývatn (8 days). These steamers, starting from Copenhagen, and calling at Leith, belong to the Forneede Dampskibsselskab (Kvæsthusgade 9; 26 voyages annually; return-fare within six months 115 kr.; food 4 kr. per day extra) and the Selskab Thore (Havnegade 43; 33 voyages; 115 kr.; food 2½ kr. daily). Those who wish to visit the N. coast of the island may take their passage in one of O. Wathne's Arvinger's vessels (Niels-Juls Gade 15; 22 voyages; 100-120 kr.; food 5 kr. per day). Time-tables should be asked for by post-card beforehand.

The only suitable season for this tour is July and August, and even then winter clothing and strong waterproofs with hoods are desirable. For travelling in the interior, where rivers have to be forded on horseback, high boots and leathern leggings will be found useful. Other requirements may be bought at Reykjavík (p. 247). Danish money, the currency of the island, may either be brought from Copenhagen or got at Reykjavík in exchange for circular notes or gold. The traveller's expenses at Reykjavík need not exceed 8-10 kr. per day, but in the interior they will amount to 25-30 kr.

English and German are spoken at the tourists' office, by some of the shopkeepers, guides, and others; Danish is spoken at the seaports and by the educated classes, but in the interior of the island Icelandic only. Note that á is pronounced like the English ow (in now); é and e after g or k like yea; i and y like ee, í after g or k like je; ó and ú like long o and oo, u like the short French u; au something like oi; æ and œ like i (in ice), ei and ey like long ayee (in payee); þ like sharp th, in thin; ð like flat th, in this (spelt on the map th and d respectively); rn and nn something like dnn; ú like dai; f before l or n like ð; hv somewhat like kv. — Note also the geographical terms: fjörður, fjord; fall, pl. fall, mountain; fell, rocky slope; á or flót, river; lækur, brook; vain, lake; jökull, glacier.

Books. Thóróddsen's 'Island' (with four maps, Gotha, 1906; 22 marks), and 'Zur Isländischen Geographie' (Landeshut, 1903; 1½ marks) in German by R. Palleske; Guðmundsson's 'Iceland at the beginning of the 20th cent.', German by R. Palleske (Kattowitz, 1904, 6 marks); Herrmann's 'Island' (Leipzig, 1907; 1½ marks); W. Bistker's 'Across Iceland' (London, 1902); Poestion's 'Island' (Vienna, 1885; 10 marks); Lock's Guide to Iceland (Charlton, 1932). — Maps are scarce. The best is still Björn Gunnlaugsson's 'Uppdráttur Islands' (1:480,000, Reykjavík and Copenhagen, 1844). More recent are Thóróddsen's 'Uppdráttur' (1:600,000, Copenhagen, 1900) and his Geological Map of Iceland (1:600,000; Copenhagen, 1901).

The island of Iceland extends between 13°30' and 24°30' W. long. and 63°24' and 66°33' N. lat. (that is, to the Arctic Circle), and is 40,457 sq. M. in area (about a third of the island of Great Britain). It is composed almost entirely of recent volcanic rocks (basalt; liparite, with veins of obsidian and deposits of pumice-stone; tufa, palagonite, etc.). The W., N., and E. coasts are deeply indented with fjords like the coast of Norway, while the line of the S. coast is less broken. In the interior are lofty table-lands, with vast expanses of lava, sand, and glaciers, rent by profound fissures, and culminating in ice-clad volcanic peaks 6000 ft. or more in height. On the W. side of the island are several older tertiary strata of brown coal, indicating that the climate was once warmer than now. The volcanic nature of the island sometimes manifests itself with great violence. Thus, in 1875, the Dyngjufjöll near the Askja threw up many hundred million cubic feet of ashes, which the wind wafted as far as Norway. The most active volcano is Mt. Hecla (p. 252). The largest crater, since 1875, is that of the Askja. In 1783 the Laki developed a whole series of eruptive cones in a cleft about 65 ft. long. Warm and hot springs abound, the best known of which are the Geysirs (p. 251). The immense glaciers, notably the Vatnajökull (3090 sq. M.), mostly in the S. half of the island, are far more extensive than the Norwegian (comp. p. xxxii). In every direction, especially to the S. W., they send forth copious streams, some of which descend in superb falls over the various stages or terraces of the landscape. After a wild career and frequent changes of channel, these streams descend to the sea between broad deposits of detritus. Inundations are most destructive during volcanic eruptions, when the steam and hot ashes melt the ice.

On the S. and W. sides of the island the climate is influenced by the gulf-stream, and on the N. and E. by the Arctic currents, which bring icebergs. The conflict of warm and cold winds often causes violent storms and heavy rains. Even in summer snow is not uncommon. In the S. part of the island (Reykjavík) the mean temperature of the year is 40° Fahr., that of summer 55°; in the N. part (Akureyri) 37° and 52° respectively. About midday in summer the thermometer sometimes rises to 85° or more, and towards evening falls nearly to the freezing-point. The atmosphere is remarkably clear (comp. p. 241); towards the end of summer snow-mountains are sometimes visible at a distance of 150-200 Kil. The only habitable parts are the coast and a few sheltered valleys where scanty grass and stunted birches are the only vegetation.

Iceland was first peopled in 874-930 by Norse nobles who refused to recognise the kingship of Harald Haarfager (p. xli). In 1262 it was annexed to Norway, and in 1380, together with Norway, it fell under Danish domination. While still a Danish possession, it has always enjoyed considerable independence. According to the constitution of 1874, amended in 1903, the king shares the legislative power with the Althing, or miniature parliament. The upper chamber has fourteen members, six nominated by the king and eight by the lower chamber; the lower is composed of 26 members popularly elected. Since 1904 the island has had its own executive in a responsible ministry established at Reykjavík. The national Lutheran church is presided over by a bishop. All education is free. The population numbers nearly 83,000. The chief industry is fishing, the yield of which is economically important for many parts of Europe; and next to fishing comes sheep-breeding. Trade has recently made great progress. The Icelandic language (comp. prefatory note to language appendix), akin to Anglo-Saxon, retains its mediæval N. Germanic character. It was in Iceland that early Norse literature attained its prime (p. xliv). Modern Icelandic literature has also its distinguished representatives.

The Voyage to Iceland from Copenhagen takes 9-11 days, from Leith $2\frac{1}{2}$ days less. From Leith we steam down the broad Firth of Forth, skirt the Scottish coast, sighting the towers and spires of Aberdeen as we pass, and then steer through the Pentland Firth and past the W. side of the Orkneys, or between them and the Shetland Islands. In two days from Leith we reach the picturesque Färöer, or Faroe Islands, which belong to Denmark. They are of volcanic origin, with bold hills and deep creeks, and have 16,350 inhab. engaged in fishing and sheep-farming. The steamer touches at Thorshavn, the port of the Strömo, the central and largest of the group. Passengers may land here for a few hours.

In 2-4 days more we sight the snowy and ice-clad peaks of Iceland, notably the imposing Vatnajökull (p. 246). Steering along the S. coast, we observe the Eyjafjalla-Jökull (p. 254) in the foreground. Farther on are the Vestmanna-Eyjar ('west-men's islands'), swarming with sea-fowl, where the steamer generally calls (950 inhab.). In windy weather great breakers are seen in every direction. Jutting out to the S. W. are the dark lava-rocks of the Reykjanes, a peninsula from which rise several crater-like hills, particularly the conical Kellir (1276 ft.), and a number of sharp-pointed peaks. We then steer N. to the broad Faxafljörð (Faxafljörður), on the N. side of which rises the Snæfellsjökull (p. 254), and turn to the E. into the picturesque harbour of Reykjavík, with the Akrafjall and Esja on the left, and the headland of Seltjarnanes with the light-house of Gróttta on the right. We pass between the islets of Akurey and Effersey (right) and the larger Engøy and Viðey (left; p. 249) towards the town, above which, E., rises the conspicuous white Skólavörða tower (p. 249). Far beyond rise high mountains. Passengers are landed in small boats. No custom-house formalities.

Reykjavik and Environs.

HOTELS. Hot. Island (Pl. a), corner of the Aðalstræti and Austurstræti; Hot. Reykjavik (Pl. b), Austurstræti 12; pension at both 5 kr.; no spirituous liquors at the former. — Café Skjaldbræð, Kirkjustræti 6. — Baths, Kirkjustræti 10 B (40 s.; warm shower 25, cold 15-20 s.).

The TOURISTS' OFFICE of Th. A. Thomsen, Hafnarstræti, gives information, engages guides, provides horses and vehicles for excursions, and sells all sorts of travelling requisites, oil-cloths and sou'westers for rainy weather, mosquito-nets, which are needed on the lakes, rugs, preserves, and various other provisions, packing-cases lined with tin, etc.

GUIDES. For the interior, Bjarn Jónsson, a well-educated man. The oldest and best-known is Thorgrímur Guðmundsen, who has retired, but has a staff of younger guides under him. The guides engage horses and see to the needful equipment.

POST & TELEGRAPH (Pl. 10), corner of Pósthús-Stræti and Hafnar-Stræti, week-days 9-2 and 4-7. Telegraph on 1st floor, 8 a. m. to 9 p. m., Sun. 8-10 and 4-5 to Denmark and Great Britain 70, to France and Germany 80 ø. per word.

CONSULS British, Asgeir Sigurðsson, Austurstræti 1; also French German, and Dutch consuls.

BANKS Landsbanki (Pl. 6), Austurstræti, week-days 10 30 to 2 30; Íslandsbanki, corner of Austurstræti and Lækjargata, week-days 10 30 to 2 30 and 6 30 to 7.

BOOKSELLERS. Sigfús Eymundsson, corner of Austurstræti and Lækjargata (maps); Sigurður Kristjánsson, Bankastræti 5. — PHOTOGRAPHS. Arni Thorsteinsson, Austurstræti 20 (landscapes); Pjetur Brynjólfsson, Hverfisgata 6; Magnús Ólafsson, Túngata 2 (stereoscopic views) — JEWELS and ANTIQUES. Ólafur Sveinsson, Austurstræti 5; Thorvaldsen's Bazaar, Austurstræti 4.

Reykjavík ('smoky bay'), the capital and chief market of Iceland, with 10,300 inhab., lies picturesquely in a hollow between two hills on the S. bank of the Faxaflói. Most of the houses are built of timber, painted white and grey, with red roofs of sheet-iron. Most of the public buildings are built of stone. The town is the oldest settlement in the island, but only attained its present importance in the 19th cent. It is the seat of government, of the supreme court, of the bishop, and of several good schools.

The chief streets are the Hafnarstræti, on the quay, with its large warehouses; running W. inland the Aðalstræti, and E. the Pósthússtræti, with the post-office and the Landsbanki (see above); and parallel with the harbour is the handsome Austurstræti. On the grass-grown Asturvöllur Square rises a Statue of Thorvaldsen (Pl. 12), presented by the city of Copenhagen in 1874 in memory of the Icelandic origin of the great sculptor (comp. p. 403). The square is bounded on the S. by the Cathedral (Dómkirkja; Pl. 3), a stone edifice of 1847 with a wooden tower (containing a marble font presented by Thorvaldsen; organist, Túngata 1), and by the Althing's House (Alþingishúsið; Pl. 1), where the Althing or national assembly meets on 15th Feb. every second year. It contains several sculptures by Einar Jónsson, an Iclander, pictures by Danish, Norwegian, and German artists, and busts of Jón Sigurðsson (1811-79), long president of the Althing, and the poet Bjarni Thórarensen (1786-1841). — On the E. side of the square is the Theological College (Prestaskóli; Pl. 11).

In the E. quarter are the Government Building (Landshöfðingjahuús; Pl. 7); the Medical School (Læknaskóli; Pl. 5; but as it lacks a gynæcological clinique, supplementary studies in Copenhagen are prescribed; so, too, lawyers, philologists, and scientists are trained at Copenhagen); the Gymnasium (Pl. 8); and the large National School (Barnaskóli; Pl. 2).

In the Hverfisgata, at the E. end of the town, is the Museum (Safnahúsið), containing mostly Icelandic antiquities, and affording a survey of the art-industrial efforts of bygone ages: church-vessels, gold and silver trinkets, specimens of printing, coins, woven and embroidered tapestry, woven ribbons (an ancient industry which also existed in Asia and Egypt), carved furniture, etc. The same building contains the National Library (70,000 vols. and 6000 MSS.; week-days 12-2 and 6-8) and the State Archives.

The Nat. Hist. Museum (Nátturugripa-Safnið; Pl. 9), Vesturgata 10, contains Icelandic minerals and birds, etc.

The following good points of view may be noted. The Cemetery, to the S. of the town, on the W. bank of the little lake Tjörninn; the Sailors' School (Sjómannaskóli) on the hill W. of the town, recognisable by its mast; the 'School Tower' (Skólavarða) on the E. hill. From the two last-named points we survey the town and the fjord between the massive Esja (2061 ft.) and the abrupt Akrafjall (1194 ft.). To the N., beyond the Faxafljörð, towers the great snow and ice-clad Snæfellsjökull (p. 254); and S.W. lies the peninsula of Reykjanes with the pointed Keilir (p. 247).

EXCURSIONS. To the Hot Springs (Laugar) on the small peninsula of Laugarnes 1 hr. (horse 3, seat in a carr. 2 kr., there and back). We follow the Laugavegur (see Plan), and after about $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. take the second road to the left. The boiling-hot water, smelling strongly of sulphur, is collected in two oblong basins and used for washing linen. At the end of the peninsula is a large Lepers' Hospital, to which medical men only are admitted. — A more interesting excursion is to the wild Lava-field (Hraun) of Hafnarfjörður (2 hrs. walk or 1 hr.'s ride. We leave the town by the Skólavörðustígur (see Plan), and follow the lonely and hilly road, crossing several bridges. Farther S. is the charming little seaport of Hafnarfjörður (Inn). — A pleasant row may be taken to the islands of Engey and Vidæy (p. 247), to see the nesting-places of the eider-ducks and sea-swallows.

Farther distant (on horseback, with guide) are the Tröllafoss in the wild Esja Mts. (8-10 hrs., there and back; also Krísuvík on the peninsula of Reykjanes, in a bleak volcanic region, with numerous mud and sulphur-springs (two days).

From Reykjavík to Thingvellir, the Geysir, the Gullfoss, and Mt. Hecla.

Ten days (or to Thingvellir and the Geysir region only, 5 days), with guide (see p. 247), who engages ponies (shaggy and hardy animals): two for himself, two for each traveller, one for baggage, and one spare pony. The guide's fee is 6 kr., each pony's hire 3 kr. per day. Provisions should be taken for the lunch or midday meal (the requisites for which are to be had at the tourists' office, p. 247), but inns as far as Geysir supply breakfast and supper. Beyond Geysir quarters are, as a rule, gladly offered at parsonages or farm-houses, where coffee, milk, bread, and butter, often salmon and trout, but rarely eggs and mutton, are to be had. For this fare the usual charge is 2-2½ kr., and for the pasturing of each pony 15-20 ø.

A visit to the great lava-cavern of Surtshellir on the Tyrilksjökull is very trying. From Thingvellir (p. 250) 13 hrs.' ride to the lonely gaard Kaflanstunga; thence 2½ hrs. more to the entrance. The cavern, nearly a mile long, 18-20 yds. wide, and 36-40 ft high, contains in its inmost recesses magnificent ice-formations (best seen by acetylene lantern). We may then return W., by gaard Arnarhóli, to the port of Borgarnes on the Borgarfjörð (1½ days), and thence by boat to Reykjavík.

First Day (7-8 hrs.; driving practicable). The Laugavegur leads, beyond the road diverging to the hot springs (see above), in about 1 hr. to the Ellidáfi, the two arms of which we cross by bridges. We ascend past several small lakes. To the left is the Rauðavatn with a small plantation and a new inn. We now leave the road, which leads to the right, over the Hellisheiði to Reykir (p. 253), and turn to the left, across the stony waste of the Mosfellsheiði, 1 hr. long; in 5-6 hrs. we sight the Thingvallavatn, the largest lake in Iceland. Then a sudden descent into the wild Almannagjá, a gorge 16-22 yds. wide, with basaltic sides rising 40-100 ft. high on the right and left. At its exit we cross the Óxará, the feeder of the Thingvallavatn, and reach the plain of Thingvellir and the new inn of Valhöll (bed 2, meals ¾-3 kr.).

Second Day. The Thingvellir, the meeting-place of the assembly (þing, comp. Engl. husting, tithing, etc.) of the free men of Iceland in the 10th-13th cent., is also of geological interest. The plain, where, towards the lake, not far from the inn, are the church and parsonage of Thingvellir, extends about 10 Kil. N.E., and is 10 Kil. in breadth. Its origin is due to a great subsidence, the central part between the Almannagjá and the Hrafnagjá having been detached and levelled by volcanic action. The lines of severance are distinctly traceable at both the gorges. More than one subsidence has probably taken place, as a further depression of 4 inches was observed in 1789. We may return on foot to the Almannagjá to examine it more closely. Below the bridge the Óxará dashes through the E. side of the gorge. Above it the river forms a deep basin, the Drekkingarhyltur, in which according to tradition faithless wives used to be drowned. Remains of stone huts at the foot of the E. bank of the Almannagjá ('all-men's gorge'), and on both sides of the stream towards the lake, are said to have housed the freemen attending the Thing. In the N.W. part of the gorge are places where we may climb down to get a near view of the superb fall of the river. — A few hundred paces E. of the inn are two other narrow gorges, the Nikulásargjá and the Flosagjá, each with its stream. These gorges unite to the N. and enclose a long lava-rock, once supposed to be the Lögberg ('law-hill'), whence the laws were proclaimed to the assembled people. — The Hrafnagjá, a gorge 1 hr. E. of the Almannagjá, is less deep, but in part no less wild. At the top its sides are connected by a natural bridge of rock.

Third Day. The rough road goes on a little further. On the left, N.W., rise the Botnssáur (3609 ft.); then N. the Ármannsfell, the Stjaldbreiður (3445 ft.), and the Hlíðufell (3937 ft.), near which are the Tindaskagi and the Hrafnabjörg; on the right, beyond the Thingvallavatn, S., is the Hengill (2530 ft.), with steaming sulphur-springs on its slope. In 1 hr. we come to the Hrafnagjá, mentioned above. The rude bridle-path now ascends a wildly fissured old lava-stream, to a height of 520-560 ft., and after 1 hr. passes the Tintron, a curious crater, 5 min. to the left. In 1 hr. more the path begins to descend the Lyngdalsheiði to the green plain of Laugarvatnsvellir, where the horses are usually rested. On the left is a cave, above which tower the jagged Kálftindar; on the right is an old-fashioned pen for mustering the sheep. The path, now better, is nearly level for 1 hr., and affords a fine view: in front are the two lakes Laugarvatn (with several hot springs on its banks) and Apavatn; far off rises the steam of the hot springs Reykjahver and Reykholtshver; S. E., in clear weather, is seen the snow-clad Mt. Hecla (p. 252); then the Tindafjallajökull, the Thrfyrningur, and the Eyjafjallajökull (p. 254). We next descend into the picturesque Laugardalur and follow it, past (3 hrs.) gaard Laugarvatn (right) and the church of Middalur (left). We again mount rapidly and follow the slopes of the Laugarfjöll, clothed with birch underwood, to the Brúará, which plunges in a superb fall over fissured lava-rocks. We cross the river by a bridge. Passing gaard Úthlíð (right) and the Bjarnarfell (left), and rounding the S.W. slope of the Laugarfjall, we at length reach (2 hrs.) the new inn, about 200 paces S. of the Geysir (bed 2, meals 2-2½ kr.).

Fourth Day. We visit the Geysir and the other hot springs near it. The Geysir (old Norse, 'bubbling'), mentioned as early as the 13th cent., has become a generic name for hot fountains. The phenomenon is explained by Bunsen, who explored the volcanic regions of Iceland in 1846, as due to the different temperatures of the waters accumulated in the feeders of the Geysir. The crater is quiescent as long as the cooler upper water prevents the lower from generating steam; but when the latter overcomes the pressure above, it spouts forth with violence until its source is exhausted. — The natural fountains in Yellowstone Park in California are similar.

The Great Geysir rises on a conical hill, composed of deposits of sinter ('geysirite'), out of a round basin about 20 yds. in diameter. The mouth of the crater in the centre of the basin is 10 ft. in diameter. After several premonitory rumblings the great jet of water bursts forth, to a height of 130-160 ft., enveloped in dense clouds of steam. These periodical eruptions are intermittent, but are most frequent after rain. The visitor must often be content to hear the subterranean thunder and the subdued gurgle of the seething waters. — Between the Great Geysir and the inn is the Blesi, a double basin filled with clear water. In the vicinity about a hundred other hot springs have been counted. A few paces W. of the Blesi is the Konungshver, a continuous hot fountain. Some 120 paces S.W. of it is the Strokkur, an intermittent fountain which became active in 1907 after several decades of quiescence. About 130 paces S. of the Strokkur is the so-called Little Geysir (Icelandic Óiherrishola), which sends forth a jet 12-19 ft. high several times a day. The guides encourage it by blocking its narrow mouth with turf. The other springs merely bubble, or emit thin jets of steam.

Fifth Day (7-8 hrs.; local guide advisable). The route crosses ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) the Tungufljót by a new bridge. We now obtain, to the left, a fine view of the Bláfell and the Lángjökull (4633 ft.), with the sharp peaks of the Jarlshettur (3494 ft.) in the foreground. The snow-clad summit of Mt. Hecla is distinguishable to the right. In $2\frac{1}{2}$ -3 hrs. we reach the Gullfoss, one of the largest and finest waterfalls in Iceland. The copious Hvítá, descending from the Hvítárvatn on the N., dashes above the fall over wild fissured rocky terraces about 38 ft high, and then plunges through a narrow defile, flanked with basaltic rocks, into a chasm 65 ft. deep. — The stony path descends on the right bank of the Hvítá and ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) crosses the deep rushing stream by a new bridge. On the further bank lies gaard Túngufell. The rough path next crosses the Minni ('little') Laxá, which has to be forded, and leads up and down hill, partly through a rocky region, partly through meadow and marsh, to (3 hrs.) the parsonage of Hruni, halfway between Geysir and Hecla, where the night is spent.

Sixth Day (6-7 hrs.; tolerable path). Soon after starting, we pass the warm spring of Hrunalaug and enter a marshy tract enclosed by countless basaltic pinnacles, whence we descend into the beautiful valley of the Great Laxá, which we ford. We next ascend through meadows, past gaard Hlíð, to the handsome new gaard Hall, beyond which (1 hr.) we come to the ferry of Thjórsárholt. Here we cross the broad Thjórsá by boat (1 kr. each pers.; each package 50 ø.), while the spare ponies swim across. In warm summers the melting of the glaciers unduly swells the river, in which case we may have to go round by the Thjórsá bridge (p. 253). Rounding the S. end of the Skarðsfjall, crossing a broad tract of sand, passing by gaard Leirubakki, and over another stretch of sand, we ford the Galtalækur and (2 hrs.) reach gaard Galtalækur, where we obtain quarters for the night and a guide (5 kr.) for the ascent of Mt. Hecla.

Seventh Day (10-12 hrs.; fatiguing; start early). We ford the Galtalækur and descend an old lava-stream to the clear Vestri Ránga, which we also ford. Then an ascent through the birch-bushes of Hraunvígur, between lava cliffs, over sand and meadow, past gaard Næfrholt (right), and then steeper, up the course of a torrent. We soon turn to the left, across tracts of lava and ashes, and make direct for the snow-fields of Mt. Hecla. The great lava-stream of 1845 remains on the left, and the Red Crater on the right. In $2\frac{1}{2}$ -3 hrs. we come to a hollow, where we leave the ponies, and thence ascend the last and most toilsome part of the route on foot, over snow, to the top in about 2 hrs. more.

Mt. Hecla ('mantle', probably from the mists usually shrouding its summit), the best-known, though not the largest volcano in Iceland, rising 5108 ft. above the sea, is an oblong height with several craters, of which the great S. crater and the smaller N. crater, both generally filled with snow, are the chief. History records eighteen great eruptions from 1104 down to the present day, that is 2-3 in each century, at very various intervals. The last occurred in 1845-6. The view is magnificent in clear weather. To the W. we descry the ranges extending from Thingvellir to the Esja (p. 350); to the right of these are the conical Skjaldbreiður (3609 ft.) and the Hlíðufell (3937 ft.). To the N. towers the Lángjökull (4633 ft., 540 sq. M.), with the indented Jarlshettur (3494 ft.) and the Bláfell in the foreground; to the right is the enormous ice-clad Hofsjökull (5900 ft., 502 sq. M.); to the N.E. stretches the immense waste of the Sprengisandur, bounded by the Súlar on the Eyjafjord. To the E., beyond the Fiskivötn, glitter the icy masses of the Vatnajökull (p. 246), with the Skaptárjökull in front; to the S. are the Eyjafjallajökull (p. 254) and the Þríhyrningur ('three horns'), while beyond the river-region of the Markarfljót, Þjórsá, and Ölfusá, we survey the boundless ocean, in which the Vestmannaeyjar look like huge floating blocks of stone. In every direction gleam silvery rivers; hot springs smoke and steam; clouds of yellow-brown dust float high above the sandy wastes; and at the spectator's feet, below the snow-region, lie the volcanic spurs of Hecla, with streams of lava and a chaos of stones and ashes. — The descent to gaard Galtalækur, our starting-point, takes about 4 hrs.

Eighth Day (9-10 hrs.). From Galtalækur we ride W. to the Scaðsfjall, and then S through the hilly region of Holtm, and reach the post-road at a point $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. E. of the bridge across the Þjórsá. Close by is a small gaard where we spend the night.

Ninth Day (5-6 hrs.; good road all the way). From the Þjórsá bridge the road traverses a flat region, passes gaard Hraungerði, and near gaard Selfoss crosses the broad Ölfusá (or Hóttá) by a bridge. Rounding the E. base of the volcanic Ingólfsfjall (1785 ft.), we cross the flat district of Ölfus to Reykir, where we pass the night. Near it are several hot springs, which we may visit in the evening.

Tenth Day (7-8 hrs.). The road ascends in many windings, and then crosses the broad lava-clad Hellisheiði, 1 hr. broad, from the E. slope of which we obtain an extensive view, S. to the Vestmanna Islands, and E. as far as the Eyjafjallajökull. We descend past gaard Kolviðarhóll (right; rfmts.) and then cross another lava-stream, 1 hr. broad. A little beyond gaard Lækjarbotnar (left) we reach the road (p. 250), and in 3 hrs. more regain Reykjavík.

A visit to the 'South Land', combined with the above route, takes five days more. It requires reliable ponies, waterproof leggings, a steady head, and much strength and power of endurance. Giddy heights have to be scaled, and broad, wild torrents have to be forded daily. First Day: from Galtalækur (p. 252) to gaard Reynifell, and then across the Þríhyrningshálsar, with fine views, to gaard Barkarstaðir (a region where the scene of the Njál-Saga is laid), 9-10 hrs. — Second Day: through the many arms of the Markarfljót, with a visit to the wild rocky region of Þórsmeðrk, to gaard Eyrvindarholt, about 10 hrs. — Third Day to the great waterfalls Gljúfrafoss and Seljalandsfoss, and then along the picturesque slopes of the Eyjaflalla-jökull (5594 ft.) to the parsonage of Holt, 3-4 hrs. — Fourth Day: Excursion past the Skóglafoss, the Kvernarfoss, and the Dolufoss, to the Mýrdalsjökull and the rushing Jökulsá; there and back 7-8 hrs. — Fifth Day: back to the Seljalandsfoss, and thence, with a local guide (4-5 kr.), through the broad streams Markarfljóti, Fauski, Alar, Afla, and Thverá to guard Stórdlfsheoll. 7-8 hrs. — Sixth Day: we ford the Eystri Ranga, and at Ægissíða ford the Vestri Ranga to the gaard on the Thjórsá (p. 253), 8 hrs.

W. and N. Coast. From Akureyri to the Mývatn.

Apart from the tourist-steamers, the best for this excursion are those of the FORENEDE DAMPSKIBS-SELSKAB (p. 215) which steer from the Fároer to the E. coast of Iceland (stations Eskefjörð and Seyoisfjörð), and then along the N. coast (stations Húsavík, Eyjafljórd or Öfjörð, Siglufjörð, and Sauðárkrúk), and lastly reach the W. coast (Isafjörð) and Reykjavík. The other coasters, six yearly in each direction, circumnavigating the whole island in 3-5 weeks, touch at about 70 trading-stations, but, even in summer, their course is sometimes impeded by floating ice.

The steamers plying N. from Reykjavík steer across the Faxa-fjörð towards the W. point of the peninsula of Snæfellnes, on which rises the solitary ice-clad Snæfellsjökull (4711 ft.), an extinct volcano of imposing form, recalling Mt. Vesuvius. At its S.E. base, near Stapi, are several curious little basaltic cones. We next cross the broad Breiðfjörð, bounded on the N. by a peninsula, which is connected with Iceland by a narrow isthmus on the N.W. side. Of all the coast-hills here the highest is the Stálfsall (2208 ft.). The grandest part of the voyage begins beyond cape Bjargtangar. Fjörð succeeds fjörð. Dark walls of columnar basalt, furrowed with snow-filled crevices, rise sheer from the breakers at their foot. In the inner recesses of the fjörds, however, the eye is often greeted with smiling green strips of coast, with their little settlements. The largest of these fjörds is the 'Isafjörð' or 'Isafjardardjup' ('ice-fjörð-deep'), into which the tourist-steamers usually steer. In a bay here lies 'Isafjörður', with 1650 inhab., the chief port on the W. coast. On the many inner branches of the fjörð are numerous hamlets. To the N.E. rises the Drángajökull (2920 ft.). On quitting the 'Isafjardardjup' we see on the right the Jökulfirðir, the E. branches of which extend to the Drángajökull.

The northmost point of the peninsula is Cape Horn. The tourist-steamers from Bremen and also, in unfavourable weather, those from Hamburg go from this point direct to Spitzbergen. The latter, weather permitting, steer E., passing the broad Húnaflói fjörð and the Skagafjörður, to the Eyjafljórd. At the N. of the peninsula between these two last fjörds is a picturesque little bay called the Siglufjörður, with some forty houses and a parsonage, an important herring-fishing port, where many Norwegian vessels call.

The Eyjafljórd, Danish Öfjörð ('island fjörð'), 15 Kil. wide at its mouth, extends inland, to the S., for 60 Kil. On the E. side rises the snow-clad Kaldbakur (3809 ft.). The island of Hirtsey lies to the right. On both banks rise dark basaltic cliffs. Most of the hamlets and gaards are on the W. bank, at the mouth of the Hörgá we observe the church of Moðruvellir, which occupies the site of an Augustinian monastery, founded in 1295 and dissolved in 1546. Near the head of the fjord lies —

Akureyri (Akureyri Hol., kept by Vigfús Ligfússon, good), the chief station of the Iceland herring-fishery, with 1800 inhab., a church, hospital, commercial school, little theatre (Leikhús), public library, etc. The town lies on a height covered with potato-fields; most of the houses have gardens with flowers and vegetables. In the upper street we observe three evergreen oaks. Fine view from above the church. On the N. side the harbour is protected by a tongue of land, on which lies the little suburb of Oddeyri, with its train-oil boillery. The fjord is discoloured by the brown mud of the Eyjafjarðará, which falls into it 2 Kil. to the S.

The Hamburg tourist-steamer leaves Akureyri after a short stay, passes the island of Grímsey, where it crosses the Arctic Circle, and steers for Spitzbergen (p. 257).

One of the finest parts of Iceland is the district of THINGEYJAR SÝSLA, lying to the E. of Akureyri, remarkable for its picturesque scenery and its grand volcanic character. To explore it takes eight days. Jón Tómasson is commended as a guide. As there is no bridge across the Eyjafjarðará, it is best to order ponies on the E. bank of the fjord, to which we cross by boat.

First Day. We ride up the Váðlaheiði (2326 ft.), obtaining a fine view of the fjord with the sea beyond, and then descend into the valley of the Fnjóská (Fnjóskárdalur). By the parsonage of Háls, a little off the road, is the birch-grove of Hálsskógur, fenced in to keep out the cattle. We ford the stream and descend to the lake and gaard of Ljósavatn (good quarters). Near this the Skjál-fandaflót forms the (20 min.) Goðafoss, 19 ft. high, a waterfall of horseshoe shape.

Second Day (5-6 hrs.). We cross the river by a bridge near the Goðafoss, and ascend a little way on the right bank; then turn E. and cross the hill of Flyðtsheiði into the Reykjadalur, with gaards Einarssstaðir and Breiðumýri, which also afford night-quarters. Following the river to its right bank, we next cross a moor to the valley of the Laxá (Laxárdalur) and Halldórstaðir, and ride up-stream to gaard Helluvað, near the S.W. bank of the Mývatn ('midge-lake'; 425 ft.), a lake of 10½ sq. M. and 16-22 ft. deep, in a bed of basaltic lava. The Mývatn forms the volcanic centre of the whole island. All around are great and small craters, recalling a landscape of the moon, which have been explored by many geologists. Across the lake, with its numerous creeks and islands, haunted by countless water-fowl, we have a grand view of the mountains to the E., where the Hverfjall (1582 ft.), the ring-shaped wall of a huge crater, dominates the landscape, with the Námafjall rising to the N. of it (see below). We next ford the Kráká, which falls into the lake, and reach the parsonage of Skútustaðir, with a school and a small court-house, where we pass the night.

Third Day (3-4 hrs.). The rough road skirts the E. bank of the Mývatn, passing curiously shaped lava-cliffs and masses of rock, notably by gaard Kúlfaströnd, where the dark stone is pleasantly relieved by meadows and birch-underwood. On the N.E. bank are the church and gaard of Reykjahlið (958 ft.; good quarters). We may row to the pretty island of Stúttnes, the home of countless water-fowl. It belongs to the owner of Grímsstaðir, a gaard $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. from Reykjahlið, who collects the eggs (and prohibits shooting). Good fishing in the lake (trout and salmon-trout, often dried for keeping).

Fourth Day (7-8 hrs.). From Reykjahlið we ascend E. (fine view of the lake behind) through the Námaskarð (Náma, 'sulphur-spring'); on the right rises the Námafjall (1634 ft.), the slope of which is full of sulphur-springs. The rocks present a striking variety of bright colours, and the air is pervaded with sulphurous fumes. Crossing the Mývatns-Öræfi ('wilderness'), and passing some old craters (Hlíðarfjall, 2592 ft.; Karfla, 2717 ft.), we next descend into the valley of the Jökulsá (Jökuldalur). In 4-5 hrs. we come to the Dettifoss (998 ft. above the sea), whose cloud of spray is visible from afar. The Jökulsá plunges sheer over a basaltic cliff 352 ft. high. Below the fall the river dashes wildly through a gorge 330 ft. in depth. The rough path, partly over loose stones, leads in 3 hrs. more to gaard Svínadalur (rustic quarters; milk and coffee only).

Fifth Day (9-10 hrs.). We follow the left bank of the river, passing the curious basaltic Hljóðaklettur ('echo cliffs'), and gradually descend to the delta-like plain at the mouth of the Jökulsá. By a bridge, over which the road to Skinnastaðir leads to the right, we turn to the left to gaard Ás and the valley of Ásbyrgi, a hook-shaped gorge 4-5 Kil. long, produced by an earthquake. In this sheltered nook, with banks 200-330 ft. high, thrives a vigorous growth of trees; and there is a distinct triple echo which may be tested. The digression takes about 20 min. — The route now leads across the green river-plain, enlivened with farms and cattle, to gaard Vikingavatn (good quarters). The little lake is separated from the Azarffjörð by a narrow strip of land only. Water-fowl abound.

Sixth Day (6 hrs.). The route leads W., past the base of the Túnguheiði, and across the dreary Reykjaheiði, becoming at length a good road, to Húsavík (Inn), a pleasant little trading-village of 450 inhab. on the bay of Skálfandi, and the seaport for the sulphur won in the vicinity.

Seventh Day (7-8 hrs.). From Húsavík we next cross the broad alluvial plain of the Laxá to (1 hr.) the large and handsome gaard Laxamyri, whose owner derives a good income from the salmon-fishery and the gathering of eider-down. Ascending on the bank of the Laxá, we pass a series of hot springs, notably the Urahver ('ox-spring'), which every 5-10 min. sends up a jet of 33 ft. in height. The owner of the neighbouring gaard Reykir uses the warm water for irrigating his potato-fields. Where the road descends we enjoy an extensive view of the river with its many islands. About $3\frac{1}{2}$ -4 hrs. from Laxamýri, we cross the river by a bridge. (The road on the right bank leads to Grímsstaðir and Reykjaflöð, p. 256.) The river is divided into two arms, the eastmost of which forms a picturesque fall (Brúarfoss) above the bridge. On the W. side of the island a second bridge crosses to the left bank, where we reach the church and parsonage of Grenjaðarstaður. Thence to Einarstaðir (p. 255) 1 hr. more.

Eighth Day. Back to Akureyri (p. 255) by the way we came.

38. Spitzbergen.

From Hammerfest to Spitzbergen about 750 Kil., Steamboat in $1\frac{1}{2}$ days, but no regular service. The chief TOURISTS' STEAMERS are those of the Hamburg-America line, of the N. German Lloyd (stay 2-4 days), of the Bergen and Nordenfjeld Co., and of Brothers Bade at Wismar (stay 4-5 days). Fog sometimes prevents landing. Winter-clothing advisable, though it never freezes in July, and seldom in August. Excursionists should be strongly shod.

Books. Conway, First crossing of Spitzberg (Lond. 1897) and With ski and sledge over Arctic Glaciers (Lond. 1898); Wegener, Zum ewigen Eise (Berlin, 1897); Guttman, Fuhrer fur Spitzbergen (Berlin, 1899).

About halfway between the Scandinavian mainland and Spitzbergen, in 74° N. lat., lies Bear Island, culminating in Mount Misery (1759 ft.), discovered by Willem Barents, a Dutch navigator, in 1596. The island is the station of a whaling company. It possesses rich seams of coal, and is enlivened with countless Arctic sea-fowl. The 'bird-rock' on the S. side of the island is perhaps the largest colony of its kind in the Arctic regions.

On the second day from Hammerfest the steamer is off the S. cape ($76^{\circ}26'$ N. lat.) of the W. or main island of Spitzbergen, which was also discovered by Barents. We skirt the W. coast, where the Hornsundstind (4692 ft.) rises picturesquely, pass the mouth of Bell Sound, and enter the Isfjord or Ice Fjord, the largest inlet on this coast, running deep into the land. Guarding its entrance on the N. rises the Dødmand ('Dead Man'; 2500 ft.), E. of which opens Safe Haven, with its superb glaciers. Other peaks and glaciers, all ending in abrupt slopes, are seen as we proceed. The N. shore of the fjord, like the greater part of the W. coast, consists of primitive granite and gneiss, its Alpine formations presenting a contrast to the gently sloping S. shore, which belongs to a later (miocene) period.

The steamer passes Green Harbour and Coal Bay, and drops anchor in Advent Bay ($78^{\circ}13'$ N. lat.). On the shore are several workmen's houses, belonging to an English and an American company who began in 1905 to work the coal-mines in the vicinity. On a height are the remains of a clay-hut erected in Oct., 1895, by four Norwegian reindeer-hunters, who were prevented by early ice-drift from leaving the island, while two graves remind us of the hardships of the Arctic winter. The sun shines here for four months in summer. The Gulf Stream, which washes the W. and part of the N.W. coast of West Spitzbergen, softens the climate. The snow melts to a height of 1300-1600 ft. above the sea, while flowers, ferns, moss, and lichen thrive remarkably well.

EXCURSIONS. To Mt. Augusta Victoria, with its broad glacier, and back, 3-4 hrs. — To the Bird Hill, N.W., and back, 5-6 hrs. — To the plateau of the Nordenskjöldsberg (2300-2600 ft.), where fossil plants are found, and back, 8-10 hrs.; to the top several hours more, view over the icy and snow-clad interior of W. Spitzbergen. — By rowing-boat to Advent Bay Valley (20-24 hrs.), abounding in reindeer and Arctic foxes. — By rowing-boat to Sassen Bay, the eastmost bay of the Ice Fjord, another region affording sport (3 days, if the wind be favourable). — Round the Ice Fjord, passing Sassen Bay, with the White Peak (2602 ft.) on the N., and Cape Thordsen, with the so-called Nordenskjöld House, where a number of Norwegians perished in the winter of 1872-73. (The Swedish polar expedition under Nordenskjöld spent that winter at Mussel Bay, on the N. coast.) We return by the W. bank of the fjord (one day).

A fine cruise of 3 days may be taken to the N. along the W. coast of W. Spitzbergen. We steer through the shallow sound separating the island of Prince Charles's Foreland from the main island (large steamers keep outside), and past King's Bay, with the Tre Kroner (4018 ft.) in the background, protruding from an expanse of ice, and then past Cross Bay, also environed with glaciers, and the Seven Ice Mountains, to Magdalene Bay, perhaps the grandest of the smaller fjords in Spitzbergen. Thence we pass through the Dänen-Gat, between Danes' Island and Amsterdam Island, to Virgo Harbour, on Smeerenburg Sound. On Danes' Island is the house of Mr. Pike, from which the Swedish explorer S. A. Andrée ascended in his balloon on 11th July, 1897, and where the American Mr. Wellman has lately been preparing for a new ascent. On the E. bank of the Smeerenburg Sound rise jagged mountains and huge glaciers. On the W. are the flat shores of Amsterdam Island, the site in the 17th cent. of the Dutch whaling station of Smeerenburg. The fishery was so productive that this place was regarded as no less important than Batavia in Java, and attracted thousands of fishermen in summer. By order of the Queen of Holland, the scattered bones from the graves of that period were buried anew under a cairn of stones.

The Norwegian tourist-steamers and those of Messrs. Bade continue their voyage further N. We thus get a view of the eternal Arctic ice, sometimes of walruses, rarely of polar bears, which retire in summer to the bays of the Hindeloopen Strait.

Malmo, the capital of the province of Skåne, with 75,700 inhab., opposite Copenhagen (16 Engl. M. distant), was the chief commercial town on the Sound in the middle ages. It now carries on a brisk trade and has a number of factories (gloves, cotton, tobacco, machinery, etc.). In the chequered history of Christian II. Malmo played a prominent part, headed by the burgomaster Jürgen Kock, who introduced the Reformation. The town owes its modern prosperity to the enterprise of the merchant Frans Suell at the end of the 18th cent., and to the opening of the railway to Stockholm in 1856.

The province of SKÅNE, the southmost and most populous in Sweden (4354 sq. M.), in soil and culture resembles Denmark and N. Germany, to which it geologically belongs. On three sides it is bounded by the sea; on the N. it is adjoined by Småland (p. 266), where the gneiss and granite formations of the great Swedish peninsula begin. From N.W. to S.E. it is intersected by two distinct hill-ranges. The Kullen (p. 274), one of these, juts boldly into the sea to the N.W., and parallel with it runs the Hallandsås (p. 276). In the centre of the district rise the Söderås (p. 276) and the Romaleklint (p. 263). In the line of these ranges, to the S., lies the island of Bornholm. The fertility and importance of Skåne are evidenced by its great network of railways. Steamers also ply between the coast-towns two or three times a week (see Sveriges Kommunikationsnät, No. 263, Stockholm-Copenhagen, and No. 267, Stockholm-Göteborg).

From the Harbour and the Station the bridge to the S. leads to the Stör-Torg ('great market'), with a fine equestrian statue in bronze, by J. Börjeson (1896), of Charles X. Gustavus, who united Skåne with Sweden in 1658. At the N.E. angle of the square are (left) the Landshöfdinge-Residens (Pl. 9), or governor's residence, and (right) the Rådhus (Pl. 8; B, 2), or town-hall, a handsome edifice in the Netherlands Renaissance style, built in 1546, and restored in 1864-69. The ground-floor is of granite, the upper story, with its gables, allegorical statues, and medallions, is of brick. The handsome Knutssal (adm. 30 ø.) was the council-chamber of the once powerful Knutsgille or 'Guild of Canute'. The Landstingsal contains portraits of Danish and Swedish kings and a painting by Cederström: Magnus Stenbock at Malmö in 1709.

Passing between these buildings, we reach the PETRI KYRKA (Pl. 5; B, 2), an old Gothic brick church, restored in 1890. — In the S.E. part of the town are the St. Pauli Kyrka (Pl. 10; C, 3) and the Högre Elementar-Läroverk (Pl. C, 3; 'higher elementary school').

On the W. side the town is the pleasant Kung Oskar's Park (Pl. A, 2, 3; Restaur.), where a band plays twice daily in summer. Beyond it is the MALMÖHUS, a fortress dating in its present form from 1537, where Bothwell, Queen Mary Stuart's third husband, was imprisoned in 1567-73. (He died in 1578, in the château of Dragsholm in Zealand.) — Beyond the moat on the S. side of the castle lies the extensive Slotts-Park, on the E. side of which is the Museum (Pl. B, 3; adm. 12-4, Sun. 1-4, 35 ö.), containing historical, industrial, and other collections and a picture-gallery.

On the branch-line (station on W. side of harbour) trains run hourly in 10 min., past the sea-baths of Ribersborg, to Limhamn, with its limestone quarries, cement-works, and factories, whose tall chimneys, to the W. of Malmö, are conspicuous from the sea.

FROM MALMÖ TO TRELLEBORG there are two railways. The express trains from Stockholm follow the main line, by Arrie, Månstrop, Ostra Grefvå, Slägarps, etc. (32 Kil.). Local trains run by Hvellinge, junction for Skånör and (17 Kil.) Falsterbo, two small sea-bathing places, once famed for their herring-fishery and the 'Fair of Skåne'. Their old churches are now partly buried in sand. At the S.W. end of the peninsula rises a lighthouse.

33 Kil. Trelleborg (Stads-Hot., R. from 2 kr.), the southmost town in Sweden, with 3330 inhab. and several factories, an old place, owes its modern importance to its steamboat-connection with (4 hrs.) Sassnitz, on the island of Rügen, a link in the shortest through-route between Stockholm and Berlin (24 hrs.). The main station, Trelleborg Nedre, is at the pier. The local lines to Malmö by Hvellinge, to Lund by Svedala (see below), Klågärup, and Staffanstorps (see below), and to Klagstorp and Rydsgård (see below) have a second station at Trelleborg Öfre, to the N. of the town.

RAILWAY FROM MALMÖ TO YSTAD (63 Kil., in 2 hrs.). — 16 Kil. Skabersjö (5 Kil. N.E. is the handsome mansion of Torup, afternoon drive from Malmö); 21 Kil. Svedala, junction for Trelleborg and Lund; 28 Kil. Börtinge, junction for Klagstorp (see above) and (22 Kil.) Östratorp, a fishing-village near the Smyge Huk, the S. end of Sweden (55° 20' 16" N. lat.); 44 Kil. Rydsgård, the junction of a line to (34 Kil.) Trelleborg by Skifarb and Klagstorp; 55 Kil. Charlottenlund.

63 Kil. Ystad (Hôt. du Sud), a busy seaport and industrial town, with 10,520 inhab., is the focus of several local railways. Steamers to Stockholm, Copenhagen, Gotenburg, the island of Bornholm, Stettin, Lübeck, etc. — Omnibus (15 ö.) to the pretty Sjöbad Ystad (Hotel), with wooded environs, $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. E. of Ystad.

RAILWAYS: W. by Charlottenland to (19 Kil.) Skifarp, junction for Trelleborg (see above) — N.E. by (8 Kil.) Köbingsbro (see below), (41 Kil.) Svensstorp, (19 Kil.) Tomelilla where the Malmö and Cimbrishamn line is crossed; then N.W. by (32 Kil.) Lofsestad and (47 Kil.) Bjarsjölagård, with its large lime-kilns, to (76 Kil.) Eslöf (p. 25) — Also N.E. by Tomelilla, (35 Kil.) St Olof, and (41 Kil.) Hustaby (6 Kil. E. of which, by the fishing village of Kivik, is a tombstone of the bronze period, with sculptured side-stones), to (49 Kil.) Brösarp (p. 267; junction for Christianstad). — Also N.E. by (8 Kil.) Köbingsbro, (31 Kil.) Hammenhög (5 Kil. E. of which is the mediæval château of Glämningshus), and (26 Kil.) Gärnsås, to (50 Kil.) St Olof

RAILWAY FROM MALMÖ TO CIMBRISHAMN, BY TOMELLILLA (96 Kil., in 3-3 $\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.). 15 Kil. Staffanstorp, junction for Lund and Trelleborg (p. 262); 24 Kil. Dalby, with an old church; 35 Kil. Veberöd, near the Romeleklint (574 ft.); 41 Kil. Öveds Kloster, with a superb château, on the Vombsjö; 48 Kil. Sjöbo (junction for Landskrona, p. 272). 53 Kil. Söfdeborg, with another fine château.

69 Kil. Tomelilla (Jernvägs-Hot.), junction for Ystad and Eslöf; 84 Kil. Gärnsås.

96 Kil. Cimbrishamn or Smrshamn (Hot. Svea; Stads-Hot.), a small seaport with 2100 inhab., from which steamers ply to Stockholm, Malmö, etc., and in summer to Bornholm also. (See Baedeker's N.E. Germany.)

The TRAIN FROM MALMÖ TO GENARP (28 Kil., in 1 hr.) stops at Bara, near the château of Torup (p. 262), and at Klädgerup, near the château of Hyby. — Near Genarp (Jernvägs-Hot.) is the modern château of Häckeberga. — This line is being continued to Ystad.

40. From Malmö by Lund to Nässjö (Stockholm).

268 Kil. Södra Stambanan. Express in 5, ordinary train in 6-10 hrs. (to Lund in 20-25 min.). From Trelleborg by Malmö to Stockholm in 13 $\frac{1}{2}$ -19 hrs.; from Malmö to Stockholm 12-16 hrs. — Sleeping-berth, 1st cl. 10, 2nd cl. 5 kr., and 1 kr. for sheets. Dining-car on the day-express (2 $\frac{1}{2}$ kr.; secure seat betimes) In the other trains there are notices as to the halls for meals.

The train skirts the Sound, crosses the Segeå, and turns inland. 5 Kil. Arlöf, with a sugar-refinery and a carriage-factory. We cross the Höjeå. Near (9 Kil.) Åkarp is the agricultural school (Landbruks-Institut) of Alnarp, with a fine park of elms. On the right is the public school of Hvilar. Fertile country with large corn-fields. Close to Lund are two lunatic asylums.

17 Kil. Lund. — "GRAND HOTEL (Pl. a; A, B), in the Ban-Torg, near the station, first-class, R. 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ -4 $\frac{1}{2}$, B. 1, D. 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ -2 $\frac{1}{2}$, S. 1-2 kr., with restaurant. — JERNVÄGS-HOT., opp the station, R 2, B. $\frac{1}{4}$, good; HOT. SKANDINAVIE, close by; CENTRAL HOT., Stora Kungs-Gatan, S. of the cathedral, unpretending. — BOOKSELLERS Gleerup, Stora Söder-Gatan, by the Stor-Torg; Ph. Lindstedt (Univ bookseller), Klostergatan. — POST OFFICE (Pl 6, A, 3), Stora Kloster-Gatan 11, opp. the Cathedral.

Lund, the ancient Londinum Gothorum, was the largest town in Scandinavia in the 12-15th cent., and was known as Metropolis Daniae, having been the seat of a Danish archbishopric, when it is said to have had 23 churches. It is now the seat of a bishop and of a university founded in 1666 (pop. 19,170), and has the appearance of a large country-town, especially during the university vacations.

From the Railway Station (Pl. A, 2) we turn to the right; we then go to the left through the Kloster-Gata, past the Grand Hotel, to the centre of the town, where the cathedral and the university are situated. On the way, to the left in the second side-street on the left, is the house of the poet Esaías Tegnér (Pl. 1, B, 2, pron. Tengnåre; 1782-1846), who lived here in 1813-26, when a professor in the university, and wrote his Frithjof's Saga and other poems. The house (adm. 12-2, 25 ö.) contains a few memorials of the poet.

The *CATHEDRAL (Pl. B, 3), a noble edifice in the late-Romanesque style, with two towers, recalling the Middle Rhenish churches, was consecrated by Archbishop Eskil in 1145, and has been judiciously restored since the middle of the 19th cent. The fine execution of the exterior, notably of the choir, with round-arched frieze borne by columns in the first story, blind arcades in the window-story, and the open colonnade above, probably dates from the period after the fire of 1172.

The INTERIOR (entrance on the S. side; generally open in the forenoon; if not, apply to the 'vaktmästare', Stora Söder-Gatan 9, S. of the Stor-Torg), although only 210 ft. long, 108 ft wide, and 70 ft. high, looks much larger owing to the breadth of the W. end, and to the fact that the pavement rises a few inches in the middle. Nine pillars on each side separate the nave from the aisles. Seventeen steps ascend to the imposing transept, and one more to the choir. Note the new Bronze Doors, the Pulpit of black marble and alabaster (1692), the carved Gothic Choir Stalls, the seven-branched Candelabrum (1850) behind the altar, and the modern Frescoes in the vaulting on a gold ground, by Thulin.

Under the transept and choir lies the grand *CRYPT (Kraftskyrkan), 121 ft. long, 35 ft. wide, and 13 ft. high, borne by 23 pillars and lighted by ten windows. In the N. arm of the crypt is a fountain, with satirical figures and inscriptions by Van Duren, a Westphalian, who lived in Lund in 1513-27. Archbishop Burger (d. 1519) is buried here. On two of the pillars are the figures of the giant Finn and his wife, the traditional builders of the church.

The LUNDAGÅRD (Pl. B, 2), with its fine avenues of chestnut, elm, and lime trees, is the focus of the university life. On the E. side of it, near the cathedral, is the Zoological Museum (Pl. B, 2, 3), containing a collection of prehistoric skeletons from the moors of Skåne (adm. Mon. and Sat., 11-12, free; Tues. and Frid. 25 ö.). Adjacent is the Tegnér's-Platz, with a statue of the poet by Qvarnström. On the N. side of this Platz is the building of the Akademiska Förening (Pl. 4 B, 2; restaur. open to strangers). Opposite, to the W., is the former Library, now a Historical Museum and Cabinet of Coins. Beyond this is the UNIVERSITY BUILDING (Pl. 2), erected in the Greek Renaissance style, by Helgo Zettervall, in 1878-82, and containing a handsome Aula. The N. side of the Plats is bounded by the University Gymnasium and Music Room (Palaestra et Odeum; Pl. 5). The grounds in front of the university are adorned with busts of eminent professors. Here also is a mound with a collection of Runic stones. The University has four faculties, 46 professors, some 50 lecturers, and over 850 students. The latter wear white velvet caps with a blue edge (comp. p. 351).

In the Adel-Gata, E. of the Akademiska Förening, on the left, is the entrance to the Kulturhistoriska Museum (Pl. B, 2), in a two-storied building with several annexes, a citizen's house of the 17th cent., from Malmö, and a peasant's house from the province of Blekinge. The collection includes numerous mediæval and modern utensils, costumes, weapons, guild-articles, etc. (Adm. to the garden, 10-8 o'cl., 25 ö.; to the museum, 12-2 o'cl., 25 ö. more.)

On the E. side of the town lies the Botanic Garden (Pl. C, 2, 3, 12-2), with hot-house, laboratories, etc., and a bust of the botanist Jacob Agardh (1813-1901). To the N. are the Physical, Physiological, and Anatomical Institutes, the park of Helgonabacken ('saints' hill'; Pl. C, 1), and the handsome new University Library, designed by A. Hellerström, and completed in 1907 (200,000 vols.; open 10-2). Near it is the Gothic Alhelgonakyrka or Church of All Saints, by Zettervall, 1891. To the S.W. is the Observatory (Pl. A, 3, 4), with its grounds, adorned with a bust of the astronomer Tycho Brahe (1546-1601).

Lund is also a station of the Trelleborg (p. 262) and Kjeftinge (p. 272) line, and of the local lines from the S. Station (Pl. B, 4) by Refvingeby to Harlösa (23 Kil.; comp. p. 272), and from the W. Station (Pl. A, 3) to Bysärd, a small sea-bathing place on the Sound.

FROM LUND TO NÄSSJÖ (and Stockholm). Soon after leaving Lund we pass on the left the Släpærbäck ('Hill of St. Liberius'), where the Danish kings used to receive the homage of the Swedish province of Skåne. The monument records the victory of Charles XI. over the Danes in 1676, which ended the Danish claim to Skåne. — We cross the Löddeå. 26 Kil. Örtofa, junction for Landskrona and Sjöby (p. 272). To the left is seen a pretty château.

34 Kil. Eslöf (Jernvägs-Hot.; Nilsson's), with 2350 inhab., junction for Teckomatorp (p. 272), Landskrona (p. 272), and Helmingborg (p. 273), for Ystad (p. 263), for Christianstad (p. 267), and for Klippan (p. 275).

44 Kil. Stehag, amidst fine beech-woods. — The Ringsjö (184 ft.), on the right, is surrounded with country-houses, among which is the old Bosjö Convent (not visible from the train). 54 Kil. Hör; branch-line to (13 Kil.) Horby (p. 267) To the N. of the station rises the basaltic Annektesf. 68 Kil. Sosdala; near it, on the right, is the church of Mållby.

88 Kil. Hessleholm (Bern's Hot., with rail. rest.), a thriving place (pop. 2430). To the W. lies Lake Finja (151 ft.).

Branch-lines from Hessleholm to Karpalund (p. 267) and CHRISTIANSTAD (30 Kil., in 50 min.); to Helsingborg (p. 273); to MÅRKARYD, 37 Kil., junction for Helsingborg and Wernamo (p. 275); then W. down the valley of the Lagaå to Knäred, and by Skogaby to (72 Kil.) VEINGE on the W. coast line (see p. 276).

Monotonous moors. 102 Kil. Hästveda, junction for CHRISTIANSTAD (p. 267); 125 Kil. Killeberg.

Before crossing the boundary between Skåne and Småland we enter a dreary and interminable Skog (the antithesis of lund, a pleasant grove), a favourite theme in Swedish song. It consists of a chaos of moor, swamp, forest, ponds, and hills, with rocks worn smooth by the action of the ice with which the peninsula was once covered. The sterile ground is carpeted with moss and lichen, interspersed with birches and pines; in dry places grow bilberries and whortle-berries, and in the swamps reeds. Attempts are being made to reclaim the land by drainage and by removal of the stones. On each side lie long heaps of loose stones, and at places we pass fields, pastures with cattle, and red cottages, roofed with green turf. Here and there is a church with detached belfry (klockstapel), or a factory, while mills border most of the rivers.

134 Kil. Elmhult (Hot. Örtegren) is the first station in Småland, branch-line S. to Sölvesborg (72 Kil., in 2½ hrs.; p. 267). Farther on, to the right, we see Råshult, with an obelisk in memory of Linné, born there on 13th May, 1707, whose father was assistant-pastor. Fine views of the long Möckeln-Sjö (446 ft.), to the left.

168 Kil. Vislanda. — FROM VISLANDA TO HALMSTAD (p. 276), 115 Kil., railway in 4-6 hrs., by (36 Kil.) Ljungby (p. 275) and (51 Kil.) Bolmen, on the lake (466 ft.) of that name, 16 Kil. long and 10 Kil. broad, from which the Lagaå (p. 276) issues. In the lake is the long island of Bolmsö (steamer from Bolmen), once the seat of the heathen kings of Finveden, as W. Småland is called, containing interesting tombstones.

FROM VISLANDA TO KARLSHAMN, 78 Kil., railway in 2¾-4 hrs. — 40 Kil. Norravärd (branch-line to Kvarnamåla, p. 268), 42 Kil. Ryd, 10 min. from Ryds-Sanatorium, on the S. bank of the Åsen-Sjö. — Karlshamn (Järnvägs-Hot.; Stadshuset), a seaport with 7800 inhab. and large distilleries, lies at the mouth of the Mieå, in the district of Blekinge. About 1½ M. to the S. is Vägga, a small sea-bathing-place (steamer in 7 min.).

From Karlshamn there are railways W. to CHRISTIANSTAD (see p. 267) and E. to KARLSKRONA: 34 Kil. Bredåkra, where we join the line from Vexjö (p. 268), 40 Kil. Ronneby (Stads-Hot.; pop. 3340), prettily situated on the river of that name, which forms a waterfall here. About 1 Kil. below the railway-station are the chalybeate baths of Ronneby Brunn, with a park and numerous villas, connected with the station by a short branch-line, and with the town by steam-launches. — 58 Kil. Nättraby (branch-lines S. to Nättraby-Hamn, 1 Kil.; N. to Eringsvoda, 30 Kil.); 66 Kil. Gullberna (p. 269); 67 Kil. Suma (p. 268); 70 Kil. Karlskrona (p. 268).

182 Kil. Alfvesta (Rail. Rest.*, D. 1½ kr., also R.), where a halt is usually made, is prettily situated at the N. end of Lake Salen (469 ft.). On the right is the old church of Aringsås, with belfry. — To Karlskrona and Kalmar, see p. 268; to Götenburg, p. 102.

191 Kil. Grennaforssa; 213 Kil. Lamhult (with the Grönskulle, 387 ft., on the left); 240 Kil. Säfsjö (junction for Hvetlanda-Målilla, 81 Kil., see p. 271); 258 Kil. Grimstorp. Countless lakes.

268 Kil. Nässjö (961 ft.; pron. neshö; Rail. Rest.*; Hot. Svensson, R. 2-4, B. 1, D. 1½ kr., good; Järnvägs-Hot., R. from 2 kr.), junction for Jönköping (p. 291), for Oskarshamn (p. 271), and for Halmstad (p. 276).

From Nässjö to Stockholm, see p. 297.

FROM ESLÖF (p. 265) TO CHRISTIANSTAD, 69 Kil., railway in 2 hrs., through fertile and wooded country, with unimportant stations. 20 Kil. Ousbyholm, an old mansion on the S. bank of the Ringsjö (p. 265); 24 Kil. Hörby, connected by a branch-line with Hör (p. 265); 49 Kil. Tollarp; branch to Elfvörd and Åhus (23 Kil.; see below). At (62 Kil.) Skepparslöf Nedre the line forks: right, to (66 Kil.) Långebro, whence a bridge crosses the Helgeå to Christianstad; left, by Karpalund (p. 266), to the chief station of — 69 Kil. Christianstad (Hot. Brissman, by the station, R. from 1½, D. 1½-2 kr., good, Frimurare-Hot.), a town of 11,000 inhab., on the Helgeå, founded in 1614 by Christian IV. of Denmark, the seat of the Skånska Hofrätt, the appeal-court for Skåne, which meets in the Kronhus. Opposite the station is the church, built in 1617. To the W. of the town, on the Helgeå, is the Tivoli park, with a small museum of antiquities (25 ö.).

From Christianstad a branch-line runs S., past the Helge-Sjö, to (17 Kil.) Åhus, the port of Christianstad; another from Långebro (see above), by Elfvörd (see above), in 1¼-2¼ hrs. to (38 Kil.) Brosarp (p. 268; junction for Ystad).

Railway from Christianstad E. to KARLSHAMN (62 Kil., in 2-3 hrs.) 18 Kil. Buckaskog, station for the estate of that name, lying 5 Kil. N., between the Oppmanna-Sjö and the Isö-Sjö; once a Benedictine monastery, it was later often occupied and extolled in verse by King Charles XV., and now belongs to the state. 31 Kil. Sölvesborg, a seaport with 2860 inhab., a ruined castle, and several distilleries, junction for Elmhult; 46 Kil. Sandback (branch to Holje, 15 Kil.); 62 Kil. Karlskrona (p. 268).

Another line from Christianstad runs N E., past many lakes, by Inmeln to (40 Kil., in 2½ hrs.) Glimåkra.

From Christianstad to Hässleholm, see p. 266.

From Christianstad N W. to HÄSTVEDA (p. 266), 41 Kil., railway in 1½-2 hrs., starting from Långebro (see above). 4 Kil. Skepparslöf Nedre and (7 Kil.) Karpalund, see above; 21 Kil. Qvinge, in a fertile region. Then (25 Kil.) Vanås, 20 min. from the estate of that name, whose proprietor Count Wachtmeister has an admirable collection of pictures (Catalogue by G. Göthe. Rembrandt, Three portraits, of 1652, 1661, and 1692; G. Ter Borch, Dapple-grey horse in the stable; J. B. Greuze, Young washerwoman; also examples of J. B. Chardin, Nic Elias, K. du Jardin, Gab. Metsu, Adr. van Ostade, Jan Seen, Dav. Teniers, Adr. van de Velde and Phil. Wouwerman).

41. From Alfvesta by Vexjö to Karlskrona and Kalmar. Öland.

From Alfvesta to Vexjö, 18 Kil., $1\frac{1}{2}$ - $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. — From Vexjö to Karlskrona, 114 Kil., $3\frac{1}{2}$ - $5\frac{1}{2}$ hrs. — From Emmaboda to Kalmar, 57 Kil., $1\frac{1}{2}$ - $2\frac{3}{4}$ hrs.

Alfvesta, see p. 266. We traverse a wooded region, enlivened here and there with the cottage of a settler, with its patch of field and paddock, enclosed by a fence.

8 Kil. Gemla, with several factories, 13 Kil. Rüppe, at the influx of the Helgasjö (on which a steamer plies) into the Bergqvarasjö. Close to the latter, S. of the station, is the estate of Bergqvara, with a picturesque ruined castle.

18 Kil. Vexjö (Rail. Rest.; Stads-Hot. & Stora Hot.*, Kungsgatan 1, near the station, R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ -3, D. $1\frac{1}{2}$ -3 kr., with restaurant; Hot. Nyström), the capital of Kronobergs-Län, dating as a town from 1342, now with 8020 inhab., rebuilt on a more spacious plan since the fires of 1830 and 1843, lies at the N. end of the Vexjö-Sjö. The Cathedral, built about 1300, is dedicated to St. Siegfried (d. about 1030), the apostle of this region. On the S. side of the market is the Rådhus; on the N. the residence of the Landshöfding. — The Form-Sal ('Hall of Antiquities'; Wed. and Sat. 10-12, free), on a hill S. of the station, contains the Småland Museum, a library, a cabinet of coins, etc. A band plays on summer-evenings in the grounds (café). The Norr-Gata, which passes behind the Landshöfding's residence, is continued outside the town by an avenue ascending to the bishop's house of Östrabo, occupied by Tegnér in 1823-46 (p. 264). The poet, who became insane in 1840, and died here on 2nd Nov. 1846, is buried in the cemetery to the W. of the town, by the S.W. wall, under a canopy of maples.

From Vexjö to Åseda, 60 Kil., narrow-gauge line in 3 hrs. — The first station is (6 Kil.) Evedal, in a bay of the Helgasjö (p. 267), the starting-point for a walk to the (3 Kil.) royal domain of Kronoberg, with the fine ruins of the castle of Kronoberg (whence 'Kronobergs-Län'). — 44 Kil. Klageström, with iron-works. — The line is being continued to the E. coast.

From Vexjö to Ronneby, 92 Kil., railway in about $3\frac{1}{2}$ hrs. — From (37 Kil.) Kvarnamåla a branch-line runs to Norrård (21 Kil.; p. 266); 86 Kil. Bredåkra; 92 Kil. Ronneby, see p. 266.

The train now traverses an interminable forest, relieved with many lakes. 31 Kil. Aryd, with old iron-works; 43 Kil. Hofmantorp, on a bay of Lake Rottnen; 52 Kil. Lessebo, with a large paper-mill (branch-line to Målerås, 30 Kil., see p. 269).

75 Kil. Emmaboda (Rail. Rest.), junction for Karlskrona and for Kalmar (see p. 269). The Karlskrona train passes unimportant stations; it leaves the region of granite and descends to the fertile coast. 125 Kil. Thorskörs; 128 Kil. Sunna. We now cross several bridges and islands to —

132 Kil. Karlskrona (Stads-Hot., good; Frimurare-Källare; both 10 min. from the station), capital of the province of Blekinge, with 26,500 inhab., an excellent harbour, and the chief naval dockyard

STEAMER to Borgholm (p. 271) once or twice daily, 1 kr.; by Borgholm to Oskarshamn (p. 271) 2-3 times weekly in 5 hrs.; by Borgholm to Visby and Stockholm, see p. 353; also to Lubeck in Germany.

Kalmar, the capital of Kalmar-Län, with 14,250 inhab., lies on the Kalmarsund, the strait between the mainland and Öland. It is one of the oldest towns in Sweden, and used to be called 'rikets nyckel' (key of the kingdom). Here in 1397 was concluded the famous Kalmar Union (p. xlv). In 1620 Gustavus Adolphus came to Kalmar to escort Princess Maria Eleonora of Brandenburg to Stockholm, where their marriage was to take place.

The railway-station (Pl. B, 2) is on the S.W. side, and the harbour (Pl. B, C, 3) on the S. side of the regularly built old town on the island of Kvarnholm. — In the market-place, in the centre of the town, rises the Cathedral (Pl. 1; B, C, 2), designed by Nic. Tessin (p. 310), and built of limestone from Öland in 1660-69. The Stor-Gata, crossing the market lengthwise, passes the Theater-Plats, and is continued S.W. by an avenue, at the end of which is a broad bridge connecting the Kvarnholm with the mainland. On the right is the tall red tower of the water-works.

Beyond the bridge we turn to the left and soon cross the railway-line to the pretty Public Park (Pl. A, 2, 3). Under an iron pavilion is a bust of Gustavus Vasa, who landed at Stönsö, S.W. of Kalmar in May, 1520. Beyond the park is the entrance to the castle.

The Castle of Kalmar* (Pl. A, 3), a large square edifice, with ramparts, moats, and five towers, the site of which was once an island, was built in the 12th cent., enlarged in the latter half of the 16th cent., and recently restored. Between 1307 and 1611 it successfully withstood no fewer than twenty-four sieges. In the court is a Renaissance fountain; straight on is the 'Vaktmastare's' house; in the farther corner is the church; to the right is the entrance to the Kalmar Historical Museum (week-days 10-12, 25 ö., at other hours 50 ö.; Sun. 2-3, 25 ö., 3-5, 10 ö.). The bulk of the collection is in the 'Union Hall', which is, however, later than the Union. The grand old Royal Chamber* ('Gamla Kongsmaket') has fine inlaid panelling on the ceiling and walls, and large coloured reliefs of hunting scenes of the time of Eric XIV. The Lozenge Room ('Rutsalen') dates from the reign of John III.

RAILWAY, narrow-gauge, S. to (40 Kil.) Torsås (p. 269). By stat. Grasgårde are the round churches of Hagby and Voxtorp (similar to the Solna church, p. 340) and the bridge over the Brömsébäck, a stream famed in history as the boundary between Sweden and the once Danish Skåne.

From Kalmar we may visit the large Island of Öland (steamer, p. 269), lying parallel with the coast, 137 Kil. long and 3-16 Kil. in breadth. It contains 29,500 inhab., chiefly engaged in farming and cattle-breeding. Unlike the central and northern mainland of Sweden, where granite prevails, Öland consists of a limestone plateau sloping down to the E. The W. margin is abrupt, while the E. slopes, descending gradually to the Baltic, are covered with downs and loose sand. The bluffs of the plateau, (landborgar) are dotted with windmills. The plateau itself is arid and exposed to extreme heat in summer. The red or grey stone (orthocerene limestone, rich in fossils), of easy cleavage, was for centuries largely exported, and is still used for foot-pavements in the Swedish coast-towns. A small strip of land only, at the foot of the W. 'landborgar', is fertile and well peopled.

Borgholm (Hot. Borgholm, by the quay, good; Stads-Hot.; Strand-Hot.; Bath Restaur.), the capital of the island, with 1100 inhab., prettily situated, attracts sea-bathing visitors. From the E. end of the town a road and (through the grounds of the Kungsträdgård) a path ascend in $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. to the wooded hill to the S. (180 ft.). On the way we pass a modern 'bautaasten' recalling the hunting-expeditions of Charles XV. At the top are the restaurant Højden and the grand ruin of the 'Castle of Borgholm'. The castle was begun by John III. on the site of an old fortress in 1572, and occupied in 1651-51 by Charles Gustavus of Pfalz-Zweibrücken (p. xlix) when heir-apparent, for whom it was afterwards extended by Nic. Tessin. In 1808 it was destroyed by fire. The Rikssal on the first floor affords a fine view. A little to the E. is a state domain with an agricultural school and a royal villa. — The island is rich in prehistoric antiquities, the chief of which may be visited by carriage (skjuts) in one day. Road to (13 Kil.) Ralla, a little short of which is the 'Fornborg', or prehistoric fortress of Pipetorp, about 660 yds. long. Farther E. (5 min.) a path leads S. in $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. to the church of Hogsrum, the road to which diverges at Ralla (2 Kil.) Between Hogsrum and Nytorp, 1 Kil. farther E., are several old 'bautaastenar', notably Oden's Fälsor, and a large 'skeppsättnings', a group of stones in the form of a boat, 56 by 7 yds. The road then turns N.E. to (5 Kil.) Karum. On both sides are similar prehistoric monuments, in particular Noah's Ark, a group of smaller stones, 29 by $8\frac{3}{4}$ yds., with suggestions of rowers' benches and a mast. We may return by Gardslösa, Sörby, and then either by Rupplunge or by Koping, about 22 Kil. — A narrow-gauge railway runs N. from Borgholm to (55 Kil.) Boda, a state-domain.

From Kalmar a railway (77 Kil., in $2\frac{3}{4}$ -4 hrs.) runs N. to Berga (see below): 44 Kil. Sandbäckshult, junction of the line Monsterås-Alsterbro (which is part of the line now being constructed from Ashedå to the E. coast, p. 268); 64 Kil. Ruda, junction for (33 Kil.) Oskarshamn.

Oskarshamn (Hot. Kung Oskar; Stads-Hot.; pop. 7790), a ship-building town, trades in timber, grain, and cattle, and has a pretty promenade. Steamboat to Kalmar, see p. 269.

Railway to Nässjö, 148 Kil., in $3\frac{1}{2}$ -4 $\frac{1}{4}$ hrs. (p. 267): 28 Kil. Berga (see above), 58 Kil. Målilla (branch to Säfsjö, p. 267), 65 Kil. Hultsfred, junction of branch-lines by Spängenäs, Ankarsrum, and Jenny to Vestervik (70 Kil.; p. 300), and to Linköping (p. 298); 127 Kil. Eksjö, with 4700 inhab. — From Oskarshamn to Linköping (187 Kil.; express in $5\frac{1}{2}$ -6 hrs., p. 298): to Hultsfred, as above; 86 Kil. Vimmerby, with 2430 inhab. (branch to Spängenäs, 18 Kil. see above); 127 Kil. Kisa. Then past several lakes, connected with Linköping by the Kinda Canal (p. 299). 143 Kil. Rimforsa; 167 Kil. Bjärka (branch to Ätvidaberg, p. 300), 174 Kil. Sturefors, these last being also stations of the Kinda Canal steamers.

42. The W. Coast from Malmö to Gotenburg.

Travellers coming from TRELLEBORG (p. 262) take the express to Gotenburg by Malmö and Engelholm; from COPENHAGEN the route by Helsingör and Helsingborg is shorter.

a. From Malmö to Engelholm and to Helsingborg.

From Malmö to ENGELHOLM, 83 Kil., express in 2, ordinary in 3-4 hrs. — To HELSINGBORG, 68 Kil., express in 1½, ordinary in 2½ hrs. — From Malmö to Gotenburg, 300 Kil., in about 8 hrs

Malmö, see p. 260. — The train skirts the Sound. 5 Kil. Arlöf; 10 Kil. Lomma, with brick-yards and cement-factory. We then turn inland. In the plain, on the right, we see Lund Cathedral. Nearing (16 Kil.) Flädie, we pass under the Lund and Bjerred line (p. 265).

25 Kil. Kjeftinge, on the Loddeå, where we cross the Landskrona and Sjöbo line (see below), is the junction of the lines to Lund and Trelleborg, and W. to Barsebäckshamn on the Sound.

34 Kil. Teckomatorp is the junction of the lines from Eslöf (15 Kil.; p. 265) to Landskrona and to Helsingborg (see below). The Engelholm line still runs N. 39 Kil. Svalöf, with an agricultural institution ('Svenska Utsädes-Föreningen').

60 Kil. Billesholms Grufoa. Branches to Bjuf (p. 275) and to Landskrona (see below). The coal-fields extending N.W. from Billesholm and Qvidinge to Höganäs (p. 274) are the only ones in Sweden. More important are the clay deposits, supplying excellent material for the well-known 'Swedish clinkers' (tiles).

69 Kil. Åstorp, junction for Helsingborg and Vernamo (p. 275), for Helsingborg and Hesselholm (p. 275), and for Kattarp and Höganäs (28 Kil.; p. 274), 76 Kil. Spannarps; 83 Kil. Engelholm (p. 276).

From Teckomatorp the Helsingborg line runs W. to (40 Kil. from Malmö, 6 Kil. from Teckomatorp) Billeberga, junction for Landskrona.

Railway from Billeberga in 20 min. to (11 Kil.) Landskrona (Stads-Hotel, good), a seaport with 15,760 inhab. and a castle, completed in 1543, now a prison. Steamboat to Copenhagen twice daily; also to Malmö, and to Helsingborg, Halmstad, Warberg, and Gotenburg. Branch-railways to Billesholms-Grufoa (26 Kil.; see above), and by Kjeftinge (see above), Örtofta (p. 265), and Harlösa (p. 265) to Sjöbo (p. 263).

Beyond (46 Kil.) Tågarp the Helsingborg train crosses the Landskrona and Billesholm line by a high iron bridge; on the right is the church of Ottarp. 65 Kil. Ramlösa (p. 275). — 68 Kil. Helsingborg (Central Station), see p. 273.

b. From Copenhagen to Helsingborg.

49 Kil. Express on the Danish coast-railway (comp. p. 422; through-carriages) in $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.; fares 3.80, 2.40, 1.40 kr. — From Copenhagen to Göteborg, 295 Kil., in $7\frac{1}{4}$ - $9\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.; fares 21 60, 13.10, 8.50 kr — Steamer from Copenhagen to Helsingborg direct, once or twice daily in 2 hrs.; fare $1\frac{1}{2}$ or 1 kr.

From Copenhagen to Helsingör (44 Kil.); thence by steam-ferry across the Sound, here only 4 Kil. broad, in 20 min., see pp. 422-24. The Swedish custom-house formalities take place on the quay at Helsingborg. An inscription by the landing-place records the arrival of Charles John (Bernadotte), as unanimously elected crown-prince of Sweden, on 20th Oct., 1810 (p. iii).

Helsingborg. — The Central Station (p. 57; Pl. B, 3) is on the S. side of the town, 6-7 min. from the market. The Harbour Station for the Göteborg trains is at the steam-ferry landing-stage.

Hotels (with restaurants). *HOT. MOLLBERG (Pl. a; B, 2), an old-established house at the upper end of the Torg, with baths, etc., R. $2\frac{1}{2}$ -5 $\frac{1}{2}$, B. 1.85, D. $1\frac{1}{2}$ -2 $\frac{1}{2}$, 'sexor' (p. xxiv) 2 kr. — H. D'ANGLETERRE (Pl. b; B, 2, 3),

Geogr. Anst. v. Wagner & Debes, Leipzig

Jernvags-Gatan 13, R. 2.5, B. $\frac{3}{4}$ -1 $\frac{1}{4}$, D. $1\frac{1}{2}$ -3 $\frac{1}{2}$ kr.; CONTINENTAL (Pl. c; B, 2), both good, but near the noisy railway shunting. — PLAINER, H. MUNTZE (Pl. d; B, 2), in the Stor-Torg

RESTAURANTS: Hamm-Paviljong (Pl. A, 3), at the end of the outer pier (steam-ferry 36.); Terrass Rest., by the Kärnan (see below); both with view of the Sound and evening concerts; also at Helsan (Pl. B, 1), with its saline spring and baths, 10 min. from the Rådhus.

POST OFFICE (Pl. 1; B, 2), Stor-Torg. — TELEGRAPH OFFICE, by the custom-house at the harbour.

TRAMWAYS from the N. end of the town, past the chief rail. station, to the high E. suburbs (106.), and to the S. end of the town; also from the rail. stat. S., to Ramlosa and Ramlösa (3½ Kil.; p. 275), and thence to the fishing village of Råå on the Sound.

Helsingborg, a thriving seaport with 33,410 inhab. and extensive quays, stretches at the foot and on the slope of a range of hills (125 ft.) on the narrowest part of the Öresund or Sound, here only 2½ M. wide, opposite Helsingör and the Kronborg (p. 424). The Kärnan, the finest point of view, may be visited in 1½ hr.

The centre of the older part of the town is the market-place (Stor-Torg; Pl. B, 2), which ascends from the harbour past the modern Gothic Rådhus. An equestrian statue of Count Magnus Stenbock (Pl. 3; B, 2; 1664-1717), by H. Börjeson, erected in 1901, recalls the victory of that Swedish general over the Danes who, on Charles XII.'s defeat at the battle of Pultava (p. li), tried to reconquer Skåne. A little S. of the Stor-Torg is the Gothic Maria-Kyrka (Pl. B, 2), of the 13th cent., restored in the interior in 1898. The Jervägs-Gata leads S., past the station and the grounds of the Krookska-Plantering (Pl. B, 3), to a new quarter of the town with numerous factories.

¶ From the upper end of the market-place we ascend a broad flight of steps and pass through a new gateway to the Kärnan (Pl. B, 1, 2), a conspicuous brick tower 102 ft. high, the relic of a castle often mentioned in the wars of the Hansa. Its walls, 13 ft. thick, are 19½ ft. in circuit (adm. daily in summer from 8 to 8; 10 ö.; but 25 ö. from 11 to 2). The *View from the top (186 steps) is finest by morning light (comp. Map, p. 424); to the N. rises the Kullen. In front of the tower is 'Kung-Oskar-Terrass' (Restaur., p. 273). We may now leave the grounds on the N. side and descend from the Villatomtväg to the Öresunds-Park (Pl. A, B, 1).

The Drottning-Gata (Pl. A, 1) leads N.W. to the good Sea Baths, about 10 min. from the Fisk-Torg, and to several villas beyond. To the right is the viaduct of the Gotenburg railway. On the coast, about 5 Kil. N., is the royal château of Sofiero, and 3 Kil. farther is Kulla Gunnarstorp, a château of Count Wachtmeister, built in 1870, adjoined by a mediæval castle and a fine park.

An interesting Excursion may be taken to the promontory of Kullen. We go by the Gothenburg railway to Kattarp (in about ½ hr.; p. 275); then by branch-line (17 Kil., in ¾ hr.), past several small stations, to Höganäs (two stations; by the Öre Station is Högenäs Hot., good; by the Nedre Station, Schweitz's Hot.), an industrial town of 5200 inhab., with old coal-mines and large factories of fire-proof bricks, glazed tubes, etc.

The wooded headland of Kullen, jutting N.W. into the Kattegat like a huge finger, is a narrow mass of granite rising from the land that has subsided on each side of it, with its upper part worn by glacier action into round knolls, while its base is eroded by the breakers of the open sea. At Höganäs Öfre are carriages (5-8 kr.) and a motor-omnibus (1 kr. each pers., railway being constructed) to (7 Kil.) Krapperup, with a château and park, and (3 Kil.) the fishing-village of Mölle (Hot. Elfverson, in an open situation, commended, H. Mölleberg; H. Kullaberg, H. Corfitzon). Here we hire a one-horse carr. (there and back 3 kr.), or walk in 1 hr., by the Kullagård (restaur. and pens.), to the extremity of the Kullen, crowned with the Kullaŷyr (lighthouse). We may also ascend the Höga Kulla (627 ft.), the highest point of the headland, $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. E. from Mölle, or the Norra Ljungås (584 ft.), 35 min. N. of Mölle, both fine points of view. — In calm weather it is pleasant to row from Mölle round the Kullen, past several caverns in the rock, to Arildsläge (Hot.; about 13 Kil., in 3 hrs.; 4-5 kr.) on the Skeldervik. Some of the finest of the grottoes may also be reached from Mölle by land: the Josephine-Lyst (40 min.), Drupadal (40 min.), Ahlhamn ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr.), and Arildsläge ($1\frac{1}{4}$ hr.).

FROM HELSINGBORG (Cent. Stat.) to HESSELHOLM, 77 Kil., railway in 2-3 hrs. The line intersects the coal-field mentioned at p. 272 3 Kil. Ramlösa, junction for Malmö and for Eslof (p. 265); 5 Kil. Ramlösa-brunn, with chalybeate baths, prettily situated (Hot. Societätshus); 18 Kil. Eyuf (branch to Billesholm, p. 272); 21 Kil. Gunnarstorp; the château of Vrams-Gunnarstorp (p. 272) is seen in the woods to the right; 24 Kil. Åstorp (p. 272); 26 Kil. Kärreberga (see below). Beyond (30 Kil.) Qvidinge (p. 272) we cross the Rönneå. Fine view of the wooded range of the Söderås to the right (see below). 35 Kil. Klippan, with a paper-mill, junction of branch-lines to Skärvald, Rostanga, Bällinge, and Eslof (40 Kil.; see p. 265), and by Östra Ljungby (see below) to Engelholm (27 Kil.; p. 276). 65 Kil. Tyrnæg; 72 Kil. Finja, on the wood-girt Finjasjö; 77 Kil. Hessleholm, see p. 266.

FROM HELSINGBORG to JÖNKÖPING BY VERNAMO, 246 Kil., express in 8 hrs. (no stop for meals). To (26 Kil.) Kärreberga, see above. 34 Kil. Östra Ljungby, junction of the line from Klippan to Engelholm. The scenery has the Småland character (p. 266). No important stations. 82 Kil. Märkaryd, where we cross the Veinge and Hesselholm railway (p. 266), lies on the Lagaå or Lagan, whose wooded valley we now ascend. 96 Kil. Strömsnasbruk, with a paper-mill; 132 Kil. Ljungby (Jernvägs-Hot.), on the right bank of the Lagaå, with 1080 inhab. and several factories, where the Vislanda and Halmstad line branches off (p. 266). — 158 Kil. Vidostern, at the S. end of the lake of that name. The line skirts the W. bank of this lake to (174 Kil.) Vernamo (Jernvägs-Hot.), junction of the Halmstad and Nässjö line (p. 266), which we follow as far as (214 Kil.) Vaggeryd, and also of the Gotenburg and Alfvesta line (p. 276). The stations towards Jönköping are unimportant: 333 Kil. Smålands Tabery (p. 292); 246 Kil. Jönköping, see p. 281.

c. From Helsingborg by Engelholm to Gotenburg.

244 Kil. Express in $5\frac{1}{2}$ -7 $\frac{1}{2}$ hrs. (two through-trains to Christiania, p. 97), ordinary in $8\frac{1}{2}$ hrs., starting from the Harbour Station (p. 273). Views chiefly to the left.

The W. Coast Railway ascends by a long viaduct. To the E. of the fertile plain rises the Söderås range. To the W. is the Kullen. 14 Kil. Kattarp, we cross the Åstorp (p. 272) and Höganäs line

(p. 274). Beyond 21 Kil. Vegeholm we cross the Vegeå, which separates Malmöhus-Län from Christianstads-Län. Wooded district.

27 Kil. Engelholm (Hot. Thor, very fair), with 3600 inhab., fishery, and corn-trade, lies on the Rönneå, which the train crosses, and is a junction for Malmö (p. 272) and for Klippan (p. 275). — 30 Kil. Skelderviiken (Hot.), a small sea-bathing place on the bay of that name, which the Kullen bounds on the W. To the left is the fishing-village of Skeppartroken. To the right, in the distance, rises the long range of the Hallandsås.

40 Kil. Förslöf. Wooded heights alternate with arable land. We ascend the Hallandsås in curves to (45 Kil.) Grefvie, in view of the sea and the Kullen. We then descend the Sinarpps-Dal, which expands, and cross an embankment 79 ft. high to (53 Kil.) stat. Båstad, about 3 Kil. from the bathing-place of that name.

The train enters the province of Halland, crosses the Stenså, and traverses a level tract. 59 Kil. Skottorp, near the estates of Nya Skottorp, where we cross the Smedjeå, and Gamla Skottorp, where Charles XI. wedded the Danish princess Ulrika Eleonora in 1680. — 68 Kil. Laholm, an old town with 1800 inhab., on the Lagaå, an excellent salmon-river, which we cross. By the Kassefors, 6 Kil. below Laholm, is a fish-breeding institute. 74 Kil. Veinge (p. 266); 77 Kil. Genevad, where we cross the river of that name, 81 Kil. Eldsberga. We near the sea, and beyond (85 Kil.) Trönninge cross the Fylleå.

93 Kil. Halmstad (Hot. Mårtenson, connected with the Tivoli gardens; Rail. Rest., D. 2 kr.; pop. 17,200), the capital of Halland, lies on the N. bank of the Halmstadsbugt, at the mouth of the Nissaå, which the train crosses by an iron bridge. The old Castle is now occupied by the Landshöfding. The Church of the 15th cent. has been restored. In the Norra Port is a small museum (adm. 25 ö.). — 94 Kil. Halmstad Norra is a station for slow trains only.

From Halmstad to Vislanda, see p. 266

FROM HALMSTAD BY VÄGGERID (Jönköping) to NÄSSJÖ, 196 Kil., express in 5½ ordinary train in 11 hrs. The train ascends the valley of the Nissaå or Nissan. 5 Kil. Sperlingsholm, an old estate of the barons and counts Sperling, with a modern château and large park. We cross to the left bank. 19 Kil. Oskarström, with a jute-factory, by a fall of the Nissaå. 39 Kil. Torup, on the Kulaå, a tributary of the Nissaå; 5 Kil. E. is the large paper-mill of Rydö. Crossing the river, we reach (47 Kil.) Kinnared, at the confluence of the Vesterå and the Österå, which form the Nissaå (branch-line to Atrån, 18 Kil.). The main line now runs N.E. on the right bank of the Österå. 59 Kil. Länderyd, junction of the line by Linnared (p. 283), Utrac-hamn on Lake Asunden, and Asary (p. 290) to Falköping (p. 290); 131 Kil. in 3¼-6½ hrs.). 73 Kil. Smålandstenar, with factories, so called from an ancient group of stones (p. 282) 10 min. from the station. The country is wooded. — 115 Kil. Vernamo (Rail. Rest.), junction of the railway from Helsingborg (p. 276) and the Göteborg and Alfvesta line (p. 283). — The line now bends N. and ascends the valley of the Lagaå. 123 Kil. Hörle, with factories; 143 Kil. Skillingaryd, with a military drilling-ground. At (152 Kil.) Vaggeryd (657 ft.; Hot.) the branch to Jönköping (85 Kil., in 1-2 hrs.; p. 275) diverges to the left. The Nässjö line ascends by (161 Kil.) Hook to (187 Kil.) Fredriksdal (1040 ft.), and then descends to (196 Kil.) Nässjö (p. 287)

The train passes near Vapnå, the estate of the family of Stael-Holstein. 112 Kil. Brännarp. Fertile country with many farms. On the left are the churches of Steninge and Refvinge and the estate of Bårarp. Then a hilly and wooded tract. On the right lie the farms of Susegård and Fröllinge. 116 Kil. Getinge; the village lies on the opposite bank of the Storå, which falls into the Suseå farther on, by the turreted chateau of Mostorp. The train crosses the Suseå. 136 Kil. Falkenberg (Stads-Hot.), a town of 3880 inhab., with the remains of a mediæval fortress and a valuable salmon-fishery, on the Åtråå, which the train crosses.

From Falkenberg to LIMNARED (p. 283), 102 Kil., narrow-gauge railway in 4-5 hrs., by (80 Kil.) Åxelfors (branch to Svenljunga and Hillared, p. 283, 24 Kil.).

To the right is the church of Stafsinge, and, near the small station of Lis, the old mansion of Lindhult. 153 Kil. Tvååker; 157 Kil. Humle. We pass through a cutting in the Apelviksberg to the coast.

167 Kil. Varberg (Stads-Hot., good, Varberg's Hot., pens. from 3½ kr.), a town of 6780 inhab., with sea-baths and a conspicuous old castle, now a gaol, on the left. The quarries in the environs yield excellent granite for monuments and pavements.

FROM VARBERG BY BORÅS TO HERRLJUNGA, 121 Kil., railway in 4½-5½ hrs., through a pleasant country. 63 Kil. Frista, 72 Kil. Viskafors, 76 Kil. Rydöholm, all with large cotton-factories. 84 Kil. Borås, with two stations, Nedre (p. 292) and (85 Kil.) Öfre, a busy industrial town (Hot. Vestergodland; Hot. du Nord; pop. 19,570), junction of the Gotenburg and Alfvesta railway, with houses mostly of timber. — 91 Kil. Skogsryd, on the Oresjö, which the line skirts; 118 Kil. Ljung; 127 Kil. Herrljunga (p. 289).

We skirt the coast, off which lies the flat island of Getterö, and cross the Himlaå. The coast becomes more rocky, with peninsulas jutting into the sea. On the left is the village of Ärnäs, on the site of Aranäs, a trading town destroyed by the Norwegians in 1265. — 180 Kil. Åskloster, on the left bank of the Viskaå, which falls into the Klosterfjord here and is crossed by the train. Beyond (184 Kil.) Backa we reach the Vendelsö Fjord and cross the Löftaå. 197 Kil. Åsa, on the large Kungsbacka Fjord. The valleys between the barren cliffs are fertile and well tilled. On a peninsula to the left stands the old mansion of Tjolöholm. We ascend a valley, past the large villages of Torpa and Tom, and fine beech-woods, and cross the plain of Dufveheden to (208 Kil.) Fjärås, with its large church. To the E., above, lies the lake of Lygnern, dammed up by an old moraine, with Gåsevadholm, the estate of the barons of Silfverskjöld. We cross the Rofså, which descends from the lake. — 216 Kil. Kungsbacka, an old town which has given its name to the bay. Then over a marshy plain, and across the Mölnålså, to (236 Kil.) Fässberg, the station for Mölnådal, a town with cotton and weaving factories. 239 Kil. Almedal (p. 283), another busy industrial place. Lastly we re-cross the Mölnålså by a viaduct 660 yds. long. To the right is the old bastion Göta Lejon, to the left the suburb of Stampen. 244 Kil. Gotenburg (Bergslagsbanans Station, Pl. F, 1).

43. Göttenburg.

Arrival. The sea-going steamers land at the Stora Bonnemans Hamn (Pl. D, 2), the canal-steamers at the Lilla Bonnemans Hamn (Pl. E, 1), both rather far from the hotels. (In Sveriges Kommunikationer, under 'Göteborg' a complete list is given of the steamers sailing 'Norrut, Söderut, and Vesterut'.) Hotel-omnibuses ($\frac{1}{2}$ kr.) and cabs meet the steamers. The Stockholm Railway Station (Statens Bangård; Pl. F, 1) is near the hotels. The other stations are a little farther off: Bergslagsbanans Station (Pl. F, 1), for the W. coast railway (R. 42), Borås and Alfvesta (p. 283), Trollhattan and Norway (R. 44), and Falun (R. 56); Vestgötabanans Station (Pl. E, 1), for Gränsås and Skara (p. 283); Sarö Station (Pl. D, 6), near the Slottskogs-Park (Pl. p. 282, C, 7), reached by electric train; Tungstad Station, on the right bank of the Göta-Elv, beyond the Hisingsbro (comp Pl. E, 1), for Uddevalla and Stromstad (p. 233).

Hotels. Gr.-HöT. HAGLUND (Pl. a, F, 2), E. end of Södra Hamn-Gatan, of the first class, with café, American bar, inquiry-office, etc., R. 3-15, B. 1, L. 2, D. $2\frac{1}{4}$ - $3\frac{1}{2}$, in the restaur. 6 kr. HOT EGGERS (Pl. c; F, 2), Drottning-Torg 25, with café, R. $2\frac{1}{2}$ -8, B. 1, L. $1\frac{1}{2}$, D. 2-4 kr.; PALACE HOT. (Pl. i; F, 2), Södra Hamngatan, near the Brunnns-Park, new, with café, etc., R. 3-15, B. 1, L. $1\frac{1}{2}$, D. 2 or $3\frac{1}{2}$ kr. — *HOT. The Göteborg LICENSING SRSTEN, now in force, with modifications, throughout Sweden and Norway, has been in operation here for many years, and drunkenness has diminished greatly. A company, under supervision of the municipality, is alone entitled to retail spirits and to open a very limited number of shops, the salaried managers of which have no interest in the sale. The profits beyond 5 per cent are devoted to public and philanthropic purposes.

Cabs (Draskor). Drive within the town, 1-2 pers. 75 ö, 3-4 pers. 1 kr.; longer drive $1\frac{1}{4}$ - $1\frac{3}{4}$ kr.; each trunk 10 c. — By time, 20 min. for 1-2 pers., 1, 3-4 pers. $1\frac{1}{4}$ kr.; each 20 min. more 40 or 50 c. — Carriages at the hotels about 4 kr. per hr., and fee.

Tramways (Elektriska Spårvagnar; fare 10 ö, incl. transfers or öfvergångs-biljetter). Their centre is the Drottning-Torg (Pl. F, G, 2); their chief crossings are at the Brunns-Park (Pl. F, 2) and the Lilla-Torg (Pl. E, 2). The following start from the Drottning-Torg: 1 and 2. Ring Lines (white boards) Nils-Ericsöns-Gatan, St. Eriks-Gatan, Post Office, Lilla-Torg, Vestra Hamngatan, Victoria-Gatan, Vester-Gatan, Slottskogs-Park (Pl. C, D, 6), Linné-Gatan, Södra Allee-Gatan, Victoria-Gatan, Vasa-Gatan, Kungspors-Avenyen (transfer-station, Valand), Brunnspark, Drottning-Torg (and back by same route). — 3. Majorna Line (Pl. A, 4), by Lilla-Torg and Drottning-Torg, to Redbergslid (Pl. J, 1; blue boards). — 4. From Majorna (Pl. Göteborg ($57^{\circ} 42'$ N. lat.; $11^{\circ} 58'$ E. long.), Swed. Göteborg (pron. Yöteborg), a thriving commercial and industrial city, and next to Stockholm the chief town in Sweden, is the seat of a bishop and of the Landshöfding of Göteborgs-och-Bohus-Län. It lies in a broad plain on the left bank of the great S. estuary of the Göta-Elf, and has an excellent harbour, rarely blocked with ice. The town was founded in 1619 by Gustavus Adolphus. The Dutch settlers constructed canals in their national style; many Scots and Germans were also among the early colonists. The first strong impulse to its commerce was given by the continental blockade (1806), when Göteborg formed the chief depôt of British trade with the north of Europe. Its commercial fleet of over 200 steamers trades all over the world. The chief exports are iron-ore, iron and steel, and timber, the last going mostly to Great Britain and France. There are numerous iron, steel, and engine works, cotton-factories, breweries, sugar-refineries, and ship-building yards. The population, which was 26,000 in 1840 and 76,400 in 1880, was 141,000 in 1906, or, including the E. suburbs of Gullbergs Vass, Stampen, and Gamlestaden, the S. and S.W. suburbs of Haga, Albstaden, and Annedal, and the W. suburbs of Masthugget and Måjorna, about 157,000. Like Stockholm (p. 309) the town stands on a rocky site, entirely transformed by modern culture; but the rocky heights are gradually being built over.

The old town was enclosed by a moat and intersected by canals, the smaller of which have been filled up and converted into streets since 1860. The Stora Hamnkanal (Pl. D, E, F, 2) now alone remains navigable. Opening off it, in the centre of the old town, is the chief square, the GUSTAF-ADOLFS-TORG (Pl. E, F, 2), with the Exchange, the Rådhus, built by Nic. Tessin in 1670, but much altered, and a Statue of Gustavus Adolphus (Pl. 4), the founder of Göteborg, by Fogelberg (1854). This was the second statue cast at Munich. The first was wrecked, but recovered by sailors of Heligoland, who claimed exorbitant salvage, and is now at Bremen. — A little to the S.E., at the end of the Stora Hamn-Kanal, is the small Brunns-Park (Pl. F, 2), with the fountain-figure of a Sower by Hasselberg. The broad Östra Hamngata, with its many shops, at the end of which is seen a Statue of Charles IX. by Börjeson, leads to the old Kungssport (p. 281).

At the back of the Rådhus, on the Stora-Hamnkanal, is the German Christina-Kyrka (Pl. 5; E, 3), containing the tomb of the Swedish field-marshal R. v. Ascheberg, governor of Skåne, Halland, and Göteborg at the end of the 17th cent.

Göteborgs Museum (Pl. E, 2), immediately W. of the church, in the building of the old E. India Co., Norra Hamngatan 12, is open Sun. 1-3, Tues. to Sat. 11-3; Tues. and Frid. 50 c., on other days free; in summer also on Sun., Frid., and Sat. from 6 to dusk.

In the VESTIBULE are allegorical frescoes, by G. Pauli (1896): Göteborg in the middle, Commerce on the left, Science and Art on the right. Ground Floor. On the right, minerals. — First Floor. Coins, stamped copper plaques used as money in the 17th and 18th cent., all the other rooms of the right wing contain natural history collections (whale 60 ft long, etc.). — The left wing contains prehistoric antiquities, historical and art-industrial collections (furniture of a room of 1600, peasants' rooms, ecclesiastical antiquities in the 'Kyrksal', etc.).

The 'Art Collection, which in the department of modern Swedish painting (p. 323) surpasses that of the Stockholm National Museum (p. 325) in completeness, occupies the back-wing of the building. We may reach it direct from the vestibule by crossing the court and entering the door inscribed 'Museum'. — On the ground-floor are casts and works by Swedish sculptors: P. Hasselberg, Grandfather and grandson (p. 381); Börjeson, Game of bowls, etc.; in the first room on the right are pictures, furniture, and other objects from the Fürstenberg collection (see below), to which a short flight of steps ascends. — We mount the — Principal Staircase: pictures, N. Forsberg, Gustavus Adolphus at Lützen, G. Kallstenius, Summer, and others. — Entrance Room R. Bergh, Women by the fire-side; O. Björck, Portrait of V. Heidenstam, the author; E. Josephson, Spinner; B. Liljefors, Capercailzie, A. Zorn, On the staircase. — On the right is the Fürstenberg Collection (bequeathed in 1902), comprising about 200 pictures and a few sculptures. F. v. Lenbach, Portrait of himself; A. Edelfelt, Sea-piece; B. Liljefors, Owl, Cat lying in wait for birds, etc.; A. Wahlberg, May-day in Nice, moonlit landscape; A. Zorn, P. Fürstenberg and his wife; F. Thaulow, Winter landscape; R. Bergh, Northern summer evening. In this and the following rooms are sculptures by P. Hasselberg, Water-lily, Frog, Snowdrops, P. Fürstenberg and his wife. — The narrow flight of steps descends to the lower room of the Fürstenberg collection. — In the two side-rooms: C. Larsson, Renaissance, rococo, and modern art; C. E. Skånberg, Harbour of Dordrecht; J. F. Raffaelli, Paris boulevard; R. Collin, Summer. Adjacent is the zoological collection.

On the other side of the entrance-room: P. Ekström, Sunlight and snow (at Stockholm); E. Thøgerström, H. Alfvén, the composer; O. Björck, The artist's wife; B. Östermann, Jonas Lie, the author; O. P. U. Arborelius, Pond in a forest; V. Fahlcrantz, Motalastrom. — In the room adjacent on the right: Chr. Krogh, A difficult channel; E. Petersen, Noon; N. Verenskold, Autumn; A. Edelfelt. At the piano; V. Vallgren, the Finnish sculptor, and his wife; J. Skovgaard, Oak-forest in Sweden; P. S. Krøyer, Messina. — In the next room. B. Lundholm, Breakers, November evening; H. Birger, Breakfast of artists in Paris; J. W. Wallander, On the moor, Invalid; J. F. Krouthén, Summer near Skagen; A. Zorn, Girls bathing. — Then: A. Österlind, An accident; C. E. Skånberg, Canal in Venice; E. Skånberg, Portrait of C. E. Skånberg, the painter; G. Cederström, Salvation army in a Parisian cabaret; C. G. Hallqvist Louis XI. in his garden, enjoying the sight of executed opponents; H. Salmson, Turnip harvest in Picardy; N. Forsberg, Acrobats. — In the long Room F. J. Fagerlin, Interior of fisherman's cottage, Boys playing cards; G. Saloman, News from the Crimea; J. E. Bergh, Waterfall with saw-mill, Swedish landscape; C. J. Hockert, Queen Christina of Sweden ordering the execution of Monaldeschi, her favourite, at Fontainebleau; A. Wahlberg, Swedish landscape. — In the first of the two small cabinets are pictures by Ad Tidemand, First meeting, Dying bear-hunter; V. S. Lerche, Visit of the cardinal; H. F. Gude, On Christiania Fjord, Funeral on the Sognefjord. — In the second cabinet Morten Müller, Landscape; H. Jerichau, In Capri. — In the Staircase: C. Fould, Buried alive. — The older paintings include nothing of importance. Lastly etchings by A. L. Zorn, drawings by C. Larsson, water-colours and pastels. — Adjacent are the Ecclesiastical Antiquities (p. 280).

Opposite the Museum are bridges crossing the canal to the Vestra Hamngata (see below) and the LILLA TORG (Pl. E, 2), where a statue, by Börjeson, of the merchant Jonas Alstromer (1685-1761), a promoter of the Swedish wool-industry, has been erected. To the W. of the Torg is the Residens of the Lundshöfding (Pl. D, E, 2).

The Harbour flanks the Gota-Elf. The Stora Bommens Hamn (Pl. D, 2), whence the sea-going and coasting steamers start, is adjoined on the N. by the Custom House (Tull-och-Packhus). The Skeppsbro (Pl. D, 3) is the chief haunt of the steam-launches. The canal-steamers start from the Lilla Bommens Hamn (Pl. E, 1), to the N.

Several bridges cross the old moat, which separates the old town from the new (p. 279), two of them prolonging the Vestra Hamngata and the Östra Hamngata (p. 280). The latter bridge, called 'Kungsports-Bro' after an old town-gate, leads to the grounds by the Theatre (Nya Teater; Pl. F, 3). Opposite the theatre rises the original of Molin's fine group of the Bältespännare* (Pl. 1; see p. 380). — Behind the theatre lies the pleasant Kungspark (Pl. E, F, 4, 3). — In the opposite direction, beyond the Bältespännare, is one of the two chief entrances to the pretty grounds of the Trädgårds-Förening ('garden society'; Pl. G, 2, 3; adm. 10ö.). The other entrance is on the N. side, near the Slussbro. The hot-houses (25 ö.) contain beautiful palms, orchids, and other exotics. A band plays noon and evening in summer near or in the restaurant (p. 278).

The residential quarter of Gotenborg lies S.E. of the Kungspark. In the KUNGSFÖRT AVENUE, close to the Nya Allée, rises a statue, by J. Fallstedt, of John Ericsson (Pl. 2; F, 3), inventor of the screw-propeller (1803-89). Farther S. is the VASA-GATA (Pl. F, 4), adjoined by the Vasa Park and the new buildings of the University (Hög-Skola; Pl. F, 4), founded by subscription in 1887, as yet a faculty of classical studies only (endowment 3½ mill. kr.; 14 professors, 12 lecturers, 100 students and about 1000 free 'hearers'). Near the N.E. end of the Vasagata is the Valand exhibition-building, containing a school of drawing and painting. At the S.W. end of the street is the Town Library, completed in 1900 (Pl. E, 4, 5; 100,000 vols.; ceiling-paintings by G. Pauli). To the N. of it rises the Haga-Kyrka. At the corner of the Engelbrekts-Gata and Victoria-Gata is the Primary Girls' School (Elementarläroverket för Flickor; Pl. 10, F, 5), with wall-paintings by C. Larsson, of woman's life in Sweden from the earliest times to the present day. In the Victoria-Gata is the reservoir of the water-works (Pl. F, 5). — A general view of town and harbour is obtained from Skansen Kronan (Pl. D, 5), a hill to the S.W. of the town, laid out as a public promenade, with an old fort. The massive tower, with its conspicuous gilded crown, now contains an artillery museum (Sun. 1.30 to 3 o'cl., 10 6.; Wed. 2-3, 25 ö.).

The W. suburbs, Masthugget (Pl. B, C, 4, 5), with the St. Johannis-Kyrka and the Gothic Oskar-Fredriks-Kyrka (Pl. B, C, 5; by Zettervall, 1888-92), and Måjorna (Pl. A, 4, 5), with the Karl-Johans-Kyrka, contain numerous factories, and are reached by tramways Nos. 3 and 4 (see p. 278). Between the stations of Stigbergsliden and Stigbergstorget (Pl. A, 4), on the right, is the restaurant of Henriksberg (Pl. A, 4; p. 278), affording an admirable view, especially by evening light, of the broad river and the island of Hisingen, with its ship-building yards and dry-docks. — From the Stigbergs-Torg the Ban-Gata leads to the left, past a small cemetery, to the Djurgårds-Plats (Pl. A, 6) and to the N.W. entrance of the Slottskog (20-25 min.). Or we may return by tram to the Jerntorg (Pl. C, 4), and change to the Ring Line.

The workmen's suburb of Annedal (Pl. D, E, 6), planned like that of Mülhausen in Germany, is adjoined on the S.W. by the Slottskog Park* (comp. Pl. A-D, 6, and see annexed Plan; trams Nos. 1, 2, and 6, see p. 278, lead to the N. E. entrance). These public grounds, with their fine old oaks, ornamental lakes, cafés. etc. (no spirituous liquors), extend over several rocky hill-ocks and afford good views, notably from the Stora Utsigt* (Pl. B, 6), a tower built at the N. end in 1899, from the Lilla Utsigt near the dairy, and from the Bergsklyftan near the Hjört-Park (with deer and elks). At the S. end of the park is a medallion-bust of the merchant A. Kobb (Pl. B, C, 9), a benefactor of the park.

Among other churches are the English Church (Pl. E, 3), Hvitfeldt-Plats, and the Rom. Cath. Church (Pl. F, 1), Spanmåls-Gata.

In the S.E. environs are numerous villas of the merchants of Gotenburg, mostly on the DANSKA VÄG (Pl. K, 4). We may go by tram (No. 4 or 5, p. 278) by Lorensberg to the Örgryte-Väg (Pl. I, 5). We follow the latter street, cross the Mölndalså, pass under the Halland railway, skirt the little Örgryte-Kyrka, with its churchyard, and ($\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) reach the entrance (on the left) to the late Mr. J. Dickson's villa of Öfverås, generally open. Fine view from the hill behind the house, to the left. Farther on is the red brick Nya Örgryte-Kirka, on the right. — About 3 Kil. beyond the Mölndalså bridge the Danska Väg joins the Redbergs-Väg (tram No. 3 or 5; p. 278). To the right lies the Eastern Cemetery ('Östra Begravningsplatsen'), containing monuments to Bengt Fogelberg by Molin, to Sven Renström by Scholander, and others.

FROM GOTENBURG TO SÄRÖ, 24 Kil., Railway in 55 min., from the station by the Slottskog Park (see annexed Plan, C, 7, reached by tram Nos. 1, 2, or 6; p. 278). Also steamers several times daily (p. 279). — SÄRÖ, a rocky island connected with the mainland by dams, with a good hotel (R. 1½-3 kr.) and restaurant, and pleasant grounds, etc., is a favourite sea-bathing resort.

FROM GOTENBURG TO ALFVESTA, 221 Kil., Railway in about 6 hrs. (station, see p. 278). At Almedal (p. 277) the train diverges from the Helsingborg line and ascends 9 Kil. Almedal (p. 277); 15 Kil. Molnlycke, with factories. — 35 Kil. Hundås (445 ft.; Tourist-Hot., R. 2-3 kr.), the chief winter-sport resort in W. Sweden. — Then a tunnel. Beyond (47 Kil.) Bollnäs we pass through a pretty wooded and rocky district, with the falls of the Sörå; then skirt the Väredsjö to (72 Kil.) Borås Nedre, junction of the lines to Varberg (p. 277) and to Herrljunga (p. 289). The train winds uphill and passes through a tunnel. 94 Kil. Hillared (branch to Axelåkra, p. 277); 112 Kil. Limmared, junction for Falköping and Landeryd (p. 277), and for Falkenberg (p. 277). We soon reach the highest point on the line (722 ft.) 172 Kil. Vernamo, junction of the Halmstad-Nässjö (p. 276) and Helsingborg-Jönköping (p. 275) lines — 221 Kil. Alfvesta (p. 286).

FROM GOTENBURG TO SKARA AND GOSSÄTER, 156 Kil., narrow-gauge line in 5½ hrs. (station, see p. 278). The line at first runs parallel with the Bergslags-Bana (see below), which it crosses by a viaduct at (4 Kil.) Lerys. — 60 Kil. Grafsnäs (Jernvags-Hot.), with a ruined castle; 86 Kil. Tumleberg, junction of the branch to Hälsjötorp (12 Kil.; p. 286), which is continued to Ludköping and Forshem (Kinnekulle, p. 287). 95 Kil. Vära (p. 286); 129 Kil. Skara (p. 286); 139 Kil. Lundsbrunn, with a chalybeate spring; 156 Kil. Gossäter (p. 288), at the E. base of the Kinnekulle.

44. From Gotenborg to Venersborg. Lake Venern. Western Göta Canal.

86 Kil. RAILWAY in 2-2½ hrs ('Bergslags-Bana' to Öxnared, and 'Udevalla-Herrljunga-Bana' thence to Venersborg).

Or we may take the CANAL STEAMER from Gotenborg to Trollhättan (7-9 hrs.; fares 4½, 3¾, with cabin; 3 kr. with berth in the Saloon; Kom. 320, 410), a voyage which offers little attraction beyond the Göta-Elf itself and a glance at the ruin of Bohus. At Lilla Edet and Åkerström are rapids and small locks. To see the Trollhätta Falls we land at Åkersvass (p. 285), as they are not visible from the steamer when it passes through the locks (about 2 hrs.). Travellers who intend to go on by the steamer should arrange with the captain as to rejoining it at the highest bridge.

The 'Bergslags-Bana' ascends the broad valley of the Göta-Elf. To the right, the suburb of Stampen; then the Göta Lejon, an old redoubt; to the left, Gullbergs Vass. At stat. Olskroken the Stockholm line diverges to the right (R. 45), and we pass under the Gössäter line (see above). To the left appears the river. The valley is flanked with low rounded gneiss hills overgrown with brushwood. Several small stations. Beyond (15 Kil.) Surte we see on the left the large ruined castle of Bohus, which gives its name to this district (Bohus-Län). 25 Kil. Nöl; 37 Kil. Alfhem, junction of a branch to Lilla Edet (15 Kil.; see above). We leave the valley and ascend to the right. Scrubby woods, a feature of W. Sweden.

56 Kil. Upphäräd. The view becomes more open, and a few fields are seen. Stat. Velanda, prettily situated; on the right, the Halleberg and Hunneberg (p. 286).

72 Kil. Trollhättan. — At the Station carriages from the hotels meet the trains ($\frac{1}{2}$ -1 kr.). — The Steamboat touches at Åkersvass, at the lower end of the canal (hotel-carriages meet the boats), and at the Grand-Hôtel, at the upper end.

GRAND HOTEL TROLLHÄTTAN, $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. from the station, good, R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ -3 $\frac{1}{2}$, B 80 ö to $1\frac{1}{4}$, D. 2-3 kr.; JERNVÄGS HOR. (J. H. on the Map), at the station, very fair. — In summer, rooms had better be ordered by post-card. — Carriage, 1-2 pers. 1.50 for first hr., 1 kr. each hr. more.

A visit to the WATERFALLS and the Canal takes at least $3\frac{1}{2}$ -4 hrs. From the station to the quay of Åkersvass 4 Kil. (on foot, incl. visit to locks, $1\frac{1}{4}$ - $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.; by carr $\frac{1}{2}$ hr.); by footpath to the Flottbergström $\frac{1}{4}$ hr.; on the right bank, either over the Kopparfint. or by the water-side to the Breidablick $\frac{3}{4}$ hr.; back to Kung-Oscar's-Bro 20 min.; on the left bank visit the Toppo, and return to the station, $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. — Steamboat-passengers land at Åker-vass and rejoin the boat at the Grand Hotel (see above). — The Turist-Comité has published a large map of the region (75 ö).

Trollhättan, a town of about 6050 inhab., consists almost entirely of factories, driven by the cataracts of the Göta-Elf, the so-called Falls of Trollhättan, and of workmen's houses. The river has forced its way through a barrier of granite, and in a course of 1600 yds. descends 108 ft.; its enormous volume is estimated at 600 cub. yds. per second, of some 200,000 horse-power. Little of this has yet been utilized, but the new power-station of 1908 is expected to withdraw 65,000 horse-power from the cataracts. The chief falls are separated by islands. Though not picturesque, the scene is highly impressive. The great mills and factories, and notably the locks on the left side of the river, are highly interesting.

As the scene is most effective when approached from below, railway (as well as steamboat) passengers should begin their visit at Åkersvass. We follow the broad road from the station, leading to the right through the town of Trollhättan, and cross the N. entrance to the canal by the bridge beyond the Grand-Hôtel. By the Brovakt, just beyond the bridge, we follow the road to the left, on the right bank of the canal. We pass the large brick Kyrka, which rises a little to our right, and ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr. from the station) the Mekanisk Verkstad (locomotive-works) of Nydqvist & Holm, and (in 20 min. more) reach the houses of Åkersberg, on the Åkersjö, with the offices of the lock-administration. Here begin the eleven 'new' *Locks constructed by Nils Ericson (p. 317) in 1836-44, ascending in steps, 108 ft. in all. Each is 38-39 yds. long and $8\frac{3}{4}$ yds. wide. They are hewn in the rock, and are separated from each other by double-winged gates. Over 9000 vessels pass through them annually, passing-places being afforded by larger basins which divide the system into three different sections. The 'old' locks, opened in 1800, are still used, but by small vessels only. Visitors may walk along either side of the locks and cross by any of the gates. A good survey is obtained from the Åkersberg Altan, to which a finger-post indicates the way to the left.

At the lower entrance to the locks lies Åkersvass (p. 283; rfmfs. at the 'Schweizeri'), where steamboat-passengers from Gotenburg land. Up-stream we follow the 'Karlekens-Stig', from which we see how the river has eroded the granite. By the stone steps on the left ($\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) is the Elvi-Sluss, a lock begun by Polhem and Wiman in 1751-55, but unfinished (comp. p. 289). By the Flottbergsström, the lowest of the rapids, we cross the river and ascend on the right bank. Below the Helvetesfall a steep flight of steps to the left ascends the Kopparfält (187 ft.; iron pavilion at the top), whence a path descends to the Strömslund road. This road descends to the right, and from it we take the 'Strömbergs-Skogsväg' diverging to the left.

It is more interesting to follow the bank, past the Helvetesfall ('hell-fall', 24 ft. high) and the Højumsvarp basin, up to the Stampestömsfall (8 ft. high), at the foot of which, by the salmon-fishing apparatus, is a platform overlooking the seething cataract. Further up we pass under Kung-Oscar's-Bro to a bench, where we see the Tjuffall, the Toppö, and the Toppöfall (see below). We turn here, and, by the bridge, mount the steps to the Strömslund road. After a few paces we ascend in steps to the right to the 'Strömbergs-Skogsväg', which leads in $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. to the Breidablick, a good point of view. A little to the N. is the villa Strömsberg. The view embraces the calm upper course of the Göta-Elf, with the railway-bridge (p. 286), as far as the Halleberg and Hunneberg (p. 286). — Returning a few paces, we now follow a path branching off to the E., past the Skogstjerner café, to the mill on the Gullösklint, where we have a view of the Nöf and the island Gullö; then turn back for a few paces and go to the left to the Thorsbad, a resting-place with an iron platform just above the cataract. Farther on, passing an iron terrace on the Tjufhålsklint, we come to the Strömsbergsklint, a jutting rock overlooking most of the falls. We descend to the —

Kung-Oscar's-Bro (128 ft.), built in 1889, which affords a general view of the Toppö falls. Beyond the bridge, a few paces below it, on the right, is the Kungsgrotta (Kgr. on the Plan), being half of a glacier-cauldron, bearing the chiselled names of princely visitors. A little beyond it the road crosses the unfinished Polhems-Sluss (comp. p. 289).

On the left bank a path to the left leads to the bridge crossing to the island of Öna. Here we pass round the yard of the large carbide-factory, cross another bridge, pass a cellulose-factory, and reach a small swaying suspension-bridge (25 c.; at most two pers. at a time), leading to the Toppö. The island lies in the middle of the grand Toppö-Fall*, the highest (42 ft.) of the series, the branch next the right bank being called the Tjuffall ('thief's fall'). The huge seething and thundering volume of water presents a very impressive scene. — A bridge (25 ö.) connects the upper end of the island with the wooded Gullö, the N. end of which overlooks the Gullö-Falls, 23 ft. high, and the river above them. The dam for the new power-station is being constructed here.

Beyond Trollhättan the railway crosses the Göta-Elf, but the falls are not visible from the train.

82 Kil. Öxnered (Jernvägs-Hot., by the station; Stads-Hot., $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. from it) is the junction of the Bergslagsbana (p. 283), which goes on to Mellerud (for Christiania), Kil, and Falun (p. 364), with the Uddevalla (p. 104), Venersborg, and Herrljunga line. Afternoon trains stop here for dinner. Change for Venersborg (4 Kil.), to which, if the train does not suit, we may drive. Rail and road cross the Vassbotten ('reedy hollow'), a small bay of Lake Venern.

86 Kil. Venersborg (Stads-Hot., $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. from the station, with restaur., good; Strömsborg, a popular garden), a widely-built town with 7150 inhab., at the S. end of Lake Venern, lies on the N. end of an island bounded on the W. by the Vassbotten, S. by the Karlsgraf, and E. by the Göta-Elf, the affluent of the lake. The Karlsgraf forms part of the Göta Canal, constructed in order to avoid the fall of the Göta at Rånnum (see below), and has two locks at Brinkebergs-Hulle, $4\frac{1}{2}$ Kil. S. of Venersborg.

On the left bank of the Göta-Elf, S.E. of Venersborg, rise the steep wooded Halleberg (545 ft.) and the Hunneberg (486 ft.), with lakes and moors on their plateaux, and stocked with elks (royal preserve).

FROM VENERSBORG TO HERRLJUNGA, 65 Kil., Railway in 2-3 hrs. The train soon crosses the Göta-Elf, which here has a fall of 19 ft., and runs past (5 Kil.) Rånnum, and between the Halleberg and the Hunneberg, to (10 Kil.) Lilleskog, prettily situated at the foot of abrupt diorite cliffs (p. 287). Close by the station is an old circular Thingstade, for popular meetings, with upright stones. To the left lies the Dettern, a bay of Lake Venern. — 87 Kil. Häkontorp, junction of narrow-gauge lines to Tomleberg and to Lidköping, see p. 283; Vara (Jernvägs-Hot.), junction for Gotenburg and Gossäter (p. 283); 65 Kil. Herrljunga, p. 289.

From Venersborg by Steamboat on Lake Venern and the W. Göta Canal to Karlsborg on Lake Vettern.

STEAMBOAT (Kom. 820) in the direction of Stockholm 5 times weekly (once by Lidköping, Hellekis, and Mariestad; also 5 times in the reverse direction, down the Trollhätta Canal to Gotenburg): to Motala (p. 295) in 28-36 hrs.; fares 16.50, 13.75 kr., with separate cabin; 11 kr., with berth in saloon (to Stockholm in 56-61 hrs.). The W. Göta Canal (W. of Lake Vettern) is inferior in scenery to the E. Göta Canal. Most travellers will visit the latter only, as the voyage all the way from Gotenburg to Stockholm (60-70 hrs.; 30, 20, 12 kr.), though pleasant and restful in fine weather, is a little tedious. The food on board is good: tea or coffee with bread 35 o. Smörgåsbord 1 kr., with a hot dish $1\frac{1}{4}$ kr., D. 2-2 $\frac{1}{2}$ kr. — Maps, with description, to be had on board (1-1 $\frac{1}{2}$ kr.).

Lake Venern (145 ft.), 2150 sq. M. in area, and 292 ft. deep, is the largest fresh-water lake in Scandinavia. Like Lake Vettern, it belongs to a prehistoric arm of the sea, which once separated Skåne from the rest of Sweden, even after the ice-period, and is now a most important link in the Göta Canal system (p. 288). It is bounded on the N. by Vermland (p. 302), a region of lakes and forests, whence the great Klarelf falls into it. Towards the W. it is connected with the lakes near Frederikshald by the Dalsland Canal (p. 363), constructed in 1863-68, one of the grandest canals in Sweden (255 Kil. long; 29 locks), but only partly used since the opening of the railway (p. 97).

The S. part of Lake Venern, which the canal-steamers traverse, is not very attractive. Looking back, we obtain a pleasing view of the Halleberg and Hunneberg (p. 286). The quick boats take 7 hrs. to Sjötorp, where the E. Göta Canal begins. About halfway, on the Kollandsö, an island fringed with rocky islets, is the well-preserved mediæval château of Leckö, with several towers, now state property.

By Leckö, to the S., opens the Kinne Vik, a bay on whose E. bank rises the Kinnekulle. On its S. bank, 5 hrs. from Venersborg, is — Lidköping (Stads-Hot.; Hot. Svea, both good; pop. 6400), the oldest town on Lake Venern, at the mouth of the Lidañ. After several fires, the town and church have been rebuilt since 1849.

FROM LIDKÖPING TO HÅKANTORP, narrow-gauge railway, 28 Kil., in 1-1/2 hr.; thence to Venersborg, see p. 286. By Skara to Stenstorp, see p. 280. By Kallby, Blomberg, (22 Kil.) Råback, and (26 Kil.) Hellekis to (29 Kil., in 1-1/2 hr.) Forshem, junction for Göteborg (p. 283). Beyond Forshem are (27 Kil.) Marrestaå (p. 278) and (43 Kil., in about 2 hrs.) Moholm (p. 290).

The Kinnekulle (pron. 'chin'), an isolated range, extending 14 Kil. from N. to S., and 6 Kil. from E. to W., rises in different geological strata. The lowest, on the W. side (Husaby, Klefva, Kjestad), consists of sandstone with alum-slate; the second (Vesterplana, Maltorp, Österplana) is limestone; the third (Medelplana) clay-slate; the highest (Höggullen) layer is of diorite, an eruptive mass which once covered the whole hill and thus preserved the lower and softer formations from destruction. Isolated rock-formations of this kind, differing from those of the environs, are relics of a vast sedimentary mantle covering the gneiss, and form a characteristic feature of the whole region between Lakes Venern and Vettern. Thus the Halleberg and Hunneberg (p. 286), the Mösseberg and Ålleberg (p. 290), and the Billingen (p. 290). So also the Kinnekulle, with its valleys and woods, its bold cliffs ('klefvor'), its rich vegetation, and its numerous farms and pastures, forms an interesting little world of its own.

It is most conveniently visited from Råbäck (1 hr. from Lidköping), on the railway skirting the hill and the lake. The steamers touch at Hellekishamn (also 1 hr. from Lidköping), near the old manor of Hellekis, with its beautiful park, now owned by a company, which is 1/2 hr. from Råbäck. (The mansion contains the estate offices, a post-office, and a geological collection.) — At Råbäck are the Hot. Kinnekulle (R. from $1\frac{1}{2}$ kr., good; 5 min. from the station) and Baron Klingspor's estate of Råbäck, with its charming park, to which visitors are kindly admitted. Pleasant walk of $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. to the Mörkeklef. The ascent of the Höghulle (1007 ft.; or 863 ft. above the lake), the highest point of the Kinnekulle, takes 1- $\frac{1}{4}$ hr.; the top commands an extensive view. Belvedere (59 ft. high; adm. 25 ö.), with a few beds for travellers who wish to see the sunrise.

Those who spend some days in this region should visit Medelpåna, Västervik ($2\frac{1}{2}$ hrs. from stat. Blomberg, p. 297), and Husaby (about 11 Kil S. of Råbäck), all three with old churches. That of Husaby dates from the early 11th cent. Olaf Eriksson, the first Christian king of Sweden, is said to have been baptized in a spring at Husaby. — From the Höghulle to Gossäter (p. 283) about 1 hr.; rail from Gossäter by (2 Kil.) Forshem to Moholm, see p. 287; by Skara to Golenburg, see p. 288.

In 2 hrs. from Hellekis the STEAMER reaches Mariestad (Stads-Hot.; Hot. Lindblom), seat of the Landshöfding of Skaraborgs-Län, a town of 4200 inhab., founded by Charles IX. at the mouth of the Tida about 1600, and named in honour of his queen, a princess of the Palatinate. It was rebuilt after a great fire in 1895. (Station on the line from Gossäter by Forshem to Moholm, p. 287.)

Passing the island of Thorsö, we steam in $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr. more to Sjötorp (Hot.), where the W. branch of the Göta Canal begins.

The depression of the earth's surface in S. Sweden, between the Skager-Rack and the Baltic, of which the great lakes form a relic, naturally suggested the idea of connecting the two seas by a canal. The proposal was first made by Bishop Brask of Linköping (1516), and afterwards by Gustavus Vasa and Charles IX. The work was at length begun by the engineers Svedenborg and Polhem under Charles XII. (1716), and continued by Wiman (1753). They tried to construct locks to pass the Trollhatta Falls (comp. p. 295), but a dam they had built to protect their works was destroyed by floating timber in 1755. Nothing more was done till 1793, when a company was formed to construct the 'old locks' of Trollhatta (p. 284). The E. branch of the canal is chiefly due to Daniel Thunberg and Baron von Platen. The latter (d. 1829) set on foot the Göta Canal Company (1810), and lived to see the greater part of the work completed. The engineer was Thomas Telford, a Scot. The whole route from Göteborg to Mem on the Baltic (385 Kil.; canal 89 Kil. only, 10 ft. deep) was opened in 1832. There are 58 locks in all, five being used for regulating the water in the canal. About 5000 vessels pass through the canal annually.

From Lake Venern to Lake Viken the canal mounts 154 ft. more by means of twenty locks (9 near Sjötorp, 2 on the way to Norrqvarn, 9 at Hajstorp). To Töreboda the steamer takes $5\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.; the canal is crossed here by the Göteborg and Stockholm Railway (p. 290). Near Vassbacken is the estate of Fimmersta on the right. Farther on, a memorial stone to the right marks the highest point of the Göta Canal (300 ft. above the sea). We steam at the same level to Lake Viken ($17\frac{3}{4}$ sq. M.; 82 ft. deep), and enter it through a lock. In the distance, at the S. end of the lake, lies the manor of Ryholm. At stat. Forsvik a lock leads into the Bottensjö, S.W. of which rises the fortified Vaberg. Rödesund (Kanal-Hot.), 1 hr. from Forsvik, beautifully situated on a peninsula in Lake Vettern, is the station for the fortress of Karlsborg (Hotel), the terminus of the branch-line to Sköfde (p. 290). The voyage across the lake to Vadstena or to Motala takes 2 hrs. (see pp. 294, 295).

45. From Göteborg to Katrineholm (and Stockholm).

458 Kil. to Stockholm: Express in 10-11 hrs.; the slow trains take two days. — Those who wish to see Lake Vettern go by rail from Falköping to Jönköping, and by steamer thence to Motala (p. 295).

Göteborg, see p. 278. To Oluskroken, where few trains stop, see p. 283. The line turns to the right into the valley of the Säfsveå and crosses the stream several times. 15 Kil. Jonsered, prettily situated on the Aspen-Sjö, with cotton-factories; 27 Kil. Floda, at the W. end of the Flodasjö, near the old hunting-lodge of Nääs, now a school of handicrafts (Slöjdlärare-Seminariet). Farther on, an embankment; then a long cutting through the Krösekulle.

46 Kil. Alingsås (210 ft.; Stads-Hot.), with 4130 inhab. and large weaving-factories, prettily situated near the influx of the Säfsveå into Lake Mjörn, was founded in 1611 by refugees from Lödöse, which the Danes had destroyed.

The train crosses the river several times. 60 Kil. Lagmansholm. Then dreary moors (Svältor, 'famine-lands').

80 Kil. Herrljunga (381 ft.; Rail. Rest.*; Herrljunga Hot., 5 min. from stat., good), junction of branch-lines N.W. to Venersborg and Uddevalla (pp. 285, 104), and S., by Borås, to Varberg (p. 277).

101 Kil. Sörby. The highest point on the line is Markakyrka (738 ft.).

114 Kil. Falköping-Ranten (706 ft.; Rail. Rest.*, B. or S. $1\frac{1}{4}$ kr.; Ranten's Hot., at the station, good) is the junction for Jönköping and Nassjö (R. 46), and for Landeryd (p. 276). Falköping, with 4060 inhab., lies 1 Kil. to the S., and is itself a station on the other two lines only. Near Ranten, 1 Kil. N., rises the plateau of the Mösseberg ('cap hill'; 1070 ft.), with a sanatorium on its slope. This hill and the Älleberg resemble the Kinnekulle (p. 287) in formation. Tower at the top (50 f.).

129 Kil. Stenstorp, junction of two branch-lines.

FROM STENSTORP TO HJO, 39 Kil., express in $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr. — 10 Kil. Svensbro, branch to Tidåholm, with the largest match-factory in Europe, Vartofta (p. 293), and Åsarp (p. 276; 48 Kil.). — Hjo (Stads-Källare; Hot. Royal; pop 2020) lies on Lake Vättern, in a district known as Guldkroken ('golden corner'). Steamboats to Grenna, Motala, and Hastholmen (comp p. 293).

FROM STENSTORP TO LIDKÖPING, 50 Kil., railway in $2\frac{1}{2}$ 3 hrs. — The train crosses the Brunnensberg, between the Hornborgasjö (394 ft.) and the Bilking. 20 Kil. Axvall, with a large drilling-ground. Branch-line by (5 Kil.) Värnhem, with an interesting old Cistercian church of 1250, containing tombs of the Counts de la Gardie of the 17th cent., to Skofde (see below; 21 Kil.).

28 Kil. Skara (Stads-Hot.; pop 5200) was once a famous episcopal town with six churches. The Gothic Cathedral*, consecrated by Bishop Ödgrim in 1151, and restored in 1836-94, contains the marble sarcophagus of Erik Scop, the cavalry officer who saved the life of Gustavus Adolphus at the battle of Stuhm (in W. Prussia) in 1629 — Skara is also a station on the line from Gossäter to Göteneburg (comp p. 283).

50 Kil. Lidköping, see p. 287.

139 Kil. Skultorp. Skilfully engineered line. Fine view to the E.

145 Kil. Sköfde (459 ft.; Hot. Billingen, good), an old town with 6040 inhab., at the foot of the Billingen. Branch-lines to Karlsborg (44 Kil.; 1-2 hrs.; p. 289) and to Axvall (see above).

167 Kil. Tidan. To the left, a view of Lake Östen and the fertile plain of Vadsbo. 171 Kil. Moholm, junction of a branch by Mariestad and Forshem to Gössäter (see p. 287).

At (184 Kil.) Töreboda we cross the Göta Canal (p. 288). The wooded Tiveden was the scene in the 12th cent. of the conflicts between the rival kings Sverker and Erik Jedvardsson (p. xlv). 198 Kil. Elgarås; 215 Kil. Finnerödja. To the left, the Skagern-Sjö (227 ft.). Then, on the right, the lake and village of Bodarne.

259 Kil. Hallsberg (174 ft.; Jernvägs-Hot.; Rail. Rest.*), junction of the Mjölby and Örebro line (see p. 298).

We soon obtain a fine view of the plain of Nerike. 272 Kil. Pålsboda, junction of a branch-line to Norrköping and Örebro (p. 301); 284 Kil. Kilsmo, on the N. bank of Lake Sottern; 303 Kil. Vingåker, centre of the district of that name. On the left lies the estate of Säfstaholm. We pass lakes Viren, Kolsnar, Näsna, and the château of Sjöholm. 316 Kil. Baggetorp.

324 Kil. Katrineholm (151 ft.; Jernvägs-Hot., with restaurant), is the junction for Norrköping and Malmö (RR. 48, 40). Long halt. Near it are the estates of Stora Djulö and Claestorp, with marble-works, which have an exhibition at Katrineholm. Thence to (134 Kil. more) —

458 Kil. Stockholm, see pp. 301, 302.

46. From Nässjö to Jönköping and Falköping.

112 Kil. SÖDRA STAMBANA Express in 2½-3 hrs. — Views to the right.

Nässjö, see p. 267. — 16 Kil. Forserum; 27 Kil. Tenhult (728 ft.). We now descend to Lake Vettern, 583 ft. below, enjoying a series of beautiful views. To the right we see Husqvarna (p. 292), and far off the Visingsö in Lake Vettern. A little beyond Husqvarna, still 200 ft. above the lake, the train turns to the left, descends, and then skirts the lake.

43 Kil. Jönköping. — The STATE STATION (Pl. C, D, 1) is by the harbour; a second station (Pl. E, 1), E. of the town, is for the line to Husqvarna and Vireda; a third (Pl. C, 2), on the Munksjö, is for Vaggeryd and Halmstad (p. 276).

*STORA HOTEL (Pl. a; D, 1), Ostra Storgatan 1, E. of the State Station, with baths and garden, R. 2-5, B. 1¼, D. (1-5 p.m.) or S. (8-12) 1½ kr. — JERNVÄGS-HOT. (Pl. b; C, 1), by the main station, plain. — Theatre Rest. (Pl. S; D, 1), good.

TRAMWAY from the E. end, by the Storgata, W. to the Stads-Park (10 o.).

POST-OFFICE (Pl. 7, D, 1), Hofratts-Torg. TELEGRAPH, Ostra Storgata 9 (Pl. D, 1).

STEAMBOATS on Lake Vettern, see p. 293.

Jönköping (299 ft.), one of the oldest towns in Sweden, repeatedly burned down, but rebuilt since 1835, has 23,800 inhab. and important factories, and is the capital of a province and seat of an appeal-court ('Göta Hofrätt'). It lies at the S. end of Lake Vettern, between it and the smaller lakes Munksjö and Rocksjö. Large suburbs have been built since 1875, E. and W. of the older quarters. The cheerful town, the vast expanse of Lake Vettern, connected with the Munksjö by a canal, the canal-steamers, and the hills to the S., all combine to form a beautiful picture.

Close to the State Railway Station (Pl. C, D, 1), begins the Skol-Park, which extends S.E. to the Munksjö, containing a bust of Rydberg, the poet (p. 1viii), and a fountain by Molin. To the W. is the Almänna Läroverk (Pl. 2), or grammar-school; to the S. the Landshöfdings-Residens (Pl. 1), or house of the provincial governor. The cross-streets lead to the Sophia-Kyrka (Pl. 4), designed by Zettervall (1888). To the N. of it, nearly opposite, at Fabriks-Gata 5, is the small museum of the Norra Smålands Fornminnes-Förening (antiquarian society).

To the W. of the station, on the bank of Lake Vettern, is the great Match Factory (Pl. C, 1; no adm.), founded in 1845, which attained world-wide fame after the invention of the safety-match ('tändstickor utan svafvel och fosfor') by its then owner, J. E. Lundström (1853). It was bought by a company in 1857 and now employs 800 hands. — The Vestra Tändsticks-Fabrik (Pl. B, 1, 2), another match-factory in the W. suburb, employs 700 hands.

In the older part of the town, in the Hofrätts-Torg, are the Hofrätt Building (Pl. 6; 17th cent.) and the Rådhus (Pl. 9). — N. of the Torg is the Christina-Kyrka (Pl. 5), built in 1649-73. A pleasant promenade skirts the lake on the other side of the railway-line.

To the W. of the town (tram 10 o., carr. 1 kr.) is the interesting Stads-Park (Pl. B, 2, 1; good café-rest.), containing several old buildings transferred hither: thus N. the belfry of Solberga, overlooking the town and the sea; the church of Bäckaby, 15th cent.

The Vaggeryd and Halmstad Railway (p. 276; stat., see p. 291) ascends the valley of the Tabergsån, past the iron works of Norrahammar, to (13 Kil.; ½-1 hr.) Småland's Taberg (673 ft.), whence we may ascend (25 min.) the black and barren 'Taberg (1125 ft.), a hill consisting almost wholly of magnetic iron ore (unprofitable to work), and affording an extensive view of the forests of Småland. To reach the top (marked by a memorial of the visit of Oscar II.) we follow the railway back for a few yards, pass under it, cross the Tabergsån, and ascend to the left.

An excursion to the waterfalls of Husqvarna takes half-a-day: Gripenbergs-Bana, see below; or by carr., there and back 5 kr., with stay of 2 hrs. — Rail and road (8 Kil.) both pass the massage sanatoria of Sanna; that of Mr Kellgren is specially noted (in London in winter). Husqvarna (364 ft.; plain café at the station) owes its origin to the weapon and machine factory, which utilizes the power of the waterfalls, and now chiefly makes rifles, sewing-machines, and bicycles. The town, with 4800 inhab., consists mainly of workmen's houses. The waterfalls are 360 ft. in height, but spread over a considerable distance. To the S. of the station a notice shows the way 'till Vattenfallen'. The path passes behind the factory, crosses (7 min.) a wooden bridge (the 'great fall' being above, on the left), and ascends on the left bank of the falls, by the wooden conduit ('Tubledning'), to the art-foundry of Ebbesbruk and (5 min higher) the upper fall. We return to the Ebbesbruk, cross the stream, and ascend a steep path in steps to the top of the hill, whence a road with fine views descends in ¼ hr. to the station. — If trains do not suit, we may walk to Rosendala (see below).

FROM JÖNKÖPING TO VIREDA, 45 Kil., by the Gripenbergsbana (station, p. 291) in 2-3 hrs. The train crosses the Husqvarnaån 5 Kil. Rosendala. Beyond (7 Kil.) Husqvarna (see above) it turns back and slowly ascends the slope of the abrupt Brantås, above the road and the E. bank of Lake Vettern. The view improves as we ascend, 11 Kil. Gisebo, 13 Kil. Vistakulle (475 ft.; decent café by the stat.); finger-posts indicate the way from the station to (¼ hr.) the top of the 'Kulle' (784 ft.; extensive view). The train then skirts the E. bank of the Landsjö, 26 Kil. Broty-mark. Then through the Ingarydsdal to (31 Kil.) Bunn, on the lake of that name, with its islands, and (43 Kil.) Vireda.

Beyond Jönköping the train skirts Lake Vettern, of which it affords a fine view, and ascends a long way. 54 Kil. Bankeryd (387 ft.), with pretty villas. To the left rises the Dommeberg; to the right, far off, lies the Visingsö (p. 293). From (62 Kil.) Habo (387 ft.) we may walk or take skjuts to (5 Kil.) Habo-Kyrka, an old timber church, altered in 1723, with painted interior. The top of the Dommeberg is 3 kil. farther. — Scenery featureless. Beyond (75 Kil.) Multsjö (755 ft.) we cross Lake Stråken. 101 Kil. Vartofta (945 ft.), junction for Åsarp and Svensbro (p. 290).

111 Kil. Falköping-Stad; 112 Kil. Falköping-Ranten, junction of the Sodra and the Vestra Stambana (R. 45).

47. From Jönköping to Stockholm by Lake Vettern and the E. Göta Canal.

CANAL STEAMBOAT (Kom. 321) from Jönköping to Stockholm, by Grenna and Hästholmen (or by Hjo and Vadstena), Motala, Norsholm, Söderköping, and Södertelge, three times weekly, in 36 hrs., starting late in the evening (fare 16 or 11 kr.), to Norsholm 15 hrs. (9 or 7 kr.). Travellers going on by rail (p. 294) from Berg or Norsholm cannot depend on trains to suit the boats.

To see Lake Vettern we may take the MOTALA EXPRESS steamer (Kom. 553; restaur.) which plies daily to Visingsö and Grenna, and then twice a week to Hjo and Motala and once a week to Ijo only. The finest points are the Visingsö and the Omberg, at each of which a night has to be spent. Between Hjo and Hästholmen a local steamer ('Trafiken'; 1½ hr.) runs once or twice daily, so that the traveller is not tied to the 'Express' for getting to Hästholmen. Those who remain on board the Express all the way to Motala may go by train thence to stat. Alvastra (p. 294).

Lake Vettern (289 ft.; area 733 sq. M., 128 Kil. long; greatest width 30 Kil., S. part 260-300 ft., N. part 65-100 ft. deep), the most beautiful of the great lakes of S. Sweden, is a vast, sharply defined chasm in the gneiss rock, running NNE. and SSW., parallel with the Kalmarsund (p. 269). Remains of sandstone and clay strata are preserved in the island of Visingsö and in a few upright slabs of sandstone on the Omberg and at Husqvarna. The water is exquisitely clear, bright objects being visible at a depth of 100 ft. The flatter N. half of the lake is imbedded in a great stratum of limestone and slate, running E. and W., the depression in which is followed by the Motalaström, the only effluent of the lake. The W. Göta Canal descends to the lake at Karlsborg (p. 289); the E. Canal ascends from Motala (p. 295).

About 1½-2 hrs. from Jönköping the steamer 'Motala Express' reaches the Visingsö, an island 13 Kil. long and 3 Kil. broad, once the property of the powerful Counts Brahe, now a royal domain (since 1683). At the landing-place on the E. side of the island are a good Tourists' Hotel and the luxuriantly overgrown ruins of the Visingsborg (built in 1650-52 by the splendour-loving Count Per Brahe, great-grandson of the sister of Gustavus Vasa; burned down in 1718). Farther up is the Brahe-Kyrka, built in 1636 (open Tues., Wed., Thurs., 2-3 p.m., fee; at other times send for the sacristan). It contains the tombs of Per Brahe (d. 1680) and his wife, an ancient ivory crucifix, a silver candelabrum, and other works of art. The middle of the island is planted with oaks and firs; two-thirds are farmed (pop. 4200). In the N. part is the ancient Kumla-Kyrka. The large pheasantry of Baron Dickson is private.

Opposite the Visingsö, on the E bank ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr. by steamer), $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. above the pier, lies the pretty little town of —

Grenna (Hotel Brahe, R. 2, B. 1 kr., very fair; pop. 1140). founded by Count Per Brahe in 1652, at the foot of the steep Grennaberg (ascended in $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. from the church; view from the pavilion at the top). Excursions (each $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. there and back): N. by the high-road, past the estate of Vretaholm and the village of Uppgrena, and up a path to the right to the ruined castle of Brahehus (view); also S. to the picturesque Röttle Mill (4 Kil.).

From Grenna the 'Motala Express' plies three times a week (comp. p. 298) in $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. to the port of — Hästholmen (Jernvägs-Hot., plain), whence the Omberg, 3 Kil. N., is best visited. At the quay are usually carriages for the drive (20 min.; $1\frac{1}{2}$ kr.) to Ombergs-Turist-Hotel at the foot of the hill (R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ -2, D. 2, S. $1\frac{1}{4}$ kr., good).

The Omberg, a hill 10 Kil. long from N. to S., and 3 Kil. broad from E. to W., consists of gneiss with isolated masses of clay-slate and sandstone. It rises in most parts abruptly from Lake Vettern, where the cleavage is noticeable; on the E. side it is wooded and furrowed with valleys. It forms the N. limit, in inland Sweden, of the red beech (fagus sylvatica), which on the Kattegat occurs as far as $58^{\circ} 30'$ N. The forest is crown-property ('kronopark') and admirably kept. — By the hotel is the ruin of Alvastra*, once a Cistercian monastery, founded in the middle of the 12th cent. by King Sverker. The church had nave and aisles, transept, and square apse. At the back of the hotel a finger-post shows the way to the Hjessan ('crown'; 863 ft.), the highest point of the Omberg, ascended in $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. by a somewhat marshy path. Belvedere (10 d., rfmts.) at the top. We may descend by Höje to stat. Omberg on the railway mentioned below ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr.).

Hastholmen and Alvastra are stations on the narrow-gauge RAILWAY FROM ODESHÖG TO LÖNNINGE (81 Kil.; about 5 hrs.), which skirts the E. side of the Omberg — 6 Kil. Hästholmen; 8 Kil. Alvastra, $\frac{1}{2}$ Kil. N.E. of the ruin and the hotel mentioned above (carr. usually await trains); 11 Kil. Omberg (see above); 14 Kil. Västersunda; 18 Kil. Borghamn; 32 Kil. Vadstena, see below; 42 Kil. Fogelsta, junction of the line from Mjölby to Motala and Hallsberg (p. 298); 48 Kil. Hvarf; 71 Kil. Vreta Kloster (p. 298); 81 Kil. Lönninge (p. 298).

The Motala Express next steers past the fissured W. cliffs of the Omberg and the mouth of the Rödgafröls-Grotta. (This cave, 33 ft. long and 25-28 ft. high, may be visited by boat from Hästholmen; thence on foot up the Hjessan, $\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) The steamer calls at Borghamn, at the N. end of the Omberg, and steers round the bluffs of Nässja and Kamudden to ($1\frac{3}{4}$ hr.) the little town, lying picturesquely in a deep bay, of —

Vadstena (Stads-Höt. Bellevue, in the Rådhusorg), also a station on the narrow-gauge railway mentioned above. The town, with 2360 inhab., which owes its origin to a convent of St. Birgitta (p. xlviii), consecrated in 1383, and suppressed in 1595, has long been famed for its lace. By the harbour, near the station, is the Castle of Vadstena*, known as the Vettersborg, built by Gustavus Vasa in the 16th cent., an excellent example of a fortress of that period. It now contains the provincial archives. The vaktmästare (in the court, fee) shows the finely-vaulted chapel. From the gardens, E. of the castle, we cross the Rådhus-Torg (with the Rådhus of 1578), and the Stor-Torg, to the Almännas Läroverk (grammar-school), built against the tower of an old brick church ('red church', 15th cent.), and go on thence N., across the churchyard, to the Kloster-Kyrka*. The sacristan ('klockäre') lives at the entrance to the churchyard, on the right. This church, erected in 1395-1424, called the Blåkyrka from the colour of the limestone, and recently well restored, is 740 yds. long, 34½ yds. broad, and 51 ft. high. It contains a monument to Duke Magnus, son of Gustavus Vasa, by the first column near the S.E. entrance, and also, by the wall to the right of the altar, a reliquary with the remains of St. Bridget and her daughter St. Katarina. A peculiarity of the church is that the choir is at the W. end. The convent itself is now used as a lunatic asylum.

In another hour the steamer reaches —

Motala (Hot. Nilson, very fair; Grand Hot., by the stat.; Restaur. in the Stadshus, good), a town with 2950 inhab. (station on the Mjölby and Hallsberg Railway, p. 298), on the Värwik, at the efflux of the rapid Motalaström from Lake Vettern. The E. Göta Canal (Östgöta Linie) begins here, its level being regulated by a lock. A footpath runs on each side of the canal. On the left bank we pass the handsome bath-house of Motala, and then the railway swing-bridge and Platen's Tomb (p. 289), and reach (¾ hr.) the great iron-works of Motala Verkstad (founded in 1822; employing 1200 hands), to which steam-launches also ply. On the right bank, opposite Platen's Tomb, is the monument of the engineer O. E. Carl-sund (d. 1884). Farther on are the mill and electric works of Holms-Bruk and the estate of Charlottenborg.

To the N (18 Kil.) are the chalybeate springs of Medevi, where the Askersund steamer calls (Kom 549; p. 297).

From Motala to Stockholm by the E. Göta Canal.

STEAMER (Kom. 320, 324) eight times weekly in 23-27 hrs. (fare 12½ kr. with 'hytt' or private cabin; 10 kr. with berth in saloon). Food, see p. 286. The 'E. Göta Line' is the finest part of the canal, especially as far as Berg or Norsholm, whence we may go on by train; but as the trains rarely suit, it is preferable to remain on board all the way to Stockholm. In this case the traveller will be rewarded in fine summer weather by the charming scenery from Söderköping onwards, even when traversed at night.

From Motala (level of the lake 289 ft.), passing Motala Verkstad, the steamer runs in ½ hr. to the five Locks of Borenskhult, through which it descends to Lake Boren, 49 ft. lower, in ½ hr. more, giving time for the pleasant walk from Motala to Borenskhult. By the locks is a 'Vatten-Paviljong' (rfmths.), with a fine view of the Borensjö (240 ft.), 11 Kil. long, the water of which is at first beautifully clear. Steaming down this lake, we pass the estate of Ulfåsa on the S. bank. At the E. end, 2 hrs. from Motala, we reach Borensberg-Husbyfjöl, where the finest part of the voyage begins. The Motalastrom flows on the left. From the canal, which meanders at a high level, we overlook a rich and smiling landscape, with the estates of Brunneby, Ljung, and others. The steamer glides along at half-speed to avoid damaging the banks with its wash. The water grows turbid.

In 3-4 hrs. more we reach Berg, an inn near which the steamer has to descend through the locks (4 pairs, and then 7) to Lake Roxen. As the descent takes nearly 2 hrs. we have time to visit the Vretu Klosterskyrka, to the S.E., once the church of a Cistercian convent of the 13th cent., with numerous tombs (adm. 50 ö.). The route to it skirts the canal to (7 min.) Brunneby, then follows the high-road for 12-15 min. more. The station of Vreta Kloster (p. 294) lies $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. S.W.

The Roxensjö (108 ft.), 27 Kil. long and 10 Kil. wide, has pretty banks. On the N. side is the ruin of Stjernorp, once a castle of the Douglas family. To the S., far off, are visible the towers of the cathedral of Linköping. We now steam at full speed. In $3\frac{1}{2}$ -4 hrs. from Berg we come to —

Norsholm (118 ft.; Hot. Göta), at the E. end of Lake Roxen, a station of the Vestervik railway (p. 299) and of the Södra Stambana, by which, if train suits, we may continue our journey. The Motala and the Göta Canal issue from Lake Roxen here, the former descending N. to Lake Glan (p. 300).

We next steer down the lake of Asplången (89 ft.), 5 Kil. long, to the lock at Klämman ('gorge'), where the canal is flanked with rocks. At Vänneberga, farther on, the canal runs at a high level, affording an extensive view. We next descend the nine locks of Karlsborg and Mariehof, and, $4\frac{1}{2}$ -5 hrs. from Norsholm, reach the old town of Söderköping (Stads-Hot., Bad-Hot.; pop. 2080), a station on the Norrköping and Valdemarsvik line (p. 300), which the canal crosses. Near it is St. Ragnhild's Källa, with a hydro-pathic. The scenery improves. To the N. rises the Ramundershäll.

At Mem the canal descends its last lock to the Slätbaken, a bay of the Baltic running 15 Kil. inland. To the right is Count Schwerin's estate of Husby; to the left that of Ring. Then, on the right, is seen the tower of the Stegeborg, a fortress of the time of Vasa, but a ruin since the end of the 17th cent., now belonging to the Schwerin estate. Adjacent is the church of Skällvik. The vessel now steers through the narrow Ettersund to the island-belt bordering the coast. Farther on, we see the mansion of Gottenvik, far away on the mainland, to the left. The steamer sometimes calls at Arkösund (p. 300), a little sea-bathing place on the left, and then steers through the strait between the mainland and the Arko, which otherwise is passed on the other side. We now enter the open Baltic, pass the mouth of the Bråvik (up which lies Norrköping, see p. 300), and, 5 hrs. from Söderköping, touch at —

Oxelösund (Bad-Hot.), a harbour for the export of iron-ore, and terminus of the line to (13 Kil.) Nyköping (Stora Hot.; pop. 8580). Nyköping, the capital of Södermanland (p. 301), with several churches and the ruin of Nyköpingshus, was the scene of fifteen diets in the 13th-17th cent. Through it flows the Nyköpingsån, which drives woollen and other factories, near the Byfjärd, a bay of the Baltic.

Railway from Nyköping to Flen, see p. 301. Steamer twice a week through the Södertelje Canal (see below; Kom. 253), and once a week by Norrköping (p. 300; Kom. 251) to Stockholm: six times a week to Nynäshamn (p. 342; Kom. 255).

Beyond Oxelösund the steamer usually passes through a belt of monotonous islets. It then steers N. into the long, narrow Himmerfjärd, separated from the Järnafjärd by the large Mörkö. To the W., on the mainland, is Trosa, a small port and watering-place, N. of which is the old, now royal castle of Tullgarn. At the N. end of the Mörkö rises the proud chateau of Hirningsholm. We next steer through the Brandals-Sund into the Hallsfjärd, the N. prolongation of the Järnafjärd, and thence to the short Södertelje Canal, completed in 1819, which crosses the W. Stambana. It connects the Järnafjärd with the Södertelje bay of Lake Mälär, saving the steamboat a long round. At Södertelje (p. 301), 5½-6 hrs. from Oxelösund, the vessel mounts by a lock to the Mälär. It then steers S.E. (comp. p. 344), and in 2-3 hrs. reaches Stockholm, which presents a striking picture as we approach. The quay is on the Riddarholm (p. 304; Pl. D, 7).

48. From Nässjö to Stockholm.

350 Kil. SÖDRA STAMBANA to Katrineholm; VESTRA STAMBANA to Stockholm. Express in 7-9 hrs.: sleeping and dining-cars, see p. 263.

Nässjö, see p. 267. — The scenery as far as Boxholm retains the Småland character. Between Gripenberg and Sommen lies Holaveden, a hill and forest region between Småland and Östergötland. The fertile plain around Skeninge, Vadstena, and Linköping, contains the oldest towns in Sweden, many châteaux, and large factories.

24 Kil. Aneby (692 ft.), on the lake of that name. The train follows the course of the Svartå, which forms a series of lakes. 36 Kil. Frinnaryd, on Lake Rälängen (532 ft.), with its 'floating island', visible in dry summers only, 42 Kil. Gripenberg, with the large estate of that name (right). 52 Kil. Tranås (515 ft., Jernvågs-Hot.; Bad-Hot.; pop. 2070), with a hydropathic. 64 Kil. Sommen, on the large lake of that name (476 ft.), on which a steamer plies. The train crosses the Svartå, which has several falls, the boundary between Småland and Östergötland. 73 Kil. Boxholm (466 ft.), with iron-works. 78 Kil. Strålsnäs. The train descends, passing several large estates.

89 Kil. Mjölby (381 ft.; Jernvägs-Hot., good), with large mills.

FROM MJÖLBY BY MOTALA AND HALLSBERG TO ÖREBRO, 121 Kil., railway in 3½-6 hrs. — 9 Kil. Skeninge (Stads-Hot.; pop. 1320), once an important place; 16 Kil. Fogelsta, junction of the narrow-gauge line from Ödeshög to Linköping (p. 294). 27 Kil. Motala (p. 295), where the Göta Canal is crossed; 28 Kil. Motala Verkstad (p. 295); 54 Kil. Godegård. From (79 Kil.) Lerback a branch runs in 50 min. to (14 Kil.) Åsersund (Stads-Hot.; pop. 1940), at the N. end of Lake Vettern (steamer to Motala, p. 295). — 96 Kil. Hallsberg, a station on the Vestra Stambana (p. 290); 112 Kil. Mosås on the Mosjö, with an old church, 116 Kil. Adolfsberg (p. 361); 120 Kil. Örebro Södra, where the lines from Svartå (p. 361) and Norrköping (p. 300) converge. 121 Kil. Örebro (p. 361). — The line then goes on by Ervalla to Frövå, where it joins the line to Krylbo (p. 361; through-trains daily to Storlien and Trondhem).

109 Kil. Bankeberg, near the agricultural school of Haddorp. Fertile country, with many churches.

121 Kil. Linköping. — 'STORA HOTEL (Pl. a), Stor-Torg, R. 1½-3, D. 2 kr.; GRAND HOTEL (Pl. b), St. Lars-Gatan; JERNVÄGS-HOT (Pl. c) and CENTRAL HOT. (Pl. d), by the station.

CARRIAGES to Johansen's. To the Vreta Convent (p. 306), 12 Kil.

STEAMBOATS to the Kinda Canal (p. 299) twice a week (Kom. 482); to Stockholm by the Roxensjö, and through the Göta and Soderateljé canals also twice a week (Kom. 318; 19-20 hrs.); comp. pp. 296, 297.

RAILWAYS to Oscarshamn, see p. 271; narrow-gauge to Lake Vettern (Vadstena, Alvastra, Ödeshög), see p. 234.

Linköping (131 ft.; pop. 16,650), the capital of Östergötland and seat of a bishop, lies on the W. bank of the Stångå, the affluent of Lake Roxen (p. 296), which river is connected with the S. lakes by the Kinda Canal (p. 299). In 1598 Sigismund, the Rom. Cath. son of John III and king of Poland, was defeated by the Prot. Duke Charles of Sodermanland (Charles IX.) at the Stänge-Bro, and his adherents were executed at Linköping in 1600 (the 'Linköping Blood Bath').

We follow the avenue straight from the station, then go to the left, by the St. Lars-Gata, to the St. Lars-Kyrka, which contains several paintings by Per Hörberg (1746-1816), a self-taught artist of the peasant-class. Opposite are the Post Office and the Bank (Pl. 4). — At the W. end of the town is the —

*DOMKYRKA ('vaktmästare' opp. N.E. portal, Biskops-Gatan 45; illustrated guide 1 kr.), begun in 1150 in the Romanesque style (N. portal), completed at the end of the 15th cent. in the Gothic style (with late-Gothic choir), and judiciously restored by Zettervall in 1871-82. The W. tower, 345 ft. high, was completed in 1886. The interior is 106 yds. long, 30 yds. wide, and 54 ft. high. The vaulting is borne by ten handsome pillars on each side. The old Altar-piece, by Heemskerck (d. 1574), a Dutch master, purchased by John III. in 1581 for 1200 measures of wheat, is now on the S. wall, to the right of the altar. Its place is occupied by a colossal figure of Christ, with Faith, Hope, and Charity, in plaster, by Byström. The marble sarcophagus of Bishop Terserus (d. 1678), by a column on the right, is modern. Reliefs of the 14th cent. (life of Christ) are built into the wall behind the altar. The marble sarcophagus and recumbent figure of Bishop Terserus (d. 1678) are modern. Verger ('våktmästare'), see p. 298.

In the Kungsträdgård rises the Castle, built before 1500 and lately restored, now the residence of the 'Landshöfding' (Läns-Residens). Opposite to the cathedral-tower, to the S., is the Högra Allmänna Läroverk, or grammar-school, facing the Jerntorg to the S., where a circle of stones in the pavement marks the scene of the 'blood-bath' (see p. 298).

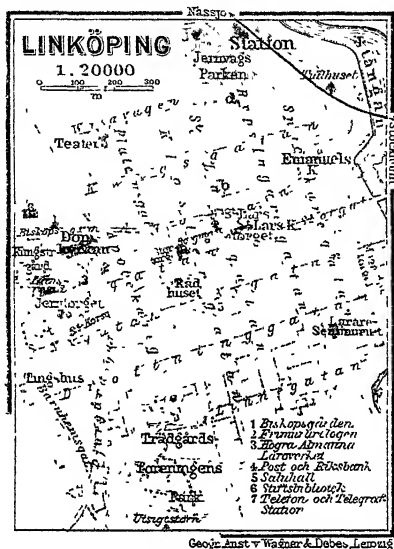

To the N. of the cathedral-tower is the Bishop's Residence; to the left of it is the Library (rare books, MSS., coins, antiquities; Mond. and Thursd., 11-12). — Pleasant walks in the park of the Trädgårdsförening (with restaur. and belvedere), to the S. of the town.

The Kinda Canal (steamer, p. 298), 80 Kil. long, connects Linköping with the higher lying lakes to the S.: Erlängen (184 ft.), on the bank of which lies the large estate of Sturefors (p. 271); Rengen (277 ft.), with the estates of Byårila-Säby and Brokind; then Jernlunden (282 ft.); lastly Åsunden (282 ft.), on which lies Horn, the last steamboat-station. All these lakes are basins of the Stångå; the ascent is effected by fifteen locks. Pretty scenery.

Beyond Linköping the train crosses the Stångå by a bridge 200 yds. long. A large monument recalls the battle of the Stångebro (p. 298). Fertile country, with several churches. 139 Kil. Gistad. We cross the Göta Canal by an ingenious swing-bridge. Fine view of Lake Roxen to the left.

145 Kil. Norsholm, a station on the Göta Canal (p. 296).

FROM NORSHOLM TO VESTERVIK, 118 Kil., railway in 4½ hrs. — 13 Kil. Rångstorp; 17 Kil. Höfveraby; 33 Kil. Bersbo, with a valuable copper-mine,

Geogr. Anst. v. Wagner & Debes, Leipzig

1350 ft. deep. 42 Kil. Åtvidaberg (Hotel), junction of a branch-line to the Mormorsgrufva copper-mine and Bjärka (p. 271; 19 Kil.). — We next traverse the pretty district of Tjust. 58 Kil. Fälerum (fine view from the station); 71 Kil. Storsjö (fine view of the lake); 82 Kil. Öfverum, with the foundry of an English company; 94 Kil. Gamleby, on a bay of the Baltic of that name, which extends to Vestervik; 114 Kil. Jenny, where our line is joined by that from Hultsfred (p. 271). — 118 Kil. Vestervik (Stads-hus; pop. 9160), an old town, with ship-building yards, was repeatedly destroyed in the wars between the Danes and Swedes. To the N. is the ruined castle of Stakeholm. From Vestervik to Hultsfred, see p. 271. — From Vestervik to Visby in the island of Gotland about 100 Kil. (steamer).

The S. Stambana follows the E. bank of the Motalaström to (149 Kil.) Kinstad (p. 301) and then turns to the N.E. to (154 Kil.) Okna on Lake Glan (69 ft.). 159 Kil. Eksund. We then cross the effluent of the Glansjö, and the river resumes the name of Motalaström. 162 Kil. Fiskeby.

168 Kil. Norrköping. — The station of the Stambana is the Norra Station, to the N. of the town. The Östra Station, to the E. of the quarter on the right bank, is the starting-point of the narrow-gauge lines to Örebro (p. 301), to Kummelby and Årkösund (p. 296), and to Söderköping and Valdemarsvik on the Baltic.

*STANDARD HOTEL, of the first class, R. from 2½-4, D. 2, S. ('Sexor') 2½ kr.; GÖTA HOT., similar; STORA HOT., R. from 1¾ kr.; all three in the Karl-Johans-Torg; CENTRAL HOT., Vattengrand, W. of Karl Johans-Park, near the rail. station, with café and garden, R. 1¾-5, B. ¾, D. 1½-2 kr.

PLEASURE RESORTS: The island of Strömsholmen (see below); the Kneipp-Bad, 1 Kil. above the town, on the right bank of the Motalaström, both with restaurants and frequent concerts.

CABS. Drive 60 ö. to 1 kr. — TRAMWAY from the station through the main streets, and from the quarter on the right bank W. to the Kneipp-Bad (see above).

POST and TELEGRAPH-OFFICE, Karl-Johans-Park — STEAMERS to Nyköping (p. 297), Kalmar (p. 269), Visby (p. 355), Stettin, etc.

Norrköping, a busy trading and industrial town with 45,530 inhab., owes its importance to its site at the head of the long Bråvik, and near the mouth of the Motalaström, which flows through the town and drives numerous factories (cloth, yarn, cotton, etc.). Though of ancient origin, the town has quite a modern appearance, having been rebuilt after frequent fires.

In front of the station (Norra Station) runs a promenade which bounds the town on the N., and ends to the W. at a height on which rises the Gothic Matteus-Kyrka (1892). To the S. the promenade leads to the KARL-JOHANS-PARK, with a Statue of Charles XIV. John (Bernadotte), by Schwanthaler (1846). The short cross-street to the W. leads to the new Theatre. By the post-office, at the S.E. angle of the park, the Oskar-Fredriks-Bro spans the Motalaström in three arches. To the left are the quays of the deep-sea steamers and the island of Strömsholmen (see above). The greater part of the town lies on the right bank. From the bridge, straight on, we follow the DROTTNING-GATA, the main street, across the Tyska-Torg, with the Hedvigs or Tyska-Kyrka, to the KNÄPPINGS-GATA, the fourth cross-street. In the grounds to the left rises the St. Olaikyrka, built in 1767, and recently restored, with its isolated belfry in the Drottning-Gata. To the right (W.) the Knäppingsborg-Gata descends to the river. Fine view of the rapids from the iron bridge. We now ascend the right bank of the stream and follow the Dals-Gata to the Vestra Promenade, in which are several schools and (at the corner of the Hörngata, left) the small Art-Museum (1-3, 25 ö.; Sun. free). The tramway runs W., passing several hospitals outside the town, to Borgs-Villastad and the Kneipp-Bad (p. 300).

FROM NORRKÖPING (Östra Station, p. 300) to ÖREBRO, 129 Kil., narrow-gauge railway in 5-8¼ hrs., sweeping round the S. side of the town to (4 Kil.) Kneippbaden (p. 300), and running W. by (18 Kil.) Kimstad (crossing the S. Stambana, p. 300) and the Glansjö; 41 Kil. Finspong, with a cannon-foundry, iron-works, and a château of the 17th cent.; 93 Kil. Stenmeåsa, at the W. end of the Sotternsö; 99 Kil. Pålsboda (crossing the W. Stambana, p. 290), 129 Kil. Örebro (Södra Station), see p. 298.

THE STREAMBOATS TO STOCKHOLM (Kom. 256; good boats; fares 7, 5½, or 4½ kr.) usually ply at night. A beautiful trip down the winding Motalaström, with its timber-yards and pretty country-houses, and down the Brävik, an arm of the Baltic 50 Kil. long, with large marble-works at Kolmården on its N. bank, to Oxelösund (p. 297), whence the vessel follows the route of the Göta canal steamers.

Beyond Norrköping and (176 Kil.) Åby we traverse the wooded hills of Kolmården, the frontier-region between Södermanland and Östergötland, about 100 Kil. long from E. to W., and about 40 Kil. broad from N. to S.; the highest point (553 ft.) lies W. of Åby. The train ascends gradually, and passes through a short tunnel, to (179 Kil.) Grafversfors, with its marble-works. Farther on it crosses the bays of Lake Nälken by embankments. Another tunnel. 191 Kil. Simonstorp (inn). On the right is the Flätensjö (204 ft.). Nearing (205 Kil.) Strängsjö, we enter the district of Södermanland, with its great forests and countless lakes, whence the popular saying that the Creator 'forgot to separate land from water' in this region.

216 Kil. Katrineholm, junction of the Södra and Vestra Stambana (p. 291).

226 Kil. Valla. We pass many châteaux of the Swedish aristocracy, among them the charming Stenhammar, famed in song, on Lake Valdemaren (or Vammeln), 20 min. from —

239 Kil. Flen (Restaur.), junction for Eskilstuna and Nyköping (p. 362). 247 Kil. Skebogvarn; branch to (23 Kil.) Stålboga, see below. 254 Kil. Sparreholm, with the fine estate of that name (left); the mansion contains collections of paintings and coins and a large library. — 275 Kil. Björnlunda. The scenery is now particularly fine. Beyond (284 Kil.) Gnesta (*Rail. Rest.) we pass the picturesque Frustunasjö and Lake Sillen. 291 Kil. Mölbo; 302 Kil. Jerna.

314 Kil. Saltskog, whence a short branch runs to (1 Kil.) the town of Södertelje (Stads-Hot.; Bad-Hot.; pop. 9670), finely situated at the S. end of a bay of Lake Mälaren, with an old church, a hydropathic, and many villas of wealthy Stockholmers.

From Saltskog a branch-railway runs W., on the S. side of Lake Mälaren, to ESKILSTUNA (82 Kil., 2¼-3 hrs.; from Stockholm 3¼-4 hrs.).

35 Kil. Läggesta, junction for (4 Kil.) Mariefred-Gripsholm (p. 344); 40 Kil. Åkers Styckebruk (large gun-foundry), whence a branch runs to Strengnäs (15 Kil.; p. 346); 82 Kil. Eskilstuna, see p. 370.

From Södertelje STEAMER several times daily through the Södertelje Canal (p. 297) to Trosa (p. 297), Nyköping, etc.; also N., down Lake Mälär, to Stockholm (comp. p. 297).

The train crosses the Södertelje Canal by a lofty swing-bridge. 327 Kil. Tumba, with the large paper-mill of the Bank of Sweden; 342 Kil. Elfsjö (branch to Nynäshamn, see p. 342; 55 Kil., in 1-2 hrs.); beyond it a tunnel, 346 Kil. Liljeholmen, with railway-workshops and many factories.

The train crosses the Årstavik by a long embankment; to the right is the sugar-factory of Tanto, to the left the Mälär, with the Reimersholm and Långholm (p. 343). It passes through a tunnel under Södermalm (p. 331), to the Mälär (Söderström), crosses its S. arm and the W. end of the island on which the old town lies, then the Riddarholm and the Riddarfjärd, and enters the handsome Central Station of Stockholm (p. 304, from Nässjö 350, from Malmö 618, from Gotenburg 458 Kil.).

49. From (Christiania and) Charlottenberg to Laxå (and Stockholm).

RAILWAY from Christiania to Stockholm, 560 Kil. (Norwegian line to Charlottenberg, Swedish thence to Stockholm); express in 12½ hrs.; through-carriages at night, comp. p. 263.

The railway from Charlottenberg to Laxå (Nordvestra Stambana) traverses the Vermåland, a province rich in lakes and forests, and in iron and other ores, recently opened up by railways and canals. It was the birthplace of Tegnér and Geijer, and its praises have been sung by Fryxell in his Vermålandsvisa. Interesting excursion from Kil to Frykstad and the Fryken Lakes (see below), or from Christinehamn to Filipstad (p. 363).

From Christiania to (143 Kil.) Charlottenberg, see R. 13.

At Charlottenberg (Rail. Rest.*, D. 1½ kr.), the first Swedish station, carriages are generally changed. Custom-house here for luggage entering Sweden; in the reverse direction, at Christiania. In the vicinity are the Charlottenberg iron-works and Eda, a watering-place with a chalybeate spring.

Beyond Charlottenberg we pass the By-Sjö (269 ft.) on the right. Pretty scenery and extensive view. 14 Kil. Åmot, on the Flagan-Sjö; 25 Kil. Ottebol.

34 Kil. Arvika (Rail. Rest.*; Arvika Hot.; pop. 4130) is prettily situated on the Glafsfjord, here called Elgåsfjord, which is connected with Lake Venern by the Seffle Canal. (Steamer to Seffle, p. 363, daily in 6 hrs.) The canal occupies the ancient bed of the Glommen (p. 97), which once fell into Lake Venern, and which still sometimes sends part of its waters this way during the melting of the snow. Adjacent is Arvika Helsobrunn ('health spring').

Beyond (49 Kil.) Edane we cross the large and picturesque Vermelen-Sjö (184 ft.) by a viaduct, 740 yds. long, and pass through a tunnel. Grand forest-scenery. 56 Kil. Brunsborg. Farther on, the train crosses the Nors-Elf, the effluent of the Fryken Lakes, by an iron bridge 198 yds. long and 63 ft. high, resting on five iron piers and massive granite foundations, securely laid in the loose alluvial soil. Beyond the bridge the train reaches — 82 Kil. Kil (348 ft.; Jernvägs-Hot.), junction of the Gotenburg and Falun railway (R. 56), and of a branch to Fryksta.

The branch-railway to (3 Kil.) Fryksta (213 ft.), at the S. end of the Nedre Frykensjö (197 ft.), is the oldest line in Sweden, having been begun in 1849. From Fryksta a well-equipped steamer plies once or twice daily on the three Fryken Lakes (Nedre, Mellan, and Öfvre Fryken) to Torsby (in 5-6 hrs.). The Fryksdal, 80-90 Kil. long, is very picturesque. The steamer calls at Rottnevs Bruk, 'Vernland's gem', near the N. end of the central lake, visit the Fall of the Rottne-Elf, and at Sunne (Turist-Hot.; Hot. Nilsson; Hot. Svea), on the strait between the central and the upper lake, another pretty place, where Anders Fryxell (d. 1881 at Stockholm), the author of a history of Sweden and of the 'Vernlandsvisa', was once pastor. The steamer goes on to Torsby (Turist-Hot., R. 4½-2 kr.; Stora Hot.), in a fine site at the N. end of the upper lake, the grandest of the three. Many large iron-works, some of which belong to the Edsvala-Bolag.

95 Kil. Skäre.

102 Kil. Karlstad (Stads-Hot., R. from 1½ kr., commended; Hot. Kristiania; Rail. Rest., pop. 15,350), the capital of Vernland, with broad streets and avenues, and a brisk timber-trade, is picturesquely situated on the Tingvallabö, at the influx into Lake Venern of the Klar-Elf, which descends from Norway. The negotiations for the dissolution of the union of Sweden and Norway took place here in 1905. Steamboat to Venersborg and Lidköping (p. 287).

From Karlstad the 'Östra' narrow-gauge railway runs N. by (30 Kil.) Deje (p. 363), (59 Kil.) Munkfors, (83 Kil.) Sjögränd (branch to Edebäck, 5 Kil.), and (86 Kil.) Uddeholm, with its important factories, on the Edånsjö, to (93 Kil.) Hagfors, whence it is continued to the S. by the Filipstad line (p. 363).

The train crosses the E. arm of the Klarelf by a long bridge and skirts the N. bank of the vast Lake Venern (p. 286), which, however, is seldom visible. 113 Kil. Skatthärr.

142 Kil. (88 M.) Christinehamn (Stads-Hot.; Jernvägs-Hot.; pop. 8140), a busy trading town, lies on the Varnumsvik, a bay of Lake Venern. Steamers to Venersborg and Lidköping, p. 286. Railway to Mora, see p. 367.

Beyond (154 Kil.) Björneborg we skirt Lake Vismen. 165 Kil. Strömtorp; 168 Kil. Degerfors, on the Möckelnsjö (295 ft.). From these two stations, skirting the lake, run two important branch-lines: N. from Degerfors to Dalkarlsberg, Vikersvik (where the two lines cross), Striberg (with branch to Gyttorp, see below), and Bredsjö (97 Kil.; p. 363); and W. from Strömtorp to Karlskoga, Bofors, Kortfors (with branch to Grythytted, p. 363), Vikersvik (see above), Gyttorp, Nora, and Ervalla (65 Kil.; p. 361), with its continuation S. from Strömtorp to Gullspång and Otterbücken on Lake Venern (45 Kil.).

180 Kil. Svartå; 198 Kil. Porla, station for the mineral baths of Porla Hellsbrunn; 203 Kil. Laxå (p. 290). From Laxå to Stockholm, see pp. 290 and 301.

50. Stockholm.

ARRIVAL. The CENTRAL STATION (Pl. C, 5, 6) is for all except several local railways. Hotel-omnibuses (3/4-1 kr.) and Cabs (p. 306) are in waiting. Porter ('stadsbud'), 10-15 o. each package. An Interpreter meets trains and gives information (no fee). — Those who arrive by STEAMER will find cabs and porters on the quay. For time and place of arrival or departure see 'Sveriges Kommunikationer', under the headings 'norrut', 'södrerut', 'oster ut', 'vesterut', 'Kanalvägen', 'Göta Kanal', 'Mälaren'.

Hotels (English spoken at first class and many second-class). *GRAND HOTEL (Pl. gh; E, F, 5), Södra Blasieholms-Hamnen, with fine view of the Palace, quays, and harbour, a comfortable and well-managed house, ranking with the best in Europe, with reading-room, American bar, and café, R. 4-14, B. 1, L. (11-3) 2 1/2, D. (4.30-7.30) 4 1/2 kr. — *HOT. RYDBERG (Pl. r; D, E, 6), Gustaf-Adolfs-Torg, facing the Norrbo, well fitted up, with café, R. 3 1/2-10, B. 1, L. 1 1/2-2, D. 2-3 1/2 kr.; *HOT. Stockholm, the capital of the kingdom of Sweden, with 332,738 inhab., lies in 59° 20' 34" N. lat., at the influx of Lake Mälär into an arm of the Baltic (Saltsjö, salt-sea) which forms an excellent harbour, kept open in winter by ice-breakers. The site of the city on islands and peninsulas, in the plain, and on rocky hills, with its handsome buildings, numerous bridges, busy quays, and brisk shipping-traffic, is highly picturesque. While most European cities have transformed their sites and affected their environs, Stockholm, a flourishing seat of modern culture, is still wrestling with the primæval rock, great masses of which have often to be removed to make way for new buildings.

In early Swedish history Sigtuna (p. 348) and Gamla Upsala (p. 353) were the centres of the national life. The foundation of Stockholm dates from Jarl Birger of Bjelbo (p. xlv), who in 1255, on the site of a settlement repeatedly destroyed by pirates and hostile tribes (Esthonians and Carelians, 1183), fortified the islands now called Staden, Helgeandsholmen, and Riddarholmen, with towers and walls, and made them the capital of his dominions. It took long before the city extended beyond these islands. The increasing population had several times begun to occupy the mainland to the N. and S., but their settlements were as often swept away by Danish besiegers (Margaret in 1389, Christian I. in 1471, Christian II. in 1520). The prosperity of the city began in the 17th cent., when it was the centre of the Baltic dominions of Sweden, which then included Finland, Esthonia, and Livonia. Since great fires in 1697, 1725, 1751, 1759, 1835, and 1857, solid stone houses have gradually superseded timber-buildings, and now many private dwellings are admirably constructed of granite. About the middle of the 17th cent. the population was 15,000, in 1751 it had increased to 55,700, in 1800 to 75,500, in 1850 to 93,000, in 1870 to 136,000, in 1880 to 168,750, in 1890 to 246,500, and in 1906 to 332,750.

Stockholm rivals Gothenburg in industrial enterprise. The metal, electric apparatus, and engine works and the breweries are specially thriving. The chief imports, which exceed exports, are coal, grain, textile fabrics, and colonial produce.

I. STADEN AND RIDDARHOLMEN.

The central point of Stockholm is the Norrbrö* (Pl. E, 6), a handsome bridge of seven granite arches, completed in 1806, 377 ft. long and 62 ft. wide, partly standing on the E. margin of the small Helgeandsholm, and connecting the Normalm and Staden. On the E. side of the bridge is the Strömparterre (café, see p. 305), to which two flights of steps descend. The view from the bridge has long been famed.

'Hur pråktigt speglar ej den strömmen af
Torn, hjeltestöder, slott och sångartempel,
Och aftonrodnan öfver Riddarholmen,
Der Sveriges ara sofver under marmor!'

(TEGNER).

'Tower, heroes' statues, palace, muses' fane
Stand nobly mirrored in the stream below,
While bathed in evening-red glows Riddarholm,
Where, beneath marble, Sweden's glory sleeps'

On the W. side of Helgeandsholm rises the Riksdagshus (Pl. E, 6; house of the national diet or parliament), an edifice in the Renaissance style, designed by Aron Johansson, and erected in 1898-1905 at a cost of over 10 million kroner. Over the chief portal are the Swedish arms, and on the top of the building rises a colossal statue of Svea by Th. Lundberg.

INTERIOR (adm. see p. 303). On the ground-floor are the library, offices and refreshment-rooms. The vestibule is constructed of Kolmård marble (p. 304), and the superb staircase in Italian marble and stucco. On the walls are medallions of Swedish statesmen. The reading-rooms are adorned with Swedish landscapes by Arborelius, J. Erikson, Wahlberg, etc. On the principal floor are the two octagonal halls: that of the upper Chamber, in the N. wing, is seated for 150, and that of the lower, in the S. wing, for 280 members. In both halls the panelling is of Swedish red beech. — View from the roof

Behind the Riksdag House, and connected with it by arcades, is the new Riksbank (Pl. 7), also designed by A. Johansson. — To the N. a foot-bridge leads to the Drottning-Gata (p. 317), and to the S. a bridge crosses to the Mynt-Torg (so-called from the old mint), from which the Mynt-Gata leads to the Riddarhus-Torg (p. 313).

At the S.E. end of the Norrbo, on the N. end of the island of Staden, is the Royal Palace (Pl. E, 6), begun on the site of a royal residence called the 'Tre Kronor' (burned down in 1697) by Nicodemus Tessin the Younger, a distinguished Swedish architect, in the Renaissance style. The work was interrupted by the wars of Charles XII., but was completed by Karl Gust. Tessin (son of the first architect), Hårleman, and Cronstedt in 1760, and was thoroughly restored in 1898-1901. This great building, comprising ground-floor, entresol, and two upper stories, forms a rectangle of 136 by 127 yds., and encloses a court nearly square in shape. The N. and S. façades are adjoined by four lower wings, extending E. and W., so that the N. façade is nearly double the length of the central building. The N.W. portal, facing the bridge, has a handsome approach, built in 1824-34, called Lejonbacken from the bronze lions, cast in 1704, which adorn it. On the S.W. side of the palace are two detached buildings forming a small semicircular outer court, one being the chief Guard House. On the N.E. side, between the wings, is a small garden called Logården, or 'lynx-yard', because once intended for a small menagerie. The central quadrangle, entered by the N.W., S.W., and S.E. portals, is open to the public.

The Palace is usually open to visitors in summer (comp. p. 308). The rooms on each floor are shown by a different attendant (Vaktmästare; fee to each 50 ö., for a party 75 ö. or more).

The MAIN ENTRANCE is in the W. wing, by the Guard House. Passing the sentinel, we turn to the left in the gateway and ascend the handsome STAIRCASE, with ceiling-paintings by Prof. Jul. Kronberg. Svea. genius of Sweden, with the Landing of Charles XIV. John, on one side, and Oscar II. receiving the doctor's degree, on the other. On the staircase leading to the second story are Aurora and the Four Elements, and in the passage, the Guardian Angel. Here also is a marble group, by Byström, of Juno and the infant Hercules.

On the SECOND FLOOR, to the right, are the state-apartments known as the Festivitets-Våning. We first pass through the Life Guard Saloon, the Council Room, and the Audience Room, the two latter containing splendid old tapestry and the last a smoke-darkened ceiling-painting from the history of Alexander the Great by Jacques Fouquet (1700). The RED SALOON contains allegorical ceiling-paintings by Fouquet with reference to the youth of Charles XII., and a valuable silver candelabrum of the time of Charles X. — We next come to the GRAND GALLERY, 52 by 7½ yds., with two cabinets, decorated with stucco, marble, and gilding. The handsome doors, carved in oak by Henriou in 1686-90, were designed by Fouquet. The allegorical ceiling-paintings are also by Fouquet (1702). This room and the following contain sculptures in marble by Fogelberg, Byström, Molin, and others. — The GREAT FESTIVAL HALL is known as Hvita Hafsjet ('the white sea'), from its white stuccoed walls. The ceiling-paintings are by Italian artists of the first half of the 18th cent.

The FIRST FLOOR of the same wing contains (on the left; but visitors are usually admitted by the stairs in the E. wing) the Apartments of the late King Oscar II., richly adorned with old panelling and ceilings, fine antique furniture, porcelain, sculptures, and paintings. Among the works of art in the drawing-room are: Cupid, by Sergel; portraits of Charles XIV. John (Bernadotte), his consort Desirée Clary, Napoleon I., Josephine, Hortense Beauharnais, Queen of Holland, and Princess Augusta Amalia of Bavaria, wife of Eugène Beauharnais, all by Fr. Girard; miniatures by Isabey; and a portrait of Oscar II., by Zorn. In the gallery are older pictures. J. van Goyen, Coast-scene, Jan Marsan, Battles of Gustavus Adolphus; Gerbr. van den Eeckhout, Portrait of a lady; Memling, Portrait of a priest; J. D. de Heem, Still-life; Frans Hals, Fine portraits of a Dutchman and his wife (1633), S. Botticelli, Head of a youth. Here also are a bust and an equestrian statuette of Charles XII., by Bouchardon.

The E WING is entered from the court. In the gateway is a plaster cast of Sergel's model for the colossal group on the Gustavus Adolphus Monument, not reproduced in bronze till 1901. Beyond it, where a staircase (closed) descends to the Logård (p. 310), we have a fine view of the harbour. — The grand staircase, opposite the plaster group, ascends to the private apartments (1st floor) and state-rooms (2nd floor) of the royal family. They contain paintings by Gude, Morten Müller, and others, a fine collection of old silver-plate, and modern furniture. To the left are the older royal apartments (p. 310).

S. WING The staircase to the left in the finely vaulted passage between the court and Slottsbacken (see below) ascends to the PALACE CHAPEL, adorned with ceiling-paintings by Ehrenstrahl and sculptures by Bouchardon and Sergel (service on Sun. at 11 a.m.) — The staircase to the right leads to the RIKS-SAL, where the ceremony of opening the Chambers takes place. By the silver throne are statues, by Fogelberg, of Gustavus Adolphus and Charles XIV. John. Farther on is the SERAPHIM ROOM, or hall of the knights of the Seraphim Order, the highest in Sweden, founded in 1743.

The S.E. façade of the Palace, with its colonnade, looks towards the SLOTTSBÄCKEN, or Palace Hill (Pl. E, 6), sloping down to the harbour. This Plats is adorned with an Obelisk, 99 ft. high, erected in memory of the loyalty of the citizens during the war against Russia in 1788-90, while the nobility were hostile to their sovereign (p. lii). At the foot of the slope is the finely executed Statue of Gustavus III.* (Pl. E, F, 6), by J. T. Sergel, a Swedish sculptor (p. 323), erected in 1806 by subscription in honour of that chivalric monarch. The rudder on which the King leans is an allusion to his naval victories. — The broad quay bordering the E. side of the islet of Staden is the chief landing-place of the Baltic steamers. Fine view of the Skeppsholm.

The Governor's House (Öfverståthållare-Huset; Pl. 30; E, 6, 7), on the S.E. side of the Slottsbacke, was erected and originally owned by Nicod. Tessin (p. 310).

At the S.W. end of the Slottsbacke is the Storkyrka (Great Church; Pl. 27; E, 7), which, according to a modern inscription, was founded by Birger Jarl in 1264. It was rebuilt with the addition of the unpleasant tower (184 ft. high) in 1726-43. By the choir rises a monument to Olaus Petri (1493-1552), the reformer and first Protestant preacher in Stockholm, by Th. Lundberg (1897). The chief portal is at the W. end, in the street called Trångsund. In the interior, which consists of nave and double aisles, is a rich altar from Augsburg (early 17th cent.), in silver, ivory, and ebony, with 18 scenes from the Passion; also a brass candelabrum with seven branches, of the 14th cent.; two huge pictures, 'Last Judgment' and 'Crucifixion', by Ehrenstrahl (d. 1698); elaborately carved pulpit and royal stalls; several ancient tombstones; and fine silver vessels in the sacristy. The 'Kyrkvåktare', or sacristan, lives at Svartman-Gata 22 (upper floor), beyond the German church (see below; fee 1/2-1 kr.).

The rest of the old town consists of several streets running S. and converging at the Sluss (or sluice-bridge, p. 331), crossed by narrow lanes called 'brinkar' or 'grändar'. The different quarters are denoted by ancient names. The old town is the chief business centre. In the StOR-TORG (Pl. E, 7), its central and highest point, is the Exchange (Pl. 12), where the commercial world meets at one o'clock. The cross-streets descending E. and W. to the harbours are the seat of busy retail traffic. In 1520 the StOR-TORG was the scene of the 'Stockholm Blood Bath' (p. xlvii), when Christian II. of Denmark hoped to found his supremacy anew on the collapse of the Swedish aristocracy.

In the busy SVÄRTMANN-GATA (street of the black men, that is the Dominicans) is the Tyska Kyrka, or German Church (Pl. 28; E, 7), erected in 1636-42, and rebuilt from plans by Raschdorff, a Berlin architect, after a fire in 1878. The tower contains a set of chimes. The interior is roofed with network vaulting. The richly gilded altar and the pulpit of ebony and alabaster were presented by German merchants in the 17th cent.; the stained glass is from Munich (1887). The sacristan lives opposite the S. entrance.

We now follow the STORA NY-GATA N.W. to the Riddarhus-Torg, or we may walk to it by the quays on the S. and W. sides of the island. In the latter case we pass the KORNHAMNS-TORG (Pl. E, 7), beyond which is Slussen, the bridge leading to the S.

quarters of the city. We next cross the MÄLAR-TORG (whence steam-launches ply to Maria-Hissen, p. 332) and the KÖRT-TORG ('meat-market'; Pl. D, E, 7), over which runs the railway, and enjoy views of Södermalm and Lake Mälär. To the N. of the Kört-Torg we follow the MUNKBRO (monks' quay; Pl. D, 7). Here, on the right, is the Petersenska Hus, a brick building of the 17th cent. Numerous steamers ply from this quay to all parts of Lake Mälär.

The RIDDARHUS-TORG (Pl. D, 7), bounded on the N.W. by the Riddarhus and the Town Hall (Rådhus; Pl. 34), is adorned with a Statue of Gustavus Vasa, by P. H. Larchevêque, erected in 1773 by the Swedish nobility on the 250th anniversary of the king's entry into Stockholm as the vindicator of Sweden's independence (p. xlvii). On 13th July, 1756, Count Brahe, Barons Horn and Wrangel, and others were executed here for conspiring to alter the constitution. On 10th June, 1810, the crown-prince having died suddenly, Marshal Axel von Fersen was lynched here by a mob who imagined he had poisoned the prince.

The Riddarhus (Knights' House; Pl. 35, D, 7), an interesting building in the Dutch-French rococo style, with a curiously curved roof, was erected in 1641-74 from designs by Simon de la Vallée, a French architect commissioned by Queen Christina. In a large hall on the first floor, with the armorial bearings of all the Swedish nobles, and ceiling-paintings by Ehrenstrahl, the Chamber of Nobles met down to 1866. A room on the ground-floor contains portraits of the marshals of the nobility from 1627 to 1866. Adm., see p. 308. — On the N. side of the building, in the fore-court, is a statue, by J. Börjeson, of the chancellor Axel Oxenstjerna (p. xlix). The Riddarhus-Gränd, passing here, leads to the handsome Vasa-Bro (Pl. D, 6), which crosses the Riddarfjärd in seven low arches to the Vasa-Gata (p. 317).

From the Riddarhus-Torg a bridge leads S.W. to the little island of RIDDARHOLM (Pl. D, 7), in which rise the Riddarholms Church and several public buildings. To the right is the Riks-Arkiv (Pl. 5; adm., see p. 308). Before us is the Court of Appeal (Svea Hofrätt; Pl. 18). In the middle of the Plats is a Statue of Birger Jarl (p. 309), by Fogelberg, erected by the citizens in 1834.

The *Riddarholms-Kyrka (Pl. 25), with its tall perforated spire of cast iron, 295 ft. high, formerly a Franciscan church, has been the burial-place of Swedish kings and heroes since the reign of Gustavus Adolphus, but since 1807 it has been used for royal obsequies only. Originally Gothic, it has received so many Renaissance additions that it is picturesque rather than architecturally interesting. As Sweden's chief temple of fame it deserves a visit. Chief entrance at the W. end (ground-plan E; adm., see p. 303).

The walls of the church are blazoned with the arms of knights of the Seraphim Order (p. 311). The pavement is formed of tombstones

In the choir, in front of the high-altar, are monuments of kings Magnus Ladulås (d. 1320; Pl. 7) and Charles VIII (d. 1470; Pl. 8), with recumbent stone figures (16th cent.) On the right (S.) is the CHAPEL OF GUSTAVUS ADOLPHUS (Gustavianska Grafkoret), built in 1633 by the king's own order before his departure for Germany in 1629. Since 1832, the 200th anniversary of his death at the battle of Lutzen, his remains have reposed in a green marble sarcophagus, originally executed in Italy by order of Gustavus III. for his father. It bears the simple inscription: Gustavus Adolphus Magnus. Behind the trophies, on the right, is a votive shield in silver, presented by the German Gust. Adolphus Society in 1894. In front, to the left, is the sarcophagus of Maria Eleonora of Brandenburg (d. 1656), the queen of Gustavus Adolphus. In the vault below are interred kings Adolphus Frederick (d. 1771), Gustavus III (d. 1792), Gustavus IV. Adolphus (d. 1837; p. lxx), and Charles XIII. (d. 1818), with their queens, and other members of the Holstein-Gottorp family. — On the opposite (N.) side of the choir is the CAROLINIAN CHAPEL (Karolinska Grafkoret), built in 1686-1743. In the chapel (Pl. 5) above the vault is the sarcophagus of Charles XII. (d. 1718), in dark-grey marble, with the royal insignia in gilded bronze. To the right is the marble sarcophagus of Frederick I (d. 1751); on the left reposes his queen Ulrika Eleonora (d. 1742), sister of Charles XII. In the vault below (Pl. 6) are interred Charles X. Gustavus (d. 1660), Charles XI (d. 1697), and their queens, and several princes of the Vasa family. — Adjoining the Chapel of Gustavus, on the S. side of the choir, is the BERNADOTTE CHAPEL (Bernadotteska Grafkoret; Pl. 11), designed by Prof. Scholander, 1858-60. A massive sarcophagus of red porphyry here contains the remains of Charles XIV John (d. 1844). The vault below (Pl. 12) contains the coffin of his queen Desideria (d. 1860), and those of Oscar I (d. 1859) and his queen Josephine, of Charles XV. (d. 1872) and his queen, and of Oscar II. (d. 1907).

In the aisles of the church are the Vasaborg Vault (Pl. 13); the Banér Vault (Pl. 14; visible only through a pointed doorway), with a figure of Marshal Johan Banér (d. at Halberstadt in 1641), his armour, etc.; and the tomb of the Swedish general Stryk (Pl. 15). — On the opposite side are the Torstenon Vault (Pl. 1), with a marble bust of Marshal Lennart Torstenson (d. 1651), the vault of counts Wachmeister and von Fersen (Pl. 2), and those of the counts Lejonhufvud (Pl. 3, 4).

The Railway Bridge across the Riddarfjärd, borne by fourteen piers of granite, has a footway on the N.E. side, leading to the islet of Strömsborg (Pl. D, 6), and to the swimming-school (p. 307).

II. THE NORTHERN QUARTERS.

At the N. end of the Norrbro (p. 309) lies the GUSTAF-ADOLFS-TORG (Pl. E, 6), bounded on the W. by the Arfprinsens Palais (Pl. 31), erected in 1783-93, and on the E. by the Royal Theatre. In the centre is an equestrian Statue of Gustavus Adolphus, executed by P. H. Larchevêque, a French sculptor resident in Stockholm in 1760-77, and erected in 1796. The granite and marble pedestal, considerably raised in 1905, is adorned with bronze medallions of the Swedish generals Torstenson, Wrangel, Banér, and Königsmark, and with a colossal bronze group, by Johan Tobias Sergel, of the Chancellor Oxenstjerna recounting to the Muse of History the deeds of the monarch. This group was added at the expense of E. Cederlund, a well-known merchant — From the Gustaf-Adolfs-Torg, W. and N.W., run several busy streets (pp. 316, 317), and to the N. opens the broad Regérings-Gata.

The Royal Theatre (Pl. 40), erected by Axel Anderberg in 1894-98, stands on the site of the 'Great Theatre' of Gustavus III., a zealous patron of the national poetry (comp. p. liii). Bronze figures of the Dramatic Arts, by C. Andersson, V. Åkerman, and others, adorn the entrance-hall. A staircase of white marble and stucco ascends to the gorgeous foyer. The auditorium has 1250 seats. — In the E. wing of the Theatre are the Opera Källare (p. 304) and the Opera Café (p. 305), the great terrace of which affords the finest view of the busiest part of Stockholm.

To the E. of the Theatre are promenades extending to KARL DEN TOLFTES TORG (Pl. E, 5, 6), where is the Statue of Charles XII., by J. P. Molin, erected in 1868 by national subscription. The four mortars round it, adorned with reliefs of the Rape of Proserpine, cast by Mich. And. Herold at Dresden in 1678, were captured by the king at Neumünde, near Dantsic, in 1701. On the quay, S. of the monument, is the pier of the steam-launches plying to the station of the Saltsjö Tramway in Södermalm (p. 331). — To the E. is the Blasieholm quarter, with the National Museum.

The adjacent KUNGSTRÄDGÅRD (Pl. E, 5; 'King's Garden'), with its avenues and flower-beds, is the chief winter-promenade of Stockholm. The Fountain in the front part of the grounds, also by Molin, is embellished with allegorical statues ('The daughters of the dreaded sea-god Ægir listening to the harping of the Nixy', an allusion to the site of Stockholm between lake and sea). — On the W. is the Jakobs-Kyrka (Pl. 23), of the early 17th cent., with a Renaissance portal. The interior was effectively restored in 1893. In the choir, on the right, is the tomb of Marshal Gust. Horn (d. 1659). — On the E. is the Dramatiska Teater (Pl. 41, E, 5; p. 308), erected in 1842. — In the centre of the Plats is a Statue of Charles XIII. (Pl. E, 5), erected by Charles XIV. John (1821) to his adoptive father, designed by E. G. Göthe, and cast in Paris. The lions around the lofty pedestal are by Fogelberg. — To the N.W. is Blanch's Café (p. 305), with the exhibition of the Society of Arts (Allmänna Konstförening; Pl. 19; p. 308).

Past the N. end of the Kungsträdgård runs the HAMN-GATA, which to the W. crosses the Regérings-Gata (p. 315). In the latter, at the corner of the Smålands-Gata, are the new Electric Works, erected by F. Boberg. The Hamn-Gata leads E. to the NORRMALMS-TORG (Pl. E, 4, 5; where several tramways cross) and the BERZELIUS PARK (Pl. E, 5), where Bern's Salonger (p. 305), a café and pleasure-resort, are much frequented of an afternoon and evening. The park is bounded on the N. by the palace of Count v. Hallwyl, by J. G. Clason, one of the finest modern mansions in Stockholm. The grounds are adorned with statues of Berzelius (d. 1848), the chemist, by Qvarnström, and John Ericsson, the engineer (p. 363), by J. Börjeson. — Opposite the N.E. corner of the park is the New Dramatic Theatre (Pl. 43; F, 4, 5), an effective new building by Fred. Lilljeqvist, with an allegorical group in marble, high up on the central part, and symbolic figures in bronze at the sides of the chief entrance and in the vestibule. The wall-paintings in the interior, by O. Björck, R. Thegerström, Jul. Kronberg, and G. Cederström, allude in part to the history of the Swedish theatre under Gustavus III. The foyer is noteworthy.

The ÖSTERMALM quarter of the city, lying N.E. of the park, has sprung up within the last thirty years. The masses of granite which had to be removed afforded admirable building-material, and several of the houses are excellent examples of the new Swedish school of architecture. We note several of these modern houses in the BIRGER-JARLS-GATA (Pl. E, 4; tram No. 1; p. 305), which bounds this quarter on the W. We also note the façade of the passage leading to the Norrmalms-Torg (see above). To the right from the Sture-Plan diverges the Sture-Gata, skirting the E. side of the Humlegård (p. 318). — Near the Östermalms Torg are the Hedvig Eleonora Kyrka and the Artilleri-Gård (Pl. F, 4), with a museum of artillery and weapons (adm., see p. 308).

To the S. of this quarter are the bays of Nybroviken and Ladugårdslandsviken, skirted by the STRANDVÄG (Pl. F, G, H, 5), where we observe other very fine modern houses, notably No. 33, that of Hr. Bünzow, by J. G. Clason. — At the E. end of the Strandväg is the Djurgårds-Bro (p. 332).

The quarter lying N.W. of the Gustaf-Adolfs-Torg (p. 315) contains the busiest streets of the Norrmalm. The short Malmorgs-Gata leads to the BRUNKEBERGS-TORG (Pl. D, 5), to the N. of which the Telephone Tower, with its dense network of wires, Malmshillnads-Gata 30, is a conspicuous object. — Near it is the Gymnastic Institute (Pl. 7), founded in 1813 by P. H. Ling (d. 1839). The Swedish system of sanitary gymnastics is now favourably known everywhere.

From the W. side of the Gustaf-Adolfs-Torg diverge the handsome STRÖM-GATA, skirting the Norrström, and the busy FÄRDS-GATA, one on each side of the Arfprinsen's Palace (p. 315). In the former, at the corner of the Drottning-Gata, is the Nordiska Creditbank, by F. Boberg. On the N. side of the Rödbo-Torg, at the end of the Färd-Gata, is the new building of the Akademi för de fria Konsterna (Pl. 1; D, 6) or Academy of Fine Art (a society dating from 1735), erected in 1893-95 from designs by Erik Lallerstedt. Farther W., at the beginning of the VASA-GATA, and S. of the Central Railway Station (Pl. C, 6; p. 304), is a statue, also by J. Börjeson (1893), of Nils Ericsson (1802-70; elder brother of John Ericsson), the engineer of the new Trolhättan locks (see p. 284) and founder of the Swedish railways. Farther N. in the Vasa-Gata is the new Post Office (Pl. 33; C, 5), by F. Boberg.

The chief business street in this quarter is the DROTTNING-GATA (Pl. D, 6, 5; C, 4, 3), which is connected with the Helgeands-Holm by a foot-bridge (p. 310). — To the W. of the Drottning-Gata, between it and the Railway Station, is the Klara Kyrka (Pl. D, 5), erected in 1751-53 after the burning of an earlier church founded in 1285. In 1885-93 it was well restored and provided with a steeple 340 ft. high. By the altar are sculptures by Sergel. ('Klockäre', Klara Vestra Kyrko-Gata 14 A, to the right in the court). By the N.W. angle of the church reposes the poet Bellman (d. 1795; p. liii).

The Drottning-Gata is crossed, further N., by the Mäster-Samuels-Gata and then by the Kungs-Gata. No. 44 in the former street is the Technical School, which contains the Geological Museum (Geologiska Undersöknings Museet, p. 308), a well-arranged collection of specimens of Swedish rocks and minerals, with indications of their industrial uses. No. 30 Kungs-Gata is the seat of the University (Stockholms Högskola; Pl. 48; C, 5), founded in 1878, which has a faculty of science and one of law, with 20 professors, 13 lecturers, and 365 students.

Farther N., the Barnhus-Gata diverges to the left from the Drottning-Gata. No. 18 in this street is the Nobel Institute (Pl. 18; B, 4), founded by Alf. Nobel (b. at Stockholm 1833, d. at San Remo 1896), the famous chemist and inventor of dynamite, who bequeathed the interest of his fortune of over 30 million kr ($1\frac{3}{4}$ mill £) to form five prizes for distinction in physics, chemistry, medicine, literature, and the promotion of international arbitration. The library is open in June-Aug. on Tues. and Friday, 10-3; in Sept.-May every week-day.

In the Vallin-Gata, the next street to the left, rises the Gothic English Church (Pl. 21; B, 4).

On the right side of the Drottning-Gata, nearly opposite the Vallin-Gata, is the Academy of Science (Vetenskaps-Akademi; Pl. C, 3, 4), founded by Swedish savants in 1739, endowed by the state in 1741, and remodelled in 1820. Its first president was Linnaeus (Karl von Linné; 1707-78), the famous botanist. There are 100 native and 75 foreign members. The building contains the valuable Natural History Collections of the National Museum (entr. in the Vallin-Gata; adm., p. 308). — On the ground-floor is the Mineralogical Collection; in the passage is a mass of iron weighing 20 tons, found in W. Greenland. — On the first floor is the Zoological Collection (short guide, 25 ö.), specially interesting for its specimens of Northern species (at the entrance, in Rooms IX-XII, etc.). — Nearly opposite, at Vallin-Gata 1. are the Ethnographical Collection, with objects found by Capt. Cook in the Antarctic Ocean (1772-75) and by Nordenskjöld in the Arctic Regions, and a Collection of Fossil Plants. Adm., p. 308.

In the Drottning-Gata, to the left, further on, is the Tekniska Högskola (Pl. 46; B, 3), erected in 1863. It was founded in 1798, and now has 41 teachers and 467 students. The library and collections are open on Mon. 12-2. On a height planted with trees, at the N. end of the Drottning-Gata, to which a path ascends in steps, rises the Observatory (Pl. B, 3), erected in 1748-52 (fine view of the city; 'Vaktmästare' 25 ö.). — To the N.W. of this is the new quarter of Vasastaden (see Map of Environs, p. 340).

To the E. of the Academy of Science is the conspicuous Adolf-Fredriks-Kyrka (Pl. C, 3, 4), a plain rococo building in the form of a Greek cross, with a lofty dome, erected in 1768-74 from designs by Adelerantz, and lately restored. It contains several works by Sergel: the Resurrection, an altar-relief in plaster, and a monument to Descartes (d. at Stockholm, 1650), the famous French savant, whose remains were removed to Paris in 1661. Sergel and the poet B. Lidner are buried in the churchyard. — Farther N.E., on the Brunkebergsås, one of the highest points in the city, rises the conspicuous Johannes Kyrka (Pl. D, 3), a Gothic brick building by Carl Moller (1889), with a lofty tower. — The S. part of the Brunkeberg is pierced by a Tunnel (275 yds. long; Pl. D, 4; toll 2 ö.) connecting the David-Bagares-Gata and the Humlegård with the Tunnel-Gata, a side-street of the Drottning-Gata (p. 317).

The Humlegård* (Pl. E, 3), a park laid out in the 17th cent., has been transformed by Director Medin, the city gardener, into a beautiful promenade. On the S. side is the — Riks-Bibliotek or Royal Library (Pl. E, 3; adm., p. 308), designed by Dahl, and erected in 1870-76, containing upwards of 400,000 books and 10,500 MSS.

Its chief treasures are exhibited under glass in the Show Room* (Visnings-Sal; entr. to the right). The cases are numbered. Case 1: Codex Aureus, a Latin translation of the Gospels in gold letters on red and white parchment, written by Irish monks about 600 A.D. and acquired at Madrid in 1690; Easter Calendar for the years 760-911. — Case 2: 'Loys roi de France et Thibaut d'Arabie', a French romance, MS. of the early 12th cent.

— Case 3: Book of Marco Polo, French MS. of the 14th cent. — Case 4. Visigothic code in a Spanish translation of the 14th cent.; Latin and other prayer-books of the 15th and early 16th cent. — Case 5. German bible in rhyme, 15th cent., 'Golden Bull' of Emp. Charles IV., copied in 1520-33. — Case 6: English MSS., 13th and 14th cent.; Icelandic MSS., 13th cent. (earliest known collection of sermons; Olaf-saga of 13th cent.). — Case 7: Swedish codes of law, 13th and 14th cent. — Case 8. Guild-books of Stockholm, 16th cent. — Cases 9-11: Swedish monastic documents, patents of nobility, deeds of debt. — Case 12: Bible in five languages, German work of 17th cent. — Cases 13 and 14: Oriental and Indian MSS. — Case 15: Cicero de officiis (Mayence, 1466), Speculum humanae salvationis (Utrecht, about 1470); Bible with 42 lines; Psalterium Latinum (Mayence, 1457). — Cases 17-19: German printings of 15th cent., incl. 19 Bibles in low-German (1478, 1494); Brant's Narrenschiff and a small prayer-book (both Lubeck, 1497). — Case 20: Homer, printed in Greek (Florence, 1488), Euclid (Venice, 1482). — Case 21: Fine copy of the Wittenberg bible of 1534. — Case 22: Printings of 18th and 19th cent. — Case 23: Letters of indulgence, etc. — Cases 24-26: Swedish printing of 15th-18th cent. (the earliest, 1483). — Case 27: Voltaire's works, with autograph alterations, and letters by him; Andersen's 'Mit Livs Eventyr', dedicated to Charles XV.; MSS. by princes and famous Swedes, etc. — Case 28: Last carrier-pigeon despatch from Andree, the Arctic explorer, 13th July, 1897 (comp. p. 263). — GLASS TABLE-STAND: MSS. of Swedish and other princes; Plans for the siege of Frederikshald by Charles XII. — LARGE SHOW CASE at the side: 'Gigas librorum', comprising the Bible and seven MSS. of 9th-13th cent.; on this case, in separate frames, the Revelations of St. Birgitta (p. lvm), 1261.

In the S.W. corner of the Humlegård is the pretty bronze group 'Farfadern' (grandfather and grandson), by Per Hasselberg (d. 1894).

The finest part of the grounds, with their wonderfully rich vegetation, lies behind the Library. In the middle is a colossal bronze Statue of Linnæus, surrounded by allegorical figures of Botany, Zoology, Medicine, and Mineralogy, designed by Frithjof Kjellberg (1885). On the 'Flora Hill', further N., is a colossal figure in a sitting posture, by Börjeson (1872), of K. W. Scheele (1742-86), the discoverer of oxygen. — To the N. of the Humlegård, on the VALHALLA-VÄG, lies the Idrotts-Park (Pl. E, F, 1), devoted to cycling, tennis, and other games.

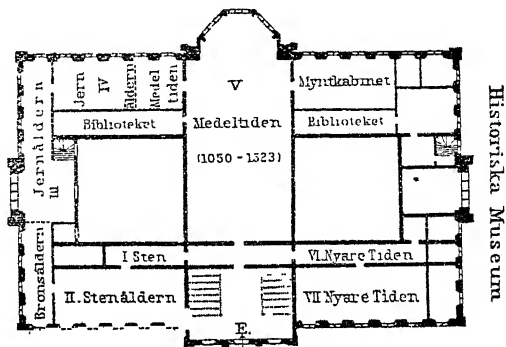

On the E. side of the Humlegård runs the STURE-GATA (p. 316). This quarter, extending to the Valhalla-Väg, contains handsome houses and villas. The peculiarity of the site of Stockholm (p. 309) is well illustrated here.

III. THE NATIONAL MUSEUM.

At the S. end of Blasieholmén, the broad S.W. quay of which, called the Blasieholmshamn, is approached from Karl XII.'s Torg, is the National Museum* (Pl. F, 6), erected in 1850-66 from a design by Stüler of Berlin, a handsome edifice in the Renaissance style, with round-arched Venetian windows and a portal of greenish Swedish marble. Over the portal are medallion-reliefs of six famous Swedish scholars and artists: Fogelberg, the sculptor; Ehrenstrahl, the painter; Linnæus, the botanist; Tegnér, the poet; Vallin, the writer of hymns; Berzelius, the chemist; and statues of Nicod.

Tessin, the architect, and Sergel, the sculptor. In the vestibule are two bronze groups: Art and Industrial Art by T. Lundberg, on the left, and Artistic Research, by Chr. Eriksson, on the right.

The collections are: on the Ground Floor, the Historical Museum and the Cabinet of Coins; on the First Floor, the Art-Industrial Collections and the Sculptures; on the Second Floor, the Picture Gallery and the Drawings and Engravings. Adm., see p. 308; catalogues in each department, and at the entrance.

GROUND FLOOR. On entering the vestibule, where sticks, umbrellas, photographic apparatus, etc. are given up on the left (2 o. each), we observe three colossal statues of northern deities, in marble, by Fogelberg: below, on the right Odin, on the left Thor; above, Baldur. Opposite the entrance is the —

Historical Museum, or Museum of Swedish Antiquities, ranging from the earliest times to the present day. It was founded in the 17th cent., and much extended by the late director B. E. Hildebrand. In the prehistoric section it rivals the National Museum at Copenhagen (p. 405). The present director is Dr. H. Hildebrand.

A glass-door leads into the VESTIBULE, where a guide by O. Montelius may be bought (25 o.). We turn to the left. The black figures on white ground indicate the order in which the objects should be examined.

Rooms I & II: Flint Period (Stenåldern), a prehistoric era when the use of metal was unknown, and when implements were made of stone, bone, or wood. The chief objects here are arrow-heads, axes, earthen vessels, and amber beads. The classified objects in the wall-cabinets and in one of the cases were found mostly in Skåne. The other cases contain objects, partly from ancient tombs, found in other parts of Sweden. Among these are flint-tools, fine battle-axes (Case 17), the contents of tombs with the bones of domestic animals, and characteristic objects in slate from N. Sweden. Room II also contains several models of tombs.

Room III: Bronze Period (Bronsåldern), when the Swedes first came into contact with the more civilized natives of Asia and S. Europe. Note an Italic bronze vessel (No. 6) with embossed ornamentation (found in Skåne), and a shield (2 Ba), gold cups and bracelets, a dagger (20) found in West Götland, other handsome daggers, swords, battle-axes (No. 34 of unusual size), and vessels with rich ornament. A case in the centre contains gold trinkets and admirably preserved bronze weapons.

Iron Age (Jernåldern). The earliest specimens show traces of Celtic influence; a later group has been affected by Roman provincial culture, while more recent objects are akin to the Frankish and Alemannic antiquities of W. Germany of the period during and after the migrations. In Room III, beginning with Wall Case 59, is the rich collection from the Island of Gotland, embracing over a thousand years. Cases 70 & 71 show Roman influence; Nos 72-74 illustrate the period of migration; some of the brooches are highly characteristic. The collection of silver ornaments from Gotland (Cases 97-103; by the window towards the Court) is also very rich. No. 85A is a tombstone with figures and runes (eight-legged horse of Wotan, etc.). Room III also contains objects of the earlier iron age found on the mainland of Sweden, including several of Roman origin (glass drinking-horn in Case 124; large bronze vase with inscription in Case 125, statuettes, etc.), superb neck-rings with filigree ornamentation (134), and many other gold trinkets (incl. the largest Swedish find of gold ornaments, 15 lbs. in weight, from W. Gotland, end of 4th cent.). We note also valuable relics from the tombs of Vendel (147-151), where several warriors were found interred in their ships (comp. p. 12).

Room IV: LATER IRON AGE, on the mainland of Sweden. 1-6. Objects found in the Björko in Lake Malaren, where the oldest Christian burial-place in Sweden was re-discovered; 34-39. Valuable collection of gold and silver ornaments. Also copies of a rock in Södermanland, with runic inscription and a design from the Sigfried Saga (54), and of a large runic stone near Rok in Östergötland, with the longest runic inscription extant (53). — At the end of the room begins the — Medieval Collection (Medeltiden; 1050-1523), objects of the 11th-16th cent. In the same room (IV.): 70. Altar of gilded copper plaques (middle of 12th cent.); 71. Romanesque reliquary of hammered copper; *72. Girdlet of agate mounted in gold, captured in Germany in the Thirty Years' War; 73. Embroidery from an altar-frontal of the 12th century.

Room V. Ornaments, church-furniture, and vestments of the 14th, 15th, and beginning of 16th cent.: 8A. Early-Gothic crucifix in copper-gilt; *45. Mitre of the Bishop of Linköping, with bead-embroidery and enamelled silver plaques. Here also are a treasure buried at Dune in the 14th cent. (in Cases 19 & 20, in the centre, in front of the window), and behind it, in Case 25, a large gold buckle with jewels (pectoral); *77. Large group of St. George in wood (1480), from the Storkyrka at Stockholm, a masterpiece of medieval Swedish carving. Also, carved-wood and painted altarpieces, fonts, etc.

Adjacent is the ROYAL CABINET OF COINS (director, Dr. H. Hildebrand) Swedish medals are exhibited in glass-cases, but the coins are kept in presses.

Returning to the vestibule from Room V. we turn to the left to visit Rooms VI and VII, devoted to the Modern Period ('Nyare Tiden') in five sections: 1523-1611, 1611-1654, 1654-1718, 1718-1809, and 1809 to the present time. The dates are marked on the presses. The objects include tapestry, costumes, the insignia of Orders, gold and silver goblets (in Case 33, two presented to Gustavus Adolphus at Nuremberg in 1631), ivory carvings (including a fine épergne designed and once owned by Rubens), works in amber fine glass, embroidery, and bridal crowns. Also objects that once belonged to Swedish princes (in case 41, the general's baton used by Gustavus Adolphus at Lützen) and to famous Swedes (in case 65, articles owned by Linné; Bellman's lute, comp. p. 339; in case 74, buoys belonging to Andree, pp. 238, 319).

We now return to the staircase. The upper walls are adorned with paintings by Karl Larsson (1896), from the history of art in Sweden, 1600-1800. We ascend the marble stairs to the —

FIRST FLOOR, and by a large door on the left enter the — Ceramic Collection. — Room I. To the left of the entrance is (No 1) a large Moorish-Spanish vase, of the early 14th cent., resembling the famous Alhambra vase at Granada, with bronze mounting of the 18th cent. Cases 2 & 3 contain Moresco-Spanish and Italian majolica, chiefly purchased by Nicod. Tessin the Younger in Italy at the end of the 17th cent. The cases to the right, by the windows, contain (33) the Dahlgren Collection of snuff-boxes, porcelain, ivory carvings, and trinkets in gold and silver. Above (38) is a large decorative work in glazed clay (peacocks and trees), by H. Kähler (1897), a Dane. In the glass-cases are French, Dutch, German, and Swedish fayence, pottery from the Lower Rhine, and Wedgwood ware. The intervening smaller cases contain porcelain from famous European factories, including Swedish from Marieberg (1758-88; p. 343) and Rörstrand (p. 346).

Room II. Chinese and Japanese porcelain, including a specially fine collection of the Japanese chrysanthemum-peony porcelain, so called from its pattern; then, left of the entrance, (53) cups, plates, etc., with Swedish armorial bearings, executed in the 18th cent. in China, having been ordered through the Gotenburg East India Co.; also, by the exit, Japanese Craquelé (41; with glazing purposely cracked).

Room III. Four cases in the centre contain old German, Bohemian, Venetian, Swedish, and modern glass. In the wall-presses are hammered and cast metal works, of the 17-18th cent. By the pillars is the Dahlgren Collection of watches. The cabinet contains Oriental pottery, metal-work, carpets, etc.

Room IV. Antique vases, terracottas, and bronzes.

Room V. The Collection of Sculptures (cat. 50 ö.) begins here. The Antiques, mostly purchased by Gustavus III. in Rome (1784-85), are chiefly of the Roman imperial epoch and freely restored. By the entrance: 168. Grand marble vase; right, 178. Fountain with interesting relief relating to Romulus and Remus; in different parts of the room, 3-12. Apollo Citharæus and the nine Muses; 2. Athena; in the centre, the gem of the collection, *1. Sleeping Endymion, in Parian marble, excavated in Hadrian's Villa at Tivoli in 1783; 65. Bust of an Athenian, with Greek inscription (Demosthenes?), 180. Two fine candelabra; by the exit, 179. Handsome Rhyton (drinking-horn); right, 45. Colossal bust of Venus.

VI. CENTRAL ROOM: Casts, modern and from the antique. Fine view from the windows here and in the following rooms. — To the right is Room VII: Antique terracottas and glass from Cyprus and Egypt. — We return to Room VI, and to the right enter —

The small Room IX contains bronze busts by C. Meunier (1831-1905; No. 886. Dock-labourer), A. Rodin (943. Victor Hugo), G. Vigeland (Norwegian; b. 1869, No. 953. Sophus Bugge), W. Runeberg (814. A. Fryxell, Swedish historian), Per Hasselberg (884. E. Josephson, Swedish painter), and others. Also sculptures by Carl Milles (b. 1875; No. 908. Mourning) and Chr. Eriksson (b. 1858), and medals and plaquettes by Chaplain, Roty, Dupré, Frenchmen, and by A. and E. Lindberg, Swedes.

The small Room X contains book-bindings, from the 15th cent. onwards.

The next rooms contain Furniture and House Decoration.

Room XI and XII. Ebony cabinets (108, 109), tables, and chairs (Italian; end of 17th cent.); ivory carvings (104. Descent from the Cross, early 17th cent.); amber and ivory work (fine draught-boards); tapestry of the 16th cent.; embroidery; stained glass. — Beyond is the Tiles Room: foreign and Swedish tiles; also glasses.

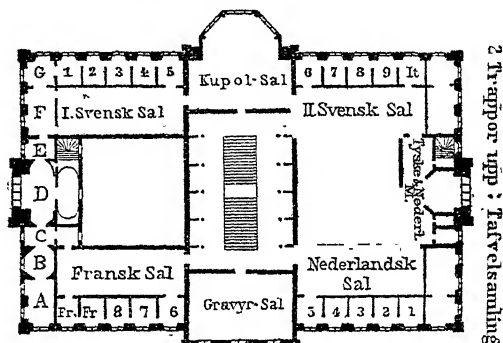

Room XIII is divided into six cabinets, fitted up in 16-17th cent. style. No. 1. Bedroom, with Danish and German wood-carving; 2. Library, with a small carved wooden panel by Veit Stoss (early 16th cent.); 3. Dining Room of the 17th cent., with a large Italian table of the 16th cent.; 4. Bedroom, with large bed of the Nuremberg family Imhoff (17th cent.), in which Gustavus Adolphus is said to have slept; 5. Room, with German wood-carvings; 6. Room, with a large Dutch cabinet of the 17th cent., and a piece of Swedish tapestry of 1689; 7. Room, containing rococo furniture. By the end-wall, where the numbering begins, is a Throne Canopy from Denmark (1586); below, a gorgeous Italian table-cover, 16th cent.

Room XIV: to the right is Cabinet 8. (rococo furniture), to the left Cabinet 9. (Swedish furniture in the 'Gustavian' or Louis XVI. style, 1770-90).

Another marble staircase ascends to the — SECOND FLOOR. The staircase and the upper landing are adorned with casts from the antique, with a colossal relief of Linnaeus by Chr. Eriksson, and with busts of the engineers John Nils Ericsson, Nordenskjöld, and others. The two antique columns at the entrance of the domed room (p. 329) and those by the Gravyr-Sal (p. 326) opposite were brought from Italy by Gustavus III.

The Picture Gallery* owes its origin and its importance in the domain of ancient art to purchases by Queen Louisa Ulrica (p. li) and her son Gustavus III., and specially to the acquisition of the extensive collection of Count Karl G. Tessin, Swedish ambassador at Paris (1739-42), who owned many admirable Netherlandish works of the 17th, and French of the 18th cent. Compared with this nucleus, the later purchases (Martelli Collection, 1803) and recent presentations are of inferior value. The collection of modern works was begun in 1856, when the Diet granted a subsidy for the purchase of modern Swedish pictures. The gallery now possesses over 1200 works, of which one-third are modern. Small catalogue 50 s.; critical catalogue of foreign masters by Georg Göthe 3 kr.; French illustrated catalogue 5 kr.; illustrated catalogue of northern painters 8 kr.

We pass through the domed room (p. 329) and, to the right, through the 2nd Swedish Room (p. 329), and begin with the —

Old Masters. At the end of this Swedish Room, on the left, is a CABINET (It, on Plan, p. 324) containing pictures by Carlo Dolci, Tiepolo, and other Italians, of no great value. — The door opposite opens into a — CORRIDOR, with an adjoining HEXAGON, which contains German and Netherlandish pictures of the 16th cent., of comparatively little value.

The best of these are in the Hexagon. Left: 370. Jan Brueghel, Market (1609), 466. Gillis d'Hondecoeter, Orpheus; 508, 507. Jan Massys, Amorous old man and Venus (1566); 1371. Portrait (1533); 1520. Dutch School of 16th cent., Lute-player. Then 257. L. Cranach Jun., Charles V. and John Fred. of Saxony hunting. Lucas Cranach Sen., 258 The purchase, 1030. Lucretia (1528), 255, 256. Luther's parents, and (without No.) Luther and his bride. — 1384. Westphalian School (ca. 1500), SS. Catharine and George.

We next enter the NEDERLANDSK SAL, lighted from above, which contains admirable pictures of the Flemish and Dutch schools of the 17th cent. End-wall, left of the entrance: 595. School of Rubens, The four fathers of the church, 596. Rubens, Susanna in the bath (school-piece); above, 639. P. de Vos, Stag-hunt. — Left side-wall: *599, *600. Rubens, Sacrifice to Fertility, and Bacchanalian Scene, copied by Rubens at Rome in 1605 from Titian's famous works now at Madrid; between these, in the centre of the wall, *578. Rembrandt, Conspiracy of the Batavians under Claudius Civilis against the Romans, painted in 1662 for the Town Hall of Amsterdam, the master's largest work after the Night Watch, though merely the central part of a composition five times the size. — *1120. Judith Leyster (pupil of Frans Hals), Flute-player; *1567. Frans Hals, Fiddler. Then a series of admirable portraits by Rembrandt: 585. Pastor J. Uitenbogaert (ca. 1633), *583. His sister (?; 1632), 1349. St. Peter (1632), 581. Old man, 584. 'Portrait of his cook' (1651), *582. Old woman (1655); 462. Hobbema, Hut among trees; 616. J. van Ruysdael, Forest-path; 344. F. Bol, Portrait; 293. Dan. Schultsz (1620- after 1686). Game-dealer; *443. J. van Goijen, View of Dordrecht (1655); right of the door, 1430. F. Bol, Lute-player; 512. G. Metsu, Woman weeping, with a smith in the background. — End-wall: 637. Snyders, Still-life. — Side-wall: 404. A. van Dyck, St. Jerome with an angel and the lion, an early work, in Rubens' style; 488. Jordaens, Adoration of the Shepherds (1618); *433. Fyt, Dead game (1651); 689. Corn. de Vos, Cavaliers at cards; 601. Rubens, The Graces with a basket of flowers; 762. G. de Crayer (?), Phillip IV. of Spain on horseback; *303. J. d'Arthois, Large wooded landscape; 343. P. Soulman, The four Evangelists; Rubens, 602. Two naked boys with grapes, *606. Sampson slaying the lion (sketch); 409. Antwerp Master (early 17th cent.), Portrait; 410. School of Rubens, Love triumphant; 1486. F. Snyders, Fox as the guest of the heron; *1179. Jordaens, The Lydian king Candaules tempting his favourite Gyges.

The smaller Dutch pictures are exhibited in the Cabinets adjoining this room and the French Room (comp. p. 327). CAB. I: left, *418. G. van dan Eeckhout, Satyr and peasant; 421. A. van Everdingen, Rocky shore; 588. Moeyaert, The angel leaving Tobias; *579. Rembrandt, St. Anastasius in his cell (1634); right and left of the latter, 672, 673. W. van de Velde, Small sea-pieces, 1173. Dutch Master (17th cent.), Landscape. — Then, P. de Hooch, *473. Woman by a cradle, *471. The letter; 1386. P. Codde, Family scene. — Also, 1549. Dirk Hals, Merry company. — CAB. II: 310. C. Bega, Music-lesson (1663); 622. S. Ruysdael, Shepherd and shepherdess by a ruin (1642), 356. R. Brakenburgh, Dance (1699); A. van Ostade, 548, 549. Small portraits, 551. Advocate at his study-table (1664); 621. *S. We re-enter the Nederländsk Sal, turn to the left into the staircase, and again to the left into the —

GRAVYR-SAL, containing the valuable ENGRAVINGS AND DRAWINGS. The nucleus of the collection consists of works purchased at Paris by Count C. G. Tessin (p. 324; Crozat Collection). There are now 80,000 engravings and 24,000 drawings, the finest of which are exhibited in turn.

Note among the OLDER DRAWINGS several Florentine of the 15th cent. (P. Uccello*, Three youths; Fiesole, Seraph; Ghirlandajo, Head of an old man) and of the 16th cent. (Raphael*, The Magi, for the predella in the Vatican; A. del Sarto, etc.); *Silver-pencil sketch of a young woman by A. Dürer; a large and admirable Portrait by Lucas van Leyden; about a dozen by Rubens (including studies for the Peasants' Dance in the Louvre and for the portraits of Ferdinand and Francesco Gonzaga); nearly as many by Van Dyck, of rare excellence (an English couple, Crucifixion of St. Peter, C. van Geest, etc.); a series of very clever sketches by Adr. Brouwer, and excellent drawings by D. Teniers and Adr. van Ostade; above all, many admirable drawings by Rembrandt, chiefly sketches for pictures (Christ and M. Magdalene, for his picture at Brunswick; Sacrifice of Manoaah, at Dresden, Abraham's Sacrifice, at St. Petersburg, etc.); also a portrait of Titia van Ulenburgh, his sister-in-law (1639), and several valuable studies. — Also MODERN DRAWINGS by G. Munthe, Carl Larsson (Portrait of Strindberg, the poet; 1899), and others, and several paintings by Swedish artists G. Cederström, Narva; 1497 J. Thén, Lapps and slain reindeer, 1898 E. Petersen, Nocturne; 1038. M. E. Winge, Loke and Signy.

We leave the Gravyr-Sal and enter the French Gallery to the left. Here, on the left, are three more Cabinets belonging to the Dutch and Flemish collection. CAB. VI: Sketches by Rubens: *607. The daughters of Cecrops finding Erichthonios, 608. Esther before Ahasuerus, 604. The Magi, 603. Susanna in the bath (1614). — On the left wall. 1183. J. d'Arthois, Landscape; above it, 435. J. Fyt, Still-life; *407. Unknown Master (C. de Vos?), Drawing-room of Rubens; *653, 654. D. Teniers Jun., Four smokers at a table (about 1648), Tavern (1661); 1146. J. van Es; 640. Frans Snyder, Bowl of fruit, above the exit; 1393. D. Seghers, Flowers. — CAB. VII: 290. C. Ruthart, Animal piece. In the centre, 380. Byström, Innocence, in marble. — CAB. VIII: Dutch and early-Swedish pictures from a private bequest; 305. P. van Asch, Landscape; 442. Jan van Goijen, Halt at the farm; 713. P. Wouwerman, Waggon in a shed and rider, 444. J. van Goijen, River-scene; 577. A. Pijnacker, Landscape; 536. P. Neeffs, Church-interior; 517. P. Moreelse, Portrait; 436. Jan Fyt, Still-life.

We re-enter the FRANSK SAL, lighted from above, which contains master-pieces of the French school of the 18th cent., a collection which, out of Paris, is rivalled in St. Petersburg and London alone. By François Boucher (1703-70), famous for the sensuous beauty of his works, in the reign of Louis XV., are: *769. Venus and the Graces bathing, 771. Leda and the swan, 773. 'Pense-t-il au raisin' (1747), 768. Toilet of Venus (1746), all on the right wall; in the centre of the left wall, *770. Triumph of Galatea, perhaps his masterpiece (1740); François Desportes (1661-1743), painter of still-life and hunting-scenes: right wall, 799, 798. Large breakfast-tables; end-wall, 801. Hound pointing; left wall, 800. Peaches in a silver dish and dead game. Among the eight pictures by Jean Baptiste Oudry (1686-1755), the animal-painter, are *867. Stag hunt (end-wall) and 861. Fight between a poodle and a bittern (left wall). Seven landscapes (891-897) by Ol. Jos. Vernet (1714-89) are distributed throughout the room. Other notable works on the left wall: 883. H. Rigaud, Portrait of Charles XII. in full armour; 1326. Jouvenet, St. Bruno; 845. Lancreret, Woman skating, *884. H. Rigaud, Portrait of Card. Fleury; 785. Chardin, Still-life; 854. Le Moyne, Venus and Adonis (1729); *846. Van Loo, Louis XV., full-length; 793. Noël Nic. Coypel, Judgment of Paris (1728); 1186. J. M. Nattier, Duchess of Orleans as Hebe; 813. G. Poussin, Landscape. End-wall: 1314. N. Largillière, Count Sparre; 1313. A. Pesne, Ch. Fred. Sparre (1744). — Adjacent are two Cabinets marked Fr.

in the ground-plan, containing several excellent smaller pictures. 1st CAB.: 778-786. Jean Bapt. Sim. Chardin, Genre pictures; *772. Fr. Boucher, The toilet (1746); *843, *844. Lancrer, The swing, Blind-man's-buff; 874. Pater, The bathers; 888. H. Turraval, Venus and Adonis. — 2ND CAB.: Pictures of the 19th cent.: 1581. C. Corot, Landscape with birches; 1585. Ch. E. Jacque, Flock of sheep in an oak-grove; 1588. Jean Franç. Millet, Sea-coast; 1596. J. Mar. Claude, Sunset on the sea-coast.

From the French Saloon a short passage leads to the rooms on the W. side of the building. Three of these are devoted to foreign painters of the 19th cent. Room A (furthest to the left): 183. P. S. Krøyer (p. 417), Summer evening at Cape Skagen, pastel; 160. V. Johansen (p. 417), Among artists; *1601. L. Simon (French), Twilight; *1517. J. V. Villegas (Span.), Choristers. — Room B: 1360. Bertha Wegman (Dane), Young mother; 1613. Oda Krogh (Norwegian, wife of the painter Chr. Krogh), G. Heiberg, the author; 1434. F. Thaulow (Norw.), January day, 1522. O. Sinding (Norw.), Summer night on the coast of Norway; 1512. E. T. Werenskiöld (Norw.), F. Collet, the Norw. painter. — Room C: 1500, 1563. F. v. Lenbach, L. Gedon, architect, and J. v. Döllinger, theologian; 1519. H. Thoma, Black Forest scene; 1564. E. R. Menard (French), Sunset.

The following rooms are devoted to Swedish Masters, from the end of the 17th cent. down to the present day (comp. pp. lvi, lix). Room D: Mostly by Dav. Klöcker von Ehrenstrahl (1629-98): 1407. Moor with a parrot, 948. Three children of Charles XI. of Sweden (boy on the lion afterwards Charles XII.), 949. Portrait of himself. — Room E 1110. P. Hilleström (1732-1816), Kitchen scene; Elias Martin, 1543. Landscape with a ruin, 1470. View from the Mynt-torg (p. 310), 1497. Portrait of Bellman (p. 339). — Room F: Pastels and water-colours, chiefly portraits of the royal family by Nik. Lafresen, as 77. Gustavus III., full figure; 17, 18. Gust. Lundberg (1695-1786), Portraits of women. — Room G: 955. Karl Joh. Fahlerantz, Calmar castle by moonlight. — Returning to Room F, we next enter the —

I. SVENSK SAL. Right side: 1032. Ad. Utr. Wertmüller (1751-1812), Queen Marie Antoinette with her children in the park of Trianon, painted in Paris in 1785; 1566. *Al. Eagle. End-wall: Pictures by Anders Zorn, 1510. Portrait of himself, 1603. Midsummer dance, 1640. Bf. Liljefors, the painter, etc. — Adjacent are —

Four Cabinets, the first two of which contain other Swedish pictures. VI. CAB.: Water-colours by C. Larsson, Portrait of the authoress Selma Lagerlöf, Scenes from his home, Studio idyll; 184. A. Zorn, Our daily bread. — VII. CAB.: 225. A. Wallander (b. 1862); Poultry-dealer (pastel). Then, 1483. N. Kreuger (b. 1858), Spring in Halland; 1628. G. Fjæstad (b. 1868), Winter night.

VIII. CAB., Danes (p. 416): P. S. Kroyer (b. 1851), Edward Grieg, the composer, and his wife; 1428. Fr. Vermehren, Chess-players. Then 1513. J. La Cour, March morning; 1377. Erik Henningsen, Nytorv at Copenhagen; 1560. V. Johannsen, Laying the table; 1359. V. Rosenstand, Café in the Kongens Nytorv, Copenhagen. Then, 1454. M. O. Engelsted, Abraham with Isaac, 1514. J. G. Rodhe, Summer evening at Tønning in Denmark. Also, 44. Bronze statuette of the philosopher S. Kirkegaard, by L. Hasselriis.

IX. CAB., Norwegians (p. lix): 1277. A. Tidemand, By the cradle; 1260. J. S. Dahl, Two monkeys; 1285. C. Hansen, A visitation; 1270. V. S. Lerche, Convent library; above it, without No., Th. Fearnley, Alpine landscape. Then, 1266. H. F. Gude, Welsh landscape; 1336. C. Hansen, Confronting a witness; 1262. Th. Fearnley, Northern landscape; 1343. H. F. Gude, Sandviks-Fjord in Norway. Next, H. F. Gude, 1263. Fjord, 1264. Storm on the outer coast; 1544. Fritz Thaulow, Moonlight-night; 1319. A. Tidemand, Fanatic (lay-sermon in a cottage in Finnmarken). — The adjacent cabinet contains early Italian pictures (p. 325).

The small Plats in front of the N.W. façade of the Museum is embellished with bronze figures by J. Börjeson and T. Lundberg, and with the Bältespännare* ('belt-duellists'), a bronze group by Joh. Pet. Molin (1859; cast at Nuremberg, 1867; comp. p. 281). It represents one of those deadly old Scandinavian duels in which the combatants were bound together with a belt and fought with short knives. The four reliefs on the pedestal, with Runic inscriptions from the Edda, represent the cause and the result of the combat.

From the S. end of the Blasieholm the iron Skeppsholms-Bro leads to the islet of Skeppsholmen (Pl. F, G, 6, 7), with the Karl-Johans-Kyrka and the chief military and naval depôts of Stockholm. The largest building is the Kanonier-Kasern, with its four corner-turrets and lofty gables. The island is intersected by fine old avenues. Good view of Staden from the W. bank (ferry). In front of the Sjökrigsskola, or Naval School, is a memorial of the arctic expedition conducted by Baron A. E. Nordenskiöld in 1878-80. Farther E. is a monument in memory of the naval victory gained by Gustavus III. over the Russians at Svensksund in 1790 (p. lii). On the E. bank of the Skeppsholm is a station of the steam-launches plying to the Djurgård (No. 3, p. 307).

A wooden bridge connects the Skeppsholm with Kastellholmen (Pl. G, H, 7), also a favourite promenade. The tower of the Citadel commands an admirable *View of the environs (94 steps, then an iron ladder of 8 steps more; apply to sailors on guard halfway up; fee 50 ö.). Here too is the pretty club-house of the Royal Skating Club (Skridskoklubben). Close by are moored a number of yachts. At the S. end of the islet is a garden-café.

IV. SÖDERMALM.

At the S. end of Staden is the Sluss-Plan (Pl. E, F, 8; tram stat., p. 305), adjoined on the W. by the Kornhamns-Torg (p. 323) and on the S. by the Söderström, an affluent of Lake Mälär, which small vessels pass by means of a Sluss ('lock', 'sluice'). The stream is crossed by two iron bridges to the Södermalm. By the water's edge are a number of provision-stalls, and close by is the harbour of the fishing-boats.

Between the bridges lies an open space (station of the Södermalm electric tram, p. 305) with an equestrian Statue of Charles XIV. John (Pl. E, 8), by Fogelberg, erected by Oscar I. in 1854. The king is represented in the uniform of a Swedish marshal.

The Södermalm, the extensive S. quarter of the city, occupies a lofty and picturesque site, with streets following the undulations of the rock. To the E. of the bridge is the Stadsgård, a long quay with the station of the Saltsjöbaden railway (p. 341). To the W. is the broad Söder-Mälär-Strand, a quay formed by blasting the rock.

On the Stadsgård is the conspicuous Katarina-Hissen (Pl. E, F, 8), a steam-lift which carries us to the top of the Södermalm (118 ft.; 5 ö.). The belvedere at the top (adm. 10 ö.; small café) affords a splendid *View of the old town with its churches and the palace, Norrmalm with the dome of the Adolf-Fredriks-Kyrka, the high tower of the Johanns-Kyrka, the telephone tower, Östermalm, Blasieholm with the National Museum, the Skeppsholm with its avenues, and the Kastellholm. At our feet lies the Saltsjö, enlivened with ships and numerous steam-launches. To the right we see the Djurgårdsstad, backed by the oaks of the park and rocky heights; to the left stretches Lake Mälär.

An iron foot-bridge leads from the platform of the Hissen to the MOSEBACKE-TORG (Pl. F, 9). Here are the Södra Teater (Pl. 45; F, 8) and the garden-restaurant of Mosebacken (Pl. 29; F, 8), another fine point of view. Near it rises the Water-Tower, whence the view is more extensive (fee). — The Katarina-Kyrka (Pl. F, 9), built in 1656-70 by Jean de la Vallée, and lately restored, marks the spot where the bodies of the victims of the 'Stockholm Blood Bath' (p. xlvii) were burned. — At the S.E. extremity of the city rises the conspicuous new Sofia-Kyrka, built by G. Hermansson.

On the Söder-Mälär-Strand rises the Maria-Hissen (Pl. D, 8; 6 ö., incl. ferry to or from the Mälär-Torg, p. 313), another 'hoist' or elevator, built into the rock. From the top we reach the Bellmans-Gata, cross the Horns-Gata (electric tram, p. 317), and turn S.E. to the Maria-Kyrka (Pl. E, 8; 16th cent., restored 1825). Or we may go S. W. to the Adolf-Fredriks-Torg (Pl. D, 9), with a fountain-group of 'Thor with the Midgard serpent', by H. Wissler, and a copy in bronze of Hasselberg's 'Lily' (p. 323).

V. KUNGSHOLMEN.

Kungsholmen, the W. suburb of Stockholm, contains several large medical institutions. In the HANDTVERKARE-GATA (tramway), just beyond the Nya Kungsholms-Bro (Pl. C, 6), are right and left the Serafimer-Lazarett, founded in 1752, and the Karolinska Mediko-Kirurgiska Institut. This national college for medical training, erected in 1811, has 22 professors, 27 lecturers, and nearly 300 students, and a Museum of medicine and hygiene (apply to 'vaktmästare'). Beyond the Royal Mint (left) and the Ulrika-Eleonora-Kyrka (right; altar-piece by Westin) is a large Maternity Hospital (Pl. 10; A, 6); then (left) the Military Hospital (Garnisons-Sjukhuset; Pl. A, 6), to the N. of which is Crown-Princess Louisa's Children's Hospital. Farther W. are the Sjukhem ('sick-home'), the hospital of St. Göran, and the lunatic asylum of Conradsberg.

VI. DJURGÅRDEN.

TRAMWAY (No. 7; p. 305) every 5 min. from the Norrmalms-Torg (Pl. E, 4, 5) by the Nybrohamn and Strandväg, then over the Djurgårds-Bro (see below) to Bellmansro (p. 339). — STEAM LAUNCHES, every 1/4 hr. from various piers (p. 30.)

The Djurgård*, laid out by Gustavus III. and Charles XIV. on the site of an old deer-park, with its fine old oaks, pleasant villas, and beautiful walks, occupies an islet in the Saltsjö, about 2 M. long and 3/4 M. broad, separated from the mainland by the Djurgårdsbrunnsvik. On the S. W. bank lies Djurgårds-Staden, the only suburb of Stockholm still built chiefly of timber. The main approach is from the E. end of the Strandväg (p. 316), by the Djurgårds-Bro (Pl. H, 5), a stone bridge completed in 1897, adorned with bronze figures from northern mythology.

On the right, immediately beyond the bridge, rises the — Northern Museum (Nordiska Museet; Pl. H, 5), an imposing edifice with many gables, built of reddish limestone with granite base in the 'Vasa style', in imitation of a 16th cent. Swedish castle. Designed by J. G. Clason, and begun in 1903, it was completed in 1906 and opened in 1907. The collection owes its origin to the untiring zeal of Dr. Artur Hazelius (1833-1901), who foresaw that all the old national furniture, implements, ornaments, and costumes would soon be superseded by the products of modern industry, and who succeeded in rescuing a host of such objects from their impending doom. No other country can present so complete a picture of early and mediæval culture, the memorials of which have been swept away earlier by the tide of civilisation. A valuable supplement to the collection is formed by the royal armoury, a collection of weapons, costumes, and historical curiosities formerly preserved in the palace. The collections are admirably arranged. The finest specimens of their respective kinds are exhibited, the inferior being carefully stored. Directors, Dr. Bernh. Salin and (of the armoury) Baron R. Cederström. Adm., see p. 308.

A flight of steps ascends to the chief entrance. The inscriptions on the obelisks right and left are to the effect that 'while young hearts beat in the North they should cherish the heritage of their fathers', and that 'the day may come when all our gold will fail to procure us a picture of bygone ages'. A relief over the entrance represents the Museum receiving gifts from Age and presenting them to Youth, another allusion to the objects of the collection. — To the right in the vestibule is the cloak-room, where sticks and umbrellas are left (5 ö.). The custodians wear national costume. Right and left are the staircases ascending to the upper floors (p. 335). Straight before us is the —

Great Hall, 138 yds. long and about 70 ft. high, the whole height of the building, containing the ROYAL ARMOURY (Lifrust-Kammäre). In the niche opposite the entrance is a colossal painted plaster figure of Gustavus Vasa (p. xlviii), the founder of the modern kingdom of Sweden, enthroned and gorgeously robed, by O. Milles (of which a replica carved in wood is projected). The various objects are arranged round the hall in chronological order. Long rows of Swedish flags of the 17th and 18th cent. recall the exploits of Gustavus Adolphus and Charles XII.

Beginning on the left: SIXTEENTH CENTURY and early 17th, Armour chiefly of German workmanship, notably the 'Maximilian' padded suits; a suit of 'pipe-armour'; Gustavus Vasa's armour (of Augsburg, 1540); superb equestrian suit of Eric XIV. (by Kunz Lochner of Nuremberg); parts of a gala-suit (by Jacobe of Greenwich), a showy shield, and helmet (Italian, about 1570); two swords of Duke Gotthard Kettler of Kurland; wooden shield of king Sigismund (Italian work); state-suit of Charles IX. (superb work by Heinr. Cnoep of Nuremberg, with the Swedish arms). — E. European and Oriental Objects of 16th-17th Cent.: Saddles, sabres, daggers, battle-axes, richly jewelled, presented by the Transylvanian prince Bethlen Gabor to Gustavus Adolphus; Persian coat of embroidered velvet, once owned by Charles X.; helmet of Ivan the Terrible of Russia (d. 1684). — SEVENTEENTH CENTURY: Period of Gustavus Adolphus; standard of 1626, the king's jerkin and leathern collar stained with the blood of wounds received at Dantsic on 24th May and 8th Aug. 1627, his helmet (33 lbs. in weight); two embroidered horse-cloths with the Swedish arms and the initials G. A. 2, Delft work of 1621; the horse he was riding when he fell at Lützen on 6th Nov. 1632; saddle, sword, and pistol used by the king at the battle; three blood-stained shirts and pair of stockings found by the king's body; state-armour carried to the Riddarholms-Kyrka at the king's funeral on 22nd June, 1634. From the belongings of queen Christina: cross-bow, guns, pistols, and saddles. Owned by Charles X.: court-garments, sword, gun, and pistols, richly decorated, Italian work; state-armour and banner used at his funeral, on 3rd Nov. 1660. Period of Charles XI.: his dress when a boy, toys (colonel of artillery in campaigning equipment and two cannons); French guns, pistols, and saddles; superb double revolver-gun inlaid with silver, by Jean Berain. — EIGHTEENTH CENTURY: Blue coat, yellow vest, yellow breeches, and top-boots worn by Charles XII. when he fell at Frederikshald (11th Dec. 1718), with the hat pierced by the fatal bullet. Period of Gustavus III.: uniform worn by the king at the military revolution of 18th Aug. 1772; national Swedish costume designed by the king; costume worn by the king at the masked ball in the Great Theatre (p 316) when he was shot by Capt. Ankarström. — NINETEENTH CENTURY. Austrian marshal's uniform of prince Gust. Vasa (d. 1877), son of Gust. IV. Adolphus, and father of the late queen Carola of Saxony; Swedish marshal's uniform of Charles XIV. John; helmet and cuirass of Frederick VIII. of Denmark; gold sword-medal presented by Oscar II. to Emp. William I., unique of its kind, returned after the emperor's death.

The rooms ranged round the Great Hall on the ground-floor are set apart for the illustration of SWEDISH PEASANT LIFE (Svenska Allmogé-Afdelning). The collection is arranged according to provinces. Most of the objects are of purely national origin, but a few, especially from S. Sweden (Skåne), show foreign influence. Tables, chairs, beds, chests, and the like are mostly heavy and massive; the wood-carving often shows artistic merit. Metal is used almost exclusively for tools. Glass is rare. The pottery frequently bears humorous inscriptions. The cloth, carpets, and other textile fabrics are strong and solid, and loud colours are much in vogue.

Right of the entrance, in the N. wing, are four rooms containing objects from Skåne (p. 281). 1. COTTAGE ROOM, from Ingledad, end of 18th cent.; bed, as usual, curiously short, with handle above for raising it; tapestry on the walls. — 2. ROOM. Woven materials; next the windows, life-size figures in costume, with rich silver trinkets and peculiar kerchiefs on their heads; opposite, a carved bedstead, by the exit-wall a carved chair of 1541 with a scene from the Fall of man. — 3. ROOM: Costumed figures, including a woman in mourning, with black cloth instead of the modern veil, opposite, a threefold bed, 1811, in the glass-case by the entrance staves with notched inscriptions, including a 'Byastock' recording the number of gaards in a village, 1774; a 'Ringklubba' of 1751, sent round on a death in the royal family as a summons to mourning; by the left wall a shelf for food (sofvelbrad); by the exit a glass-case with brandy-bottles. — 4. ROOM: Spinning and weaving apparatus; on the walls above, and further on, primitive paintings, chiefly from the Bible, used to decorate rooms at Christmas; in a show-stand in the centre are trinkets of the 17th and 18th cent., as still worn, but in more delicate make, including an 'Ellakors', or cross to ward off elves; the balls of glass in the stand left of the exit and the carved mangle-boards on the walls were used for smoothing linen. — 5. ROOM: Costumes and other objects from Blekinge (p. 283). — 6. ROOM: Similar curiosities from the islands of Öland (p. 270) and Götland (p. 353); by the window in the centre a bridal crown; 'Vagglusbrade', boards with holes as bug-traps; in the glass-case to the left of the entrance, spice-mills, boxes, etc. — 7. SKÅNE COTTAGE ROOM from Hälsjö, first half of 19th cent.

On the other side of the N. wing there are first three rooms devoted to Småland (p. 286). 8. SMÅLAND COTTAGE ROOM from Södra-Vedbo, early 19th cent. — 9. ROOM: Costumed figures; on the walls here and in the next room are rustic paintings, embroidery, bridal crowns, and other ornaments. — 10. ROOM: So called war-insignia of the women of Värmd in memory of their bravery in battle against the Danes; by the wall on the right, shepherds' horns, resembling the Swiss alphorn; to the left by the exit, cake-moulds and bread-stamps for Christmas rolls. — 11. ROOM: Eating and drinking-vessels, goblets; harness and saddles, partly of elks' horns; spinning and weaving implements, woven stuffs. — 12. and 13. ROOMS: Objects from Halland (p. 276), wall-paintings; costumes, bridal crowns, trinkets; domestic utensils and furniture; by the exit-wall of the last room, curious candelabra. — 14. ROOM FROM W. GÖTLAND, S. of Lake Venern.

In the S. wing of the Great Hall, beyond the figure of Gustavus Vasa; 15. DALECARLIA COTTAGE ROOM from Rättvik (p. 363), with wainscot and open fire-place. — 16. and 17. ROOMS: Costumes and curiosities from W. Götland. — 18. ROOM: Objects from Dalsland (p. 237). — 19. ROOM: Articles from Bohuslän (p. 104), woven stuffs. — 20. ROOM: Curiosities and costumes from E. Götland (p. 293); left of the exit, Runic staves. — 21. HELSINGLAND COTTAGE ROOM from near Dalsbo, room with painted walls and open fire-place.

On the other side of the S. wing. 22. GESTRIKLAND COTTAGE ROOM from Välbo (p. 363). — 23. ROOM: Objects and costumes from Södermanland (p. 301). — 24. ROOM: Similar articles from Nerike (p. 290) and Västmanland, W. of Lake Malar. — 25-28. ROOMS: Furnishings from Dalecarlia (p. 364), the costumes specially picturesque; harness with curious old-fashioned ornamentation; herds' horns; staves with notched inscriptions of various kinds, including 'Bykladdar' with lists of estates (one of which was used near Mora down to 1857); also 'Sagstickor' with estate-lists; baskets of birch-bark, for carrying children to baptism; embroidery, bridal crowns; bed of 1693; on the walls paintings on linen; old-fashioned carved poles for hanging clothes from the ceiling. — 29. DALECARLIA PEASANT'S ROOM from Transtad, with open fire-place and hanging-poles.

THE FIRST FLOOR (to which staircases ascend from the Vestibule, p. 333) contains in the central room and two side-rooms CORONATION EQUIPMENTS from the Royal Armoury, and in the rooms of the N. wing, adjoining on the right, SWEDISH GUILD INSIGNIA; then, on the other side of the latter and also of the S. wing, FOREIGN RUSTIC FURNITURE; and on the entrance-side of the S. wing, products of SWEDISH INDUSTRY of the 18th cent., etc.

29-31. Coronation Rooms: Coronation robes, banners; throne canopy and saddle of Charles IX., the latter with rich pearl and gold embroidery; gilded toilet-furnishings of 1778, with fine English lace; cradles of kings Charles XII. and Gust. IV. Adolphus; saddle of Charles XIV. John.

Guild Section (Skrö-Afdelning). 32, 33. Rooms: Belongings of Swedish Guilds, chests, safes, stamps, guild-tankards (for bidding welcome), covered mugs, goblets, master-pieces, etc. — 34, 36. Rooms: Similar German and other Foreign Objects. — 35. Room: Dispensary, with retorts, distilling apparatus, fine boxes, partly German, alchemist's furnace, cabinet for poisons, etc.

Foreign Section (Utländska Allmoges-Afdelning) 37-45 and 48 contain the Norwegian Objects: Furniture, harness, wardrobes, chests, kitchen utensils, goblets, trinkets. In the 40. Room, battle-axes and other weapons of 16th-18th cent.; musical instruments; in the side-passages (41, 45.) are carved stakes and beams from Stabbure (store-houses) — 46. Room: Objects from Denmark and Iceland (carved planks) and a few from Slesvig. — 47. Room: From Finland, chiefly from its Swedish inhabitants; on the central stand are baskets, ropes, and birch-bark shoes, purely Finnish.

The rooms on the entrance-side of the S wing are chiefly devoted to Swedish Industry of the 18th cent.; the numbering is in continuation of that on the 2nd Floor. 82. Room Toys (Leksaker) — 83. Room; (Musik-Afdelning): Violins, lutes (incl. Bellman's, p. 339); organ from Upland with German inscription. — 84-87. Rooms and 88. Passage: Textile Section, weaving-loom, incl. one brought from Holland by Jonas Alströmer in 1720, probably the first in Sweden; carpets, lace, etc.

On the second or UPPER FLOOR are collections illustrative of the life of the Swedish UPPER CLASSES (Högre Stands-Afdelning): Furnishings, costumes, etc., from the 16th to the end of the 19th cent., showing, in contrast to the peasants' belongings, the refinements of foreign influence. While the royal palaces, the châteaux of the nobles, and the houses of the wealthy have their Renaissance, baroque, rococo, Louis XVI., and empire styles, these styles were so far modified by national influences as to justify the terms Vasa (1520-1650), Carolingian (1650-1750), and Gustavian (1771-1810) periods.

The arrangement begins at the S.W. angle of the building. To the left from the staircase we enter the modern rooms (see below) and walk through them and round to the earlier. 49. Room: Earlier Vasa Period (1520-1600): Fine inlaid chest, etc. — 50, 51. Rooms: Later Vasa Period (1600-50)

In the 50th, room-furnishings from the château of Tynnelso (p. 346) of 1620, with carved cabinet, doors, and ceilings; in the 51st, inlaid cabinets and chests — 52, 53. Rooms: Carolingian Period (1650-1720). In the 52nd reproduction of a room of 1690, with old tapestry and adjoining sleeping-place; in the 53rd a child's costume of the period, — 54. CITIZEN'S PARLOUR, Stockholm, 1730. — 55. Room: Cabinets, porcelain, etc., 1730. — PASSAGE round the semicircular bay in the centre of the building (56). Glasses of 17th-18th cent.; porcelain from Rörstrand (p. 346) and Marieberg (p. 343), 1750-70; china. — 56-61. Rooms: Rococo Period (1750-70). Furniture, costumes, fans, caskets, clocks. — 59, 60. CITIZEN'S Rooms, 1760. — 61. Room: Clothing, furniture, fayence. — 62. Room: Fitted up as in 1770 (reproduction). — 63. Room: Earlier Gustavian Period (1771-80).

On the farther side of this wing of the building: 64, 65. Rooms: Later Gustavian Period (1780-1805): Costumes, incl. Gustavus III.'s so-called national costume; ornaments; room-fittings of 1780 in 65th, and of 1790 in 67th — 68-70. Rooms: Empire Period (1805-30): Room-furnishings of 1810 in 69th, and of 1830 in 70th. — 75-81. Rooms (beyond the staircase): Swedish furniture, costumes, small objects, from the beginning of 19th cent till the present time in the 80th, room-fittings made for the Paris Exhibition of 1900.

In the basement or Cellar Floor are exhibited objects from Lapland, furniture and costumes; reindeer sledges and harness; carvings in reindeer-horn; 'Seitar' (p. 236), stones of peculiar shape which were worshipped; soothsayer's or magic drums. Illustrated History of Fire (cooking, heating, lighting). Shooting and Fishing Gear, incl. a curious bear-trap, in which the victim was drawn up by the hind-legs; figures to scare wolves. Church Hall, containing church-doors with mountings of 13th cent., wooden founts, church-benches, altar-utensils.

On the left, beyond the Northern Museum is the Biological Museum (Pl. I, 6; adm., p. 308), timber-built in the style of the Norwegian 'Stavekirker', which affords an admirable survey of the birds and mammalia of Scandinavia. Beyond it is the Jägarhyddan café (p. 304); on the left are the Djurgårds-Teater (Pl. I, 5, 6) and the entrance to Skansen (p. 338).

To the right of the main road is the broad and short Allmänna-Gränd (steam-launches, see p. 315). On the left is Hasselbacken (Pl. I, 6; p. 304), the largest and best of the restaurants, with grounds containing the remains of an oak (Bellmans Eken), under which Bellman (see p. 339) once sang, and a statue of the poet by G. A. Nyström. — Beyond Hasselbacken the road expands into the Djurgårdsslätten (Pl. I, 6, 7), bordered by the pleasure-resorts of Cirkus, Alhambra, Tivoli, and Novilla. By the last is the entrance to the S. part of Skansen (p. 338).

Skansen (Pl. I, 5, 6, adm., p. 308, fotogr. apparatus must be given up), founded in 1891 by Dr. Artur Hazelius (p. 333) for the illustration of the natural history and ethnography of Sweden. The enclosure, about 70 acres in area, with its rocky hills, its lakes, woods, pastures, and fields, affords a miniature picture of the Swedish country. The fauna and flora of the country are fully represented. Human habitations brought from different districts, occupied by peasants in their local costumes, complete the object-lesson. The keepers wear Swedish uniforms of the time of Gustavus Adolphus and Charles XII.

From the entrance near the Djurgårds-Teater we may ascend by tram (to the left; 10 ö.) or by the broad path to the right to Oscar II.'s Terrace (Rest. Sagaliden, good; no fees). Near the upper end of the tram is the Häsjöstapel, a copy of a Jemtland steeple (p. 372). Pretty view. Farther on is the Lapp Camp, with winter and summer dwellings and reindeer-pen. We then go N., past the Backstuga, to the Seal Basin (Säldamm; Pl. 4). Close by are Tar Works (Tjärddal), a half-sunken stone hut from S. Sweden; then Charcoal Burners' Huts; a Nying (camp-fire for woodmen); large grindstones and hand-mills, probably of the flint-period. A little below are the Skånska Grufvor, an imitation of a coal-mine (25 ö.). In the same building are models of the town of Wisby (p. 355) and of a north-country timber-yard. Near the seals are the Foxes (Pl. 5; rare black fox; Pl. 6) and Lynxes (Pl. 8). To the S.E., close to the wood, are the Morastuga (p. 367), quaintly fitted up, and the Orsastuga (p. 368). By the latter is a 'Maistång' (May-pole), round which the young people used to dance. In the wood, beyond the Orsastuga, are the pens of the smaller animals: hares, pheasants, cranes, wood-grouse, wood-pigeons, otters, ospreys, hawks, falcons, ravens, owls, and ptarmigan. Then the Royal Eagles' Cage and the Målberg, with specimens of minerals. Farther N., passing the Bears' Dens (Pl. 19, 20), we come to the Wolves and the Gluttons (Pl. 21, 22). — Returning past the bears we ascend to the outlook-tower of —

BREDABLICK (adm. 25 ö.). Near it are a good café and the winter restaurant of Höganloft (no fees). On the 2nd floor is a collection of clocks, guild-insignia, and postage-stamps. The view from the upper platform (246 ft.) is one of the finest in Stockholm, embracing the extensive city with its towers and domes, the grand Palace, the green Djurgård, and the bays of the Saltsjö. — To the E. of the Bredablick is an exit near the Horticultural Society's garden (see below).

In the S.E. part of Skansen is the Laxbrostuga (10 ö.), the house of a Dalar mine-owner and merchant, whose wife was Dutch (end of 17th cent.); E. of it is Svedenborg's Paviljon, with memorials of the philosopher and mystic Eman. Swedenborg (1689-1772). To the S. are the Oktopsgård, a large thatched farmhouse from Halland, the Hornbogastuga, from W. Götland, with a Kvarn or mill near it, and then the Hellestadstapel, a tall belfry (view; 106.). Near this is the tomb of Hazelius (p. 333). — From the Oktopsgård we go N. to the Kyrkhultstuga (from Blekinge) on the margin of the wood, and pass between the two lakes. On an island to the left is a sacrificial and burial place of the heathen Lapps. Beyond the Dansplan (see below) we reach the Bollnässtuga, 16th cent., brought from Helsingland, containing objects for the celebration of 'Jul' (Yule, Christmas). To the S. of this are pens for the Elks, Stags, and smaller animals. The S. part of the park contains a second bears'-den and several aviaries. Near the Bollnässtuga are also the Fæbod (dairy) and the Fatbur, on a height to the W., a copy of the storehouse of the manor of Björkvik in Östergötland, one of the oldest timber buildings in Sweden. It contains a collection of northern farm-implements and affords a fine view from the gallery. Near it are the Kennels (Pl. 31; Greenland and Jemtland dogs) and an exit behind Hasselbacken (p. 337).

POPULAR DANCES AND SPORTS, in costume, with national music, take place in the 'Dansplan' several times a week on summer afternoons and evenings. POPULAR FESTIVALS are held on Walpurgis Eve and Walpurgis Day (30th Apr., 1st May), on 6th June, the anniversary of Gustavus Vasa's accession, on St John's Eve and Day ('Midsommaraften', 23rd-24th June), on St. Lucy's Day (13th Dec.), and at Christmas (Jul).

To the E. of Skansen (exit E. of Bredablick) is the large garden of the Trädgårds-Förening or Horticultural Society. — Farther on is Rosendal, a villa built by Charles XIV. John, with orangery and hot-houses. In front of the villa stands a huge Porphyry Vase, 8½ ft. high and 11½ ft. in diameter.

The S. and S.E. part of the Djurgård, with its fine oaks, green meadows, bold rocks, and a view of the Saltsjö, affords charming walks. We follow the direction of the road, but the paths right and left offer a pleasant variety. To the left at the E. end of Djurgårdsslätten (p. 337), we reach (6-7 min.) the Bellmansro café, and beyond it a small round space adorned with a bronze bust of Karl Michael Bellman (1740-95), the singer and still popular Swedish poet (by Byström, erected in 1829). On 26th July ('Bellmansdagen') a lively festival is held here in his honour. — To the S. is the Frisens-Park, a peninsula with fine views, a very popular resort on Sunday afternoons in summer (singing and dancing; rfmts., but no spirits). About 1 M. from Hasselbacken is Manilla, a large blind and deaf-and-dumb asylum (Thurs., 11-4; 'här ser man illa, här hör man illa, här talar man illa', say the local wits). — Farther on are several pleasant villas; that of Parkudden belongs to Prince Charles.

51. Environs of Stockholm.

The long arm of the Baltic called the Saltsjö and the inland Lake Mälär, which unite their waters at Stockholm, form 'Skär-gårde' or archipelagoes of innumerable rocks and islets. Stockholm lies 60 Kil. from the island-belt on the outer coast, while the Mälär extends 117 Kil. inland, covering with its large bays an area of 450 sq. M. Its 1260 islands are 190 sq. M. in area, and at places it is 210 ft. deep. The scenery of the Saltsjö is finer than that of the Mälär, its rocky banks are higher and more varied. The Mälär is historically more interesting. Near the capital both its banks are enlivened with country-houses. On the Saltsjö the most attractive places are Saltsjöbaden (p. 342) and Vaxholm (p. 343), on the Mälär Drottningholm (p. 343) and Gripsholm (p. 344). Steamboats, see Sveriges Kommunikationer (and comp. p. 307).

A. On the Saltsjö.

HAGA and ULRIKSDAL. — TRAMWAY (No. 34, p. 305) from Staden to Haga Grindar, at the entrance of the park of Haga (see below). Walk through the park to the château, and thence to the pier of the STEAM LAUNCH coming from the Stallmästaregård (see below), which takes us to Ulriksdal in 40 min. (50 ö.; dep. from Stallmästaregård on week-days at 8.30, 9.30, 11.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, and 8.30; dep. from Ulriksdal at 8, 9, 11, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, and 8; on Sun. every ½ hr.).

There are three other routes to Ulriksdal: the Upsala RAILWAY to Järfea (p. 347); the Djurholsm ELECTRIC TRAM (p. 205) to Stocksund (whence we cross the bridge S of the station and go through the wood to the right to the château in 40 min.); or STEAM LAUNCH to Stocksund (p. 307) in 1½ hr. (dep. from Nybron, Pl. F, 5, twice daily, Sun. four times, touching at Lilla Vartan and Edsviken).

Or we may reach Haga from stat. Norrtull, lying S. of the park, or from stat. Albano, near the Stallmästaregård, both on the line from the central station at Stockholm to the Saltsjö port of Vartan.

The tramway leaves the city at Norrtull (Pl. A, 1) and passes under the Värtahamn railway to stat. Stallmästaregården. (Steam-launch to Haga and Ulriksdal, see above.) An avenue of lime-trees leads from here in 6-8 min. (10 min. from the Norrtull) to the garden-café of that name, at the S. end of the Brunnsvik.

The car stops near the New Cemetery, at the gate (Haga Grindar) of the park of Haga, whence we walk to the château in 20 min. more. The charming but rather neglected park is a favourite Sunday resort of the humbler citizens. The unpretending château of Haga (Gustaf's III. Paviljong), built by Gustavus III. in 1786-88, was his favourite residence. Decorative paintings by Manguier and furniture of that period are still preserved. The 'Vaktmästare' lives at the offices opposite (1 kr.). — In the wood above are the foundations of a grand château which was never completed.

The new cemetery, Nya Kyrkogården, contains several fine monuments. On the road, 10 min. farther, is the Crematorium. — The old Solna-Kyrka, S.W. of the cemetery, has a tower of granite, said to date in part from dagan days.

The steam-launch (pier N. of the château) steers down the pretty bay of Brunnsviken, threads the strait of Ålkistan, and calls at Stocksund (station on the electric tram, see below). It then ascends the Edsvik to Ulriksdal (and Tegelhagen).

The royal château of Ulriksdal lies a little S. of the pier. (On the way is the vaktmästare's house, to the left; 1 kr.) It was erected at the end of the 17th cent. by General Jacob de la Gardie, and was afterwards a residence of Prince Ulrik, son of Charles XI. It still contains some old furniture, stained glass, and paintings. The *Intarsia portals of the drinking-room, by Dutch artists of the 17th cent., were brought from a château of the chancellor Oxenstjerna. The extensive park is noted for its fine avenues of lime-trees. To the S. of the château is a chapel built in 1865 in the Dutch Renaissance style. — Through the wood to Stocksund is a walk of 40 min.

SMALL STEAMER from Charles XII.'s Torg (Pl. E, 5) thrice daily (4 times on Sun.), past the S. side of the Djurgård, through the Lilla Värtan, with Värtahamn on the left, under the Ländigö-Bro, and E. of the island of Tranholm (1½ hr.). — From Djursholm the boat goes on to Bost and Rydöholm.

The electric car stops first at the Östra Station (Pl. D, 1). Near Albåno we cross the Värtahamn railway (p. 340). We pass the Experimental Field of the Academy of Agriculture, the Fisheries Museum, and Frescati. To the left is the Bergianska Trädgård, a botanic garden with a large hot-house. We cross a strait to station Ålkistan, and then the Stocksund which connects the Edsvik with the Lilla Värtan. At stat. Stocksund is the power-station of the line. (To Ulriksdal, see above.) The next stations are Mörby and Ösby; our line now diverges to the E.; that to the N. goes on to Rimbo (p. 353).

Djursholm is a new colony of villas on the hilly bank of the Stora Värtan. The cars stop at Sveavägen, Auravägen, Restauranten (Hotel-Rest., at the station, D. 3 kr.), etc. To the N.W., 7 min., is the old Château (restored), once belonging to the Banér's estate of Djursholm. The place itself offers little of interest.

SALTSJÖBADEN. — RAILWAY hourly in ½ hr. (75 o., return-fare 1 kr.) from the Stadsgård (Pl. F, 8), to which a steam-ferry plies every ¼ hr. from Charles XII.'s Torg (Pl. E, 6; comp. p. 307). — STEAMER (Kom. 387) thrice daily in 1½ hr., from Gustaf III.'s Statue (p. 341); 75 ö., return-fare 1 kr.), preferable, time permitting.

The TRAIN threads a tunnel and runs through a picturesque rocky and wooded district. We stop at the suburb of Henriksdal, and, beyond a second tunnel, at Sickla and (4 Kil.) Nacka (8 min. S. of which is the popular garden-restaurant of Nackanäs). 8 Kil. Dufnäs, the halfway station, lies at the W. end of the Lännerstasund (p. 342). Then Östervik, Fisksätra and Neglinje, all with villas, bath-houses, and boat-houses. The train crosses a strait to a peninsula on which lie stat. Ringvägen and the terminus Saltsjöbaden. Trains in connection with the steamers run down to the pier.

The STEAMER skirts the S. bank of the Djurgård islands. Astern we have a beautiful view of Stockholm, where the dome of Katerina-Kyrka long remains visible. On the S. bank are dock-yards and factories, and on both banks many pretty villas. At the mouth of the bay of Lilla Värtan (p. 341) lie the Fjäderholmarna islands, a Sunday pleasure-resort. Off the S. point of the Lidingö we steer to the right, round the projecting cliff of Kungshamn, and enter the picturesque narrow Skurusund, at the S. end of which lies Dufnäs (rail. stat., see p. 339). The channel expands into the Lännerstasund (p. 341), beyond which it contracts to the Södra Stäket. The broad Baggensfjärd, which we next enter, heading S., is named after the Swedish naval hero, Jacob Bagge (d. 1577, a prisoner in Denmark).

Saltsjöbaden, a very favourite sea-bathing place, lies in a bay of the Baggensfjärd. In winter it affords skating, ski, and other sports. Near the station is the palatial Grand Hotel (R. 2-8, food 4-5, warm bath 1½ kr.), with a view of the bay. To the left (S.E.) is a bridge crossing to a wooded islet (Restaur.*, D. 3 kr.). Promenades, with benches, are provided in the pine-woods round the bay. — To the right (S.W.) of the Grand Hotel are (5 min.) the sea-baths (25 ö., bath-sheet 25 ö., drawers 10 ö.). A few paces further is the sanatorium of Badanstalt (pens. 9-11 kr.). The Karlsbader Berg, 10 min. S., has a belvedere, overlooking the bay with its many islands, and a ski spring-board. — A finger-post by the station indicates the way to the Smörgås-Paviljong ('Pav.' on the Map).

On the Farstavik, a N.E. bay of the Baggensfjärd, lies Gustafsberg, with a large porcelain-factory, whose soft 'Frittenporzellan', biscuit-ware, and pale fayence are much admired. Steamers to Stockholm (Gustav III.'s Statue, Pl. E, F, 6) 11 times daily, in 1½-2 hrs. (fare 75 o.); some of them call at Saltsjöbaden, so that the two excursions may be combined.

The sea-baths of Dalarö, with a hotel, many villas, pilot-station, and custom-house, lie on the open sea, 20 Kil. S. of Saltsjöbaden; steamer 3-4 times daily; also 3 times daily direct from Stockholm (Södra Blasieholms-Hamn, Pl. E, F, 5, 6), in 2¼ hrs. (1½, return-fare 2 kr.). — Steamers ply occasionally from Dalarö to Gååb, Örnö, Muskö (with the port of Elfsnabben, where Gustavus Adolphus embarked for Germany in 1630), and Utö (Hotel, pens. 4-4½ kr.), from which steamers also ply to Stockholm.

On an outer islet of the Skärgård lies Sandhamn (Hotel), to which a steamer plies daily from Stockholm (in 4 hrs.; 2 kr.).

A branch-railway (p. 302) connects Stockholm with Nynäshamn (Hot. Hagman, R. 2½-5 kr.), a new sea-bathing resort 63 Kil. S. (in 1½-2 hrs.). Villas have sprung up round some of the stations, otherwise unimportant. — From Nynäshamn steamboat daily, except Sun., to Nyköping (p. 297) and Wisby (p. 355).

VAXHOLM. — STEAMBOAT (Kom. 373-334) about 12 times daily, from the Södra Blasieholmshamn (Pl. F, 6), in 1-2 hrs. (fare ½-1 kr.).

To the Lidingö, see above. Numerous villas. Beyond the Halfkakssund we enter a broader basin. On the left, the Askrike Fjärd.

To the N. rise the four towers of Herr von Landinghausen's château of Bogesund. Countless rocky islets.

Vaxholm (Inn, good, R. 2-4 kr.), on the E. coast of the Vaxö, a fishing-town, with 2230 inhab. and many country-houses, is a favourite summer-resort of the Stockholmers.

The channel between the Vaxö and the Rindö is alone navigable to Stockholm by large vessels. On a rocky islet in the middle of it rises the Fortress of Vaxholm, founded by Gustavus Vasa and lately strengthened. On the Rindö opposite is the little watering-place of Rindöbaden (Stora Bad - Hot., R. 2-6 kr), with sea-baths and a chalybeate spring. At the E. end of the islet rises the Oskar-Fredriksborg, with casemates and batteries partly hewn in the rock.

The voyage N. from Vaxholm to the sea-baths of Furusund (Kom 230; 3 hrs from Stockholm; 2¼ kr), with several hotels, and to Norrteije (p. 353; 4-5 hrs; 3 kr) is also commended

B. On Lake Mälär.

DROTTNINGHOLM. — STEAMBOAT 7 times daily (Sun. 12 times), from Gymnasi-Gränden, near the S. end of the Riddarholm (by the Vallinska Skola, Pl. 16, D, 7) in ¾ hr (50 o, return-fare 1 kr.)

Looking back as we start, we have a fine view of Stockholm, the tower of the Klara-Kyrka and the dome of the Adolf-Fredriks-Kyrka, both in Norrmalm, being most prominent. Farther on we pass the Långholm on the left, with its large prison. To the right is the old porcelain-factory of Marieberg, now used as barracks; on the height above is the lunatic asylum of Konradsberg. Pretty villas in every direction. To the S. of Långholm is the Reimersholm with its large distillery. Then, on the right, the islands of Lilla and Stora Essingen. On the left, the wharf of Ekensberg on the mainland; then the island of Lindholm; on the mainland the château of Hägersten. On the right lie the Sigtuna and Upsala (p. 348) arm of Lake Mälär and the Kersö. Passing left and right the Fogelö and the Högholm, we soon reach the palace, a little S. of the village of Drottningholm and the Kersö bridge. Near the landing-place is a restaurant to the right; to the left, towards the palace, a good café.

The Palace of Drottningholm, on the Lofö, derives its name ('Queen's Island') from the queen of John III., who founded it at the end of the 16th cent.; but the present edifice was built nearly a century later by Nicodemus Tessin and his son (p. 310) for Hedvig Eleonora, widow of Charles X. Gustavus. It was afterwards adorned with pictures, valuable tapestry, and other works of art by kings Adolphus Frederick, Gustavus III., and Oscar I. Apply to the 'Vaktmästare' (1 kr.; a party, 50 ö. each). — The garden, laid out in the old French style, contains many bronzes by Adr. de Vries and his pupils. It is adjoined by an extensive park, in which, ¼ hr. S.W. of the palace, rises the China Slott, a pagoda erected by Adolphus Frederick in 1770 for his queen Lovisa Ulrika (fee ½-1 kr.).

MARIEFRED and GRIPSHOLM. — STEAMER (Kom 342; from the Munkbrohamn, W. of the railway bridge between the Riddarholm and the Kott-Jorg, Pl D, 7) daily in 3-3½ hrs. (return-fare 2½ kr.; restaur. on board) Passengers by the ordinary steamers have to spend the night at Mariefred; but in summer there is an excursion-steamer, there and back in one day ('Lustresa') on Sun, Tues., Thurs., and Sat., allowing 2½ (Sun. 3½) hrs. at Mariefred for a visit to the castle of Gripsholm (1½-2 hrs.) and for lunch at the Stads-Hotel (see below) — The RAILWAY from Stockholm to Mariefred (see below) takes 2½-3½ hrs.

The voyage is rather monotonous. Beyond the island of Lindholmen we pass between the Fogelö and the mainland. On the right is the island of Kungshatt, where a rock crowned with an iron hat recalls the tradition that a Swedish king sprang here with his horse into the lake and escaped from his pursuers, leaving his hat behind him. The villas on the bank become fewer and at last cease. We enter a strait, 10-12 Kil. long, between the Munsö (right) and the mainland. On the latter is the château of Sturehof, and on the island the church of Ekerö with its pointed spire. The channel contracts to the narrow Bockholmsund. To the right is the island of Kaggeholm, with a château built by Marshal Kagg. In ¼ hr. more we enter the broad basin of the Södra Björkefjärd. To the S. is the bay of Södertelje (p. 301). To the N. is the Björkö, the ancient the Birka, with a granite cross erected in 1834 to St. Ansgar, who preached Christianity here in 829. Farther N. is the Adelsö; nearer lie the Kurö and Ridö. On the left lies the mainland with the church of Enhörna, with several islets in front. Beyond Horn, whence the château of Mälsåker (p. 346) is seen in the distance to the right, we enter the Gripsholms-Vik. Far away on the W. bank, not visible from the steamer, is Räfsnäs, where Gustavus Vasa heard of the death of his father Eric in the massacre of 1520 (p. 342). On the S. bank is the château of Näsby. Passing the large brick-works of Kalkudden, we steer to the right into the S.W. creek of the bay, and soon sight the red houses and the church-tower of Mariefred, with the castle of Gripsholm. The new château to the left is a private villa.

Mariefred (Stads-Hotel, with a good restaurant, halfway to the castle), a little town of 1200 inhab., owes its origin to the monastery of 'Pax Mariæ' founded at the end of the 15th cent. by Sten Sture the Elder. To the S., rising proudly from amidst dark foliage, near the station of the branch-railway (p. 302), and 6-8 min. from the pier, is the —

*Castle of Gripsholm, with its four red towers mirrored in the Mälar. On this site at the end of the 14th cent. stood a castle of Bo Jonsson, surnamed Grip ('griffin', from his crest, a griffin), a powerful noble. The present castle was built by Gustavus Vasa (1537), who also suppressed the monastery of Mariefred. In 1563-67 Vasa's son John, condemned to death by the Estates for rebellion, was kept a prisoner here by his brother Eric XIV.; but having deposed Eric in 1568, he confined him here in 1571-73. In 1572 the castle fell to the young Duke of Södermanland, afterwards Charles IX., and after the death of Gustavus Adolphus his widow Maria Eleonora resided here until 1640. In 1715, Hedvig Eleonora, widow of Charles X. Gustavus (d. 1715), received the castle as part of her jointure. Lastly the genial Gustavus III. resided here, and in 1781 erected a theatre, in which some of his dramas were performed. The restoration of 1889-1900 has preserved the external features of Vasa's castle, while the interior illustrates the chief eras in its history, the 'Vasa', the 'Jointure', and the 'Gustavian' periods. A collection, founded in the 17th cent., of about 1900 portraits of kings and famous personages is distributed among the rooms.

From the OUTER COURT, which contains two huge bronze cannon (the 'Boar' and the 'Sow'), captured at Ivangorod in 1581, we pass through a gateway, where tickets of admission are issued (week-days 11-2, 50 ö; Sun. 12.30 to 2.30, 25 ö., and 2.30 to 4, 10 ö.), into the picturesque INNER COURT. To the left, below the bartizan (Karnap), is the staircase to the interior. The rooms are numbered. Catalogue in Swedish or English, 50 ö.

LOWER FLOOR. From the Vestibule (No. 1) we enter the round Council Room (2), containing portraits of 35 privy councillors of the time of Charles IX. Then the Apartments of Queen Hedvig Eleonora (3-7), an addition of the 17th cent., with furniture, carpets, and portraits of the period. Returning to the vestibule, we enter the Vasa Rooms (8-14), almost entirely restored in the 16th cent. style, containing a few old tapestries, cabinets, etc. Genuinely old is Duke Charles's Room (10), a picturesque tower-chamber of the late 16th cent., with decorative painting and panelling (coats-of-arms and the initials, C. D., of Duke Charles of Södermanland). The next room (11), originally a Guard Room, with restored mural paintings and a fine wooden ceiling of 1604, contains a faithful portrait of Gustavus Vasa and a beautiful little alabaster relief of Frederick II. of Denmark. In Room 14 is the genealogical tree of Christian III. of Denmark, on linen.

UPPER FLOOR. The Royal Apartments here are fitted up as at the end of the 18th cent., but restored. — Next the Vestibule (15) is the round Saloon of Gustavus III. (16), of 1769, with portraits of that king (by Roslin) and his royal contemporaries (fine view). Then the Rooms of the Queen (17-21) in the 'Gustavian' (or Louis XVI.) style, with gilt furniture. Among the portraits are those of Frederick the Great, his queen, his mother, and brothers, by A. Pesne. The Bedroom (20) is specially fine. — A passage (22) leads into the Throne Room (23), refitted in the Vasa style. Passing through the Princess Rooms (14-26), tastefully decorated in the 'Gustavian' style, containing early portraits of Marie Antoinette and her sisters, and through several Anterooms (27-29), we reach the Apartments of the King. The Bedroom (30), hung with tapestry and portraits of Gustavus Adolphus and his family, contains a state-bed, furniture of the 17th cent., and Boule furniture. The unpopular Gustavus IV. Adolphus, who was imprisoned in this room, signed his abdication on 29th March, 1809, on the table inlaid with ivory, tortoise-shell, and mother-of-pearl. The Council Room (32) has a wooden ceiling and contains a superb cabinet of the 17th cent., Venetian mirrors, an iron camp-stool that belonged to Gustavus Adolphus, portraits of Charles XI., Charles XII., etc. In the Audience Room (33), used as a dining-room by Queen Hedvig Eleonora, are portraits of all the Swedish sovereigns from Gustavus Vasa (d. 1560) to Oscar I. (d. 1859). The fine Renaissance ceiling of the Attendants' Room (34) is of 1513.

THIRD FLOOR. To the right are Duke Frederick Adolphus's Apartments (35), with portraits of gentlemen and ladies of the court of Gustavus III. in theatrical costumes, a state-bed, and other 'Gustavian' furniture. The Foreign Gallery (63) to the left has portraits of princes of the 16-18th cent. The door near the staircase opens on a vestibule leading to the Theatre of Gustavus III. (37), unaltered since 1781. Adjacent is a room fitted up like one in the Great Theatre of Stockholm (p. 327; now demolished), where it was known as 'Gustavus III.'s Study'. The three Guest Chambers (38) are furnished in the 'Gustavian' style. Beyond them is a Sentry Gallery (39), off which open a cage-like room, wrongly named the Prison of Eric XIV. (40), the Swedish Gallery (41), with portraits of eminent Swedes of the 18th and early 19th cent., an Armoury (42), and other rooms (43, 44) in the 'Gustavian' style.

A picturesque but uncomfortable staircase descends past the Lower Armoury (45), a state-prison in the Vasa period, but now empty, to the lower floor, where we may next glance at the Crown Prince's Room (46), of Gustavus III.'s period, and the Governor's Room (47), before returning to the inner court of the castle.

A walk through the castle-park fitly ends our visit.

STRENGNÄS. — STEAMER, once or twice daily, in 3½-4 hrs. (2½ or 1½ kr.), from the Munkbrohamn (Pl. D, E, 7; Kom 335, 336) or from the W. quay of the Riddarholm (Vesterås boats; Kom 338). — RAILWAY (p. 302) also in about 4 hrs.

Beyond the Södra Björkfjärd (p. 344) opens the broad Prestfjärd, bounded on the W. by the Selaö, the largest island in Lake Malar. On the Selaö are the large estate and château of Mälsåker and the church of Ytter-Sela. After passing through the narrow Kolsund between the Selaö and the mainland we see on the right the small Tynnelsö, with an old château. Beyond stat. Stallarholmen the Tosterö lies on the right, and on the left, picturesquely crowned with its cathedral, the little town of — Strengnäs (Stads-Hot.; Jernvägs-Hot.; pop. 2550), rebuilt since a fire in 1871, which has been an episcopal see since the 12th cent. On a height to the S.E. rises the Cathedral*, consecrated in 1291, originally Romanesque, but much altered after repeated fires, especially in 1551. As the walls were then lowered, the columns now look too thick for their height. The church contains the tombs of Sten Sture the Elder (d. 1504) and Charles IX. (d. 1609) and several antiquities. The old episcopal mansion of 1490, with picturesque gables and turrets, in which the election of Gustavus Vasa as king took place in 1523, is now the grammar-school. It still contains the episcopal library. The present Bishop's House, of 1650, lies to the S. of the cathedral.

The Vesterås steamer (see above) steers N.W. from Strengnäs, between the mainland and the Tosterö. On the right is the estate of Ångsö; on the left the old château of Tvåö, once a seat of the great chancellor Oxenstierna. At the N. end of the Vesteråsfjärd we reach Vesterås (p. 359; in 2 hrs. from Strengnäs).

52. From Stockholm to Upsala.

66 Kil. RAILWAY in 1-2¾ hrs. (A, 2 70, 1.90 kr.), from the Central Station (p. 304).

The train skirts the Klaravik. To the right are the Atlas carriage-works; then the porcelain-factory of Rörstrand, founded in 1726 (wares curious in form and bright in colouring). The first halt of the slow trains is at Karlberg, on the N. bank of the Karlbergsjö (the bay adjoining the Klaravik), with a large Château of the early 17th cent., used as a military school since 1792. The train skirts the park of the château. The line to Vårten (p. 341) soon diverges to the right, and at (3 Kil.) Tomtebodå the line to Vesterås to the left (R. 54). To the right are the Solnakyra and the new cemetery (p. 340). — 7 Kil. Jerfva, 20 min. from the château of Ulriksdal (p. 341). Farther on we see Edsberg on the right, at the N. end of the Edsvik, and Sollentünaholm on the Norr-vik (with the church of Sollentuna to the left). 19 Kil. Rotebro.

32 Kil. Rosersberg is the station for Rosersbergs Slott, with its beautiful park and wooded environs, 2 Kil. W., on a bay of Lake Mälär. The château, now a school of gunnery for officers, contains pictures, sculptures, and a library, with a catalogue written by Charles XIII.

37 Kil. Märsta, whence a road leads E. to Sigtuna (8 Kil.; to the left after 3 Kil., and at last across the Garnsvik; Sigtuna, see p. 348). 49 Kil. Knifsta; 59 Kil. Bergsbrunna, where we obtain a view of the plain of Upsala (Upsala-Slätten), the cradle of Swedish culture, with the churches of Danmark and Vaksala to the right.

The train crosses the Säfsjö, an affluent of the Fyriså. The long white building to the left is a Lunatic Asylum. To the left soon appear the houses of (66 Kil.) Upsala (p. 349).

STEAMER to Upsala (Kom. 331; over 90 Kil., in 6 hrs.; 1½ kr.; restaur. on board), in summer only, pleasant if time permit, every forenoon from the W. side of the Blådärholm (Pl. D, 7). — Another boat (Kom. 330) plies every week-day from the Munkbrohamn (Pl. D, 7) to Sigtuna (3 hrs.; 1¼ kr.) and Örsundsbro. In summer excursion-steamers also run once or twice a week to Sigtuna (1 kr.) and Stokkloster (1¼ kr.).

For the first part of the voyage, see p. 350. We steer to the right into an arm of the Mälär separating the Kersö from the mainland. By the Nockeby Bridge we see the palace of Drottningholm on the left (p. 343). This arm of the lake resembles a river, the left bank of which is the Lofö. On the right, opposite the N. end of the Lofö, is the estate of Hesselby. Steering through a group of islands we next enter a broader expanse. On the left is the Svartsö, with a dilapidated château, once a monastery. On the right lies the estate of Riddersvik on the mainland (branch rail. to Stockholm, p. 358). To the left opens the Näsbyärd. We now steer N. into a part of the lake called Görvåln; right and left are the estates of Görvåln and Lennartsnäs.

About 2 hrs. from Stockholm, at Almäre-Stäk, we reach the narrow strait of Stäket, which is crossed by the high-road and the Vesterås railway. The ancient castle of Almare-Stäk, a seat of the archbishops of Upsala, was destroyed by Sten Sture the Younger in 1517.

We pass the island of Munkholm on the left; beyond it opens the bay of Skarfven. On the right, the estate of Runsa; then the bay of Rosersberg (p. 347), where only the Sigtuna steamer calls. The château is not visible from the Upsala boat.

In a bay to the right lies the beautiful estate of Steninge, once the seat of Marshal von Fersen, who was murdered in 1810 (p. 313), with a monument to his memory. We enter the Sigtuna - Fjärd. To the right, W., at the entrance to the Garnsvik, a creek running far inland to the N., lies — Sigtuna (Sigtuna Hot.), prettily situated, once one of the largest and finest towns in Sweden, but now with 600 inhab. only. It was founded early in the 11th cent. by King Olaf Eriksson, and destroyed by the Esthonians in 1187. The ruined churches of SS. Peter, Lawrence, Olaf, and Nicholas bear witness to its ancient importance. To rail. stat. Mårsta, see p. 347.

We steer N.W. through the narrow arm of the lake, which expands at places. On the left is Signildsberg, the site of a still more ancient town (För-Sigtuna or Forn-Sigtuna), the scene of the saga of Hagbart and Signe. On the same bank lies Hätuna-holm, with the church of Hätuna, where Dukes Eric and Waldemar captured their brother Birger Jarl in 1306 and compelled him to grant them extensive privileges. In 1318 Birger cruelly revenged himself by inviting them to Nyköping, and there causing them to be thrown into prison and starved to death.

Beyond the Erikssund the lake expands into the Skofjärd, where on the left rises the Skokloster (properly Skogkloster, 'forest monastery'), a château enclosing a court in the interior, with four corner-towers roofed with copper. It occupies the site of a Dominican, afterwards Cistercian, monastery, suppressed by Gustavus Vasa. It was presented by Gustavus Adolphus to Marshal Herm. Wrangel, whose son, Charles Gust. Wrangel, erected the château in the style of that of Aschaffenburg in Germany, and filled it with treasures captured in the Thirty Years' War. After his death it fell to the Brahe family, to which it still belongs.

The INTERIOR, partly unfinished, is open daily (25 ö., Sun. 50 ö.). The handsome VESTIBULE is borne by eight columns of white marble, presented by Queen Christina. The KUNGSAL has a rich stucco-ceiling. The staircases and vestibules are embellished with portraits, pictures by Ehrenstrahl and others, and valuable tapestry. Among the portraits is one of Gustavus Adolphus, with Heidelberg in the background, painted six weeks before his death. — The LIBRARY has 30,000 vols. and many MSS. — The ARMOURY contains 1200 guns, also swords, daggers, and bows, the sword of Ziska, the famous Hussite leader, the sword used by the executioner at the 'Blood Bath of Linköping' (p. 308), and the shield of Emp. Charles V., attributed to Benvenuto Cellini, and captured at Prague in 1648.

The park of the château contains a monument to Count Magnus Brahe (d. 1844), a friend of King Charles XIV. John. The Gothic Skokyrka, formerly the abbey-church, restored in the 17th cent. by Marshal Herm. Wrangel, contains the tomb of the Marshal and a pulpit brought from Oliva, near Dantsic, in the Thirty Years' War. [We may row from Skokloster in 1 hr. to Alsike, and walk or drive thence to (7 Kil.) rail. stat. Knifsta (p. 347).]

Beyond Skokloster we steer through the Stafsund into the Ekoln. On the right are Alsike-Kyrka and the estate of Krusenberg. Then, left, the churches of Åker, Dalby, and Näs. At the N.E. end of the Ekoln, at the mouth of the small Fyriså, are Kungshamn, where the kings of Upsala once had a fleet, and Flott-sund. We ascend the Fyriså to Upsala in 50 min. more. On the left, nearly halfway, is the agricultural school of Uttuna. Of Upsala we see nothing till close to the town.

Upsala.

RAILWAY STATION on the E. side of the town (Pl. D, E, 3, 4). STEAM-boats stop opposite Flustret (Pl. D, 4, 5).

Hotels. Stads-Hot. (Pl. 28; C, 4), Drottning-Gatan 9, corner of Tradgård-Gatan, R. from 2½, déj. 2-2½, D. 2½-3 kr., with good café-rest. — H SVEA (Pl. 10; D, 4), Kungs-Gatan, corner of Banegårds-Gatan; H. St. ERIC (Pl. 9; D, 4), Banegårds-Gatan, rooms only, very fair.

RESTAURANTS. Flustret* ('hole of a beehive'; Pl. D, 4), in the grounds by the Fyriså a favourite students' resort, with music in the evening; Gillet (Pl. 6; C, 3, 4), Vestra Ågatan, closed in summer.

BOOKSELLERS. Akademska Bokhandel, Dombro; Lundegvistiska Bokhandel (also photos., etc.), Drottning-Gatan and Östra Ågatan.

POST, TELEGRAPH, and RIKSBANK (Pl. 22, D, 4), corner of Banegårds and Kungsågs Gatan.

Upsala, a famous university-town, and seat of the archbishop of Sweden and the Landshöfding of the province, with 24,500 inhab., lies in a fertile plain on both banks of the Fyriså, which is crossed by eight bridges. The modern part of the town lies on the flat E. bank, while the older quarters are on the sloping W. bank. Upsala, formerly called Östra-Aros (p. 359), formed the harbour of the kings of Sweden when they resided at Gamla Upsala. In 1276 the archiepiscopal residence (p. xliv) was transferred from Gamla Upsala to the present town, while the kings migrated to Stockholm. Like Trondhjem in Norway, Upsala is the historical centre of Sweden, and was also once the stronghold of paganism (comp. p. 353). The University, the focus of the modern life of Upsala, was founded by Archb. Jacob Ulfsson in 1477, re-founded by the Reformation Assembly in 1593, and acquired greater importance when liberally endowed by Gustavus Adolphus with his family estates.

The Cathedral* (Pl. C, 3), on the slope of the right bank of the Fyriså, in the N. part of the town, erected in 1260-1435, consists of a nave, aisles flanked with chapels, a slightly projecting transept, a choir, and an ambulatory bordered with chapels. In plan and execution it resembles the French cathedrals, but the use of brick necessitated greater simplicity of style. The first architect was Etienne de Bonneuil, 'tailleur de pierre', an assistant-builder of Notre Dame at Paris, who was doubtless engaged through the influence of Swedish students at the university of Paris. The contract was concluded at Paris on 8th Sept., 1287. The building advanced slowly. In 1310 an altar was consecrated in the E. part of the church, and the whole cathedral in 1435. A new vaulting was added five years later. The building is 130 yds. long in all, and in the interior 49 yds. wide. The last of several fires by which it was damaged took place in 1702, when it was restored in the style of that period. Its restoration in the original Gothic style, for which the state, the town, and private individuals contributed about 1 million kr., was completed by E. V. Langlet in 1883-93 from the designs of F. Zettervall. The towers are 390 ft. high; the slender copper-sheathed spires and the flèche are entirely new. The S. portal is the finest; it was originally built about 1300, and is adorned with elaborate sculptures restored by Th. Lundberg.

The INTERIOR is shown by the 'Klôckare' (who lives at the 'Domtrapphus' No. 1, E. of the choir; 1-3 pers. 1 kr., 4-6 pers. 2 kr.). The nave, 148 ft high, rests on 14 pillars, and the choir on 12 more. The paintings on the wall and vaulting of the nave (decorative), transept (Old Testament scenes), and choir (New Testament, etc.) are all by A. Lindgren. The stained-glass windows were executed at Gotenburg, by R. Callmander, from Lindgren's designs. The ornate pulpit, designed by Nic. Tessin (p. 310), is a masterpiece of the baroque style. The large organ and triple Gothic altar are modern, from designs by Zettervall. The silver candelabrum (1643) in the choir weighs 49½ lbs. Behind the altar, guarded by an iron railing, is the silver reliquary of King Eric IX, the patron-saint of Sweden, who was slain here in 1160 by the Danes. The so-called crown of King Eric, hanging above, is of silver-gilt and weighs 18 lbs. A simple epitaph recalls Archbp. Ulfsson (p. 353), founder of the university.

The Chapels of the AMBULATORY, as well as of the aisles, have been fitted up as burial-chapels since the Reformation. The capitals of the columns are interesting. At the back of the choir is the 'BURIAL CHAPEL OF GUSTAVUS VASA' ('Gustavianska Koret'; d. 1560), containing the king's recumbent figure, between those of Catherine of Lauenburg and Margaretha Lejonhufvud, his first two wives, and also the separate tomb of his third wife, Karin Stenbock. On the walls are two large and five small frescoes by Sandberg (1837), depicting scenes from Vasa's life, and his last address to the Estates in 1560. — The CHAPEL OF KATARINA JAGELLONICA, on the N. side of the ambulatory, contains the monument of that queen, wife of John III., erected by her son Sigismund in 1583, and also the marble Monument of John III. (d. 1592), of the 16th cent., executed at Dantsic only in 1782, but left there till 1818. — The other chapels around the choir belong to the illustrious families of Sture and Brahe-Finstä on the N., and those of Horn, De Geer (with mural paintings of 16th cent.), and Oxenstjerna on the S. Also the tomb of Magnus Stenbock (p. 273).

The chapels in the NAVE, beginning at the transept, belong: on the N., to the families of Gyllenborg, Masenbach, Warnstedt, Carl Banér (tomb of Linnæus, by Sergel), and Dohna; on the S., Gustav Banér, Skytte (tomb of Johan Skytte, chancellor of the university under Gustavus Adolphus), Bjelke, and Stenbock (with the tombs of Archbp. C. F. Mennander, d. 1786, by Angelini of Rome, and Archbp. Svebilius).

The SACRISTY, off the N. transept, contains precious relics: chalice and paten of 1541 (German); crowns, sceptre, and orb of John III. and Catherine Jagellonica; crowns of Gustavus Vasa and his queens; chalices, altar-crosses, and candelabra of the 17th-18th cent.; archiepiscopal crozier of 1164.

To the N. of the cathedral is the Eriks Källa (Pl. 25; St. Eric's Spring), which is said to have sprung from the royal martyr's blood.

Opposite the W. façade of the cathedral stands the Gustavianum (Pl. 7; B, 3), the oldest of the university buildings, founded by Gustavus Adolphus, and containing the Zoological Institute. The gardens extending from the Gustavianum to the hill crowned by the new University are adorned with a statue, by Börjeson, of Erik Gustaf Geijer (p. lviii), historian and poet. On the pedestal is a Swedish maiden with a lyre.

The new University Building (Pl. 31; B, 3, 4) was erected in 1877-86 by H. T. Holmgren, in the Renaissance style, of red brick and grey sandstone, enriched with polished granite. On the central block are allegorical statues of the four faculties and the initials of the royal Swedish benefactors of the University.

INTERIOR (Vaktmästare 1/2-1 kr.). In the entrance-hall are marble busts of Charles X. and Gustavus Adolphus. Handsome staircase with pillars and balustrades of greenish marble. In the upper passage are casts from the antique and Byström's Juno with the infant Hercules. The chancellor's room contains a superb cabinet presented to Gustavus Adolphus by the city of Augsburg in 1632. Other rooms contain portraits of statesmen and professors. The Aula is finely decorated in blue and gold. — On the ground-floor is the 'Stora Consistoriet', or senate-hall, with portraits of the Swedish kings since Gustavus Vasa.

The university has now 55 professors, over 60 lecturers, and about 1700 students, who are divided into thirteen 'nations', most of which have their own houses (comp. Pl.), with elected presidents, curators, and professors as inspectors. The members are seniores, juniores, or recentiores. One of the chief 'national' recreations is quartet-singing. Duelling was abolished in 1852.

To the S. of the cathedral is the Trefaldighets-Kyrka (Pl. 30; B, C, 4), or Bondkyrka (peasants' church); also the promenade of Odin's Lund (Pl. B, C, 4), with an obelisk in honour of Gustavus Adolphus. Beyond it is the — Library (Pl. 2; B, 4), containing over 330,000 printed volumes and 13,700 MSS. The building, erected in 1819-41 on the site of the Academia Carolina founded by Charles IX., and therefore known as Carolina Rediviva, was entirely restored in 1888-92.

The VISNINGSSAL, or exhibition-room, on the ground-floor is open daily, 10-2 (apply to the Vaktmastare, 1/2-1 kr.) The chief treasure is the famous Codex Argenteus*, a translation of the four Gospels into Mæso-Gothic by Bishop Ulphilas (second half of 4th cent.), written on 187 leaves of parchment in gold and silver letters on a red ground. This precious MS., captured at Prague in 1648, was presented by Queen Christina to Vossius, her librarian, and was bought from him for 400 crowns by De la Gardie, chancellor of the university. It is to this work of Ulphilas that we are almost solely indebted for our knowledge of ancient Gothic, which stands somewhat in the same relation to the Germanic languages as Sanskrit to the whole Aryan family. Other interesting exhibits are the Decretum Consilii Upsaliensis of 1593 (p. 358), with numerous signatures; German letters of Gustavus Adolphus; letter from Marie Antoinette to Gustavus III.; letters of Luther, Linné, Mozart, Goethe, and Schiller; early Swedish printed books (earliest, 1483); plan of Paris of 1739.

In the basement is a Collection of Coins.

In the Carolina Park (Pl. B, 4) is a monument to Charles XIV. John, by Fogelberg. To the S.W. are the Chemical Laboratory (Pl. B, 4) and the Physical and Medico-Chemical Institutes, installed in the older Chemicum.

On a hill to the S. of the town rises the large but only half-finished Slott (Pl. C, 4), founded by Gustavus Vasa in 1548, now the residence of the Landshöfding, and partly an arsenal. It was here that Eric XIV. caused the ill-fated Count Sture to be murdered, and that Queen Christina abdicated. *View from the E. side of the castle over the town and the plain beyond, with Gamla Upsala to the N. Behind the castle, to the W., is a bust of Vasa by Fogelberg, on a pedestal surrounded with cannon.

Paths descend the E. slopes of the castle-hill to the grounds on the Fyriså (Rest. Flustret; Pl. C, D, 4, 5; p. 349). To the right is the large Sjukhus (hospital).

Among the other university institutions are the Observatory (Pl. A, 3); the Regnellæanum (Pathological Institute; Pl. 23; C, 4); the Anatomy Building (Pl. 1; D, 4); the Museum of Northern Antiquities (Nordiska Fornsäker), Svartbacks-Gata 27, in the orangery of the old Botanic Garden directed by Linné (Pl. 11; C, 3); and the new Botanic Garden (Pl. A, B, 5), W. of the castle-hill, with palm-houses and orangery, and a lecture-room containing a marble statue of Linné by Byström. At the corner of the Stora Torg and the Kungsängs-Gata a tablet marks the house in which the famous chemist K. W. Scheele (p. 319) made his great discoveries when an apothecary's assistant in 1770-75.

The Cemetery (Pl. A, B, 4) contains monuments of eminent men and of students of the various 'nations'.

An interesting spot near Upsala is Gamla Upsala, 4 Kil. N.E., the first station on the Gefle railway (p. 369). On foot or by carriage (see p. 349) we follow the road parallel with the railway, first on the left (W.), then on the right side of the line. The low range of hills on which Upsala and Gamla Upsala lie belongs to the 'Åsar', narrow ridges of sand, gravel, and moraine débris, upheaved by sub-glacial brooks, and extending for many miles through Central and S Sweden in the direction of the primeval glaciers. Gamla Upsala was the seat of the early pagan kings of Sweden. The site of its famous temple (p. xliii) is said to be marked by the present rude village-church. Adjacent are the three Kungshög, or Tumuli of the Kings, about 58 ft. high and 187 ft. in diameter, opened and examined in 1846-47, in 1874, and 1876 respectively. Each contains an urn with calcined bones, embedded in layers of loose stones. Other smaller objects were removed to the National Museum at Stockholm (ground-floor, Room III). Fine view across the fertile plain towards Upsala, with its conspicuous castle and cathedral. To the E of the road is the Tingshög ('assize hill'), from which the kings down to Gustavus Vasa used to address their subjects. In the farm near it travellers are offered mead (mjöd) in a silver-mounted horn (1/2 bottle 40 o.)

Another excursion may be taken to Hammarby (11 Kil. S.E.; carr. 5, and pair 8 kr., there and back), with the country-house of Linnaeus, where he died in 1778, containing a few memorials. — In a small house near Hammarby, built in 1770, are shown the historic 'Mora Stones' (Morastenen). It was here that each newly elected king presented himself to the people and swore to observe the law of the land, whereupon the Lagman or judges swore fealty to him in the name of the people, adding, 'And if he is a good king, may God grant him a long life' After the ceremony the name of the new king was inscribed on one of the stones. Ten of the stones still exist.

FROM UPSALA TO NORRTTELJE (81 Kil., narrow-gauge railway in 4 hrs.): 21 Kil. Lenna; 41 Kil. Knutby; 60 Kil. Rimbo, where we cross the Häfverosund line mentioned below; 81 Kil. Norrtelje (Nya Stads-Hol.), with 3820 inhab., on the Norrteljevik, a bay of the Baltic, with mud and seabaths. Steamer 5 times a week to Stockholm by Furusund (p. 345).

FROM STOCKHOLM (Ostra Station) to HÄFVEROSUND, 95 Kil., narrow-gauge line in 3 1/2-4 1/4 hrs.: 5 Kil. Stocksund (p. 341); 8 Kil. Danderyd; 11 Kil. Näsby (branch to Österskär, 18 Kil.); 23 Kil. Vallentuna; 29 Kil. Lindenholmen; 56 Kil. Rimbo (see above). Then by Sättraby, Edsbro, etc. to Häfverosund on the Baltic

53. The Island of Gotland.

STEAMBOAT (Kom. 257) from Stockholm to Wisby once or twice daily in 12-14 hrs.; fare 6 kr. for a 'hytt' or cabin, 5 kr. in the 'aktersalong' (without berth). Tickets for the boats starting from the Riddarholm are obtained from C. O. Strindberg & Co., Riddarholm; for the well-equipped boats starting from the Norra Blasieholmshamn, S.E. of the Museum, apply to W. Larkas, Skeppsbro 10 (Pl. F. 7). Tickets should be taken in advance so as to secure a good berth. The steamers start in the evening. Those from the Riddarholm go by Lake Malar and the Sodertelje Canal (p. 301); those from the Norra Blasieholmshamn steer down the Saltsjö past Vasholm (comp. p. 343), then S through the Skargård and past Dalaro (p. 342). The last part of the voyage, across the open Baltic, is sometimes rough, and the steamers arrive late. — Quicker route by evening express from Stockholm to Nynäshamn (p. 342), and by steamer to Wisby in 7 hrs (week-days; Kom. 257). A visit to Wisby takes one day. Travellers bound for the S. need not sleep there if they arrive on the morning of the day when the Kalmars steamer starts in the evening (3 times a week, hitherto Sun., Tues, and Frid.). From Wisby to Kalmars (p. 269) 10-11 hrs.; the last 2 hrs (beyond Borgholm) beautiful. — From Stockholm (Skeppsbron) to Wisby by the Stettin boat (Kom. 209) less suitable.

The Island of Gotland, the largest in the Baltic, 117 Kil. long, 45 Kil. broad, lies about 90 Kil. from the mainland of Sweden and 60 Kil. from the island of Öland. Like Öland it runs N.N.E. to S.S.W. It consists of a single plateau of Silurian limestone rising to 70-100 ft., and ending abruptly on the sea-board in cliffs, here known as Klint. From this plateau rise a few isolated hills, as the Jakobsberg (256 ft.), the Thorsburg (223 ft.), and the Hoburg (122 ft.). The islands Stora and Lilla Karlsö, S.W. of Klintehamn, are 197 ft. and 210 ft. high respectively. Everywhere occur large boulders of gneiss, granite, and porphyry (gråstenar, vråkstenar, rullstenar), deposited in the glacial period. In the interior are seen several old coast-lines and beds of marine deposits, pointing to a once higher level of the Baltic.

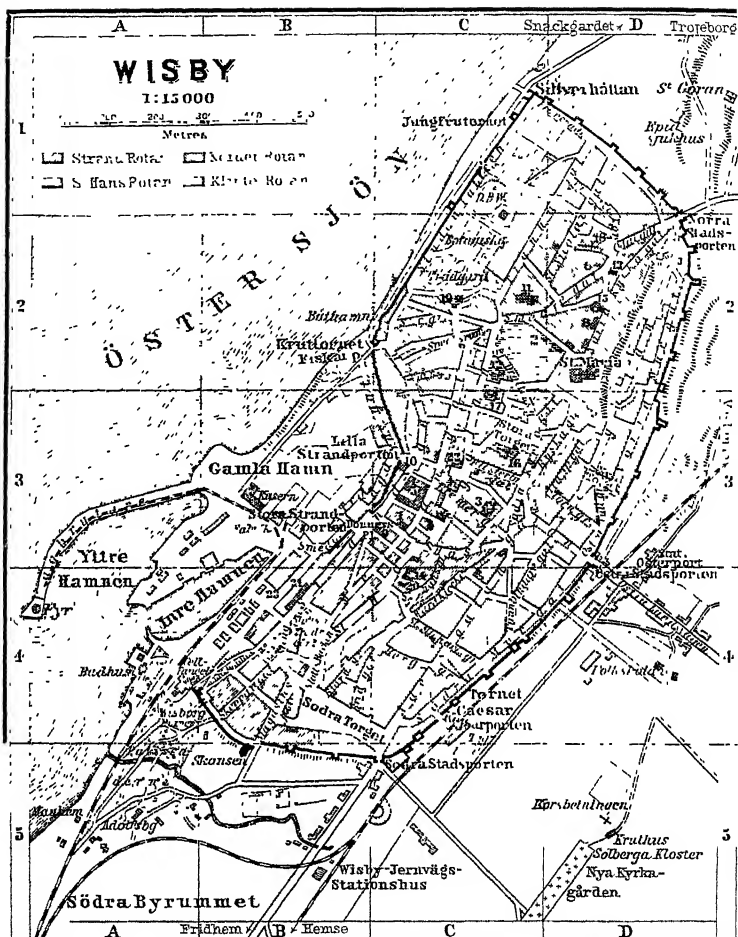

The island has no rivers or valleys, but there are numerous small lakes (träsk) and swamps (myrar), gradually forming turf or being drained and brought under cultivation (the 'goldmines of Gotland'). The largest of these tracts is the Lummelunds-Myr. The few brooks, of which the Gothemså is the largest, percolate through the thirsty limestone soil and dry up in summer. Here and there a spring wells forth from one of the 'landborgar' in sufficient volume to turn a mill-wheel. The limestone rocks contain numerous grottoes. The climate is mild, trees flourish, and the old walls of Wisby are luxuriantly clothed with ivy.

The population (over 53,000) is chiefly engaged in farming and cattle-breeding. The ponies ('skogs-russar') and sheep of Gotland are highly prized. Quarrying and lime-burning are among the other resources. 'Swedish lime' from Gotland is exported to N. Germany.

The HISTORY of Gotland, particularly that of Wisby, its capital, the ancient 'place of sacrifice' (from vi, 'offering'), situated at the foot of the Klint, is closely connected with the great ancient trade-route between Asia, Novgorod in Russia, and the Baltic, which centred in this island. Until the beginning of the 12th cent. the trade of Gotland was entirely in the hands of the Goths, who founded a trading-factory in Novgorod; but the growing importance of the traffic attracted the Germans, who soon became so numerous that more than half the council and one of the two chief magistrates were Germans. In 1280 Wisby and Lübeck formed an alliance, joined two years later by Riga, for protection against pirates. The maritime Code of Wisby, a compilation from Netherlandish and Hanseatic sources, written in low German, is called the 'Waterrecht, dat de Kooplüde und de Schippers gemaket hebben to Wisby'.

The wealth of the town in its palmy days was proverbial: —

'Guld väga de Gutar på lispundsvåg
Och spela med ädlaste stenar.
Svinen äta ur silfvertråg
Och hustrurna spinna på guld-tenar'. (Old Ballad).

(The Gotlanders weigh gold with twenty-pound weights and play with the choicest gems. The pigs eat out of silver troughs, and the women spin with golden distaffs.)

But Wisby was soon eclipsed by Lübeck; so far back as 1293 the Hanseatic League decreed that appeals from the factory at Novgorod should no longer be heard at Wisby, but only at Lübeck. Wisby thus lost its mastery of the Baltic trade. It was attacked by Valdemar III. of Denmark in 1361, and a bloody victory over the peasants, of whom 1800 fell outside the gates of the town (31st July), left him master of the island. The burghers, who had thought themselves safe behind their walls, offered no farther resistance and had to pay a heavy tribute. In following centuries Gotland was involved in the wars between Sweden and Denmark, and seems to have been a refuge for adventurers and marauders, but was at last reunited to its mother-country by the Peace of Brömsebro in 1645.

THE RUINED CHURCHES of St Nicholas, Helge-And, St. Lars, and St Katharina are open daily 10-3 (each 5 ö.), at other times apply to Vaktmastare Sandahl, Odal-Gatan 16, opposite St Nicholas — The collection of antiquities in Gotland's Fornsal (p. 356) is open on week-days 12-2, adm. 50 ö.; Sun. 1-3, adm. 25 ö.; observe the fragments of vikings' boats found in the harbour.

Wisby or Visby, a town with 9220 inhab., the residence of a landeshöfding and a bishop, is picturesquely situated at the base and on the slope of the Klint, a cliff 132 ft. high. It now covers less than half the area it occupied in the days of its mediæval prosperity, when it had about 20,000 inhab. and 16 churches, some of which have vanished or exist only in ruins. The disused space is covered with gardens, in which rise the imposing and well-preserved ruined churches, and the town is still enclosed by its ancient walls and towers. There are four rotar or quarters of the town, indicated on the Plan by different shading: St. Hans-Rotan, the oldest, contained most of the churches; Strand-Rotan skirts the old harbour (Gamla Hamn), now filled up and laid out in grounds, adjoined by the breakwater of the outer harbour (1873; fine view of the town); Norder-Rotan, the N. quarter, has the churches of SS. Clement and Nicholas; and Klunte-Rotan forms an upper quarter, between the lower parts and the Eastern wall.

The TOWN WALLS, built at the close of the 13th cent of limestone from the heights around, on the site of still earlier walls, present a most imposing appearance. From the Jungfrutorn ('maiden's tower'; Pl. C, 1), where, according to tradition, a maiden who betrayed the town to Valdemar was built into the wall as a punishment, and the Silverhätta (Pl. C, D, 1), both on the coast, at the N. end of the town, the walls ascend the Klint S.E., cross the hill to the S. gate (Pl. C, 5), and descend W., past the relics of the old castle of Wisborg and the new prison (Pl. A, 4), to the harbour. On the land-side the walls are about 2420 yds. long, and on the side next the sea about 1980 yds. From the walls, at equal distances, and in several stories, rise large Towers (Högtornen) 60-70 ft. in height, with embrasures, and resting on the ground, while between them a series of bartizans (Hängtornen or Sadelhornen) stand on the wall itself, supported by corbels outside. Under the roof with which the wall is covered ran a wooden passage for the sentinels, the holes for the beams of which are still seen. Of the 48 'high towers' 38 are still preserved, but the bartizans have mostly disappeared. Outside the walls the old moat is still traceable, and on the N. side there are three parallel moats.

From the pier we ascend to the Strand-Gata (Pl. B, 4, 3), the chief street of Wisby, which we follow. At the N. corner of the Donners-Plan stands the Burmeisterska Hus, completely covered with ivy, built by a Lübeck merchant of that name in 1661, with a room on the upper floor recently restored (p. 355). Beyond Gotland's Fornsal (Pl. 7, C, 3; p. 355) we ascend to the right, and by the Rådhus (Pl. 22; telegraph) to the left, to the STORA-TORG, or chief market-place, on the S. side of which are the ruins of —

St. Catharine's (St. Karin; Pl. 16), once the church of the Franciscans, begun soon after 1230. This elegant Gothic edifice, of which twelve slender pillars and some of the ribs of the vaulting still exist, has a pentagonal apse. — A little to the N.W., in the Hans-Gata, are the 'sister churches' of St. Drotten (Pl. 12) and St. Lars (Pl. 17), of the 12th cent., with huge towers, once probably used for defensive purposes.

The street between these two ruins ascends to the — Cathedral of St. Mary (Pl. D, 2), the only church still used for service, built by the Germans on the site of an earlier church and consecrated in 1225. It was altered later, but was thoroughly restored in 1890-1901. A massive square tower rises at the W. end (whence there is a fine view, but the ascent is rough), and two slender octagonal towers adorn the choir. The interior consists of nave and aisles, with an addition on the S. side. The variety of the pillars points to the repeated extensions of the church. The pulpit was made in Lübeck (in 1684); the epitaphs are mostly in German. The sacristan ($\frac{1}{2}$ kr.) lives to the N.E. of the choir (up the wooden stairs).

The NORRA KYRKO-GATA leads hence to the N. town-gate, passing nearly halfway the curious Helgeands-Kyrka (Pl. 15), or

Church of the Holy Ghost, built in the Romanesque style, about 1250, in two stories, with one choir in common. In the lower church are four massive square piers; the round pillars of the upper are late-Romanesque. — The side-street opposite the entrance leads past the remains of St. Gertrude's (Pl. 13) to —

St. Nicholas* (Pl. 18; D, 2), the most important of the ruined churches of Wisby, once attached to a Dominican monastery, and probably dating from the early 13th cent., but destroyed in 1525 in the war between Lübeck and the Danes. In the W. façade, which lacks a portal, are two rose-windows. Each window, says tradition, once had a brilliant carbuncle in the centre, but these gems were carried off by Valdemar. The main entrance is in the N. aisle. The interior, which consists of nave and aisles, without a transept, is borne by ten massive square pillars; most of the windows are round-arched. A rough staircase ascends from the N. aisle to the roof (fine view).

The Romanesque church of St. Clement (Pl. 11), with a fine S. portal, may also be mentioned. In the N. part of the Strandgata (Pl. C, 2, 3) is a house of the 13th cent., but altered later. Note also the old Apotheke (Pl. 1; C, 3) near the Donnersplan. The N.W. angle of the town is occupied by the Botanic Garden (Pl. C, 2, 1) of the 'D. B. V. Society' (see below), with the 'Paviljong' restaurant (p. 355). On the W. the garden is bounded by the town-wall, with the Jungfrutorn (p. 356).

A most interesting *WALK ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) may be taken through the Norra Stadspart (Pl. D, 2), then by the second turning on the left, above the ruined church of St. Göran (Pl. D, 1; 13th cent.), to the (8 min.) Galgberg, or gallows-hill, with its three stone pillars, 20 ft. high, where we have a splendid view of the sea and the town-walls. A path descends thence, past the Röfwarekula (robbers' cave) and the Tröjeborg, a very ancient labyrinth of stones, to the high-road which leads back to the town by the coast. — To the N. (3 Kil.) is the favourite pleasure-resort of Snäckegården, where the D. B. V. Society ('de badande vännerna', the 'bathing friends'), founded in 1814 to promote the common weal, celebrates its annual festival on 9th July.

In the Korsbetning (Pl. D, 5; 'cross meadow'), outside the Södra Stadspart, rises a curious stone Cross, 8 ft. high, with a Latin inscription, marking the burial-place of the Gotland peasants who fell in the battle of 1361 (p. 355). In 1905 some 300-400 skeletons, with remains of armour, were found here. Near the cross is the N. entrance to the cemetery (Nya Kyrkogården), the main walk of which we follow (to the left) to the N. exit. We may return by the Östraport (Pl. D, 3, 4), enjoying a fine view of the town-walls.

Excursions. Pleasant walk, sail, or drive (1 hr.; carr. see p. 355) to the (7 Kil. S.) headland of Högholmt. Walkers follow the high-road from the S. gate, passing the station (comp. Pl. B, 5), take the first turn to the right beyond the (3 Kil.) stone recalling the visit of Oscar II., and reach the (3 Kil.) Villa Fridhem, the property of Prince Oscar Bernadotte. The Högklint, 1 Kil. farther, rising about 148 ft. from the sea, affords a fine view, particularly towards Wisby. A little below the top, on the W. side, are the limestone rock of Getsvältam and a cavern.

Owing to the lack of good quarters and the difficulty of understanding the dialect, excursionizing in Gotland is somewhat uncomfortable. Information may be obtained at the tourists' office (p. 355)

FROM WISBY (station Pl. B, 5) TO HAFDHEN, 64 Kil., narrow-gauge line in 3 3/2 hrs — Beyond (18 Kil.) Bardlingbo we see the church of Roma on the right; on the left is the old Cistercian Roma Kloster, founded in 1164, state-property (Kungsgård) since the Reformation, and now altered. 21 Kil. Roma, where the lines to Klintehamn and Slite diverge (see below). 46 Kil. Stångå, with an old church; 55 Kil. Hemse (Inn), with a Romanesque church (end of 12th cent., mural paintings of the 15th). Branch-line to (10 Kil.) Ronehamn on the E. coast. 64 Kil. Hafdhem.

From Hafdhem an expedition of two days may be made to the S. part of the island (carr., 10-12 kr., may be ordered by telephone from Wisby). On the way are several old churches, notably those of Grötlingbo and Vamlingbo. The S. part of the island is treeless, but the curious bluff of Hoburg, near Refsudden, with its lighthouse and cavern ('Hoburgsgubbens Sängkåmmare', bedroom of the old man of Hoburg), about 30 Kil. from Hafdhem, will repay a visit.

The branch-line from ROMA (see above) to KLINTEHAMN (23 Kil., in 1 hr.) passes unimportant stations, some with ancient churches. Klintehamn, on the W. coast, is visited by sea-bathers (Jernvågs-Hot; Pens. Wöbler in Varfsholm, commended). About 4 Kil. inland lies the church of Klante, built in 1231. From Klintehamn we may visit the picturesque Karlsdär (20 Kil. S.W.; p. 354), where numerous sea-fowl breed and interesting Silurian fossils are found.

FROM ROMA TO SLITE, 33 Kil., branch to the N., in 1 1/2 hr. — 7 Kil. Hesselby, 10 min. from which is the interesting Dalhems-Kyrka, restored in 1904. — 33 Kil. Slite (Inn), on the E. coast, has curious rock-formations called Raukar; near it is Kyllet, with similar rocks.

Another railway runs from WISBY to TINGSTÅDE, 24 Kil. N.E. (1-1 1/4 hr.) The first station is at the Osterport (Pl. D, 3). Tingstade lies on a small lake. At Othem, 7-8 Kil. E., and Larbo, 15 Kil. N.E., are noteworthy old churches.

A steamboat sails ROUND THE ISLAND once or twice a week (10 kr.; Kom. 258), steering alternately S. and N. from Wisby. Going S. we call at Klintehamn (see above), Burgsvik (where mill-stones and grindstones are quarried), Ronehamn (see above), Ljugarn, Kalthammarsvik, Slite (see above), Färösund (on the strait separating Gotland from the Färö, or 'sheep-island'), and Kappelshamn.

54. From Stockholm to Vesterås and Örebro.

217 Kil. RAILWAY ('Vestmanlands-Jernväg') from the Central Station. Express in 5-6, ordinary train in 13-14 hrs

The train skirts the Rörstrandsvik, passing the factories of Atlas and Rörstrand (p. 346), on the right, and the château of Karlberg (p. 347), on the left, beyond which the lines to Vartan (p. 340) and Upsala (p. 347) branch to the right. 6 Kil. Sundbyberg; 11 Kil. Spånga, where a line diverges to Riddersvik (p. 347); 17 Kil. Jakobs- berg. The train crosses the narrow strait of Stäket (p. 347), pierces the Stäkesö by a tunnel, and crosses another bridge to (28 Kil.) Kungsängen. 36 Kil. Bro. Beyond (47 Kil.) Bålsta we cross the Ekolsundsvik. 56 Kil. Ekolsund; 64 Kil. Grillby.

74 Kil. Enköping (Stads-Hot.; pop. 4820), a small town near Lake Mälär, on which a steamer plies to Stockholm. Large market gardens. Branch-line to Runhällen (47 Kil. N.: p. 365), crossing the N. state-railway at Heby (p. 365).

101 Kil. Tillberga (Rail. Rest.), junction of several lines.

FROM TILLBERGA TO LUDVIKA AND VANSBRO: To Ludvika 111 Kil.; express in 2½ hrs — This railway opens up the productive iron-district of Vestmanland. Mines and iron-works in every direction. — 11 Kil. Skutuna, with bras-works; 18 Kil. Swanå. At (28 Kil.) Ramnas, junction for Kolbäck (p. 360), the train reaches the Stromsholms Canal (p. 360). We skirt the canal, by (33 Kil.) Seglingsberg and (39 Kil.) Vrsbo; then, passing near the large lake of Amnången, we come to (50 Kil.) Engelsberg (Jernvags-Hot.), on the N.E. bank of the lake (p. 360), junction of a branch-line to Snyten (p. 361), Högfors, Norberg, Kärngruvan, and Krylbo (37 Kil.; p. 374), all with important iron-mine; and factories. — At the iron-works of (63 Kil.) Vestamfors (p. 361) the train crosses the Stromsholm Canal, and then runs on the S. bank of the beautiful lake Barken to (84 Kil.) Söderbarke and (95 Kil.) Smedjebacken (comp. p. 364). — 111 Kil. Ludvika, see p. 364. — From Ludvika by Nyhammar and (43 Kil.) Djorbo (p. 365) to Vansbro 86 Kil., in 2-3 hrs., see p. 337.

FROM TILLBERGA TO SALA (p. 365), 28 Kil., railway in ¾-1¼ hr., passing Hedensberg, near the chateau of that name.

111 Kil. Vesterås (Central Hot., very fair; Hot. Klippan; Hot. Vesterås; pop. 16,000), an industrial town and seat of a bishop, on a bay of the Mälär, originally called Vestra Aros ('W. mouth', while Upsala was called Östra Aros). No fewer than eleven diets of the kingdom were held here, notably the 'Vesterås Recess' in 1527, which abolished the Roman Catholic religion in Sweden. This diet is recalled by a bust of Gustavus Vasa, by Qvarnström, in the gardens near the town-hall.

The *CATHEDRAL, rebuilt by Birger Jarl on the site of a church of the 11th cent., was consecrated in 1271, afterwards much altered, and restored in 1850-60. It is a fine Gothic edifice, 100 yds. long and 28 yds. broad, with a tower 335 ft. high.

In the INTERIOR are an altar-piece of the early 16th cent., handsome candelabra, and the monuments of the administrator Svanse Sture (d. 1512), Marshal Magnus Brahe (d. 1844), and the unhappy Eric XIV. (p. 369). The marble sarcophagus of Eric was placed here by Gustavus III. instead of the old tombstone, inscribed only with a verse from the Bible, and by his order the crown and sceptre were brought here from the tomb of John III. at Upsala.

On a hill, S.W. of the mouth of the brook Svartå, and not far from the station, rises the old CASTLE, once a robber's stronghold, captured by Gustavus Vasa and strengthened, where Eric XIV. was imprisoned from June, 1573, to the end of 1575. After a fire in the 17th cent. it was rebuilt, and it is now the seat of the provincial governor. The Djåkneberg, on the Svartå, is a pleasant public park, with many memorials of famous Swedes.

STEAMBOAT on Lake Malar to Stockholm daily in 5-6 hrs. (comp. p. 347) 121 Dingtuna. 130 Kil. Kolbäck, where we cross the busy Strömsholms Canal, is the junction of a line by Surahammer to (27 Kil.) Ramnäs (p. 359), and of another (p. 362) to Rekarne and Eskilstuna, by (8 Kil.) Strömsholm.

The Strömsholms Canal, 110 Kil long, constructed in 1777-95 and 1842-59, connects the mines of Vestmanland and Dalarne with Lake Malar and the Baltic. Steamboat from Stockholm (Kom. 346; starting from the Kornhamn, Pl. E, 7) five times a week to Strömsholm in 7-8 hrs.; thence to Ramnäs 6½ hrs., to Smedjebacken 8½ hrs. more. The scenery is prettiest between Strömsholm and Ramnäs. For the rest of the journey the Tillberga-Ludvika Railway is preferable (p. 359).

Strömsholm (Inn), with its château founded by Gustavus Vasa and rebuilt from a design by Nic Tessin in the 17th cent., and a famous stud, lies on a N.W. bay of the Malar. The first canal-lock is here, the second and third are at Vesterqvärn, and the fourth at Prestforsen. The falls at Kolbäcksfåll, Sörqvärn, Skansen, and Trångfors are avoided by means of eight locks. Another lock at Alsåtra leads into the Öst-Suravä (181 ft. above the sea); we then pass through two more and through the Noorbystrom to Ramnäs (inn). Many forges and factories. — Beyond Ramnäs two locks ascend to the lakes Nedre and Öfre Nadden, and others at Seglingsberg and Virsbo to the large lake of Ämningingen (250 ft.), on which lies the Engelsberg. Then come the lakes of Lilla Aspen and Stora Aspen and three locks at Vestforsen, Uddnäs, and Fagersta. Numerous iron-works. Lastly, three locks at Sembla. — Near lake Vefungen is the boundary of the province of Dalarne. Adjacent is lake Södra Barken (328 ft.), on which lies the pretty Söderbärke (with church and parsonage). Lastly, the picturesque lake Norra Barken (377 ft.), with Norrbärke and —

Smedjebacken (Hotel), the centre of a great mining-district, with steam-hammers, factories, etc., a station on the Tillberga-Ludvika line (p. 359).

136 Kil. Munktorp. — 146 Kil. Köping (Stads-Hot.; pop. 4670), an old town on the Köpingså, which falls into the Mälar near it, is the junction of a branch-line running past several important ironworks to (34 Kil.) Uttersberg, (41 Kil.) Krampen (p. 361), and (46 Kil.) Riddarhyttan. Steamboat from Köping to Stockholm six times weekly, by Kvicksund (p. 362). — 155 Kil. Valskog, junction for Nyköping-Flen-Eskilstuna (p. 362).

163 Kil. Arboga (Stads-Hot.; pop. 5100), once a famous trading town ('gammal som Arboga gatan'), says an old proverb, lies on the Arbogaå, from which the Hjelmare Canal diverges (p. 361). The church, with its lofty spire, has a Descent from the Cross attributed to Rembrandt. The Rådhus is a fine new building of 1895. — Steamer to Stockholm several times a week (Kom. 346).

190 Kil. Vanneboda, junction of the important mineral line to Ludvika.

FROM VANNEBODA TO LUDVIKA (98 Kil., in 5½ hrs.). The line traverses one of the richest mining districts in Sweden. Iron-ore, manganese, zinc, copper, lead. The iron occurs chiefly as magnetic iron-ore in flakes. — 10 Kil. Vedevåg. 49 Kil. Linde or Lindesberg (Stads-Hot.; pop. 2550), a mining town, prettily situated on the Lindesjö, was rebuilt after a fire in 1869. — We next follow the E. bank of lake Rossvälen to Gusselby, Storå (where a short branch diverges to the silver and lead mine of Guldåmedshyttan), Vasselhyttan, Rällså, Bångbro, Bånghammar, (branch to Kloten). — 55 Kil. Kopparberg (Jernvägs-Hot.), with an old church, lies among immense mines. — 69 Kil. Ståldalen, where we reach the Kil and Falun railway (p. 363), with which we then run parallel to Ludvika. 68 Kil. Stallberg; 75 Kil. Sälfsjöhydden (Hörk). We pass under the line just named and skirt its W. side. 80 Kil. Grangesberg; 98 Kil. Ludvika, see p. 364.

192 Kil. Frövi, whence a line branches to Krampen (p. 360), Vestanfors (p. 359), Snyten (p. 359) and Krylbo (107 Kil., in 3-6 hrs.; p. 365).

201 Kil. Ervalla; branch-line by Jerle to the picturesquely situated town of (18 Kil.) Nora, surrounded with iron-works and mines (and to Karlskoga, see p. 303). — 205 Kil. Dylla Bruk.

217 Kil. Örebro (Örebro Hot.; Hot. Continental; Jernvågs-Hot.; restaur. Strömparterren; pop. 26,560), one of the oldest towns in Sweden, but almost entirely rebuilt since a fire in 1854, capital of the 'Län' of that name, lies in a flat region on the Svartå, near Lake Hjélmare (see below). Fifteen diets of the Estates were held, and the destinies of the country often decided, at Örebro. This was the birth-place of Engelbrekt Engelbrektsson, the famous Swedish patriot (p. xlvi). Opposite the station is a bust of Count A. von Rosen. The Jernvågs-Gata leads from the station across the Stor-Gata, the main street, which is continued S. by the Drottning-Gata. From the Jernvågs-Gata, further on, diverges the Skol-Gata to the right, in which is the Karolinska Läroverk (grammar-school), containing a small museum. In front of the school rises an Obelisk in memory of the Swedish reformers Olaus Petri (d. 1552) and Laurentius Petri (d. 1573). A few paces to the S. is the venerable Slott, with its four round towers, on an island in the river, now a Museum (Sun. 1-2; 10 ö.). In the Stor-Torg, in the S. quarter, are the modern Stadshus, in front of which rises a statue of Engelbrekt by Qvarnström (1865), and the Stads-Kyrka (St. Nicholas), of the 13th cent., lately restored. In the grounds to the E. of the town is the Kungs-Stuga (king's house), one of the oldest and most typical timber buildings in Sweden. — Walks to Skebäck, on Lake Hjélmare, and S. to Adolfsberg, a small watering-place, where the slow trains stop.

From Örebro to Pålsboda-Norrköping, see p. 301; to Hallsberg and Mydby, see p. 293.

FROM ÖREBRO TO SVARTÅ, 50 Kil., railway in 2 hrs. — The train first stops at the Södra Station and then ascends the valley of the Svartå, intersecting an Ås (p. 353). 5 Kil. Karlunda, with the pleasure-resort of Strömsnäs (also reached from Örebro by steamboat); 14 Kil. Latorpsbruk; 22 Kil. Hälsjöebro; 27 Kil. Fygesta (3 Kil. S. of which are relics of the nunnery of Riseberga); 32 Kil. Qvisbro; 50 Kil. Svartå, see p. 304.

STEAMBOAT from Örebro (Kom. 343; daily except Sun.) through the Örebro Canal to Lake Hjélmare (69 ft.; 185 sq. M.; 59 ft. deep), then N. through the Hjélmare Canal to the Arbogåå (p. 360), down this river to Kungsör (see below) on the Malar, and across this lake to Stockholm. — Another steamer plies thrice weekly to Skogstorp (Thence by rail to Eskilstuna in 1/4 hr.) Like the N. end of Lake Vettern (p. 293), Lake Hjélmare lies upon Silurian strata embedded in the gneiss. A monument on the Engelbrektsholm, in the W. part of the lake, marks the spot where Engelbrekt was murdered by Måns Bengtson in 1433. A little E. of the entrance to the canal is Stora Sundby, the château of Countess Wedel, erected by Robinson in the Anglo-Norman style.

55. From Kolbäck or Valskog to Flen, Nyköping, and Oxelösund.

RAILWAY from Kolbäck to Oxelösund 132, or Valskog 138 Kil., $5\frac{1}{4}$ - $6\frac{3}{4}$ hrs.

Kolbäck, see p. 360. The train follows the Strömsholms Canal to (8 Kil.) Strömsholm (p. 360), at its mouth, crosses the Borgasund, skirts the mainland, and crosses the Kvicksund to (15 Kil.) Kvicksund (Hot.), a station of the Mälars steamers (comp. p. 360). 18 Kil. Rekarne, junction of the line from Valskog (p. 360), Kungsör (at the mouth of the Arbogaå, see above), and Öster-Tibble (in all, 24 Kil.). The distances given below are from Valskog.

29 Kil. Folkesta; 4 Kil. N. E. is Thorshälla, on the Thorshällaå or Eskilstunaå, near its influx into the Mälars, once the port of Eskilstuna, to which the locks (1856-60) avoiding the falls of the stream now afford a direct waterway.

35 Kil. Eskilstuna (Stads-Hot., Central Hot.; Nya Hot.; pop. 13,350, or, incl. suburbs named below, 26,850), on the Eskilstunaå, the chief seat of the steel industry of Sweden since the 17th cent., owes its name to St. Eskil, an Englishman, the apostle of Christianity in Södermanland (d. in 1181 at the Cistercian abbey of Clairvaux in France). A Bernardine monastery, founded here in the 12th cent., converted into a château by Gustavus Vasa, was burned down in 1680. The town consists of the Gamla Stad on the E. bank of the stream, and the Nya Stad, Fristad, and Karl Gustafs Stad on the W. bank.

Among the great factories are the Karl Gustafsstads Gevärsfaktori, or gun-factory, on an island in the river, founded in 1814; Munktell's Iron Works, comprising forty buildings and a harbour of their own; and the Tunafors Works. The famous Steel Works are in the Fristad. The Technical School contains a collection of the products of the place.

A BRANCH RAILWAY runs N. from Eskilstuna by Hellbybrunn and Nybybruk (Thorshälla) (p. 361) to Mälarbaden, 14 Kil.; and a STEAMBOAT plies once or twice daily (Kom. 341, 346) to Stockholm, by Strengnäs (p. 346). — N. E. of Eskilstuna are (12 Kil.) Jäderkyrka, the burial-place of Axel Oxenstierna (d. 1654) and the large estate of Fiholm, on Lake Mälars.

From Eskilstuna by Åkers, Styckebruk, Saltskog to Stockholm, see p. 301.

40 Kil. Skogstorp; with several factories, lies on the Hyndevadså, the affluent of Lake Hjelmars, which the train crosses by a bridge of six arches. — Steamer to Örebro, see p. 361.

65 Kil. Flen, junction of the Vestra Stambana (p. 301).

89 Kil. Vadsbro, 96 Kil. Bettna, 103 Kil. Vrena, 111 Kil. Stigtomta, 116 Kil. Larslund, among the Södermanland lakes (p. 301).

125 Kil. Nyköping, see p. 297. 133 Kil. Stjernholm; 138 Kil. Oxelösund (p. 297).

56. From Gotenburg to Falun.

478 Kil. RAILWAY ('Bergslagernas Jernvagar'): Express in 11 hrs.; ordinary trains stop for a night on the way. Dining-cars in the express between Gotenburg and Mellerud (comp. p. 283). This line connects the mining districts (Bergslager) of Vermland and Dalarne with the S.W. port of Sweden, and affords many pleasing views of the Vener and the Vermland lakes.

From Gotenburg to Öxnered (82 Kil.), junction of the Venersborg-Uddevalla line, see pp. 283-86. To the right rise the Halleberg and the Hunneberg (p. 286). Our line runs N.

123 Kil. Mellerud (Rail. Rest.; Hot. Mellerud, very fair), junction of the Sunnanå-Fredrikshald line (p. 83).

131 Kil. Köpmannabro, on the W. bank of Lake Venern, at the entrance to the Dalslands Canal (p. 287), which we cross. 144 Kil. Ånimskog; 155 Kil. Tösse; 164 Kil. Åmål, a little town of 3900 inhab.; view of the lake to the right.

Near (181 Kil.) Seffle (Hot. Royal, good; Jernvägs-Hot.) we cross the canal of that name, which connects the By-Elf, and thus the extensive Glafsford, with Lake Venern, and then thread our way among the lakes of S. Vermland. 189 Kil. Vermlandsbro; 221 Kil. Edsvalla.

232 Kil. Kil (p. 303), junction of the Vestra Stambana (R. 49), and of a short branch to Fryksta.

248 Kil. Deje, with a saw-mill and a waterfall, on the Klar-Elf, which we cross by a handsome bridge; junction for Karlstad and Hagfors (see below). 264 Kil. Molkom.

293 Kil. Daglösen, at the S. end of Lake Daglösen (417 ft.).

BRANCH-LINE to (8 Kil.) Filipstad (Stads-Hot.; pop. 4000), a station on the branch-line from Nyhyttan (p. 367), prettily situated at the N. end of Lake Daglösen, and the centre of the Vermland iron-mining district. The church was designed by N. Tessin Junr. in 1775. Promenades lead on the bank of the lake, past Kanonudden, where the guns presented by the engineer J. Ericsson for the first Swedish monitor have been placed, to the cemetery which contains his monument. John Ericsson (1803-89) settled in New York in 1839; in 1843 he built the first steamboat with a screw-propeller, and in 1861, during the American civil war, constructed the iron-clad Monitor. He was born at Långbanshyttan (p. 368), to the N. of Filipstad.

From Filipstad to HAGFORS, 57 Kil., a narrow-gauge line, passing numerous iron-works and mines, by (2 Kil.) Finshyttan (branch to Nyhyttan, p. 367). Continuation of the line to Karlstad, see p. 303.

304 Kil. Herrhult, where we cross the branch-line from Christinehamn to Mora (p. 368). 315 Kil. Loka; 326 Kil. Grythytted (branch to Kortfors, p. 303); 334 Kil. Hellefors; 341 Kil. Sikfors; 352 Kil. Bredsjö, all with iron-works. Numerous lakes.

372 Kil. Stäldalen. The line now runs parallel with the Vanneboda and Ludvika line (p. 360). 384 Kil. Hörken (narrow-gauge branch to Annefors, 47 Kil.); 392 Kil. Grängesberg, with important iron-mines, near the boundary between Vestmanland and Dalarne; 399 Kil. Klenshyttan. Between the lakes Norra and Södra Hörken the construction of the railway is interesting.

408 Kil. Ludvika (Jernvägs-Hot., good), on Lake Vessman (505 ft.), junction of the Tillberga-Vansbro (p. 359) and Vanneboda lines (p. 361).

426 Kil. Rämskhyttan, on the Ramensjö. A tunnel.

455 Kil. Borlänge (456 ft.; Jernvägs-Hot.; Central Hot.; pop. 1200), with cloth-factories for Dalecarlian costumes, is the junction of the Södra Dalarnes and Siljan railways (p. 366).

456 Kil. Domnarfvet, with important blast-furnaces, Bessemer and rolling-works of the Falun Kopparberg Co. (p. 365), a paper-mill, and electric-works. The motive power is supplied by the Dal-Elf, the water of which is conducted hither by a tunnel 880 yds. long. The train crosses the river by a high bridge of three arches. To the right is seen its waterfall.

461 Kil. Ornäs lies at the S.W. end of the Runnsjö (358 ft.), on which a steamboat plies. The banks of the Runnsjö are classic soil in Swedish history. At Rankhyttan, at the S.E. end, is the barn (kungslada) in which Gustavus Vasa, when a fugitive disguised as a peasant, once threshed corn. At the Ornässtuga, visible on the bank to the right, he was saved by Barbro Stigsdotter from his pursuers, to whom her husband Arend Persson was about to betray him. His bed is shown in the Kungskammare, from which Barbro let him down by a sheet.

478 Kil. Falun (371 ft.; Nya Hot., 8 min. from the station; Stads-Hot., Åsgata, by the market-place, both good; Central Hot.; pop. 10,900), the capital of Dalecarlia (Swed. Dälarna, 'the valleys'), famed for its copper-mines, lies on both banks of the Faluå, near its influx into a N.W. bay of the Runnsjö. The town consists of a group of villages once separate. On the E. bank are Östanfors, Lallarfvat, Öföre and Yttre Åsen, Slaggen, and Holmen, the residential side, with the copper-roofed Kristina-Kyrka, built in 1642-55, the Rådhus, and the Läroverk (school), whose 'Vaktmästare' shows the antiquities in the Dalaforssal. On the W. bank are Presttågten, Gamla Herrgården, and Elsborg, the industrial quarters.

The Falu Grufva, $1\frac{1}{2}$ Kil. S.W. of the town, the greatest copper-mine in the world after those of Lake Superior in America, has been worked since the 13th cent. The whole region still looks burned up by the fumes from the former smelting furnaces, though wet extraction has been in use for many years. The entrance to the mines adjoins a vast subsidence of the ground, known as Stöten, which took place in 1687. The deepest shaft is about 1300 ft. (Admission on week-days 8-12 and 4-6.)

Visitors usually telephone from Falun to announce their intended visit. They are provided with miner's attire (öfverkläder) at the mining-office (grufkontor), and with a miner (stigare) as a guide (fee 1-3 kr.; extra for gun-shots to awaken the echoes). The descent is by steps lighted with torches, the ascent is by the sides of the Stöten (1 hr.). There is little to see.

The mines have belonged since 1888 to the Stora Kopparbergs Bergslags Co., with a capital of nearly 10 million kr. and large landed property. They were formerly state-property, and were called 'Sveriges skatkammare' (treasury of Sweden) by Gustavus Adolphus. In the middle of the 17th cent. about 1250 tons of copper were annually extracted, but the yield rapidly fell off, reaching its lowest figure between 1830 and 1840. The annual yield is now about 400 tons of copper, besides about 10,570 oz. of silver and (since 1881) 3200-3500 oz. of gold. — In 1719 the body of a young man, Mats Israelson, who had perished in the mines 49 years before, was found so perfectly preserved by the fumes of the copper vitriol, that it was identified by an aged woman who had been betrothed to him in her youth. This event is the subject of poems and stories in various languages.

Railways to Rättvik and Orsa, and to Gefle, see p. 368, by Repbäcken (p. 366) to Björbo (70 Kil., in 3-4 hrs.; p. 359).

57. From Stockholm to Lake Siljan by Borlänge (Falun).

262 Kil. RAILWAY To Krylbo by the N. State Railway; then by private lines: through-express from Stockholm to Insjön 6½ hrs.

Pleasant CIRCULAR TOUR of 5-6 days, as to which information may be obtained at the tourists' agencies at Stockholm (p. 307). — 1st. From Stockholm to Insjön, see below; thence by steamer by Leksand to (8½ hrs.; Sun. 4¾) Mora (p. 367). — 2nd. Railway to (½ hr.) Orsa (p. 368; or steamer thrice weekly in 1½ hr.), and back to (2 hrs.) Rättvik (p. 367). — 3rd. Excursions from Rättvik; in the evening by rail in about 2½ hrs. to Falun (p. 364). — 4th. Visit the copper-mines at Falun, in the afternoon by rail in about 2½ hrs to Gefle (p. 370). — 5th. Railway to (1 hr.) Elfkärleö (p. 369), visit waterfall, and go on by rail to (2½ hrs.) Upsala (p. 349). — 6th. Upsala, and back to Stockholm in the evening. — A day may be saved by leaving Gefle by early train and omitting Elfkärleö.

From Stockholm to (66 Kil.) Upsala, see p. 347. — 107 Kil. Morgongåfva, with disused iron-works; 113 Kil. Heby (p. 359).

128 Kil. Sala (170 ft.; Stads-Hot.; Central Hot.; pop. 7380), on the Sagå, famous for its Silfvergrufva, or silver-mine (2½ Kil. S.W.), worked since the 16th cent. The annual yield, after long depression, is now about 52,800 oz., besides large quantities of lead. The argentiferous lead-ore is embedded in limestone. The smelting and refining works are at the Sala Hytta, N. of the town.

Sala is the junction of railways: S. to Tillberga (p. 359); N. to Gefle (p. 370), 105 Kil. in 2½-3 hrs.; by (19 Kil.) Runhallen (p. 359); then by (63 Kil.) Gysinge, on the Dal-Elf, which has a fall here and is crossed by the train, and (99 Kil.) Hagström (p. 368).

A dreary forest region. 138 Kil. Brodbo; 150 Kil. Rosshyttan.

161 Kil. Krylbo (263 ft.; Jernvägs Hot. & Rest.), on the Dal-Elf, the frontier-river of Dälarna, is the junction of the State Railway (to Storlien, R. 59), of the line from Engelsberg (p. 359), and of the Börlänge line. (No change of carriages for express passengers to Insjön).

Near Brunnbäck, 3 Kil. E. of Krylbo, is a monument on the Daläl in memory of the first decisive defeat of the Danes ('Jutar') by the adherents of Gustavus Vasa, in 1521.

'Brunnbäck elf ar val djup, också bred,
Der sankte vi så många Jutar ned.
Så kordes Danskar ur Sverige.'

(Old Ballad.)

(Brunnbäck's river is deep and broad; there we sank so many Jutes.
Thus the Danes were driven from Sweden.)

165 Kil. Avesta on the Dalelf, with iron-works; 184 Kil. Hedemora (351 ft.; Stads-Hot., pop. 2375), an old town in a pretty site; 191 Kil. Vikmanshyttan; 198 Kil. Kullsveden (branch-line to the iron-mines of Bispsberg). — 200 Kil. Säter (Turist-Hot., R. from 13¼ kr.; pop. 900), on Lake Ljustern, was founded by Gustavus Adolphus; near it are the pretty Säterdal and the Bispsbergs Klack (1030 ft.; tower with fine view). — 211 Kil. Gustafs. To the left, near (218 Kil.) Stora Tuna, is the Rommeheide drilling-ground.

225 Kil. Borlänge (456 ft.; p. 364), where we cross the Goten-burg and Falun line (R. 56, to Falun 23 Kil., in ½-1 hr.).

The SILJAN RAILWAY follows the course of the Dalelf. 232 Kil. Repbäcken (p. 365). The valley contracts; on the right are picturesque rocky hills. We cross the Dalelf. 236 Kil. Dufvnis (528 ft.); 246 Kil. Djurås (558 ft.), near the confluence of the W. and E. Dalelf (not seen from the railway).

262 Kil. Insjön (Jernvägs-Hot., with skjuts-station), near the small lake of that name, through which the Öster Dalelf flows. The train goes to the steamboat-pier.

Lake Siljan.

STEAMBOAT once every week-day, in June, July, and August, from Insjön by Leksand to Mora in 3½ hrs. (fare 2½, 1¼ kr.), and once to Leksand only in ¾ hr. (50, 30 o.); on Sun. once from Insjön by Leksand and Rättvik to (4¾ hrs.) Mora, and once by Leksand to (2¾ hrs.) Rättvik (1½ kr., 80 ö.). Also daily from Leksand by Rättvik, Sollerön, and Mora to Orsa in 6 hrs. (Comp. Kom. 450; good food, etc., on board, D 2 kr.)

We first steer up the Öster Dalelf, passing between great masses of timber on their way from the forests of the upper Dalarne to the sea. In 40 min. we reach —

Leksand (Nya Hotellet, by the quay, R. 1½-2½, B. 1¼, D. 2 kr.; Gästgivaregård, by the church, commended), on the Östervik, a bay of Lake Siljan. The large church rises among trees at the efflux of the Öster Dalelf. The Käringberg, ½ hr. N., to the left of the Rättvik road, and the Källberg, ½ hr. S., are crowned with belvederes. To the E., 3 Kil., rises the Tibbleberg.

Lake Siljan* (542 ft., 110 sq. M.), 'Dalarnes Öga' (eye of Dalecarlia), with pretty, gently sloping, and partly wooded banks, owes part of its interest to the dwellers around it, who retain some of their primitive characteristics, though modified by modern leveling influences. The Dalecarlians, especially those of the Siljansdal, formed the backbone of Sweden's fighting power under Gustavus Vasa, and have also been famed for their bravery and love of liberty in later times. Forestry, cattle-breeding, and farming are their chief occupations. They are generally poor, owing to the great subdivision of the land, but they carry on many thriving home-industries (husslôjd; watches, bells, furniture, grindstones, etc. Many of the young men (Dalkarlar) and girls (Dalkullor) seek work elsewhere every year, and return with their earnings to their old homes.

The steamer reaches the open lake in about $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. from Leksand. To the left rises the Björkberg, marking the centre of the peninsula of Siljansnäs. To the right is the bay of Rättviken, on which ($\frac{1}{4}$ - $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. from Leksand) lies — Rättvik (Turist Hot.*, two houses, R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ -3, B. or S. $1\frac{1}{2}$, D. 2, pens. 4-6 kr.; Karlsviks Hot.; Allers Hot., R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ -2, B. or S. $1\frac{1}{4}$, D. $1\frac{1}{2}$ kr., very fair; pop. 8900), the finest point on the lake, in a fertile district. Rail. stat., see p. 368. Good baths on the lake. On the bank, 20 min. N.W., is the old church of Rättvik, where picturesque costumes may be seen on Sunday mornings. The stalls outside are for the horses during divine service. Close by is the Vasa Stone. To the E., by the parsonage, is a fine point of view. Near this rises the Hökberg, where a stone in memory of the jurist Joh. Stiernhöck (1596-1673) was placed in 1896.

WALKS. On the Vikarbyn road (p. 368), beyond the church, as far as (about 2 Kil.) the village of Sjurberg, this side of which a road branches to the right to Nittsro, with a terracotta factory. — To the S., by the Leksand road (p. 368), to the belvedere of Vidablick (a walk of 1 hr.; rfmts.). — To the belvedere at Puntsberg, W. of the Leksand road, about 12 Kil. from Rättvik and 10 Kil. from Leksand — A small steamer for excursions may be hired at Rättvik.

The lake narrows at the large island of ($\frac{1}{2}$ -2 hrs. from Rättvik or from Leksand) Sollerö, W. of which rises the Gésundaberg (1683 ft.). On the Sarvik, at the N. end of the lake, lies —

Mora (Mora Hot., R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ - $2\frac{1}{2}$, B. or S. $1\frac{1}{2}$ kr., commended; Hot. Gustaf Vasa). The old church has a conspicuous spire. The adjoining 'klockstapel' affords a fine view. A little to the E. rises the Klockgropsbacken, where a statue by A. Zorn marks the spot from which Gustavus Vasa addressed the Dalecarlians in 1520 (p. xlvii). To the N.E. the Östra Dalelf joins the broad effluent of the Örsa-Sjö. On the E. bank lies the rail. stat. Mora-Noret (p. 368). Near it is the mansion of Christineberg, with a fine view. The banks are connected by a railway-bridge.

At Utmeland, $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. S.W. of Mora, a small chapel stands over the cellar in which the wife of Tomt Mats Larsson concealed Gustavus Vasa from his Danish pursuers. It is adorned with three pictures by Höckert, E. Bergh, and Charles XV.

FROM MORA TO ELFDALÉN, 41 Kil., railway in $\frac{2}{4}$ hrs., up the valley of the Östra Dalelf. 31 Kil. Blyberg, with famous porphyry-quarries (red, brown, and black) — From Elfdalen (788 ft.; Nya Hot.) a road, with 'fast' skjut-stations, leads to Sydend, on the Famundsjö (about 170 Kil.; p. 95).

FROM MORA TO CHRISTINEHAMN, 221 Kil., railway in $\frac{3}{2}$ hrs.: 48 Kil. Brinöbävarne (junction of a branch-line by Malung to Limesforsen on the upper Vestra Dalelf (59 Kil., in 3 hrs.; being continued to Lima). — 71 Kil. Vansbro (p. 359) on the Vestra Dalelf, which the train follows to (79 Kil.)

Trekärn. — 151 Kil Långbanshyttan (p. 363), 163 Kil Persberg, on the Ingensjö, with iron-mines. 168 Kil Nyhyttan, junction of a short branch to Filipstad and Finshyttan (5 and 7 Kil, p. 363); 174 Kil. Gammalkroppa; 178 Kil. Herrhult, where we cross the Kil and Falun railway (p. 363); 181 Kil Nykröppa; 193 Kil. Storfors, all with iron-works. 205 Kil. Nassundet, on the Ulbolettern-Sjö; Sjödalen. — 221 Kil. Christinehamn, see p. 303.

From Mora the steamer steers under the railway-bridge, up the effluent of the Orsasjö, barely 3 Kil. long, and then up that lake, which is 14 Kil. in length, to —

Orsa (561 ft.; Jernvägs-Hot., good), with an old church. The great forests near it belonging to the parish, maintain an immense timber-trade, valued at 300,000 kr. per annum. As far distant N.E. is the village of Stackmora, with an extensive view.

A marked path from Backa ascends the (2½ hrs) Fryksås (1755 ft.; extensive view), on the top of which is a chalet.

A new line, of about 120 Kil, is being constructed from Orsa N to Sreg in the Ljusnedal (p. 371).

FROM ORSA TO BOLLNÄS (p. 372), 118 Kil., railway in 5 hrs., through a forest and lake district, which may be utilized by travellers intending to go N. by the main line

From Orsa by Falun to Gefle.

194 Kil. RAILWAY (Gefle-Dala Jernväg) to Falun in about 3½, to Gefle in 5½-6 hrs.; through-carriages 2nd and 3rd cl. to Stockholm.

The train skirts the E. bank of the Orsasjö, with pretty views of the lake and of the W. hills. 14 Kil. Mora-Noret (p. 367). The country is well cultivated. 22 Kil. Fu. We approach Lake Siljan. 45 Kil. Vikarbyn, with fine lake-view.

52 Kil. Rättvik (542 ft.), see p. 367. — The train quits the lake and ascends. 59 Kil. Vestgårde. Pine-forest. 76 Kil. Sågmyra (663 ft.), on the Arbo-Sjö; 89 Kil. Grycksbo, with a paper-mill, on the Grycken-Sjö; 93 Kil. Bergsgården (433 ft.).

101 Kil. Falun Norra (384 ft.). 102 Kil. Falun Södra, the chief station, junction of the Bergslagerernas Jernväg (p. 363).

We skirt the N. bank of the Runnsjö. 107 Kil. Korsnäs (368 ft.; pop. 2000), with large iron-works and saw-mills. We ascend through wood to the highest point of the line (722 ft.). 135 Kil. Korsån (574 ft.), on the Hynsjö; 139 Kil. Hofors, on the Hoå, both with large iron-works.

156 Kil. Storvik (235 ft.), junction of the N. Stambana (p. 370).

162 Kil. Kungsgården (210 ft.), near the Storsjö, with iron-works.

171 Kil. Sandvikén (Hot. Svea; pop. 6000) has the oldest and largest Bessemer steel-works in Sweden (largest steam-hammer 15 tons; Krupp's largest, 50 tons). 178 Kil. Forsbacka (210 ft.); branch to the (3 Kil.) iron-works of that name. 185 Kil. Valbo (148 ft.); branch to the Vackmyra Sulfidfabrik. 188 Kil. Hagaström, junction of the line from Sala (p. 365).

194 Kil. Gefle (10 ft.), see p. 370.

58. From Upsala by Gefle to Ockelbo (Brücke, Östersund).

152 Kil. RAILWAY (local line) to Gefle, 114 Kil. in 2¼-3 hrs (trains seldom correspond); from Gefle to Ockelbo, 88 Kil. in about 1½ hr. — As travellers to or from the Norrland (R. 59) will find corresponding trains at Ockelbo, they will probably prefer the Gefle route to the less attractive State line. Dining-cars are attached to the express between Upsala and Gefle.

Upsala, see p. 349. The train at first follows the course of the Fyriså. 4 Kil. Gamla Upsala, with the Kungshögar (left; p. 353); 12 Kil. Stor-Vreta; 20 Kil. Vattholma. To the right is the château of Salsta, built by Nic. Tessin, now owned by a company ('Vattholma Jernbruk'). 38 Kil. Knyppplan, on the Vendel-Sjö.

43 Kil. Örbyhus. The château, now owned by Count E. v. Rosen, once belonged to Gustavus Vasa, whose half-insane son Eric XIV. was imprisoned here in 1574, and poisoned by order of his brother John III. on 25th Feb., 1577.

From Örbyhus branch-line, 9 Kil. in 20 min., to Dannemora, the centre of one of the richest iron-ore regions in Sweden, over 8 Kil. long, and 55-880 yds. in breadth, which is protected against the encroachment of the surrounding lakes by a bulwark of granite, in some parts 33 ft. thick. The mines, to which visitors are admitted (fee), yield annually 17-37,000 tons of the best iron. The magnetic ore, combined with zinc-blende, occurs in a flaky form, embedded in flinty rock. Österby, 3 Kil. E., has great iron-works, a fine mansion, park, and church. To the N. are the mines of Löfstå (or Leufsta). — From Dannemora a narrow-gauge line runs to Hargshamn on the Baltic (29 Kil.; 2 hrs.), 10 Kil. N. of which lies Osthammar, a sea-bathing place (steamer to Stockholm, Kom., 232).

61 Kil. Tierp, in a fertile district. Numerous iron-works. 69 Kil. Orrskog; branch-line to the great iron-works of Söderfors on the Dalelf, driven by the falls of the river. 81 Kil. Marna; near it is an artillery-range. Wooded country.

The train crosses the Dalelf by a bridge of six arches and a long viaduct.

88 Kil. Elfkarleö (Hot. Jagare, at the station). A road descends to the (2 Kil.) Turist-Hotel (R. 1-3 kr.; restaur.; carr. from the station, if ordered beforehand, 50 ö.), close to Karl den Trettondes Bro, spanning the river below the beautiful Elfkarleby Falls* (53 ft. high and 85 yds. broad), best viewed from the terrace of the Turist-Hotel. The Laxö, to the W., and the Flakö, E., divide the river into the three arms Kungsådran, Mellanfallet, and Storfallet. On the Laxö, reached by a bridge, is a pioneers' drilling-ground. Fine views. Productive salmon-fishery. The salmon may be seen leaping up the falls in autumn. On the right bank, ½ hr. farther on, is the church of Elfkarleby, of 1478.

98 Kil. Skutskär (pop. 1400) is a Baltic port with saw-mills belonging to the Falun copper-company (p. 365). The timber floated down the Dalelf in rafts is shipped here. (Steamboat to Gefle.) 99 Kil. Harnäs, on the Baltic, with a fine harbour, iron-furnaces, and saw-mills, where we sight the bay of Gefle. 103 Kil. Furuviik, a sea-bathing resort.

114 Kil. Gefle. Two stations: Central and Södra. — GRAND HOTEL, Norra Strandgatan, with lift, baths, etc., R from 2½-14, B. 1¼, D. 2-3½ kr.; CENTRAL HOT., Nygatan, very fair; JERNVÄGS-HOT — Beer at Anton's, Kopmans-Gatan 5 — Steamer to Stockholm almost daily (comp. p. 381; Kom. 232, 233, 237, etc.).

Gefle, a thriving commercial and industrial town on the Gefleä, with 31,000 inhab., is the chief outlet for the timber and metal yielded by Gestrikland, Helsingland, and Dälarna. Since the fire of 1869, which destroyed the quarter on the N. bank, the town has been rebuilt. The Nygata leads to the Rådhus Esplanade, with its two fountains, and the Theatre and the Rådhus at its ends. Farther on is the Residens of the provincial governor. To the W., on the bank of the rapid Gefleä, is the Stadsträdgård, or public park (restaur. Strömdalen). Large shipbuilding-yards. Pleasant trip by steam-launch N.E. to Bönan, a sea-bathing place on the bay of Gefle. This bay owes its form and its soil to the limestone and sandstone here embedded in the volcanic rock.

A branch-line runs from the Södra Station to (5 Kil.) Bomhus, with large timber-yards. — From Gefle to Falun, see p. 368; to Sala, p. 365.

Between Gefle and Ockelbo the stations are unimportant. Near Ockelbo the scenery improves. 118 Kil. Strömsbro, with cotton-mills, a suburb of Gefle, 131 Kil. Oslättfors; 152 Kil. Ockelbo (see below).

59. From Stockholm by Upsala, Ockelbo, and Bräcke to Östersund and Storlien (Trondhjem).

718 Kil. NORRA STAMBANAN Through-train daily (two from the middle of June to the end of August), with sleeping-car, in 20 hrs. (2nd cl. 40.20, 3rd 26.80 kr.). The Lapland express, running three times a week (p. 378), may be utilized as far as Bräcke (10½ hrs.; sleeping and dining-cars). The large stations have good restaurants. The journey may be broken at interesting points between Bräcke and Storlien. From Storlien to Trondhjem (carr. changed, except sleeping-cars) by Norwegian Railway, 106 Kil. in 4 hrs. (p. 206).

Travellers who prefer the more attractive route from Upsala to Ockelbo by Gefle (R. 58) must state this, on taking their tickets.

From Stockholm to (66 Kil.) Upsala, see p. 347. Thence to (161 Kil.) Krylbo, see p. 365.

We cross the Dalelf by a long bridge and traverse a rich mining district. The scenery becomes more severe; orchards, lime-trees, and even thatched roofs disappear. 171 Kil. Fors (branch to Garpenberg, 10 Kil.); 179 Kil. Morshyttan (light railway to Näs; 12 Kil.); 185 Kil. Horndal; 190 Kil. Byvalla (light railway to Långshyttan, 27 Kil.); 209 Kil. Torsåker.

219 Kil. Storvik (236 ft.; Rail. Rest. & Jernvägs-Hot.*, D. 2½ kr.), junction of the Gefle and Falun railway (p. 368).

Our route runs through Gestrikland, in parts wooded and fertile, past small iron-works. 235 Kil. Järbo, with church.

257 Kil. Ockelbo (Jernvägs-Hot.), with a large church and iron-works. is the junction of the local line coming from Upsala and Gefle (R. 58), and of the light railway from Linghed by the iron-mines of (11 Kil.) Vintjern and (59 Kil.) Ockelbo to (86 Kil.) Norrsundet on the Baltic. — 274 Kil. Lingbo, on a small lake, is the first station in Helsingland.

Near (300 Kil.) Kilafors (Gästgifvaregård) we sight the lake of Bergviken, to the right.

FROM KILAFORS TO SÖDERHAMN, railway in $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr We cross the Ljusne-Elf to (7 Kil.) Landa; 18 Kil. Bergvik (158 ft.), on the Bergviksström, as the Ljusne is called where it issues from the Bergvik-Sjö; 24 Kil. Myslje, on the Marmen-Sjö; 24 Kil. Kinstaby; 33 Kil. Söderhamn (p. 331); 36 Kil. Stugsund (p. 331).

The Stambana crosses the Vorna-Elf, the chief feeder of the Ljusne, and skirts the Varpen-Sjö.

317 Kil. Bollnäs (187 ft.; Jernvägs-Hot., commended; Gästgifvaregård; pop. 1000), a considerable place in a pretty site, with factories and a deaf-and-dumb asylum.

From Bollnäs to Orsa on Lake Siljan, see p. 367.

The line ascends the valley of the Ljusne-Elf, which forms a chain of long lakes. Views to the right.

332 Kil. Arbrå (371 ft.; good Hot., with baths, R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ kr.), on the right bank of the Ljusne, which has a small fall here. A bridge crosses to the wooded Forsö.

337 Kil. Vallsta (Hot.). The train runs between the Åsberg (left) and the Orsjö (right) to (353 Kil.) Karsjö, on the Tefsjö.

365 Kil. Jerfsö (440 ft.; good Hot.), prettily situated, is one of the chief places in Helsingland. To the right, as we near it, we see the church, on an island in the Ljusne; in the distance is the Jerfsöklack (1852 ft.; ascent 2 hrs., with guide, 1 kr.). To the left, 20 min. above the station, rises the Öjeberg (1158 ft.), with a belvedere.

Views now to the left. At Edångesfallet we cross the Ljusne-Elf.

380 Kil. Ljusdal (430 ft.; Jernvägs-Hot., with restaur., R. from 2, B. $1\frac{1}{4}$ kr., Gästgifvaregård, 7 min. from station, R. from $1\frac{1}{2}$ kr., good), a scattered village. The church has a carved altar brought from Germany in the Thirty Years' War. The old 'klockstapel' is visible from the train.

FROM LJUSDAL TO HUDIKSVALL, 62 Kil., railway in 2-3 hrs. — 6 Kil. Hybo (404 ft.), on the Hybosjö, with a busy timber-trade. The line passes between the Grytjensjö (right) and the Grytjesberg (1040 ft.), and skirts the Stömmensjö and Längensjö. — 27 Kil. Delsbo (240 ft.; Hot., good) lies at the W. end of the lake Södra Dellen, (135 ft.); canal thence to the Norra Dellen (138 ft.). — 31 Kil. Fredrikfors. Two tunnels. 45 Kil. Näsiken, at the S.E. end of the Södra Dellen; 50 Kil. Forssa, on the Kyrksjö; near it are the church of that name, and a so-called 'Gillestuga', an ancient pleasure-resort, now unique of its kind. 62 Kil. Hudiksvall (p. 331).

The Stambana quits the Ljusne-Elf, in the valley of which a road ascends W. to Kårböle (59 Kil.), and thence to Sveg and Malmagen (230 Kil. farther), on the Norwegian frontier. To the W. of Malmagen, on the Swedish side, is the favourite Fjällnäs Sanatorium (2560 ft.; road to Röros, p. 95). — The train skirts the Veånansjö (440 ft.). 387 Kil. Tallåsen (515 ft.). To the left is the Letsjö. We cross a long embankment between the Bäckesjö (left) and the Storsjö (646 ft.; right). 408 Kil. Hennan (693 ft.), on a lake of that name, whose E. bank we skirt. — 428 Kil. Ramsjö (690 ft.). At the N. end of the Hennansjö rises (left) the Ramsjö-Kyrka. This whole district, once dreaded as a wild 'Nordanskog', is full of sombre beauty.

The train ascends until near (446 Kil.) Mellansjö (1040 ft.), on the lake of that name. 464 Kil. Östavall (794 ft.), the first station in the district of Medelpad, lies on Lake Aldern, which the line skirts. We cross, by two iron bridges, the Ljungan, the discharge of Lake Aldern, which at (473 Kil.) Alby supplies large electric-works (12,000 H.P.) We then sweep round to — 484 Kil. Ånge (551 ft.; Jernvägs-Hot.*, with restaur., R. 1½-2, B. 1½, D. 2, S. 1½ kr., coffee and bread 50 ö.), a terminal station, from which the train backs out, junction for Sundsvall (p. 382).

The line ascends through bleak woods and hills, enters the province of Jemtland, and, on the E. bank of Lake Refsunden, reaches — 515 Kil. Bräcke (955 ft.; Jernvägs-Hot., with restaur., R. from 2, B. 1½, very good, Vallander's Hot.), junction for Luleå (p. 378). A spare hour may be spent in visiting the 'Uppfödringsverk', for raising and entraining the timber floated down in rafts.

The train runs on the E. bank of the Refsundsö, and crosses the Gimå, the discharge of the lake, by which timber is floated down to the Indals-Elf (p. 377). At (539 Kil.) Gäddö (955 ft.), at the N. end of the Refsundsö, the line turns W. and crosses a wooded height (with the church of Refsund on the right) to the Arvikssjö, which is seen on the left. — The name of (553 Kil.) Pilgrimstad (955 ft.), at the N. end of the Arvikssjö, recalls the pilgrimages to the tomb of St. Olaf, at Trondhjem (p. 202). — We pass the picturesque Locknesjö (1076 ft.), on the W. bank of which is the church of Lockne.

The train next reaches the Storsjö* (958 ft.; area 172 sq. M.; greatest depth 286 ft.), a lake with banks of peculiar beauty, where dark woods contrast finely with corn-fields. The comparative fertility of the soil is due to the Silurian slate-formation, which points to a once larger lake and stretches as far as Storlien. The station of (571 Kil.) Brunflo (1073 ft.) lies 115 ft. above the S.E. arm of the lake, which the train skirts. On the opposite bank appears the church of Marieby; then the Oviksfjällar (p. 383), the Åreskutan (p. 374), and other peaks.

586 Kil. Östersund. — Besides the MAIN STATION (Rest.), to the E., where omnibuses meet the trains (50 ö.), there is the West Station, near the market and the pier, but without a luggage-office.

GRAND-HÔTEL, Stora Torget (10 min. from station, R. 2½-5½ kr., B. 80 ö., good, with café-rest, Engl. spoken; NYA HOT. (R. only), Präst-Gatan, HOT. NORRLAND BATHS (hot and cold) in the Badhus, near the West Station.

POST, Köpman-Gatan. TELEGRAPH, corner of same and Drottning-Gatan.

Östersund (971 ft.; pop. 7500), the only town in the province of Jemtland, is built chiefly of timber. It is prettily situated on the E. 'Sund' of the Storsjö, facing the hilly Frösö. On the lake-side runs the Esplanade, with the 'Residens' of the Landshöfding.

The Oscarsbro, a stone and iron bridge, 475 yds. long, built in 1897 to replace an old wooden bridge, connects the Esplanade with the Frösö. A Runic Stone on that island (left of the bridge) records that 'Austmader, son of Gndfast, built the first bridge here and christianized Jotalont' (Jemtland). The road to the right leads to Villa Fjällmann (open to visitors) and other villas at the foot of the Östberg. The main road, bearing to the left from the bridge, ascends between the Östberg (1463 ft.; right) and the Oneberg (left). The ascent of the Östberg takes about 1 hr.; we diverge to the right, $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. from the bridge, and pass a brewery. The belvedere (106.) on the top commands an immense, but hardly picturesque, mountain and lake region. The main road goes on, first down, and then a little uphill, to the church of Frösö, built in 1898 (about $6\frac{1}{2}$ Kil. from the bridge), with a famous view. At gård Stocke, 1 Kil. farther, is the Stockettitt (25 ö.), a belvedere of the Tourists' Union, with a fine view across the lake to the mountains on the Norwegian frontier. About 2 Kil. farther on are the skjuts-station of Frösö and a camp of the Jemtland Rifles, whose training usually takes place in August (when a restaur. is opened).

STEAMBOAT TRIPS on the Storsjö are commended. Thus, from Östersund daily, past the Frösö, and then on the S. arm of the lake, 40 Kil. long, to Berg (2 kr.); or, several times a week, W. by Marby and Hallen to Quitsle ($1\frac{1}{2}$ kr.), about 5 Kil. from rail. stat. Mattmar (see below) — A road leads from Hallen to (22 Kil.) Bydalen (Hot. Drommen, R. 1- $\frac{1}{4}$ kr.), at the foot of the Drommen (3740 ft), a fine point of view.

The train skirts the W. bank of the Östersund arm of the Storsjö. To the left we see the lake and the fertile district of Rödö, as far as the Oviksfjällar. 597 Kil. Täng. Near (607 Kil.) Krokomb we cross the Indals-Elf, which issues from the lake and forms a waterfall on the right. Farther on, to the right, lies the Näldsö, with a fine mountain-background. At (618 Kil.) Nälden (1001 ft.) we cross the Fax-Elf, which connects the Näldsö with the Alsensjö; and beyond (624 Kil.) Ytterån (978 ft.; Stora Hot. & Kurhaus; chalybeate spring) we cross the Ytterå, and skirt the Storsjö for the last time to (633 Kil.) Trångsviken. 664 Kil. Mattmar (1014 ft.), skjuts-station.

Passing Ocke, at the W. end of the Ockesjö, we ascend the valley of the Indals-Elf towards the Norwegian frontier. The river bears various names and forms a chain of lakes. Here it is known as Skeldern; near Mörsil it forms the Eggforsar, seen to the left of the line.

655 Kil. Mörsil (1080 ft.; Jernvägs-Hot., with restaur.; Hot. Dalgård; both good; Dr. Horney's Sanatorium), a favourite health-resort, is a starting-point for the ascent of the Oviksfjällar (4478 ft.), the rounded mountain S.W. of the Storsjö, seen from the railway even before Östersund.

The train skirts the Litensjö, below the high-road, and crosses a bay of the lake by a long embankment 665 Kil. Hjerpén (1067 ft.; Hotel, with Gästgifveri and 'Thingstuga', at the station, R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ -2, B. or S. $1\frac{1}{4}$, D. $1\frac{1}{2}$ kr., tolerable). The village, with two saw-mills, lies $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. W., on the Hjerpeström, which is spanned by a long timber bridge.

FROM HJERPÉN TO KOLÅSEN, and thence to LEVANGER, a fine, though not striking route of about four days — We take 'skjuts', N.W., up the left bank of the Hjerpeström to (11 Kil.) Bonaset (inn), at the S. end of the mountain-girt Kallsjö (1267 ft.), on which there are two small tugs used in the timber-traffic. The road leads on its E. bank by (12 Kil.) Käll and (15 Kil. farther) Rör to (7 Kil.) Ytterkonds (quarters at A. Forström's) At Beljom, 18 Kil. farther, the road ends. We next row to (13 Kil.) Källströmmen, at the N. end of the Kallsjö, walk in 8 min. across an isthmus to Lake Juveln, and row to Acklingsedet (2 Kil., in $\frac{1}{2}$ hr.). A walk of 20-25 min. brings us to Lake Acklingen, across which we row to Kolåsen (1559 ft.; quarters at J. Eriksson's), with a Lapp chapel, where a Lapp fair ('Lappmassan') is held three times in summer. 'Kolåsens-Fjallpension' is closed. — Travellers bound for LEVANGER return to Källströmmen and row to Sundet (Inn), on the W. side of the Kallsjö, at the influx of the Anjan. A road leads thence W. to (4 Kil.) Anjehem, on the Anjansjö (1375 ft.), on which we row (or we may find a small steamer) by Bäcksjöndset, at the S. base of the Anjeskuta (3934 ft.), to Melen (about 18 Kil.; Gästgifveri, with skjuts-station, post-office, and custom-house), where we spend the night. From Melen a high-road leads over the Norwegian frontier and along the Bredvand (1690 ft.) to (16 Kil.) Sandviken (Inn), then past the Isvand and across 'St Olaf's Bridge', spanning its effluent, to (15 Kil.) Suistuen, (19 Kil.) Garnes, (11 Kil.) Skjerdalen, and (14 Kil.) Levanger. Comp. p. 207.

The train crosses the Hjerpeström, passes the church of Undersåker, and traverses old moraines, with a view (left) of the fine upper Rista Fall of the Undersåker-Elf (Indalselv; Hot. Ristafallet). The waterfall is reached in $\frac{1}{2}$ - $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. from stat. Hålland (Pens. Hedman, good, above, on the main road); we pass under the railway to the W., cross the bridge, and ascend the right bank of the stream.

678 Kil. Undersåker (1237 ft.; Gästgifveri). A road leads hence on the right bank of the Brattlandsström (Indalselv) to (3 Kil.) the village of Edsåsen (1510 ft.; good Inn).

From Edsåsen we may walk (with guide) over the Vallhufjall (2992 ft.) to the Öttsjö, row up the lake, and follow the road to Vålbo (about 28 Kil. from Undersåker), with a chapel and Lapp fair (comp. above).

We now skirt the N. bank of the Åresjö, an expansion of the Indals-Elf, with views of the Renfjäll (left) and Åreskutan (right), here seen at full height. 688 Kil. Björnänge (Hot. Björneborg) is only an occasional stopping-place.

692 Kil. Åre (1240 ft.; Restaur., behind the station, to the left; Gr. Hot. Åre, R. 2, B. $1\frac{1}{2}$, D. 2, S. $1\frac{1}{2}$ kr., Engl. spoken; Hot. Åreskutan, farther E.; both often full in summer; also lodgings), with an old church, is the chief health-resort in Jemtland. Pleasant walks on the high-road and to the 'Paviljong' on the Totten road.

Åreskutan (4656 ft.; guide, unnecessary, 3 kr.), the great mountain of slate-rock N. of Åre, is ascended in about $\frac{1}{2}$ hrs., by a path maintained by the Swedish Tourists' Union and provided with notices of the distance from the station, and of the height. By the school-house (direction-board) we turn E. into the wooded Mörriksdal. To the right is the Totthummeln, in front the Lillskutan, and to the left the Morvikshunnelm (2926 ft.; ascended in about $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.; view and refuge-lut). The path, bad and marshy at places, leads over the Svaartberg and past the Gröna Dal to the summit. The view ranges from the Storsjö on the E. to the snow-mountains on the W., the Snasahögar and the Sylar being conspicuous; to the N. are the Kallsjö, the Anjeskutan, and the chapel of Kolåsen (see above), to the W. the Tännfors.

Beyond Åre we see the Mullfjäll on the right, ascended from Dufed in $2\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.

700 Kil. Dufed (1263 ft.; Dufeds-Hot., by the station; Hot. Mullfjället, $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. E.; Engl. spoken), another health-resort, with a new church. Carriages at the hotels or at Per Ericson's; skjuts-station 1 Kil. from the railway-station.

Excursion to THE TÄNNFORS, 3-4 hrs. there and back; carr. for 1-2 pers. 4, for 3 pers. 6 kr.; carr. and pair 6-8 kr. The road, hilly at first, leads past (3 Kil.) a conspicuous 'Minnesten', in memory of the Swedish Karoliner, a detachment of 6500 men, who under General Armfelt invaded Norway in the summer of 1718, but on their retreat in the following winter lost more than a third of their number through cold and hunger. Then, in view of the Quarnåfors, on the opposite side of the valley, we next reach the bridge of Sta, about 4 Kil. from Dufed, and cross it. Then through a lonely forest-region. About 10 Kil. from Dufed, to the W. of the Tandradshöjde (1882 ft.), a new road diverges to the right from the Levanger road (see below), leading to the Turist-Station (rfmts.). A path descends in steps to the fall. The Tännfors, which falls from the Tännsjö (1427 ft.) into the Norensjö, about 112 ft. below, is one of the grandest waterfalls in Sweden, 230 ft. broad. The Byrnesten, or 'bears' rock', divides it into two arms, but is covered by the spring floods.

The Road to LEVANGER is the same as the above as far as the point where the road to the Tännfors diverges. It next reaches, on the left (16 Kil. from Dufed), Bodsjöedet, crosses the Bodsjösund, and follows the N. bank of the Bodsjö to (6 Kil.) Stalljärnstugan. Then (21 Kil.) Skalslugan (good quarters) and across the Norwegian frontier to (23 Kil.; pay for 50) Sulstuen, see p. 207.

The train crosses the Dufeds-Elf (Indalselv) and ascends in a lonely forest-region; to the right we see the 'Karoliner' monument (see above). 713 Kil. Gefsjö (1664 ft.), on its lake, whose feeder descending from the Ånnsjö we cross. To the left we have a superb view of the Bunnerfjäll, the Snasahögar, and, between them, far off, the great glacier of the Sylar. 724 Kil. Änn (1762 ft.), on the Ännsjö, on the S.W. side of which are seen the large Handöls falls. At Änn is Änns Fjällpensionat (R. $\frac{3}{4}$ - $1\frac{1}{4}$ kr.); on the lake, $3\frac{1}{2}$ Kil. distant, is the Klocka Pensionat.

735 Kil. Enafors (1818 ft.; Turist-Hot., at the station, R. from $1\frac{1}{2}$ kr.) is a centre for several mountain-tours, for which the landlord finds guides. Unfortunately the gnats are troublesome, and veils are desirable.

To the Handöls Falls, 4-5 hrs. there and back (guide, who acts as rower, 3 kr. for 1-2 pers., $\frac{1}{2}$ kr. for 3 pers.). We row down the river, cross the Ånnsjö to the mouth of the Handölsä, and walk up the left bank of the stream by Handöls, with its Lapp chapel, to ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr.) the lower fall (148 ft. high). The upper fall, $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. further up, is seldom visited.

The Snasahögar (4306 ft.), S. of Enafors, may be ascended in 4 hrs. (with guide). The view embraces a barren mountain-scene, with the Sylar and Helagsfjäll to the S., the Ånnsjö, Åreskutan, and Bunnerfjäll to the W., and other heights.

An excursion to the Sylar, a diorite range about 11 Kil. long, with several peaks and two glaciers (N.E. and S.E.), takes fully three days. Provisions and rugs must be taken; horse and guide 5-6 kr. per day. We ascend by the upper Handels Fall to the (8 hrs.) Sylhydda (3117 ft.; bed $1\frac{1}{2}$ kr., but no food), at the E. base of the Storsyta (5795 ft.) Next day we make the ascent (7 hrs. there and back, with guide), and on the third day return to Enafors. — To the S.E. of Enafors is (7 hrs.) the small Helagskydda, at the foot of the Helagsfjäll (5896 ft.), the highest peak of this range, which may be ascended in 3-4 hrs.

The train still ascends. Great snow-ploughs in sidings, and long snow-sheds protecting the line indicate the difficulties of the winter-service.

748 Kil. Storlien (1942 ft.; Jernvägs-Hot., by the station, R. from $1\frac{1}{2}$, B. $1\frac{1}{2}$, D. 2, S. $1\frac{3}{4}$ kr.; higher up is the Högfjälls-Sanatorium, with view, R. from $1\frac{1}{2}$, pens. $3\frac{1}{2}$ -5 kr., both good), the last station in Sweden, in an almost treeless region, is a favourite summer-resort. Excursions to the Brudstöjar ('bridal veil'), a fall, 79 ft. high, of the Tevlan, which flows to the W. (1 hr. with guide); ascent of the Stenfjäll (2963 ft.; 3 hrs., with guide), etc.

At Storlien is the custom-house for passengers from Norway. Carriages are usually changed in both directions, but the sleeping-cars go through. Norwegian railway to Trondhjem, see p. 206.

60. From Ånge to Sundsvall.

95 Kil. STATE RAILWAY in about 3 hrs., the so-called 'cross-line', which includes, however, the section from Ånge to Storlien.

Ånge, see p. 372. To Vattjom the train follows the course of the Ljunga (l mute), down which masses of timber are floated to the Baltic. The scenery is hilly and picturesque.

14 Kil. Erikslund (387 ft.) is finely situated on the Borgsjö, on whose fertile N. bank, at the foot of the Rankleffen, is the church of Borgsjö, with its old 'klockstapel'. The train crosses the Ljunga. Several stations. 28 Kil. Fränsta (259 ft.; Gästgfv.), on the Torpsjö. We cross the Gimå, descending from the N., and forming a fall 59 ft. high.

38 Kil. Torpshammar (260 ft.), prettily situated, with factories and an active trade. 44 Kil. Viskan (207 ft.); 54 Kil. Stöde (181 ft.; Gästgfv.), at the W. end of the Stödesjö (16 Kil. long), on whose N. bank the train runs to (69 Kil.) Nedansjö (181 ft.). We cross the Blakulla, and, again skirting the Ljunga, reach —

77 Kil. Vattjom (207 ft.; Gästgfv.), in the beautiful district of Tuna, junction of a branch-line to the iron-works and saw-mill of (3 Kil.) Matfors, on a fall of the Ljunga. That river flows through Lake Marmen, farther on, and falls into the sea 10 Kil. S. of Sundsvall.

83 Kil. Töfva (204 ft.). We pass the church of Selanger on the left and follow the Selangerå through a pretty country to —

95 Kil. Sundsvall (see p. 382).

61. From Bispgården to Sundsvall by the Indals-Elf.

124 Kil. From Bispgården to (12 Kil.) Edset-Utanede, a DRIVE of 1¼ hr. (skjuts 2 kr. per pers.) Vehicles usually meet the morning-train from the S. — From Edset-Utanede to Sundsvall, STEAMER (Kom. 472) in 9-10 hrs. (fare 4½ kr.), changing boats twice; good food on board the two steamers from Lidens Färja onwards; on the first rints. only. This trip in the reverse direction (up-stream) takes 14-16 hrs. The boat leaves Sundsvall on the arrival of the morning steamer from Stockholm (R. 68) The captain, if requested, will engage skjuts from Edset to Bispgården Bispgården, see p. 378. The road passes the church of Fors and the Fors-Gästgifveri, affording beautiful views of the Indalself, which here forms the Hannesfors and the Stadsfors. At Utanede the road to the steamboat-pier descends W. to — 12 Kil. Edset (pron. 'Esset'), in the parish of Utanede.

The INDALS-ELF, with its great expanses of water and its wooded banks, rivals the Ångerman-Elf (p. 379) in grandeur of scenery. The steamer 'Liden', on which we embark at Edset, is small, but has two powerful engines. The screw makes 360 revolutions per minute, but in ascending the rapids, such as the Utanedefors and then the Sillrefors, 400 revolutions are necessary. The steamer descends these rapids at the rate of a kilomètre in 1-1½ min., but up-stream gains only a few yards per minute. The floating timber gets heaped up in great masses at places 38 Kil. (from Edset) Lidens Färja ('ferry'), on the left bank. Above are the old and the new church and the Gästgifveri of Liden. We embark here in the stern-wheeler 'Indalen', built on the American plan.

At Glimån, on the right bank, 1½ Kil. below Lidens Färja, where the 'Indalen' calls on the voyage up, we may see the curious method of bringing timber down to the river. The timber from Jemtland (p. 372) is sent by rail from the Holmsjö to the Indal, and there, at the 'Vårdshus' (25 min. from the steamboat-pier), is transferred to a huge sloping 'flume' or shoot, 718 yds. long, down which it slides with great rapidity, finally shooting through the air in a great curve before plunging into the river.

Below Glimån the stream is covered with floating timber and occasional rafts, through which the steamer has to steer cautiously. The river-bed widens. The steep banks of sand and clay, known as Nipor, are often undermined by the water, and then collapse. Grey gneiss mountains rise in the distance. Fully halfway to Bergeforsen we see the church of Indal on the left bank. We then pass under the wooden bridge of Käfsa, and in ¾ hr. more reach —

83 Kil. Bergeforsen (Turist Hotel, fair), where we leave the steamer 'Indalen'. We pass the iron bridge which spans the rapids (crossing to the little inn Turist-Hyddan), and in a few minutes reach the pier of the steamer 'Turisten', which is to carry us further. Some 400 men are engaged here in catching the floating logs at the foot of the rapids and arranging them in the 'Sortéringsbommar', according to the distinctive marks of the owners.

The 'Turist', an ordinary screw-steamer, descends the estuary of the Indals-Elf, by Stavreviken and Löfudden, where the timber-rafts are made up, crosses Kringelfjärd, a bay of the Baltic, passing Vistavarf, and then steers S. through the Alnösund, between the Alnö and the mainland. Large saw-mills and charcoal-kilns abound, notably at Skönvik, at the mouth of the sound, and at numerous other points. On the mainland, to the right, is the church of Skön.

111 Kil. Sundsvall, see p. 382.

62. From Bräcke to Luleå.

665 Kil. STATE RAILWAY. From mid-June to the beginning of August the Lapland Express (p. 370) runs three times a week to Boden, where the Luleå line branches off. This train has sleeping and dining-cars and through-carriages from Stockholm to Luleå. From Bräcke to Luleå it takes 17¼ hrs. The daily express stops for the night at Jörn, 15 hrs. from Bräcke (where passengers who prefer it may remain in the sleeping-car on payment of 3 kr.); from Jörn to Luleå 6 hrs. more. Fares from Bräcke to Luleå, 2nd cl. 19 50, 3rd cl. 13 kr. Refreshments are hardly obtainable except at the dinner and supper stations. The long journey through monotonous forest, where millions of fallen trees lie rotting, in combination with a visit to the great rivers Indals-Elf (R. 61) and Ängerman-Elf (R. 64), affords a complete picture of the scenery of the provinces of Medelpad and Ängermanland. The traveller who is satisfied with seeing one of these rivers only should go by rail to Bispgården, and thence down the Indalselv to Sundsvall, from which he may proceed N. by sea.

Bräcke, see p. 372. The line turns to the N.E., passing several lakes 22 Kil. Nyhem (899 ft.); 55 Kil. Källarne (971 ft.), 67 Kil. Hälsjö, with a church dating from 1684, restored in 1902, and a 'klockstapel' of 1690.

80 Kil. Ragunda (571 ft.; inn). An omnibus (1 kr.) runs N.W. to (7 Kil.) Ragunda Kyrkoslätt, which has a chalybeate spring and hydropathic, on the Indalselv, which here forms the Hammarfors.

From Ragunda Kyrkoslätt to (14 Kil.) Dövikem, then past the Krångeforsarne, 5 Kil. long, to (16 Kil.) Stromsnas and (20 Kil.) Stugubyn (inn), and by a road with poor stations to (48 Kil.) Pilgrimstad (p. 372).

Beyond a tunnel we cross the Indalselv by a long bridge. Just beyond it, to the right, by stat. Österede, is the Döda Fall ('dead fall'), a curious rocky chaos with thirty glacier cauldrons, over which the river flowed, until, during a flood in 1796, it broke through the moraine higher up.

95 Kil. Bispgården (571 ft.; Turist-Hot., at the station, R. 2½, B. or S. 1½ kr., good) is the starting-point for the descent of the Indals-Elf to Sundsvall (R. 61). Above the station (10 min.) we may obtain a fine peep into the deep Indal.

121 Kil. Helgum (404 ft., inn), starting-point for an attractive two-days' trip to Ramséle (6 kr. there and back).

The steamer 'Primus' (restaur.), leaving Helgum early, steers up the Helgumsjö to Rådom, and up the Faxe-Elf to (48 Kil.; 4 hrs.) Utteå. We then drive to (3 Kil.) Nordanåker (Edsöle), and take the steamer 'Ramsele' (twice daily) to (1½-2 hrs.) the thriving village of (16 Kil.) Ramsöle (Farnlöf's Hot.).

FROM RAMSELE TO NORWAY, 6-8 days. A road leads by the skjuts-stations (22 Kil.) Flym, (11 Kil.) Krokfors, and (14 Kil.) Stamsöle, and past several lakes, to (22 Kil.) Strom or Strömsund (Nya Hot.), in a fertile region, with post-office and telephone. It lies at the lower end of a chain of lakes, known as Ströms Vattudal. Steamer thrice weekly: first on the Nedre Sjö (965 ft.) to (5-6 hrs.; 3 kr.) Bågådet, 10 min. from Stjutsåsen (quarters), then on the Öfre (Fågel) Sjö and through the Karlsstrom to (1½-2 hrs.) Håkasjö (quarters), on the Stamsölevik. Opposite is the mouth of the Hällingså, a river which farther up forms the Hällingså Fall (115 ft. high), rivaling the Tannfors in grandeur (rowing-boat to the mouth of the river, 1 hr.; then 1½ hr.'s walk to the tourist-hut; the path ascends the Munsjödlil, 4022 ft., in 4 hrs. more; splendid view). The Stamsölevik is part of Lake Hetsjöln (984 ft.), on which the steamer plies to (1½-2 hrs.) Gaddede (good quarters), near the church of Frostviken, 6 Kil. from the Norwegian frontier. — A road leads from Gaddede into Norway: 38 Kil. Stöviken, near the Norrlükyrke (1486 ft.); 42 Kil. Sandmoen; 22 Kil. Mortenslund (good quarters); 56 Kil. Formo, etc. (see p. 205).

131 Kil. Långsele (358 ft.; Hot. Vestberg) is the junction of a branch-line which descends rapidly by the Faxe-Elf, and then on the Ångerman-Elf, to Sollefteå (14 Kil., in about ½ hr.; p. 384).

The main line crosses the foaming Faxe-Elf; then the Ångerman-Elf, by the Forsmo-Bro*, a bridge 270 yds. long, 154 ft. high, which spans the Edefors in five arches. View to the right.

151 Kil. Selsjö (460 ft., skjuts-station) is a starting-point for the valley of the Ångerman-Elf, which, however, is oftener visited from Sollefteå (comp. p. 384).

From Selsjö a HIGH ROAD ascends on the left bank of the Ångerman-Elf, past the church of Resele and the Tommya, to (11 Kil.) Höfven (Gast-gifveri). Then by Rödsta (2 Kil. from Höfven; terminus of the steam-launch 'Borup', see p. 385) to Näsåker (Gastgifveri) near Ådals Liden, to the (17 Kil.) skjuts-station of Västansbäck, and to the (1 Kil.) Hotel Västansbäck, whence we may visit the Nämåfors, with a great salmon-fishery, the Blomsternipa, with view, and the grand Kilfors*. The road to the (8 Kil.) Kilfors leads W. from the ferry over the Ångerman-Elf, and then ascends the Fjallsjö-Elf, the river that forms the fall 192 Kil. Skorped (512 ft.); 213 Kil. Anundsjö (578 ft.).

222 Kil. Mellansel (210 ft.; Jernvägs-Hot., D. 2 kr., good), dining station for several trains. Branch-line to (29 Kil.) Örnsköldsvik (p. 385), by (9 Kil.) Moelven (158 ft.) and (22 Kil.) Själövad.

The train crosses the Mo-Elf. 247 Kil. Björna (469 ft.). Traces of forest-fires are seen. We cross the Gide-Elf. 272 Kil. Trehörningsjö (387 ft.). 303 Kil. Nyåker (578 ft.; Jernvägs-Hot.), the first station in Vesterbottenslän. We cross the Öre-Elf by a bridge 180 yds. long, and pass through the Tallberg Tunnel. 319 Kil. Hörnsjö (469 ft.). A bridge, 200 yds. long, now crosses the Ume-Elf to — 342 Kil. Vännäs (290 ft.; Jernvägs-Hot.*, R. from 2 kr.), whence a branch-line descends the valley of the Ume-Elf to (19 Kil.) Brännland and (31 Kil.) Umeå (p. 385).

A carriage-road ascends the left bank of the Uma or Ume-Elf, by the Rangfors and Kollsele, to the (14 Kil.) Fjällfors 364 Kil. Trvärälund (584 ft.). We cross the Windel-Elf by a bridge 200 yds. long. Pretty scenery. On the right we have a view of the extensive Degerfors-By, with church and 'klockstapel'. 377 Kil. Vindelön; 390 Kil. Hällnäs (801 ft.), at the S. end of a bleak plateau which the line crosses to Storsund; 416 Kil. Ekträsk (843 ft.); 433 Kil. Ästräsk (853 ft.).

453 Kil. Bastuträsk (797 ft., Gästgifvaregård, by the station). Road to Skellefteå, see p. 396. The train crosses the Skellefte-Elf, which has a fine fall on the right.

487 Kil. Jörn (856 ft.; Jernvågs-Hot., D. 1½ or 2 kr., good), where ordinary trains stop for the night (comp. p. 378). The village lies 6 Kil. E. of the station.

FROM JÖRN TO THE JUNKERDAL in Norway, about 340 Kil., by land and water skjuts, partly by steamer, and lastly across a rough mountain-pass, 8-10 days. A good road leads N.W., through a lonely forest region, by (28 Kil.) Stensträsk (1086 ft.), (11 Kil.) Glommerträsk (1142 ft.; Gästgifvaregård), and (19 Kil.) Arvidsjaur (1278 ft.; good Gästgifv.), one of the larger villages in S. Lappland, to (26 Kil.) Åfövik, on a long narrow arm of Lake Storöfvan (1375 ft.). Steamboat thence three times a week (Kom. 466) to Kasker, where the lake narrows to a strait, and then up Lake Uddjaur to (98 Kil.) Skaut, pier for Arjeplog (Gästgifveri, R. 1-2 kr.), 5 Kil. from Skaut. Then steamboat on Lake Harnaöfvan (1394 ft.) to (52 Kil.) gård Jackvik (good quarters), near the Lapp chapel Lofmock. Next, with guide, partly on foot, partly by rowing-boat, to the refuge-huts ('fjällstugar') of (28 Kil.) Balastöken on the Säddajaur (1522 ft.), (19 Kil.) Vuoggabotn on the E. bank of the lake of that name (1552 ft.), and (17 Kil.) Ålerkenes. We are here 18 Kil. from the Norwegian frontier (1979 ft.), 6 Kil. beyond which is the 'Fjeldstue' Graddis in the upper Junkerdal (p. 217).

We cross the Byske-Elf. 518 Kil. Myrheden. 529 Kil. Långträsk (1076 ft., Gästgifvaregård), the first station in Norrbottnens Län. The railway soon reaches its highest point (1155 ft.). 560 Kil. Storsund (666 ft.); 583 Kil. Elfsby (128 ft.; Hot., very fair), with a church, prettily situated on the Piteå, down which a road leads to Piteå (54 Kil.; p. 385).

The train crosses the Piteå and avoids a range of hills by a long curve to the W. — 602 Kil. Brännberg (292 ft.), 621 Kil. Hednoret (72 ft.; steamboat to Edefors, see p. 390; skjuts-station Heden, 20 min. E.). The country is now more smiling and partly cultivated. To the left we see the upper course of the Luleå, which the train crosses at Trångfors.

629 Kil. Boden (33 ft.; Jernvågs-Hot., with Rest., by the station, R. 2½, B. 1 kr. 30 ö., good; Central Hot., near; pop. 3500), with a conspicuous church to the W., being an important railway junction near the frontier, is strongly fortified ('Norrlands Lås', lock or key). The works, partly hewn in the granite, are scarcely visible. — To Gällivare and Narvik, see p. 390.

FROM BODEN TO MORJÄRV, 74 Kil., Railway (to be continued to Haparanda, p. 394). From Morjärv (Gästgifv.) we may take an exciting trip down the Kalixelf in a 'forsbåt', through the rapids of Kamlungen and the Strökanäs-fors to Neder-Kalix (p. 394).

The Luleå train turns sharply to the S. — 637 Kil. Sälvast (49 ft.);

646 Kil. Sunderby (39 ft.); 656 Kil. Gammelstad (19 ft.), the old Luleå (comp. p. 386), with a church of 1440 containing an old carved altar. We pass the drilling-ground of Notviken; pleasant view of Luleå to the right.

665 Kil. (1170 Kil. from Stockholm) Luleå, see p. 386. The station lies to the E. of the town (carr. 1-1½ kr.).

63. From Stockholm to Sundsvall and Hernösand by Sea (Luleå, Haparanda).

420-440 Kil. STEAMERS (see Kom., under 'Stockholm Norrut'). The best are the large steamers of the Stockholm & Haparanda line (Kom. 240). Many others ply for shorter distances. Enquiry may be made of the agent, W. Larka, Skeppsbron 90. The voyage to Sundsvall takes about 20, to Hernösand 24, to Umeå 32, to Luleå 64 hrs.; fares to Sundsvall 15 or 10 kr., to Hernösand 18 or 12, to Luleå 26 or 22, to Haparanda 33 or 29 kr.

The voyage along the Swedish coast, with its boundless forests and long mountain-ranges, is not without charm, but its most striking feature consists in the long and wonderfully light summer-nights. The best plan is to go straight to Luleå or Haparanda, and then return S. by easy stages. The coast traffic is very brisk. Great quantities of timber, besides tar, ironore, and cattle, are exported in exchange for provisions and luxuries. The hotels are mostly good and cheap, and never overcrowded; the people are civil and obliging.

From Stockholm (Skeppsbron) to Vaxholm and Oskar-Fredriksborg, see p. 343. The steamer continues its course for some time within the Skärgård, crosses the Ålands Haf, the bay between the Swedish mainland and the Russian Åland Islands, and enters the strait of Södra Qvarken. — Instead of steering N. through that strait the local steamers turn N.W. into the Skärgård, go between the Gräsö and the mainland, pass Öregrund, a bathing-place, and cross the bay of Öregrunds Grepen; then, beyond the Löfstavik, they enter the Bay of Gefle and call at Gefle (p. 370).

The Åland Islands form part of a great submarine barrier across the Baltic, shutting in the Botten Haf, or Gulf of Bothnia, the great N. bay of that sea, about 650 Kil. long, where, owing to the influx of many large rivers, the water is almost fresh. The large steamers go direct to Sundsvall.

Beyond the lighthouse on the Stor Jungfru the coasting-steamers touch at Stugsund, the harbour of the old town of Söderhamn (Stads-Hot.; Hot. Frank; pop. 11,120), 3 Kil. W., with several factories, and a large export-trade in iron and timber. The town has been almost entirely rebuilt since fires in 1860 and 1876. Branch-line to Kilafors, on the N. Stambana (p. 371; the station adjoins the harbour of Stugsund).

As we proceed on our voyage, we observe the Blacksås (1381 ft.), rising far inland. We pass the Agö, with its lighthouse. To the left lies the Hornsland, devastated by forest-fires.

Hudiksvall (Stads-Hot.; Hot. Helsingland; pop. 5800), with several factories, and a timber-trade, the oldest town in the Swedish Norrland, has suffered repeatedly from great fires, the last of which occurred in 1906. Branch-railway to Ljusdal, see p. 381; a light line also runs N. to (40 Kil.) Bergsjö.

At the Brämö, with its tall lighthouse, the coasting-steamers rejoin the course of the direct boats. We steer N.W. into the Alnö-sund, between the mainland and the large Alnö, with its factories and saw-mills. The woods on the mainland were burned down in 1888.

Sundsvall. — HOTEL KNAUST, Stor-Gatan 18, near the harbour and the station, with restaur., baths, etc., R. 2¼-5¼, pens. 6 kr.; CENTRAL HOT, Stora Torg; HOT. SKRIPSERON, on the quay. — Tivolit, garden-café, N. of the town, on the left bank of the Selångerå estuary, with pretty view.

Sundsvall, at the mouth of the Selångerå, founded in 1621, and rebuilt in stone after the last destructive fire of 1888, with 16,300 inhab., is one of the chief trading-towns in the Norrland. Timber to the value of 20 million kr. is exported annually. It also has a brisk trade with Finland, from which cattle, fish, and butter are imported. The main streets run W., inland, from the harbour. The chief cross-street from N. to S. is the Esplanade, on the W. of which is the Stora-Torg, and on the E. the Vångåfvan, a square with several banks and handsome houses. The Stadhus is in the Stora-Torg. The large Gothic Church, with a tower 263 ft. high, to the W. of the town, was completed in 1894. The hill to the N. of the quarter on the left bank is crowned with an Utsiktstorn, ½ hr. from the harbour, commanding a fine view of the town and environs.

Railway from Sundsvall to Ånge, see p. 372. — Steamboat from Sundsvall up the Indals-Elf to Edset (Bispgården), see R. 61

The voyage from Sundsvall to Hernösand takes 3¼-4 hrs. On a promontory to the left is the chapel of the fishing-village of Astholm. We then make a long circuit, E. and N., round the Hernö. — The small local steamers from Sundsvall to Hernösand (3 kr.) usually thread their way through the skärgård, or island-belt, with its narrow straits, and lastly enter the 'sund' to the W. of the Hernö.

Hernösand. — STADS-HOTEL, by the Nybro, opposite the pier of the Ångerman-Elf steamer (p. 393), with good restaur., R. 2-6 kr., Engl. spoken; CENTRAL HOT., Storgatan 28; HOT. FRIMURARE-LOGEN, Köpmansgatan 8. — POST OFFICE next the Stads-Hot. — TELEGRAPH in the Rådhus, Nybrogatan.

Hernösand, an old town with 9100 inhab., the capital of Vesternorrlands Län and the seat of a bishop, lies prettily on both sides of the Hernösund, which separates the Hernö from the mainland. The long old town on the island is bisected by the broad Nybrogata. In this street, on the left, are the Savings Bank and post-office; then, left and right, the Riksbank and the Rådhus. To the N. is the Norra Kyrkogata, with the Bishop's House. To the S. is the Torg, with the Läns-Residens; to the W. of the Torg are the small Cathedral, with a portico added in 1846, and the St. Petriloge. Bridges cross the sound to Kronholmen and the Railway Station on the N.W., and to the new town-quarters on the S. — Hernösand was the first European town lighted with electricity (1877).

Ascending the pretty Promenade (Stadsträdgård) from the cathedral, past the School of Navigation on the left, and following the birch-avenue, we obtain a fine view, to the right, of the town and environs. The cemetery adjoining the avenue contains the grave of F. M. Franzén (d. 1847), bishop and poet.

The Vardkassen* (394 ft.), the highest point of the Herno, formerly the 'watch-hill' with its beacon-fire, commands one of the finest panoramas on the entire coast. It is ascended on foot or by carriage in 1½ hr. Belvedere. 33 ft. high, at the top.

From Sundsvall and Hernösand to Luleå by Sea, see R. 65.

64. From Hernösand to Sollefteå by the Ångerman-Elf.

110 Kil. STEAMER ('Strömkarlen' and 'Solletteå') twice daily in about 7 hrs (fare 9 kr. 75 ö; Kom. 470). Good restaurant on board. The voyage takes about the same time in either direction. Those therefore who intend to visit both the Ångerman-Elf and the Indals-Elf (p. 377; both worth seeing) should ascend the former and descend the latter.

THE HERNOSAND & SOLLEFTEÅ RAILWAY (102 Kil., in 3¼ hrs.) is an alternative route, but offers no attraction except a few fine views of the river.

The steamer passes through the Ålandsfjärd, between the Lungö and Hemsö, on the right, and the mainland on the left, and then through the Sannasund, which separates the Åbordsö from the mainland. All around, but without marring the grandeur of the scenery, are saw-mills and factories, with smoking charcoal-piles where waste wood is utilized.

On the mainland are the church of Högsjö and the pier of Vedu, also a station (26 Kil. from Hernösand) on the railway, which skirts the coast beyond this point.

The fjord (Swed. fjärd) now takes the name of Ångerman-Elf, but as far as Nyland still contains salt water. The E. bank is abrupt, the W. flatter.

The steamer calls at several small places. On the W. bank are Nänsjö, near rail. stat. Sprängsviken (36 Kil. from Hernösand), and Lunde (customs-station). Among the islands we pass are the Sandö, with glass-works, and the Svanö, with a saw-mill. On the W. bank lies Frånö, with a cellulose-factory (rail. stat.; 42 Kil.); behind it, on a little bay, is the church of Gudmundrå. Then Björknäs, Brunne, and Kramfors (rail. stat.; 46 Kil.), with a large harbour and a church. On the E. bank of the lake-like stream are Lungvik and Lockne. The steamer skirts the W. bank and touches at Sandviken, where we have a pretty view, to the W., of the Bollstadvik. at the head of which is rail. stat. Bollstabruk (56 Kil.). We then steer E. up the Strinnefjärd to Marieberg. To the S. rises the church of Bjertrå.

65 Kil. (62 by rail) Nyland (Central Hot.), a busy port, with post, telegraph, banks, etc., is the terminus of several steamers from Stockholm. In 1895 and 1905 the 'Hohenzollern', with Emp. William II. on board, touched here. At the N. end of the Bollstadvik, about 4 Kil. W. of Nyland, is the old church of Ytter-Lännäs, said to date from the 12th cent., with an organ-gallery of 1652 and paintings.

Above Nyland the river narrows; the banks are higher than those of the Indals-Elf, and rise in bold bluffs (Nipor, p. 377). The current is stronger, but the channel is still very wide. Floating timber abounds. Cultivation improves, churches and villages are more frequent. On the W. bank, just above Nyland, is Sandslän, a large sorting-place for the floating timber (comp. p. 377); then the church of Torsäker, to the right of which rises the Hexberg. On the E. bank are the churches of Styrnäs, Boteå, and Öfverlännäs.

The narrowing river-bed now turns due W. To the right appear in succession the estate of Holm, the saw-mill of Björkä, and the church of Sänga. The scenery becomes wilder. Farther on, still to the right, rise the bare Paraberg and the Multräberg (with belvedere; about 2 hrs. from Sollefteå). The vessel now mounts the rapids of Sträken, past several islets, and moors at the Djupö Quay, on the right bank, about 2 Kil. from Sollefteå (carr. 1 kr.).

110 Kil. (102 by rail) Sollefteå (Hot Appelberg, R. from 1½ kr., Hot. Rosenqvist, both near the rail. stat., high up to the S.; pop. 1520), a little town formerly called Solaturn, with post, telegraph, bank, and factories, lies prettily on the right bank of the Ångerman-Elf, here spanned by an iron bridge. Opposite Hot. Appelberg is the Borg (148 ft.), a nipa or bluff rising steeply from the foaming river. On the left bank rises the Appelbergs Nipa, wooded at the top, which we may ascend either by a steep path in steps near the bridge, or by a road affording fine views (20 min.). Farther W. are barracks.

Sollefteå is the junction of the Hernösand local railway and the branch to Långsele, on the great N. Stambana (p. 379).

The journey may be continued from Sollefteå by a steam-launch, which starts every morning, from the Dallsta Strand, 5 min. above the bridge. Pleasant voyage up the Ångerman-Elf, past the mouth of the Faxe-Elf (p. 379), to (1 hr.) Edsby, near the church of Ed and the skjuts-station Östansböck (13 Kil. from Sollefteå). — Then by carriage (which may be ordered on board the steamer), crossing the railway at the Forämo Bridge (p. 379), to rail. stat. Selajo (p. 379), or to (4 Kil.) Edsborget, whence the steam-launch 'Borup' takes us to Rödsta (p. 379), higher up the stream.

65. From Sundsvall and Hernösand by Sea to Luleå.

450 Kil. STEAMERS (p. 331; Kom. 240) in about 50 hrs.

From Hernösand the larger vessels steer past the Lungö into the open Gulf of Bothnia, passing the peninsula of Nordingrån and numerous islets, behind which lie Nora, Häggvik, Ullånger, and other ports of the local steamers. The district of Häggvik, called Nordingrånland after its church, is frequently visited from Hernösand (inns very fair, though primitive). Near the promontory of Skags Udde (light-house) we steer N.W. through the coast-islands into the bay of — Örnsköldsvik (Stads-Hot.; pop. 3230), founded in 1842, and named after the provincial governor P. A. Örnsköld, terminus of the line to Mellansel (p. 379). If time permit, a visit may be paid to the Åsberg (2 hrs. there and back).

The steamer now doubles the Skags Udde and stands out to sea. On the coast lie Husum and Nordmaling, stations of the local steamers. To the E. is the Sydösbrotten, a reef marked by a light-ship. In about 6 hrs. we reach the estuary of the Umeå-Elf, with the villages of — Holmsund, Djupvik, and Sandviken, which together form the harbour of Umeå, and communicate by steam-launches with (12 Kil.) Umeå (Stora Hot., R. from 2 kr.; Central Hot., R. from 1½ kr.; pop. 5030), the capital of Vesterbottenslän, originally founded by Gustavus Adolphus, on the Umeå-Elf, which is too shallow for large vessels. Since a great fire in 1888 the town has been rebuilt. — Railway to Vännäs, see p. 379.

Our course now lies through the Vestru Qvarken strait, between the mainland and a chain of islands 30 Kil. long, of which the Holmön, at the N. end, is the largest. Near it is the lighthouse of Fjäderägg. The sea outside the islands is called Östra Qvarken. In 1809 the Russian general Barclay de Tolly, with 6000 men, crossed both the Qvarken on the ice, on which he encamped with the thermometer at —60° Fahr., and then marched to Umeå, with the result that a treaty of 17th Sept., 1809, separated Finland from Sweden.

The Sundsvall steamers next touch at Ratan (Turist-Hot.), an old Bothnian trading-place. Records kept at the harbour since 1749 prove that the land here has risen about 2/5 in. annually. The local steamers also touch at Sikeå, with the large iron-works of Robertsfors Bruk (7 Kil. inland), and at Kallviken. The steamer rounds the Bjuröklubben, with its lofty lighthouse, and next reaches — Ursviken (Hot.), the harbour of Skellefteå, with factories, saw-mills, etc. — Steam-launch hourly to (14 Kil.; 1¼ hr.) Skellefteå (Stads-Hot.; pop. 1340), on the Skellefteå. Its church, 2 Kil. W., is praised by Leopold von Buch (1809). Per Högström, the 'Apostle of the Lappmark', was pastor here in the middle of the 18th cent.

FROM SKELLEFTEÅ TO BASTUTRÄSK, 58 Kil., road, with skjuts-stations, up the left bank of the Skellefteå. 12 Kil. Medie. At (16 Kil.) Krångfors the river has a fine fall (but the Finnfors, 3 Kil. farther on, is grander; carr. there and back 3 kr.). The road now crosses to the right bank and finally quits the valley. 19 Kil. Röjnoret; 11 Kil. Bastuträsk, a station on the N. Stambana, see p. 380.

Several other small ports lie on the coast: Kåge; then Furu-grundet, with the saw-mill of Ytterstfors, harbour for Byske, 5 Kil. inland; and Åbyn. Near Skuthamn and Munksund, with the lunatic asylum for the province of Norrland, the steamer enters the Pitsund, the narrow entrance of the fjord of Piteå.

Piteå (Stads-Hot., good; pop. 2800), an old town, with its older part on the island of Pitholm and its newer on the mainland. — Road to rail. stat. Elfsly, see p. 380.

The steamer returns through the Pitsund, steers past the islets of the Skårgård and through the Tyufholmssund, where a channel has been dredged for larger vessels, and sweeps round to the N. to —

Luleå. — HOTELS (often full in summer). STADS-HOT., Skeppsbro-Gatan, with restaurant, R. from 2 kr; HOT. WIBELL, R. only, Trädgårdsgatan; both near the harbour. — Café & Confectioner, Stor-Gatan.

POST-OFFICE, W. Stor-Gatan. — TELEGRAPH at the Stadhus. — RAILWAY STATION, to the E. of the town, comp. p. 381.

PHOTOGRAPHS at Bergman's, Stor-Gatan. — FOR TOURS IN LAPLAND preserved meats, etc., at Fredrikson's, Stor-Gatan; wine and spirits (but comp. p. 390) at Bolagets Vinhandel, to the S. by the church; woollen rugs ('filt'), etc., at Bremberg's, Stor-Gatan.

Luleå, a town with 9120 inhab., seat of the landshöfding of Norrbotenslän and of a bishop, was founded 11 Kil. higher up the Lule-Elf by Gustavus Adolphus, and transferred to its present site in 1649. It occupies a peninsula in the Lulefjård, almost entirely surrounded by water. The importance of its site at the mouth of the great Lule-Elf has been greatly enhanced by the railways, which have rendered it the seaport for the rich iron-mines of Gällivare. Like most of the Norrland towns, Luleå owes its handsome appearance to repeated fires, that of 11th June, 1887, having destroyed nearly all the old timber houses. The fine Gothic Church was erected at a cost of 400,000 kr. To the W. of the town is the pretty Hermelins Park, with the Läns-Residens.

The iron-ore is shipped at the Svartökajen to the E. of the town, 20 min S. of the railway-station (steam-launch from the Skeppsbro). The railway-trucks are emptied bodily into the vessels' holds by huge hydraulic cranes. The ore is exported chiefly to Germany. Good survey from a view-tower.

From Luleå to Haparanda, see p. 393.

66. From Luleå to Kivickjock.

About 800 Kil.: from Boden 3 days. 1. To Nedre Edefors, 10-11 hrs., most of the way by steamer. — 2. To Jockmock, 10-11 hrs., by steam-launches and by vehicle. — 3. To Kivickjock, 14½ hrs., partly by water.

As this is a favourite expedition, in spite of the changeable weather, the old rowing-boats have been everywhere superseded by steamers and motor-boats. The skjuts-traffic by land has also been well organized. The 'dagbok' (p. xx) at each station gives the distances in new Swedish miles of 10 Kil. each. The chief stations afford good, though plain quarters (salmon, etc.; no spirits sold). As nothing is to be had at the small stations or in the steamboats, some provisions had better be brought from Luleå or Boden. No special equipment is necessary except mosquito-veils and strong leather gloves. Heavy luggage should be left behind, as the porters on the morkar ('portages', or necks of land between the lakes), are only bound to carry 17 Kil. (37 lbs.) of luggage. Enquiry as to the route had better be made beforehand of the Tourists' Union at Stockholm (p. 307), especially if the traveller intends returning by a different route, or going W. to Boden or E. to Gällivare (comp. pp. 390, 391). Those who limit their tour to the great Edefors and the Porsfors can easily reach the Lapland railway at Murjek (p. 387).

We spend the previous night at Boden (p. 380), and as the trains do not suit we take skjuts to Hednoret. In 20 min. we reach the broad and rapid Lule-Elf, and cross it by ferry (10-15 min.; 50 ö., incl. vehicle going and returning). A drive of $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. more brings us to the steamboat-pier at —

Hednoret (p. 380; no inn, no rfmts. in steamer). The voyage (to Edefors 57 Kil., daily except Sun., in 8-9 hrs.; 3 kr.; Kom. 464) up the broad Lule-Elf is very attractive. On the left bank (that is, to our right) are Bredåker, then Svartla, the first station. Next, on the right bank, is the church of Äminnet. The second station is Harads (left bank), with a new church, opposite which, prettily situated, are the buildings of the Bodträskfors Co., to which the surrounding district belongs. The banks now become steeper and sandy. The terminus of the steamer is —

Nedre Edefors (Edefors Turist-Hot., R. 2, B. or S. $1\frac{1}{4}$, D. 2 kr., plain, but good), finely situated on the left bank of the Lule-Elf, which higher up forms the superb Edefors*, consisting of a series of seething cataracts 2 Kil. long, with a total fall of 72 ft. The falls are best surveyed from the great iron bridge spanning the river (reached in 7 min. by following the road for 200 paces and then turning to the left). Below the bridge are salmon-fishing appliances. — For next day we order by telephone (30 ö.) a vehicle from Vuöllerim to meet us at Storbacken (see below).

We walk by the road up-stream to ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) the huts of Öfvere Edefors, above the rapids, where we embark in a steam-launch for Storbacken (20 Kil., in 2-2 $\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.; $1\frac{1}{2}$ kr.). A pleasant trip on the tranquil dark river. Wooded banks, but few dwellings. Wild ducks abound. Our destination is —

Storbacken (no inn), on the right bank, the first place in the Swedish Lapmark. The vehicle ordered from Vuöllerim awaits our arrival (to Vuöllerim $1\frac{1}{2}$ kr.). The road leaves the river and leads, chiefly through wood and uphill, to the gårds of —

9 Kil. Vuöllerim (328 ft.; Gästgifvaregård, R., B., S. $1\frac{1}{2}$ kr. each, rustic), at the forking of the roads to Jockmock and Murjek, about 1 Kil. from the Lilla Lule-Elf, which falls into the Stora Lule-Elf some kilometres to the E.

From Vuöllerim to MURJEK (19 Kil.; skjuts in $2\frac{3}{4}$ hrs.; fare $3\frac{1}{4}$ kr.). The new road winds down to the Lule-Elf and crosses it by an iron bridge below the confluence of the Lilla and Stora Lule-Elf. By the bridge the river forms the grand Porsifors*, which an island divides into two falls. The road winds up the left bank, looking back on the deep river-bed, and then leads through sparse wood. — Murjek, see p. 390.

The road to Jockmock (45 Kil.; skjuts to Koskats 2 kr. 40 ö., thence to Jockmock $\frac{1}{2}$ kr.) passes Påjerim.

18 Kil. Koskats (tolerable quarters), above the lake of that name. Then a descent through solitudes and burnt forests to the Lilla Lule-Elf, and across the Arctic circle, passing gård Smeds on the right bank; on the opposite bank we see Mattisudden.

27 Kil. Jockmock (840 ft.; Rhénman's Inn, good), an important tourist-centre, with church and doctor. The name means 'rapids', the Lappish name is Tälvatis (winter-market).

Near it the Lilla Lule-Elf has two great falls, within 4 Kil. from its efflux from the Vaikijaur. The "Akkatsch Fall" is reached in about 1 hr. by the road N. to the '1 Mil-stolpa', and then to the right for 10 min. more in the direction of the roar. The best view is from below, especially before noon. The Kajtum Fall, 20 min. N.E. (guide advisable; 50 ö.), is divided into two parts by an island; the half on the right bank only is accessible. The Vaikijaur is 847 ft. above the sea; the river below the Kajtum Fall is 712 ft.

FROM JOCKMOCK TO THE HARSPRÅNG, 43 Kil., and thence to ABORTRASK (p. 391), 38 Kil., a fatiguing expedition of 2 days (guide and provisions essential). 1st Day. We drive to (1 hr.) Luspe, at the efflux of the Lilla Lule-Elf from the Vaikijaur (see below); cross the lake by boat ordered in advance to (20 min.) the hamlet of Vaikijaur (850 ft.) on the N.E. bank; walk to the (14 Kil.) Anajaur (955 ft.), cross that lake by boat; and walk to (6 Kil.) Ligga (784 ft.; tolerable quarters). — 2nd Day. We walk up the right bank of the river to (14 Kil.) the tourists' hut at the "Harsprång" ('hare's leap'; Lapp. Njommelsaska), the lowest of the magnificent cataracts and falls of the Stora Lule-Elf soon after its exit from the Great Lulesjö (Stora Luletrask, 1215 ft.). The total height of the rapids, spread over a length of 2 Kil., is 246 ft.; the chief fall has a sheer leap of 99 ft.; all around are wild untrodden forests. — We next row across the river, then walk by a hilly road to (14 Kil.) Porjus (1188 ft.; good quarters), by the pretty Porjus Falls, close to the efflux of the Stora Lule-Elf from the long S. bay of the Stora Lulesjö. Thence to (15 Kil.) the Mellersta Stubba (2120 ft.), across that mountain, and by the route indicated at p. 389 to Abortrask. — If the second night is spent at Porjus, we may reach Kallsluokta (p. 389) on the 3rd day.

From Jockmock to Kvickjock (128 Kil.) the facilities for travelling by land and by water are so great that the journey may be made in one day. For steamers and motor-boats comp. Kom. 466. We first drive (skjuts 2 kr. 25 ö.) by a new road, past Saskam on a S. bay of the Vaikijaur (847 ft.; jaur, lake), to —

13 Kil. Junkarhällun, by the Purkifors, the effluent of the Purkijaur (893 ft.). A motor-boat conveys us up the lake (75 ö.), past several islands, of which the Purkiholm is inhabited, to —

7 Kil. Gladrik, at the N. end of the Purkijaur. The next stage is by skjuts (1 kr.).

5 Kil. Randijaur, at the S. end of the lake of that name (929 ft.). A steamer plies up the Randijaur (2 kr.) to its N.W. end, near which we have a view of the Parkijaurfors.

13 Kil. Parkijaur (tourists' hut), where we land, lies on a morka (neck of land) between the Randijaur and the Parkijaur. We walk across this neck (1 Kil.; porter 50 ö.), and next take the motor-boat up the Parkijaur (958 ft.; 75 ö.) to —

10 Kil. Björkholmismärka, then walk across the 'morka' (2 Kil.; porter 50 ö.) to Björkholmen, a steamboat-pier on the Stalkajaur (968 ft.; coffee and food obtainable). Fine view of the lake as far as the mountains to the W., the Kabla, and the Pärtefjällar. — The steamer (4½ kr.) passes the islands Unna Rihtasuolo and Stuor Rihtasuolo (suolo, island), and then Granudden, on the S. bank.

Stemming the strong currents, it next reaches Tjåmotes, on the lake of that name (975 ft.), up which we steer to the further end, in view of the Kåbla to the N.

45 Kil. Njavvi (tolerable quarters). — We next walk (3 Kil.; porter 1 kr.) to the Saggatjaur (994 ft.; 272 ft. deep), on which another steamer conveys us to Kvickjock (in 2½ hrs.; 3 kr.). On the S. bank of the lake the Predikestol on Mt. Ailates is conspicuous. On the N. bank rises the Njanja (3117 ft.), and farther on is the waterfall Kådjojock. The upper reach of the lake bends to the N., and we now have a superb view of the Kvickjock Mts., from the Pärtefjällar E. to the Stalka W. Passing the island of Storholm, we steer up the broad mouth of the Kamajock, joined on the W. (left) by the Tarrejock. The alluvial banks of both rivers ('Kvickjock Delta') are remarkably well wooded.

30 Kil. Kvickjock. — INN kept by Nilsson, the agent of the Swedish Tourists' Union, with 5 rooms, good and not dear; interesting visitors' book. — Members of the Union (p. xxiii) who purpose making long expeditions may here borrow a tent, maps, and a vuosma, or canvas-boat for crossing rivers.

Kvickjock (1066 ft.), comprising half-a-dozen red-painted houses, a little church, and a parsonage (post-office), owes its foundation in the 18th cent. to a silver-mine, long since closed, and its name (Lapp Kuöikajock, rapid brook) to the rapids on the Kamajock. The midnight sun is visible here as long as at Bodø (see p. 218), notably from the top of the Snärak* (2569 ft.; 2½ hrs. there and back by a marked path, but guide useful), which rises to the E. The Prinskullen (2434 ft.), to the N.W., on the right bank of the Kamajock, affords a fine view of the delta and the Saggatjaur. As to the view from the Vallispiken (4554 ft.; a day there and back), on the slope of which the Prinskullen rises, there are different opinions (see visitors' book).

Longer Excursions, as by the Ruotavare Malmberg to the Luottohyökklar, to the Pärtefjällen, etc., will be found in the guide-book of the Tourists' Union. — To the Stora Sjöfall and Gellivare, see p. 391.

FROM KVICKJOCK TO BODØ. Four days, three being rough walking, with brooks and rivers to ford, not feasible before the end of July, on account of the snow. Swedish tourists protect their feet with 'handskor'. Enquiries should be made at the Swedish Tourists' Club (p. 307). Workmen act as guides to the Tarra Hut, but travellers should ascertain at Kvickjock whether the Norwegian Sørensen (p. 221), the guide (30 kr.) for the stage between the Tarra Hut and Furulund (Sulitelma, p. 221), is to be found at the Tarra Hut; if not, they should wait at Kvickjock. — 1st Day. Row 3 Kil. up the Tarrajock; then walk through wood to (ca. 6 hrs.) Njunnes (fair quarters, kept by Erik Holmborn, a Lapp, who corresponds with educational institutions in England and Germany, and has a good collection of butterflies, insects, stuffed birds, eggs, etc.); then walk in about 5 hrs. to the Tarrajö, and on it row to the old and (2 Kil. further) the new Tarra Hut of the Tourists' Union. — 2nd Day (the most trying). Cross the Varvek river by boat (but, if none available, walk 3 hrs. round, as the river can only be forded higher up). Then walk through the Lapland Alps and over the fjeld to the (10-15 hrs.) Varvek Hut (very poor). — 3rd Day. Walk to the Piskijaur and through the Lairödal to the Lommejaur and Furulund (p. 220), in about 10 hrs.

67. From Luleå by Gällivare to Narvik.

473 Kil. RAILWAY (Swedish state-railway to Riksgränsen, 434 Kil.; then Norwegian state-railway). From Luleå to (205 Kil.) Gällivare, two trains daily in 7-10 hrs (1st cl. 7½, 2nd cl. 5 kr.); from Gällivare to Narvik (283 Kil.) one passenger train daily, stopping for the night at Kiruna, and several goods-trains with 3rd cl.; also Lapland express, three times a week, from Boden to Narvik in 11 hrs., from mid-June to end of Aug. (p. 373; 1st and 2nd cl.; dining and sleeping-cars) — This line serves almost exclusively for the transport of iron-ore. It traverses monotonous forest, but becomes more attractive beyond Kiruna. — The importation of spirituous liquors into the Lappmark is forbidden.

From Luleå to (36 Kil.) Boden, see p. 380. We at first traverse cultivated land, then wood. 55 Kil. Ljuså (92 ft.); 76 Kil. Sandträsk (551 ft.); to the right, on the other side of the lake, is the pretty country-seat of Col. Bergmann; 96 Kil. Lakaträsk (551 ft.), 108 Kil. Näsberg. About 4 Kil. farther, boards on each side of the line mark the frontier of the Lappmark.

123 Kil. Murjek or Muorjek (791 ft.; rfmts., very fair Gästgivaragård with skjuts-stat., 2 min. above the rail. stat.). To the Porsifors and Vuollerim, see p. 187.

The train, 1000 ft. above the sea-level, now crosses the Arctic Circle, indicated by notices. 135 Kil. Polcirkeln. We cross the Råne-Elf. 157 Kil. Nattavara (1057 ft.) is 4 Kil. from the settlement of that name ('vara', Finnish for mountain). Isolated heights rise above the plateau, and the Dundret (see below) soon becomes visible on the left. 184 Kil. Ripats (1368 ft.). We pass Villa Fjällnäs, owned by Col. Bergmann.

205 Kil. Gällivare. — JERNVÄGS-HOTEL, at the back of the station, very good; GÄSTGIVAREGÅRD, same landlord, R from 2, D 2 kr., plain. — Post & Telegraph, Doctor, and Chemist.

Gällivare (1178 ft.), with its new church and pleasant houses, is prettily situated on the Vásarajärvi (Finnish for 'hammer lake'; Lapp. Vádtjerjaure), a lake from which the Vásara-Elf issues. To the S.W. of the station is the disused Lapp chapel, in which Per Högstrom (p. 385) once preached, with an old cemetery adjoining.

The hill of Gällivare-Dundret* (2700 ft., 67° 11' N. lat.), 5 Kil. to the S.W., affords an excellent view of the midnight sun (lowest by mid-European time at 11.39) from 5th June to 11th July. The ascent takes 1½-1¾ hr. (adult guide, 3 kr., unnecessary). From the new church we go S., across the railway; then, near the old Lapp chapel (on the right), we turn to the left and cross the Vásara-Elf by a wooden bridge. Next, bearing to the right, we ascend past the garden of Villa Fjällnäs, and at the end of it pass through a turnstile. The path, distinct for the most part, now leads through scanty and at places swampy woods (where gnats abound), and lastly follows the barren slope to the right to the Refuge Hut on the top. The view ranges over an immense forest-clad plateau, broken by a few isolated hills and dotted with lakes; to the W. stretches a range of snow-mountains, from (S.) the Sarjek to (N.) the Adnetjåkkö. The Dundret is formed of gabbro, with layers of apatite (p. 7).

A branch-railway runs N. from Gellivare to (6 Kil., in 15-20 min.) the Malmberg, a famous iron-mountain, at the foot of which has sprung up a busy little town (1375 ft.; Gästgifveri, plain; pop. 7000), presenting quite an 'American' appearance, with its churches, schools, post and telegraph offices, banks, and stores. The original wooden huts have mostly been replaced by stone houses.

The mountain, covering an area of about 60 acres, consists of gneiss, in which the ore is embedded in nearly vertical veins. It is overgrown with pines and birches, except the three peaks, which are bare (2024 ft.). Its mineral wealth has been known since the 18th cent. After many attempts at exploitation, the last of which were made by British companies since 1869, the state purchased from the latter the railway to Luleå, begun by them in 1884, and completed it. The mines now belong to the Gellivara Malmfäält, a company which employs about 2000 hands in summer and 1600 in winter. Twelve mines are now being worked. The oldest, the Hertigen (of Östergötland)-Grufta, 5 min. from the railway-station, consists of an 'upper' and a 'lower' mine. The shaft at the end of the latter affords an idea of the geological structure of the mountain. The chief 'upper' mines are the Thingvalla-Grufta and the adjacent Kong-Oskars-Grufta, to which a line of rails ascends (5 Kil.; follow the rails). The ore contains 55-66% of pure iron, mingled with apatite, which is removed in the 'Skreda'. Tickets of admission to the mines are issued at the director's office.

FROM GELLIVARE TO KVICKJOCK, a trying and costly expedition of 6-7 days over lakes and mountains. Equipment, see p. xxiii. Guides and porters at the tariff of the Tourists' Union are scarcely obtainable, and the boats of the Union for crossing the lakes are not always to be found. — 1st Day. Row up the Väsaraträsk (5 Kil.) and walk to (16 Kil.) Åbörtrask (1431; decent quarters). — 2nd Day. Walk over marshy land by 'spångningar' or boarded paths, to the (14 Kil.) Mellersta Stubba (2120 ft.), cross the mountain, and go N.W. (not S.W., which is the way to Porjus and the Harsprång, p. 388) to (15 Kil.) Sjaunjaluohta (luokta, bay) on the Stora Lule Trask (214 ft.), and row on that lake to (25 Kil.) Kaltsluokta (very fair quarters). — 3rd Day. Row to (25 Kil.) Jaurikaskaluokta, walk across the 'moika' (2 Kil.) while the boat is being towed up the rapids, row again on the Langasjaur (1230 ft.), to Saltoluokta or Aholuokta, and walk to the (13 Kil.) tourist-hut by the 'Stora Sjöfall' (Lapp. Adna Muorkekärte), the grandest waterfall in Sweden next to the Harsprång (p. 388). The whole water of the Kärtesjaur here falls in two leaps into the Langasjaur, 131 ft. below. The view from the Juobmotjåkkö (3914 ft.), N. of the lake, is said to repay. — 4th Day. Row back to Saltoluokta, on the S. bank of the lake, and walk to (23 Kil.) the tourists' hut on the Situojaur (2083 ft.). — 5th Day. Row over the lake and cross the mountain-plateau to (10 Kil.) Ålsek, on the picturesque Laidaur (1634 ft.), cross that lake, and walk to (17 Kil.) the tourists' hut on the Syabattjåkka Lake (1628 ft.). — 6th Day. Row down the lake, walk to the Stuor Tata lake, cross it, and walk to (18 Kil.) Kvickjock (p. 389).

The RAILWAY FROM GELLIVARE TO NARVIK on the Ofotenfjord, constructed in 1898-1903 for the mineral traffic, is the northmost in the world. As far as Kiruna it runs through a monotonous region of lake and swamp. 221 Kil. Sikträsk (1293 ft.). We ascend more rapidly and at (251 Kil.) Harrå reach the highest point on the line (1828 ft.). Just beyond (263 Kil.) Fjällåsen we cross the Kajtum-Elf. Low birch-scrub now succeeds the pine-forests. 291 Kil. Kalixfors (1520 ft.) lies on the S. bank of the Kalix-Elf, which the train crosses.

The Tourists' Union has built a club-hut (10 beds at 2 kr., but no food) 2 Kil. from this station. The ascent of the Kebnekaise (6964 ft.), the highest mountain in Sweden, takes 4-5 days from the hut and back. Guides, tent, and glacier equipment are essential. Refuge-hut at the foot of the mountain. Enquire of the Union at Stockholm (p. 307).

305 Kil. Kiruna (1657 ft.; Jernvägs-Hot., with restaur., by the station, R. from 2½ kr., good; Privat-Hot., 2 min. distant. R. from 2, S. 1½ kr., plainer), the second station where the slow trains stop for the night (comp. p. 378). The well-built town (pop. 3000), which owes its origin to the railway, lies on the Luossajaur, at the foot of the Kirunavara (2458 ft.), the mines in which are worked by a company. The lode of iron-ore runs N. and S. 50-160 yds wide. From the upper part of the town a miners' railway, with electric traction, in conjunction with a cable-tramway, ascends to the mines, and may be used by visitors with permission of the officials. The ore contains up to 70% of iron. Most of it goes by Narvik to Eniden in Germany, and thence to the great iron-works in the Ruhr district. To the N. rises a second mineral-mountain, the Luossavara (2392 ft., there and back 2 hrs.), a fine point of view, from which the midnight sun is visible from 3rd June to 13th July.

A road leads E. from Kiruna to (18 Kil.) the long lake of Jukasyärvi, on whose E. bank lies the old town of that name. The S. effluent of the lake is the Torne-Elf. Among savants who have penetrated to this point are Regnard, who came in 1681, Linnæus in 1782, and Maupeituis and Celsus in 1786. Regnard's memory is preserved here by four interesting Latin verses which he wrote in the sacristy of the church, ending with, 'hic tandem stetimus nobis ubi defuit orbis'.

The country becomes more hilly. To the left we see the Kebnekaise (see above) and other snow-mountains. Trees are dwarfed to low birch-scrub. 336 Kil. Rensjön (1605 ft.). The train then winds down to (356 Kil.) Torneträsk (1290 ft.), not far from the 'Lake of that name (1122 ft., 71 Kil. long), which is drained by the Torne-Elf (p. 394) and served by a motor-launch. The train skirts its S. bank, affording a succession of views of its vast expanse. — 376 Kil. Kaisepakte; 388 Kil. Stordalen; 398 Kil. Abisko (1278 ft.), passing-place and coaling-station for all the trains.

40 Kil. Abisko Turist-Station (1296 ft.), a summer resort, with a large Hotel of the Tourists' Union (3 houses; R. 1½-2, B. or S. 1, D. 1¼ kr., bath 75 ö.; plain, but good; no wine or spirits; advisable to bespeak rooms in height of summer), a good centre for excursions. Extensive view of the Torneträsk and the Lapland Mts. Just below the hotel the Abiskojock, which the train crosses, forms a cañon-like gorge.

EXCURSIONS (requiring mosquito-veils, strong leather gloves, strong shoes, and gaiters). N.W., ascent of the Nuolja (3934 ft.), with guide, 4-5 hrs. there and back, or with descent to Björkliden 5-6 hrs. (see below; better in the reverse direction). — S., ascent of the snow-clad Somaslaka (3778 ft.), with guide, 12-14 hrs. there and back, fatiguing, but not difficult — To the Lapp camp, 1½ hr. S. of stat Kaisepakte (p. 392), to which we go by rail (with guide). — The expedition to the Kebnekane (p. 392), from Abisko and back, takes 8-10 days.

A tunnel of 963 yds. carries the train through the hill of Nuolja, and a high viaduct crosses the Låktajock, which near its influx into the Torneåsk forms the pretty Silversfors (½ hr.'s walk from the next station). — 407 Kil. Björkliden. Below, to the right, at the W. end of the lake, is the Pieskenjurka, a tongue of land 3½ Kil. long, on which the Lapps have a camp. We leave the Torneåsk and pass through the Fornehamn Tunnel (589 yds). The rocks all around have been worn by the action of ancient glaciers. Long palings and galleries of timber protect the line from snow-drifts. Vegetation almost ceases. 427 Kil. Vassijaur (1683 ft.), on the lake of that name, has a tourists' hut (bed 2 kr.; no food) and a meteorological-seismographical station. A short tunnel pierces the watershed (1945 ft.) between the Baltic and the Atlantic and brings us to the Swedish frontier-station —

434 Kil. Riksgränsen (1706 ft.), with its large covered hall and the Jernvägs Hot. & Rest. (R. from 2½, B. or S. 1½, D. 2 kr.). Custom-house for passengers from Norway.

The Norwegian part of the line (Ofotenbane) winds down through numerous short tunnels. The scenery is now strikingly picturesque. We cross the Norddal by a viaduct 198 yds long and 131 ft. high. Between the tunnels we have glimpses of the deep valley and of the Sildeviktind (4452 ft.). Beyond (447 Kil.) Hundalen (1240 ft.) we obtain a striking glimpse of the Rombake Fjord, a bay of the Ofot-fjord, far below. The line descends the abrupt slope on the S. side of the fjord through many tunnels. Trees now appear. Below (463 Kil.) Strömsnes (581 ft.) the fjord, to the right, is curiously narrowed by two jutting tongues of land. 469 Kil. Dybcik (151 ft.). One more short tunnel.

473 Kil. Narvik (p. 227). Custom-house for passengers from Sweden.

68. From Luleå to Haparanda by Sea.

100 Kil. STEAMER in 9-12 hrs. (fare 7 or 5 kr.) Comp. p. 391.

Luleå, see p. 386. — Our vessel steers through the Svartöund, passing three large salmon fisheries, and keeping within the Skärgård. Some steamers touch at Strömsund, the harbour of Råneå, others at Töre on the Törfjärd, and nearly all at —

Karlsborg, on the estuary of the Kalix-Elf, the port of Neder Kalix. On the island of Sandholmen, opposite the harbour, is the bathing-place of Nordanskärs. From Karlsborg steam-launches ply

N. up the river to (10 Kil.) the little town of Neder Kalix (Gast-gifvaregård), to which some of the smaller Baltic steamers also ascend. Cataracts of the Kalix-Elf, see p. 380.

We now steer to the N. of the Seskarö, an island where the merchants of Haparanda have country-houses, and soon reach — Salmis, the harbour of Haparanda, 11 Kil. from the town. Carriage (1-2 pers. 2 kr.) not always to be had. The steam-launch (1 kr.), after a long circuit, ascends the Torne-Elf. To the right rises the conspicuous domed church of Torneå in Finland.

Haparanda (Stads-Hot., with rest.; pop. 1360), a tidy little town, with broad but unpaved streets, lies on the swampy W. arm of the Torne-Elf, the E. arm of which has been the main channel since 1820. The name is said to be Finnish, 'Haapa-ranta', 'shore of aspens'. By the river is a modest Public Park, with a view of Torneå and its domed church. The church of Haparanda, on a hill to the W., overlooks the broad valley.

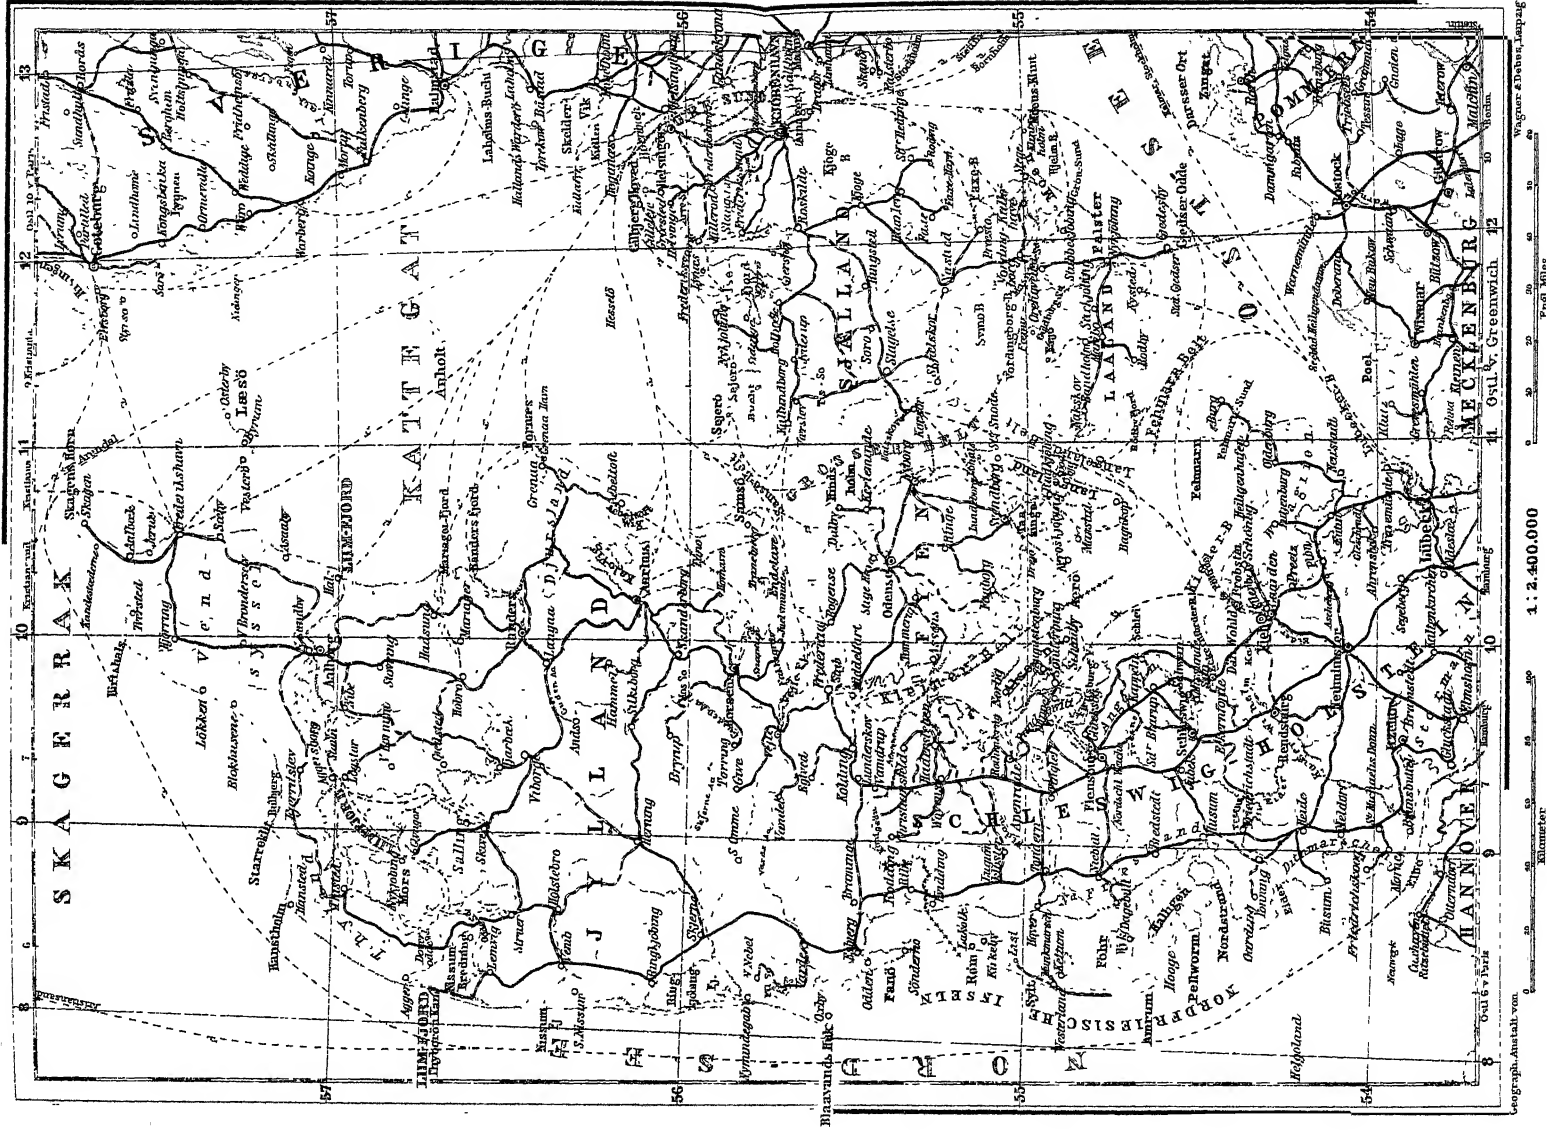

A long timber-bridge (toll 10 ö.; passport unnecessary) crosses the old river-bed to —

Torneå, Finnish Tornio (Nykterhets-Vårdshus, 'temperance inn', Stads-Hot, good; pop. 1600), in the Russian grand-duchy of Finland. The town, founded by Gustavus II. Adolphus but ceded to Russia by the peace of 1809 (p. lvi), has a less thriving and modern appearance than Haparanda. Pretty walks to the old church, N.E., and to the Greek Chapel on the S. A fine summer night on the bank of the Torne-Elf, which washes the E. side of the town, will not soon be forgotten.

The seaport of Torneå is Röyttä, to the S., with a saw-mill.

Railway from Torneå to Uleåborg in Finland, 134 Kil., see Basedeker's Russia (in German only).

A road, with 'fast' skjuts-stations, leads from Haparanda up the right bank of the Torne-Elf, through a well-tilled country, pretty at places, by (17 Kil.) Kukkola, (18 Kil.) Körpikyä, (16 Kil.) Päkilä, with the church of Hietaniemi, (4 Kil.) Koivukylä, (8 Kil.) Niemis, and (21 Kil.) Ruskola, to (3 Kil.) Mälarengi (inn), near the church of Öfver Torneå. The Avasaxa (748 ft.; ascent $\frac{3}{4}$ hr.), on the opposite side of the river, at the influx of the Tengelä, affords a view of the midnight sun from 22nd to 25th June. Refuge-but at the top, where the names of numerous visitors are engraved on the rocks. The gärd of Haannuka and Juuso afford quarters for the night. — The road quits the river and ascends: 15 Kil. Kunsijärvi, 19 Kil. Ruokojärvi, 22 Kil. Pirttimäki, 11 Kil. Ohtanajarvi, 22 Kil. Saltjärvi, 16 Kil. Päjala. We here rejoin the Torne-Elf, which has a fall, 62 ft. high, at the iron-works of Kengis Bruk, 7 Kil. E. — From this point we may return to Haparanda by boat on the river, which receives the Muonio-Elf a little lower down. — Up the Muonio-Elf to Karesuando, see R. 36.

Copenhagen, Dan. Kjøbenhavn, the capital of the kingdom of Denmark and residence of the king, with 514,000 inhab., including the suburbs, lies in 55° 40' 42" N. lat., on both sides of the Kalvebod-Strand, a narrow and deep strait of the Sound, separating Zealand from the small island of Amager, and forming an excellent Harbour. The commercial harbour is separated from the war-harbour ('Orlogshavn') by a palisade. The city is fortified by outworks on the land and seaward sides. Among the great northern cities Copenhagen has the most historical character. Early in the 17th cent. Danish architecture, under the influence of the Dutch Renaissance, developed into a vigorous and independent style, known as 'Christian IV.' The palaces and châteaux of the 18th cent., and the buildings in the classical style imitated down to the middle of the 19th, are inferior. Since then the Christian IV. style has been revived, and is now being tastefully developed. Several of the art and science collections of Copenhagen are of the foremost rank.

Copenhagen was founded in the 12th cent. by Absalon, Bishop of Roskilde. It increased so rapidly through its trade, that King Christopher the Bavarian made it his capital and residence in 1445. Christian IV. (1588-1648; p. liv), the most popular of Danish kings, though unfortunate in his wars against Sweden and Germany, was a wise ruler and a patron of industry and commerce (extending to E. India), of science and art, and greatly extended the city. In his reign were built some of the finest edifices in the city, as well as the fortifications which successfully defied the Swedes in 1658 and 1659, and the united British, Dutch, and Swedish fleets in 1700. The development of the city was greatly influenced by the 'Royal Law' of 1666, by which the Danish people and clergy, jealous of the power of the nobility, conferred absolute sovereignty upon King Frederick III. (1648-70; p. liv). Thence forward Copenhagen became more distinctly the material and intellectual centre of the nation. Christian V. (1670-99), who invited French artists to his court, improved the appearance of his capital by widening its streets and encouraging the erection of stone houses. Christian VI. (1730-46) founded the Royal Scientific Society in 1742-43, and Frederick V. (1746-66) the Academy of Art in 1754. The bombardment of the city and capture of the entire Danish fleet by the British, 2nd-5th Sept., 1807, in order to prevent it from falling into the hands of the French, put an end for a time to the naval power of Denmark. Since the Slesvik-Holstein wars of 1848-50 and 1864, the Danish dominions on the mainland have been limited to Jutland. Copenhagen is now the centre of more than half of the trade of the kingdom. The staple exports are butter (of an annual value of about 8 millions stg.), eggs, cattle and horses, hides, etc. Butter, eggs, ham, and bacon are chiefly sent to Great Britain, and horses, cattle, and meat to Germany. The shipping traffic of Copenhagen is very extensive. The harbour is entered annually by about 10,000 steamboats and over 8000 sailing-vessels. The industries are less developed, but the Royal Porcelain Factory (p. 397) has gained a high reputation for its excellence of form and colour, and has afforded a model for the rest of Europe.

a. INNER CITY.

On the annexed Plan of the Inner Town are printed the names of many buildings which are indicated on the larger plan by numbers only.

The old town, between the Kongens-Nytorv (p. 401) and the W. boulevards, which occupy the site of the former ramparts (Pl. K, H, 6, 5), is the centre of business. The narrow, winding streets still recall the 18th and early 19th cent., but the old houses are gradually being displaced by new buildings, chiefly shops, some of which are architecturally interesting.

On the border line between the old town and the new quarters to the W., which are rapidly increasing in importance, lies the busy RAADHUS-PLADS (Pl. H, 7), the focus of the tramway traffic (p. 396). Near it is the chief Railway Station (p. 395). On the S. side rises the picturesque and monumental —

Raadhhus (Pl. H, 7), the chief boast of modern Copenhagen, an imposing edifice in the Danish Renaissance style, built in 1892-1901 from designs by M. Nyrop, with richly articulated façades, round-arch friezes, limestone ornamentation, and decorative figures. Above the fine entrance-portal is a figure of Bishop Absalon (p. 398), in copper, by Bissen. At the E. angle is a tower 348 ft. high, with a copper roof and a chime of bells. One of the two inner courts has a glass roof, adapting it admirably for public meetings; the other contains a fountain by Skovgaard. A stroll through the corridors will be found interesting (enquire at the office by the chief entrance).

The VESTERBRO PASSAGE (Pl. H, G, 7), leading W. from the Raadhhus, is the chief artery of the traffic to the suburb of Frederiks-berg (see p. 420). On the left, at the end of the street, is the Dansk Folke-Museum (Pl. G, H, 7; adm., see p. 398), containing, among other curiosities, furnished rooms from citizens' and peasants' houses of the 17th-19th cent. (comp. p. 422). — To the N. of the Raadhus we may go, past the Dagmar Theatre (Pl. 50; H, 6, 7), to the Ørsted Park (p. 411). In front of the theatre rises a Bronze Group by Pedersen Dan, illustrating a poem by H. P. Holst: a Danish soldier carrying a boy who sounds the attack on his bugle.

The liveliest thoroughfare in Copenhagen is the line of streets running N.E. from the Raadhus-Plads to the Kongens-Nytorv, collectively known as the Strøg (streak, line). The first of these streets is the narrow Frederiksberg-Gade. In the NYTORV OG GAMMELTORV ('new and old market'; Pl. H, I, 6), on the right, is the Raad-og Domhus (Pl. 34; town-hall and law-courts), built by C. F. Hansen in 1815, bearing the initial words of the ancient Jutland Code: 'Med Lov skal man Land bygge' ('with law one must establish the land'). Next come the Ny-Gade and Vimmelskaftet, both containing handsome new buildings, the Amagertorv (p. 401), and the Østergade (p. 401).

A little to the N. of the Strøg rises Vor-Frue-Kirke ('Church of Our Lady'; Pl. 8; I, 6), built by C. F. Hansen in 1811-27, in imitation of the classical style, and adorned with admirable marble Statuary by Thorvaldsen. The tympanum of the portico contains the preaching of John the Baptist (bronze statues of Moses and David by Bissen and Jerichau). In the interior (adm. see p. 398) a Risen Christ and the Twelve Apostles (St. Paul only by the master himself), a Kneeling Angel holding the font, reliefs of the Bearing of the Cross, the Baptism, and Last Supper (these two in the side-chapels); above the alms-basins, by the entrance, Guardian Angel and Charity.

The VIEW from the gallery of the tower (236 steps) is similar to that from the Round Tower (p. 401). The sacristan (to be found in the tower, 9-11 a.m.) lives at Larslei-Stræde 1 (adm. 25 ø.; for 4-12 pers. 1 kr.)

Nearly opposite the church portal is the old Bishop's House.

The FRUE-PLADS, to the N. of the church, is adorned with busts of famous Danish professors and scholars. It is bordered on the N. by the University (Pl. 45; H, I, 6), which was founded by Christian I. in 1479, re-organized in 1788, and now has five faculties, 56 professors, 27 lecturers, and 2000 students. The present building, erected in 1831-36 from designs by Malling, contains in the vestibule a David in bronze by Mercié, Apollo and Minerva, by Bissen, and mythological frescoes by K. Hansen. The frescoes in the large 'Solennitets-Sal', by Marstrand, C. Bloch, W. Rosenstand, and E. Henningsen, are from the history of the University (porter in the sunk-floor). — Adjacent, at the corner of the Fiol-Stræde, is the UNIVERSITY LIBRARY (Pl. 46; I, 6), erected by J. D. Heroldt in 1857-61, with rich ornamentation, containing 325,000 vols. and 6500 MSS. (Scandinavian, early Persian, Indian, etc.; reading-room open 11-3 and 5-8).

Behind the University, in the KRISTAL-GADE, is the large and well-arranged ZOOLOGICAL MUSEUM (Pl. 47; H, 6), containing a collection of skeletons of prehistoric animals, found in Denmark, and a separate section for whales (adm., see p. 398). — Near this is the German Church of St. Peter (Pl. 13; H, 6), with a pleasing tower of 1756, an interesting inner court, and old burial-chapels (sacristan, St. Peder-Stræde 9; fee 1/2-1 kr.). In the Larslejl-Stræde, a little W., is the German Realschule.

The Krystal-Gade leads N.E. to Trinity Church (Pl. 16), with its Round Tower (det Runde Taarn; Pl. 36; I, 5; adm., p. 398), 18 ft. high, both built under Christian IV. The tower, ascended by a broad spiral passage, is famous for its admirable view of the city and environs and of the Swedish coast in the distance.

The KJØRMAGER-GADE (Pl. I, 6), with its numerous shops, leads S.E., crossing the Strøg, to the Højbro-Plads (Pl. I, K, 6), a lively place during market hours. The fine equestrian Statue of Bishop Absalon is by W. Bissen, Jun. (1903). Beyond the Plads the Højbro leads to the palace-island (p. 402). — Past the N. side of the Plads runs the AMAGER-TORV, forming part of the Strøg (p. 400). No. 6 here, the oldest dwelling-house in Copenhagen, is a pleasing gabled building of 1616, restored in 1898. On the N. side of the Torv rises the Helligaands-Kirke (Pl. 9; I, 6), of the 18th cent., lately well restored. In the grounds we note a bronze group of Death and the Mother, by Hansen-Jacobsen, from Andersen's fable. A little N. of the church lies the Graabrodre-Torv, where the eye is struck with the showy façades of the houses.

The Amagertorv is prolonged E. by the ØSTERGADE (No. 54 in which is a gabled house of 1640), leading to the —

*KONGENS-NYTORV (King's New Market; Pl. K, L, 5, 6), a large Plads, laid out at the end of the 17th cent., and still the focus of fashionable life. In the centre rises the Equestrian Statue of Christian V., cast in lead in 1688, and popularly called 'Hesten' (the horse). The Torv is surrounded by handsome buildings. On the S.E. side are the palace of Charlottenborg and the Royal Theatre (p. 402); between them, at the corner of the Torden-skjolds-Gade, are the Foreign Office, and further S., at the corner of the Holmens-Kanal (p. 402), the Commercial Bank, both built by C. F. Harsdorff (1735-99), court architect, who was trained in Paris and Rome. At the corner of the Bred-Gade are the Thott's Palais, of the late 17th cent., and the office (No. 6) of the Standard Life Insurance Co. (of London), showily built of Norwegian marble, by Arntzen (1895). On the W. side are the offices (Nos. 26-28) of the Great Northern Telegraph Co., with a figure of Eleonra on the pediment, by S. Sindig.

The palace of Charlottenborg (Pl. 20; L, 6), begun by Count Gyldenløve in 1672, purchased in 1700 by Queen Charlotte Amelia, has been occupied since 1754 by the Royal Academy of Art. The hall for meetings contains portraits and busts. — Behind the palace is the Art Hall ('Kunstudstillings-Bygning'; Pl. 19; L, 6, adm. 9-6; 35 ø.), used for annual exhibitions from 1st April to 31st July, and containing a collection of casts. The valuable Hirschsprung Collection of pictures by Danish artists of the 19th cent., bequeathed to the State in 1902, is being stored till a suitable place is found for it. — Adjoining the palace opens the Nyhavn, a canal-like arm of the harbour, used by small vessels. Its quays are lined with old-fashioned gabled houses.

The Royal Theatre (Pl. 41; K, 6), a late-Renaissance building, was erected by Petersen and Dahlerup in 1872-74. Right and left of the entrance are bronze figures of two famous Copenhagen professors, Holberg (1684-1754), the creator of Danish comedy, by Th. Stein, and Oehlenschläger (1779-1850), the greatest Danish writer of tragedies, by Bissen. The vestibule contains marble statues of the poets J. Ewald (d. 1781) and J. H. Wessel (d. 1785). The foyer is adorned with a figure of Ophelia in relief, by Sarah Bernhardt, and with numerous busts.

The HOLMENS-KANAL, as the street to the S. of the theatre is called, leads past a bronze statue of the Danish naval hero Niels Juel (p. 429; d. 1697), the Landmands Bank (right; the old main building is by Harsdorff), and (left) the National Bank (Pl. 30; K, 6), to the Holmens-Bro (bridge), opposite the Christiansborg Palace (see below).

By the bridge, on the left, is the HOLMENS-KIRKE (Pl. 10; K, 7), built early in the 17th cent., restored in 1872. The altar and pulpit are elaborately carved in wood (1661-62). A side-room contains the monuments of the naval heroes Niels Juel and Peter Tordenskjold (p. lv). The sacristan ('Kirkebetjent') lives at Laxen-Gade 16, corner of the Holmens-Gade. On the W. side of the church is a Statue of Tordenskjold, by Bissen.

b. PALACE ISLAND AND ITS ENVIRONS.

The Christiansborg Palace (Pl. I, K, 7) rises in the Slots-holm, or 'palace-island', which forms the centre of the old town and was first fortified in 1168. The present building, by C. F. Hansen, replaces one erected by Christian VI. in 1733-40 and burned down in 1794, and was itself destroyed by fire in 1884. It is now being restored from plans by Thorv. Jørgensen. The chief façade on the E. side looks towards the Holmens-Bro, mentioned above. At the N. angle is the domed Slots-Kirke (Pl. 15; I, K, 6), built in 1826. The bronze Statue of Frederick VII., on horseback, by Bissen, was erected in 1873. In the grounds around are allegorical figures of Strength, Wisdom, Health, and Justice (the last-named having been executed by Bissen), designed by Thorvaldsen, which flanked the portal of the palace before the last fire.

Behind the palace, to the S.E., is the Tøjhus (Arsenal), containing a collection of weapons and trophies (adm., p. 397). — In the Christiansgade, adjacent, is the Royal Library (Pl. 18, K, 7; adm., see p. 398), erected by Prof. H. J. Holm in 1898-1906. The collection of books, begun by Frederick III. about 1685, now numbers about 720,000 vols. and 20,000 MSS., including many Northern and Oriental. A selection of the most interesting MSS., books, and autographs is open to the public on week-days 12-2 in summer, and Tues. & Frid. 12-2 in winter (free).

On the quay, to the E. of the Christiansborg, rises the Exchange (Børsen; Pl. 3; K, 7), a picturesque building, erected in 1619-40 in the Dutch Renaissance style by Hans von Steenwinkel, and restored by L. Fenger in 1872-82, with gable-façades, numerous roof-gables, and a tower 167 ft. high, surmounted with four dragons with entwined tails. The hall, entered from the side next the palace, contains a statue of Christian IV. in bronze, by Thorvaldsen. The lower part of the building is occupied by shops, the upper by offices. Adm. daily 12-1.30 (fee); business-hour 2-3 p.m. (25 ø.).

The Knippels-Bro, behind the Exchange, crosses the harbour to the Christianshavn quarter (tram No. 2), where the curious tower of Vor Frelzers Kirke (Church of Our Redeemer; Pl. 7; L, M, 7), erected in 1749, is conspicuous (295 ft. high). A winding staircase (397 steps) outside ascends to the top. The view extends to the coast of Sweden. Adm. from 9 a.m.; sacristan ('Graver'), Prindsesse-Gade 40, on the S. side of the tower; 1-12 pers. 2 kr.

On the N.W. side of the Christiansborg is the Thorvaldsen Museum* (Pl. 43; I, 6, 7), a building erected in an antique style by Bindesbøll in 1839-47, containing a complete collection of the works of the greatest of Northern sculptors, Bertel Thorvaldsen (1770-1844). Born at No. 7 Grønne-Gade (Pl. K, 5), Thorvaldsen went to Rome in 1797 as a fellow of the Academy of Copenhagen and worked there with scarcely a break until 1838. He is famous as a reviver of antique art, modified by Germanic idealism. In the domain of idealistic relief he is unrivalled. Over the portico of the façade is a victor's quadriga in bronze, designed by Thorvaldsen and executed by Bissen. The other three sides of the building are adorned with scenes in plaster, by J. W. Sonne, representing the reception of the master at Copenhagen on his return from Italy in 1838, but now much damaged. Entrance by the S.E. side-door (comp. p. 398; Danish catalogue 36, others 45 ø.).

In the following survey the dates of the original works are given in brackets. The most important period in Thorvaldsen's career was between 1803 and 1819. Most of his later works, though designed by him, were executed by his pupils, and lack the master's direct touch. The portrait-figures are the least satisfactory. The museum contains about 200 statues and models, 130 busts, and 330 reliefs, most of them being either copies by pupils or casts. Of these a selection is given below. — The quadrangle in the centre contains the master's tomb.

Ground Floor. From the entrance-corridor we turn to the left into the VESTIBULE, which contains casts of monuments, notably two large figures on horseback: No. 128. Elector Maximilian I of Bavaria (1833-34) and No. 123 Poniatowski (1827).

We return to the corridor and follow it to the left to the CABINETS. Cabinet I: 40, 42 Ganymede (1805 and 1816). — Cab. II. 27. Cupid and Psyche (1804); *426. The Ages of Love (1824), one of the master's most famous creations. — Cab. III. 29 The Graces and Cupid (1819); 340 The Muses on Helicon, relief (designed 1804, altered 1816). — Cab. IV. 414. Winter (1823), 410, 412. Summer and Autumn (1811), reliefs. —

I-XXI. Ground Floor.

22-42. First Floor.

Cabinet V: *51. Jason with the golden fleece (1802), the first execution of which in marble for Mr. Thos. Hope, an English lover of art, founded the master's fame; 489. Briseis led away from the tent of Achilles (1803); 492. Priam begging the body of Hector from Achilles (1815); reliefs. — Cab. VI: 38. Hebe (1816). — Cab. VII: 6. Mars and Cupid (1810); 499. Hector with Paris and Helen (1809); 501. Hector's farewell (1837), reliefs — Cab. VIII. 46. Hope (1813); *367, *368. Day and Night, famous reliefs (1815). — Cab. IX: 497. Athena awarding to Odysseus the arms of Achilles, relief (1831). — Cab. X: 4. Mercury as the slayer of Argus (1818). — Cab. XI & XIV. Portrait-busts, reliefs, etc.

The CHRISTUS-SAL contains the models of the sculptures in Vor-Frue-Kirke (p. 400). — In the CORRIDOR: 252. Apotheosis of Napoleon, marble bust (1830); 255. Sir Walter Scott.

Cab. XXI (adjoining the Christus-Sal): Casts. — Cab. XX: 162. Thorvaldsen, at the age of 70, leaning on a statue of Hope; 601. The Graces listening to the song of Cupid, relief (1821). — Cab. XIX: *176. Shepherd-boy (1817). — Cab. XVII. 53a. Adonis (1808); 480. Nessus and Dejanaira, relief (1814). — Cab. XVI: 22A. Cupid triumphant (1814); 377-380. Four reliefs, Cupid as ruler of the elements (1828). — Cab. XIV: 44. Ganymede with the eagle of Jupiter (1817); 391, 417. Cupid groups (Cupid stung by a bee and complaining to Venus, charming; 1809). 180. Lord Byron (a cast); also reliefs of the master's later period (1830-33).

Upper Floor. — In the CORRIDOR: *508, 509. Alexander's Entry into Babylon (1811-12), a reduced and altered replica of the original in the Villa Carlotta on Lake Como; models and casts.

In CABINETS 22-31 is Thorvaldsen's collection of paintings, including works by Overbeck, Cornelius, W. Schadow, Léopold Robert, Richter, Horace Vernet, etc.; also statues by Thorvaldsen. In Cab. 23: 178a. Dancing girl. Cab. 24: Love triumphant (1823); Cab. 25. 178a. Georgina Russell ('la fanciulla'; 1814). Cab. 26: 180. Dancing girl (1837). Cab. 27. Cupid playing the lyre (1819). Cab. 29 Cupid with the bow (1814). Cab. 31. Psyche (1811). CABINETS 32 and 33 contain Thorvaldsen's collection of engravings, drawings, and sketches. CABINETS 35-40 contain his collection of antiques, Cab. 41 his library, and Cab. 42 furniture from his apartments, and his bust, by Bissen.

On the Frederiksholms-Kanal, to the S.W. of Christiansborg, beyond the bridges, is the Prindsens-Palais (Pl. 33, I, 7), built about the middle of the 18th cent., and now containing the *National Museum, which embraces four sections: the Danish, the Ethnographical, the Antique, and the Numismatic. Adm., see p. 398.

We cross the court, in which two tombs of the flint period have been erected, to the —

1. DANISH COLLECTION, founded in 1807 on the initiative of Prof. Nyerup, extended between 1816 and 1865 under C. J. Thomsen and in 1866-85 by J. J. A. Worsaae (d. 1885), and now under the direction of Dr. Sophus Müller and Dr. V. Møllerup. The chief departments are the Prehistoric Collection (down to about 1000 A.D.), in eight rooms on the ground-floor, probably the finest of the kind, and the Historic Collection (middle ages and modern times, down to 1660), in nine rooms on the first floor.

GROUND FLOOR. — The Vestibule (catalogues for sale, Danish and German) contains Runic stones and Romanesque monuments. We turn to the left.

Flint Period (down to about 1500 B.C.). Room I. Earlier period. Rude tools and weapons of bone and flint, found in the prehistoric heaps of shells, table-refuse, etc., which occur on the Danish coast. In the centre is a section of one of these heaps. — II. Later flint period, that of the great stone graves: polished implements and tools, some beautifully executed and elegant in shape; chisels, saws, domestic utensils, grind-stones. In a detached cabinet are amber ornaments. By the window, a flint axe, with the original wooden handle, and a sickle of flint and wood. — III. Daggers, lances, arrow-heads, battle-axes, and club-heads; objects found in sepulchres and stone coffins; richly decorated pottery.

Bronze Period (about 1500 to 500 B.C.). This is one of the finest sections of the museum, especially rich in swords and other weapons, ornaments, utensils, and articles in gold plate. The first part of Room IV is devoted to the early bronze period. By the windows are articles found in oak or stone coffins and in smaller tombs; clothing from oak-coffins found in Jutland, and modern copies of the clothing on the figures of a man and woman; image of a sun-god (so-called sun-chariot) from the Trundholm Moor in Zealand; adjacent, 26 gold goblets. Note also the map of a district in N. Jutland, giving an idea of the dwellings and roads of ancient times. In the further part of the room are objects of the later bronze age: from tombs (urns, etc.), weapons, tools, trinkets, large trumpets, or Luren, peculiar to the North, etc. By the windows, objects found in tombs. Also a bronze-mounted *Chariot from the Deibjerg Moor in Jutland, dating from the pre-Roman iron period, perhaps used in religious ceremonies; adjacent, a sacrificial well, with bones of animals and votive offerings of the bronze period. — Room V. Curiosities of the later bronze age; moulds and other objects used in the working of bronze.

Iron Period (500 B.C. to A.D. 1000). In Rooms V and VI: Pre-Roman and Roman periods (down to about A.D. 300). Weapons and tools in iron; earthenware eating and drinking utensils; goods of Roman make; Roman statuettes in bronze; large embossed *Silver vase, with mythological scenes, of Northern make, in the Gallo-Roman style (1st cent. A.D.). — Room VII. Period of the Great Migrations (4th and 5th cent.). Model of a northern warrior of the period; in front of it, a relief-map of the 'Dannevirke', the great S Slesvik fortifications of the earliest middle ages. Also arms, horse-gear, wooden targes, tools, and household-utensils. — Room VIII: Post-Roman iron period (to 8th cent.), and Viking period (8-10th cent.). Gold and silver ornaments, gold bracelets, ring-money; copies of two gold horns, with scenes from Northern mythology, which were stolen from the Royal Treasury in 1802; silver vessels partly gilded; painted glass vessels; fine bronze implements, ornaments, elaborate weapons and jewelry; 'Horse trappings in gilded bronze; objects found in the curious royal tomb built of wood, excavated at Jellinge in Jutland; rows of iron swords, etc.

On the STAIRCASE are Runic stones and relics from the earliest churches of Northern Christendom

FIRST FLOOR: Historical Collection (about 1000-1660), beginning on the left. Middle Ages (here reckoned as from 1000 to 1536). — Rooms XI: Romanesque period (1000-1250). *Wooden altars, with embossed copper-gilt plaques; enamelled church vessels, bell with Runic inscription, and other ecclesiastical relics, reliquaries, weapons. — Rooms XII-XV: Gothic period (1250-1536). Ecclesiastical vessels, ornaments, carvings, chests, weapons, Runic calendar-staves, seals, domestic utensils, drinking-horns, church vestments. Modern Period, early (1536-88) and late Renaissance (1588-1660). Rooms XVI-XIX: Furniture, arms and armour, objects in glass and stone, silver plate, Icelandic ornaments; a historical pharmaceutical collection; time-pieces of the 16th and 17th cent.; tapestry from the castle of Kronborg; carved bed of state and silver altars in R. XIX, masterpieces of the reign of Christian IV. — Note also Tordenskjold's (p. lv) pistols, sword, and autographs, and other historical relics.

2. The *ETHNOGRAPHICAL COLLECTION (entrance in the court, to the left; comp. p. 398), founded in 1849, and surpassed by few in Europe, contains objects from non-European nations, notably Greenland and India.

3. The COLLECTION OF ANTIQUES (adm., see p. 398; catal. in Dan. or Germ. 1 kr.), on the ground-floor, contains Egyptian, Assyrian, Babylonian, Phœnician, Etruscan, Greek, and Roman originals in chronological order, a number of them being good examples. Note, in Room IV, the black-figured and red-figured vases from Greece and two marble heads from a metope of the Parthenon.

3. The ROYAL COLLECTION OF COINS AND MEDALS (adm., see p. 398) contains over 125,000. In Room I is the Danish section, including gold medals of the 16th-20th cent. and coins from the earliest period to the present day; in Room II are mediæval and later coins of foreign origin; in Room III, Greek, Roman, and Byzantine.

C. THE NY-CARLSBERG GLYPTOTHEK.

In the VESTRE BOULEVARD (No. 22), opposite the W. side of the Raadhus, is the Museum of Industrial Art (Kunstindustri; Pl. H, 7), built from designs by Klein in 1893, a collection illustrating ancient and modern art-industries (first floor; adm., see p. 398). Most notable is the collection of carved wood from Slesvik-Holstein, Germany, and France (16th-17th cent.), lent by the Duke and Duchess of Cumberland (Princess Thyra of Denmark); also specimens of Danish porcelain from the 18th cent. to the present day (comp. p. 399), and a collection of musical instruments.

The Vestre Boulevard skirts the E. side of the Tivoli Garden (p. 397). Opposite the side-entrance to the latter is a statue of the painter Asmus Jacob Carstens (1754-98), who was inspired with a love of classic art by a visit to the antiques of the Copenhagen Academy (1776). Farther on, at the corner of the Ny-Vestergade, on the W. side of the Vestre Boulevard, is the Glyptothek (see below), in front of which are placed bronze copies of Rodin's Burghers of Calais. Opposite are the building of the Royal Society of Science (by O. Petersen, picture in the hall by P. S. Krøyer) and the Conservatoire. At the end of the boulevard, opposite the Lange Bro (Pl. I, 8), is the statue of a youth on horseback by W. Bissen.

The Ny - Carlsberg Glyptothek* (Pl. H, I, 7), comprising a front portion, erected in 1892-97 by V. Dahlerup, and a back-building added by H. Kampman in 1904-6, contains the splendid collection of ancient and modern sculptures formed chiefly since 1888, under the guidance of distinguished experts, by Dr. Carl Jacobsen, the wealthy brewer of Ny-Carlsberg (p. 420), and his wife, who presented the collection to the state along with a large sum of money for its maintenance. The façade is adorned with 14 columns of polished granite, between which are placed copies of famous sculptures in bronze. The interior is richly decorated with marble and granite. As the collection is constantly being extended, the arrangement is frequently altered. Adm., see p. 398, catalogue 50 ø.

The front part of the building contains the MODERN DEPARTMENT. The entrance hall (A), adorned with H. W. Bissen's female figures from the 'queen's staircase' in the Christiansborg palace (p. 402), is adjoined right and left by the French (G-L) and the Danish rooms (B-F).

In the DANISH ROOMS the chief masters represented are Herm. Wilh. Bissen (1798-1868) and J. A. Jerichau (1816-83), pupils of Thorvaldsen. They also contain works by Swedish, Norwegian, and other sculptors, original models, and casts.

B. BISSEN ROOM: 6. Statue of Ørsted the jurist, 26. Girl bathing; 12. Fisher-boy; *27. Achilles; 13. Cupid; 29. Shepherd-boy. — G. JERICHAU ROOM: 366. Penelope; 379. Creation of Eve; 365. Hercules and Hebe (original model); 369. Adam and Eve after the Fall. — D. CARYATIDES ROOM: 446. Thorvaldsen, Two Caryatides; 299. H. E. Freund (1786-1840), Bust of the poet Ingemann; 662. E. Wolff (1802-79), Bust of Thorvaldsen; 629. P. Tenerant, Bust of himself. — E. LARGE HALL: 469. Fr. Leighton (1890-96), Athlete fighting with a snake; 644. P. Hasselberg, Snowdrop; 611. J. Bjørresen (b. 1896), Swimmer (original model); S. Sinding (b. 1846), *570. Barbarian woman with her dead son, *632. Captive Mother suckling her child, 663. Man and Wife (bronze in Christiania, p. 12); 625. Canova (1757-1822), Bust of Paris; 465. E. H. Bailey (1788-1867), Eve. — F. CHRISTUS-SAL: 445. R. Tegner, Tombstone; 279. L. Brandstrup (b. 1861), Carl and Ottilia Jacobsen in plaster.

THE FRENCH ROOMS, to the right of the entrance hall, contain sculptures by J. Falguière (1831-1900), Paul Dubois (1829-1906), C. Barrias (1841-1906), J. Gautherin (1840-90), A. Mercié (b. 1845), Aug. Rodin (b. 1840), and others, nowhere out of France so fully represented. Marbles, bronzes, casts, and original models.

G. FALGUIÈRE ROOM, with frescoes after Carstens' Voyage to Hades. No 587. L. H. Marqueste (b. 1848), Eve, 507. Eug. Delaplanche (1836-91), Music; 579. R. F. Larché (b. 1860), The meadow and the brook; 590. L. H. Marqueste, Galatea; 531, 532. Paul Dubois, Connétable Anne de Montmorency, Joan of Arc, two equestrian statues (plaster) — H. DUBOIS ROOM: Paul Dubois, 522. Florentine singer of the 15th cent., in bronze, 521. Narcissus, 525, 526. Eve, 527. Love, 529. Faith, 523. John the Baptist, in bronze. — I. BARRIAS ROOM: *C. DEPARTMENT OF THE ANTIQUES in the back part of the building (see ground-plan, p. 408). Though of so recent formation (p. 407), this collection is one of the most admirable on this side of the Alps, and is probably the richest in the world in Roman portrait-statues and busts. The Egyptian and Etruscan sections are also valuable. — Passing through the vestibule, which contains four Greek lions and a relief of fighting Centaurs and Lapithæ, we first turn to the left to visit the — EGYPTIAN COLLECTION. Every period of Egyptian sculpture is represented here, particularly the 4th Dynasty of the ancient kingdom (about 2850-2700 B.C.), the 12th of the intermediate period (2000-1788 B.C.), and the 18th and 19th (1545-1200 B.C.) and 26th and 27th (663-338 B.C.) of the latest empire.

I. LONG HALL. By the walls: 2 Head of a man in red stone with inserted eyes of rock-crystal (4th Dyn.); 1. Upper part of the statuette of a king. (4th Dyn.); between these, several tomb-walls with reliefs (4th-5th Dyn.);

36 Kneeling statue of a noble, in hard black stone, almost uninjured (12th Dyn.); 57 Kneeling statuette of a receiver of temple-dues (18th-19th Dyn.); 133. Group in basalt of a prince of Thebes and his mother (26th-27th Dyn.). In the centre: 35 Head of a king, in basalt, admirable (12th Dyn.); 55. Bronze statue of the god Set, interesting (19th Dyn.), to which the ram's horns of the god Chnum were added in the 26th Dyn.; 57 Statue in basalt of the jackal-headed god Anubis (18th Dyn.; 5 ft. high); 135. Bronze statuette of Anubis, similar to the above, but 1000 years later (26th Dyn.; 21 in. high). — To the left is Room II. By the walls: cases containing terracottas and bronze statuettes of gods, goddesses, sacred animals, etc., mostly of the New Empire (26th Dyn.); tomb-reliefs and tomb-stelæ. In the centre a case with wooden figures, chiefly of the Old Kingdom, as No. 4. Girl with a little calf, the colouring wonderfully preserved (4th Dyn.; 16 in. high). We return to Room I and ascend the steps to the round CORNER ROOM III: Statuettes of the 25th-26th Dyn.; 167. Bronze cat, life-size (26th Dyn.).

The adjoining Rooms IV-VIII contain the GREEK SCULPTURES, comprising some excellent originals of the archaic art of the 6th and 5th cent. B.C., and of the golden era of Phidias, Polyclethus, Praxiteles, and Lysippus.

IV. ROOM. By the walls: 5, 6. Recumbent lions (6th cent.), 196. Fragments of an Attic votive relief (5th cent.); 22. Head-part of a sarcophagus, from Phœnicia (Greek work of 5th cent., in Egyptian style), 238. Bull from an Attic tombstone (4th cent.); 202. Palm-crown of a tomb-stela from Cyprus (5th cent.); 4. Sphinx from Attica (6th-5th cent.). In the centre: 21. Torso of a draped female figure, from Andros (5th cent.). — V. ROOM. By the walls: 12. Head of a youth (5th cent.); 27. Youth's head from a herma (archaic), 29. Bronze head (6th-5th cent.); 11. Attic head of an athlete (early 5th cent.); several heads of gods of the age of Phidias, as 514 Zeus. In the centre: 28. Bronze statue of a youth (early 5th cent.). — VI. ROOM. By the walls. Fine Attic tomb-reliefs of the 4th cent., as 207. Woman with servant, 198 Woman and daughter, 206. Warrior, 230. Shipwrecked. In the centre: 399. Child of Niobe. — VII. ROOM. By the walls: 30. Relief of the early 5th cent., Orestes slaying Ægisthos; 273. Head of the sandal-binding Hermes, style of Lysippus (bust belonged to a different work); 115. Head of an athlete from Athens (4th cent.); 293. Female head (5th cent.); 231. Votive relief dedicated to Artemis and Asklepios, from the Piræus (329 B.C.). In the centre: 261. Bronze statue of Herakles (4th cent.). — VIII. ROOM. By the walls: 231, 235. So-called feasts of the gods and other votive reliefs, fragments of Attic tomb-reliefs; 431. Upper part of the statue of a young man, from Athens; 197. Fragment of a votive relief (5th cent.); 239. Votive relief with a serpent. In the centre: 177. Small head of Eros from Attica (end of 5th cent.); 277. Dancing girl (4th cent.). — IX. CORNER ROOM (round). Statues of Apollo and Asklepios, as 59. Apollo, by the sculptor Apollonios, replica of a work of the 5th cent.; 400, 398. Children of Niobe. — X. LONG HALL. By the walls: 101. Head of Athena (age of Phidias); 271. Colossal statue of Hera; 513. Head of Zeus; 292. Statue of a girl in Doric costume (5th cent.). In the centre. 54. Amazon (perhaps after Polyclethus, 5th cent.). — XI. ROOM. By the walls are fountain-figures. In the centre: 815 Superb Roman vase. — XII. LONG HALL. By the walls: Statues of satyrs, of Dionysos, Asklepios, Heracles, and others; 337. Meleager (4th cent.; head new); 253. Statue of Herakles (end of 5th cent.). In the centre: 56. Bronze statuette of an Amazon (4th cent.; from Egypt); 290. Small head of Kora (?; age of Praxiteles). — XIII. ROOM (square corner-room): 74. Statue of Apollo; 430. Poet in a sitting posture (4th cent.).

Rooms XIV-XVII contain the ROMAN SCULPTURES, among which the portrait-busts and statues are particularly valuable (p. 409).

XIV. LONG HALL. Busts: 597. Pompey; 602. Servilia, mother, and 603, 604. Sisters (?) of Brutus; 610. Augustus; 623, 624. Tiberius; 630. Agrippina the Elder, wife of Germanicus; 617. Colossal head of Livia, wife of Augustus; 639, 640, 641. Herms of a Roman woman and two Roman men (1st cent. A.D.); 637. Caligula; 648. Claudius; 655. Galba; 655. Agrippina the Younger, wife of Claudius; 656. Domitilla, wife of Vespasian; 680. Titus; 672. Trajan; 642. Hadrian; 705. Annus Verus; 717. Manlia Scantilla (end of 2nd cent. A.D.); 650. Antoninus Pius; 700. Marcus Aurelius; 709. Lucius Verus; 715. Commodus; 718. Young Commodus; 693. Marcus Aurelius; 695. Antoninus Pius (?); 788. Roman lady; 683. Lucilla (d. 183 A.D.); 707. Lucius Verus; 636. Antinous; then Roman men and women of the 3rd cent. A.D., as 552. Statue from a tomb ('mother-in-law' of . . . ?); 648. Young lady; 570, 556, 566. Romans; 587. Roman lady, late Republic. In the centre. 187. Hippopotamus in brown-red Greek marble; 634. Bust of the younger Agrippina in green basalt. — XV. CORNER ROOM: 778. Sarcophagus from Villa Casali, with Bacchanalian scenes; 782. Sarcophagus with Apollo and Marsyas. — XVI. LONG HALL. By the walls. 721, 733. Septimius Severus; 780. Caracalla; 769. Florianus (?); 767. Gallienus; 414, 413. Sophocles; 487. Æschines; 419. Antisthenes; 418. Zeno; 441, 443. Alexander the Great; also heads of monarchs of the age of the Diadochi; 597. Pompey. In the centre are three double hermæ and the statue of a Triton. — Descending the steps to the vestibule we turn to the right and enter the — XVII. HALL (lighted from above). Between the columns are Roman portrait-statues, as 585. Tiberius; 541. Lady of the Flavian epoch as Venus; 550. Physician; 587, 586. Fundilia and Fundilius (1st cent. A.D.); 549. At the back of Hall XVII a winding staircase descends to the ground-floor and the garden. At the exit to the garden stands Sinding's 'Mother Earth', a large group in marble. The ground-floor contains the collection of Etruscan and early Italian antiques, called the Helbig Museum after the archæologist who formed it, and also the remainder of the Greek, Roman, Egyptian, and Christian antiquities.

The HELBIG MUSEUM occupies the rooms corresponding to XII-X of the floor above, and also a room adjoining the square central hall: Cinerary urns in alabaster and terracotta, sarcophagi, reliefs, friezes, acroteria, statuettes (as 54. Horseman in armour colours still preserved), and statues. The walls are adorned with copies of Etruscan tomb-paintings. — The upper Rooms in the N. Wing, above XIII-XV of the first floor, contain Etruscan terracottas and bronzes, Greek and Roman terracottas, busts and torsos of statues, and pre-historic antiquities from Greece. — The lower Rooms in the S. Wing, under IX-III of the first floor, on the other side of the Helbig Museum, contain ancient mural paintings, architectural fragments, especially capitals; also Roman busts of the republican and imperial epochs; Egyptian antiquities (as 1. Bronze tiger of the Hellenistic period); Christian sarcophagi and other relics.

d. WESTERN BOULEVARDS, N. OF THE RAADHUS.

Passing the Dagmar Theatre (p. 397), we now go N. to the NØRREVOLD GÅDE (Pl. H, 6, 5), first reaching the Jermers Tuavn (Pl. G, 6), a relic of the old fortifications, by which stands a group in bronze by Cain, Lions killing a wild boar.

The pretty Ørsted Park (Pl. G, H, 6, 5), laid out on the site of the old fortifications, contains statues of H. C. Ørsted (1777-1851), the discoverer of electro-magnetism, by Jerichau, and his brother, A. S. Ørsted (1778-1860), the jurist, by Bissen; also twelve bronzes after the antique, and a statue of the Maid of Orleans by Chapu, all presented by Hr. C. Jacobsen (p. 407).

The streets between the Ørsted Park and the Botanic Garden lead W. to the busy Dronning-Louises-Bro (Pl. G, 4), a bridge leading between the Pellinge-Sø and the Sortedams-Sø to the N.W. artizans' quarter. Motor-boats ply on these lakes, on whose banks are a number of handsome private houses.

The Botanic Garden (Pl. H, I, 4; adm., see p. 397), laid out in 1771-74 on the site of the old ramparts, contains a large Palm House, a Botanical Museum, and a Botanical-Physiological Laboratory. On a height rises the Observatory, in front of which is a bronze statue of Tycho Brahe, the astronomer (1546-1601), by Bissen. — To the W. of the Botanic Garden is the large Communal Hospital.

On the E. side of the ØSTERVOLD-GADE, opposite the Botanic Garden, rises the Rosenborg palace. A gateway bearing the date 1672 and the initials of Christian V. forms the entrance to the court and garden surrounding the palace.

The Rosenborg Palace* (Pl. 35; I, 4), an effective Renaissance edifice, erected by Christian IV. in 1610-25, outside the former ramparts, has several gabled towers, all crowned with iron vanes, the highest tower culminating in three octagons one above the other. It was the favourite residence of its founder, and down to the middle of the 18th cent. was often occupied by the Danish monarchs, who fitted up the rooms according to the taste of their day, and kept their jewels, state-weapons, coronation-robcs, uniforms, and other valuables here. These treasures were afterwards supplemented from other royal palaces, arranged in rooms appropriately fitted up with old furniture, and in 1863 opened to the public as the Chronological Collection of the Danish Kings*. Adm. see p. 398; illustrated catalogue 2 kr., extract 60 ø.

The collection consists of three sections: I. Reign of Christian IV., and the preceding period (1448-1648); II. From 1648 to 1800; III. Recent times — The Renaissance penetrated to Denmark (p. 398) in the reign of Frederick II (1559-88), and particularly in that of Christian IV. (1588-1648). The tower-chamber on the ground-floor contains curiosities of the earlier period, such as the "Oldenburg horn, order", time-pieces, and smaller objects. We then pass through the finely panelled Audience Chamber of Christian IV., his bedroom, in which he died, and his study. In these and other rooms are numerous insignia of the Order of the Elephant, the highest Danish order, instituted in 1457 and renewed in 1698. — The 2nd Section begins with the rooms of Frederick III. (1648-70), one of which is the Marble Chamber*, dating, however, chiefly from the reign of Christian V. (1670-99), a good example of the rise of the rococo style. On the first floor we next visit the apartments of Frederick IV. (1699-1730) and Christian VI. (1730-46), containing numerous ivory carvings by Magnus Berg (1666-1739), and the rooms of Frederick V. (1746-66) and Christian VII. (1766-1808). Adjacent is the china and glass Cabinet. — To the 3rd Section belong the memorials of Frederick VI. (1808-39), Christian VIII. (1839-48), and Frederick VII. (1848-63).

On the upper floor is the Banqueting Room or knights' hall*, with a vaulted stucco-ceiling of the early 18th cent., tapestry made in Denmark at the end of the 17th cent., sumptuous thrones, and silver plate.

On the E. side of the palace lies the Rosenborg Park (Rosenborg-Have; Pl. I, K, 4, 5, entered from the Østervold-Gade by gate 4 B, N. of the entrance to the palace), originally laid out in the French style, later reduced in size and altered in English taste (café). It is now a favourite resort of nurses and children. Near the bridge (closed) which crosses to the palace-yard is a statue of Queen Caroline Amelia (1796-1831), by W. Bissen (1896). In the N. part of the park is a Statue of Hans Christian Andersen, the author (p. 429), by Saabye.

In the Østervold-Gade further on, at the corner of the Sølv-Gade to the left, are the Chemical Laboratory and the Mineralogical Museum (Pl. I, 4, open Frid., 12-2; interesting fossil trees from the chalk and tertiary formations of N. Greenland, etc.). — To the W., in the Sølv-Gade, is the new building of the Polytechnic Academy (Pl. 32; J, 4), founded in 1829, with 27 teachers and about 800 students.

Beyond the Sølv-Gade, on the left side of the Østervold-Gade, rises the new Museum of Art (see below; tram No. 10 from Kongens Nytorv; p. 396). In front of it rises the 'Danmarks-Monument', erected in 1896, from a design by Hasselriis, in memory of the golden wedding of King Christian IX. (d. 1906) and Queen Louisa (d. 1898). Adjacent are statues of H. W. Bissen (p. 416), by W. Bissen, and V. Marstrand (p. 416), by Runeberg.

The Art Museum* (Pl. I, 4; Kunst-Museum), built in 1891-95 from plans by Dahlerup and Møller, contains the national collections of pictures, sculptures, and engravings. Right and left of the entrance are busts of N. L. Høyen (d. 1870) and Julius Lange (d. 1896), the writers on art. Adm., see p. 397. Short list of the paintings and sculptures 25 ø.; illustrated catalogue of the older pictures by K. Madsen 2 kr., of the casts 2 kr.

In the corridor below, on the left, are two groups by Jul. Schultze and G. Petersen: Adam and Eve conscious of guilt. By the first landing of the staircase: 'Sweet Sixteen', by W. Runeberg. In the centre: Hercules and Hebe, Adam and Eve, by Jerichau, etc. On the first landing: right, Christian IX., by Bissen; Foster Brothers, by Th. Lundberg; left, Queen Louisa, by Bissen, *Wife with her dead husband, by S. Sinding; David, by A. V. Saabye. — At the top, between the columns, Genius of Art, by W. Runeberg (bronze).

In the upper gallery are several works by Bissen, Jerichau, and others. — To the left we enter the — COLLECTION OF OLDER PAINTINGS. Some of the pictures here were ordered by Christian II., Christian IV., and other kings in Holland, Germany, and Italy; but most of them were collected by Frederick V. in the second half of the 18th cent., aided by the art-dealer G. Morell. Frederick VI. enriched the gallery by the purchase of the private Danish collections of Bodendick and West, and a few important works have since been added. The works of the Italian School (Rooms IV, V, and VI), though not numerous, include some of the gems of the collection, such as Caravaggio's Gamblers, Filippino Lippi's Joachim and Anna, Mantegna's Pietà, and the portrait of Lorenzo Cibo by Parmigianino. Among the Early Netherlandish Masters are a portrait by Memling and a small picture by Petrus Cristus. The German School is represented by two good and genuine examples of Cranach (R. II): the Judgment of Paris, and Venus and Cupid. Among the works of the Flemish School two by Rubens are by far the finest: the Judgment of Solomon and the portrait of Matthew Irselius (R. VI). The strong point of the gallery consists in its Dutch pictures. There are few genre-painters, but the School of Rembrandt is better represented than in almost any other gallery. By the great master himself are Jesus at Emmaus and two studies of heads, and there are fine works by G. Dou, Gov. Flinck, F. Bol, S. Koninck, W. de Poorter, B. Fabritius, Victors, and Aart de Gelder. Nearly half of the Dutch works are landscapes. Jacob van Ruysdael, Ph. Wouwerman, and A. van Everdingen are admirably represented; and among landscape-painters of the second rank are Jan Both, Dubbels, Hackaert, Swanevelt, Asselyn, C. Decker, Joris van der Hagen, and Verboom, followers of Ruysdael, who have either studied in Italy or worked under Italian influence, and who can hardly be studied elsewhere to so great advantage.

The VESTIBULE contains a few small Renaissance sculptures: Luca della Robbia, Relief of the Madonna in glazed earthenware (an early work); Riccio, Bronze lamp; P. Vischer, Fr., Small bronze female figures admirably executed; Adrian de Vries, Group in bronze; also carvings in box-wood, etc.

Room I. 380. Jan Weenix, Spoils of the chase; 257. J. van Oostade, Winter scene; 59. Hendrik ter Brugghen, Mocking of Christ; 132, 131. Egg. van Heemskerck, The dance, The judgment, two large and fine examples of this master; between them, 279a, 279b Rembrandt, Studies of heads; 276a. J. van Ravesteyn, Portrait; 102 A. van Everdingen, Rocky landscape — 228. Fr. de Moucheron, Italian landscape; 94. Jan Dubbels, Sea-piece; 106. B. Fabritius, Presentation in the Temple (1668); 820. K. Slabbaert, Savant; 81, 82. N. Berghem, Horses; 865. J. Victors, Portrait; 299. J. van Ruysdael, Waterfall; 332. Jan Steen, Death and the Miser; *374. S. de Viteger, The Maas at Rotterdam; 5. Jan Asselyn, Italian landscape; *201. Jan van der Meer, Jun., Cattle in a forest, admirable (1670). — 215. Ravesteyn, Portrait of a woman (1626); 284. R. Roghman, Landscape at sunset; 113. A. de Gelder, Oriental prince (1665). — 84. G. A. Berck-Heyde, View of Heidelberg; 341. Dav. Teniers, Jun., Temptation of St. Anthony; 301a. J. van Ruysdael, Landscape with hunting-scene; 92, 93b. Ger. Dou, Physician, Dutch kitchen; 323. Fr. Snyders, Large still-life piece; 254. J. van Ochterveelt, Lady playing (1668); 84. A. Cuyp, Landscape with horsemen; 269. Paul Potter, Cows on a hill; 256a. A. van Oostade, Organ-grinder in front of a village-tavern.

Room II. To the left: 169. Jac. Jordaens, Susanna in the bath (1633); *188. J. van Loo, Imitation-coral factory, (a masterpiece of this rare painter, who was trained under the influence of Rembrandt and founded the artistic family of the Vanloos at Paris), an interesting subject, luminous in colouring and delicate in chiaroscuro; 352a. L. de Vadder, Landscape. — 203. Fr. van Mieris, Portrait of Count Gildenlove. — 99. N. Elias, Portrait.

Room III: 58a. P. Brueghel Sen., Allegory; 58b. P. Brueghel, Jun., Bearing of the Cross. — 3. P. Aertsen, Dutch kitchen; 63. Petrus Cristus, St. Anthony and the donor kneeling, with Holy Family added by a pupil of Van Dyck; 238. Mabuse (?), Portrait of Christian II.; 349. Mabuse, Portrait of a man; 354a, b, c. L. van Valckenborch, Landscapes; 238a, 237. J. Mostaert, Portraits 238b. Master of the female half-figures, Rest on the flight; 72-80. Pictures by Lucas Cranach, the best Nos. 72 (Venus and Cupid) and 73 (Judgment of Paris), of his early period (1521).

Room IV (Italians). *200. A. Mantegna (or And. Mattinia), Body of Christ supported by two angels, with a rich distant landscape, executed with tender feeling, but retouched. — *61. Caravaggio, Soldiers gambling; 289. Salv. Rosa, Cadmus and Minerva; 282. Ribera, St Jerome; 271. Nic. Poussin, Moses and the burning bush; 189. Bern. Luini, St. Catharine; 184. Filippino Lippi, Meeting of SS. Joachim and Anna after the angel had announced the birth of the Virgin to the latter, who had been childless for 20 years, a characteristic and good work of the master (1497).

Room V (chiefly Italians). 193, (opposite) 199. B. Manfredi, Camp-scenes in the manner of Caravaggio; 325. Somer, Charles I. of England; 315a. Titian, Portrait of the Duke of Urbino (damaged).

VI. HALL (lighted from above). Left: *297a. Rubens, Bearing of the Cross (a sketch), 281. Ribera, St. Onophrius; *345. Dom Theotodopolis (surnamed el Greco), Portrait; 288. Salv. Rosa, Jonah preaching at Nineveh, ordered by Christian IV. for the church at Frederiksborg, and purchased, along with the two pictures in R. IV, for 8000 riksdaler; 296, 297. Rubens, Francis I. of Tuscany and Joanna of Austria (sketches of the pictures painted for the Luxembourg in Paris; 344. Tintoretto, Marriage at Cana (sketch); *203. Franc. Mazzuola (Parmigianino), Portrait of Lorenzo Cybo, grand in conception and showing Venetian influence in the colouring (1523). — 192. Karel van Mander (court-painter at Copenhagen; grandson of a well-known Dutch writer on art; d. 1670), Discovery of the body of Prince Svend of Denmark, slain in the Crusades (after Tasso's 'Gerusalemmeliberata'). 136, (farther on) 135. B. van der Helst, Portraits; 130. Jan de Heem, Still-life; 82. *Corn. We now pass through a room in three sections, in which modern pictures of various schools are exhibited, to the — COLLECTION OF SCULPTURES, which occupies two rooms. Thorvaldsen's pupils and immediate successors, H. W. Bissen and J. A. Jerichau, are better represented in the Ny-Carlsberg Glyptothek (p. 407) than here, but No. 46, The panther-hunter, is one of Jerichau's best works. Most of the other Danish sculptors belong to the school of Bissen: C. C. Peters (1822-1900), A. W. Saabye (b. 1823), Otto Evens (1826-95), C. Freund (1821-1900), and W. Bissen (b. 1836). Of a later generation are L. Hasselriis (b. 1844), J. V. Schultz (b. 1851; No. *60a, portrait of Oehlenschläger, the poet), C. P. Aarsleff (b. 1852), Axel Hansen (b. 1853), L. Brandstrup (b. 1861), C. J. Bonnesen (b. 1868), and others.

The DANISH PAINTINGS, occupying twelve rooms, afford a complete survey of the art in Denmark since the end of the 18th cent. The earliest master is N. Abildgaard (1743-1809), whose tendencies were classical; then Jens Juul (1745-1802), the portrait-painter. Abildgaard's pupil Chr. W. Eckersberg (1783-1853) is the head of the earlier national school, the work of which, though defective in technique, is distinguished by fidelity to nature and purity of sentiment. Among his followers were J. W. Sonne (1801-91), painter of battles and popular pieces; Jörgen Roed (1808-88), portrait and historical painter, W. Marstrand (1810-73), genre-painter; H. Hansen (1821-90), architectural painter; C. P. Skovgaard (1817-75), landscape-painter; J. T. Lundbye (1818-48), landscape and animal painter; C. Dalsgaard (1824-1907), painter of landscapes and popular scenes; J. F. Vermehren (b. 1823); J. J. Exner (b. 1825); A. Melbye (1818-75), painter of sea-pieces; C. F. Sørensen (1818-79), and others. A freer and more brilliant style was developed by Carl Bloch (1834-90), a genre and historical painter trained in Rome, and a little later by Otto Bache (b. 1839; animals and figures), K. Zahrtmann (b. 1843; historical), and A. Helsted (1847-1907, genre). Technical perfection, combined with subtle study of nature and depth of feeling, are shown by Peter S. Krøyer (b. 1851), probably the greatest living Danish painter, who, under French influence, has successfully developed open-air painting, and excels in portraits, in groups, in genre, and in interiors. His chief contemporaries are Viggo Johannsen (b. 1851; Danish domestic life). Michael Ancher (b. 1849, fishermen and pilots), Gotfrid Christensen (b. 1845; landscapes), Julius Paulsen (b. 1860), W. Hammershøi, and others. As the collection is annually extended and the arrangement altered, we give a selection of pictures in alphabetical order. The vestibule and the adjacent rooms I-VII contain paintings of the last three decades. The large hall VIII, lighted from above, also contains works of the most modern school, besides those of earlier schools, which are continued in rooms IX-XII.

No. 393. N. A. Abildgaard, Ossian singing to the harp; Mich. Ancher, 419. Life-boat, 420, 421. Groups of fishermen. 425 428 O. Bache, Cows driven to pasture in the morning. Horses on the shore (a large canvas); 430. W. Bendz, Sculptor's studio; K. Bloch, 433. The blind Samson grinding corn, 437. Daughter of Jairus, 433. Christian II. in prison at Sonderburg; 456a. Gotfr. Christensen, Avenue near Kragerup; 467 C. Dalgas, Flock of sheep by a wood; 469, 472 Chr. Dalsgaard, Fisherman's room. The pledge; 491-495 Sea-pieces by C. W. Eckersberg, 500, 501 J. J. Exner, Rustic festivals; 510 H. G. Fris, Landscape in spring; 532 C. Hansen, Shepherd-boy; 546, 549a. A. Helsted, Father and son, Christ among the scribes; 553 Franz Henningsen, Funeral; 557a. P. Hstedt, At the piano; 559, 559b. V. Irminger, After midnight, Young lady on a balcony; 567. H. Jerichau, Plain by Sardis; Viggo Johansen, 524. Evening entertainment. 577. Cow-stable. 577b. Evening party; Jens Juel, 579. Olomens the engraver, 595. Peasant's room, Portraits; 635 638 Chr. Købke, Old sailor, Summer morning on the Pæsterbro, P. S. Krøyer, 601. Sunday forenoon in Grenada, 602. Portrait of Meldahl the architect, 603. Fisherman on the shore by Skagen, 604. Duet, 606. Threshing in the Abruzzi, 607. Portrait of Hr. v. Rosenørn-Lehn, 607c. Portrait-group (a study); 618 W. Kyhn, Winter evening in the forest, 652. F. C. Lund, Battle of Fredericia; J. Sh. Lundbye, 645. Zealand landscape, 646. Landscape on the Isefjord. 647. Cow-stable, 649. Roman oxen, 650. Zealand landscape with cattle, W. Marstrand, 654, 655, 666. Scenes from Holberg's comedies, 657. Sunday forenoon at Leksønd on Lake Siljan, 632. Parable of the wedding feast; 695, 695d, J. Paulsen, Adam and Eve, St. Cecilia; 701c W. Pedersen-Møis, Dairy-maid; 704 Th. Philipsen, Road in the Dyrehave; 724 G. Rump, Forest scene by Frederiksborg; 755, 756, 759. J. W. Sonne, Battle-scenes from the German and Danish wars, 764, 767b. M. Therkildsen, Spirited horses, Horses pasturing by a wood; 763, 769. C. Thomsen, Dinner after a church-meeting, Rahbeck, the author, by the death-bed of his wife; 776, 776, 779. F. Vermehren, The soldier's farewell, Flock of sheep on the moor, Peasant's room; 787, 788. K. Zahrtmann, Death of Queen Sophia Amalia, Captivity of Eleonora Christina, daughter of Christian IV. and wife of the traitor Count Korfiz Ulfeld.

From Room XII we return through an ante-room to the vestibule or else to the sculptures.

The ground-floor of the building contains the Casts: — The Collection of Engravings numbers over 80,000. The most valuable are those of A. Dürer, presented by him during his journey through the Netherlands in 1521 to Christian II., who was then on a visit to his brother-in-law Charles V. at Brussels.

e. THE NORTHERN QUARTERS.

The quarter to the N.E. of the Kongens-Nytorv, with its long and broad streets, may be called the aristocratic part of Copenhagen. It includes the palace of Amalienborg, several mansions of the noblesse, and the chief embassies.

The BREDGADE (Pl. L, 5, 4), beginning at the Thott's Palais (p. 401) in the Kongens-Nytorv, is the chief artery of the quarter. To the right, at the corner of the St. Annæ-Plads, which descends to the harbour, is the British Embassy. The Plads is adorned with bronze statues of Niels W. Gade (1817-90) and J. P. E. Hartmann (1805-1900), the composers.

The Palace of Count Schimmelmann (Bredgade 28), now the Konzert-Palais (Pl. 51; L, 5), is a baroque building, with a court enclosed by a fine iron railing. — Nearly opposite, at the corner of the Dronningens-Tværgade, stands the —

PALACE OF COUNT MOLTKE-BREGENTVED (Pl. 26; L, 5), which contains a *Collection of Netherlandish paintings, several of which are of the foremost rank. Entrance Dronningens Tværgade 2 (comp. p. 398).

No. 8. Rubens, Monk, half-length; 15-16. Dav. Teniers, Jun., Four works (1646, 1666, 1667, 1674); 32. Rembrandt, Portrait of an old woman (about 1656); 56-59. Jac. van Ruysdael, Four late works (fine compositions with waterfalls and cataracts); 60, 61. M. Hobbema, Wooded Dutch landscapes, luminous in colouring and bold in style; 93. Paul Potter, Cattle grazing (1652); several by Phil. Wouerman, the finest No. 89, The Stable.

Farther on in the Bredgade, to the right, is the palace of King George of Greece, the first floor of which has been occupied by the Supreme Court (Højeste Ret) since the burning of the Palace of Christiansborg (p. 402).

To the left is the Frederiks-Kirke (Pl. L, 4, 5; adm. p. 398) or the Marble Church, begun on a splendid scale in 1749 from the plans of the French architect Jardin, left unfinished in 1767 for lack of funds, and completed in 1878-94 at the cost of Hr. Tietgen (d. 1901), a wealthy banker, from the designs of F. Meldahl. The handsome copper-sheathed dome, partly gilded, internally 141 ft., externally 265 ft. high, is conspicuous far and near. At the entrance to the church are statues of St. Ansgarius, the Apostle of the North, and Bishop Grundtvig (1783-1872), who, by reviving spiritual Christianity, and by founding 'National Schools', greatly strengthened the Danish Church in the 19th cent. The interior is also interesting, notably the frescoes in the dome, by Overgaard, and a marble statue of an angel, by S. Sinding. Fine view from the dome (adm. p. 398).

Near this, in the Bredgade, is the Russian Alex. Newsky Chapel. On the left also rises the building of the Danish Diet (Pl. 21; L, 4), built as an opera-house in 1701, but used for its present purpose since the burning of the Christiansborg Palace (p. 402). Other buildings in the Bredgade are the Surgeons' Hall (Pl. 17; No. 62), the Rom. Cath. Chapel (Pl. 11), and the large Frederiks-Hospital (Pl. 4; L, M, 4).

— To the N.W. of the Diet House lie the Nyboder, a quarter laid out by Christian IV. for old seamen, but since largely rebuilt. In the Store Kongens-Gade is a monument to Admiral Suenson (d. 1887), the commander of the Danish fleet at Heligoland on 9th May, 1864. Another, to Christian IV., by Bissen (1901), stands at the corner of the Østervold-Gade and the Delfin-Gade.

The AMALIE-GADE (Pl. L, 5, M, 4), which begins at the St. Annæ-Plads, is broken by an Ionic colonnade, forming the approach to an octagonal Plads. Here rises an equestrian Monument of Frederick V.* (d. 1766) in bronze, erected in 1771 by the Asiatic Trading Company, and designed by J. F. J. Saly, a French sculptor, director of the Copenhagen academy of art from 1754 to 1771. The four uniform buildings enclosing the Plads together form the Amalienborg (Pl. L, M, 5). They were erected by Nic. Eigtved, Saly's predecessor in the Academy, as separate palaces (1740-50), but were bought by the king after the burning of the Christiansborg (p. 402). That to the S.W. was erected for Count Moltke; the S.E. building (Count Schack) now contains the Coronation and State Rooms; on the N.E. and N.W. were the mansions of Baron Brockdorff and Count Levetzau respectively.

The Bredgade and Amalie-Gade lead N. to the ESPLANADE (Grønningsen; Pl. L, M, 4), with its pretty grounds enclosing the old citadel of Frederikshavn. The English Church (St. Alban's; Pl. M, 4), a tasteful Gothic building (1885-87), has a conspicuous spire. To the W. of it is the Gefion-Brunnen, erected by A. Bundgaard in 1906 (adorned with a figure of the goddess Gefion ploughing). Adjacent are the Meteorological Institute (Pl. 22; M, 4) and the Toldbod (Pl. 44), or custom-house, a handsome building in the Romanesque style by Wil. Petersen. On the N.E. bastion of the old citadel is a monument in memory of the battle fought against the British fleet under Nelson on 2nd April, 1801.

A viaduct (good view) crossing the harbour-rails leads to the Lange Linie* (Pl. M, 3, 2, 1), a pleasant promenade, over 1½ Kil. long, E. and N.E. of the Citadel, much frequented in the evening, especially on Sundays. Just beyond the viaduct a Column crowned with Victory recalls the naval victory of the Danes on 4th Oct., 1710 (p. 429). Farther on, to the left, is the Langelinies-Pavillon (p. 396), a café, with the headquarters of the Royal Yacht Club. Farther out are the Camera Obscura (25 s.) and the Lystbaadehavn (pleasure-boat harbour). We pass round the W. side of this basin to the 'New Lange Linie', which runs on the E. mole of the new Free Harbour, among whose warehouses is a conspicuous grain-store eleven stories high (Silopakhus). Seawards we have a fine view of the busy harbour, and of Fort Trekroner to the N. At the end of the pier is a café.

At the S. end of the Strand Boulevard (Pl. L, 2) is a monument to N. W. Meyer, the aurist (d. 1895), with a bust by Runeberg and a female figure by Bissen. — Farther N. is Hellerup, a pleasant colony of villas, now almost united with the city. To Charlottenlund and Klampenborg, see p. 421.

f. THE WESTERN SUBURBS.

TRAMWAYS: From Kongens-Nytorv by the Raadhus-Plads and Vesterbro-Gade to Frederiksberg, No. 1, p. 396 — From the Raadhus-Plads by the Vesterbro-Gade to Frederiksberg, Søndermarken, and Valby, No. 2, p. 406. — From Kongens-Nytorv, past the Ny-Carlsberg Glyptothek and through the Isted-Gade, No. 6, p. 396.

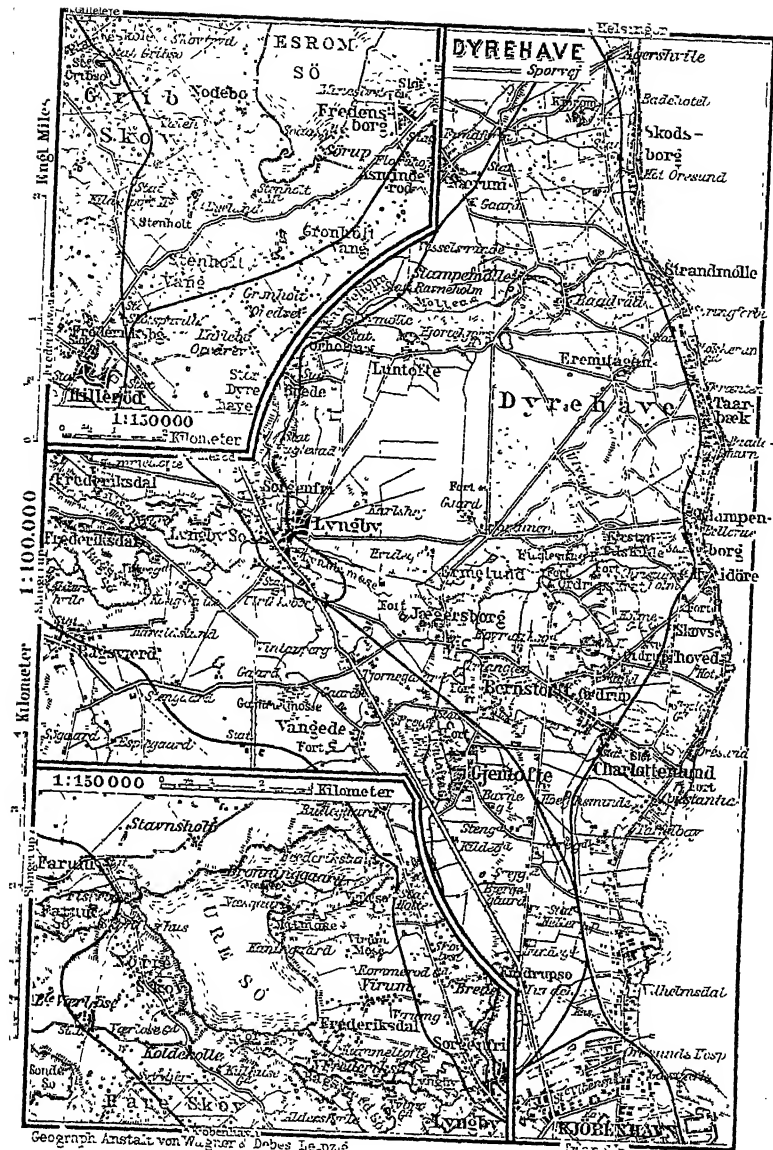

The Vesterbro Passage (p. 399) leads W. to a small round Plads, adorned with a lofty stone obelisk called Frihedstøtten (column of liberty; Pl. G, 7), recalling the abolition of serfdom in 1798. The prolongation of the 'Passage' is the VESTERBRO-GADE (Pl. G, F, E, 7, 8), which intersects the whole W. quarter. In the Steno-Gade, a cross-street, to the right, is the Rom. Cath. Jesu-Hjerte-Kirke (1895). Farther on in the Vesterbro-Gade, beyond the small Vesterbro-Torv, is the Kongelige Skydebane, or rifle-range (restaur., p. 396).

The FREDERIKSBERG-ALLÉ (Pl. E, D, C, 7), diverging to the right from the Vesterbro-Gade, with its pleasure-gardens (p. 397), ends at the 'Runddel' outside the Frederiksberg Park, whence the Allé-Gade runs N. and the Pile-Allé S. In Allé-Gade, at the corner of the Gamle Kongevej, is a statue of the poet Ad. Øhlenschläger as a youth, by Schultz (1897).

The Frederiksberg-Have (Park; Pl. A-C, 7) offers shady promenades. By the main entrance is a Statue of Frederick VI. (d. 1839), by Bissen. The Frederiksberg Palace (Pl. B, 8), erected in the Italian style under Frederick IV. (d. 1730), now a military school, rises on a hill to the left. The shady terrace in front of the building affords a fine view. — Farther W. is the Zoological Garden (Pl. A, B, 7, 8; adm. p. 398; W. exit in the Søndre Fasanvej; tram to Raadhus-Plads, H, p. 396), where the northern animal kingdom is well represented.

To the S. of the Roskilde road is the park of Søndermarken (Pl. A, B, 8). Near its S.E. exit, towards Ny Carlsberg, is a bronze statue of the statesman K. Chr. Hall (d. 1888), by W. Bissen.

To the S. of the Søndermarken Park lie the suburbs of Ny Carlsberg, with Hr. Jacobsen's great brewery, and Valby (tram No. 2, p. 396), where the Romanesque JESUS-KIRKE (Pl. B, 9), built by Dahlerup at the cost of Hr. Carl Jacobsen, deserves a visit. The sacristan (Valby Langgade 12) is in the church on week-days, 12-4 (25 ø.). The interior, lavishly decorated, is borne by 82 granite pillars in two rows, one above the other. The font, with figures of Faith and Hope, is by Jerichau; the tomb of the Jacobsen family has marble groups by Tenerani, after Thorvaldsen; the altar-frieze, Christ surrounded by Apostles, Saints, and Reformers, is by Sinding. In front of the church is a large crucifix by Jerichau.

Geograph. Anstalt von Wagner & Debes, Leipzig

70. From Copenhagen to Helsingør.

STEAMBOAT, skirting the coast of Zealand, a very pleasant voyage, several times daily to Helsingør in $2\frac{3}{4}$ hrs. (fare 2 kr.; to Klampenborg 60 ø.; restaur. on board), starting from the Havngade, near the Niels-Juelsgade (Pl. K, L, 7), at Copenhagen. Stations: Klampenborg, Skodsborg, Rungsted. Forenoon light best. — TRAMWAY to Klampenborg, see p. 386, Line 1: fare to Hellerup 10, Charlottenlund 20, Klampenborg 30 ø. (to be extended to Bernstorf and Ordup in 1909).

a. Coast Railway.

45 Kil. Express (from the Nordbanegaard, p. 395; Berlin-Copenhagen-Christiania) to Helsingør in 50-60 min., ordinary trains in $1\frac{1}{2}$ hrs. (from the Østbanegaard, Pl. L, 2, 3; fares 3 kr., 1.90, 1.10). Also local trains to Klampenborg, in summer hourly on week-days, and half-hourly or oftener on Sundays and holidays (fares 70, 45, 25 ø.), starting from the Klampenborg Station (Pl. G, 6); also to Holte (p. 422), starting from the Nordbanegaard (special booking-office).

The railway from the Nordbanegaard, also followed by the local trains for Klampenborg, skirts the N.W. side of Copenhagen, calls at the suburban station of Nørrebro, and near (5 Kil.) Hellerup joins the line from the Østbanegaard. 8 Kil. Charlottenlund. To the right are the beautiful park, open to the public, and the royal château. On the shore of the Sound, 1 Kil. from the station, are the popular Rest. Constantia and the bath-house.

10 Kil. Klampenborg (Kur-og-Søbad, with rest. and large park, R. 2-15, B. 1, L. $2\frac{1}{2}$, D. 3 kr.; Bellevue Strand-Hot., with garden-café, good), a popular summer resort and sea-bathing place, on the S.E. margin of the Dyrehave* ('deer park', usually called Skoven, 'the forest'), a beautiful beech-forest, stocked with deer.

Pleasant walk of about $2\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.: We cross the railway-viaduct and enter the wood by the 'Røde Port'. The Kirsten-Pits-Kilde ('spring') is a very popular rallying-point in June and July. The forester's house of Fortunen, in the S.W. corner of the Dyrehave, with a garden-café, $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. from the Klampenborg station, commands a fine view. From Fortunen we go N.E. to ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr.) the Eremitage, a shooting-lodge built in a clearing by Christian VI. in 1738 (café). Then by Raadvad (rest.) through the wood to ($1\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) Skodsborg (see below).

The train skirts the coast, passing the Dyrehave and many villas, let in summer for sea-bathing. Beyond Torbæk is stat. Springforbi.

16 Kil. Skodsborg (Bad-Hot., prettily situated on the outskirts of the wood, 5 min. N. of the station, with view, R. 2-8, B. 1, L. $2\frac{1}{2}$ -3, D. 3-4, pens. $7\frac{1}{2}$ - $14\frac{1}{2}$ kr.; Hot. Øresund, nearer the station, R. 2-6, B. 75 ø., L. $1\frac{1}{2}$, D. 2-3, pens. 6-10 kr.) is another favourite bathing-place. Beautiful wood-walks to the little lake of Bellemose ($\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) and other points.

19 Kil. Vedbæk (Hot. Vedbæk), on the Trørød Skov. To the S. lies Enrum, the seat of Count Danneskjold-Samsø, with a park (open to the public). Branch-line to (12 Kil.) Lyngby (p. 422). Farther on we pass the Smidstrupgaard, the little château of the King of Greece. Beyond the Sound we see the Swedish island of Hven, famous for its association with Tycho Brahe, on which is the church of St. Ibbs (James). 23 Kil. Rungsted (Hotel Rungsted, good), with a monument to the poet Joh. Ewald (p. 402); 30 Kil. Nivaa, near the estate of Nivaagaard, which has a small but good collection of pictures (open on Sun.).

42 Kil. Snedkersten (p. 424); 45 Kil. Helsingør, see p. 424.

b. Zealand Northern Railway.

58 Kil. RAILWAY to Helsingør in 1½-¾ hrs. (to Hillerød in 1 hr.; *fares 2 kr. 35, 1 kr. 50, 85 ø.). The trains start from the Norðbanegaard (Pl. G, 6). Those who wish to see Frederiksborg (23 hrs.) on the way should take the first train.

To (5 Kil.) Hellerup, where the coast-railway diverges to the right, see p. 421. — 8 Kil. Gjenterfte; to the right is the royal chateau of Bernstorff, built in 1764.

11 Kil. Lyngby (Hot. Rustenborg, R. 1½-2½, D. 2 kr.; Hot. Lyngby, R. from 2½, D. 2½ kr.), junction of a branch to Vedbæk (see p. 421), lies prettily on the Lyngby-Sø, and is a favourite goal for excursions. The Danish Folkemuseum (p. 400) has its 'open-air section' here (old cottages, etc.; adm. 1-6 ø'cl.). To the right is the royal villa of Sorgenfri, the summer seat of Crown Prince Christian. On the left is Count Schulin's villa of Frederiksdal, to which a small steamer plies from Lyngby. We may then take the 'Amfibiebaad' up the Furesø to Fiskebæk and Farum, a station on the Slangerup line, or by steamer cross the lake to Næset and Holte (there and back from Copenhagen in 6-8 hrs., a pleasant excursion; fare 2½ kr.).

16 Kil. Holte, also with pretty environs. On the Furesø rises the chateau of Dronninggaard.

34 Kil. Hillerød. — HOTEL KRONPRINDSEN, R. 2-3 kr., HOT. KJØBENHAVN, both in the market-place, 10 min. from the station; HOT. LEIDERSDORFF, 5 min. further, opposite the approach to the castle. — In the castle-park is the Slotspavillon, a good restaurant, see p. 423.

CARRIAGE to Fredensborg (p. 424): one-horse 4, and pair 6 kr., and fee.

BRANCH RAILWAYS: through the beautiful forest of Gribskov (stat. Gribsø), by (8 Kil.) Kagerup to (26 Kil.) Gilleleje. Another line to (23 Kil.) Frederiksværk, a little town on the Roskilde Fjord.

Hillerød, with 5200 inhab., capital of the district of Frederiksborg, lies at the S. end of the little Frederiksborg-Sø, from which rises the castle of Frederiksborg, the grandest monument of the Danish Renaissance. From the station we reach the market-place in 10 min. by the street either right or left. On the N. side rises a Statue of Frederick VII. by Bissen. The entrance to the castle is 6 min. farther; or we may cross to it by motor-boat.

The Frederiksborg*, erected by Christian IV. in 1602-20 on the site of an older building of Frederick II., of which two round towers still remain, affords an excellent example of a royal residence of the period. It occupies three islands near the W. bank of the lake. The first bridge leads to the offices, the second to the massive tower-gateway of the outer court. Here, right and left, are the business rooms and dwellings of the officials. In the centre is a copy (1888) of the Neptune Fountain by Adriaen de Vries (1623), carried off by the Swedes in 1659. In front of us, on the third island, rises the castle itself.

Three four-storied wings, with towers and gables, and a lower entrance-wing enclose the great court. As in similar buildings in N. Germany, the Renaissance character of the architecture is expressed mainly in the decorative details, which are executed in sandstone. Most striking are the portal and loggia of the central building; the wall-fountain was added in 1621 by L. P. Sveis, a Dutchman. The W. wing contains the Chapel, above which is the great Knights' Hall. After a destructive fire in 1859, the castle was restored under the direction of F. Meldahl and fitted up as a National Historical Museum, chiefly at the cost of the patriotic Dr. J. C. Jacobsen (d. 1887). The works of art, originals and copies, collected here afford a survey of Danish history and culture since the introduction of Christianity. The rooms, few of which have survived the fire, are fitted up in the style of their periods, after Danish and other models. Entrance in the loggia of the central building. The visit takes 1½-2 hrs. (adm. daily: from April to end of Sept. 9.30-5, from Sept. to end of Apr. 11-3; week-days 50, Sun. and holid. 25 s.; catal. 25 s.).

Ground Floor. In the VESTIBULE are casts of two Runic stones of the 10th cent. — Rooms 6-11. Copy of the Bayeux Tapestry, 77 yds. long, 20 in. broad, representing the conquest of England by William of Normandy in 1066. The next rooms are decorated in the Gothic style.

First Floor (middle building). Furniture of 16-17th cent., notably chests with armorial bearings; also fine modern furniture. — The Tower Room (23) and COUNCIL CORRIDOR (24) still retain part of the mural decoration of the time of Christian V. — ORIEL ROOM (30): Several paintings by J. Owens; portraits of Frederick II. (1559-83) and his contemporaries. — TOWER ROOM (32): 'Gottorp Globe' of 1657.

Second Floor. RR. 35-37: Portraits and pictures of important events, chests, cabinets, and tables of the time of Christian IV. (1588-1648) and his successors. — Tower Room (38): Portraits of Charles XII. of Sweden (1697-1718), his sister Ulrika Eleonora, and others. — The large KNIGHTS' HALL (39), restored in the style of Christian IV. after the fire, with a superb ceiling, contains numerous royal portraits, as Christian IV. on horseback (copy). — RR. 40-42: Portraits, pictures of events, and furniture of the time of Frederick III. (1648-70). — RR. 43-45: Time of Christian V. (1670-99). — RR. 46, 47: Time of Frederick IV. (1699-1730); inlaid furniture, first half of 16th cent. (R. 47). — RR. 48, 49: Rococo furniture of Christian VI. (1730-46) and Frederick V. (1746-66). — R. 50: Christian VII. (1766-1806). — R. 51: Frederick VI. (1808-36). — R. 52: Christian VIII. (1839-48). — R. 53: Portraits of members of the Constituent Assembly of 1849. We pass through the CORRIDOR (54), the contents of which supplement those of the adjacent rooms, and descend the staircase to the —

First Floor, the E. wing of which contains Rooms 56-64, fitted up in modern style. Pretty views from all the windows.

The "Church," where the kings of the Oldenburg line were crowned, presents a curious combination of mediæval Gothic (tracery windows, net-vaulting) with rich Renaissance details. The inlaid stalls and the royal pew facing the pulpit, dating from Christian IV., are by Dutch artists; so, too, are the pulpit, of ebony and embossed silver, and the Crucifixion in embossed silver on the high-altar. The gallery is adjoined by the KING'S ORATORY* ('Bedestolen'), restored since the fire of 1859 in all its old splendour of carved wood and ivory, and adorned with twenty-three paintings from the Life of Christ by C. Bloch (1866). In the window-niches of the gallery are the arms of the knights of the Dannebrog Order.

Turning to the right in the fore-court, then to the right through the gate, we reach an old avenue leading to the Palace Garden on the N. bank of the lake, laid out in the old French style. The Slots-Pavillon (p. 422), a restaurant 10 min. from the castle-gate, affords a good view of the castle. We return to the station by the Copenhagen road, leading S.E. from the garden, and then turn to the right.

The avenue is continued by the road to Fredensborg (8 Kil.; see Map, p. 420), which crosses the Gribskov and Gilleleje railway, and then diverges to the right from the Gribskov road. Fine woods of oak and beech, beyond which the road is shadeless. Views of Lake Esrom to the left.

Slot Fredensborg, the autumn residence of the royal family, was built in 1720-24, in memory of the Danish and Swedish peace concluded shortly before. (Adm. for 1-6 pers. 2 kr. 7-12 pers. 4 kr.) The beautiful Park* is open to the public; visitors pressed for time may take a guide (50 ø.). In the 'Normandsdal' are statues of 65 Norwegians, in national costume, presented by Norwegian peasants in the 18th cent. A monument recalls the almost annual visits of Emp. Alexander III. of Russia to his father-in-law Christian IX. On the S. side of the park is a superb avenue. Boats for a trip on Lake Esrom may be obtained at the 'Skipperhus'. — The village of Fredensborg (Jernbane-Hot., R. 1½-2, B. 1½, D. 2-3 kr., good; Storekro, near the château) is a railway-station (43 Kil. from Copenhagen), ¼ hr. from the château.

The last station before Helsingør is (56 Kil.) Snekkersten, where we join the coast-railway (p. 422). — 58 Kil. Helsingør. The station is on the quay. Custom-house for travellers from Sweden.

Helsingør. — Rail. Rest., good; Jernbane-Hot., by the station and the quay, Hot. Gresund, Sten-Gade 53, both good, R. 2-3, B. ¾-1, D. 2-3 kr.; Hôt du Nord; Hôt. Hammershøj, 10 min. from the station; all with cafés.

Helsingør is an old trading town with 14,500 inhab. and large docks, on the narrowest part of the Sound.

To the N.E. of the town, 20 min. from the station, following the rails round the quay, we reach the picturesque and conspicuous Kronborg, built under Frederick II. in 1574-85, probably by Ant. Obergeren, a Dutchman, and restored after a fire by Christian IV. in 1635-37. The castle is constructed of Norwegian and Gotland sandstone, and is enclosed by ramparts and broad moats.

Entering the precincts by the chief W. gateway, we turn to the left, pass through a long archway and a Renaissance gateway, and in 5 min. reach the picturesque inner court, with turrets, gables, and church-spire, almost all dating from the time of Christian IV. The rest of the castle, chiefly used as barracks, presents little attraction. (Tickets in the inner court, first door on the left: picture-gallery, chapel, and tower 30 ø.; chapel alone 20 ø.; casemates, 1-8 pers. 25 ø. each, 9-14 pers. 20 ø. each.) The Castle Chapel has galleries, pulpit, and stalls of painted and gilded wood-carving, executed by German masters under Christian IV., and restored in 1843. The rooms once used by the royal family contain chimney-pieces of the time of Christian IV., many unimportant pictures, a statue of Shakspeare by Hasselriis, etc. — From the flat roof of the S.W. Tower (145 steps) we have an extensive *View of the Sound, from the island of Hven to the Kullen, and of the wooded coast of Zealand.

The Flag Battery (where the guns must not be approached), to the right of the exit by the Renaissance gateway (see above), is the 'Platform before the Castle of Elsinore' where Shakspeare makes the ghost in Hamlet appear. Kronborg is also mentioned in Danish traditions. Deep down in its casemates slumbers Holger Danske ('the Dane'), a well-known character in Andersen's tales.

It was at Helsingør that Denmark formerly exacted the Sound Dues from all passing vessels (from 15,000 to 20,000 annually). These dues were at length commuted in 1857 by the nations interested for a sum of 30,476,325 Danish riks-dollars (about 3½ millions sterling).

A light railway runs from Helsingør (station on the N. side of the town) to the sea-bathing places Marienlyst, Hellebæk, Aalsgaard, and Hornbæk (13 Kil.). The chief of these is Marienlyst, ¼ hr.'s walk from the Kronborg. On the beach, to the right of the road, is the large Kur- & Bade-Anstalt* (R. 2-10, B. 1, L. 2½ D. 3½ kr.), with pleasant grounds (adm. 10 ø.), containing bronze figures of Hamlet and Holger Danske (see above). Fine view of the Kronborg, the Sound, and the Swedish coast. On the wooded hill to the left of the road are the little château of Marienlyst, formerly royal, and the café Hamletsgaard. A stone pyramid a little higher up is pointed out as 'Hamlet's tomb'. — Hellebæk and Aalsgaard, a little further on, also have good quarters for sea-bathers. The last station is Hornbæk (Hot. Bondegården; Hornbæk Kro; Pens. Friis, 5-6 kr.), whence we may follow the coast-road to (8 Kil.) Nakkehoved (extensive view from the lighthouse; fee 25 ø.) and (2½ Kil.) Gilleleje (Badehotel, R. 2-4, D. 2-4, pens. 5-6 kr.), the largest fishing-village in Zealand, splendidly situated on the Kattegat, opposite the Swedish promontory of Kullen (p. 274). From Gilleleje to (26 Kil.) Hillerød, see p. 422.

On the Swedish coast opposite lies (4 Kil.) Helsingborg (p. 273). Steam-ferry 9-10 times daily in 20 min. (fare 40 or 25 ø.; restaur.) Through-carriages for Sweden cross by the ferry.

71. Bornholm.

From COPENHAGEN (Kvæsthusbro; Pl. M, 5) steamer daily in 9 hrs. to Rønne on the W. coast of the island; fare 8½, return 13 kr. (omnibuses from Rønne to Helligdoms-Gaarden and to Blanch's Hotel); also to Nexø, on the E. coast, twice weekly in 15 hrs.; fare 8 50, return 12.75 kr. — From SASSNITZ (N. Germany) steamer several times a week to Hammerhøfen or Åltinge, at the N. end of the island, in 5 hrs.; fare 10, return 15 or 18 M. — The 'Hammer' district in the N. part of the island is the most interesting. The finest points may be seen in 2-3 days by driving (carr. and pair 13-16 kr. per day) from Rønne to Hammershus, visiting to N.W. coast thence as far as Jons-Kapel, and then driving along the N.E. coast to Helligdommen and back by the Almindingen to Rønne.

The Danish island of Bornholm, 225 sq. M. in area, with 44,000 inhab., is 170 Kil. from Copenhagen, 37 Kil. from the S. coast of Sweden, and 90 Kil. from the island of Rügen. It consists mainly of a huge mass of granite, worn smooth by the great Scandinavian glaciers, and in many parts but thinly covered with soil. From the highest point radiate several brooks down to the sea. The chief town and villages lie on the coast, and there are many separate gaards or farm-houses of the Scandinavian type. Agriculture, the preparation of porcelain and terracotta clay, and fishing are the chief industries of the islanders.

On the W. coast of Bornholm lies Rønne (Dam's Hot., R. 1½, D. 1 kr. 65 ø.; Turist-Hot.), the capital of the island and landing-place of the Copenhagen steamers, with 9300 inhab. and a small museum of Bornholm costumes and antiquities. To the N. of Rønne is (9 Kil.) the little port of Hasle (Hot. Hasle), where some of the Copenhagen steamers call.

To the E. of Rønne (14 Kil.; carr. and pair 9 kr.; railway see below), beyond Bjerggaarde, where there are several 'bautastenar', lies the great beech-forest of Almindingen, about 62,000 acres in area (Jomfrubjerget, a good inn). We may here ascend the Christianshøj (410 ft.) and the Rytterknægt (582 ft.; view-tower), visit the old forts of Gamleborg and Lilleborg, and explore the deep rocky gorge of the Eklodæl.

From Rønne to Nexø, 36 Kil., rail in 1¾ hr., by (10 Kil.) Nylarsker, with its round church in two stories (Nylarskirke, 12th cent.), and (17 Kil.) Aakirkeby. Branch to (4 Kil.) Almindingen, see above. — 37 Kil. Nexø (Holm's Hot.), a port on the S. coast, with 2600 inhab.

At the N. end of Bornholm, about 20 Kil. from Rønne (omn. in 3 hrs.; carr. and pair 12 kr.) lies Hammerhøfen, the landing-place of the Sassnitz steamers. Above it are Blanch's Hotel* (R. 2½-4, B. 1-1½, D. 2½, pens. 5½-8 kr., with baths), and the plainer Hot. Hammershus (pens. 3½ kr.), both often crowded. Close by, on the W. coast, are the remains of Slot Hammershus (adm. 15 ø.), built by the archbishops of Lund in the 13th cent. Below it are curious cliffs (Løvehoveder, lions' heads) and caverns (Vaade Ovn and Tørre Ovn, wet and dry oven). To the S. lies the green Finnedal with its inn (pens. 4-6 kr.); a little further off is the Jons-Kapel, a rock 134 ft. high. To the N. of the Hammershus, and separated from the island by the Hammerdal and the Hammersø, rises the headland of Hammeren (276 ft.) with its lighthouse and large granite quarries.

On the N. E. coast are the little towns of Sandvig ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr. E. of Hammershus; Klo's Hot., R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ -3, B. 1, D. 2-3, pens. 4-6 $\frac{1}{2}$ kr.; Hot. Strandschloss; motor-boat several times a week to Gudhjem) and, $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. further S., Allinge (Hot. Allinge, Hoyer's; Hot. du Nord), with sea-baths. To the S. of Allinge (1 hr.) is the Oleskirke, an old round church. About 5 M S.E. of Allinge is the Hot. Helligdomsgaard (R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ -2 $\frac{1}{2}$, B. $\frac{3}{4}$, D. 2 $\frac{1}{4}$, pens. 5-7 kr.). Before reaching the hotel we may diverge to the left from the road, to visit the Dyndal with its waterfall and the Amtmandssten, a fine point of view, and then follow the coast to the S.E.

The Helligdom* ('sanctuary') cliffs, about 65 ft. high, deeply indented by the surf and worn into separate blocks, are one of the chief sights in the islands. A little further on is the fishing village of Gudhjem (Hot.). From Gudhjem a road leads S. to the Østerlarskirke, the largest round church in Bornholm, where it forks: one branch leads inland to Almindingen (p. 426), and the other leads E. to Svanke (Hot. Østersøen, pens. from 3 $\frac{1}{2}$ kr.), 19 Kil. from Gudhjem. In the vicinity are numerous Runic stones. Pleasant walk along the shore to (2 hrs.) Nexø (p. 426).

72. From Copenhagen by Kalundborg to Aarhus.

Railway to Kalundborg, 109 Kil., in 2-3 $\frac{1}{2}$ hrs. (7, 4.40, 2.60kr.). Steamer thence to Aarhus, 80 Kil., daily in 4 $\frac{1}{2}$ hrs (4 kr.; restaur. on board)

From Copenhagen to (32 Kil.) Roskilde, see R. 73. Then (39 Kil.) Leire; 2 Kil. to the right is Count Holstein's château of Ledreborg. From (53 Kil.) Tølløse a branch diverges to (20 Kil.) Vedde and (38 Kil.) Høng. Our train turns N. to (66 Kil.) Holbæk (Hot. Isefjord; pop. 5200), on the fjord of that name.

Branch to NYKJØBING, 49 Kil., by (20 Kil.) Hørve, 5 Kil. E. of which is the ruined castle of Dragsholm, where the Earl of Bothwell, Queen Mary Stuart's third husband, died in 1578.

74 Kil. Regstrup; on the right is the Løvenborg, the seat of Baron Løvenskjold, built in the 16th-17th cent.

88 Kil. Jyderup (H. Skarriidsø), near the pretty Skarriidsø.

To reach the lake we follow the railway for 2 min. to the right and turn S. to (10 min.) the boatman's house. Rowing past Villa Selyst (right), we land at Delhoved, then walk to the forester's house, from whose garden we have a fine view of the woods, the Tis-Sø, and the Great Belt. We now follow a forest-path for 5 min., diverge to the right to (10 min.) the Stridsmølle, and (10 min. more) reach the Bresmølle.

On the left is the Skarriidsø. We pass through beech-wood and patches of moor. 96 Kil. Svebølle; 101 Kil. Værlev.

109 Kil. Kalundborg (Hot. Postgaarden, R. 2, D. 2 kr.; pop. 4600), a small seaport on the Kalundborg Fjord. The chief sight here is Vor Frue Kirke (1-6 pers. 75 ø.), built in the 12th cent. in the Romanesque style, in the form of a Greek cross, with octagonal towers over the centre and at the end of each arm. To the N. of the town are the promenades of Mellesakken (115 ft.), affording a fine view. On the right bank of the fjord, opposite the town, lies Lerchenborg, the seat of Count Lerche.

73. From Copenhagen to Hamburg by the Danish Islands.

510 Kil. RAILWAY all the way, except the short ferries to Fünen and Fredericia, in 11-12 hrs; fares 26 90, 20.20, 12 kr.; sleeping-berth 9 or 6 kr. extra Copenhagen, see p. 394; the express to Roskilde takes $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr, passing several small stations.

32 Kil. Roskilde, pron. rōskille (Rail. Rest., lunch-basket 1 kr., Jernbane-Hot., R. from $1\frac{1}{2}$, D. 2 kr., well spoken of, Hot. Prinsen), an ancient town on the deeply indented fjord of that name, the capital of the kingdom till 1443 (comp. p. 398), and seat of the Bishop of Zealand down to the Reformation, once had a population of 100,000, but now of 8800 only. It is important, however, as a railway-centre. — From the station we go N. across the Hestetorv, then to the left through the Algade, and to the right by the Raadhus, to visit the only relic of the town's ancient glory. This is the Romanesque *CATHEDRAL, an imposing brick building with two towers 246 ft. high, consecrated in 1084, rebuilt after a fire in 1282, and often restored, for the last time in 1868. This is the burial-church of the Danish kings, most of whom from Harold I. (d. 937) down to Christian IX. (d. 1906) repose here, the earlier in vaults, the later in the side-chapels. The main-entrance is through the king's gate on the W. side.

Ticket to the INTERIOR (adm. daily from 10 a.m.), with description, 50 ø., to be had on the first floor of the building to the E. of the cathedral. — Behind the carved high-altar (16th cent.) repose Queen Margaret (d. 1412), with a recumbent alabaster statue (1423), and her brother Christopher (d. 1363); Christian V. (d. 1699) and Frederick IV. (d. 1730), with their consorts. In the late-Gothic *Chapel of the Trinity or of the Three Magi (1459-64), on the S. side of the church, are the tombs of Christian I. (d. 1481), Christian III. (d. 1559), by Corn. Floris; and Frederick II. (d. 1558). On the same side, to the E., is the chapel of Frederick V., with the tomb of that king (d. 1766), by Wiedewelt, and the coffins of the kings from Christian VI. (d. 1746) to Christian IX. (d. 1906). Opposite, on the N. side of the church, is the *Chapel of Christian IV., built in 1620-30 in the Renaissance style, restored and decorated in 1847-68, with frescoes by Eddelin and Marstrand. It contains the handsome sarcophagi of Christian IV. (d. 1648) and of Frederick III. (d. 1730) and his consort (these two in bronze). The late-Gothic choir-stalls are curiously carved with scenes from the Old and New Testaments. The reading-desk should also be noticed.

The small gate opposite the N. side of the church leads to grounds which command a pleasing view of the fjord.

FROM ROSKILDE TO GJEDSER, 147 Kil., Railway (incl. ferry from Masnedsund to Ørehoved, 20 min.) in $2\frac{1}{4}$ - $3\frac{1}{2}$ hrs. (whence a steamer crosses in 2 hrs. to Warnemünde in Germany, the shortest route between Copenhagen and Berlin). 22 Kil. Kjæge (Jernbane-Hot.; Hot. Prinsen, in the market), an old town on the Kjæge-Bugt, where the Danes under Niels Juel gained a great naval victory over the Swedes in 1677, and where, on 4th Oct. 1710, the Norwegian hero Ivar Hvitfeldt blew up the 'Danebrog', with himself and 700 men, to save the Danish and Norwegian fleet from destruction. In the market rises a statue of Frederick VII. by Bissen. Branch-lines to Røding and Faxe. — 61 Kil. Næstved (Hot. Vinhus, R. $2\frac{1}{2}$ - $3\frac{1}{2}$, D $2\frac{1}{2}$ kr.; pop. 7600), with beautiful beech-woods. Branch-lines, N.W. to Stagelse, and S.E. to Præsto.

91 Kil. Masnedsund, on the little island Masnede, is the port of Vordingborg (Hot. Valdemar; pop. 3700), an old town in a pretty site, with a ruined castle and the 'Gaasetaarn' (goose-tower), of the time of Valdemar Atterdag (1810-75). Steamer to the island of Møn, see p. 481. — We now cross by ferry in 20 min. to —

101 Kil. Ørehoved, on the Storestrom, the strait between the islands of Zealand and Falster. 12½ Kil. Nykjøbing (p. 427); 147 Kil. Gjedser, or Gjedser Odde, the S. point of the island of Falster, whence through-carriages for Germany are ferried to Warnemünde in 2 hrs.

32 Kil. Ringsted, with an old Benedictine church. 15 Kil. Sorø (Postgaard, R. 2 kr., good, in the town, 20 min. from the station; pop. 2300) lies on the pretty lake of that name; the Cistercian church (12th cent.) contains the tombs of L. Holberg (p. 402) and of three Danish kings.

32 Kil. Korsør (Hotel Korsør; Hotel Store Belt; Rail. Rest.; pop. 7100) is the starting-point of the steam-ferry across the Great Belt (23 Kil. wide; $1\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) to — Nyborg (Postgaard; pop. 7900), a town and seaport on the island of Fünen (Dan. Fyen), with an old château and a Gothic church.

The Fünen train, passing several small stations, next stops at — 29 Kil. Odense (Grand-Hôt.; Brockmann's Hot.; Hot. St. Knud; pop. 40,600), the capital of the island. The Jernbanegade leads from the station past the Slot Garden, on the left, where rises a bronze statue of Hans Christian Andersen (1805-75), a native of Odense. Beyond the Slot we come to the Museum of northern antiquities, on the left (50 g.), then past the post-office to the Vestergade, where the Ruadhus rises on the left. In front of it is a statue of Frederik VII. by Bissen. Opposite, to the S., rises the Cathedral of St. Knud, erected in 1086-1301, containing monuments of kings John and Christian II. and a carved reredos by Claus Berg of Lübeck (16th cent.).

FROM ODENSE TO FAABORG, 51 Kil., railway in 2-3 hrs. — Faaborg (Hot. Rasmussen, R. 2-3, B. 1, D $2\frac{1}{2}$ -3 kr.; pop. 4200) is prettily situated on the Faaborg Fjord. Steamers ply hence to Flensburg in Germany (p. 430). Branch-lines run from Odense N.W. to (37 Kil.) Bogense, N.E. to (32 Kil.) Dalby, and S. to (21 Kil.) Ringø (p. 430).

The next important station is (54 Kil.) Strib, at the N.W. end of the island; 5 Kil. S. lies the sea-bathing place of Middelfart. We now cross the Little Belt ($4\frac{1}{2}$ Kil.) by steam-ferry in $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. to — fortified. A bronze statue of a soldier here recalls the victory of the Danes over the Slesvik-Holsteiners in 1849.

Fredericia (Rail. Rest.; Victoria Hotel; pop. 13,500), once

The Flensburg train next reaches —

21 Kil. Kolding (Hot. Kolding*; Thomsen's Hot.; pop. 13,500), with the grand ruins of the castle of Koldinghus, founded in 1248.

Charming drive (carr. for 1-4 pers. 8-12 kr.) S.E. by (3 1/3 Kil.) Dalby Mølle, (7 Kil.) Astrup, (8 1/2 Kil.) Bjært, and (12 Kil.) Binderup, all thriving villages in a fertile region, to (14 Kil.) Skamlingsbanken (371 ft.), where we obtain a splendid view of the Little Belt, Funen, and the adjacent islands. A granite obelisk, 53 ft. high, recalls the agitation of 1863 for maintaining the Danish language in Slesvik.

19 Kil. Vamdrup, the Danish frontier-station. (In the reverse direction luggage booked for Copenhagen is not examined till the capital is reached.)

20 Kil. (from Vandrup) Woyens, the first German station (custom-house).

82 Kil. Flensburg (Flensburger Hof; Bahnhofs-Hot.; pop. 54,000), a busy industrial and trading town at the S. end of the Flensburger Förde. At the end of the Rathaus-Strasse, 5 min. N. of the station, is the well-stocked Art-Industrial Museum.

121 Kil. Schleswig, Dan. Slesvik (Stadt Hamburg, Raven's Hot.; pop. 18,400), an ancient town, consists of a single street, 3 M. long, rounding the W. end of the bay called the Schlei. To the W., 20 min., is the old ducal Schloss Gottorp, now barracks. The Dom in the Altstadt contains a carved reredos by Hans Brügge-mann (1521).

145 Kil. Rendsburg (14,800 inhab.). We cross the Kaiser Wilhelm Canal. 179 Kil. Neumünster, junction for Kiel; 223 Kil. Elmshorn.

253 Kil. Altöna (Kaiserhof; Rathaus-Hot.), with 168,800 inhab., on the N. bank of the Elbe.

300 Kil. Hamburg (Esplanade Hot., Hamburger Hof, Vier Jahreszeiten, Kronprinz, Streit's Hot., all near the Alster-Bassin; Savoy Hot., Schadendorf's, and Hot. Graf Mollke, by the chief rail. stat.; pop. 825,000), after London and New York the greatest seaport in the world, see Baedeker's Northern Germany.

74. From Odense to Svendborg, Langeland, Laaland, Falster, and Møen.

From Odense to Svendborg, 47 Kil., Railway in 1 1/2 hrs.

Odense, see p. 429. — The train runs S. to (21 Kil.) Ringe (Gæstgiveri), the junction of branches N.E. to Nyborg (p. 429) and S.E. to Faaborg (p. 429).

47 Kil. Svendborg (Vandall's Hot., R. 2 1/2-3, D. 2 1/2 kr.; Hot. Svendborg; pop. 11,800) is beautifully situated on the Svendborg Sund. To the N. of the town is the (10 min.) Ovinehøi, overlooking the narrow strait and the islands of Taasinge (p. 431) and Langeland. Farther distant is (20 min.) the ruined castle of Ørskø.

The finest excursion from Svendborg is to the island of Taasinge (ferry or steamer). The ferry crosses the strait to Vindeby, whence we walk to the (1 hr.) high-lying Bregninge Kirke (243 ft.; splendid view from the tower; key from the schoolmaster). About 1 hr. E. is Valdemars Slot, of the 17th cent. (visitors admitted); and ¼ hr. N., opposite the island of Thorø, is the pretty fishing-hamlet of Troense (Troensegaard's Restaur.). — To the E. of Svendborg (along the coast; 20 min.) lies the sea-bathing resort of Christiansmunde (Bade-Hot., R. 2-3, D. 2, pens 4-6 kr.), 5 min. beyond which is Gammel Hestehave, with large orchards.

From Svendborg by Langeland to Masnedsund.

From Svendborg to Rudkjøbing, 19 Kil., STEAMBOAT in 1¼ hr. (fare 1 kr.). From Rudkjøbing to Spodshjerg, 9 Kil., DILIGENCE (75 ø.); thence to (26 Kil.) Nakskov STEAMBOAT in 2 hrs. (2½ kr.). From Nakskov to Masnedsund, 83 Kil., RAILWAY in 3-5 hrs.

The steamer steers between Taasinge, on the right, and Fünen and Turø, on the left, to Rudkjøbing (Hot. Langeland; pop. 3500), the only town on the fertile island of LANGE LAND, the birthplace of H. C. Ørsted (p. 411), the discoverer of electro-magnetism. — To the N. is (13 Kil.) the fine château of Tranekjær, mentioned as early as the 13th cent., the seat of Count Ahlefeldt. The steamer also calls at Lohals (Bade-Hot.), near the N. end of the island.

From Rudkjøbing the road runs E. across the island to Spodshjerg, whence a steamer crosses the Langelands-Belt and the Nakskov Fjord in 2 hrs. to the island of LAALAND (or Lolland), landing at Nakskov (Hot. Skandinavien; pop. 8400), with its large sugar-refinery. To the N. is (¼ hr.) the pleasure-resort of Svinglen.

FROM NAKSKOV TO MASNEDSUND. — The train traverses fertile fields separated by hedges ('knicks'). — 25 Kil. Maribo (Olsen's Hot., R. 2 kr.; Hot. Maribo, R. 2-3 kr.; pop. 3800), with its handsome Gothic church (15th cent.), in a pleasant site on the N. bank of the Maribo-Sø. Near the station is a Museum. — Branch-lines S. to (14 Kil.) Rødby, and N. to (7 Kil.) Bandholm, whence a visit may be paid to Knuthenborg, a mansion with a beautiful park.

34 Kil. Saxkjøbing (Hot. Saxkjøbing, R. 2, D. 2½ kr.; pop. 1600). Beyond (43 Kil.) Grønge a bridge, 690 yds. long, crosses the Guldborgsund to (50 Kil.) Nykjøbing (Jernbane-Hot., R. 2-3 kr.; Hot. Phoenix, R. from 2 kr., good; pop. 7800), an old town and seaport, in a pretty site, the capital of the island of FALSTER.

Pleasant excursion (17 Kil.; diligence twice daily in 1¼ hr.; 1 kr. 35 ø.) to Nysted (Danielsen's Hot., plain), 5 min. from Count Raben-Leyetzaus's château of Aalholm, perhaps the oldest building in Denmark. Splendid view from the tower.

From Nykjøbing to Masnedsund, see p. 429.

Møen.

FROM MASNEDSUND TO KALLEHAVE, 21 Kil., railway in 1 hr. (1.60 or 1 kr.); steamer thence to STEGE in 40 min. (A steamer also plies from Copenhagen to Stege in 7 hrs.). — From Stege to Liselund (Møensklint), 16 Kil., carriage in 2 hrs. (1-4 pers. 7 kr. 5 ø.; from the postmaster). — A visit to the Danish island of Møen is very attractive. The W. half is flat, but the E.

half, known as the Klint, is rocky, rising sheer from the sea. The white and often fantastic chalk cliffs, with their verdant ravines, unite with the blue sea to produce a scene of great beauty.

Steg (Månson's Hot.; Hot. Harmonien; pop. 2300), the only town on the island, with remains of its old castle and walls, lies on the northmost of the two peninsulas that separate the bay of *Nor*et from the Great Belt.

The road to Liselund leads E., at first through a monotonous district, to the (11 Kil.) village of Borre, with its little Romanesque church (12th cent.). About 3½ Kil. farther is Baron Rosenkrantz's estate of Liselund, with a modest but good pension (4 kr.) at the farm-house. A path through the garden of the farm, and through a ravine, leads to the Lille Klint ('little cliff'), a fine point of view. We then follow the top of the cliffs to the S., passing several steep and curiously shaped rocks, separated by wooded ravines known as Fald, and reach the (1 hr.) Store Klint ('great cliff'), on the way to it are the Taler ('speaker'; 328 ft.) and the Hylledalsklint (420 ft.). About 1 Kil. inland rises the Aborrebjerg (469 ft.), the highest point in the island, another fine point of view. We continue to skirt the coast to the S., passing the pretty ravine of Maglerandsfaldet (Restaur.), the Sommerspir ('summer peak'; 354 ft.), and the Steilebjerg, a cliff on the S. edge of the woods. Returning to the restaurant, we may then, weather permitting, row back to Liselund.

75. From Fredericia to Frederikshavn. Jutland.

337 Kil. RAILWAY in 8¼-12 hrs. (fares 12, 7 50, 4.50 kr.) Views to the right. STEAMBOATS from Frederikshavn daily to Gotenburg, in 4½-5 hrs., and to Christiansand in 11 hr., twice a week to Christiania in 13 hrs.

Fredericia, see p. 429. — 24 Kil. Munkbærg. To the right, through the wood, we see the Veilefjord, at the W. end of which we stop at (27 Kil.) Veile (Hôt. Royal), a town of 16,200 inhab.

The train skirts the N. bank of the fjord. 59 Kil. Horsens (Jørgensen's Hot.; Hot. Skandinavie; pop. 22,300), an old town on the Horsens-Fjord. The Vor-Frelser's-Kirke contains a carved pulpit of 1663-70, and the Kloster-Kirke tombstones of the 17-18th cent.

88 Kil. Skanderborg (Hot. Phœnix, R. 2 kr.; Hot. Skandinavie, pop. 3100), ¼ hr. S. of the station, is prettily situated on a neck of land between two lakes. Fine view from the church-tower.

FROM SKANDERBORG TO SEJERN, 112 Kil., railway in 3-4 hrs.; a charming undulating region, with woods, moor, and lakes. 18 Kil. Laven (Hot., R. 1½, D. 2-2½ kr.); steamer across the Julsø (25 ø.) to the foot of the Himmelbjerg (ascent 20-25 min.; p. 433).

31 Kil. Silkeborg (Hot. Silkeborg; Hot. Dania; Højskolehjem, plain but good, pop. 8'00), a town dating only from 1844, at the influx of the Gudenaa into the Lang-Sø, is one of the most beautiful places in Denmark. An excursion on the river is attractive (boats at Hot. Silkeborg; steamboat several times daily to the Himmelbjerg, 75 ø.; to Laven, see above). The finest points in the vicinity are: in the Nørreskov, S E., the Ulvehoved (243 ft.) and Lovisehø (248 ft.); in the Vesterskov, S., Krog's Bank on the Almindesø (carr. 8 kr.), and further off, Frederik den Syendes Høj (404 ft.); in the Østerskov, S.E., t'c Caroline-Amalies-Høj (210 ft.); in the Sønderskov, farther E., the Aas (289 ft.); lastly, in the adjacent Ry-Nørreskov, the Himmelbjerg (483 ft.; Hot. Himmelbjerget, good; belvedere, 25 ø.). — The train then goes on to (71 Kil.) Herning (Eyde's Hot., pop. 5500), junction for Viborg (p. 436) and for Holstebro, and to (112 Kil.) Skjern, on the line between Lunderskov (Kolding, p. 436) and Struer (p. 430).

110 Kil. Aarhus (Hôt. Royal*, R. 2½-3, D 2 kr.; Hot. Skandinavie; Central Hot.; pop. 55,300), an ancient seaport town on the fjord of that name, is the junction of the E. Jutland railway. The Cathedral (12 min. N. of the station; tram 10 ø.), founded in 1201, has been frequently altered. The Museum (casts, pictures, antiquities) may also be visited. Pleasant drive (carr. and pair 8 kr.) through the Marselisborg Woods, where the Crown Prince of Denmark has a new château, to Ørnereden ('eagle's nest'; 120 ft.; fine view). A steamer also plies in 40 min. from Aarhus to Marselisborg-Skov.

FROM AARHUS (E. station) to GRENAA, 67 Kil., railway (2½-4 hrs.). — 3 Kil. Ris Skov (restaur. Salon, Ferdinandsplads, Pavillon), on the coast, is backed by beautiful woods. From (29 Kil.) Mørke a pleasant road leads S., by Rønde, to the ruined castle of Kals, where Gustavus Vasa was imprisoned in 1518-19. — From (81 Kil.) Ryomgaard a branch-line runs to (36 Kil.) Randers (see below), and from (57 Kil.) Trustrup a branch S. to (22 Kil.) Ebeltoft — 67 Kil. Grenaa (H. & D. gmar; pop. 3300) lies on the Kattegat.

Branch-lines from Aarhus to (33 Kil.) Hammel, and by Odder to (61 Kil.) Horsens (p. 432).

Steamboat and rail to Copenhagen, see R. 72

117 Kil. Brabrand; on the W. bank of the Brabrand-Sø lies the estate of Constantinsborg. 134 Kil. Hinnerup. To the W. stretch the forests of Count Friis. 143 Kil. Hadsteen; in the woods to the left is the château of Favrskov. 148 Kil. Lerberg; to the left is the château of Bidstrup. 153 Kil. Lavrberg.

To the S. lies the large and well-wooded estate of Frijsenborg, belonging to Count Frijs and containing several fine country-seats. To the S.E. are (8 Kil.) Houlbjerg, (8 Kil.) Haurum, and (12 Kil.) Frijsdal. Then (16 Kil.) Frijsenborg, the château of Count Frijs, in the Christian IV. style, with a beautiful park. The road goes on to (16 Kil.) Hammel ('Inn'), whence a branch-line runs to Aarhus (see above).

156 Kil. Langaa, junction of the W. Jutland railways.

169 Kil. Randers (Rail. Rest.; Hot. Randers, good; pop. 21,000), junction of the E. Jutland railway, on the Gudenaa. The Gothic St. Martens-Kirke contains good wood-carving of the 17th cent. — Branch-lines E. to (36 Kil.) Ryomgaard (see above), and N. to (41 Kil.) Hadsund (see below).

201 Kil. Hobro (Grand Hôt.; Møller's Hot.; pop. 3300) lies at the W. end of the Mariager-Fjord.

To the E. lies (14 Kil.) Mariager (Hot. Postgaarden; pop. 950), a small town on the Mariager-Fjord, reached in 1 hr. (75 ø.) by the steamer which plies between Hobro and Hadsund in 1¼ hr. (1 20 kr.). The church and adjacent building are relics of an old monastery. To the S.E. rises the (20 min.) Højhøj (361 ft.), a good point of view.

Brunch from Hobro by (25 Kil.) Årlestrup (p. 436) and (40 Kil.) Aars (branch to Svendsstrup, 40 Kil., see below) to (67 Kil.) Legster (p. 435).

216 Kil. Arden. Then through beautiful woods. 240 Kil. Svendsstrup. Branch-line to Aars (see above).

250 Kil. Aalborg (Rail. Rest.; Hot. Phoenix*, R. 2½ kr.; Beier's Hot.; Hot. Hafnia; pop. 31,500), one of the oldest towns in Denmark, lies on the Limfjord, which connects the North Sea and the Kattegat. The Museum, in the Algade, contains paintings, antiquities, and casts. Beyond it is the Hospital, dating partly from the 15th cent.; to the E. of the museum is the Rudolphi-Kirke, of the 14th cent., but almost entirely rebuilt in 1759-79. The town contains several interesting Renaissance houses of the 17th cent., notably the Svan-Apothek, of 1623, in the Østeraagade. The Frue-Kirke, 5 min. E. of the Rudolphi-Kirke, almost entirely modern (1872-78), has an old tower and an old chapel on the N. side. The Frederikskilde and Skovbakken are pleasant promenades to the S. of the station.

FROM AALBORG TO SÆBY AND FREDERIKSHAVN, 51 Kil., railway in 3-4 hrs. — 3 Kil. Nørre Sundby (see below). 68 Kil. Sæby (Hot. Harmonien; Kur-Hot.), with a chalybeate spring and sea-baths. To the W. is the pretty Sæbyggards Skov (Restaur.). 81 Kil. Frederikshavn, see below.

The Limfjord is crossed by a pontoon-bridge and an iron railway-bridge (418 yds. long). On the N. bank, opposite Aalborg, lies (255 Kil.) Nørre-Sundby. — 268 Kil. Sulsted. To the left lies the extensive Vildmose ('wild moor'), where mirage-effects are often seen in summer. 301 Kil. Hjørring (Kypper's Hot.; Hot. Skandinavie; pop. 8800), an old town. To the W. (13 Kil.; diligence) are the sea-baths of Lønstrup (Linnemann's Hot.), on the Kattegat, 3 Kil. S. of which rises the Rubjerg-Knude (243 ft.; extensive view).

337 Kil. Frederikshavn (Hot. Dania, by the harbour, R. or D. 2 kr.; Hoffmann's Hot., D. 2 kr.; Hot. Cimbria; pop. 7200), a small seaport, once fortified. After a short halt the train goes down to the quay. Pleasant walk on the N. pier (baths).

To the W. is the church of Flade, amidst woods. Fine view. — To Sæby and Aalborg, see above.

FROM FREDERIKSHAVN TO GOTENBURG steamboat (private cabins to be had; D. on board 2 kr.) in summer daily in about 5 hrs. across the Kattegat, where the sea is apt to be rough. Picturesque approach to Gotenburg through the Skärgård. On the right lies the Styrød, a small sea-bathing place. Nearing the dismantled fort of Elfsborg (see Map, p. 424) we enter the turbid water of the Göta-Elf. To the right, on the mainland, are the sea-baths of Långedrag. Next appear on the right the Nya Varft, and then the Gamla Elfsborg and Klippan, with its chapel. Numerous factories. On the left is the Färgends. On the right are the suburbs of Majorna, with the conspicuous Karl-Johans-Kyrka, and Masthugget. On the left are the iron-works of Lindholmen and the church of Lundby. We land in the Stora Bommens Hamn (Pl. D, 2) at Gotenburg (p. 278).

FROM FREDERIKSHAVN TO CHRISTIANIA steamer in about 13 hrs., passing the islets of Hörsholm and Græsholm, on the left, and the sandy cape of Skagen, the northernmost point of Jutland, dreaded by mariners. On the cape or 'Horn' lies the fishing village of Skagen, with its tall lighthouse and ruined church (see below), which may be visited from Frederikshavn. The wreckage often seen on the shore indicates the dangers of the Horn. The vessel now steers out into the open Skager-Rak, where the sea is often rough, and about 7 hrs. from Frederikshavn, beyond the lighthouse of Færder on the left, reaches the shelter of the Norwegian coast and enters the Christiania Fjord. To Christiania about 5-6 hrs. more, see p. 98.

Excursion to Skagen.

40 Kil. RAILWAY in 1 $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. (fares 2.50, 1.50 kr.).

The railway from Frederikshavn runs through moor, near the coast, passing several country-seats. 20 Kil. Aalbæk (rustic inn), a fishing-hamlet. Then through the dunes.

40 Kil. Skagen (Bade-Hot., 1 $\frac{1}{4}$ M. N., Skagen's Hot., at the station, R. 2-3 kr.; Brøndum's Hot., R. 2 kr.; pop. 2900), the chief fishing-port of Denmark, stretching along the sand-hills on the Kattegat, is a favourite sea-bathing place. About 1 M. N. rises the new Lighthouse, 145 ft. high, to which visitors are admitted on application to the 'Fyrmester' between 10 a.m. and one hour before dusk (50 ø. to the lightkeeper, who speaks English). From the top, which affords an extensive view, we observe a line of foam marking the union of the North Sea and the Baltic. The Bade-Hot. is a little N. of the lighthouse; $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. E. is Grenen, the N. extremity of Denmark (57° 45'). — To the S.W. rises the half-buried tower of the old church of Skagen. We may return to Aalbæk (carriage; bargain necessary) by the coast of the North Sea, by (4 Kil.) Højten or Gammel Skagen, on the dreaded Iron Coast, marked by wreckage and by the surf above the triple reef running parallel with the shore, and (11 Kil.) Kandestederne (pron. Kannestørne). Here we turn inland and cross the sanddrifts (guide-posts), by the Raabjerg-Møller and Kirke, to (24 Kil.) Aalbæk (see above).

76. From Aalborg to Thisted, and by Viborg to Langaa.

296 Kil. RAILWAY from Aalborg to Thisted, 107 Kil., in 4 $\frac{1}{2}$ -5 hrs. (4.70 or 2.95 kr.); from Thisted to Langaa, 189 Kil., in 5-10 hrs. (6 or 3.50 kr.)

The STEAMER from Aalborg to Thisted, through the Limfjord, takes 5-7 hrs. (3.50 kr.), a charming trip. It steams W. through the fjord (100 M. long; depth 6-18 ft. only), which makes the N. part of Jutland an island, known as Vendsyssel. Beyond the islands of Egholm, Gjøl, and Øland (on the right) we enter the narrow Aggersund. Beyond Løgstør (p. 434) the fjord again expands. We then pass through the Feggesund, with the peninsula of Hannæs on the right and the narrow isthmus of Feggeklit on the left, into the Thisted-Bredning, on the N. bay of which lies Thisted (see below).

Aalborg and (3 Kil.) Nørre Sundby, see p. 434. Scenery rather tame. 53 Kil. Fjerritslev; 70 Kil. Frøstrup; on the coast, 8 Kil. N., rises the Bulbjerg (164 ft.). 96 Kil. Nors; 10 Kil. N.W. is the great lighthouse of Hanstholm (fee 50 ø.), one of the most powerful in Europe, a superb point of view. 101 Kil. Vandet. A road leads hence (diligence once daily in 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ hr.), N.W., between the Vester-vand and the Norssø, to (12 Kil.) the small sea-baths of Klitmøller (Bade-Hot.).

107 Kil. Thisted (Hot. Royal; Hot. Aalborg, R. 3-5, D. 2-3 kr.; pop. 9400), a small trading town, lies picturesquely on a bay of the Limfjord. The promenade of Christiansgave is adorned with several statues and busts.

The RAILWAY TO VIBORG traverses the W. part of the district of Thisted. 7 Kil. (from Thisted) Sjærring, with the ruins of a castle, close to the line, on the right. Beyond (20 Kil.) Herdum lies the long, narrow Ovesø on the right. 39 Kil. Ydby. We then follow the narrow isthmus between the Nisum Bredning (right) and the Skibsted Fjord (left) to (47 Kil.) Lyngs. In the distance to the W. is the narrow Thybo-Røn Canal, the W. mouth of the Limfjord. 62 Kil. Odde-sund Nord, whence we cross the Odde-sund (2 Kil. broad) by steam-ferry. To the left is the island of Venø.

84 Kil. Struer (Schou's Hot., R. 2-2½, D. 2 kr., Hot. Struer; pop. 3500), on the Limfjord.

FROM STRUER TO LUNDERSKOV, 204 Kil., railway in 6-9½ hrs. (10.15, 6.40, 3.75 kr.). The train skirts the W. coast of Jutland as far as Esbjerg (see below), and then crosses Jutland to the E. — 16 Kil. Holstebro; branch-line to (42 Kil.) Herning (p. 433). 34 Kil. Vemb; branch-line to (56 Kil.) Thyborøn. 63 Kil. Rangkjæbung; 11 Kil. W. are the sea-baths of Sendervig — 87 Kil. Skjern, junction for Silkeborg and Aarhus (p. 446). 129 Kil. Varde, junction for (38 Kil.) Nørre Nebel. 147 Kil. Esbjerg (Hot. Spangsbjerg; Hot. Royal; pop. 15,700), the most important harbour on the W. coast for the Danish export-trade to Germany, England, etc. — Steamboats to Harwich, Grimsby, etc. — A steamer plies 6-7 times daily from Esbjerg to (¼ hr.; fare 50 g.) the island of Fanø, a favourite bathing-resort. On the E. coast of the island lies Nordby (Hot. Nordby; Færgegaarden); on the W. coast, 1 M. from Nordby, are the Kur-Hot., Strand-Hot., and Hot. Kongen af Danmark (R. from 2, food 3½-5½ kr.; visitors' tax for 1 pers. 10, for each pers. more 5 kr.); also pretty villas to let. — 163 Kil. Bramminge, junction for Ribe, Hvidding, and the W. coast railway of Schleswig-Holstein. — 204 Kil. Lunderskov, see p. 433.

119 Kil. Skive (Hot. Royal, R. 2 kr.; Skytte's Hot., R. 1½ kr.; pop. 5600), a seaport on the Limfjord. Branch-line to (39 Kil.) Nykjæbing (Hot. Bendix), in the island of Mors. — We next traverse a tame and barren region.

148 Kil. Viborg (Preisler's Hot.; Hot. Phoenix; pop. 9500), an ancient town, lies picturesquely on the Viborg-Sø. The Romanesque Cathedral*, of the 12th cent., restored in 1864-76, is built of light-coloured granite. Under the choir is an ancient crypt. The interior was adorned in 1899-1906 with fourteen paintings from the New Testament by J. Skovgaard. A glass cabinet contains the relics of King Eric Glipping, murdered in 1286. A small Museum by the cathedral contains prehistoric and other specimens. The Borgvold Park (restaurant; boats), to the N., occupies the site of the ancient castle.

Pleasant excursion to (8 Kil.) Hald, a country-seat on the charming Hald-Sø (admittance to the park on application), and then by an avenue to the left to the ruin of Hald. A pretty road leads S W., on the bank of the lake, to (8 Kil.) Bækkelund (inn) and Dollerup, with a factory for worsted goods. The hills command fine views.

Branch-lines run from Viborg N. to (38 Kil.) Aalestrup (p. 433), and S. to (48 Kil.) Herning (p. 433).

154 Kil. Rindsholm, on a lake; 161 Kil. Rødskjærbro; diligence daily to Silkeborg (p. 432) in 3½ hrs. — 117 M. Langaa, see p. 433.

INDEX.

The Swedish a, the Norwegian æ, and the Swedish ä are placed here immediately after the letter a, and the Swedish ö and the Norwegian ø after the letter o. But observe that in the Swedish and Danish or Norwegian dictionaries these diphthongs come at the end of the alphabet.

I. Language of Norway (and Denmark).

The Gothic tribes of Aryan or Indo-European origin who settled in Scandinavia, probably about the beginning of the Christian era, if not earlier, appear all to have spoken a common language called the Norræna Mál, afterwards known as the Dönsk Tunga, the history of which is not distinctly traceable farther back than the 9th or 10th century. That language, now known as Icelandic, or the Old Northern Tongue, and called by the Norwegians Old Norsk, was carried to Iceland by the Norwegians who settled there in the 9th century, and it has there been preserved in its original purity and vigour down to the present day, while on the mainland it gradually underwent modification and gave rise to several distinct dialects, of which modern Swedish and modern Danish are now the most important. The history of the language of Norway, from the colonisation of Iceland to the incorporation of Norway with the kingdom of Denmark towards the end of the 14th century, is involved in obscurity, but the dialects spoken in different parts of the country probably continued closely akin to the primitive 'Old-Norsk'. In Denmark the original 'Dönsk Tunga' had meanwhile undergone considerable alteration, as is shown by the Skaanske Lov and the Sjællandske Lov, promulgated in 1162 and 1171 respectively, the gutturals and other consonants having been somewhat modified and softened, and the inflections simplified. From the year 1387, when Queen Margaret, the 'Northern Semiramis', was crowned queen of Norway, dates the introduction of the Danish language into the sister country. Between that date and the year 1814, when Norway was severed from Denmark and united with Sweden, the Norwegians had enjoyed a considerable degree of political independence, but their ancient language was gradually superseded by that of the dominant race, which was used by the government officials and the upper classes, although several dialects descended from the 'Old-Norsk' speech continued to be spoken in remote districts, chiefly by the uneducated classes. At the present day, therefore, the language of the country is Danish, although the natives prefer to call it 'Norsk'; but it is pronounced with greater vigour and distinctness than by the Danes themselves, and it is enriched with a considerable number of words derived from the old provincial dialects, which greatly enhance its interest. Like other languages of the Teutonic stock, Danish has admitted many Romanic and other foreign words to the rights of citizenship, such as gêner sig (se gêner), Kandidat (candidate), Kontôr (comp-toir), Kritik (critique), Kvartér (quarter), Præst (presbyter); but some of these have been introduced more from fashion than necessity, and words of purely native growth are to be found in every branch of art and science. The following lines by Norwegian poets may be quoted here as a specimen of the modern language common to Norway and Denmark. —

'Min norske Vinter er saa vakker
De hvide snebedækte Bakker
Og grønne Gran med pudret Haar
Og trofast Is paa dybe Vande
Og Engledragt paa nøgne Strande
Jeg bytter neppe mod en Vaar'

J. N. Brun.

Literal translation.

My Norwegian winter is so beautiful: the white, snow-clad hills, and green pines with powdered hair, and steadfast ice on deep lakes, and angel-garb on barren shores, I would hardly exchange for spring.

'Ja' herligt er mit Fødeland,
Den gamle klippefaste Norge,
Med Sommerdal og Vinterborge,
Der evig trodser Tidens Tand.
Om Kloden røkkes end, dets Fjelde
Skal Stormen dog ej kunne fælde'.

S. O. Wolff.

Literal translation.

Yes! glorious is my native land, the ancient cliff-bound Norway, with summer valley and winter fastness, which ever defies the tooth of time. Even if the globe were shaken, the storm would be unable to overthrow its mountains.

A knowledge of the language of the country will conduce materially to the traveller's comfort and enjoyment. English is spoken at the principal resorts of travellers and by the captains of most of the steamboats, but on the less frequented routes, and particularly at the small country-stations, the native tongue alone is understood. The traveller should therefore endeavour to learn some of the most useful everyday phrases he is likely to require on his journey. Those who know German or Dutch will find the language easy and interesting, as these languages come from the same Gothic stock as Danish. Those who have studied Icelandic, the direct ancestor of the language of Norway, or even the kindred Anglo-Saxon, have a still higher vantage-ground, while those who have a fair knowledge of Swedish will understand and be understood tolerably well in Norway, though less readily in Denmark. Conversely, the traveller who has learned Danish with the Norwegian accent will generally find it intelligible to Swedes, and will himself understand Swedish fairly well; but Danish acquired in Denmark will not be of much use in Sweden.

The traveller who takes an interest in the language, which throws light on many English words, and particularly on English and Scottish provincialisms, should be provided with both an English-Danish (Rosing's, Copenhagen) and Danish-English dictionary (Ferrall & Repp's, Copenhagen), and with Ivar Aasen's copious and instructive 'Norsk Ordbog' (Christiania). Rask's Grammar, Frøedersdorff's Practical Introduction, and Bojesen's Guide are also recommended to students of Danish. For ordinary travellers, however, the following outline of the grammar and the vocabularies, though brief, will probably suffice.

Pronunciation. The CONSONANTS and their pronunciation are nearly all the same as in English; but f at the end of a word is pronounced like v; g before e and i and at the end of a syllable is often pronounced like the consonantal y; j is pronounced like the consonant y; k before e, i, j, y, æ, and ø is (in Norway) pronounced like the English t followed by the consonant y, or nearly like the English ch; sk before the same vowels is (in Norway) pronounced like the English sh; while c (like s before e, i, y, æ, and ø, and like k before a, o, u, and aa), q, x, and z are used in words of foreign origin only. The chief irregularities are that d at the end or in the middle of a word is generally mute, as Fladbrød (pron. Fläbrø), sist (pron. sist), kalde (pron. kalle), hende (pron. henne); g at the end of a syllable is often inaudible, as deilig (pron. dielf), farlig (pron. färli), while ey is softened to ei, as jeg (pron. yie), egen (pron. aiyén), and, in conversation, mig, dig, sig are corrupted to mÿ, dÿ, sÿ; lastly, in det (it), the t is usually mute (pron. day), and de (they) is pronounced dee.

The Vowels a, e, and i are pronounced (as in French and German) ah, eh, ee; o is pronounced like ō (as in hole), or almost like oo, and when short it is like the short English ö (in hot), but less open; ai, ei, oi are pronounced as diphthongs; u, when long, is nearly like the ū in lute, and when short it resembles (in Norway) the French eu or the English u in curd, y, when long, is like the French u, and when short it is indistinguishable from the short ø. The sound of aa (Swedish ä) is that of the English a in all, or almost like ō; æ is like a in fate, but more open (as in mare); ø, sometimes written ö, has the sound of the German ö or the French eu. These last two letters are placed at the end of the alphabet, which consulters of a Danish dictionary must bear in mind. — Those who have studied French or German will have no difficulty with the y and the ø, but it is not so easy to catch the precise sound of the Norwegian u.

Genders. There are two genders, the common (masculine or feminine) and the neuter.

Articles. The INDEFINITE is en (e) or ét (n.; pron. ít), as en Mand (a man), en Kvinde (a woman), et Barn (a child).

The DEFINITE is den (c.), det (n.), de (pl.), forms which are used almost exclusively when an adjective intervenes between the article and the substantive, as den gode Mand (the good man), det unge Barn (the young child), de gamle Konger (the old kings). When immediately connected with its substantive, the definite article is -en or -n, -et or -t, and -ne or -ene, added as an affix to the substantive, as Man'den (the man), Bar'net (the child), Kong'erne (the kings), Gaar'dene (the farm-houses).

Substantives. Until recently, substantives have generally been spelled with an initial capital, but now, with the exception of proper names, they more commonly begin with small letters. The genitive, both singular and plural, usually ends in s, as Kongen's

Mild'hød (the king's clemency), Mæn'denes Heste (the men's horses). All nouns ending in e form their plural by adding r, as Konge, -r, Kvinde, -r; others add er, as Blomst, -er; others e, as Hest, -e, and many neuter nouns remain unchanged in the plural, as Språk (language), Hus (house). Lastly, a number of substantives modify their radical vowel in the plural, as Haand (hand), Hænder; Fød (foot), Fødder; Bøg (book), Bøger; Barn (child), Børn. In many cases the consonant is doubled in order to preserve the short sound of the vowel, as Hat (hat), -te, Ven (friend), -ner, Gut (Norw., boy), -ter.

Adjectives. Those derived from proper names are not spelled with initial capitals (as norsk, Norwegian; engelsk, English). When preceded by the indefinite article, the adjective remains unchanged in the common gender, but t is added to it in the neuter, as en god Hest, et stort (large) Hus; if, however, the adjective ends in e, o, u, or y, it remains unchanged in both genders, as en lille Hest, et lille Barn, en sky (shy) Hest, et bly (shy) Barn; but ny (new) has the neuter nyt. When preceded by the definite article, and in the plural whether with or without article, adjectives have an e added; as den gode Hest, det store Hus, de smukke Børn (the pretty children), vakre (contracted from vakker-e) Fjorde (beautiful bays). When standing alone after the substantive as a predicate the adjective usually agrees with the substantive in gender and number, as Huset er (is) stort, Hestene er store.

The COMPARATIVE and SUPERLATIVE are formed by adding re or ere and st or est to the positive; as glad (glad), glädere, glädäst, rig (rich), rigere, rigest; but in some cases they are formed by prefixing mær and mäst to the positive, as elsket (beloved), mer elsket, mest elsket. The radical vowel is sometimes modified; as stör, större, störst; saa (tew), færre, færrest. Several adjectives are irregularly compared. god, bättre, bäst; onid (bad), værre, værst; gammel (old), ældre, ældst; lille (small), mindre, mindst; mægen, mæget (much), mer, mest; mange (many), flere, flæste.

Numerals. The CARDINAL NUMBERS are: én or een (n. ët), to, tre, fire, fem, sex, sju, otte, nå, ti, el'leve, tolv, tretten, fjorten, femten, sexten (pron. sýst'n), sytten, atten, nitten, ty've (twenty); en og tyve, to og tyve, etc.; tretti (Danish trædive, often pron. trývü); firti (Dan. fyrr'tyve), femti (Dan. halvtrædsindstye, often contracted to halvtræds), sexti (Dan. trædsindstye, or træds), sytti (Dan. halvfjærdindstye, or halvfjærd), otti (Dan. fjersindstye, or fjers), nitti (Dan. halvfemsindstye, or halvfems), hundred, tusinde.

ORDINAL NUMBERS. Den, det, de første, anden (n. andet, pl. andre), trædie, fjærd, femte, sjette, syvende, ottende, nîende, tiende, ellefte, tolvte, etc.; ty'vende, trædiende (Dan. trædiende, often pron. trýftë), firtiende (Dan. fyrr'tyvende), femtiende (Dan. halvfemsindstye), etc.; hundred and tusinde undergo no alteration.

FRACTIONS. En halv ($\frac{1}{2}$, adj.; the subst. is en Halvdæl); halvan'den ($1\frac{1}{2}$); halvtrēdie, or tō og en halv ($2\frac{1}{2}$); halvoffjērde, or tvē og en halv ($3\frac{1}{2}$); en Trēdiedēl ($\frac{1}{3}$); en Fjērdedēl ($\frac{1}{4}$), or en Fjērding, en Kvart, or et Kvartēer, en Femtedēl; and so on.

Pronouns. PERSONAL. Nom. sing. jeg (I), dū (thou), han (he), hūn (she), den or det (it); pl. vi, I, dē. Gen. sing. hans, hendes, dens or dets; pl. dēres (their). Dat. and Acc. sing. mig, dig, ham, or sig, hende or sig, den, det or sig; pl. os, ēder, dēm or sig.

Sig is always reflexive, referring to the nominative or subject (himself, herself, itself, themselves). Members of a family and intimate friends address each other as Dū, pl. I; but in ordinary society De (literally 'they'; pron. dee), with the verb in the singular, is always used, its dative or accusative being Dēm, never sig; as De har skadet Dem (you have hurt yourself).

POSSESSIVE. Mīn (my), mīt, pl. mīne; dīn (thy), dīt, pl. dīne; sīn (his, her, or its), sit, pl. sine; vōr (our), vōrt, pl. vōre; jēr (your), jērt, pl. jēre (colloquial); dēres (their); Dēres (your, in the polite form of address).

DEMONSTRATIVE. Den, det (this), pl. de, denne, dette (this), pl. disse; hīn or hiin, hīnt (that), pl. hīne; samme (same), selv (self), and begge (both) are indeclinable; saa'dan, saa'dant (such a one), pl. saa'danne.

RELATIVES. Som (who, whom, which, nom. and acc.) and dēr (who, which, nom. only) are indeclinable; hvilken, hvilket (who, whom, which, nom. or acc.), pl. hvilke; hvīs (whose, of which, sing. or pl.); hvad (what), indeclinable.

INTERROGATIVES. Hvo or hvem (who, whom) is indeclinable; hvilken, hvilket, pl. hvilke (which, nom. or acc.); hvad (what).

INDEFINITE. Man (one, they, nom. only); ēn or ēt (one); nōgen (some, somebody, some one), nōget (some, something), pl. nōgle; ingen (no, nobody, none), entet (no, nothing, none), pl. ingen; anden, andet (other), pl. andre; hver, hvēt, ēnhver, ēihvert (each, every; each one, every one); al, all (all), pl. alle; dēt, dēr (it, with impers. verbs), as det regner (it rains), der sīges (it is said), der skrīves (it is written).

Verbs. AUXILIARY. At have (to have); pres. indic. har, pl. håve; imperf. håvde; perf. har haft, pl. have hāft; fut. skal or vil have, pl. skulle or ville have; imperat. håv, pl. haver; partic. håvende, haft.

At være (to be); pres. indic. ēr, pl. ēre, imperf. var, pl. vare; perf. har været, pl. have været; fut. skal or vil være, pl. skulle or ville være; imperat. vær, pl. væver.

At burde (to be bound, to have to); pres. bør (ought, etc.); imperf. burde (ought, etc.).

The verb faa (to get), with the perfect participle, expresses futurity, as naar jeg faaer skrevet (when I shall have written).

The verb blive (to become) is sometimes used to form the passive voice, as han bliver, blev skadet (he is, was hurt).

CONJUGATIONS. The conjugations are either weak or strong, regular or irregular, and under each of these heads there are several subdivisions. The first and second of the three following verbs are weak (i. e. with the imperf. formed by the addition of ede or te, and the partic. by the addition of et, or t to the root), and the third and fourth are strong (i. e. the imperf. takes no affix, whether the radical vowel is modified or not).

Elske (to love); pres. elsker, pl. elske; imperf. elskede; perf. har, pl. have elsket; partic. elsket, pl. (when used as adj.) elskede.

Tale (to speak); pres. taler, pl. tale; imperf. talte; perf. har talt, pl. have talt; partic. talt, pl. talte.

Adverbs. The neuter forms of adjectives are used as adverbs; as gōd (good), gōdt (well); lang'sōm (slow), langsomt (slowly); and such adverbs take the same comparative and superlative as the adjectives. Gōdt or vel has bēdre, bēdst; ilde (ill), like ond or duarlig, has værre, værst; gjerne (willingly), hellere (rather), helst (most willingly, rather, especially).

The following are in very frequent use: —

PLACE. About, omtrent; above, ōvenpaa, after, efter; around, omkring; at home, hjemme (indicating rest, like several other adverbs ending in e, which without the e indicate motion); away, bort, borte; back, tilbåge; below, nēdenun'der; down, nēd, nēde; everywhere, ōveralt; far, langt; far from here, far distant, langt herfrå; here, hēr; home, hjem; in, ind, inde; near, nær; nowhere, ingensteds; out, ūd, ude; past, forbi; there, dēr; thither, dīd; up, op, oppe; where, hvōr; within, inde.

About, omtrent; afterwards, siden efter; again, atter, igjen; always, alltid; already, allerēde; before, før; early, tīdligt; immediately, strax; last year, ifjōr; late, sēt; long, længe; nearly, næsten; never, al'drig; now, nū; often, ofte, tīdt; once, ēngang; seldom, sjælden; sometimes, undertiden; soon, snart; still, endnū; the day after to-morrow, io'vermorgen; the day before yesterday, iforgaars; then, da, paa den Tīd; this evening, iāften; this morning, imorges; to-day, idag; to-morrow, imorgen; twice, tō Gange; when (interrogative), naar, hvad Tīd; yesterday, igaar.

MANNER, DEGREE, etc. A little, noget; also, ogsaa; also not, heller ikke; altogether, i alt, i det hele taget, alt sammen; broken (in two), ūt; downhill, nēdad (Bakken); how, hvōrlēdes; little, långt; much, meget, no, nej; not, ikke, not at all, slet ikke; of course, naturligvis; only, kun; particularly, især; partly, dels; perhaps, kanskje, maaskje; possibly, muligvis; probably, rimeligvis; quickly, hurtigt (fort); so, thus, således; softly (gently, slowly), sagte; straight on, ligefrem; together, tilsammen; too (much, etc.), for (meget, etc.); uphill, opad (Bakken); very, meget; why, hvørfor; yes, ja, jo (the latter in answer to a question in the negative or expressing doubt).

Prepositions. Among the most frequent are: —

About, om; above, over; after, efter; among, blandt; at, i, paa, véd; at (of time), om; behind, båg, bagvéd; between, mellem; by, at the house of, hos; by, near, véd; by, past, forbi; during, om, under; for, in front of, for, foran; from, fra; in, i; instead of, istædetfor; near, nær véd; of, from, af; on, paa; opposite, ligeoverfor; over, upwards of, over; past, forbi; round, rundt om; to; since, siden; through, gjennem; till, indtil (not till, ikke før); to, til; towards, mød, mød; under, under; upon, paa; with, med.

Conjunctions. The most important are: —

After, efterat; although, skjøndt; and, og; as, da; as — as, saa — som; because, fordi; before, før; but, men; either — or, enten — eller; for, thi; if, om, dersom, hvis; in order that, for at; or, eller; since (causal), fordi, efterdi, (of time) siden; so, saa; than, end; that, at; till, until, indtil; when (with past tense) da, (with present or future) naar; where, hvor; while, médens.

Interjections. Ah, alas, ak; indeed, ih, jusad, virkelig; not at all, far from it, don't mention it, langtfra, ingen Aarsag; of course, certainly, naturligvis; pardon, öm Forladelse; please, vær saa god, vær saa artig; thanks, tak (many, mange); true, det er sandt; what a pity, det er synd!

II. Language of Sweden.

The remarks already made on the origin of the Danish language and on the peculiarities of its pronunciation apply almost equally to the Swedish language. The Swedish ä corresponds to the Dano-Norwegian aa.

Articles. The INDEFINITE ARTICLE is (m. and f.) én, (n.) ett; as en man, a man; ett barn, a child.

The DEFINITE ARTICLE is (m. or f.) en (or n after a vowel), and (n.) et, affixed to the substantive; as konungen, the king; flickan, the girl; bordet, the table. Preceding an adjective, the definite article is (m. or f.) den, (n.) det, (pl.) de; but the substantive which follows still retains its affix; as den gode ko'nungen, det lilla barnet (the little child), de vackra flickorna (the pretty girls).

Substantives. All substantives, except proper names, are spelled with small initials. The genitive, both singular and plural, usually ends in s; as barnets moder, ko'nungens göd'hät, presternas böcker.

The plural is formed by adding or, ar, er, or n; but it is sometimes the same as the singular, especially in the case of neuter substantives; as krona, kronor; gosse (boy), gossar; lind (lime-tree), lindar; prest, prester; knä (knee), knän; hus (house), pl. hus. Among irregular plurals the commonest are: man, män, öga (eye), ögon; öra (ear), öron; bök (book), böcker; föt (foot), fötter; natt (night), nätter; gås (goose), gäss.

Adjectives. After the indefinite article the adjective undergoes no change, except in the neuter, in which case t is added; as en ung man, en skön flicka, ett snällt barn (a good child). The neuter of liten (little) is litet, of mycken (much) mycket.

After the definite article the adjective takes the affix e or a in the masculine, and a in the feminine or neuter; as den gode mannen, den vackra flickan, det snälla barnet. When following the definite article, liten becomes lilla (pl. små). For all genders the plural is de goda, de vackra, de snälla, de små.

The COMPARATIVE and SUPERLATIVE are formed by adding äre and äst to the positive; as rölig (amusing), roligare, roligast; ringa (small, insignificant), ringäre, ringäst. Irregular are: göd (good), bättre, bäst; dålig (bad), sämre, sämst, or värre, värst; låg (low), lägre, lägst; lång (long), längre, längst; liten (small), mindre, minst; små (small, pl.), smärre; få (few), färre; mycket (much), mera, mäst; många (many), flere, fläst; stör (large), större, störst; gammal (old), äldre, äldst; ung (young), yngre, yngst; tung (heavy), tyngre, tyngst.

Numerals. The CARDINAL NUMBERS are: en or ett, två, tre, fyra, fem, sex, sju, åtta, nio, tio, elfva, tolv, tretton, fjorton, femton, sexton, sjutton, äderton, nittion, tjugu (20); tjugu en, etc.; tretti, fyratio (pron. förti), femtio, sextio, sjuttio, åttio, nittio, hundra, tusen, en million.

The ORDINAL NUMBERS are: den förste, den, det första; den andre, den, det andra (en annan, ett annat); trëdje, fjärde, femte, sjette, sjunde, åttonde, nionde, ti'onde, elfte, tolfte, trettonde, fjörtonde, etc.; tjugonde (20th), tjugu förste, etc.; trettionde, fyr'tionde, etc.; hundrade, tusende.

FRACTIONS. En half ($\frac{1}{2}$, adj.; the subst. is en hälft), half-an'nan ($\frac{1}{2}$); en trëdjedel ($\frac{1}{3}$ rd), en fjërdedel ($\frac{1}{4}$ th), etc.

Pronouns. PERSONAL. Nom. sing. jag (I), du (thou), han (he), hön (she), det (it); nom. pl. vi, i, dě. Gen. sing. hans, hennes, dets; gen. pl. děras (their). Dat. and Acc. sing. mig, dig, hon'om, henne, det; dat. and acc. pl. oss, eder, dem. Refl. dat. and acc. sig (himself, herself, itself, themselves). Hvaran'dra (one another).

Du is used in addressing near relatives and intimate friends Ni, corresponding with the Danish De (you), with the verb in the singular, is used in addressing strangers; but it is more polite to use the awkward periphrasis herra är, har, etc., frun är, fröken är, or better still the person's title, if known, as vill herr öfversten vara så god (will the colonel be so kind)?

Mig, dig, sig are pronounced mȳ, dȳ, sȳ. De is pronounced dee, and det like day.

POSSESSIVE. Mīn (my), mitt, pl. mina; din (thy), ditt, pl. dina; hans (his), hennes (her), dets (its); sin (his, her, its, their; refl. only), sitt, sina; vår (our), vårt, våra; eder (your), edert, edra.

DEMONSTRATIVE. Denne, denna (this), detta, pl. desse, dessa; den, det här (this here), pl. de här; den, det där (that there), pl. de där; den, det, de samme (the same).

RELATIVE. Som (who, whom, which), nom. and acc. only; hvilken, hvilket (who, whom, which), pl. hvilka; hvad (what).

INTERROGATIVE. Hvem (who), hvems (whose), hvad (what), hvilken-en, -et, -a (which).

INDEFINITE. Man (one), själf (self), någon (some, somebody), något (some, something), några (pl., some), ingen (no, nobody), intet (no, nothing), inga (pl., no), mången (many a one), många (many); all, allt (all); hvar, hvart (each, every), hvar och (pron. ok) en (every one); höl, hället (whole).

Verbs. AUXILIARY. Att hafva (to have). Pres. indic. jag, du, han, hon, det, Ni har; vi ha (or hafva); i hån (håfven), de ha (hafva). Imperf. jag, etc., hade; vi hade; i hadn; de hade. Fut. jag, etc., skall hafva; i skölen hafva; de sköla hafva. Condit. jag, etc., skulle hafva; vi skulle hafva; i skullen hafva; de skulle hafva. Imper. häf (ha), pl. häfven. Partic. häfvende, haft.

Att vara (to be). Pres. indic. jag, etc., är; vi äro, i ären, de äro. Imperf. jag, etc., var; vi voro, i voren, de voro. Perf. jag, etc., har varit. Imperf. jag hade varit. Fut. jag skall vara. Cond. jag skulle vara. Imper. var, varen. Partic. vārānde, varit.

Att sköla (to be obliged, to be about to); pres. skall, pl. sköla; imperf. skulle.

Att vilja (to be willing, to be about to); pres. vill, pl. vilja; imperf. ville; partic. viljande, vėlāt.

Att kunna (to be able); pres. kan, pl. kunna; imperf. kunde; partic. kunnat.

Juy tür (I may, am allowed); imperf. torde.

Att böra (to be bound, obliged); pres. bör (ought); imperf. hörde (ought).

The CONJUGATIONS are either weak or strong, regular or irregular. The following three verbs are weak and regular:

Infinitive. Att älska (to love), böja (bend), bo (lodge, live).

Pres. indic. Jag, du, han älskar, böjer, bör; vi, de älska, boja, bo; i älsken, böjen. bon.

Imperf. Jag, du, han, vi, de älskade, böjde, bödde; i älskaden, böjden, bödden. Perf. Jag har älskat, böjt, bott. Fut. Jag skall älska, böja, bo. Imper. Älska, böj, bo; älsken, böjen, bon. Partic. Älskande, böjande, boende; älskat, böjt, bott.

Most of the Swedish verbs are conjugated like älska. Those whose roots end in k, p, s, or t form the imperfect by adding te, and the participle by adding t; as köpa, köpte, köpt.

The passive is formed by adding s: jag älskäs (I am loved), älskades (was loved), har älskäts (have been loved), älskändes (being loved). The passive may also be formed with the auxiliary blifva (to be, become). jag blir, bléf älskad (I am, was loved).

The following List of Verbs includes a number of regular, strong, and irregular verbs. The present indicative, generally formed from the infinitive by adding r, the imperfect, the perfect participle used with hafva, and the perfect participle used with vara are given in each case. When the participle ends in n, the neuter usually changes the n to t, and the plural ends in ne or na.
